Last minute details have been made to handle the largest crowd in all history of Shiloh, for it is believed that the Homecoming and Ox Roast will attract thousands to this village Friday and Saturday, Sept. 26-27.

Opening the homecoming will be the Boone County Jamboree, WLW's famous radio show, which will be at the high school Friday afternoon and evening.

Free acts, farm exhibits, windows full of attractive hobbies, and entertainment galore will be featured Friday night.

Saturday morning a trap shoot will start at 10 a. m., followed by a band concert at 1 o'clock. At 1:30 a football game will be put on, and at 4:00 o'clock the Mansfield Provident Champions and a team from Ashland will play a softball game (both are composed of girls.)

Thursday morning Marion Seaman started roasting the ox for the big Ox Roast to be held Saturday night at 7:00 o'clock. Marion KNOWS how to put the taste and flavor into a roasted ox, and it takes a lot of time and experience to do a good job—but Marion KNOWS how!

A dance will be featured Saturday night and a big time Cleveland orchestra has been secured for the event.

Saturday afternoon there will be bicycle races, saw-dust scramble and other amusements for old and young.

Special police, plenty of parking space, and many other features insures everyone of a good time.

Case Dismissed

The case of the Village of Plymouth against A. P. Topper of Bucyrus, was dismissed on last Thursday for lack of evidence when it came before the Grand Jury.

Mr. Topper was arrested July 31 in Plymouth on the charge of reckless driving and driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He asked that he be given a hearing before the grand jury and put up a bond of $500.

A number of witnesses were called but the case was thrown out of court.

THIEVES ENTER LOCAL SCHOOL

Entrance was gained through the sky lights of the Girls Toilet Room at the local High School Building late last Wednesday evening and prowlers ransacked the building.

While doors to various rooms were locked, the burglars with plenty of foresight, very neatly took the doors off their hinges, and with the bolts, laid them to one side. Entrance in the same manner was made to the Home Ec, the Science and the first and second grades.

They then went through the office desk and later left by the back stage door. Only $1.18 was the loot obtained.

Just why anyone would want to ransack a school building, the least likely place in the world to obtain any great quantity of money, is not known, so it evidently was just a case of plain meanness and pettiness. This is not the first time that damage has been done to the school building. A number of windows have been broken or shot out during the summer vacation and other depredation.

School officials have a number of clues as to the identity of the offenders and if apprehended will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

WORK ON NEW SCHOOL HELD UP

With the old grade building completely razed and the elimination of NYA help, the local school board is facing many trying problems in getting construction started on the new grade school building.

At the board meeting last Monday night, it was revealed by President Roy Johnson, that it would be necessary to revise the specifications of building contracts, eliminating the NYA phase from construction of building, and it will be necessary to work up invitations on this new basis, which will have to be issued to contractors, and this will have to be advertised, thus delaying actual construction on the grade school building for little more than thirty days. Work on the structure should commence around Nov. 9th.

The Board deemed it advisable to dispense with NYA help on construction, inasmuch as the army, navy and other branches of the government, as well as industry, have absorbed all the youths available. It was when conditions were very unsettled that the NYA program was created, and since that time, conditions have become changed, thus the building program will have to be reduced. It is believed that the cost of the building can be kept within its approximate estimate, although it may be necessary to hold off the erection of the work shop, which was scheduled to be built at the high school. If this project is carried through at a later date, the securing of funds will be made through government sources of the defense program.

Quite a bit of material, including sand, stone, cement, brick, etc., as well as a large portion of the steel requirements have been purchased by the school board. After the legal angle has been straightened out as far as the construction work is concerned, it is very evident that Plymouth's new grade school building will be started and rushed through to record completion.

KNOWN HERE

The elevation of Linn Stambaugh to the position of National Commander of the American Legion calls up memories of the Stambaugh family in connection with local history.

Linn Stambaugh's grand father David Stambaugh, who married Rachel Wyandt of Wilmot, Ohio, was a resident of Plymouth in early days, say 85 or 90 years ago, he was practicing attorney and lived in the house adjacent to Will Ellis place of business. Subsequently he moved to New Philadelphia, Ohio, and while living in that place he represented Tuscarawas County in the Ohio Legislature. His son, W. S. Stambaugh, (the father of Linn Stambaugh) who was known affectionately by the Wyandt relation as "General" came to Plymouth about the year 1872 and taught the Trauger school, the writer of this sketch having been one of his pupils. He then, along with a brother, went to Abilene, Kan., became a lawyer, married Miss Linnie Upshaw and they were the parents of two sons, Linn and Scott. "General" accompanied some times by his wife, frequently came to Plymouth to visit his relatives. The family moved from Abilene to Fargo, N. D., for a few years, then returned to Abilene, except Linn who stayed in Fargo.

Linn's brother Scott lives at Babson Park, Fla., where he specializes in creating new varities of sub-tropical fruits. Their mother lives with him and is still active in social and musical affairs.

OCTOBER 5TH IS WORLD-WIDE COMMUNION

TO OBSERVE WORLD-WIDE COMMUNION SUNDAY OCTOBER 5th.

The Five Protestant Churches of Plymouth and Shiloh are cooperating in the observance of World-Wide Communion. This service will be held in Protestant Churches all over the war torn World. It affords a splendid opportunity for Christian people to rally their forces in a determined effort to make effective the Christian way of life.

At the suggestion and under the leadership of the department of evangelism of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, Sunday, October 5, will be observed by Protestant churches thru-out the world as a day of communion. The purpose is twofold: to stimulate all Christians to participate in the services of communion in their own churches on that day; and to have them do so with an acute awareness of the fellowship they have with the millions, in all lands and churches, who are similarly and simultaneously renewing their allegiance to the same Lord.

The essential oneness of the Christian family on earth, qualified as it is by many cleavages, may find expression in many ways—in cooperation for service, in mutual aid, in conferences on the faith and life of the church, in united assemblies for worship. By these and other activities the ecumenical character of the church is both expressed and advanced. Efforts to hold union communion services have sometimes produced unhappy tensions and precipitated controversies that were anything but helpful to the cause of unity.

So long as Christians cannot commune at one altar there will remain a long road to travel before an effective unity is attained. But meanwhile there is value in whatever gives expression to the degree of unity which acutally exists and which tends to enhance the desire for more and to point the way toward it. World-wide Communion Sunday may usefully serve this purpose. It raises no controversial issues about the nature of the sacrament or of the church. Those who stress the priesthood of believers and those who emphasize the priesthood of priests can experience the sense of a common loyalty and of a unity that underlies their differences, and in this simultaneous service believers may see more clearly the focal point of Christian faith and love.

CHURCHES CONDUCT VISITATION SUNDAY

Rally Day will be observed at the Church School hour with the Communion service at the regular Church Hour.

AIR TRIP TO COLUMBUS PROVES TO BE ONE OF SCENIC BEAUTY

EDITOR TAKES HIS SECOND FLIGHT WITH LIEUT. ELMER PARSEL.

I was a little hesitant Monday when Lieut. Elmer Parsel called me on the phone and asked me if I wanted to accompany him to Columbus Monday afternoon. Thoughts quickly ran through my mind of my first air flight, which incidentally was with Elmer Parsel when he was doing a little "barnstorming" in an old crate. The only thing I could remember about my first flight was the "shakiness" of my entire nervous system. I also remembered how the "stay wires" that held the wings to the plane were jumping around under air pressure. In fact, I was very uneasy on my first flight. That was ten years ago.

It didn't take me many seconds to answer "yes" to his invitation, for in those short seconds I remembered how much progress had been made in motion pictures, radios, automobiles, and the like. And plus all of the improvements made in airplanes, I knew that Lieutenant Parsel had to be good or he would not be ranking in the service where he is today. Taking a flight is somewhat like undergoing an operation. If you have confidence in the surgeon, you feel certain that everything is going to come out alright. I had confidence in Elmer, and it was all that was necessary.

A few minutes before 2 p. m. I pulled up at the Parsel farm just south of town, and here I found Ben Parsel and his son, Lieut. Elmer Parsel looking over a small two-seater. In fact, it was one of those "Piper planes" you've heard advertised over the radio in connection with Wings Cigarets. This particular plane was "won" by a resident out in Salt Lake City about four weeks ago, and Lieut. Parsel purchased it from the "lucky guy", and flew it into Plymouth, arriving here Monday morning.

Knowing that the plane had traveled some fifteen hundred miles the past two days, made me more confident that my flight was to be a pleasant one. It was equipped with two seats, one fore and one aft with dual controls. Parsel asked me if I wanted to take the controls at any time during the flight, to which I replied: "If I have to know anything about flying I'd better stay home." At this point he removed the control stick in the front seat, and told me to climb in.

It was exactly 2:11 when Parsel started the motor, and after a couple of minutes of "warm-up," we glided down the old pasture field, and gently swooned into the air. We circled on the outer edge of Plymouth and then turned the plane southward. The Compass gave us our directions, and as we climbed, what once had been normal-sized buildings and barns, within a few seconds became miniatures of extremely small size. It is needless to say that unless you've been up in a plane, you do not realize the beauty of the country. Words cannot describe the sensation. Main highways seem as though they are strips of ribbons; railroad tracks appear to have been built with tooth picks; cows in the pastures looked like small colored flies; regular size trees in front yards had the appearance of a small-dwarfed bush, and the homes with their brightly colored roofs and white paint looked as though they were doll houses. Everything was so colorful — the fields in their many shades of green, lay as though large carpets upon which were placed shrubbery and houses; and there were brown fields which had been plowed and disked, that gave contrast to the green. Mile after mile of such scenery caused fifty minutes in the air to pass too quickly and we arrived at Port Columbus.

Before going into details about Port Columbus, I'd like to say this about the terrain. On the way down we touched Mt. Gilead and then took a more southerly route which brought us direct to the airport, missing Delaware about ten miles. The earth is very flat over this route, and I was particularly impressed by the lack of running streams. I could see dried-up creek beds, but no water, and the land, as it

TWO INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Because he went to sleep and lost control of his Pontiac sedan, Joseph Sukola, 18, of Willard Rt. 2, is a patient in the Willard hospital.

Returning to their home Saturday evening from Shelby, Mr. Sukola complained of being sleepy to his companion, Frank Ujvari, also of Rt. 2 Willard, and evidently dozed off just as the car reached the corner of West High St., and Plymouth street. The car crashed into a telephone pole on the corner splintering it to the top and damaging a cable.

Mr. Sukola was badly cut about the face and lost considerable blood. The steering wheel was bent double and the car was completely wrecked. The Miller-McQuate ambulance was summoned and the injured men removed to the hospital. Mr. Ujvari suffered a number of bruises, but was less seriously injured.

GRADERS AT WORK IN PARK

Dreams do come true—especially if you work as hard as the Mary Fate Park committee in having their ideas and dreams carried out. It hasn't been so very long ago that it was thought almost impossible to get enough contributions and enthusiasm up to make the park idea a reality. However, the committee felt that inasmuch as the tract of land was given free, the least the town, as a whole could do, would be to accept the gift and start in.

Former residents returning to Plymouth after long absences are amazed that the Mary Fate Park has grown to such proportions. This week another "dream" is being realized. The four acre plot to the northeast and known as the "bottoms" is being graded. Late Wednesday, two large pieces of road machinery were brought in —one from Huron county and one from Richland county. These machines will be in use the rest of the week grading the tract. One of the machines is used to dig and transfer the dirt from either high or low spots, and the other levels it off.

After the grading is completed the park committee hopes to have it seeded in time for the fall rains and by spring the effect will surprise you. Hard work surely works wonders in making dreams come true.

Air Trip To

looked from the air, seemed to be badly in need of rain. The first ten or fifteen minutes I noticed that the plane had a tendency to take a sudden drop, or perhaps it would hit a "bump" which reminded one of an auto striking a large rock in the road. I asked Lieut. Parsel if we were not striking air pockets, and he stated that we were. "They are caused by light and heat waves rebounding from the surface of the earth, and that they are more frequent during the summer than the cooler days of fall." He stated that: "On the return trip, you will notice the air a trifle rough over the hills around Belleville, but that it will smooth out as we leave Mansfield.

At Port Columbus there was much activity on the field, because the army air port is a busy place, and coupled next to Port Columbus, there were two transport planes just in. At the field we were lucky enough to see one of the DB-70-B British Bombers being refueled. The Britons give this particular serial number to this type bomber, but the Americans call it the A-20-A. It is a large twin-motored plane, camouflaged with various colors, but the British insignia is plainly seen beneath and on top of the wings. It has a cruising speed of more than 300 miles an hour, and is capable of carrying a large number of bombs or torpedoes. We saw it go to the end of the run-way, and as it turned its nose to the wind, it attained a speed of approximately 75 miles an hour and then gently lifted itself into the air. It had arrived a short time before we landed from San Diego, Calif., and was headed for a trip across the Atlantic.

While Lieut. Parsel conversed with some of his friends I took a look at the various types or models of army planes hangared at Port Columbus. After "stretching our legs" for a half an hour we left for Mansfield. We came on a route that brought us approximately 10 miles north of Mt. Vernon, and at the height we were flying we could see the towns of Mt. Vernon, Fredericktown, Belleville, Lexington and Mansfield, all at the same glance. Coming into Mansfield we first saw the Mansfield General hospital and it was surrounded with many trees and "doll houses." Mansfield from the air, looks as though it were a miniature model city. We circled over the Square and the business section, landing at the airport for a few minutes. Leaving Mansfield at 5:10 we came into Shelby, following the B. & O. railroad. Here we circled twice, and then into Plymouth. Plymouth gives a very beautiful view from the air. The stone quarry stands out, and the homes and Square have the appearance of a cozy nook in this big world.

Both on the trip down and back I could not help but marvel at the magnitude of the country, and how insignificant we are, when it comes to size. I could see the rich fertile fields, the winding streams and stretches of forest; passing over cities the buildings could be identified, but in every instance, it was almost impossible to see any of the inhabitants.

We all realize airships are playing a big part in the present war, but it is hard for us to comprehend as to how large a scale they are playing. After my flight today I can easily see why airplanes are the most important of all implements or methods of war. Not only for scouting, but they are used to many advantages in planning attacks by land. What I don't understand is how any bomber, equipped even with a precision range finder, can drop explosives on a given spot. So many details have to be calculated: height, speed, wind current, and many other things too intricate for me to try and explain. But on the whole, if America and England and Russia are to get anywhere, we'll have to make that slogan "Keep 'Em Flying" bigger and better, for airplanes are as vital to an army as food is to a stomach.

In closing this story I feel something should be said about the simplicity of control of the smaller-type planes, such as the one our trip was made in. The dash board has only six instruments, namely: altimeter, oil guage, speedometer, temperature guage, and an instrument which registers the engine revolutions. Our altimeter was set at sea level, and it indicated that we were flying at an average of 1400 feet; our speed was around 75 miles an hour, the temperature was normal, and the engine was turning over at 2,000 r. p. m. A rod placed in front of the windshield was our gas gauge, and we were getting around twenty miles to the gallon.

After getting to the proper altitude, Parsel started turning a little crank on the side of the cabin. I inquired as to what the gadget controlled. He told me that it was a stabilizer, an attachment that automatically kept the plane at a certain height, and acted as a balance when passing through air-pockets. After setting the stabilizer Lieut. Parsel pushed the carburetor up a couple of notches, and we traveled without any worry or thought of trouble.

An aviator has many tricks to depend on, especially when it comes to keeping on his route and determining wind direction. Parsel pointed out a windmill to me, and said: "See that mill, the wind is coming from the southwest." Naturally, anyone knows which way the wind is blowing by looking at the windmill, but it never struck me that an aviator found it so convenient. We passed over one farm where a farmer was discing, the wind was blowing the dust, which was another clue to determine wind direction. On the airmaps, all the railroads and main highways are listed, and those cities which are "air-marked" are so noted. For identification of towns I noticed that a brick kiln was on the map just north of Mansfield. All outstanding buildings or objects that are visible from the air are listed on the map, so that the aviator can tell just where he is at any time.

We arrived over Plymouth at 5:20 and after circling a couple of times, we landed just exactly three hours and fifteen minutes later on the same spot from which we took off, completing one of the most thrilling experiences of my life time, and convincing me that in the next few years Young America will be more air-minded than anyone of the present day ever suspected. And after my experience Monday, I don't blame them for taking to the air.

Anna Mae Landis Becomes Bride of Mr. Rudy Paul Ebinger In Wedding of Early Fall

Beautiful appointments combined to make memorable the wedding Wednesday morning of Miss Anna Mae Landis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McBride of Shiloh, to Mr. Rudy Paul Ebinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Ebinger of Lorain.

In the little white Catholic Mission known as St. Joseph's Church on Trux Street, the Rev. Father Clement Geppert conducted the Nuptial High Mass at 10 o'clock, the edifice being decorated with exceptionally beautiful effects. Two seven branch candelabra were placed against the lacy ferns and cast a beautiful glow over the hundreds of pompoms and asters placed at advantageous points. As the guests filled the church and escorted by ushers Robert Moser and Dean Ruckman, both of Shiloh, Mrs. C. B. Walker softly played a number of nuptial selections. Pews reserved for relatives were marked with small bouquets of asters tied with green ribbon. Miss Doris Hatch, a close friend of Miss Landis sang Gonoud's "Ave Marie."

Miss Landis, a stunning blond, was escorted to the altar by her father, R. A. McBride and wore a handsome gown of blush bridal satin on princess lines with fitted bodice and skirt which fell into soft folds and a brief train. Sleeves were leg of mutton style, tightlyf itted and extending over the hand with pointed cuffs. Tiny buttons trimmed the bodice down the back while the neckline was of quilted sweetheart effect. Her veil of finger-tip length was held in place with a tiara of pearls. A cameo necklace, a gift of the groom, was her only ornament. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses, swansonia and gardenias tied with white satin ribbon.

Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Robert F. Lofland of Shiloh, who served as matron of honor and wore a pastel green taffeta gown. It was styled along classic lines with quilted Eton jacket, with full and flaring skirt. A fan style bouquet of white pompoms and fern, tied with green satin ribbon was carried by Mrs. Lofland while her tiara was fashioned of flowers corresponding to her bouquet. A cameo necklace, a gift from the bride, completed her costume.

Mr. R. V. Donahue, of Lorain, Ohio, served as best man for his friend.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McBride was attired in street dress of green crepe with black accessories and wore a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Ebinger chose a Defense blue gown with black accessories and her corsage was also of gardenias.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served to thirty guests at the home of Miss Pearl Darling in Shiloh. A three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the table, which was beautifully decorated, with a color motif of green and white.

Amid the best wishes of their guests, the bridal couple left on a motor trip which will take them through the Smoky Mountains, the Skyline Drive, Washington, D. C. and other eastern points. For traveling Mrs. Ebinger wore a two piece R. A. F. blue wool suit with wine accessories and a shoulder corsage of gardenias fashioned from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return the couple will reside at 839 West 22nd Street, Lorain until November 1st when they will occupy their newly built home at 1960 Cleveland Blvd., same city.

Mrs. Ebinger is a graduate of the Shiloh High School and the Mansfield School of Cosmetology and for the past four years has been employed at the Myers' Beauty Shoppe in Plymouth.

Mr. Ebinger is a graduate of the Lorain High School, the Elyria Business College, Cleveland Advertising School, and Cleveland College and fraternally is associated with the Elks. He is office manager of the Matt Ebinger Coal Company in Lorain.

THANK YOU, MR. FERRELL

One familiar face, old friends and native of Shiloh, will be missed at the homecoming this year. One who has never forgotten us and has always supported our civic projects, but will be unable to greet former friends on account of ill health.

To Mayor George W. Page he sent his regrets, and his card. But that card was different than ordinary—it was a check for $50.

Sorry the China Clipper could not stop in town Saturday, so we could send Mr. A. T. Ferrell of Saginaw, Mich., our personal thanks, and a great big sandwich. Here's a public "Thank You," and hoping you will be well soon.

AN APOLOGY

The editor of The Advertiser is indeed, very regretful of an error made in last week's issue in which it was stated that Charles Seaman was in charge of roasting the ox for the Shiloh homecoming. The proper person should have been Mr. Marion Seaman, who has had charge of ox roasting in previous years. We are not personally acquainted with either Mr. Charles Seaman or Mr. Marion Seaman, and the mistake occurred inadvertently on our part in failing to know the exact circumstances. No member of the Shiloh Civic Club was responsible for the error in any way, and we are glad to assume all responsibility for making the error. PWT.

PHONE CHANGE OVER IS MADE

Have you reached for the crank that wasn't there? Well, if you have, don't feel too badly about it, for in the course of a few days more, you'll get used to Plymouth's new phone system, and the old fashioned phones will have faded into oblivion.

The Northern Ohio Telephone Company began Monday, the huge task of transforming Plymouth phones from the old magneto type to the common battery type phones. For the past few weeks employees have been busy installing the new type phones in homes of subscribers, and Monday, the big job of "cutting in" was started.

Under the supervision of W. O. Heabler a crew of ten men have worked untiringly to make the change-over without any interference. On the crew were two switchboard men, one cableman and helper, a trouble man from New Washington, one installer from Willard, and three construction men. They finished making the change-over here Wednesday, and there was a sigh of relief when the last number registered correctly on the big switchboard.

With modern switchboards and the latest type of equipment The Northern Ohio Telephone Co., has spent approximately $12,000 in bringing a modern and efficient phone service to Plymouth. The telephone office, formerly on the second floor of the present building, has been moved down to the ground floor. In the front of the building, a private booth is found to accomodate private calls. Then there is the switchboard situated to the left and surrounded by a convenient counter. A bathroom, kitchenette and lounging room has been comfortably equipped for use by the operators. The personnel of the telephone company in Plymouth is composed of Mrs. Muriel Marguerite Post and Mrs. Helen Neely. John Wilson of Willard is in charge of installations and service.

NEW OPERATOR

Mr. Ebenshade of Mansfield is the new movie operator of the Plymouth Theatre truck. He succeeds Mr. Tom Butler who with his wife are now making their home at Jackson, Mich.

FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS IN SCHOOL

This Friday, Sept. 26, at 3:00, the Plymouth High Six-Man Football team will engage the Huron Six-Man aggregation at Huron in the opening game for the Pilgrims. Huron has played one game, having swapped North Fairfield by a very onesided score. Plymouth has four veterans back from last years squad, Lasch, Moore, Rule and Cunningham who form the nucleus of this years team. The probable starting line-up for the Pilgrims is Lasch and Moore, ends, Rowe at Center, and Cunningham and Thomas, Halfbacks, with Dick Rule calling signals from the quarterback position. The boys have been practicing for quite some time and really deserve the whole-hearted backing of the Plymouth fans. The next game will be played at Shiloh, Saturday, Oct. 4th, at 2:30.

JUNIOR CLASS NEWS

The Jr. Class has chosen as their class-play a three act comedy "Hen-Pecked Hero" to be presented November 21st.

The class sells candy every day and will be selling candy at the football games.

The class had a weiner roast Friday evening at the Plymouth Park. It was enjoyed by all who attended.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council has decided to get a school flag. It is going to be made of silk. It is going to be red with the letters SHILOH HIGH made of white on it. Also there will be a white border around it. It is going to be carried in front of the band.

CHAPEL

Supt. Keck of Shelby Schools gave us a very wonderful talk on "Planning Your Life," Monday afternoon. Everyone enjoyed it immensely.

Last Wednesday Mr. Wagner a member of the Mansfield chapter of Sons of American Revolution gave us a good talk on the Constitution of the United States. He was one of a group from the Mansfield chapter appointed to give such a talk in each school in the county on Constitution Day.

We wish to thank both Supt. Keck and Mr. Wagner for their interesting talks.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The Dramatic Club of Shiloh High has been working on the Dramatic Club play for the past week. The play is a comedy drama in three acts, scheduled for Oct. 17th. Under the able supervision of Miss Southwick, the cast has been working hard and they hope it to be a success.

MUSIC CLUB

This year our marching band is one of our most important factors in the Music Club. This organization consists of 40 musicians besides the head drum major, two drum majorettes, and two flag bearers—two recent additions to our ranks. In case some of the citizens of Shiloh have become alarmed at the roaring of bombers of late don't be disturbed because it is only the band practicing for the coming football game with North Fairfield. This section of the music club has been meeting every day except Monday from 12:30 until 1:15.

We have been studying military drill and plan to give a demonstration of this before the football game Saturday. At the half we will assemble at the north end of the field in the shape of an airplane and will march up the field into a very shaky N. F. which indicates the feeling that North Fairfield will have then—we hope. At the crack of sticks the band will form a double S for Shiloh. Then the airplane will again assemble, loop the loop and march back to the north end of the field.

The Band Office ratings have been set up. They are as follows: Student Director—Eileen Miller
Drum Major—Janice Moser
President—Mary Jean Homerick
Vice-President—Helen Guthrie
Sec'y-Treas.—Marcella Clark
Librarian—Betty Seaman
1st Chair Musician—Blaine Haverfield
2nd Chair Musician—Junior James

Emblems are being purchased for the uniforms of these people.

HAY RIDE NEW EXPERIENCE

Friday evening turned out to be quite an event when members of the senior class went on their long planned hay ride. They were supposed to meet at five-thirty and everyone was on time raring to go.

They left the school house on Don Sutter's wagon, but when Mick Lutz, the driver of the tractor opened her up the wagon, being unused to such a rollocking bunch of kids, began to weave from side to side. So it was decided to go out to Adam's and get another wagon. The ride that far was a slow one and not much noise was heard except for an occasional bang of a bursting balloon.

Reaching Adam's they got his wagon and proceeded on at a good rate of speed to Ross Russell's where a weiner roast was held. There were marshmallows too, only when they went to eat them it was discovered that some one had made short work of them. (It couldn't be Earl had a disordered stomach from all of those marshmallows, could it?).

After the weiner roast, they all climbed aboard again and proceeded on to Shelby. (Wonder why everyone stopped and started at such a noisy bunch? It couldn't be that the muffler of the tractor had been removed?).

When they had made the round of Shelby, the group proceeded toward Plymouth only to discover when they got half way there that the ball bat had decided to stay in Shelby. Not much could be done about that so they continued on to Plymouth, where the next stop was the park. Most of you know the juniors had a party there that evening and of course the Seniors had to see what they could find after that bunch had been there. (Nothing but a few hot coals of the fire).

From there they came back to Shiloh the original starting place and except for a little trouble keeping the lanterns burning everything went well. No one was hurt and "All's well that ends well", they say.

SHILOH HOMECOMING AND OX ROAST

An ox roast and homecoming will be held at Shiloh on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 26-27.

To open the program Friday there will be a matinee performance of the Boone County Jamboree, there will also be a night performance on Friday evening and Saturday the twenty-seventh, a six man football game will be held at Ferrell Field at 1:30 p. m. This game will be with North Fairfield. The high school band will be there to play at the quarters and again at the half.

On Saturday night there will be a dance held at the school auditorium. An orchestra has been hired to play for this dance.

For the people who do not care to dance there will be added attractions on Main street. At 8:00 and 11:00 there will be free acts held on the street, and of course there will be bingo at the bingo room. Added to all this is the big Midway which is to be held on Main street also.

Plan to attend this Homecoming at Shiloh and meet all your old friends that you have lost track of in the last few years. There will be entertainment for both old and young. Don't forget the date, Sept. 26-27.

FOOTBALL NEWS

The Drummer Boys of Shiloh High meet the ex-high in a practice game Thursday evening, Sept. 18. It was a long, hard grind for some of the boys, but the game ended with a tie 6-6.

PAUL ROOT OF THE R. A. F. SAYS "IT'S TOUGH, BUT I LIKE IT"

In a recent communication from Paul Root, Plymouth's only member of the Canadian Royal Air Force, writes to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Root, "that the going is plenty tough," but that he likes it. We reprint the letter for the pleasure of other local residents, who are interested in Paul and his carreer:

Tuesday Sept. 16,1941

We are at the No. 1 initial training school here in Toronto. It is on the north edge of the city and is what used to be the Eglinton Hunt Club, a millionaire's club that the Canadian government purchased for the school.

It is really a wonderful place. We have a swimming pool, bowling alley and everything. There are around 400 men here in this station and the discipline is the toughest yet. We sure have to be up to the mark in every way. Here we have math, wireless, link training, administration, guns, drill, physical training of the toughest kind. I like it.

My address is:

Root, P. H. R11025,
No. 1 I. T. S.
Eglinton Hunt Club
"G" Flight No. 2 Squadron
Toronto, Ont., Canada.

I received the Plymouth Advertiser that was forwarded to Jarvis. When we graduate from here, if we do, we will be L. A. C's or leading air craftsmen with a raise in pay of around a dollar per day. All we are required in wireless is 6 words per minute, and I can do around 8 now, so I am all set there. As for the other subjects, I am sure I have nothing to worry about with the exception of math. That's the one thing I just wasn't born with or something. However, we are only required to have a grade of 50 on the final test and I am sure I will be able to get that.

We don't go out much as we have a lot of studying to do. It is as yet uncertain just how long we will be here. No less than 5 weeks and no more than 8. From here we will go to EFTS or Elementary Flying Training School. We will be there 6 to 8 weeks and from there to flying service, until we are presented with our wings. That will be the DAY. Tell everyone hello and pass my address around. I won't have as much time to write here but will try to get a letter out once a week.

Decrease In Employment During Month of August

Jobs in private industry filled by the Mansfield Employment Security Center totaled 211 during August, a slight decrease from July, Manager C. W. Handley announced today.

Effect of employment increases in the Mansfield area was reflected in a decrease in the number of persons registered with the Employment Security Center as available for jobs. There were 1640 workers registered as of August 31, Manager Handley said, a decrease of approximately 10% from the total at the close of July.

Unemployed workers in this area received $6,164.76 in unemployment compensation during August, an increase of 1.5 per cent from July. The average weekly benefit amount for workers totally unemployed was $9.34 during August, while benefits to those partially unemployed was $5.22 per week.

Employment continued to gain throughout Ohio during August, a total of 23,979 jobs in private industry being filled by the Ohio State Employment Service, according to figures released at Columbus by Administrator Hershel C. Atkinson of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation. This represented a gain of 4 per cent over July. Unemployment benefits paid during August in Ohio totaled $704.291.

ANNOUNCE 1942 AAA PROGRAM

A "made to order" AAA farm program for 1942, designed to fit Huron county farms, in the U. S. Department of Agriculture's drive to boost production of certain agricultural goods, was announced recently by the Huron county AAA committee.

Special allotments for such surplus as corn, wheat and tobacco will be retained under the 1942 program, but there will be no total depleting allotments, the committee declared.

R. E. Finlay, chairman of the committee explained the new program as follows: If a farmer has 100 acres of cropland, he is required to devote 20 acres to conserve crops. If he has a 20-acre corn allotment and a 20-acre wheat allotment, he can put the remaining 40 acres in any other crop he wishes.

"Our new program next year will continue to adjust production of surplus crops but will open up the production of commodities needed to fill U. S. domestic needs for national defense and for nations resisting aggression. Conservation of the soil is a major factor in the 1942 program, since one-fifth of the cropland must be devoted to crops that protect the land," Mr. Finlay said.

The soil building allowance will be computed on the basis of the difference between the sum of the special allotments and the total cropland. This difference is multiplied by 70 cents to determine the amount which the farmer can earn by carrying out silo building practices.

"Our new program will prevent the mistakes of the first World War which brought a long series of difficulties for farmers," the chairman remarked.

"Through the machinery of the National Farm Program, farmers can produce what is needed and avoid the bad-effects of an over-expanded farm plant. The fact that the program calls for greatly increased production of some commodities does not mean that the lid is off on production of all commodities. It is just as important to national defense and our future welfare to hold production of some commodities in check as it is to increase supplies of others," Finlay pointed out.

Mile-Long Yarn

Some cotton yarn is so fine that 50 miles of it are needed to make one pound, according to a department of agriculture processing expert. This fine yarn is spun on ordinary machinery and is used in making typewriter ribbons, airplane fabric, and even fine dress goods.

Being told to write an essay on the mule, a small boy turned in the following effort. "The mewl is a hardier bird than the guse or turkie. It has two legs to walk with, two more to kick with, and wears its wings on the side of its head. It is stubbornly backward about going forward."
