

MAKING A CHOICE.

There is one office on the county ticket this year in connection with which the voters of the county, regardless of politics, should have no trouble in making a choice of the candidate for whom they will vote. This is the office of representative in the state legislature, for which choice is made by a majority of the voters of the county.

Richard county in a manner which has at all times reflected credit on the county and which has brought this county to the favorable attention of the entire state as having sent to the legislature a man who was thoroughly competent and whose opinions carried considerable weight when given on any question under consideration.

The present Democratic nominee for representative, Dr. N. A. McQuestion, Mansfield dentist, saw fit two years ago to make a sacrifice for the nomination for second term. Dr. McQuestion is a proponent of a well known type who is persistently troubled with itching to hold office so that he may go to even greater lengths in exploiting non-sensical and thoroughly impractical ideas along a great variety of lines. He has been a Republican, Socialist, Independent and now claims affiliation with the Democratic party, which in a way is not so fortunate as the Socialist party, which in the case of Dr. McQuestion, exercised its right to expel him from that party, according to what is regarded as an entirely reliable information gained from local members of that party.

In opposition to the candidacy of Dr. McQuestion the Republican ticket offers C. J. Anderson as a candidate for representative. Mr. Anderson has been engaged in the practice of law in Shelby since 1900. He was born on a farm near Shelby and in boyhood attended school in winter and worked on his father's farm in summer, continuing law until he became of age. As an attorney he has been an adviser rather than a trial lawyer, and has worked on the theory that a peaceful adjustment of differences is frequently more to the advantage of his clients than costly litigation.

"Fewer laws and better ones, not promises, but results," is the motto of Mr. Anderson in his candidacy for representative, a motto which will bring hearty expressions of approval from those who are familiar with the vast number of so-called "laws" of all sorts which have been foisted upon the people in recent years. It is unthinkable that the people of Richard county will do other than elect C. J. Anderson as representative.—Mansfield News.

Arrested on Arson Charge.

Charged with being the head of an arson ring which fired dwellings in Newark in order to defraud insurance, says the Newark Reflector, last week Friday, John G. Lehenaler, advertising man, real estate dealer and prominent church worker, was arrested at his home on Wood avenue, this morning by Police Chief Remington at the instance of Charles Miller and W. S. Reece, deputy state fire marshal.

Later yesterday afternoon Edward Hawkins, charged with firing the buildings, and Lew Hawkins, a conspirator, were lodged in the city jail. There they signed confession implicating Lehenaler. Lehenaler was arrested while he lay ill in his bed and when Mayor Anderson and the fire marshal visited his home in order to arraign him, he pleaded not guilty to the charge and furnished bond in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance for hearing, October 24.

His arrest created a city wide sensation for he has been a resident of Newark for many years, a fact widely known. In the arrest of the trio the state officers claim they have made one of the most important captures in the history of the fire marshal's office.

The burning of the house at 34 Pitt street early last Sunday morning brought about the arrest of the men. When the report reached the state department their records disclosed the fact that Lehenaler had owned at least one other dwelling that had been destroyed by fire. According to Inspector Miller, a special investigator of the state, the local man has been under suspicion for several years.

Enters vs. Shooters.

Colliers recently published a report of hits made by the Atlantic Squadron while at the last target practice—or rather it should be called a report of misses, as there were disgustingly few hits. The figures given by Colliers were denied by Secretary Daniels, who attempted to add that if the target had been 100 feet longer and 30 feet higher, it would have been struck oftener. Then came a report that the Navy Department had completed the construction of a target 200 feet long, followed by another report that there would be no further target practice by the Navy until after election. To offset criticism of gun efficiency, the Navy Department has just published a statement to the effect that it cost three-quarters of a cent per shot to fire the navy gun this year, last making a saving of $100,000, "or a saving of close to $500,000, if the ten per cent increase in the cost of food supplies is taken into consideration." The Paymaster General of the Navy is quoted as saying: "The fact that the men are better fed today than ever, even at the reduced cost, is fully attested by reports from all sources." So, on the whole, it would appear that our navy is better fed and shoots worse than ever in its history.

What Are You Doing?

What are you doing to justify your citizenship in this town? The good citizen never thinks only of self. He must necessarily think of self or he would not survive, but good citizenship requires more than that.

It requires that you keep in mind that there are others who have rights and are entitled to have those rights respected by others—by you. On the same basis, you are entitled to have your rights equally respected by them.

That is good citizenship—partially. In addition, the good citizen remembers that his town is entitled to his best efforts in its behalf, to the end that the interests of the community as a whole be advanced by all legitimate means.

This means, too, that in advancing the interests, you are advancing your own, which is the ultimate aim of the human race.

What, then, are you doing to constitute yourself a good citizen?

Take Your Time.

The Grocer and Butcher, a Toledo trade paper, says this: "Don't be hasty about buying potatoes. We are informed that local and northern Michigan growers are trying to get $2 per bushel for their potatoes. Maine potatoes are being offered through Chicago brokers for $1.25 a bushel, delivered in Minnesota has had plenty of rain and is off-rin potatoes at much lower prices than local merchants. The consumer will be slow to fill his bin with such priced potatoes and local farmers would better unload at reasonable prices before they are shut out by potatoes from other states."

I Remember.

I remember, I remember the house where I was born, the little window where the sun came peeping in at morn. You'd hardly know the old place now, for dad is up-to-date and the farm is scientific, from the back lot to the gate. The house and barn are lighted with bright acetylene, the engine in the laundry is run by gasoline; we have silos, we have dynamos and things, a telephone for gossip and a phonograph that sings. The hired man has left us, and his homely face—a lot of college graduates are working in his place. There's an engineer and fireman, a chauffeur and a vet., electrician and mechanic. Oh, the farm's run right up to date.—Indiana Farmer.

Election Board Considers Bids.

The Huron county board of elections met Monday and ratified the petitions set in from various parts of the county for special elections, let a $200 contract to the Johnson-Watson company of Dayton for roll books and election supplies, and accepted the bid made by the Safe-Cabinet company of Elyria for filing cases in which to keep the records of the county election. This is a convenience the board has never had.

Land Extends Into Air.

An interesting question was decided by the appellate court in the Sandusky case of Ferdinand Saner vs. L. S. E. railway company, in which Saner secured a reversal of a decision made by Judge S. M. Young, which denied him a right to maintain an action to eject the company from property owned by him. Three high tension wires pass over a corner of Saner's lot. Saner sought to secure the removal of the wires and was opposed by the corporation which, among other claims, said that no poles had been erected on the plaintiff's land.

In disposing of the question the court of appeals said: "It is clearly no objection to the right to maintain an action for ejectment that no poles have been erected by the defendant company upon the land of the plaintiff, or his land extends to the sky above and his right is the same as if the poles had actually been erected on the land."

BRINGS BOOM TO BOLIVIA

Finding of Rich Deposits of Tungsten Has Aroused Great Excitement.

Mining for tungsten or wolfram has brought prosperity to Bolivia. According to El Diario de La Paz, the boom at the mining-center of Oruro can scarcely be exaggerated.

Daily the miners and workmen flocked into the town from the outlying districts, carrying the fruit of their labors. The camps were full of nervous energy.

Individuals pass through the streets of Oruro with faces burned by the wind and sun. They are the miners who have come to offer the exporting houses lots of wolfram, varying between 300 and 1,000 pounds. The amount of this sale, $200 to $2,000, is considerable in view of the modest condition of the miners, of whom the majority are Indians. The proceeds of the sale are deposited in the banks at night, and the miner, happy and contented with the certificate of his capital, returns to the Cordillera to bring down more treasure.

In nearly all the mineral districts of the department of Oruro there are rich deposits of wolfram. Motor cars have been rapidly springing into popularity for use in visiting the mining regions, and many cars have recently been ordered from the United States.

Tungsten and tin ores are found at altitudes between 13,500 and 16,500 feet above sea level. Men, mules and hand-carts climb up and down, but the slopes are too steep for working and handling of ore. Aerial ropeways are used to bring the ore down to a place where water for concentration is available.

It was not until after Ferenczy's death that the authorship was established.

HOME BEAUTIFUL

Flowers and Shrubs Their Care and Cultivation

Among the Most Satisfactory House Plants for Winter Are Palms and Climbing Vines.

HOUSE PLANTS IN WINTER

By L. M. BENNINGTON.

Among the most beautiful and satisfactory house plants for winter are palms. They are very strong and hardy, and with the observation of a few simple rules can be kept green and vigorous all winter. More palms are killed by overheating than by cold. They should have a temperature of between 50 and 60 degrees. If it is not convenient to have any room in the house kept as cool as this, stand them in the corner furthest from the radiator, as close as possible to the light, but not in the glaring sun.

The worst enemy of the plants is dust. Owing to its smooth leaves, the palm can be readily kept free from this. Its leaves should be washed with a soft sponge and lukewarm water.

The watering of the plants is of great interest. The great danger is that the housewife will be too generous in this respect. It is difficult to give a definite rule. Generally speaking, the earth in the pot should be kept moist, but not wet. If the room is kept at high temperature, the plant will require more water than in a cool place. But winter should be a time of rest for the plant. It should not do much growing, and therefore nourishment and water should be given sparingly. It is easy to soak the soil of a plant, but hard to dry it, once thoroughly wet.

Neither a palm, or any other plant, should ever be put in a glazed pot. If an ornamental pot is desired, the earthen pot should be set inside. A porous pot absorbs and evaporates the moisture, while in a glazed pot the earth grows sour and unfit for even very hardy plants. There should be a hole in the bottom of the pot, over which a stone, a bit of broken crockery or something similar should be laid. This will keep the earth from filling it up, and the surplus water will trickle out beneath. A few lumps of common charcoal at the bottom of the pot will prevent the roots from rotting, and powdered charcoal mixed with the earth has the same effect, keeping the bottom from turning sour.

Having temperature and moisture right, the next enemy of the plant is parasites, such as fungi and insects. Many little insect pests infest the palm. Some of these are destroyed by washing the leaves with a sponge and soft brush, using clean water only. Those that cannot be destroyed in this way, such as scales, can be quickly dispatched by tobacco juice diluted with water. Any tobaccoist or cigar manufacturer will give you all the ribs of tobacco leaves you want. Put a handful of these in a quart of water and boil. Wash the leaves with this, and if you put in a little whale-oil soap, it will be more effective. Of

CONSIDER THE PHLOX

By L. M. BENNINGTON.

Even motorists tell us that there is an element in all mankind that leads to the enjoyment of speculation and chance. For the gratification of this instinct I do not know any more interesting study than the phlox when one resorts to seeds for the growth of plants. Of course, the staid, regular garden worker will resort to cuttings, because no one can guess, even approximately, what will come from the seed venture.

But there is a lot of fun in taking the seeds and watching the results. They may be anything, from a perverse and wayward first child to the light of the garden when it is left to first principles for its start in life.

The phlox Drummondii is the first parent of the family. It was found growing wild in Texas back in 1834, and since that time it has grown in popularity. Essentially a garden flower, it fully justifies the use of the Greek name because it is literally a flame of light. There is no question but that it is far better for having been planted in the fall. At the first hint of spring it will start its growth, and the hard treatment of a rough winter will not serve to deter it in its determination to help brighten the world. The one thing that phlox will not stand is heavy clay soil. Planted along walls and hedges, with borders and in places where the irregular size of the plants affords contrast in color, there is nothing more calculated to add life to the garden vista than the simple phlox.

CARE OF THE HOLLYHOCK

Keep the hollyhock flowers picked off. Remove them as soon as they begin to die. This serves two purposes: it makes the plant more attractive and it prevents seed from forming. If you have noticed, there are almost always little branches starting about the base of the old plants. If seed is not allowed to develop, the energy of the plant will be spent on these, and they will bear a good crop of flowers late in the season. But if the plant perfects seed they never amount to anything. See to it that they are encouraged to make themselves useful.

FIND VOLCANO IN MINDANAO

Recent Eruption Was Apparent, Lieutenant Donnelly Says of the Discovery.

Mindanao has a new volcano, according to the Mindanao Herald. Lieutenant Donnelly, while on a hike into the interior of Lanao province, discovered an active volcano in the Paganayan range of mountains, which heretofore was not known to exist. Lieutenant Donnelly says of his discovery in the following report:

"June 5, 1918, the undersigned, in command of a combined detachment of the First Cotabato company, and the First General Service company, on reconnaissance patrol from Kapatagan northwest through the Paganayan mountain range, came in sight of an active volcano which from all indications had recently erupted a discharge of volcanic ash and either smoke or flame.

"From the fact that foliage in the forest on the mountain three or four miles to the southeast had been scorched as though by flame, but smoke or toxic gas, and that ground vegetation of scrub grass and weeds had been partially destroyed, leaving the stalks intact and the scorched leaves retaining their form, it was thought that the eruption had been recent. At all events, so recent that the wind had not blown away nor destroyed the fragile remnants of the burned foliage."

When Work Is Hard

That kidney troubles are so common is due to the strain put upon the kidneys in a many occupations, such as: Jarring and jolting on railroads, etc. Exposure to changes of temperature in iron furnaces, refrigerating, etc. Exposure to acids in tanneries, quarries, mines, etc. Debilitating paleontic fumes in painting, printing and chemical shops. Exposure to heat in bakeries. See for strengthening weak kidneys.

Adds to the Joy of Living

It isn't alone the deliciously sweet nut-like taste of Grape-Nuts that has made the food famous, though taste makes first appeal, and goes a long way.

But with the zestful flavor there is in Grape-Nuts the entire nutriment of finest wheat and barley. And this includes the rich mineral elements of the grain, necessary for vigorous health—the greatest joy of life.

Every table should have its daily ration of Grape-Nuts

Women Once Invalids

Now in Good Health Through Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Say it is Household Necessity. Doctor Called it a Miracle.

All women ought to know the wonderful effects of taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound even of those who seem hopelessly ill. Here are three actual cases:

Harrisburg, Penn.—"When I was single I suffered a great deal from female weakness because my work compelled me to stand all day. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for that and was made stronger by its use. After I was married I took the Compound again for a female trouble and after three months I passed what the doctor called a cure. He said it was a miracle that it came away as one generally goes under the knife to have them removed. I never want to be without your Compound in the house."—Mrs. FRANK KROHN, 1642 Fulton St., Harrisburg, Penn.

Hardly Able to Move. Albert Lea, Minn.—"For about a year I had sharp pains across my back and hips and was hardly able to move around the house. My head would ache and I was dizzy and had no appetite. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, I am feeling stronger than for years. I have been a little over thirty years old and am doing my work all alone. I would not be without your remedies in the house as there are none like them."—Mrs. F. E. YORR, 611 Water St., Albert Lea, Minn.

Three Doctors Gave Her Up. Pittsburg, Penn.—"Your medicine has helped me wonderfully. When I was a girl 18 years old I was always sickly and delicate and suffered from irregularities. Three doctors gave me up and said I would go into consumption. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and with the third bottle began to feel better. I soon became healthy and I got strong and shortly after I was married. Now I have two nice stout healthy children and am able to work hard every day."—Mrs. CLARENCE DUNN, 44 Chandler St., Troy Hill, Pittsburg, Penn.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice.—It will be confidential.

The Waynesfield Stage and Bat Mill of Napoleon has received an order for 100,000 white ash baseball bats from a sporting goods firm in Louisville, Ky. It will require 500 cords of 38-inch wood to fill the contract.

The commissioners of Crawford and Richland counties held the final hearing on the Metzger joint county ditch Wednesday and after making a few minor changes granted the ditch and set the sale for 2 o'clock p. m. October 20 at Mansfield, Ohio. —Bucyrus Telegraph.

A movement has been started at Bellefontaine to place a monument on "The Top of Ohio." Federal and state surveyors have located the highest spot in Ohio on the D. Campbell farm, three miles east of there. It is 1500 feet above the sea level. Richland county formerly claimed "The Top of Ohio."

More than 40 car loads of stone have been rejected by County Surveyor Merkel during the summer. He says this stone was shipped from four different quarries. The principle objection to the stone is the size. Water bound or tar bound roads are built of six different size stone and must be placed in regular order or the road will not last. The work has been held up because the stone had to be rejected.

A groceryman in Kansas has started a second store in which he sells all goods at 10 percent less than at his regular store. In his new store he sells for cash, makes no delivery of goods, has no telephone and contributes to no charities. In this way, those who want to pay cash and deliver their own goods, can save 10 per cent, that he claims it costs to collect bills, pay delivery and telephone and give to charity.

We have our opinion of the family who will send out of town for coffee. We're very charitable when we give them credit for full sincerity in the belief that they are doing better than they could be here, even though we know they are much deluded. But what do you think of the family who will send away for coffee, and then ask one of the local dealers to grind it for them? This happened in town one day a week. That's going some, isn't it?

Here's a liner from the Ottumwa (Ia.) Review: "For Sale—One large rook, three-eighths mule and five-eighths wildcat. She usually goes on a visit every summer, but this year she was very much attached to her home at present by means of a log chain. Any person wishing to buy her, I will throw in fifty feet of two-inch rope and an old ax. Would like to sell her to some man who thinks he could whip Mikico single-handed. R. D. No. 8, Ottumwa, Iowa."

After we had begun to complain of the disadvantages of an early autumn and decide after all that the summer had not been half bad, the weather man sent a small portion of August temperature to us. It made us take it all back. Sunday was warm. It caused the auto owner to wonder why the summer reports were closed so early. I sent hundreds to the country to enjoy the glorious spectacle of the autumn woods. The leaves are especially brilliant this year, due to the gradual approach of cool weather and frost.

Another one of the famous Andrew Raiders of Civil War days has passed away. William J. Knight of Stryker is dead at the age of 80 years. The raiders penetrated the Confederacy and captured a locomotive in Georgia and were pursued to near Chattanooga where they were captured by the pursuers. Some of them were hanged and others languished in prison. Knight was the engineer on the locomotive. Most of the score of raiders were members of the 21st Ohio regiment, which reined a few days ago at Bowling Green. Andrews, the heroic leader of the raid, was not a soldier.

At the coming November election voters of Plymouth school District will be called upon to decide the question of whether or not an additional two mill levy shall be made for school purposes. The levy to run for a term not to exceed five years. It would hardly seem that voters could turn a proposition of this kind down, especially when it goes for the benefit of our youth and education. The levy is small and will hardly be noticeable to the average taxpayer, which is more than remunerate him in the knowledge that our schools are maintained in the first grade.

In returning from a hunting trip Saturday afternoon Al Sourwine and John Clifford, and Marvin Cole, met with an accident which resulted quite seriously to the senior Sourwine. While rounding a corner and driving at pretty good speed, both the horse and buggy overturned in the road, spilling the occupants out. The horse was the first one to fall out the other two landed on top, which resulted in Al having his right arm broken well into the shoulder socket, as well as having his face badly cut and bruised. The best two were with a slight shaking up. The horse was also slightly injured.

One great trouble with us, is our wastefulness in our daily lives, in our homes and in our business transactions. We have never learned the lesson of economy. Money comes easy with us, and it flows out just as easily. Where other people in other countries stop to count the pennies, we only count the dollars. If we, as a people, could only acquire the habit of systematically saving a few cents here, another there, and keeping it up in every avenue of our existence, the American people, in the course of a few years, would be literally rolling in wealth, whereas now a majority of us labor right up to the brink of the grave in order to live and support our families in comparative comfort. Any intelligent person can make money in this country, but only a wise one can save it.

The first number of the winter Lyceum course will be given by the Florence musicians at the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening, Oct. 23rd. This is a high class musical organization, consisting of three ladies and one gentleman, all artists in their line and will present many novelties in the musical line which all will want to hear, and that the course opens with such a strong attraction should argue the success of the whole number of the entertainments booked for the fall and winter months. The course will consist of five numbers, one each month, and the price of admission will be $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for children. The sale of season tickets will be in the hands of the High School pupils, and when you are so located, readily purchase what you need for yourself and family and thus show your loyalty to those who have guaranteed the course. The promoters are not into the business as a money making scheme, but to furnish good wholesome entertainment for the people of Plymouth and vicinity, and should a surplus remain it will go into a bigger and even better course than that of last year, which was highly pleasing and highly commended by those who attended.

WAR SHIPS 7 SUNK NEAR COAST

Warns Vessels Before Attack; Naval Officers Think Germans Have Secret Base in U. S.

NO LIVES REPORTED LOST

American Ship, Stopped, Allowed to Proceed; Many Aboard, However, Released on Ship; Shipping Is in Panic.

Newport, R. I.—It is reported here that a seventh ship has been sunk. Her identity was unknown, but destroyers were searching for her.

Four destroyers of the American fleet came into harbor early this morning bringing 216 persons rescued from the ships sunk by the German submarine. Thirty-five women and 19 children are among those on the Ericsson.

Boston, Mass.—Four British ships, one Dutch and one Norwegian have been torpedoed and sunk within 15 hours close to the coast of the United States; presumably by the armed teutonic submarine U-53, which paid a fleeting visit to Newport, R. I., and dashed to sea again after leaving a letter to be mailed to Count Von Bernstorff.

The ships sunk are the Strathdene, West Point, Kingston, Bloomersilk and Christian Knudsen. Of these the Stephano, a Red Cross line steamer, was the only one that carried passengers and the Strathdene and the West Point were given ample warning and all escaped before the ships were sunk.

The passengers and crews of the torpedoed vessels have been accounted for with the exception of the crew of the Kingston. These men were seen and are reported by the American destroyer Cushing. It is supposed that the crew of the Kingston took to their lifeboats.

The United States navy authorities express an abiding conviction there is a secret German submarine base somewhere along the American coast and that the U-53 is not on her voyage across the Atlantic. Some believe a submarine flotilla of formidable numbers is on the coast to disrupt the shipping.

One ship hit by three torpedoes. The theory that more than one submarine is operating is based partly on reports that one of the vessels destroyed was struck by three torpedoes. Only eight torpedoes could be seen on the U-53 when she was at Newport, the least six torpedoes appear to have been used.

The Stephano, by far the most important victim of the U-boat, carrying 190 first and second class passengers, including many American tourists, was sunk off Nantucket lightship, near the Rhode Island and Massachusetts shores.

The daring activities of the U-53 started early in the morning. She slipped out of Newport harbor and submerged just inside the three-mile limit at 7:05 o'clock Saturday night.

At daylight she turned up southeast of Nantucket and got in the way of the American steamer Kansas, bound from New York for Genoa by way of Boston, with freight. The Kansas was stopped by the submarine at 5:30 o'clock. Assured that the Kansas was an American owned vessel, the submarine later allowed her to proceed.

A half hour later the submarine encountered the Strathdene, commanded by Capt. Wilson, and under charter to the French. She received a message from the Nantucket lightship stating that the Strathdene had been sunk at 6 o'clock and that the crew of 200 were on the lifeboats.

Pursuing her hostile course, the submarine next came up with the West Point, bound from London for Newport. She was seen by the crew of their boats and the ship was torpedoed.

In rapid succession the wireless monitored its tales of disaster of the other ships. The Kingston was the next to sink. Then followed the Bloomersilk and the Knudsen.

Witnesses who saw the destroyer Drayton saying she was returning under forced draught with 68 survivors of the Bloomersilk and the Knudsen.

Newport, R. I.—With the allied cruisers guarding the steamship lanes, submarine raiding ceased Monday. But, under the heading "Warships at sea," Nantucket light, at least one German U-boat, the U-53, lies ready to strike.

Chief Admiral Albert Gleaves, commander of the torpedo boat destroyer flotilla, says there is only one German raider here. Eyewitnesses testify that there are two periahs more, and that they are armed by a "mother ship" with a cargo of torpedoes and bombs.

Kills Wife and Self. Newark, O.—John Myers, aged 31, a cement contractor, shot and killed his wife in a rooming house in the city's residential district. He then turned the gun upon himself, dying instantly. Myers left a note blaming a "society" known man here for the tragedy. He begged that his wife and his wife be buried in the same grave.

After shooting his wife he ran from the room flourishing his revolver, and the head of the building below him as he fled. "I've killed widow and now I'll kill me."

Typist Throws Paper Over Payroll as Robbers Present Guns and Demand Money.

OFFICIAL SAYS, 'GIVE MONEY'

Hands Out $100 From Drawer, Which He Told Them They Could Use by Workmen and One Is Shot; Both Escape.

Cleveland, O.—The coolness and presence of mind of a stenographer overcame the boldness of two negro bandits who entered the cashier's office of the Standard Brass Foundry Co., 99 E. 67th-st., with the intention of robbing the company of its payroll money.

Through the wit of the stenographer, Miss Katherine Kane, the robbers overtook the $176 in payroll money, escaping with only $100 after a chase through city streets in which Policeman Harry Grubbs shot one of the bandits.

It was pay day at the foundry. Miss Kane was assisting Abraham J. Bloom, secretary and treasurer of the company, and Morris Somenky in making out the payroll. Miss Kane was seated at a desk over which the payroll money was laid. The men were conversing with their backs to the office door.

Demand Money. A voice suddenly commanded: "Don't make a move; just shell out the money!"

Turning their heads the company officials saw two bandits, the smaller one with a pistol, the larger one with a revolver. In the rear of the office a hundred foundrymen worked, oblivious of the robbery.

At eight o'clock the robbers turned to Miss Kane and said: "Give them the money."

The robbers threw a bag to Miss Kane and ordered her to put the money into it. Mr. Bloom said afterward he had expected the stenographer would have to give the robbers the money, but he was surprised to find that she had thrown a newspaper over the payroll money on the desk before her and the robbers had not seen this move.

Miss Kane pulled a chair away from the desk and tossed it into the robbers' bag.

With revolvers leveled at Mr. Bloom and Mr. Somenky, the duo held back toward the office door and ran away.

City Workmen Give Chase. Mr. Bloom ran into the foundry, sound the alarm, and a half hour later foundrymen pursued the robbers. Shots of the pursuers attracted Policemen Grubbs and the robbers ran into St. Elizabeth's hospital.

The policeman and the other pursuers dashed after the bandits to E. 71st-st., where the robbers separated. One of them was shot and the other escaped. As they separated Grubbs fired two shots, one at each of the men. The taller of the two fell, but regarded his wound as a minor matter.

The officer ran into the yard, but the bandit leaped over a fence and escaped.

RUSS COMRADES

Refuses to Comply With Allies' Request That U-Boats Be Refused Clearance.

OFFICIALS ARE PERPLEXED

Questions Have Been Replied Which Have No President; May Claim Damage From U. S. for Loss of Vessels.

Washington, D. C.—The United States is facing a situation never faced before by any nation in history. The capitulation of the German submarine U-53, which sailed at Newport and then put to sea and out a swath of destruction in the steamer lanes almost at the gates of America, has raised questions which have no precedent.

Officials of the government, maintaining neutrality, are very perplexed, for no authority, even if violated and that the entente allies have no just complaint against the United States. They are, nevertheless, perplexed by the United States government of the problem that confronts them and that contains, they believe, great potentialities.

Make Note Public.

Comptroller Folck, acting secretary of state in the absence of Shadow Layne of Secretary Lansing, made public the reply of the United States government to the memorandum of Great Britain and her allies asking the United States to deny to submarines the right to enforce such a rule.

The United States firmly rejects this proposal, expresses surprise that Great Britain and her allies should attempt to enforce such a rule, and states that it is their duty to distinguish between belligerent and neutral submarines and that they will be held responsible for any such violation of American submarines through neglect or failure to do so. This was called out by the suggestion American submarines might be sunk by mistake for German craft by the allied Atlantic coast patrol.

One of the strong points advanced in the British memorandum is that any nation that provides a submarine warship with a place to replenish its stores and rest "becomes, in fact, through the advantages which it secures, an ally of the submarine force."

The text of the identical memorandum of the allies was made public in London with a view to having it cover the United States. The British officials already had announced here that no specific protest would be made to the state department regarding the U-53.

May Claim Damages.

The claim of the allies that submarines are not neutral, but are a part of the war effort, brought up the question whether the American government may be used for damages resulting from the U-53 at Newport before she started on her spectacular raid. Under the interpretation of the allies, the official may be taken that Newport was a base for operations, which officials estimate already have caused at least $5,000,000 damage to allied shipping and to allied operations.

Any attempt to collect damages, however, would probably be vigorously opposed by this government, which has a right to enter neutral waters, and the U-53 in a way attempted to make Newport a base.

COAL PRICES WAVE UP

SECOND ADVANCE SINCE OCT. 1; DEALERS PREDICT $1 A TON INCREASE.

Columbus, O.—Another advance of 25 cents a ton on coal was announced here, the second since Oct. 1. The reason given is the shortage of coal and the lack of cars to haul a tonnage amount from the Hocking Valley mines.

The advancing prices are said to be an index of continued prosperity.

Demands Troops Leave.

San Antonio, Tex.—Col. Barragan, the chief of staff to First Chief Carranza, said that an agreement to withdraw American troops from Mexico must be signed and a definite date for withdrawal must be set before any other questions affecting Mexico can be successfully taken up by the Mexican-American commission at Atlantic City.

RESOLUTION

Submitting Increase of Maximum Tax Rate to the Voters of the Village of Plymouth for Installation of Filtration Plant.

Whereas, The amount of taxes that may be raised by the levy of taxes at the maximum rate authorized by Sections 5694-2 and 5694-3 of the General Code of the State of Ohio within the taxing district of the Village of Plymouth is insufficient for the purpose of establishing and installing a filtration or water purification system and plant in connection with the water works system of said Village, with additional power to operate said water works system;

Whereas, It is deemed expedient to levy taxes in excess of said maximum rate for said purpose.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Council of the Village of Plymouth, Huron and Richland Counties, Ohio, a majority of the whole number elected thereto concurring as follows, to-wit:

- Sec. 1. That, for the purpose of raising funds to establish and install a filtration and purifying system and plant in connection with the water works system of said Village, with additional power to operate said water works system the rate of taxation for three mills above said maximum rate and that said increase of rate above said maximum rate shall begin with the levies made for the year 1917 and continue to be so levied annually for the period of five years.
- Sec. 2. That the proposition of increasing the tax rate for the taxing district of the Village of Plymouth shall be submitted to the electors of said taxing district at the next general November election, to-wit, Nov. 7, 1916.
- Sec. 3. That the Clerk is hereby authorized and instructed to certify a copy of the resolution to the Department of State Supervisors of Elections for said Counties of Huron and Richland and publish according to law this resolution and notice of said election.
- Passed Oct. 3rd, 1916.
- W. E. Kirtland, Mayor and President of the Council of the Village of Plymouth, Ohio.

THE BANE of old age is constipation. The bowels become weak and unable to perform their functions without aid. For this purpose only the mildest and gentlest laxative should be used. The use of harsh cathartics aggravates the trouble and makes the constipation worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are a favorite with people of middle age and older on account of their gentle action.
