

WHY SHOULD THE FARMER BUY LIBERTY BONDS?

By Herbert Quirk. When I am asked why a farmer should buy Liberty Bonds I wonder what he would say. It is so clear that the farmer of all persons should make the greatest buying class in the world.

All the other classes in the United States should lie down and refuse to buy, the farmers should rally to the flag and buy, buy, buy, these bonds as long as they had a cent to invest.

I do not wish to appeal to farmers to buy bonds because they are good investments. There are good investments as any good business man can see. There are safer investments.

Liberty Bonds pay 4 per cent. They are the best security for loans at the banks when the war exists.

But that is not the main reason why we should buy, and buy, and keep buying as long as the war is offered. The farmer should buy Liberty Bonds because the value of his farm, the chance to make a peaceful American law the best right to an independent life is staked on this war.

The German empire threatens the world. It seeks to take from us the very thing that makes our farms valuable. What is the value of a farm anyhow, except the privilege of growing free American goods on a particular piece of land?

If Germany wins our lands will be one of the most fertile. It will be upon us to save ourselves from invasion. She will demand of us that we pay her armies running into the tens and perhaps hundreds of billions of dollars.

Buy bonds, farmers, and help make the world safe for our kind of life—the life of democracy. Let us strike for freedom as did the farmers of New England at Lexington and Concord, and the farmers of the Sothwestern Mountain.

J. ELDEN NIMMONS

Writes of Camp Life to the Plymouth Red Cross.

Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., Oct. 11, 1917.

Mrs. Geo. H. Sauer, Chairman: Just a few lines to let you know that the Plymouth boys are all well and having every day. It goes very tough at first and we get real tired, but are all standing it well.

Our officers are fine young men and we are fine so if we can only get used to army life I think we will get along all right. We are all a little homesick and we give the G.I.s a little home cooking.

We wish to thank your Society for the comfort boxes, for they certainly are full of comfort and the name of the boxes for the boys of candy.

Additional Locals.

The W. M. Society of the Wittenberg Street of the Lutheran church, will hold its sessions at Shelby next week.

People who arise early these fine cool October mornings are more than repaid for the effort in the fine sight of the beautiful sunrise, which besides is an inspiration to us to emulate its beauty and regularity in our daily lives.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ramsey, a 11½ pound daughter, Friday, Oct. 5, 1917. The advertiser is a little late in announcing the arrival of his little Miss Geraldine Marcella, but she is here just the same, and is all smiles.

Fred G. Bale, of Columbus, will give a temperance lecture on the public square this (Friday) evening. Mr. Bale will be remembered as an excellent speaker, having spoken here on the Chautauqua platform a year ago on the subject, "The Juvenile Court."

The first official act of Auditor Griffin of Huron county Monday morning was to appoint C. A. Hamilton of Plymouth, as secretary of the county. Hamilton has been sealer of weights and measures under Auditor Bloomer, and is the right man for the place.

The Chicago White Sox, champions of the American League, in their ball teams, won the world's championship Monday when the New York Giants were defeated in the sixth inning of the world's series, 4 to 2. The White Sox won four victories against two for the Giants.

A paragraph in Monday's Plain Dealer on Germany's plain conditions after the war furnishes the following information: "The situation in Germany is described in a terse, vivid and objective manner."

Thomas W. Latham has been appointed by Fred C. Croxton, federal food administrator for Ohio, as food administrator for Huron county. A state wide conservation campaign is being planned and Mr. Latham has been asked to attend a meeting to discuss the situation in which time the plans for this campaign will be completed.—Reflector.

The Advertiser was misinformed as to the name of one of the tickets published last week. There is no Citizen ticket in the field, but straight-out old fashioned republican ticket which is headed by Mr. A. A. Shadle for mayor. We are glad to see this correction, as a good deal of the spirit of republicanism has always pervaded the anatomy of the present management of this paper.

Dr. Ira Landreth of Nashville, Tenn., who is an orator of national reputation, is expected to give a lecture of Prohibition on the public square, on Tuesday, Oct. 23, at 3 p. m. Come out and hear him and avail yourself of the opportunity of getting the facts in regard to this great question from one who is able, fearless and ready to defend the home of the King of the Mountains at all times and under all conditions.

Mrs. Jno. Wilson, a highly respected resident of our village for many years, who has been in very poor health for a number of years, was taken suddenly by death on Saturday evening last at about eleven o'clock. Mrs. Wilson survived her husband, Mr. J. A. Wilson, just one month. The funeral was held from the home on Tuesday forenoon, R. V. G. C. Smith officiating. Mrs. Wilson was aged 74 years. She had a wide circle of friends who extend sympathy to the daughter and son who survive.

An item appearing in last week's issue in reference to $18,000 bond issue for filtration of water, is perhaps a little misleading and left some people under the impression that an additional $18,000 was being voted for this purpose, when in fact it is the carrying out of the orders of the State Board of Health, which found a technical cause for not allowing the bonds to sell under the vote of the 3 mill tax levy alone. So it means just $18,000 for water filtration system.

About the sorest deal that has ever been handed out to the members of any fraternal organization has been the experience of the members of the Royal Arcanum, especially the older members. Twenty-five years ago Plymouth, as well as hundreds of other towns supported a large and enthusiastic "council" in this then great order, which at that time was the leader in fraternal benefits. By repeated increases in assessment rates the payments have become so exorbitant, especially for those arriving at the age of 65, as to be prohibitive, and these faithful old members in consequence have dropped out by the thousands. As the name of the Royal Arcanum here as in other places is only a memory, probably no blame for this condition can be attached to the local officials, but the result is none the less to be deplored.

Letter from Paul Russell.

Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., Oct. 7, 1917.

Dear Mother, Father and Donna: It is now Sunday evening and I thought I would write you a few lines and let you know how we are getting along. I have spent the day walking around over the grounds, and at the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. This is some great place, about six miles long and two miles wide—a big city all by itself. Over 42,000 men are here and all are busy. We play base-ball, basket-ball and football and lots of other games. Have a good bed, good blanket and comfort. "Chub's" cot is right next to mine; he is very busy working in the Barrack's office. He was a little homesick at first, but is coming out o. k. Karl Kaylor has already made a hit as a musician and has joined the band. We have pretty fair cats. For dinner we had roast beef, potatoes, tomatoes, bread, butter and coffee. We are about the only bunch along this line that has butter.

I met some New Washington here. They all look good and say they feel fine. We were vaccinated, Friday, and had one shot in the back. I feel fine but was a little stiff after the "drop" they gave me, but it lasted only one day. I will send my clothes home in a few days, as we get our suits. In the forenoon, as soon as I got to it, will have a picnic taken in it and send you one. Guess we will have to try and like it whether we want to or not.

Charley Murphy was down this p. m. and we were together a couple of hours. He looks the best I ever saw him. If you can get me a wrist watch buy it and send it to me, as I cannot buy one here for less than a farm. Everything here is very high. If we do not know when we will get a pay day we will have to go easy on our "roll."

Pricey Wake is down here. He is in Co. K, 323rd; saw him last night. Well, I guess I have told you all the news, so will close. Give my best wishes to all the boys. I am thought to hear the soldiers play the piano, sing and do dance. Love to all. PAUL.

Methodist Notes.

Rev. W. E. Hollett of the M. E. church, will exchange pulpits next Sunday morning with Rev. N. C. Nicks of Chicago Junction. At the evening at 7 o'clock, Rev. Hollett will preach on the subject, "The Supreme Glory of the Gospel."

Red Cross

Letters from Lawrence Bazzard, Elden Nimmons, Horace Ward and Earl Kaylor, were read at the Thursday afternoon meeting.

Our local chapter Red Cross is doing good work. The meetings are well attended, and many are knitting at home. Mrs. Walker has been very gracious in offering her home for our meetings every Thursday afternoon 2 to 4:30 p. m. Could we do less than to go and "do our bit"?

Mrs. Abbie Parker Boyer attended the last meeting and told of the "Canteen" Branch Red Cross, of which she is a member at Toledo. When troops come through Toledo, this branch serves such things as: lunch containing sandwiches, pickles, egg, doughnut, apple and cup of coffee.

WHAT PLYMOUTH PEOPLE SEEK

Found by a Plymouth Street Man, Who Tells His Experience.

What the anxious sufferer from kidney and bladder trouble seeks is not temporary relief, though that would be welcome enough; what is sought for is a permanent relief. Dr. C. R. Beaver, retired farmer, Plymouth St., says: "I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills for severe pains in the small of my back about four years ago. The pains were so bad I could hardly straighten up after stooping. Dizzy spells bothered me, too and I had spells of nervousness and couldn't sleep well. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of the pains in my back and the nervousness and dizzy spells were removed. Since taking Doan's my health has been good."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Beaver had. Foster-McClellan Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't take any chances by exposing your health to the disagreeable weather this fall and winter, when you can buy a No-Way Sanitary Chemical Insulated Toilet—the no-water, no-sewer system for $14.50. Call or address No-Way Sales Co., both houses 815, at 225 E. 9th St., Auburn, Indiana.

LEGAL NOTICE.

Frank Deek, whose residence is unknown will take notice that John I. Beelman, administrator of the estate of John T. Deek, deceased, has filed an account in the Probate Court within and for the County of Huron and State of Ohio, alleging that the personal estate of the said decedent is insufficient to pay his debts and the charges of administering his estate; that he died seized in fee simple of the following described real estate: "Situated in the Village of Plymouth, County of Richland and State of Ohio and known as all that part of lot No. 18, Seventy-five (75) tracts—consecutive numbers, which lies south of the Right of Way of the Pittsburg, Akron and Western Railroad Company. Also the following land, situated in the Village of Plymouth, County of Richland and State of Ohio, bounded on the North-east by the road leading from Plymouth to Mansfield, on the North-west by lot No. Seventy-five (75) and the Right of Way of the Pittsburg, Akron and Western Railroad Company, and owned by R. J. and Louis Jackson, and on the South-east by land owned by R. J. and Louis Jackson, and on the North-west corner of said lot as was sold to the Pittsburg, Akron and Western Railroad Company for a Right of Way.

Be the same more or less but subject to all legal highways."

Located on the southwesterly side of Truxstreet, heretofore referred to as the road leading from Plymouth to Mansfield."

Also the following described real estate: "Situate in the Village of Plymouth, County of Huron and State of Ohio, and known as parts of lots numbered Seventy (70) and Seventy-one (71) in Sherman's Addition to the said Village of Plymouth, Ohio, bounded on the North-east by the North-east corner of said lot No. 71 and running thence south along the back of said lot No. 71 One Hundred (100) Feet; thence West across said lot No. 71 and Four feet on the East line of lot No. 71 One Hundred (100) Feet; thence East Seventy (70) feet to the place of beginning."

Located on South side of North and on the North side of South street. The said Frank Deek has been made a party defendant in said petition and is required to answer the summons on or before the 24th day of December, 1917.

JOHN I. BEELMAN, Administrator as aforesaid by F. D. GUNSAULLUS, His Attorney.

Notice of Appointment.

Estate of John Deek, Decedent. Notice is hereby given that John I. Beelman has been appointed and qualified as administrator of the estate of John T. Deek, late of Huron County, Ohio, deceased. All persons having claims against said estate will present them duly proved and verified to said administrator for allowance.

ARTHUR E. ROWLEY, Probate Judge, Norwalk, Ohio, Sept. 17, 1917.

Legal Notice.

Notice is hereby given, that E. K. Kaylor of Plymouth, Ohio, has been duly appointed and qualified as Executor of the last Will and Testament of the Estate of H. Harry Trauger, late of Plymouth Township, Richland County, Ohio, deceased.

WILBERT J. BISSMAN, Probate Judge of Richland County, O., Sept. 22, 1917.

Legal Notice.

Notice is hereby given that E. H. Trauger of Plymouth, Ohio, has been duly appointed and qualified as administrator of the Estate of H. Harry Trauger, late of Plymouth Township, Richland County, Ohio, deceased.

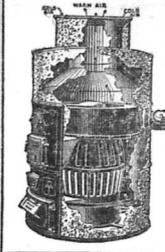

Farms for Sale or Exchange

112 acres Morrow county, Ohio, slightly rolling 7-room house, good barns, near Cardington. Price $8500 per acre. 284 acres near Upper Sandusky, O., with six very fine buildings, of the pike. Price $18,000 per acre. 93 acres near Bucyrus, Ohio. A 1 building, best of soil, price $10,000 per acre. Might consider a stock of merchandise. 102 acres, Morrow county, Ohio. A 1 building, price $10,000.00. 82 acres, Morrow county, O. Good buildings, price $5,000.00. 103 acres, Morrow county, O. A 1 building with A-1 buildings. Price $8000 per acre. 40 acres, Morrow county, Ohio. 7-room house and other good buildings. Price $6000 per acre. Full particulars of the above properties will be given on application. Write for my extensive list of farms, houses, stocks of merchandise, hotels, barns, lots, business blocks, livey barns and practically anything in the real estate line. If you wish to sell write me full particulars of the same to be sold and I will give you my terms, which will be reasonable, and I will sell it for you. Yours truly, G. W. CUPP, 209 Citizens Bldg., MANSFIELD, O.

Advertiser.

No Furnace Like This

Here is the one furnace that successfully heats your house without pipes. Just one register and it keeps every room warm. No holes to cut in the house, no expense for pipes or flues. The can be installed in any house new or old. Heats comfortably in coldest weather. Burns coal, coke or wood and is guaranteed to save 25% of your fuel. You get heat without dirt and no carrying of fuel and ashes up and down stairs. Less fire danger.

PIPELESS CALORIC FURNACE

Read This Guarantee

If this furnace is not satisfactory any time within one year after purchase the manufacturer will make it right. That amply protects you. Come in and let us show you its economy and efficiency.

BUY A CALORIC For Satisfaction

CHEAPEST AND BEST FURNACE OBTAINABLE

FOR GAS STOVES

Of Every Description We are HEADQUARTERS

Quick Comfort

One of the Best Stoves on the market.

The Peninsula

leads as a satisfaction giver.

Call and Look Them Over

RALSTON HARDWARE & IMPLEMENT STORE

When You Build

Repair or remodel your house, barn or other farm buildings, don't forget the fact that you can get all

Your Lumber

and other Building Materials from us at the very lowest prices. Our yard is headquarters for Dressed and Rough Lumber, Flooring, Siding, Shingles, Sheathing, and Dimension Lumber, Building Paper, Lath, Cement, Lime, Fencing and Fence Posts, Hardware and all kinds of building material. Prompt service and satisfaction guaranteed.

COME AND SEE US

OF EVERY STYLE.

Stoves And Ranges

NIMMONS & NIMMONS

New Winter Footwear

Not one single point of superiority, but many, in

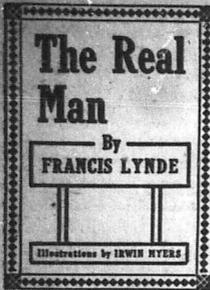

QUEEN QUALITY SHOES.

A shoe for every need and a shoe for every foot.

All New Styles For Spring

THE RELIABLE SHOE MAN

Mack Rogers,

The Real Man By FRANCIS LYNDE

Illustrations by IRWIN NYERS

CHAPTER XXIV—Continued.

"Yes—like fits I will!" retorted the man owner.

"Very well; you've had your warning. The next thing is the auto. I want to catch Judge Warner before he goes to bed. I'll telephone while you're getting a car."

Starbuck had no farther to go than to the garage where he had put up his car, and when he got it, he called for the Kinzie building, Smith came out of the shadow of the entrance to mount beside him.

"Drive around to the garage office, and let me try another phone," was the low-voiced request. "My wire isn't working."

"The short run was quickly made, and Smith went to the garage office. A moment later a two-hundred-pound policeman stroled up to put a huge foot on the running board of the waiting auto. Starbuck greeted him as a friend.

"Hello, Mac. How's tricks with you tonight?"

"My tricks are even, an' I'm tryin' to take 'ol' wad," said the big Irishman. "Is a man named Smith 'er lookin' for, Mister Starbuck? I. Monday-mornin' Smith; 'er B-nanah-boss aw' 'er 'is ditch company. Have ye seen 'em?"

Starbuck, looking over the policeman's shoulder, could see Smith at the telephone in the garage office. Another man might have lost his head, but the ex-cop-winner was of the chosen few whose wits sharpen handy in an emergency.

"He hangs out the Ephra House a good part of the time in the evenings," he replied coolly. "Hop in and I'll drive you around."

Three minutes later the threatening danger was a danger pushed a little way into the future, and Starbuck was back at the garage curb waiting for Smith to come out. Through the window he saw Smith plucking the receiver on its hook, and a moment afterward he was opening the car door for his passenger.

"Did you make out to raise the judge?" he inquired, as Smith climbed in.

"Yes. He will meet me at his chambers in the courthouse as soon as he can drive down from his house."

"What are your hoping to do, John? Judge Warner is only a circuit judge; he can't set an order of the United States court aside, can he?"

"No; but there is one thing that he can do. You may remember that I had a talk with him this morning at his house. I was trying then to crush all the chances, among them the possibility that Stanton would jump in with a gang of armed thugs at the last minute. We are going to assume that this is what has been done."

Starbuck set the car in motion and sent it spinning out of the side street, around the plaza, and beyond to the less brilliantly lighted residential district—which was not the shortest way to the courthouse.

"The Tricks Are Even."

"You couldn't pull Judge Warner's legs, John," he protested, breaking the purring silence after the business quarter had been left behind; "he's too good a man for that."

"I shall tell him the exact truth, so you'll know it," was the quick reply. "There is one chance in a thousand that he will come out of this with the law—as well as the equities—on our side. I shall then go to the judge, and so far as I know, they serve on us, and so far as I know, they serve on us. What are you driving all the way around here for?"

"This is one of the times when the longest way round is the shortest way home," Starbuck explained. "The bad news was looking for 'has came,'

While you were phoning in the garage I put one policeman wise—to nothing. He was looking for me."

"Sure thing—and by name. We'll fool around here in the block streets until the judge has had time to show up. Then I'll drop you at the courthouse and go home the sheriff for you. You'll want Harding, I take it?"

"Yes. I'm taking the chance that only the city authorities have been notified in my personal affairs—not the county officers. It's a long chance, of course; I may be running my neck squarely into the noose. But it's all risk, Billy; every move in this night's game. Head up for the courthouse. The judge will be there by this time."

"Two minutes beyond this the car was drawing up to the curb on the mess-facings side of the courthouse square. There were two lighted windows in the second story of the otherwise darkened building, and Smith sprang to the sidewalk.

"Go now and find Harding, and have him bring one trusty deputy with him; I'll be ready when you get back," he directed; but Starbuck went off until he had seen Smith safely lost in the shadows of the pillared courthouse entrance before he drove away.

CHAPTER XXV.

A RACE TO THE SWIFT.

Since Sheriff Hill had left his office in the county jail and had gone home to his ranch on the north side of the river some hours earlier, not a word had been heard of him since he was hunting him up. Beyond this, there was another delay in securing the deputy.

When Starbuck's car came to a stop at the entrance of the courthouse, Smith came quickly across the walk from the porch.

"Mr. Harding has been gone abruptly," Judge Warner has gone home and he has made me his messenger. There is a bit of sharp work to be done, and you'll need a strong assistant. Can you deputize fifteen or twenty good men who can be depended upon in a fight and rendezvous them on the north river road in two hours from now?"

The sheriff, a big, bearded man who might have sat for the model of one of Frederic Remington's frontiersmen, took time to consider. "Is it a scrap?" he asked.

"It is likely to be, and there are warrants to be served, and there will be considerable resistance. Your posse should be well armed."

"We'll try for it," was the decision. "On the north-side river road, you say?"

"It will be better to take horses. We could get autos, but Judge Warner agrees with me that the thing had better be done on horseback, making too much of a stir in town."

"All right," said the man of the law. "It shall be done. The first of the warrants is to be served here in Brewster-upon Mr. Crawford Stanton. Your deputy will probably find him at the Ephra House, and from somewhere up the valley and beyond the railroad bridge came the distance-softened whistle of a train.

Starbuck set a high mark for himself as a courageous driver of motor cars when he came to the last of the three road crossings. Jerking the car around sharply at the instant of track-crossing, he headed straight over the ties for the railroad bridge. It was a courting of death. To drive Judge Warner's posse across was hazardous enough, but to drive it through the face of a downcoming train seemed nothing less than madness.

It was after the car had shot into the first of the three being spanned that the pursuers pulled up and opened fire. Starbuck bent lower over his wheel, and Smith clutched for the bridge. Far up the north side of the river a headlight flashed in the darkness, and the hoarse blast of a locomotive whistling around the bridge, echoed and re-echoed among the hills.

Starbuck drove for his life. With the bridge fairly crossed, he found himself on a high embankment; and as the coming train was now less than half a mile away. Somewhere beyond the bridge approach, there was a road; so much Starbuck could recall. If he could reach it crossing before the collision should come—

They did reach it, by what seemed to Smith a margin of no more than the length of the heavy freight train which went jangling past them a second or so after the car had been wrenched aside into the obscure meadow. They had gone a mile or more on the reverse leg of the long down-river detour before Starbuck cut the speed and turned the wheel over to his seat-mate.

"Take her a minute while I get the makings," he said, dry-dripped, feeling in his pockets for tobacco and the rice paper. Then he added: "Holy cow! that was a wretched smoke so bad in all my life!"

Smith's laugh was a chuckle. "Goes next to you—after the fact—doesn't it? That's where we split. I had my scare before you got on, and it tasted like a mouthful of silver aloes. Does this road take us back up the river?"

"It takes us twenty miles around the north side of the Park and comes in at the head of Little Creek. But we have plenty of time. You told Harding two hours, didn't you?"

"Yes, but I must have a few minutes at Ellert before we get action, Billy."

Starbuck took the wheel again and led his posse until the roundabout race had been fully run, and he was changing the car down the last of the hills into the Little Creek road. There had Starbuck's answer was wordless. With a quick twist of the pilot wheel he set the car eddying around the corner, using undue haste, as it seemed, since they had two hours before them. A few minutes farther along the lights of the town had been left behind and the car was speeding swiftly westward on a country road paralleling the railway track; the road crew which Smith had earlier driven with the kidnapped Jibby.

"I'm still guessing," the passenger ventured, when the last of the railroad distance signals had flashed to the rear. And then: "What's the frantic hurry, Billy?"

Starbuck was running with the muffler cut out, but now he cut it in and the roar of the motor sank to a humming murmur.

"I thought so," he remarked, turning his head to listen. "You didn't notice the police whistle just as we were leaving the courthouse, did you?"

"—or the answers to it while we were dodging through the suburbs? Somebody has marked us down and passed the word, and now they're closing in with a bus-wagon. Don't you hear it?"

By this time Smith could hear the quivering roar of the following car only too plainly.

"It's a big one," he commented. "You can't outrun it, Billy; and, beside, there is nowhere to run to in this direction."

Again Starbuck's reply translated itself into action. With a skillful touch of the controls he sent the car ahead at top speed, and for a matter of ten miles or more, he was dishing lead in the race through sheer good driving and an accurate knowledge of the road and its twistings and turnings. But the need for speed became a car track in the mountains; there was no outlet to the north save by means of the railroad bridge at Little Blue station, and from somewhere up the valley and beyond the railroad bridge came the distance-softened whistle of a train.

Starbuck set a high mark for himself as a courageous driver of motor cars when he came to the last of the three road crossings. Jerking the car around sharply at the instant of track-crossing, he headed straight over the ties for the railroad bridge. It was a courting of death. To drive Judge Warner's posse across was hazardous enough, but to drive it through the face of a downcoming train seemed nothing less than madness.

It was after the car had shot into the first of the three being spanned that the pursuers pulled up and opened fire. Starbuck bent lower over his wheel, and Smith clutched for the bridge. Far up the north side of the river a headlight flashed in the darkness, and the hoarse blast of a locomotive whistling around the bridge, echoed and re-echoed among the hills.

Starbuck drove for his life. With the bridge fairly crossed, he found himself on a high embankment; and as the coming train was now less than half a mile away. Somewhere beyond the bridge approach, there was a road; so much Starbuck could recall. If he could reach it crossing before the collision should come—

They did reach it, by what seemed to Smith a margin of no more than the length of the heavy freight train which went jangling past them a second or so after the car had been wrenched aside into the obscure meadow. They had gone a mile or more on the reverse leg of the long down-river detour before Starbuck cut the speed and turned the wheel over to his seat-mate.

"Take her a minute while I get the makings," he said, dry-dripped, feeling in his pockets for tobacco and the rice paper. Then he added: "Holy cow! that was a wretched smoke so bad in all my life!"

Smith's laugh was a chuckle. "Goes next to you—after the fact—doesn't it? That's where we split. I had my scare before you got on, and it tasted like a mouthful of silver aloes. Does this road take us back up the river?"

"It takes us twenty miles around the north side of the Park and comes in at the head of Little Creek. But we have plenty of time. You told Harding two hours, didn't you?"

"Yes, but I must have a few minutes at Ellert before we get action, Billy."

Starbuck took the wheel again and led his posse until the roundabout race had been fully run, and he was changing the car down the last of the hills into the Little Creek road. There had been three-quarters of an hour of skillful driving over a bad road to come between Smith's remark and its reply, but Starbuck apparently made no account of the length of the interval.

"You're aiming to go and see Corry?" he asked, while the car was coasting to the hill bottom.

"Yes." With a sudden flick of the controls and a quick jangling of the brakes, Starbuck brought the car to a standstill just as it came into the level road.

"We're man to man here under the canopy, John; and Corry Baldwin hasn't got any better odds," he offered gravely. "I'm backing you in this business fight for all I'm worth—for Dick Maxwell's sake and the colonel's, and maybe for the sake of the sale of my own auto of twenty thousand. And I'm ready to back you in this old-home scrap with all the money you'll need to make your fight. But when it comes to the little girl it differs. Have you any good and fair right to hunt up Corry Baldwin while things are shaping themselves up as they are?"

Smith met the shrewd inquiry fairly.

"Give it a name," he said shortly. "I will; I'll give it the one you give it a while back. You said you were an outlaw, on two charges: embezzlement and assault. We'll let the assault go. But the other thing doesn't taste good."

"I didn't embezzle anything, Billy. I thought I made that plain."

"So you did. But you also made it plain that the home court would be likely to send you up for it, guilty or not guilty. And with things like that hanging over your head, you see, I know Corry Baldwin, John. If you put it up to her tonight, and she happens to fall in with your side of it—well, a little bit you're aiming to make her do—all hell won't keep her from going back home with you and seeing you through."

"Billy, I may never see her again. I said I wouldn't; tell her—that I loved her too well to tell her . . . but now the final pinch has come, and I—"

"And that isn't all," Starbuck went on relentlessly. "There's this Miss Rich-ecres. Your hands ain't clean, John; no man enough to let you go to Ellert tonight."

Smith groined in his pockets, found a cigar and lit it.

"We'll pull out to the side of the road and we'll let 'em see there is a kill right here," he directed soberly. And then: "What you say is right as right, Billy. Once more, I guess, I was loosed for the minute. Forget it; and while you're about it, forget Miss Richlander, too. Luckily for her, she is an' out of it—as far out of it as I am."

CHAPTER XXVI.

Freedom.

On the northern bank of the Timanor the Brewster street, of which the wagon bridge is a prolongation, becomes a country road, forming a good hundred yards from the bridge approach to send one of its branchings northward among the Little Creek hills.

At this fork of the road, between eleven and twelve o'clock of the night of the alarm, Starbuck's party of special deputies began to assemble. Under each man's saddle flap was slung the regulation weapon of the law, a .38 Smith & Wesson rifle; and the small troop lunched itself in the river road looked severely militant and businesslike.

They were silent, and slowly down the mesa road from the north and came to a stand among the horses. The sheriff drew rein beside the car and spoke to one of the two occupants.

"Well, Mr. Smith, we're all here. How many's the curst question?"

"Twenty." "Here is your authority," he said, handing the legal papers to the officer. "Before we go in you ought to know the facts. A few hours ago a man named Judge Warner, a deputy of the United States marshal and claiming to be acting under instructions from Judge Lorching's court in Red Butte, took possession of our nearby camp. On the even chance that he isn't what he claims to be, we are going to arrest him and every man in his crowd. Are you game for it?"

"I'm game to serve any papers that Judge Warner's got the nerve to issue. Was the big man's reply.

"That's the talk; that's what I hoped to hear you say," was Stanton arrested.

"He sure was." Strothers found him in the Ephra House bar, and the line of talk he turned loose would have set a wet blanket on the fire if the sheriff had to go along with Jimmie and get himself locked up."

"That is the first step; now if you're ready, we'll take the next."

Harding rode forward and the advance began. For the first mile or so the midnight silence was unbroken save by the subdued progress noises and the murmuring of the nearby river in its bed. Once Smith took the wheel while Starbuck rolled and lighted a cigarette; it was Starbuck who harked back to the talk which had been so abruptly broken off.

"Let's not head into this rection with an unspiced bone between us, John. He's been deathly," Starbuck said too much, back yonder at the foot of the hill."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Its Merit.

"You call this portrait of your wife a beautiful one, and she must say it is not a speaking likeness of her. That's the beauty of it."

WRIGLEYS

S. O. S. Send Over Some WRIGLEYS

Keep your soldier or sailor boy supplied. Give him the lasting refreshment, the protection against thirst, the help to appetite and digestion afforded by Wrigley's.

It's an outstanding feature of the war— "All the British Army is chewing it."

AFTER EVERY MEAL

BUY HOTEL ASTOR PRODUCTS

COFFEE RICE

"A BLEND OF PURE EXCELLENCE" "DELICIOUS AS A DESSERT" VEGETABLE

AT YOUR GROCER

Sparked the Kitty.

The little black kitten hid under the veranda and refused to come out and be friends again with Polly. Mamma found the little girl in tears, and asked the cause of the trouble.

"Kitty scratched me, so I was 'bliged to spank her, an' now she won't play with me," sobbed Polly.

"If you spank Kitty, she won't love you," explained mamma.

"I didn't know 'bout that," replied the little one intertably, "cause you spank me an' I love you just the same."

Not a Bit of Use.

There was some speculation as to whether the instrument would benefit the old gentleman or not. One was holding the ear trumpet, while another was explaining its use and showing old Mr. Shortcask how to hold it to his ear.

"Say something to him through it, Blinky," said one to the other.

"Now Blinky had long waited for an opportunity to reach Mr. Shortcask's ear, so, speaking very distinctly into the trumpet he said:

"You've not paid me that five dollars you owe me yet, Mr. Shortcask."

But the old gentleman put the instrument down with disappointment on his face, and they could see it was a failure even before he had time to say:

"That thing's not a bit of use to me."

And he sighed, but his sigh was not so deep as that which came from Blinky.

RED FACES AND RED HANDS

Soothed and Healed by Cuticura—Sample Free by Mail.

Treatment for the face: On rising and retiring smear affected parts with Cuticura Ointment. Then wash with Cuticura Soap and hot water. For the hands: Soak them in a hot bath of Cuticura Soap, Dry, and rub in Cuticura Ointment.

Free sample each by mail with Book. Address: postcard, Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston. "Sold everywhere.—Adv."

Prepared for Emergencies.

Danny was looking at a picture of Elijah going to heaven in a chariot of fire. Pointing to the halo on the prophet's head, Danny exclaimed: "See mamma, he's carrying extra fire!"

Chicago may denude Michigan avenue of trees in order for auto traffic.

How's This?

We offer a cure for the cure of catarrh that cannot be cured by HALL'S HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken by the sublingual progress noises and the murmuring of the nearby river in its bed. Once Smith took the wheel while Starbuck rolled and lighted a cigarette; it was Starbuck who harked back to the talk which had been so abruptly broken off.

"Let's not head into this rection with an unspiced bone between us, John. He's been deathly," Starbuck said too much, back yonder at the foot of the hill."

ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED

Put It Across in The House

Healthful, Convenient

30

For Bedding and Comfort

For Bedding and Comfort

When Your Eyes Need Care Try Murine Eye Remedy

Murine Eye Remedy

STORE CENTER OF CITY

FREE health papers of catarrh, ear-ache, etc.

To The People of Huron County.

The second financial milestone has been reached in the prosecution of the war, to make Democracy safe and to make all nations, whether great or small, safe in the enjoyment of their rights on land and sea. A second loan totaling at least $3,000,000,000 is offered for public subscription. Money provides the sinews of war. Bankers, munition makers, manufacturers, farmers, transporters, producers of all classes and financiers vie with each other, co-operate and rival each other, in providing what the necessity of war demands.

Above all these, on a distinctly high plane, is the man power of the country, our patriotic young men, in the morning of their lives, selected because of their physical perfection and personal prowess, go to the front to find perhaps a soldier's grave or a sailor's rest in the grim old ocean, or to return perhaps broken and maimed to carry the red badge of their sacrifice throughout their remaining years. This is the measure of service rendered to their country by our soldiers and sailors.

WE who are left behind are asked to furnish the funds to finance the war. We are offered a 4 per cent largely TAX-EXEMPT bond of our government. A good security. A good interest return and a glorious cause to be supported by the proceeds. The response of the country should, must and will be spontaneous. The coffers of the treasury must be kept full. Very little sacrifice is involved in buying a government bond. The widow's mite could not be better invested. And we must all, from the shop to the millionaire, respond and, let us hope with alacrity.

In order to aid in this work we place our banking facilities at your disposal. We will gladly, and without thought of compensation, receive and enter your subscriptions and those of your clients and friends. Upon receipt of your instructions, we will attend to all details and pledge you our very best service. OUR CAUSE IS JUST AND MUST PREVAIL.

Huron County Banking Co., Norwalk.
Citizens Banking Co., Norwalk.
Norwalk National Bank, Norwalk.
Home Savings & Loan Co., Norwalk.
First National Bank, Bellevue.
Wright Banking Co., Bellevue.
Bellevue Savings Bank, Bellevue.

Industrial Sav'gs & Loan Co. Bellevue
Home Sav'gs & Banking Co. Chicago Jct.
Commercial Bank Co. Chicago Jct.
Farmers & Citizens Bank, Monroeville
Savings & Loan Banking Co., New London.

Third National Bank, New London.
Farmers Banking Co., Greenwich.
First National Bank, Greenwich.
Wakeman Banking Co., Wakeman.
Peoples National Bank, Plymouth.
North Fairfield Sav'ngs Bank, North Fairfield.

Plymouth Advertiser.

GEO. W. REED, Publisher

PLYMOUTH, OHIO.

SAURDAY - OCT. 26, 1917

Entered at the Postoffice, Plymouth, Ohio, as second class matter.

TELEPHONE NO. 59

Terms of Subscription.

One Year (In advance) ..... $1.00
Six Months ..... .50
If not paid within three months, .75

Last Friday was Columbus Day but we are willing to wager that the Kaiser did not order the day to be celebrated with prayer and thanksgiving. Bet he is sorry Chris ever discovered us at all.

We are in hearty sympathy with the noble work of the Red Cross and with the campaign of knitting for the soldiers but we wonder if knitting wash cloths for them isn't another case of our American habit of going to extremes.

State Superintendent Pearson is advocating a longer school year which is a move in the right direction. Now if he will just show us how to raise money enough to maintain our present term doubtless all boards of education will be deeply grateful.

Beginning with Tuesday of this week 20 percent of the output of Ohio coal mines is to be used in supplying Ohio demands. This is a laudable act of justice toward our people that should have been done long since. That we are at war is no reason at all for entailing needless privation and suffering upon our people. The citizens of Ohio are ready to endure all necessary hardship but not needless privation. The government could devise no surer method of making the war unpopular. Neither our fireships nor our factories must be deprived of fuel unnecessarily.

Contrary to popular belief the U-boat menace is by no means ended. In a very interesting article in the Enquirer, Grannon, who has made a careful study of the situation, shows that the submarine danger is still a very real one and that if it is to be overcome our methods of building the ship building question must be made vastly more efficient than they are at present. Every ship counts and yet many small shipyard are idle now, being neither given government contracts nor permitted to take private contracts. They estimate we are to build 3,500,000 tons by the end of 1918 but at present rate we will not build more than half that amount. It is high time for our boasted efficiency and push to be seen.

Dr. Crile Back From Front In France, At Home Here.

Major George W. Crile, noted Cleveland surgeon and a ranking officer of the Lakeside base hospital unit now in France, is at his home on Derbyshire rd., Cleveland Heights. Major Crile came to Cleveland from Washington where, it is understood, he discussed the work of the base hospital from which he recently returned. He would not discuss his mission in the United States nor whether he would return to France.—Cleveland News.

Dr. Crile is the head of the Lakeside unit which left Cleveland France last April, and of which Dr. W. H. Sykes, a former Plymouth man is a member. Lieut. Sykes has written some very interesting letters to his mother, Mrs. Eliza Sykes, here describing the work and the duties of his corps.

The Twentieth Century Circle met Oct. 8th at the home of Mrs. Kirk Wilson. The following program was given: Wrens are the Philippines—Mrs. Stewart Legrami and the Spanish Conquest—Mrs. Root. Music and Superstitions—Mrs. Postle. Interesting post cards from Mrs. M. Clinchey were read, describing her trip in the "Gray Van." Response. Adjourned to meet Oct. 22nd, with Miss Killa Trauger. Fruits of the season were served and the usual social time spent.

Get ready for that license tag which your dog will have to carry after January 1, 1918. This state tax does not, however, give your dog a license to roam at will over your neighbor's premises, kill his chickens and dig up his flowers and lawns. The tag is only a reminder that a tax has been paid on his worthless hide, and if found without it the sheriff or his deputy has authority and it is his duty to dispose of said dog after giving owner notice of his failure to comply with the law.

Thomas W. Latham, of Monroeville and Norwalk, and Jay E. Smith of Tecumseh and Norwalk, former county auditor, are two of the busiest men in Huron county these days, both taking an active interest in promoting the campaign to place Ohio in the list of dry states. Mr. Latham and Mr. Smith are in the trenches armed with hand grenades which they are hurling right and left after their regular business hours, both making speeches throughout the county every night. They enjoy the campaigning and are not afraid of working overtime. A New London Saturday night they spoke to good-sized crowds. At Chester Junction they had a good audience and Mr. Smith had a large audience in Richmond township Sunday night.—Experiment.

Cold Weather Garments Now Ready.

Outing Gowns, - 50c, 75c and $1.00 each

Knit Petticoats

Good values, 35c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00 ea.

Underwear

Ladies', Misses', and Children's Fleece-lined or wool two-piece garments or Union Suits.

Sateen Petticoats

Special values at 89c and $1.19
SEE THESE.

Elzora Taylor

To the Public.

Owing to conditions over which we have no control, and the fact that Mr. Shields is retiring from the delivery business, we have been brought to face the following conditions:

Either to equip ourselves with suitable rigs for this service, and men to handle the same, and to raise prices to at least partly cover the cost of same, or, do away with the delivery service entirely, and keep our prices as low as possible.

The fact that our government has issued an appeal for us all to do our bit along this very line, should enable us all to meet this small sacrifice of convenience cheerfully.

It is not for our own convenience or profit that we are asking this favor, and we hope that our request will be met with the same spirit of cooperation that prompts this notice.

This notice goes into effect Monday, Oct. 22nd, and assuring you of the same effort towards same service and courteous treatment, that has so long characterized the Plymouth stores, we remain, your grocers.

Clark Bros. Co. R. T. Chappell. F. B. Lofland.

THE NU-WAY

From Manufacturer to User Direct.

The Nu-Way Sanitary Chemical Closet

Recommended by the State Board of Health
SAVE DEALER'S PROFITS.

$18.50 CLOSET for $14.50

To November 5th Only.

The Nu-Way Sanitary Chemical Toilet

is the latest and most up-to-date closet on the market. Is built of the best galvanized sheet steel, finished in white enamel with high grade standard oak guaranteed seats, semi-saddle. Each closet is fully equipped with 9-ft. of 3 inch vent pipe, two elbows, pipe collar and canopy; also eight charges of chemicals which will last the average family eight months. The chemical retails for $1.50 per gallon and contains 16 charges. The closet as described sells for $18.50, which is the regular price.

The NU WAY Closet is more sanitary than a sewer and water system. Positively no odor in room. Sold on our ten days Money Back guarantee.

Get out this adv. and mail to our office 225 East Ninth St., Auburn, Ind., and save $4.00. TO NOV. 5th ONLY.

EVERY CLOSET GUARANTEED.

MANUFACTURED BY

NU-WAY SALES CO.

225-227 East 9th St., AUBURN, IND.

Both Phones 313 SEND FOR CATALOG

F. D. GUNSAULLUS,
PLYMOUTH OHIO
Attorney and Counselor at Law

Practices in all States and United States.
Office phone No. 1517. Residence phone No. 12.

J. R. McKNIGHT
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
24 East Main Street,
NORWALK, OHIO

U. W. RANK,
Auctioneer.

Phone Boughtonville, Ohio.
WANTED—2 Young Men, either with or without machine shop experience to learn tool and die making. Excellent opportunity to develop all around men. Other desirable positions open. Address North American Watch Co., Mansfield, Ohio.

Liberty.
Economy.
Preparations.
 Sauerkraut making is going on at the usual lively rate.
 The contractor is now engaged in dorooping up the Plymouth-Shiloh pile road.
 We hear very little of nut gatherers in this vicinity—the crop as usual is very short.
 George Searle has accepted a position as bookkeeper at the Peoples National Bank.
 Older making time—but apples being scarce, very little of it is being offered for sale.
 Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hess, Saturday, Oct. 6, 1917, a daughter, Margaret Ellen.
 Come and have a good time at the Halloween social at the Lutheran church, Everettbody welcome.
 For Sale—A No. 8 Bushes Corn Sheller, in good condition, at a bargain. Enquire of Chas. Rhoads.
 Marshal Zigler will occupy the Drennan house on Plymouth street, lately vacated by W. A. Jeffrey.
 Don't forget the Halloween social at the Lutheran church, Friday evening, Oct. 26, 10 cents to all.
 For rent Nov. 1st.—Five rooms for housekeeping, on Sankuisky street. Phone R-88. Mrs. Mary Sherman.
 The ghosts and goblins will be watching for you at the Lutheran church on Friday evening, Oct. 26.

Sweaters for men, women and children at J. W. McIntire Co.
 Be sure to attend the entertainment given by Miss Alta Weber at the Methodist church, Tuesday evening.
 Carpenters are busily engaged in preparing the Bachrach second story rooms for the reception of the I. O. O. F.
 New cloaks for ladies, misses and children, in the right styles at the right prices as usual. J. W. McIntire Company.
 New shirt waists in silk and voiles at prices you will not be able to get in any other store, at J. W. McIntire Company.
 Mrs. P. A. Athey and daughter, Miss Carrie, pleasantly entertained the Epworth League of the Methodist church, last Friday evening.
 Blankets in all qualities and sizes and at prices below the present wholesale cost, due to our early quantity buying at J. W. McIntire Company.
 Another new line of hats, trimmings and knit goods, including children's mittens and infant's capmitten and hosiery, at Mrs. G. S. Stinger's Millinery store.
 B. S. Ruckman is now working on the Shiloh road with the "kindergarten" gang, helping to repair the pike. The average age of the eight men on the job is 62 years.
 A tarp of unusual size is on exhibition in the window of Clark Bros. grocery. The tarp weighs 7 lbs and is a product from the garden of Mrs. Wm. Smith, on West High St.

The Local Telephone Company gives notice that a cent increase in mounting to fifteen cents or more will be raised five cents on each message commencing November 1, 1917.
 Notice—All persons are hereby warned not to trespass on my farm. No hunting or trapping allowed. All persons who fail to comply with this notice will be prosecuted.
 HIRAM WILLETT.
 Twenty-two ladies enjoyed a pleasant evening and an old-time apple-pie social at the home of Mrs. Harry Dawson, south of town, Wednesday evening. A seasonable luncheon was served.
 Miss Alice Stephens, who had a position offered her in the 1st grade of the East Cleveland schools has decided not to accept the position, but will continue her school work in Plymouth.

Miss Alta Weber, a reader and entertainer will give an entertainment at the Methodist church, Tuesday evening, Oct. 23, under the auspices of the Friendship Class. Admission 10 cents.
 Dr. Montgomery of Piqua, O., who was seriously injured recent in an automobile accident, has been in a critical condition since, but his friends report him a little better at the present time.
 You can get your underwear for men, women and children at very good prices at J. W. McIntire Company.
 Some of these times Hazel Grove northwest of Shelby will have a centralized school with an auditorium that will seat 300 or 400 people, in which social gatherings may be held or entertainments and lecture courses. There is a sentiment in that locality right now for a centralized school and the probabilities are that in another year or two the proposition will be put up to the voters of about six districts. The residents of those districts have seen the advantages of centralized schools and doubtless when the vote comes it will carry by a big majority.—Shelby Globe.

Personal Mention.

Misses Carrie Swobe and Elizabeth Colyer spent Sunday in Ashland.
 G. R. Kirtland of Toledo, came Thursday evening, on account of the illness of his father, F. W. Kirtland.
 Miss Ethel Hossler leaves Sunday for Tiffin, where she will attend the Hoffman-Faby wedding, which will take place at the St. Joseph's Catholic church, Monday morning, 6:30.

The great "Rooster" trial has come and gone and the verdict rendered by the jury was probably satisfactory to all. The house was packed to fullest capacity, thus emphasizing the fact that "a little nonsense now and then is relished by the best of men"—and women.
 Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

Chas. Parsel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel, was unfortunate in running his father's auto against a rig which was hitched in front of the home of Mrs. Baird on Plymouth street Thursday night last. There were no street lights on and it was the darkest night we have had in months, and the boy says he did not see the rig until it was too late to avoid the crash. The bugzy was pretty badly damaged and the horse had his head cut by striking the post, and came near bleeding to death, before veterinary Babcock could get it stopped. Mr. Jackson of New Haven owned the rig, but had no lights on his bugzy. A satisfactory settlement was made before Marshal Zigler Saturday evening.

DEISLER THEATRE

Saturday Night
 101 Bison Western
 "LONE LARRY"
 with
 Kingsley Benedict and Eileen Sedgwick,
 WEEKLY NEWS.
 Comedy.—Home Wreckers with Lee Moran and Eddie Lyon.

Sunday Night
 Greater Vitagraph
 "THE CHATEL"
 with
 F. H. Sothern and Peggy Hyland

Tuesday Night
 Lubin Drama
 "GODS OF FATE"
 with
 Richard Buhler and Rosetta Brice.

Wednesday Night
 BUTTERFLY FEATURE

PRICE 10c TO ALL

Clark Brothers' STORE NEWS.

SAVE SUGAR
 The government asks us to use sugar sparingly so that our Allies, who are desperately in need of sugar may be supplied. We have just received a large barrel of old-fashioned New Orleans Molasses, the kind that Grandmother used to get. Save your sugar and still give the folks cookies that they will appreciate—that good molasses kind, with a taste that lingers. 20c a qt.

Karo Syrup
 The new Karo with the maple flavor—fine with Buckwheat pan cakes these frosty mornings. 20c a can

LEGAL NOTICE.
 Special Election in the Village of Plymouth, submitting issuance of bonds in the sum of $118,000.00 for Water Works Filtration Plant. To the qualified electors of the Village of Plymouth, Counties of Huron and Richland, State of Ohio. You are hereby notified that at the time of the next general election to be held in the Village of Plymouth, Huron County and Richland County, State of Ohio, on the 5th day of November, 1917, at the usual voting places and at the usual hours of holding such election in the Village of Plymouth, the question of the issuance and sale of bonds in the amount of $118,000.00 for the purpose of establishing and installing a water filtration and water purification system and plants in connection with the water works system of said Village will be submitted to you. Those who vote in favor of the proposition as aforesaid shall have written or printed on their ballots "For the issue of Bonds," and those who vote against the same shall have written or printed on their ballots "Against the issue of Bonds."

LOCAL MARKET REPORT.
 Eggs (cash) ..... 38
 Butter, ..... 28 to 40
 Wheat, ..... 2 08
 Oats, ..... 55

With The Season's Greetings!

We wish to announce that our stock of

Men's and Boys' apparel for Fall and Winter of 1917-'18

Will comprise the best the markets offer and at prices that are right.

Come and See Us.

M. Shield & Son

Men's and Boys' Up-To-Date Outfitters.

The Three Allies

Comfort, Fit, Service—insure the satisfaction of our patrons.

TRY OUR FOOTWEAR.

DICK BROTHERS.

THE PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

USE OF WORK DONE BY CONGRESS

Session Remarkable, of Course, for its Action on War Measures.

LITTLE FRICTION NOTED

Members, as a General Thing, Were Harmonious—Administration Successful in Most Legislation it Wanted Adopted.

Washington.—The most remarkable feature of the parliamentary history of the world, was the way Democratic and Republican leaders characterized the first war session of the Sixty-fifth congress, which came to a close at three o'clock in the afternoon of October 6, exactly six months after the declaration of war against Germany.

How Money is Expended.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Amount. Includes Army, Navy, War Department, etc.

As a part of the scheme of meeting these enormous expenditures congress passed the $2,235,000,000 war revenue bill, the largest taxation bill in American history, levying directly or indirectly on every man, woman and child in the United States more than a billion dollars of this amount will be taken from war profits.

Where New Taxes Fall.

Here are some things upon which the average citizen will pay taxes under the new war tax bill.

Approximately 2 per cent increase on incomes of $5,000 or less.

Three per cent on all freight charges, increased to 3 cents and postcards to 2 cents, beginning November 3.

One cent for each 10 cents paid for postage on all mail letters.

Five-cent stamps and 10-cent outdoor amusement parks exempted.

Ten per cent on all club dues of $12 per year or more.

One cent for each 25 cents paid for parcel post.

One cent on each 25 cents express package charge.

Three per cent of all freight charges, Eight per cent of passenger fares by rail or water, except trips of less than 50 miles.

Ten per cent of charges for seats, berth and stateroom on parlor cars or vessels.

Five cents on each telegraph, telephone or radio message costing 15 cents or more.

Three per cent on jewelry.

Five per cent on each $100 of life insurance. The tax on whisky is $3.20. The tax on beer is increased from $1 a barrel to $2.75.

Increased tax on cigars, cigarettes and manufactured tobacco and snuff.

MOVE TO AID WAR CAPTIVES

Governments of Great Britain and Germany by Agreement Will Seek to Amalgamate the British and German Governments Concerning Combatant and Civilian Prisoners of War, which is kept by the Treaty of Commerce. It is felt that if it were wretchedly ameliorated the condition of the wretched captives held in Germany, are made public in a white paper issued by Great Britain.

MOST IMPORTANT MEASURES PASSED

Here are the most important measures passed by congress at the special war session: Declaration of war against Germany on April 6.

War bond issue aggregating $16,590,000,000.

War appropriations and contract authorizations totaling $14,390,000,000.

War loans aggregating $7,000,000,000.

The selective draft bill, including 10,000,000 men liable to military service.

The $2,235,000,000 war revenue bill.

The food control bill.

The trading with the enemy act.

The soldiers' and sailors' insurance bill.

Permanent aviation stations of the army and navy for school purposes.

Acts enlarging the membership of the Federal Reserve Bank and amending the act to regulate commerce by authorizing priority shipments by any common carrier, etc.

Act appropriating $11,346,000 to provide further for the national security and defense by stimulating agriculture and facilitating the distribution of agricultural products.

Act appropriating $102,500,000 to provide further for the national security and defense by encouraging the production of and the supply and controlling the distribution of food products and fuel.

Act to authorize an additional issue of bonds to meet expenditures for the national security and defense, and for other purposes.

Act appropriating $103,941,400.02, of which $100,000,000 is for the national security and defense and for each and every purpose connected with the war.

Act authorizing an issue of bonds to meet expenditures for the national security and defense and for the purpose of assisting in the prosecution of the war.

Act appropriating $1,346,000 to provide further for the national security and defense by stimulating agriculture and facilitating the distribution of agricultural products.

Act appropriating $102,500,000 to provide further for the national security and defense by encouraging the production of and the supply and controlling the distribution of food products and fuel.

Act to authorize an additional issue of bonds to meet expenditures for the national security and defense, and for other purposes.

Act appropriating $103,941,400.02, of which $100,000,000 is for the national security and defense and for each and every purpose connected with the war.

Act authorizing an issue of bonds to meet expenditures for the national security and defense and for the purpose of assisting in the prosecution of the war.

Act appropriating $1,346,000 to provide further for the national security and defense by stimulating agriculture and facilitating the distribution of agricultural products.

SAVE UP YOUR COIN

Hoover's Men Will Make Big Drive Through Nation for Sale of New Bonds.

YOU CAN HELP WHIP KAISER

Great Program is Outlined for Food Pledge Week Campaign, October 21 to 27, in the Fight Must Be Fed.

Washington.—Ten million food conservation pledges Twenty-two million more are being urged by the government projected so large in its scope that the work to be accomplished is as great as though a census of the country were to be taken and a war effort planned.

Such is the program outlined for the food pledge week campaign, October 21 to 27.

What are the motives back of such a tremendous drive?

In every state thousands of people are asking these questions while thousands of others are preparing themselves to furnish a complete answer to the inquiry.

The reasons why the food pledge campaign has been projected upon such a broad line are simple enough; plain and to the point.

So simple and so plain that they have been stated in the compass of a card—a card that it is proposed to have printed and distributed to every card that is the "war creed of the kitchen," because, so closely are the people in this country linked to the success of the war effort, that the struggle must be fought out in the American kitchen.

If soldiers are to fight they must be fed. To carry three to four million men, our allies across the sea have been taking the men from the farm and from the factory and sending them to the front.

Each man sent to the front will be fed by the food that "will win the war."

There are vast stores of wheat in Australia. There is food in South America, but ships are scarce. Time is a vital factor. The voyage to Australia and to South America takes too long. If the needs of those who fight for us across the sea are to be met, the food that sustains those fighters must come from this country.

If the laborer is worthy of his hire, surely the fighter is worthy of his food. That is a principle universally accepted by the American public. Herein lies it is not every product that can be sent across the sea. Corn will not serve the need; our allies have never been able to get it.

It is not every product that can be sent across the sea. Corn will not serve the need; our allies have never been able to get it.

It is not every product that can be sent across the sea. Corn will not serve the need; our allies have never been able to get it.

It is not every product that can be sent across the sea. Corn will not serve the need; our allies have never been able to get it.

It is not every product that can be sent across the sea. Corn will not serve the need; our allies have never been able to get it.

It is not every product that can be sent across the sea. Corn will not serve the need; our allies have never been able to get it.

It is not every product that can be sent across the sea. Corn will not serve the need; our allies have never been able to get it.

It is not every product that can be sent across the sea. Corn will not serve the need; our allies have never been able to get it.

It is not every product that can be sent across the sea. Corn will not serve the need; our allies have never been able to get it.

It is not every product that can be sent across the sea. Corn will not serve the need; our allies have never been able to get it.

It is not every product that can be sent across the sea. Corn will not serve the need; our allies have never been able to get it.

Sets Aside Oct. 24 as U.S. Liberty Day

Washington.—President Wilson in behalf of the Liberty Loan has just issued a proclamation setting aside Oct. 24 as Liberty Day and urging the people of the nation to assemble on that day in their respective communities.

The president urges, "that the government that represents them the fullest measure of financial support."

The proclamation follows: By the president of the United States of America. A proclamation.

The Second Liberty Loan gives the people of the United States another opportunity to lend their funds to their government to sustain their country.

Billions of dollars are required to arm, feed and clothe the brave men who are fighting for the freedom of their country's battles and to assist the nations with whom we are making common cause against a common foe.

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do hereby urge and advise the people to assemble in their respective communities and pled the Liberty Loan to the government that represents them the fullest measure of financial support.

On the afternoon of that day I request that you attend meetings held in every city, town and hamlet throughout the land, under the general direction of the secretary of the treasury and the immediate direction of the Liberty Loan committees which have been organized by the federal reserve banks.

The people responded nobly to the call of the first Liberty Loan with an oversubscription of more than 50 per cent. Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

Let the response to the second Liberty Loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to the men who are to face the foe.

BAKERS' COCOA is pure

Purity in cocoa means carefully selected, scrupulously cleaned cocoa beans, scientifically blended, skillfully roasted, and with the excess of fat removed, reduced to an extremely fine powder by a strictly mechanical process, no chemicals being used.

the finished product containing no added mineral matter.

AND IT HAS A DELICIOUS FLAVOR

Trade-mark on every genuine package

Booklet of choice recipes sent free

Made only by WALTER BAKER & CO. Ltd.

DORCHESTER, MASS.

Established 1780

Even With the Barber.

"Don't you care for any postcards today?" asked the postal clerk as he handed me the man the stamp he had requested.

"Or some stamped envelopes? We have some left over."

"No, thank you very much."

"Would you like a money order?"

"No."

"Or perhaps you would like to open a postal savings account?"

"But the man had fed."

"Who was that fellow, and why did you ask him all those questions?" asked a fellow clerk.

"That," said the other clerk, "is my barber. For years when he has shaved me he has bothered me with recommendations of massage, shampoos, haircuts and hair tonics. I am even with him now."

GREAT FOR ECZEMA AND OLD SORES

I Guarantee My Ointment, Says Peterson.

"If you are responsible for the health of your family," says Peterson, "I want you to get a large 25¢ box of Peterson's Ointment today."

"Remember, I stand back of every box. I guarantee it. If Peterson's Ointment doesn't do it I'll give you $100."

I guarantee it for eczema, old sores, running sores, salt rheum, rashes, sore nipples, eczema, itching, hemorrhoids, skin diseases, blind, bleeding and itching piles, as well as for burns, scalds, cuts, bruises and sunburn.

WHOLESALE BAKERS' BEAD FOR CITIES

Threatens to Operate Bakeries if Other Means Fail to Cut Price of Loaf.

Washington.—Municipal bakeries may be established by the food administration in cooperation with the federal government throughout the country whose services can be spared may be excused at 12 o'clock Wednesday, Oct. 21.

By the president.

UNCLE SAM EXPERIMENTS WITH CHEAPER BREADS; DISTRIBUTION COST HIGHER.

Washington.—Municipal bakeries may be established by the food administration in cooperation with the federal government throughout the country whose services can be spared may be excused at 12 o'clock Wednesday, Oct. 21.

By the president.

By the president.

50,000 BELGIAN HOUSES GONE

German's Record of Destruction is Known by New Gray Book Issued by Government.

Harris, Oct. 8.—The Belgium government has issued a gray book in which it has set forth the results of its investigations against Belgian civilians contained in the German white book of May, 1915, in which it was said Belgian civilians savagely attacked German troops in the early days of the war and that the measures adopted by the Germans were necessary in the interest of preservation of the German army.

According to the gray book, between 40,000 and 50,000 houses were destroyed by the Germans.

JACKIE KILLS FIFTEEN; IS HELD

Quebec Town Magistrate Says Fatal Blow to Civil War Fought in U.S.

London, Oct. 8.—Machinists Mate Perente an American naval vessel will be liberated on bail on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of a dock yard laborer named John J. Higgins, who died from a blow on the leg inflicted by the sailor on September 8. He was held by a Quebec town magistrate. Perente pleaded not guilty and added "I did not mean to injure my friend."

and to furnish materials necessary for the construction and upkeep of the camps. For medical attention and for the victualing and clothing of the interned.

Among the provisions of the agreement is that the British government will permit the German civilian personnel originally belonging to the German garrison at Tientsin, China, to return to Germany by sea if they are permitted by the American government to do so.

YOU BET I'M HELPING SAVE THE WHEAT

Wheat says Bobby

Post Toasties

For me 3 times a day

