Scraping Farm Tools

Once Upon a Time It Took Over Three Hours to Produce a Bushel of Wheat. Now, Thanks to Improved Machinery, it Takes but 8 minutes.

The farmer has always been a "Scrapper" of old machinery. He scrapped the Reap Hooks for the Scythe; he scrapped the Scythe for the Sickle; he scrapped the Reaper for the Binder; he scrapped the Single Frow for the Gang Plow, and is now scrapping Horses for Tractors. He is the world's best producer because he gets rid of the old and buys the new.

The woman in your house cleans the fough, raggedly HER three times a day over a thousand times year. She wastes HER time and HER energy cleaning ornamental, bolt heads, rivet heads, hinges, catches and latches that have no more business on the outside of a spring than on the outside of a dish.

SCRAP THAT OLD RANGE
Get Rid of the Vexing, Back-breaking, Knuckle-skinning Thing

No man would clean it the second time. He'd go and buy a smooth one. He'd buy a Copper-Clad, the range that has no catches, latches or ornaments on the outside. The range that is lined with a sheet of pure copper where other ranges rust out.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stambaugh, of Mansfield, Wednesday, Dec. 6, 1917, a fine young son—9 pounds heavy. Mr. and Mrs. Stambaugh are former residents of our city. Grandpa and Grandma Weatherly are happy and expect to survive the "blow."

The soldier boys from Plymouth, who are in training at Camp Sheridan, Alabama, have each written their parents very interesting accounts of the Thanksgiving day exercises and of the fine dinner served at the camp to every member of the division stationed there. The menu reads like the bill of fare hatched you at the famous hostesses of the cities or of the old-fashioned and highly palatable dinner served at Delmonico's in New York for so many years. The letters attest the care and protection Uncle Sam is bestowing on the boys who have shouldered the great responsibilities of the republic since the greatest war of the ages, and it is an indication of the manner in which the duty of caring for the army will be borne by liberty, loving Americans.

Red Cross

In response to the invitation read at our last meeting to come to Mansfield to hear the report of the meeting at Cleveland by the secretary, Miss Jameson, Saturday afternoon, many of the Chairman of out of town chapters attended. It was the first meeting of the newly elected officers Mrs. Roeffel Brinkerhoff, vice chairman provided Mr. H. S. Black, newly elected chairman of Richland Co. Chapter, told of the Cleveland meeting.

Mr. H. Davison, the officer highest in Red Cross ranks under President Wilson, said it was a pleasure to see the knitters by twoes and threes wherever we went and he liked to think of multiplying them by the number of groups in cities, towns and hamlets and think of the wonderful manufacturing institution it was.

When Mr. Davison took office there was a great responsibility thrust upon him which at first seemed overwhelming. Letters were received from all over the United States asking what to do and how to do it. From 1000 to 1500 letters a day were on local matters and had to remain unanswered on account of lack of clerical help. These U. S. are divided into 13 Divisions, 13 being very much in evidence during the administration. President Wilson claims it as his lucky number. (Plymouth Chapter received its first recognition as a Chapter June 15th)

We are in the Lake Division which comprises Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky with 9 million population. Mr. James R. Garfield is head of this division. Mr. Davison denied the report of large salaries being paid for Red Cross workers and said only few were paid salaries at all. Some of our great surgeons working, at times days and nights without rest, could earn as much for one operation at home as they receive a month under war conditions.

Miss Jameson then told of her impressions of the big meeting. "The parade in Cleveland was a great sight, so many Red Cross workers in uniform. Miss Florence Marshall, who was asked by President Wilson to take charge of the Women's Bureau, said the hardest thing was to know what to do first. She had never done work of this kind, but Miss Jameson said, as she told me, the work she left no doubt in the minds of the hearers that she was capable of doing this or anything else undertaken. One of the first things done was to send out 5000 bulletin instructions how to knit the socks wanted. 4500 letters were sent out to come back. She said there are definite reasons for all orders and it is our duty to "follow orders." She appealed for more surgical dressings for the 3500 hospitals in France also. One noted surgeon who had performed 2500 major operations had to stop during an operation to wash some gauze dressings. Bear this in mind.

Each ship from the United States reserves space for 30 tons of Red Cross material. Then Miss Jameson went to the stock room, an immense room down town where work is inspected and packed for shipping. In getting ready alterations had to be taken several blocks to the work rooms, altered and returned, making needless handling. She appealed for care in doing the work properly.

She saw the comfort kits and felt very proud to think Mansfield division had sent 90 Christmas kits, but pride had a fall when she heard Bucyrus had sent 204. Again her pride rose when told Mansfield gave work was often sent as samples to work rooms, because it was perfect.

There will be preaching services next Sunday morning and evening at the usual hours.

The Session at the request of the pastor, called for a meeting of the congregation to be held next Sunday morning immediately following the sermon, to vote, uniting with the pastor to ask Presbytery to release him from this church that he may accept the call to a new field. We expect Rev. Shedd to preach and moderate the meeting. We urge every member to be present.

If our plans carry out we expect to close our work in connection with this church on Sunday, Dec. 16.
