Letter From Horace Ward.

Quantico, Va., Dec. 28, 1917.

Dear Mother: Just a few lines to let you know that I am well and happy. O. K. and I was much pleased to see everything in it, and want to thank you for it, one and all.

Christmas is here and everything is going along the same, only the fellows have not got back from their furlough yet, so we do not have to do much.

Yesterday I did not do much except sleep and eat. We had as good a feed for dinner yesterday as we did for Thanksgiving, if anything it was better.

The company goes on guard tomorrow night, but I am lucky not to go to it.

The Red Cross sent Christmas packages to all of us and they were certainly fine. I got a pair of socks, a king tobacco, soap, post cards, pencils and candy, in mine. They certainly are doing a lot for us fellows as well as for the folks at home, more, I will close for this time, with love to all. Horace A. Ward.

Plymouth's Christmas R-d Cross Drive.

In the appeal of President Wilson to make Christmas week the week to secure a new supply for the creation of 15,000,000, the quota assigned the village and township of Plymouth at their share, was 21 percent of the population, or 310 members. Owing to the efficiency of the members of Plymouth Chapter, who kindly volunteered their services to canvass the quota assigned was more than secured, with membership renewals of 186, and new members to the number of 121, a total of 307, more than the quota for village and township. Donations amounting to $22.00 from the local Chapter were also received during this canvass.

Owing to the weather and condition of the roads, the workshop was not canvassed, and that, in consequence, no dupe or quota would have been overwhelmingly filled. The committee have many kind-hearted folks for the good and efficient work done for the good cause.

Geo. B. SAUER, Chairman.

When the Year is Done.

Let us forget the things that vexed and tried us
The wretched things that caused our soul to fret;
The hopes that, cherished long, were sullied and unmet.
Let us forget.
Let us forget the little slights that passed us
The greater wrongs that rankle sometimes yet;
The pride which shows us lofty one disdained
Let us forget.
Let us forget our brother's fault and failing—
The yielding to temptation that beset;
That he, perchance, whose grief is unavailing,
Cannot forget.
But blessings manifold, past all describing,
Kind words and helpful deeds, a countless number,
The fault overcome, the rectitude unswerving,
Let us remember long.
The sacrifice of love, the generous giving,
When friends were few, the hand-clasp warm and strong,
The fragrance of each life of holy living,
Let us remember long.
Whatever things were good and true and gracious,
Whatever things that triumphed over wrong,
What love of God or man has rendered,
Let us remember long.
So, pondering well the lessons it has taught us,
Unuttering we bid the year "Good-bye,"
Holding in memory the good it brought us,
Let the evil die. (Ex.)

The World's Greatest Descriptive Organist.

By the great critics of two continents, Gatty Sellers, concert organist of the Queen's Hall and Crystal Palace Music Festival, London, England, who plays his organ Friday evening, Jan. 11, at the Lutheran church, has been acclaimed the world's greatest descriptive organist. One writer put it succinctly when he said: "What Radarski is to the piano, Gatty Sellers is to the organ."
Even those who are not musically inclined are held spellbound, as they would be at an intense drama, by his marvellously realistic rendition of "A Storm in the Alps," of the lightning, thunder, rain and wind sounding in its real life, or "The Russian Patrol," by Ruben Levin, where the realistic sounds of the struggling troops are so life-like that one critic accused Mr. Sellers of carrying a company of men with him to make the sound of a band of marching organ. Music lovers will be enchanted when they hear the world-famous artist in classical selections by the great masters—from Bach and Wagner to Sir Edward Elgar and Gatty Sellers himself, who is one of the Queen's Hall's foremost composers. Mr. Sellers' organ is the Cathedral Chimes with the organ. The same program will be given which it have been a set of organs, from five to ten thousand people in special auditoriums as Queen's Hall and Crystal Palace, London, or the Auditorium, Los Angeles, or the Mormon Tabernacle, Salt Lake City. It is not surprising that there is a very large demand for tickets. The demand is enormous and the tickets do not buy their tickets early may miss the greatest treat in years.

Farmers to Tackle Food Problems at Big Meeting.

War food problems will be given much attention by Buckeye farmers when they hold their annual Farmers' Week round-up at the College of Agriculture at Columbus from January 23 to February 1. Among the speakers on this part of the program will be G. C. Creelman, president of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ontario, who will discuss agricultural problems and mistakes developed by the war in Canada.
During the week's gathering, a large number of state agricultural association meetings will be held. Among them will be the Ohio State Horticultural Society, the Ohio State Vegetable Growers' Association, the Ohio Rural Life Association, Ohio Beekeepers' Association, the Ohio State and Improvement Association, the Ohio State Forestry Association, and nearly a dozen livestock breeders' associations.
The sessions will be held simultaneously between the hours of 9 o'clock in the morning and 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Special evening meetings will be arranged, many of which will be illustrated. A number of educational agricultural movies will be shown.
Last year more than 4,000 dyed in the wool farmers attended this educational gathering, and unless circumstances are defective, the attendance this year will be a record breaker.
A diversity of speakers was featured last Saturday as an enemy alien.

Thrift Stamps and Snow Flakes.

You may think a Thrift Stamp is too small a thing to be considered seriously. How is it going to be possible to get money together for the sale of such stamps to be of any consequence at a time when tens of billions of dollars will be needed? Let us think the matter over.
A snow flake is a very small thing; but many snow flakes become important. They form the blankets that keep broad fields of wheat warm through the winter. They impede traffic. They cause cities to be isolated. They fill mountains and halt armies.
Thrift Stamps are like snow flakes. A few of them amount to little. Many of them amount to much. A Thrift Stamp bought by every man, woman and child in the United States would place $25,000,000 at the immediate disposal of the government. Enough Thrift Stamps to buy a War Savings Stamp for each inhabitant of the United States would bring into the possession of the treasury $500,000,000.
A Thrift Stamp costs 25 cents, and you need only 10 of these stamps to get a War Savings Stamp. So you see that there is no good reason why the sale of Thrift Stamps should not be great enough to provide an average of at least one War Savings Stamp for every man, woman and child in America. An average of two War Savings Stamps, or 50 Thrift Stamps, for every one in the United States would add $1,000,000,000 to the financial resources of the government, and might well be the means of enabling our army to put an end to this war.
Every Thrift Stamp that is bought is like the snowflake, becomes a part of the big drift which stalls a locomotive. Let the stamps which you buy become a part of the drift which is to attack the German war machine and make the world a place in which people may return once again to the pursuit of happiness, and again enjoy the security of peace.

THE food value of cocoa has been proven by centuries of use, and dietitians and physicians across the world over are enthusiastic in their endorsements of it. The Versatile Barber.

Some years ago there was a boom town, Blossing, on the Gulf coast of Texas, relates the New York Evening Sun. A newcomer built a shack there near the railway station. On one side he had a barber chair and necessary equipment, and on the other a forge and anvil. Between the two trades he managed to make a living.

One day a traveling salesman went into the shack, threw himself into the barber chair and asked that he be shaved so he could catch a train that was due in five minutes.

The proprietor looked across the shack and shook his head.

"Sorry, mister," he said, "but there's a plowshare ahead of you."

Hungry or Thirsty?

I heard George Tully, the well-known actor, tell a good story of a chance meeting with a breakdown performer, observes a writer in the Chicago American.

While feeling in his pocket for the customary coin, it occurred to him to ask the derelict: "Have you had breakfast yet?"

"A hungry—or was it a thirsty?—look came into the latter's eyes."

"Not a drop," he replied earnestly. "Not a drop, George, on my honor!"

DRAFT BOARDS

ARMY SURGEONS TO GIVE INSTRUCTION IN PHYSICAL STANDARDS NECESSARY.

UNFIT WILL BE KEPT OUT

Fifty Clerks Have Been Named to Depart Immediately for Overseas Duty After General Examining—Much Activity Among the Men.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Camp Sherman.—The lame, the halt and the blind, hordes of whom were sent to Camp Sherman in the first draft, will be of a minus quantity when the second increment of draftees is sent Shermanward if local draft boards will lend their aid to army surgeons, who soon will be sent throughout the state to instruct local boards in army methods of physical examination.

Lieutenant Colonel Walton DeWitt, Division Surgeon, is selecting a corps of officers attached to this division, which will carry the educational work to the various boards.

In ordering the work done the War Department indicated that examinations conducted by the medical men attached to the local draft boards did not always produce uniform and satisfactory results, and that the medical officers who are sent out from Camp Sherman will make an effort to clear up difficulties local medical examiners have been having in the past.

Absence of "uniform and satisfactory results" was a most noticeable feature of the recent examinations, according to army surgeons. It was not uncommon to find under-estimated and blind, men with wooden legs, mutilated hands, crippled backs, deformed feet, incurable diseases, and what not in the ranks of the first 50 per cent of selectives.

The result of this uniform and unsatisfactory method of examining and selecting men was that the Government was put to a tremendous expense in moving the men to this cantonment, only to put them in hospital for a more or less prolonged stay until they could be discharged as physically unfit for service.

The minimum cost to the Government for the transportation, feeding and medical attention of each of these men, it is estimated, was $100. In some cases the amount ran into hundreds.

A conservative estimate placed 1,500 as the number discharged from this division because of physical disability.

There was much activity among the 50 clerks selected for immediate overseas service with General Pershing's staff, who will leave soon for a port of embarkation.

COLUMBUS WOULD RETRENCH

Budget Committee Proposes to Abolish Fourteen Departments of the City Government.

Columbus, O.—Perhaps the most drastic piece of municipal economy witnessed in Ohio appeared in the recommendation of the City Budget Committee for the abolition of 14 departments of the local government.

Among the places slated for elimination are that of public defender, smoke inspector, district nurses, food inspector, dog catcher, forester and free employment agent.

The public recreation fund is to go, with the abatement costs, the obolus treatment fund, the street repair, sewer and drainage and garbage and refuse disposal funds. This is done in order to keep within the budget and there seems to be no other alternative.

HELD AS GERMAN SPY.

Cleveland.—Ernest Deering, 39 years old, who is said to be an intelligence officer of the German army, is under arrest here awaiting orders sending him to an internment camp. He was arrested in Massillon a few days ago and brought to this city. Federal agents who made the arrest said maps and drawing instruments were found in his possession, and that he had been cured work as a laborer at Camp Sherman last summer.

Used Five Tons of Yarn.

Toledo.—More than five tons of yarn, 11,187 pounds, to be precise, have been knitted into socks, wristlets, mufflers and mittens by members of the Toledo chapter of the American Red Cross in the last three months. The statistics are: 5,572 stockings, 3,835 pairs of socks, 1,919 scarfs, 1,194 pairs of wristlets and 123 helmets. Almost 5,000 women helped in this work.

SANTA SENT TO GUARDHOUSE

Brings Christmas Joy to All Soldiers Who Are Looated at Camp Sherman.

Camp Sherman.—Santa Claus was sent to the guard house when he came to Camp Sherman Christmas Eve. The military men who escorted him to the wooden prison, however, urged him on with songs instead of bayonets, for he was sent there not as a prisoner, but as purveyor of the glad tidings of the Prince of Peace laughs at lock-smiths.

Old Santa was mustered in by Major General Edwin F. Glenn and he was asked to make merry the men who have transgressed military laws. Although a disciplinarian of the first water the General's heart grew tender when the question was put to him, "What about Christmas for the men in the guard house?"

"They shall be treated like the spirit of the Yuletide, 'Peace on earth, good will to Men,' applies to all men of my command, regardless of race, color or present condition of servitude," he answered.

And so it comes about that a special program was arranged for the entertainment of the men in the guard houses, hospitals and alien enemies as well.

"Christmas means much to these alien," said a staff sergeant. "It is our own country Kris Kringle is a universally loved myth and the General believed this unfortunate war should not be used as an excuse to put them beyond the pale of Christmas cheer."

PART VALUATIONS HELD VOID

Although Procedure Was Correct, it Ruling in Franklin County Case By Prosecuting Attorney.

Columbus.—Opinion was rendered by Prosecuting Attorney Robert Duncan to the Franklin County Board of Revision to the effect that part valuations of real estate were void, although the County Auditor's procedure in the reappraisal was technically correct. His finding that all real estate outside of the various tax districts reappraised was assessed at its true value in money, was not justified by the facts, declared the Prosecuting Attorney. The decision holds the Auditor has no right to select certain undervalued districts for reappraisal in one year and leave other districts, likewise undervalued, for reappraisal in following years.

This procedure, he asserts, violates the constitutional provision for uniformity of rule and of value.

Race Conservation Aim of Book.

Columbus.—The Ohio Board of Administration is distributing, free of all charge through the District School Superintendents, to the principals of the public schools 50,000 copies of a book just published, entitled "The Greatest Problem of the Race—Its Own Conservation." This book is intended to aid in producing a sturdier stock of American citizens. It shows the danger of transmitting to children any constitutional disease either parent may have, and likewise any tendency.

LIONS CHANGE IN CAPTIVITY

King of the Jungle Grows Darker in Color, Skull Broader, Shorter and More Massive.

Captivity proves to have a marked effect on both the external appearance and the head-shape of lions. Observations have been made on five specimens of Felis leo massula that had died after several years of life in the Zoological park in Washington, states a correspondent, and 54 specimens of the same species that were killed in the wild state in East Africa.

The chief external differences noted are much darker color, more luxuriant mane, and longer tufts of hair on the cheeks in the park animals as compared with wild ones of the same age. Confinement in a damp atmosphere has been shown to increase pigmentation in blebs, and it is assumed that an atmospheric humidity greater in Washington than in Africa has produced the same effect in lions. The bones were never more strikingly affected.

The skulls of the captive lions are broader and shorter, more massive and bulky, and indicate that the powerful muscles of the jaw and neck that are so much exercised by the preying-sold of wild lions have had little effect on bone-shaping in the confined animals.

"Good morning! Why, this morning is a Liberty Bystander (Boston bulldog)" said the thin boarder breezing in to the breakfast table.

"Because it costs money to buy one," came from the stoutly portly waiter.

"Use your brains, Blouder," answered the thin boarder. "Try again."

"They're a good protection," ventured the bank clerk with the red necktie.

"Nix."

"Because they're worth their face value," suggested the pug-nosed girl.

"No, no, Listen! Because only the owners get any interest out of them."

Scenes of Prosperity

Are Common in Western Canada

The thousands of U. S. farmers who have accepted Canada's generous offer to settle on homesteads or buy farm land in her provinces have been well repaid by bountiful crops of wheat and other grains.

Where you can buy good farm land at $15 to $20 per acre—get $2 a bushel for wheat and raise 20 to 25 bushels to the acre you are bound to make money—that's what you can do in Western Canada.

In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta you can get a HOMESTEAD OF 160 ACRES FREE and other land at very low prices.

During the past year Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre—many yields as high as 25 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley, and Flax.

Mixed Farming is as profitable an industry as grain raising. Good schools, churches, railways convenient, excellent medical service, and particularly as to reduced railway rates to West of Manitoba, Ottawa, Can. or U.S.

Methodist Notes.

Rev. W. E. Hollett's morning subject next Sunday will be "The Man Who Did Not Fail" and the evening subject, "The Pillars Which Cannot Be Overthrown." You are invited to these services.

Gatty Sellers.

Gatty Sellers, the world-famed English Organist, Composer of the Queen's Hall London, England, Concerts, and the Crystal Palace Music Festival will appear at the First Lutheran church on the evening of Jan. 11. Program includes the Russian Patrol, and the famous "Storm on the Alps." Cathedral Chimes will be used with the organ. Tickets are now on sale at Karl Webber's drug store.

People are asking how such a play happens to get so much attention as this. It is simply because Mr. Sellers happened to be passing through the town, stopped at the Smith Hotel for breakfast, made some inquiries about organs, hunted on the Lutheran Pastor, tried our organ and pronounced it good. I heard him play three pieces and arranged to have the recital believing that I would be doing the people of Plymouth a service by bringing such a great and famous musician to the town. Many of our people will have the first opportunity of a lifetime to hear for a mere trifle a real artist perform on the instrument used on all instruments—the Pipe Organ.

Do not let your doubts deprive you of this great treat, for you will regret it afterwards. It is a play that you did not hear him. Let us not deny ourselves a sweet meal which is served at our own board. G. C. SMITH.

Red Cross

That the heart of Plymouth people is in the right place was proved by the splendid way in which every one responded to the Red Cross Christmas appeal. Our membership quota was exceeded besides receiving some very acceptable donations. The money received for membership is divided, one half is sent to Washington and the other retained by Mansfield Chapter of which Plymouth is a branch.

Mansfield Chapter buys all materials needed and Plymouth receives all supplies from Mansfield, excepting in case of Mansfield not being able to get material, as was the case with the Red Cross of travel freight. We had worked up all wool suits. To supply our own Plymouth boys in the service we bought wool and sent direct to our own boys the completed garments. We feel grateful to the soliciting committee of the Christmas drive and to who on the staff of the Plymouth to do its share in this humane work.

Ma's Plymouth always be able to help in calling upon the Red Cross for help in the wish of its officers.

This Case Has a Hint for Many Plymouth Readers.

A Plymouth woman has used Doan's Kidney Pills. She has found them as represented.

She wishes her neighbors to know. She publicly recommends them. No one needs to look further for a tested kidney remedy.

The proof of merit is here and can be investigated.

Profit by the statement of Miss Maggie Basore. She says: "About a year ago I was badly troubled with pains in the small of my back and a dull ache in the back of my head. I had kinks in my back at times and had difficulty in straightening up after bending over. I took one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me. Since then, I have felt fine and I cannot speak too highly of Doan's."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Miss Basore has used. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Flour Supply is Limited.

Flour consumers of Huron county will be glad to be sold by grocers and millers no flour in excess of their reasonable requirements or in advance of three days' delivery. No farmer can exchange wheat for flour or feed not wanted, delivered within 30 days, unless he is credited on the millers' book in dollars and cents, and at the time of delivery pays the current price.

This action is being taken as the result of an order received from the food administration. It does not mean that a flour famine is threatened, but it means that the flour and of preventing people from putting away a bigger supply than they absolutely need. This action means more to the farmer than persons living in town, as many Huron county farmers in the past have been accustomed to take their wheat to the mill and take enough flour in payment for it to last them during the winter. Under the new order millers are not allowed to furnish flour to farmers in excess of enough flour to last him 30 days.

Human Friends.

Do you idealize your friends? Sometimes a person who has worshipped at the shrine of a teacher or schoolmate is shocked into cynicism by the discovery of a flaw in the one who was fancied perfection embodied. Human nature is faulty, and it is always dangerous to identify the virtues which demand our fealty with any human being. Keep on loving and honoring both and kindness even if you detect some acquaintance in a hood, or are treated unkindly by a friend.—Exchange.

To Renew Linoleum.

When linoleum becomes worn, polish it with prepared liquid wax. Dampen an old piece of woolen underwear with a tablespoonful of the wax and rub the linoleum with the wax over and over, scrubbing the floor. Polish with a dry woolen cloth until it shines. This renews the faded colors. After the first coat of wax, the linoleum may be polished daily with a waxed cloth fastened to a mop handle, thus saving the housekeeper from scrubbing the floors.

Ants That Carry Umbrellas.

In Mexico there is a variety of ants that carry little green umbrellas, made from bits of leaves, to protect their bodies from the fierce tropical sun. Sometimes, writes a contributor to the Youth's Companion, who has lived in the turbulent republic across the Rio Grande, I have seen two ants walking together while one politely carried the umbrella over the two. At other times, she says, I have seen them, when going in opposite directions, stop and salute each other before they passed on.

Shakespeare and the Bible.

Whatever his faults and limitations, Shakespeare will live forever. Dr. George W. Carey has said: "Shakespeare probed the depths of human possibilities, analyzed the stuff from which thoughts are made, and revealed the secretlight of incomparable genius on the records of the soul, painted its deeds on the canvas of life, and left it naked and ashamed." Shakespeare and the Bible will survive, after all our current literature is forgotten.—Los Angeles Times.

The Humanities.

The humanities are those branches of education or study which are included in what are called elegant learning, languages, grammar, philosophy and poetry, including the ancient classics, an educator says? The name implies that the story of these branches has its roots in human nature, to cultivate particularly those faculties which distinguish him as a man in all his relations, social and moral; that which make him a truly cultured man.

Teach Feet to Point Straight.

The human foot is wonderful in its formation; the 26 bones and intricate arrangement of muscles make it susceptible of a high degree of training, as one observes in fancy skating and ballet dancing. But it is sadly hampered in its practical activity by being encased in leather and having to support the weight of as well as to propel the body forward. To overcome this as far as possible we should learn to walk with the feet pointing practically straight.

Starting the Clock.

If a clock refuses to run after being wound owing to the end of cleaning, try this: Roll a bit of cloth, the it well so it cannot unravel and saturate it with coal oil. Place the roll in the bottom of the clock, well out of the way of the pendulum. After the fumes of the oil have had time to do their work—say from ten to twelve hours—wind and start the clock, and if nothing is broken it will run.

Rain Carries Electricity.

Rain carries both positive and negative charges of electricity, says a French scientist who has experimented exhaustively.

"Peat Cotton."

A material known as "peat cotton" is either made into cushions on which to rest injured limbs, or as filling for mattresses. One of its uses is to put over cotton, that it must be kept moist. When dry it crumbles into dust and becomes useless. A trace of rain water in the peat cotton keeps it valuable disinfectant.

"MEMORY MAPS" ARE FREAKS

Try to Draw Outlines of the Various Countries and You Will Be Surprised at Your Ignorance.

A man and wife sat at the table at their home trying to draw the outline map of Europe, from memory, observes the Ohio State Journal. They soon found that they knew little about it. They had been reading of European events for years, and yet when they tried to put the faint outline picture of the continent on paper they forgot their geography entirely. The man had read Anabasis and Homer in the original and yet got Greece between the Adriatic and the coast of Spain, and left Austria out altogether. The wife had Spain and France side by side on an east and west line, with Belgium to the north covering both, while she made the boot of Italy a fashionable $10 gaiter. Anyone looking at the two maps could tell they were not of Europe, or Asia, but of where, he couldn't say.

But seriously, it is a delightful amusement and might with profit be indulged in more. After one gets through with Europe, take the other continents and the countries that belong to them. And then one might come nearer home. It would be really easy to observe the ignorance concerning our own localities, but it would be amusing, too. Just for fun, have a company draw maps of the British Isles and Ireland, or Turkey, China, Kansas and Nebraska, Louisiana, Delaware, etc., and much surprised you will be to see how this earth had changed since you trusted it to your memory.

MUSIC REACHES THE HEART

Performer Dealing in Emotions Captivates Women More Swiftly Than the Poets or Writers.

The poet deals in words, while the painter deals in color and form, but the musician deals in emotion and therefore his appeal to women is always more swift, as it is always more subtle, than the appeal of any other artist.

Such, summed up by a writer in the Philadelphia North American, is the latest theory to explain the lure of music for women and the attraction of the dark-eyed, long-haired musician himself.

The average woman, say the theorists, is hounded in with conceptions that make her feel a grudging discomfort if a book or a poem talks too openly of what she thinks of, but never puts into words. "With a picture it is the same way, but in the music she hears with emotional delight all the romanticism, all the beauty, and all the vague dreams which she hides so carefully in her own world. In consequence she reads into the music her own feelings, and then she confuses the musician with his music. He, too, is keyed up to a high tension; he feels telepathically the emotion he has communicated, and so a spark is kindled between them. As for the result, well, sometimes it is love, sometimes a momentary infatuation—that all depends upon how much music they hear together and how much pent-up nervous emotionalism lies buried in the woman's soul.

Small Prescriptions.

Many physicians have a habit of writing prescriptions without calculating the quantity of medicine their patients are to take. This leads to a great waste of drugs and much unnecessary expense. With the New York Medical Journal urge physicians to be more careful.

Another evil result of this far too common practice, is that many prescriptions are stored away in the medicine chest, and next time the patient has or thinks he has, the same symptoms, he is sure he will suppose to be the same medicine.

But the chief reason why physicians should not prescribe four or six ounces when they know only one or two will be used, is that it is wasting the drugs and making the patient pay far more for his medicine than is at all necessary.

First Introduced Canes.

The Mexicans first used canes in America. When the Spanish conquered the country, queer canes were introduced. The chief executive of the town carried a stick with a gold or silver head. It was a kind of scepter.

The people, of course, rarely knew how to read or write, and when anyone was wanted for a crime, one of the mayor's subordinates would take the cane, find the culprit and place it horizontally upon the latter's chest.

The proceeding was equivalent to a subpoena, and the man had to appear before the mayor under the penalty of being cast into prison. This action was borrowed from Spain, where it still prevails in the more important actions.

Find Skeleton of Giant.

A perfect skeleton was uncovered in Surrey, England, during the work of carrying out alterations to a water drainage in one of the main streets in Farnham. The chief bones were in a perfect state of preservation, and were sufficient to show that the body was that of a man of unusual stature. Close by was found a bone of a horse.

The site of a Roman camp was discovered, and the man had to appear before the mayor under the penalty of being cast into prison. This action was borrowed from Spain, where it still prevails in the more important actions.

"WHERE" HERE"

The Thrill and the Hell of the Trenches, Described by an American Boy SERGEANT MCCLINTOCK

Sergeant Alexander McClintock of Lexington, Ky., and the Canadian Army has Grippled That Every American Soldier Has His Own Hell to Fight in the Trenches—Undesired, Wounded, a Distressing Conduct He Has Seen Invaluable Home, But is Going "Out There" Again to Fight for Uncle Sam and His Allies' As Inspiring, Inspiring, Personal Narrative, Full of the Spirit and Atmosphere of the Trenches.

No. 6 DECORATED FOR BRAVERY; HOME AND UNCLE SAM

By Sergeant Alexander McClintock, D. C. M., 87th Overseas Battalion, Canadian Grenadier Guards

Copyright, 1917, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.

This is the concluding article of the series of six by Sergeant McClintock, an American boy of Lexington, Ky., who has seen service in France and decorated for bravery and installed home.

I WAS taken from Pontres to Albert in a driver ambulance... The Tommies would say, "the doctor the man who drove this vehicle would make a good chauffeur for an adding machine."

The first formalism in a shrapnel case is the administration of an antiseptic incision, and when it is done you realize that you are sure trying to save your life.

Immediately after this was done I was bundled into another ambulance and driven to Contay, where the 8th C. S. (casualty clearing station) and rail head were located.

In the but which constituted the special ward for leg wounds I was put in the first row of the ambulance had traveled all the way from Pontres into a comfortable bed with fresh, clean sheets, and instantly I found myself surrounded with quiet, trained, efficient care.

Two of the Nursing Sisters Were the Coolest Individuals Present. were in my leg. They took these out and presented them to me. I have been giving them away for souvenirs.

porting our battalions that morning of the day the "meat" batteries.

A sacrifice battery, I might explain, is one composed of field pieces which are emplaced between the front and support lines and which, in case of an attack or counterattack are fired at point blank range.

Two of the nursing sisters in charge of the train were the coolest individuals present. They walked calmly the night to remain in the line of male attendants how to remove the wounded men safely from the wrecked cars.

The trip from Contay to Rouen was a nightmare—twenty-six hours traveling 150 miles on a train which was part of the British line.

In the but which constituted the special ward for leg wounds I was put in the first row of the ambulance had traveled all the way from Pontres into a comfortable bed with fresh, clean sheets, and instantly I found myself surrounded with quiet, trained, efficient care.

there, but they thought they'd better get them straightened out. My wounds had become septic, and it was necessary to give all attention to drainage and cure.

It was at this time (on Nov. 23, 1916, ten days after I had been wounded) that my father in Lexington received the following cablegram from me in the charge of the Canadian records in England:

Sincerely regret to inform you that Sergeant Alexander McClintock, officially reported dangerously ill in No. 6 general hospital from gunshot wounds.

It appears that during the time of my convalescence with the black dog and the inattentive nurse my temperature had ascended to the stage when the doctors began to admit another method of treatment might have been successful. But I didn't pass out.

People Stand in Crowds, the Men With Hats Off, While Ambulances Pass.

One thing I most regret about my close call is that my parents in Lexington were in a daze of suspense about my condition until I myself sent them a cable from London on December 15.

If it were possible I should say something here which would be fitting and adequate about the English women who nursed the 22nd and 23rd in general hospital No. 5 at Rouen, but that power isn't given me.

On December 5 I was told I was well enough to be sent to England, and on the next day I went on a hospital train from Rouen to Havre.

When the ship docked at Southampton, after a run of eight hours across channel, each patient was asked what part of the British line he would like to be taken to for the purpose of the convalescence.

"Thank you," he said, "for myself and my people for your services." There was nothing in the least thrilling about the incident, but there was much apparent sincerity in the few words.

1,500 cigarettes took to the boys of our battalion in France out of my strict stock. It had undertaken to eat and drink and smoke all of the things that were brought to me by Americans just because I was an American.

The wounded soldier getting back to England doesn't have a chance to rest, but his services are not appreciated. The welcome he receives begins at the railway station.

The King George hospital was built to be a government printing office and broke out. It was built for convalescent men. The bareness and the sick suggestion and charnel had to be taken out.

On the Friday before Christmas there was a concert in our ward. The comedians came to the stage when the doctors began to admit another method of treatment might have been successful.

At about three o'clock on that afternoon, when we were all having a good time, one of the orderlies threw open the door of the ward and announced in a loud voice that his majesty the king was coming in.

"Is this the one?" The nurse nodded. He came and sat at the side of the bed and shook hands with me. He asked us what part of the United States I had come from.

"I thank you," he said, "for myself and my people for your services." There was nothing in the least thrilling about the incident, but there was much apparent sincerity in the few words.

Scheme Felled by Police.

One of the most ingenious contrivances for taking the risk out of roulette were brought to the notice of the police of the main of the New York department when a raid was made on a rooming house in West Street.

Really, I wasn't much impressed by the English king. He seemed a pleasant, tired little man with a great burst of energy about each of the things about how to bear it. He struck me as an individual who would conscientiously do his best in any situation, but would be just as ready to give up the slightest suspicion of a punch it.

A few days after his visit to the hospital I saw in the Official London Gazette a list of names awarded the distinguished conduct medal. Officers' letters from the Canadian headquarters amplified this information, and a note from the War office informed me that the medal award had been made.

WHAT YOU PAY TAX ON? THE?

Matter That Every American is Called On to Determine Without Delay.

MARCH LIMIT FOR RETURNS

Failure to File Them Involves Severe Penalties—Taxpayers Will Be Assisted by Treasury Officials in Every County.

Washington—The time has arrived for every American subject to the income tax division of the war revenue department to file his return.

The man who thinks to evade this tax is making a serious error. Revenue officials will be in every county to check returns. Failure to make a correct return within the time specified involves heavy penalties.

Details of the gross income less certain deductions provided for by the act. The law defines income as profit, gain, wages, salary, commissions, money, or any other gain from professions, vocations, commerce, trade, rents, sales and dealings in property, real and personal, and interest on bonds and securities.

The normal rate of tax is 2 per cent on net incomes above the amount of exemptions, which is $2,000 in the case of a married person or head of a family and $1,000 in the case of a single person.

Notice of their arrival in each locality will be given in advance through the Bureau of Internal Revenue, which will be supplied with income tax forms.

The penalty for failure to make the return is a fine not less than $20 nor more than $1,000, and in addition 50 per cent of the amount of the tax due.

As to the Farmers. The number of farmers who will pay income taxes has not been estimated by the government officials, but it is estimated that the average percentage of the 4,000,000 persons assessed who never before have paid an income tax.

The farmer is making out his return much more difficult in the value of property and machinery used in the conduct of his farm.

Pilgrim Got By. A seven-year-old was asked by his teacher at a school to recite a composition upon the subject of his favorite literary hero. The youngster recited an extensive session with himself and turned out a brilliant specimen of a well-known and popular classic.

THOUSANDS OF TONS OF FOOD ARE WASTED THROUGH IMPROPER DIGESTION OF FOOD.

Many persons are using a new system of food digestion, not only because our government's food expert says that we shall conserve the food, but, also, because the high price of food stuffs compels retrenchment. They find that a little food well digested will go farther and do more good than a large quantity poorly digested.

Peppinco, this systematic method of digestion is inexpensive and can always be relied upon. It is small and powerful. One little tablet will digest an ordinary meal. Everything will be assimilated. The meal will give you strength. Your entire system will undergo a change for the better; no food will be wasted, once you start this treatment.
