

Yanks Win; Score 10-5

New York Shows Up Good In Fourth Game of the Series.

New York Yanks just out loose yesterday and walked St. Louis all over the field, and after the final score the Yanks had doubled it up 10 to 5 in their favor.

The main play of the game was three home runs by the most honorable Babe Ruth. The famous hitter knocked a couple off one pitcher.

After today's game at St. Louis the boys will journey back to New York where they will play the finals.

MAKES HIM SMILE

A good one was pulled this week when "Doc" Helter came in and paid his bill. The deal was one that caused him to smile, and as he said, "I am paying for my paper with a smiling countenance."

Elнора Taylor's Sale Still In Full Force

The closing out sale of Elнора Taylor will continue until a final disposition of the remaining stock is made. Miss Taylor has been in ill health for several months and the change in her business is necessitated by this misfortune. She is offering rather unusual values in the line of dry goods and other materials.

HAINDEL BUYS GROCERY BACK

Realizing that he had taken on more business activities than he could possibly handle, Wm. Toppiner, who recently purchased the Haindel & Son grocery store, resolved to the original owners a day or so after the original deal was made last week. Announcement of this effect appears elsewhere in this issue.

PLYMOUTH SCHOOL NEWS

LUNCH ROOM TO BE OPENED

School lunch room opens Monday, October 11. This year the girls in the advanced class of domestic science have charge of planning the menu and managing the lunch room. The menu for the following week will be published in the paper, giving the mothers a chance to help the smaller children to choose what foods they want. The menu will also be posted at school, with a slip for the students to sign up for lunch each day. These slips will be taken down each morning at the opening of school. A part, or all, of the lunch may be purchased, just as each student desires. The menu for next week, planned by Lavene Sommerlot and Margaret Blackford, follows:

- Monday—
- Creamed Potatoes 5c
- Plain Sandwich 5c
- Apple Sauce 5c
- Tuesday—
- Creamed Lima Beans 5c
- Peanut Butter Sandwich 5c
- Cocoa 5c
- Wednesday—
- Spanish Rice 5c

Plain Sandwich 5c

- Stewed Prunes 5c
- Thursday—
- Tomato Soup 5c
- Egg Sandwich 5c
- Chocolate Pudding 5c
- Friday—
- Salmon Loaf 5c
- Plain Sandwich 5c
- Jello 5c

The girls in the advanced class have made tailored wash clothes. They are now working with woolen material. The first year girls have finished their cooking outfits. The rest of this week will be devoted to cleaning the working laboratory preparatory to the opening of the lunch room.

The Home Science class has been having a general review of physiology. Health posters were made last week. The best one, made by Mildred Sheely is posted on our Home Economics Bulletin board. As new posters are made during the year, the best ones will be chosen and exhibited. All visitors, interested in the department are invited to visit us any time.

JAMES GILLESPIE DIED FRIDAY

Funeral services with Rev. W. H. Gibson in charge, were held Sunday afternoon at the Methodist church for James Gillespie, who died Friday at the Richmond county infirmary at the age of 94 years. Burial was made in Greenlawn.

James Gillespie came to this country a good many years ago with a circus. He married a young woman who lived north of Plymouth and they, for several years, resided on a farm, later moving to Plymouth. After their money was spent they made application to the Richmond county home. Mr. Gillespie died four years ago.

BAPTIST ASSOCIATION TO MEET AT PLEASANT VALLEY

The Mansfield Baptist association will meet with the Pleasant Valley church today and tomorrow. All of the churches of this district will have delegates. Several good speakers are booked to appear on the program.

CUMINGS IN ACCIDENT

State Senator Wm. R. Cumings of Elyria and his wife figured in an accident Saturday afternoon near Dover on the Cleveland-Elyria road when their machine was struck by an Interurban. Mrs. Cumings received severe injuries. She was rushed to a hospital in Elyria.

I. O. O. F. SOCIAL

Quite a treat is in store for members of Paris Lodge, No. 749 of the I. O. O. F. and their families when the lodge will entertain them on Tuesday evening, October 12. Every member is urged to be present for this occasion and to bring the family along. It is said that a very interesting program has been arranged, and that refreshments will be served.

ODDS AND ENDS TAKE UP TIME OF COUNCIL

The village council discussed miscellaneous affairs at its meeting Tuesday night for quite a lengthy period.

Hiram Beckwith's bid for the old building and lot on Wall street from the town. It is rumored that Mr. Otis Kinless is to make a carpenter shop out of the building.

Mr. Asa Brumback was chosen to succeed L. E. Buzard as chairman of the finance committee.

Harvey Burkett was appointed deputy marshal.

New sewer for draining purposes is to be installed south of the Fate-Roth-Heath company, at the end of Pine street.

The enforcement of the traffic signs was discussed by council and after a long session it was decided to issue a notice, giving the motorists until the fifteenth of October to make up their minds to observe these signs. After that date a concerted drive will be made and the violators will be halted into court.

Cong. Begg May Now Select 3 Candidates

SANDUSKY, O., October 4.—Congressman James T. Begg has received word from the Secretary of the Navy that instead of one vacancy in 1927 he will have two to fill at the Naval Academy. The second vacancy has been created by the resignation of a midshipman.

As a result instead of nominating one principal and three alternates, Mr. Begg will have the privilege of nominating two principals and six alternates. The words, eight boys in the 13th Congressional District will be nominated to the Academy and permitted to take the examination. Some may elect to try to qualify by certificates.

Representative Begg has already made arrangements with the U. S. Civil Service Commission to hold examinations for him at 8 a. m. on October 22nd in the post office building at Sandusky, Norwalk, Tiffin and Bowling Green. A letter from the Commission will admit applicants to the examination, and he invites all boys interested to compete for the nominations to be made.

NEXT T. A. OCTOBER 12

The next meeting of the Parent Teachers' Association should be of great interest to everyone. The program committee under the leadership of Miss Fish can be expected to present something worth while. Mrs. Hoffman has accepted the chairmanship of the work committee and her committee will no doubt offer a new and effective plan for the years work. The Membership Committee promises that this plan will eliminate the hard work of canvassing and solicitation and perhaps bring us to our goal of 100% membership—every father and every mother a member of the P.T.A. Come and find out what that plan is. You do not need to be a member to attend the meetings, and you do not need to be a father or mother to be a member. Let's make this a Community Organization.

Farmers, it has been found, no longer sit down to a breakfast of mush and milk, or buckwheat cakes. They are eating prepared foods.

Diamond Secured As Ladies Night Speaker

New Haven P.T.A. Greatly Enjoyed

Not only the winners but also the losers received a treat at the P. T. A. box social at New Haven last Friday evening. There were contests for men and women, boys and girls, old and young. Also music and the box social.

The social get-together was a successful affair. The first thing on the program were the contests, which certainly were well chosen by the committee in charge. The assembly hall of the High School rang with the shouts of all. After the contests the booby prizes were awarded.

Then came the music. Under the leadership of Mr. Davis the High School orchestra played several numbers. Well done, players. Also a trombone solo by Mr. Davis which was more than appreciated.

Supp. Porter sold the "ladies boxes" to the "handsomest fellows." A real treat to him. Ice cream and candy was sold to those who had not gone off in matched couples.

Surf and Mrs. H. L. Ford of Shiloh did not forget their former school that evening. They were there, to meet old friends and have a good time once more with them.

Yes, the parents and teachers were home that evening feeling that a better friendship had been made, which in every one hopes may continue thru out the school term and for years to come.

ONE PRESENT

ANNUAL CLASS REUNION AND DOLLAR DAY

The Unity class of the Lutheran church met at the church parlors yesterday for a chicken dinner special. There were fifty-five present. After the dinner a business meeting was held.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. E. W. Wetherby of Mansfield, former teacher of the class; Mrs. Jennie M. Carter of Lakewood.

Chas. G. Miller was a business visitor in Mansfield Friday.

PROPERTY TO BE SOLD

Property belonging to the Clay Trust company at Monroeville will be sold at that place on October 13, by an order from the U. S. district court. The company has been closed down for a number of years.

RECEIVES WORD OF SISTER'S DEATH

Word was received last week by Mrs. Nora Wyandt and W. F. Reed of the death of their sister, Mrs. O. R. Norton of Crescent City, Florida.

Mrs. Norton was born in Brownstown, ninety-three years ago, and has been a resident of Florida for nearly forty-five years. She and her late husband, Willis Norton, being among the northern pioneer settlers of that state.

E. E. S. Class to Meet

The E. E. S. class of the Presbyterian church will hold their October meeting at the home of Mrs. C. A. Selter, with Mrs. Harold Ruckman as assisting hostess. A good attendance is desired.

COUNTRY HOME BURNED

The country home of James Deltzer, living 3 1/2 miles west on the Smiley avenue road, burned to the ground Monday night about 9:30 o'clock. Some of the furniture was saved and much of it was consumed by the flames before it could be removed. The fire department was unable to respond as the burning house was located one mile off the pike and it would have been impossible to reach it over the muddy road.

The house is said to have caught fire in the afternoon from a stove pipe under a stairway. It was discovered at that time and was put out. The family went to bed but later Mrs. Deltzer thought she heard something cracking. She arose and upon making an investigation discovered the flames so far advanced that they had barely time to get out themselves and escape with a few clothes and a part of the furniture.—Shelby Globe.

After all it wouldn't be much of a Heaven if people who don't agree with you got there. Omaha World-Herald.

Splendid Program Now Being Planned for This Meeting; Several New Members Have Joined.

In a telephone conversation with High Diamond at Gallon Tuesday night he stated that while he and his wife were not altogether on "speaking terms" that he thought it would be possible for them both to be here on Tuesday, Oct. 19, as guests of the chamber of commerce, when this organization will feature its annual "ladies night" for this event.

High Diamond needs no introductory to the people of Plymouth, and the members are fortunate in securing him for this event.

Arrangements are being made for a six o'clock dinner after which Mr. Diamond will entertain those present with his interpretation of the Scotchman, a talk on the "Better Things of Life," and last but not least, his old time fiddle. Mr. Diamond was the recent winner of an Old Time Fiddler's contest held in this state.

Tickets for this event will be on sale this week and early reservation is desired. A committee will call on all the members, and should any member fail to secure a ticket, it may be had by notifying Mr. Carl Lofland at the Peoples National Bank.

Now the thing for the ladies to do is to begin talking "Ladies Night" so that the husband or sweetheart will not forget this important date.

Several new members are in view and already new ones have been added to the list. If you are not a member now, join at once for half price.

Two Men Suffocated

Elmer Brandt, 60 and Fred Glenn, 18, both of Jeromeville, were suffocated to death Saturday morning as a result of inhaling carbon-monoxide fumes in a mine. They were killed when a cave-in occurred. They were rescued before he was overcome.

DELEGATES AT ASHLAND

Four delegates from the local Presbyterian Church will attend the Young People's Conference at Dayton Ohio, on October 25-27. A special car will be chartered for delegates attending the Conference from Ashland and Richland Counties. All delegates should send in their application and registration fee of $2, before the 15th. A great feast of good things is in store for the delegates. Mr. J. W. Miller one of the leaders of Y. P. work in District number one will accompany the delegation. Every co-operating church should be represented. "Let's go."

YOUNG SON DIES

Louis Earl West, age 4, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl West, died at the parents' home on South Bell street, Monday morning at 5:45, death being due to convulsions of the bowels. The little had been in ill health for some time, and his death brought much sorrow to the immediate family and his playmates.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the home with Rev. A. M. Himes pastor at the Lutheran church in charge. Burial was made in Greenlawn, with Postle in charge of arrangements.

Baby Clinic Is Postponed Until Tuesday, Oct. 19

The regular bi-monthly Baby Clinic which was to have been held Tuesday was postponed, it being impossible for Dr. Shaffer and Miss Kern to be present. However, the next clinic will be held Tuesday, Oct. 19th at 2 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms and all mothers interested are requested to be on hand at that time.

HIGH WATER AT MARSH RUN

The highest water mark in years was reached Tuesday afternoon when the black 1922 spread out against the 200 foot crest at Marsh Run Bridge on the Shelby-Plymouth road. The little stream was transformed into the appearance of the Ohio river, and caused much comment by passing motorists.

Corinne Griffith To Have the Part of An Emotional Artist

For several years picture fans who order have paid homage to the beauty and natural poise of Corinne Griffith. Recently with the release of "Classified" and "Mile. Modiste" the several million Corinne Griffith fans recognized in their favorite a comeliness of rare ability. But in "Into Her Kingdom," Miss Griffith's latest First National picture, coming to the Opera House Sunday, 7:30 and 9:00, picture devotees, it is said, will witness a memorable dramatic performance by a truly great emotional artist.

It is declared that Corinne Griffith has never had a better dramatic vehicle. Nor has she previously had a role which demanded so much real talent as that of the Grand Duchess Tatiana, second daughter of the former czar.

"Into Her Kingdom" is an adaptation of a 10,000 word magazine story from the pen of Ruth Comfort Mitchell. Directed by Svend Gade, noted Danish director, with typical European care and sympathy, "Into Her Kingdom" deals with Russia before the days of the Bolshevik revolution and carries on through the horrors and the fickleness of that bloody era to a robusce hour of suffering and sacrifice, in America.

Einar Hakson, a handsome, very likeable young fellow, fresh from six years of triumph on the European screen and stage, is cast as Stephen, a peasant who becomes husband to the Grand Duchess. His American debut promises to make him popular with all who admire good acting and good looks. Claude Gillingsworth is cast as Ivan, tutor to both Stephen and Tatiana in their youth, and advisor in their difficulties as husband and wife.

George L. Arthur Has Leading Role in Comedy "The Boob"

A picture of youth that will delight old as well as young is the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production "The Boob," directed by William A. Wellman, which is coming to the Castamba Friday, 7:00 and 8:30.

It is heralded as one of the real comedy-dramas of the year, haying for its theme the story of a youth who goes into the world to remedy its ills. George K. Arthur is playing a leading comedy role and Gertrude Olmsted and Joan Crawford appear as the feminine leads. Charlie Murray, is also featured and has not a little to do with the many hilarious situations. Antonio D'Alay and Hank Mann complete the cast.

"The Boob" is Wellman's first production in which he is directing. It was adapted from the screen by Kenneth Clarke from the story "Don Zouze, Jr.," by George Scarborough and Annette Westbay.

Mrs. Viola Fisher of Willard spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ehlinger.

The New Haven P. T. A. want to thank all those who helped in any way to make the Box Social of October, a success, regardless of unfavorable weather conditions. It seemed that everybody came to have a good time, and did not go away disappointed.

Mr. Davis, the orchestra leader, could not be absent. The program planned so the early part of the evening was spent in contests, which caused a great deal of excitement. The numbers played by the orchestra and the solo by Mr. Davis were enjoyed by all. With this year's splendid force of teachers, we need only to put our shoulders together, work and cooperate with them to have a most successful year.

Girl Scout News

The regular meeting of Plymouth troop was held Friday evening to 7:30 p.m. with seventeen present. Four of these were new members, Helen Colyer, Helen Williams, Etile Downs and Madeline McQuon.

A motion was made to send $5.00 to headquarters as a donation to their expenses. It was also decided at this meeting to change the time of meeting as it will be more convenient.

During the formation Scout Rosemary Bachrach was presented with her second class badge and also with merit badges for hostess, pathfinder, first aid, health-winner and citizen.

Scout Lois Zeale has passed her tenderfoot test, making seventeen in all who have completed this part of the work.

After the formation the rest of the evening was spent in playing games and having a good time generally.

I will be glad to talk to any girl between the ages of ten and eighteen who cares to take up scouting and can promise them both pleasure and profit in the work.

The Funny Bone

Anybody who ever lived on a farm will wonder how Noah ever got two pigs into the ark.

Why School Teachers Go Crazy
Teacher: "What is a Plymouth Rock hen?"
Pupil: "One that lays hard-boiled eggs."

Teacher: "What is a guitar?"
Pupil: "A disease of the head."

Teacher: "Who is Homer?"
Pupil: "The guy Babe Ruth made famous."

Teacher: "What is a grass widow?"
Pupil: "The wife of a dead vegetarian."

Teacher: "What is a polse?"
Pupil: "It's the way a Dutchman says boys."

Nothing seems very funny at six o'clock in the morning. Have you ever noticed that?

Bill: "What're you doin' now, Jim?"
Jim: "Runnin' a tractor plow fer ol' Joe Higgins."

Bill: "What does he pay you?"
Jim: "Thirty dollars a month."

Bill: "Pretty darned poor pay."
Jim: "Well, I'm doin' some pretty darned poor plowin'."

First Nut: "Had your iron today?"
Second Nut: "Yes, I chew nails."

Two men who had married about the same time met after some months. One asked the other how he liked married life.

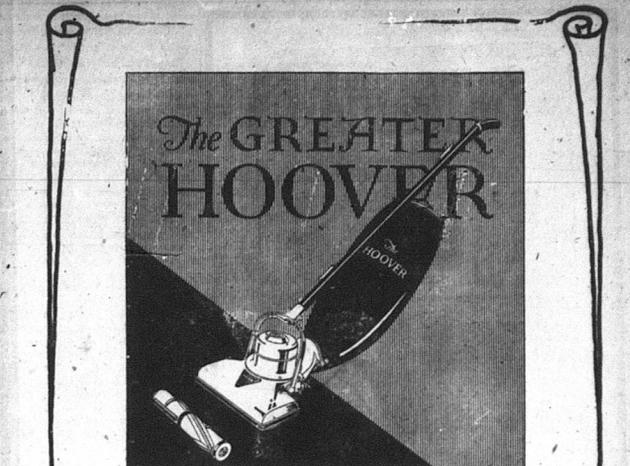

"Fine," was the reply. "My wife's an angel!"

Said the other: "You always did get all the luck. I've still got mine."

We heard a lady say the other day that Plymouth is the hardest town she ever saw to get acquainted in. And then we heard another one say it was the easiest. Now which is right?

Mother: "Your face is clean but how did you get your hands so dirty?"
Small Son: "Washin' my face."

Samantha saysed like people, but it takes a most understanding person to make a better freude companion than a good book.

Have you seen The GREATER HOOVER?

Those who have seen this triumph of the world's oldest and largest maker of electric cleaners are simply speechless when they try to put their thoughts into words.

Those who have had rugs cleaned by the greater Hoover—who have proved that it actually removes, in the same cleaning time, twice as much dirt as The Hoover they knew before—are loud in their praises.

An Unprecedented Accomplishment!

Nothing like the greater Hoover has ever been thought of before. Its revolutionary principle, "Positive Agitation," is an achievement that is years ahead of its time!

Don't be forced to admit that you haven't seen this new Hoover. Stop in our store today and let us show you this beautiful new cleaner and explain the principle of "Positive Agitation." See The Greater Hoover Today! If you can't get in, phone us and we'll arrange to clean one of your rugs in your home, free. We'll be under no obligation whatever. We simply want everyone to see the greater Hoover.

Everything about it is new. Even the "best" features of the previous model were not "good enough." Here is a cleaner that's a real joy to use and a source of pride to own. It's the cleaner you'll buy—when the time comes. See the greater Hoover today!

CLIP RECORD AIMS IN SELECTING RAM

Investigate the shearing record of the immediate ancestry of any ram you may buy, advised L. A. Kaufman, animal husbandry specialist at Ohio State University, in describing the characteristics of Merino rams. "If they are low do not consider an individual."

"A fleece that is all one grade is most desirable, but one of the hardest qualities to secure in a ram. The fleece will often be fine on the shoulder or side but get coarse over the neck, rump and thighs. The belly and legs should be well covered with wool that is about the same length and quality as that on other parts of the sheep."

"Experimental work Mr. Kaufman says, has proved that the sorting of the fleece has no connection with the weight or density of the fleece. The belly and legs covering influences this to a much greater degree. The wool should extend to the ears or slightly beyond. Two-thirds of the tip of the nose is usually obtained at the expense of the wool on the head and neck. The oil or yolk in the fleece is a protection to the fiber. It forms a coating and keeps it from drying out, also keeping out excess moisture."

are likely to develop into rump later on. Avoid letting the flock out in the cold fall rains when possible.

"The epidemic of roup in Ohio poultry flocks last fall and winter," Mr. Vickers recalls, "was due to fall colds, many of them contracted by flocks that were permitted to roost on the trees in cold rains."

Says Sam Curtis may have thrills, but none can compare with a boy's thrill at first day as plowman.

"Not a dollar sent to the Near East has gone for naught," G. S. Vickers, extension theorist in poultry at the Ohio State University observes, "often causes them to stop laying because of the excitement." Flocks that were moved late in the season to go into a molt that lasted several months.

"It is essential for protection against disease to clean and disinfect the pens thoroughly before the pullets are moved in. To move hens infested with lice into a clean house is to invite disaster. Use sodium fluoride or grease them with blue ointment."

"Drafts are easily eliminated, especially over the roosts, at the same time the house is cleaned and disinfected. This will prevent many fall colds that Burgett, who leaves soon to make her future home in Elvira where Mr. Burgett is employed at the Foundry.

The evening was enjoyed in playing cards and a social time followed. Late in the evening, a charmingly appointed luncheon was served and at its conclusion Mrs. Burgett was presented with a lovely gift, a token of their friendship and high regard in which she is held by her friends.

There were 37 guests present, the out-of-town guests being Mrs. Dale Southard of Willard and son Jimmie and Mrs. Harry Millon of Shelby.

After receiving the best wishes of her numerous friends, her guests departed for their various homes.

ST. JOSEPH'S MISSION

The closing of the Forty hours Devotion at St. Joseph's Catholic church Tuesday evening was very inspiring and edifying. The very able pastor, Rev. Father W. J. Moran was assisted by the Rev. Father Williams of Adrian, Ohio. A large gathering of people were at each service, which consisted of instructive sermons, Rasory and Benediction. The interior of the church has been redecorated, the sanctuary recarpeted. Much credit is due Mrs. Doran and the other members of the Altar society for this work.

Additional Shiloh KILL THE CORN BORER

The European corn borer is a serious menace. It is particularly hard to destroy the insect because of its feeding habits. Poisons and other ordinary means of killing plant pests are ineffective because the corn borer feeds within the corn plant.

One of the most effective means thus far discovered of controlling the spread of the corn borer is to destroy the corn stalks and those of other plants in which the borers hibernated before emerging in the spring as moths. It is very necessary, however, to cut the stalks as close to the ground as possible, for it has been determined that as cool fall weather sets in the borers travel downward in the stalks. It is necessary also to cut the stalks as early as possible in order to capture most of the borers in the cut stalks and then kill them by ensilaging. Tests show that when corn is cut 3 inches above the ground on September 10 only 2.3 per cent of corn borers are left behind; with the same height this figure increases to 4 per cent when cut October 1 and to 10 per cent when cut November 3.

In order to enable farmers to cut their corn close to the ground in the terminal, Harvesting Company has developed a low-cut attachment for its McCormick and Deering types of corn binders. Owing to the difference in the construction of the two machines, the method of lowering the knives for low cutting is different. With the McCormick machine the cutting mechanism "floats" over the surface of the ground, while with the Deering the knives are placed lower by means of a special device and the height at which they cut is regulated by lowering the binder in the usual way.

The Company has also designed a stubble pulverizer for destroying borers remaining in the stubble after the corn is cut and to demolish every possible hibernating place for the pests.

MR. KIPLING AGAIN

Rudyard Kipling, regarded by some critics as a bright literary light and by others as one not so bright, has broken out into verse again. What ever one may think of Rudyard's ability as a rhymester and literary man there can be no question, judging from some of his latest work that he is a little weak on logic. Among other things, in his latest volume, Mr. Kipling evoked a little poem entitled "The Vineyard." In his poem, according to the critics, he has taken Uncle Sam to task for his conduct in the aftermath of the World War. The poem is very properly enclosed in a volume entitled "Debits and Credits." The rhyme about the vineyard starts off as follows: At the eleventh hour he came, But his wages were the same As ours who all day long had toiled, The winnress of the wrath of God. Since his back had felt no load, Virtue in him still abode. So he rightly made his own, These spoils we had not won.

This is supposed to refer to the part of Uncle Sam in the war. It seems to suggest that he came in late then grabbed off all the plunder without making any sacrifice of his own. This may be all right in poetry, if you have enough poetic license to put it over, but we fail to get the logic of it. Will somebody please have Mr. Kipling or some of his friends in this country tell us about the wages Uncle Sam received? Up to this time it would seem that he has been paid mostly in ingratitude. And the load he has borne and will bear includes not only the killed and wounded, but about fifty or so billions of dollars that it will cost him before the war expense has been entirely liquidated.

It is to be admitted that there probably wouldn't have been any spoils won had not Uncle Sam gone into the game; but just when did he make those spoils his own?

A careful inventory of his pockets fails to discover any reparations, any Alacaz-Lorraines, any Asla Minors flying with oil and honey, any territory in Africa or among the isles of the Pacific.

If Uncle Sam took over the spoils, he is holding out on his boys and girls, and we are entitled to know about it.

NATIONAL BROADCASTING

The long-expected has happened. The National Radio Broadcasting Company has been organized, according to an announcement by the Radio Corporation of America, in order to provide the best possible programs for all parts of the United States.

Most reliable statistics indicate that 5,000,000 homes are now equipped with radio sets, and 21,000,000 homes remain yet to be supplied. Recalling sets of the best quality, and adequate broadcasting made available for all, is the objective of the new organization—the best service and the best sets brought within the reach of all, and free from monopoly or discrimination.

It is a dream, but the same dream seems to be realized by other forms of electrical service, such as lighting, telephones, etc.

Three of the biggest radio and electrical organization geniuses head the National Broadcasting Company, Inc., which invites competing manufacturers of radio equipment to make use of its facilities for rendering better broadcasting service to the public.

WHY THIS SOLICITUDE

A writer in an advertisement publication says that a large mail order house is trying to find out why the farm products which net the man who raises them little or no profit, are sold to the ultimate consumer at prices which are prohibitive.

He goes on to say that this investigation may disclose the fact that the retail grocer, who is in the small town insists that he is the true friend of the farmer and in the city poses as the friend of the consumer, may be shown up in further unfavorable light. But the mail order house will not lose any sleep if that happens, he continues. The retailer is no friend of theirs.

But did it ever occur to the mail order house, whose defender is blantly honest about the mail order house attitude towards the retailer, that if it were not for the retailer there would likely not be any prosperous communities from which the mail order houses could take their pound of flesh?

People gather in towns and small cities such as ours, build what we call houses and churches and the other adjuncts of community life, if there were homes and dwell together in peace and harmony. Each man has his part in the community life. Some are retailers, some are professional men, some till the soil and others work at trades.

Certainly people would not establish homes, build streets and school houses and churches and the other adjuncts of community life, if there were not some retailers to supply their daily wants.

They could not depend on mail order houses in far distant cities that pose as friends of the people, yet exact a toll that yields immense profits for their stockholders.

Retailers are as necessary in community life as any other body of citizens and they know that the mail order houses, which beguile their customers with fine descriptions and misleading statements regarding articles are no friends of theirs, either are they friends of the people to whom they sell their goods.

The retailer is accountable to the people who trade with him. He is at the same stand every day and if his customers feel that they have not had fair treatment as to price or quality, they know where to make complaint. He is interested in every article that is for the best interests of the community. He pays taxes and helps support the churches, schools, public improvements and every other worthwhile enterprise.

The mail order house, which has taken such a concern in the welfare of the farmer, has no interest in this community or any other, aside from how much revenue it will produce. The mail order house does not pay a cent towards educating our children, building our streets or public buildings; in fact, contributes nothing to the community.

They take money from the community and add nothing in return. Their solicitude for the farmer is almost pathetic. It must be that business is not so good—else why this sudden interest in the source of big profits.—Tiro World.

GREAT DAYS AHEAD

Those who seek the easy existence of perpetual summer are welcome thereto. For the other the physical luxury and mental lethargy of lazy days and jolly eating are nothing compared with the pleasures, anticipations and vigor derived from the infinite variety of the temperate zone where weather is weather, not climate, and nature in the course of a year can play her entire repertoire.

There are romance and an intangible solace for the "bigger than weather" in gray days and frosty nights and the human frame seems to take new strength and life from the beating snow and biting cold. Man's spirit flourishes on combat and resistance. It is the long winter night that puts iron back into northern souls and rescues them from the appalling possibilities of eternal summer.

It is only during this period of incidence that the dweller in the temperate zone sighs that the year of a single season and dreads the approach of the argnet frost, the bleak winds of winter, the drifting snow and the ice-covered rivers. But when the first blast of winter straightens his shoulders, sends the warm blood coursing through his body and quickens his pace, memories of the summer sun vanish before anticipations of snug overcoats, blazing hearths, sound slumber under cozy comforts, roast turkey, pumpkin pies whole evenings for the reading of a good book, and the contentment.

Fuel bills and shortage, anti-freeze concoctions, snow-covered works, stalled automobiles and uncertain conditions overhead and underfoot are surely more than compensated for by the many blessings the temperate zone holds for its children.—Mansfield Journal.

The Office of the League of Women Voters says they are pleased with the size of the recent primary vote. Probably because it was so fashionably slender.

The Public Forum

Opinions expressed under this heading are those of the contributors, not of The Advertiser.

In respect to what was in the Advertiser a couple of weeks ago about so much literature in the form of Catalogues coming to this town, is, for one reason the public know that Montgomery Ward & Co. is a company that can be depended on.

If this town had had some different officials on the board of council some years ago Plymouth might have been manufacturing some of the articles that Montgomery Ward & Co. is selling. Plymouth would be like a baby yet and rocked until the town council changes its views and apply it brains and mouth (Plymouth) in harder fight so we can have knitting and brush factories, etc.

Other towns are growing cities and now are gaining on the business that is coming to them.

Another thing is, we can go into some of the stores of this town, that there is a cold. A table makes one feel as if your room is more comfortable than the cash or customer, so why can a person feel a bounded duty to tie at home trade? A SUBSCRIBER

HERE'S ONE REASON

In a recent issue of the Advertiser the writer noticed a reply to the article in response to people patronizing mail order houses. In reply I will say what else is a person to do when your own merchants pay no attention to the needs of the customer, a merchant in Plymouth asking him the price of a certain article that I needed. It was impossible for me to come to Plymouth and I used that way of finding out, enclosing a return card and envelope. I waited a month for a reply, but a received none. Then I wrote to a mail order house and in a week's time received an answer to my letter, also a catalogue with the price of the article quoted. I am still waiting to hear from my letter to the Plymouth merchant. That is my reason for patronizing the mail order houses. A SUBSCRIBER on roadsters, scuff plates, nickelled steering columns and brackets, nickelled control levers and baskets, gear shift knob and horn button. Dash gauges, gauges, dash temperature indicators and windshield wipers are standard on the 128 inch chassis models.

1925 TIMOTHY SEED DOES NOT GROW WELL

Timothy seed of this year's harvest is making a very poor showing in germination tests at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station. An average of only 43 percent of the seeds in sample thus far tested have sprouted, the samples ranging from 30 to 90 percent. The quality of the 1925 seed is far lower than that of the 1925 seed the sample of which are averaging 95 percent.

Much of the seed of this year's crop is small, discolored, and moldy or molds readily in the germinator or in the ground.

As timothy seed does not lose its viability for several years it would seem advisable for those who have a supply of last year's seed to sow it in preference to this year's seed. If this year's seed is sown it will be necessary in many cases to increase the rate of seeding to insure a good stand. With the poorer quality seed it would be necessary to double or even treble the usual amount of seed per acre.

Automobile Association To Ask Drivers to Show Consideration to Others

"With the increase in speed range of many makes of automobiles today creating a demand for headlights of greater volume, the hazards of night driving have grown to such an extent as to present a problem that is in need of solution, said Charles C. Jones, Secretary of the Ohio State Automobile Association in discussing many phases of present day motoring.

"The time may come when the main highways of the country may be illuminated in such a way that will make driving a night more pleasant but until such a time as this does become a realization, the exercise of common courtesy among motorists will go a long way toward eliminating many of the dangers that now exist in both day and night driving. This courtesy should be extended both with respect to headlights and many other features of motoring, and through its practice the motorist will promote his own safety and comfort.

USE, DON'T HOARD

Declaring that conservation of our timber resources means their wise use, not hoarding, A. L. Osborn, a director of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, recently said: "There are those who, had they the power, would prevent the cutting of any timber whatever. Idle acres will never be set at work. If after the care and expense of bringing trees to maturity, reward through cutting and realization is denied the owner, the same and economic plan to secure more forests, is to make it profitable to grow and harvest trees. Conservation of our forest growth means not hoarding, but its wise use."

Buick Open Cars Designed According to the Demand

Buick open cars for 1927 were designed, according to Buick engineers for the growing class of buyers who prefer a lowered top when the weather permits. There are four sport open cars in the new line now introduced, roadster and touring models being built on 114 1/2 and 128 inch chassis.

These cars are all finished in two-tone Duco and are upholstered in Spanish leather. They conform to the popular European trend, folding into a small, flat package. When raised and the side curtains unfurled, they are weather-tight and full-ventilated, due to side curtains of new design. The window frames are of heavy pyralin, there being but one large light in each curtain. A new method of sealing the compartments against wind and rain has been worked out. The tops and curtains are water-proof fabric. The body is of integral wood, and all braces are nickel plated.

Compartments are furnished for the side curtains, which are in a new model. The upholstery is applied smoothly instead of in the usual pleated fashion. The 114 1/2 inch chassis models are finished in cream and Patrol green Duco, with red striping and natural wood wheels. The 128 inch models are finished in cream and courses brown Duco. Striping and wheels are the same as on the other sport cars. Tires and rims are jet black. Wire or disc wheels are optional.

The dicky seats in the roadsters project only slightly above the deck so that passengers sit in a low, comfortable position. There are doors in the sides of the decks for golf clubs and small packages. The hinges of the decks are finished throughout. All of these cars are designated as Deluxe models, and carry the new Buick radiator cap design throughout. The roadster rear decks are high and give a pleasing streamline effect. The decks are finished above when viewed from the rear, avoiding the usual dummy appearance of the roadster type. These open cars, Buick engineers claim, will go as fast as anyone cares to drive, at a comfortable 75 miles an hour. There is no vibration periods, due to the counter-balanced crankshaft and torsion balance, the light pistons and heavy flywheel. Exceptional silence is claimed for these cars, because of the new engine design, a silent transmission, rubber inserts which insulate the engine from the frame at suspension points and a new exhaust and muffler system. Oil need be completely changed only four times a year through a vacuum ventilator which prevents crankcase dilution, and an oil filter and oil cleaner which keep all dirt and abrasive material out of the oil. The thermostat water control aids in preventing fluctuation by keeping the water warm in cold weather and making excessive use of the choke unnecessary. A gasoline strainer is also provided. Included as standard equipment are automatic windshield wipers, rear vision mirrors, polished aluminum steps

Interesting News From Shiloh

PAGEANT
As a part of the activities of Harvest Home Sunday and Rally Day at the Lutheran church last Sunday was the presentation of a very interesting and well rendered pageant entitled, "The Cross in the Midst of the Year." Margaret Bushy in the role of Autumn, summoned the various characters by names significant of their message, each bringing also a gift appropriate to their name that it might be placed at the foot of the cross, with Elizabeth Black as "Asterisks" giving the final touch and placing the wreath of laurel over all the consecrated gifts. Those who participated in addition to those already named were: Geneva McClellan, Margaret Swartz, Fanchon Rader, Fern Pitner, Mildred Mellick, Lucille Noble

Margaret Harnley, Dorothy Pick, Thelma Moser, Greta Russell and Betty Kinseel.

Looking at them one way skirts are longer, while from the front they continue the brief tale of chic. The tulle edge is new and hides nothing of interest, for according to the smart code one can show as much of the leg as one likes, but lingerie must be kept under cover. For the Autumn Paris is making these charming frocks in tulle or radium combined with tulle in Georgette in two colors & two shades. The bouffant skirt is straight and the basque with its drop shoulder is illegally Victorian, for the Good Queen under her porpkie hat would never have lent her name to the frock of the Charleston flapper of today.

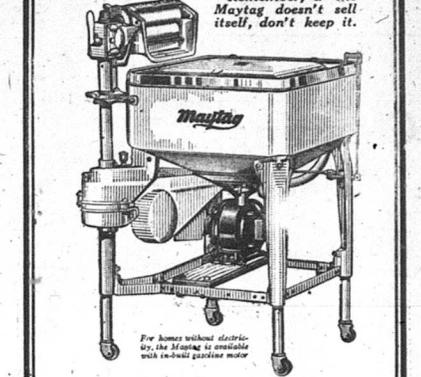

MUNICIPAL ELECTRIC SYSTEMS CHANGING

According to Cleveland newspapers Powell Wright, Director of Public Utilities, urges that Cleveland give currency for its municipal electric light plant from a modern superpower system. Mr. Wright declared the time has come when the municipal light plant can cease to exist, because the large systems can produce cheaper power. He referred to the fact that the new plant of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company can produce one kilowatt hour of electricity from one and one-half pounds of coal compared with 1.87 pounds of the city plant.

WHO SAID OIL SHORTAGE?

Mining experts estimate that only from one-third to one-ninth of the oil in the ground is extracted from even the best pools, under the present system of oil pumping; the remainder stays where it is. The young man who laments that there isn't anything valuable left to discover can consider this oil residue. It might make as many billions as there are states in the Union.

Oil companies have already done wonders, in procuring constantly increasing amounts of gasoline out of every barrel of crude oil.

Ohio ranks among the ten highest states in 27 of the nation's major agricultural products.

WONDERFUL!

Are Your Opportunities

Many people of this and surrounding counties have found that by consulting Mr. L. Wolsworth who is now permanently located in Shelby, that opportunities for being relieved from suffering and pain were at hand, and if you are suffering from rheumatism, neuritis, chronic intestinal disorders, backache, nervousness, gastric troubles, lung, liver, heart or bowel trouble, relief may be at hand.

Many suffering from crippled arms or legs, the result of injury or paralysis have regained the use of them, still and this is proven by the following contributions we have received recently. Mrs. Wm. Caldwell sent in a nice basket of lima beans; Mr. H. P. Ford of Attica, a bag of flour; Mr. G. W. Page, apples; Mr. E. E. Traug, a beautiful array of shallots, and Saturday afternoon Paul Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Snyder brought us in a couple of nice melons. Folks we heartily enjoyed these remembrances and we take this method of thanking each of you.

Won't be but a few more weeks before we'll have to face the question of pure water again. Unless the voters of Plymouth agree on the matter it's possible the state board of health will help us.

One farmer says that the recent rains were badly needed as the ground in this section hadn't been thoroughly wet in five years. Well, all we've got to say is that we'd hate to see a rainy season.

Motorsists should heed the slow warnings at the school buildings here. Let's protect the lives of our young people, even tho they are sometimes careless in crossing the road.

Whenever you have "company" that's a NEWS item and we'd appreciate very much if you would let us know about it. The little news notes help considerably in making a paper "like a letter from home." Just call or drop us a line whenever you have any news.

We dropped in on our friends J. C. Brewbaker down at Ed. Curpen's jewelry store Saturday night and enjoyed a nice little chat. Mr. Brewbaker is enjoying the best of health and is able to cheer your heart by his smile.

A new high school for Plymouth in 1927 that's our slogan and we're willing to pull teeth and toe nail to get it. Now is the time to begin organization of the voters and be ready when the time comes.

The games Saturday and Sunday at New York are said to be the best of any witnessed in several years—clean, fast and interesting in every respect. 61,000 people saw the game Saturday and 64,000 Sunday, which goes to prove that this form of sport is holding its own.

BAKE SALE

WOMAN SUFFERED SEVERE BURNS ON ARMS AND FACE

Severe burns about the face and arms of Mrs. Charlotte Mumaw and quite a bit of excitement were the results of a gasoline explosion which occurred Saturday afternoon at her home on Sandusky street. Mrs. Mumaw was dry cleaning a dress near a stove that had one burner lighted, and it is supposed that the intense vapor caused the gasoline to ignite severely burning her arms. Neighbors hearing the screams of her little children were quickly attracted to the scene and through the work of several men the flames were quickly extinguished before much damage was incurred.

Medical aid was given Mrs. Mumaw but it will be several days before she will have the use of her hands.

Birthday And Wedding Anniversary

A most enjoyable occasion was the reunion of several families of old friends and relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Walte on West Broadway Sunday, October 3. This occasion celebrated the birthdays of Mrs. Elmer Rogers and Mrs. O. A. Walte. Also the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Sherman of Cleveland.

Many beautiful gifts were given them. The birthday cake was brought from Cleveland and was only one of the many delectable features of the buffet dinner and supper served.

Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Sherman of Cleveland; Mr. Bernard Drake of Cleveland; Mr. Ronald Scobey of Oberlin; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beelman of Willard; Mr. and Mrs. Will Trimmer and daughter Grace; Mrs. Ladocka Walte and Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Walte and son Verne.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Bails Kennedy on 8 1-4 pound boy, Tuesday, Sept. 28, named James Bails.

Married at the home of the bride's mother in Monroe township by Rev. Franklin Eddy, on October 12, 1876, Mr. James O. Coe and Miss Fannie Reed, both of the vicinity of Perryville.

In celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary, the many friends of Plymouth and vicinity extend to Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Coe heartiest congratulations.

Young Men Go to Florida

Royal Trauger, Howell Frone and Charles Blosser left last week for a tour through Florida. It is the intention of the trio to locate in the southern state for the winter. They will no doubt see many interesting scenes of the recent devastation caused by the tropical hurricane in the state.

BOX RENT GOES UP

Post office box rentals have been increased at the post office in Norwalk on an order from the department at Washington. The advance has been made to conform with the increased expenses of the department brought about by advances in wages and other items.

KLANSMEN AMBUSHED

Five hundred klansmen were ambushed Saturday morning and sprayed with gun shots and rifle bullets as they fled from a field where a meeting had just been concluded near Groton, Mass. Automobile tires were punctured and windshields broken, but not a man suffered injury. Roads from the field were blocked by felled trees. The shooting threw the whole town into a frenzy.

Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Willett and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Brown entertained at a chicken dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Blanchard and daughters, Marion and Gertrude of Willard, Mrs. Stella Barr, son and daughter, of Ashland, Mrs. Della Brumback and son LeRoy, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brumback and daughter, Mrs. Dora Willett, and daughter Josephine.

ROAD LEVY HELPFUL

County Commissioner's Homer Fish and W. N. Keesy, who have been in office about six years, recently have signed their first county road bonds. For five years and up till 1923, Huron county financed its road operations through the two mill levy, which was eventually thrown out through action at the polls. That the county would save many thousands of dollars in interest by improving its roads through a road tax levy is the opinion of many students of county financial conditions. The two mill levy was in effect five years. It is significant that when the two mill levy was defeated, all the municipalities of the county or at least nearly all voted in favor of the levy despite the fact that the money was to have been spent on rural county road work.

Montgomery county has 75 of the 255 entries in the 100-bushel corn growing contest this fall.

SNAKES INVADE SANDUSKY HOMES

SANDUSKY, Oct. 5.—That grand old institution known as Washday met with considerable interference Monday morning when the good housewives of the Sycamore Line district found their front and back yards overrun with snakes.

Water snakes, garter snakes and timber snakes by the dozens, said to frequent a swampy section of land on Sycamore Line between Garfield-ey and the Cove, invaded the usually peaceful precincts of the Sycamore-Line residents. The invasion, it seems occurred just about the time that the housewives were hanging out the family wash.

One woman, with one end of a clothesline, reached down for another clothes pin, only to discover a "big snake" crawling between her feet. There was scream and a hasty retreat by the lady, who left the wash behind in her flight. Another woman killed six snakes with a clothes line prop. Others entered the snake-hunt armed with brooms, clubs and shovels. All told, something like 25 snakes dispatched either by the housewives or by men attracted to the scene, when feminine screams began piercing the air.

After the snakes had either been killed or driven away, work of hanging out the wash was resumed. But the women of the district say it was the most exciting Monday morning they have had since washing machines supplanted scrubbing boards. Reflector-Herald.
