

A Tour Abroad

ENGLAND

"I am supporting a wife and three children on two pounds and three shillings ($10.50 a week)," volunteered the conductor on the bus that carried me from my London hotel to the Liverpool Street Station where I took a train for Harwich. London's streets are so narrow and crooked that buses are used in the place of trolley cars, although London uses trolleys in a limited way, many of them being a part of one of the finest subway systems in the world. The bus conductor was a man of intelligence and evidently a man of some education and ability. England has had rigid compulsory laws for more than half a century and the standard of intelligence is high, even among the laboring classes. There was a tone of bitterness in the man's voice. In America his potential earning capacity would have been around $200 per month. "Bread is 4 cents a loaf and an ordinary cut of meat sells for 30 cents per pound," he continued. "I am finding it hard to make ends meet. What is the trouble, you ask? The meat and bread trusts are responsible. Trusts originated in your country, then spread over to England and now the capital of the trusts is British and American. In America where wages are high and employment is steady your laboring classes do not feel the heavy hand of the monopolies, but over here we feel keenly the pinch of poverty. I do not know where it will end. Here again I missed a feeling of resentment toward America. There was an element of truth in what he said. America is on the highest plane of living the world has ever known. The wants of the people are stupendous, and industry is working to capacity to supply these wants. The workers are sharing in the returns from industry and this consumption is maintained on a level equal to production. It is a never ending cycle of prosperity.

Alcohol is King

Our economic condition contrasts so sharply with England's that it cuts deeply into the English soul. There is no share-cropper system in England and land tenancy is confined to a few large estates. Agricultural depression has dealt the English field laborer a heavy blow. For ten hours work he receives 30 shillings or $7.50 per week. Out of this meager wage he pays from $1.25 to $1.50 per week for the little four-room thatched-roof, stone-flagged cottage he occupies. His non-day meal consists of barley bread, a slice of cold mutton or beef, potatoes and a half pint of milk and coffee. His lunch usually is eaten in the field. His apparel consists of a blue cap, a blouse that hangs loosely around his waist, coarse trousers, heavy boots and sometimes wooden shoes. His only diversion is the bottle of ale he drinks with his evening meal. He does not move with the energy and spirit of the American field laborer and herein perhaps lies one of England's most serious agricultural or maybe in a general sense, economic ills. The nation's annual drink bill is three million dollars more than the interest on its public debt. It is a nation of steady drinkers. The most prominent and expensive spaces are used for ale and whiskey advertisements. Alcohol is king—it has its seat at the head of the table. In small-town inns I have seen skilled artisans assemble night after night and drink themselves into a stupor. I have seen laborers leave the fields at 10 o'clock in the morning gup down a bottle of ale or beer and return to their work. Efficiency as well as alcohol mix well as oil and water. America may be wet but the excessive drinker does not last long at the work bench.

A Sign of Social Unrest

Near the center of London facing the hotel at which I stopped is a ten-acre park. Its grounds are private, surrounded by its half circles are rows of middle-class apartment houses. The park and houses belong to an English nobleman and the park is for the exclusive use of the apartment dwellers, each of whom has a private key to the massive iron gates. A row of the grounds and thought of the thousands of poor children within a mile radius of who were denied admission to the premises a typical Englishman of the middle or laboring classes approached and stopped at a

Waltonians Enjoyed Meeting Held Friday

Rabbit Supper Was Feature of the Evening; National Speaker Gave Address.

Last Friday evening proved a most enjoyable one for the local Waltonians and friends when they gathered in the Chamber of Commerce rooms where they were served a delicious rabbit supper. Music was furnished by the Presbyterian orchestra and the program rendered was thoroughly enjoyed.

The committee that had charge of furnishing the rabbits was present and through efforts of several members of the league the required number of "bunnies" were secured for the event. It is said that had the Waltonians depended alone on the committee the supper would not have been served as two of the committee members bagged only two rabbits. There is much that could be said about this rabbit supper, for indeed it was not of milk and coffee. The lunch usually is eaten in the field. His apparel consists of a blue cap, a blouse that hangs loosely around his waist, coarse trousers, heavy boots and sometimes wooden shoes. His only diversion is the bottle of ale he drinks with his evening meal. He does not move with the energy and spirit of the American field laborer and herein perhaps lies one of England's most serious agricultural or maybe in a general sense, economic ills. The nation's annual drink bill is three million dollars more than the interest on its public debt. It is a nation of steady drinkers. America may be wet but the excessive drinker does not last long at the work bench.

Well, we'll get on down the line and tell you the things that took place after the dinner. Mr. E. E. Balduf took charge of the singing and under his leadership several selections were rendered that sounded real melodious. Only on one number did they lose the chord, and someone with a clear head and through quick thinking grabbed the left hind foot of a rabbit and began the chanting of a magic word, and immediately the "lost chord" was found. Really, the evening was one that will long be remembered by those present and it can truly be said that we hope to have the pleasure of attending a supper of this nature next year.

Rev. J. W. Miller national speaker for the Waltonians gave a short and instructive talk that appealed to the members.

MORE TO COME

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

The W. M. S. of the Presbyterian Church will meet Friday, 2:30 p.m. in the parlors of the Presbyterian Church. An interesting program will be given. Echoes and letters from the field will be presented.

Just a good place to sell cream.

English Conductor Supports Family of Three on $10.50

Can you support a wife and three children on $10.50 a week? An English railway conductor does this very thing and he is A. Man of INTELLIGENCE AND ABILITY. England has had compulsory educational laws for more than half a century and the standard of intelligence is exceptionally high even among the laboring class.

However, the English laborer is finding it hard to make "ends meet" on the low wages and the blame is laid to the trusts that originated in the U. S.

You'll find more interesting glimpses on England written by a newspaper man with years of experience. "A Tour Abroad" which is appearing in the Advertiser each week is filled with interesting, delightful on things of interest in foreign countries and its educational too. Read the story each week.

Annual Drive of Christmas Seals Starts

During the month between Thanksgiving, November 25th, and Christmas, December 25th, you will see three carolers singing every day everywhere. They will greet you as you open your mail, as you walk past store windows, or open your newspaper.

They stand against the deep blue of a night sky, lighter towards the top because of the distant glow of the moon—or a star; deepening into shadows at the horizon.

For garb, they wear scarlet coats and tights, and bright yellow jenkins. This same costume minstrels donned forgotten years ago as they sang their songs before the roaring, blazing fires of oak-framed halls, during the holiday season.

The caroler on the left touches the strings of a lute; the one on the right sounds the clear notes of a trumpet, and between them a third holds a snow-white shield bearing the double-barred cross, world-wide emblem of the tuberculosis associations.

"Minstrel" has been a magic word since the dim beginnings of the middle ages. It was derived from an old Latin noun, "minister," which means "one who serves." Through century after century these singers took their service of joy and help from one grim castle to another, asking no pay except the gifts of those who wished to join with them in carrying messages of happiness.

In just such a spirit have these twentieth century minstrels started forth on their pilgrimages. They will take their message of health and Christmas cheer from state to state, city to city, into homes all over the land. And they ask no fee at all except that willingly given by those who

B. & O. Making Improvements at Willard Shops

Last week's issue of The Willard Times carried a story telling of many improvements being made at the Baltimore and Ohio shops in the town. The work in general is gigantic in its scope and will interest many readers to know that Willard is still growing as a railroad center. The story follows:

"The B. & O. has a large force here now and much equipment putting in the new turn table at the round house.

"The turn table is to be 115 feet in diameter and will take the large 6100 engines which can not get on the present 90 foot table. It is expected that the new table will be completed in about ninety days. To rush the work through in the quickest time, three eight hour shifts are kept on the job, electric and acetylene lights being used at night.

"It is reported that about eighty eight men, a good many of them from M. & W. department, are here. They are housed in cars run in on a track that has been laid just inside of the round house on the south side of the round house. Other special tracks have been put down near the turn table over which equipment and material are brought in.

"The old turn table will remain in use until everything is ready for the installation of the new one. A circular track is being excavated around the outside of the old turn table and the huge piles will be driven in and the concrete base for the new one poured in on top of these. Several hundred piles will be sunk, it is understood in the turn table area. The large pile driver which is used to drive piles for bridges has been run in on a special track. The shops and turn table stand on land that was once a swamp and filled in by the railroad making the pile necessary.

"A tall frame tower has been constructed near the turn table which will hold the cement for the new foundation to where it can flow down tubes to any desired place.

"The section of the round house on the southeast side is closed during construction operations and is being used to store material. Getting engines in and out of some parts of the round house now is quite a job. It is stated:

"It is reported that B. & O. engineers also have prepared plans for lengthening a section of the round house to accommodate the larger engines and that this work will be started in the buildings south of the shops which are used as temporary shop offices have been fixed up for the winter. Whether new offices are to built later is not known."

How to Play BRIDGE
A new series of lessons by Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1924, by Horis, Inc.

ARTICLE No. 3

One of the most puzzling questions of auction prices when your partner has made a business double and you have a hand that is worthless except at the suit you have bid. Should you leave in the double in the hope of defeating the contract or should you go on with your own bid? That is the question and the answer must always be a variable one, dependent on the cards held in each hand. As a general proposition you should figure whether or not your hand can take tricks at the bid that has been doubled. If it can, then your hand and your partner's will probably defeat the contract. If your hand cannot take tricks at the bid that has been doubled, then you should rebid your own suit. The following hands are good illustrations of the rebid after partner's double:

Hand No. 1

Y: ♠ 10, 8, 3
A: ♠ 9, 7, 5, 4, 2
Z: ♠ 7, 6
Hearts—10, 8, 3
Clubs—Q, J, 9, 8, 7, 5, 4, 2
Diamonds—7, 6
Spades—none

No score, first game. Z dealt and passed. A bid one spade, Y two hearts and B two spades. Y bid three clubs, A bid three spades, Y bid three no-trump and B doubled. Z bid four clubs. A bid four spades and Y doubled. If B passed what should Z now bid? Z should bid five clubs. His hand hasn't the sign of a trick with spades trumps, and his partner must, therefore, take four tricks to defeat the four spade bid, which is very unlikely. As a matter of fact, Z can make five clubs, losing only one club and one heart trick. At four spades, Y-Z can make only three tricks. The spade tricks and the ace of diamonds quite a difference.

Hand No. 2

Y: ♠ Q, J, 10, 7, 4
A: ♠ 10, 8, 4, 2
Z: ♠ 7
Hearts—Q, J, 10, 7, 4
Clubs—10, 8, 4, 2
Diamonds—7
Spades—J, 8, 4

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one heart, A bid one spade, Y bid one heart and B bid four spades. Z should bid five hearts. His hand is worth five or six tricks with hearts trumps, but probably is not worth one if spades are trumps. His only chance is to win his partner with the ace of diamonds and so to be able to trump on diamond trick. If, however, his partner hasn't the ace of diamonds, Y cannot take a trick with spades as trumps. For that reason he should bid five hearts. Y-Z can just make five hearts, while at spades A-B can make a grand slam. A had the ace of diamonds and no hearts, and B had no clubs, so a cross ruff could be established. If Y had bid five hearts, neither A nor B was strong enough to bid five spades over the double, so a bid of five hearts would have been a big winner.

Here are three hands that came up in a game the other evening of which an analysis will be given in the next article. They are most interesting because the principles involved are common everyday principles that every player should understand and know how to apply. Think them over.

Problem No. 2

Y: ♠ 10, 8, 3

Clubs—Q, J, 9, 8, 7, 5, 4, 2
Diamonds—A, K, Q, 7, 6, 2
Spades—J, 10, 4, 3

Rubber game, no score. Z dealt and bid one diamond, A bid two clubs, Y passed and B bid four clubs. What should Z now bid?

Problem No. 3

A: ♠ 9, 7, 5, 4, 2

Clubs—Q, J, 9, 8, 7, 5, 4, 2

Bringing Up Father To Play at Shelby

The next attraction at the Opera House, Shelby, will be the latest stage version of George McManus' internationally famous cartoon creation, "BRINGING UP FATHER IN FLORIDA." These comics require little introduction especially to the average reader of the daily newspapers throughout the country. In view of their popularity and wide scope of amusement to countless millions further comment would be superfluous. Still a few morsels of information relative to what the play contains and what it is like would not be amiss. It is an up-to-date musical comedy, replete with diverting humorous scenes, screams, novelties, original episodes, melodies and surprises, backed with a capital scenic embellishment and topped off by a company of unusually pretty young women all engaged for their particular pulchritude, talent and natural charms.

The date is Thursday, December 2 respectful distance. "Yes," he said in cockney English in which there was an unmistakable tone of resentment, "it belong to old Lord—" and here followed a scathing denunciation of a nobleman who was enjoying the proceeds from property valued at several million pounds which had come down to him through 16 generations. My voluminous talker was a remnant of the rapidly disappearing tribe of London cab drivers of the mid-Victorian period. The taxi-cab had sent his old landau the way the locomotive had sent the stage coach. His reminiscences were mixed with a bitterness that in a measure robbed them of their flavor. "Yes, it is better now. Forty years ago old Lord—, father of the present duke, owned a big estate, the most of which is covered by these houses. It was enclosed by a high picket fence and several gate keepers had it in charge. The gates were closed at 9 o'clock at night and if you happened to be on the outside you had to make a wide detour to get into the city. Many a night I have shivered out there in the cold trying to get through the gates and then had to drive several miles out of the way to reach the city. The duke nor his father nor his father's father ever worked a day in their lives, but have lived off the labor of the people. The young duke has a 25,000 acre hunting preserve which should be taken over by the government, cut into small farms and given to the heads of families whose ancestors for many generations have tilled the duke's lands and added to the family fortunes." These radical expressions may or may not reflect the sentiments of the laboring classes. They are passed on to my readers for what they are worth. But there is no doubting the fact that a strong current of unrest is running with the force of a mill race through the erstwhile placid life of the social and industrial Eng-

Our Weekly Sermonette

(By Dr. G. R. Mente)

Church Members in Name Only
Many a member of the visible church of Christ, commonly called the church, never dreams that behind that conspicuous word lie concealed thoughts and meanings, well worth our time and study to discover.

How many are in blissful ignorance of the great responsibility connected with the true life of the professing follower of the Master? How often we follow mechanically the lines of some creed, like the fanatical devotee chanting lines from Buddha, or repeating the Koran, or the book of Mormon, unable to understand the real meaning of religion. It is one thing to be able to recite the creedal catechism of a church, quote a few chapters from the Bible, recite prayers and quite another to know the real meaning of church membership.

The Great Teacher of Truth does not encourage a blind stupid devotion, manifested by wooden men and women, who do not know why they are serving the Messiah. What He demands is intelligent loyalty of thinking and reasoning beings, who can give a reason for the hope within.

When Christ taught the Disciples to pray, he did not clothe his lessons in mystic phrases; he did not employ a lot of strange sounding words that would forever remain empty and devoid of meaning; instead he used plain every day language, for the purpose of making his followers think and reason.

How often we hear some so-called "prayers" as if they were some magical incantation of the fetish worshipper of Central Africa. These prayers, machine made, will never appeal to the great Teacher of Gillies.

The person taking no time for study or thought, and never pondering his reflections upon religion, BUT BELIEVING MEMORIZING ONLY, may be easily swayed by sentimental emotion, but does not catch the spirit of the Master. He who does not dig deep and delve beneath the life of the world to find the real thing that lies hidden in the magic words of the Great Teacher, as he said: "When the spirit of the Truth has come, He shall lead you into all truth, must forever remain a church member in name only."

Women of Willard See Workings of the Ideal Laundry

Over 700 hundred Willard women saw the new and improved method of laundering clothes, and other household articles at a recent demonstration held by The Ideal Laundry at Willard. Mr. E. K. Moles, owner and operator, donated to each church in town $25 for a representation of 100 visitors.

Mr. Moles expresses himself very favorably in making this offer to Plymouth churches if there is any inclination on the part of church organizations.

Several new pieces of machinery have been installed in various departments, making this one of the most up-to-date and improved laundries in this section of Ohio.

was responded to with Thanksgiving one member of the Society from each township and one from each incorporated village or city, together with the County Agents and county Superintendent of Schools and three women directors at large. The elected directors are chosen for a term of three years and so arranged that one third of the board be elected each year.

Those whose terms of office expire in 1926 are: John Hooker, Fitchville township; Harry D. Smith, Greenfield township; Otto Bick, Ridgeland township; Dan Heyman, Lyme township; Dr. C. W. Babcock, Plymouth village; Gus Erf, Bellevue; Mrs. Eunice Holmea, Wakeman.

The Board of Directors desire a turn out of every member of the Society to take part in the election; and in the discussion of the disposition of the balance now in the treasury and ways and means of holding a bigger better fair in 1927.

YOUNG AT 100 YEARS
"Grandma" Emma Ward McMahon, Missour centennarian who startled Kansas Cityans recently by taking an active part in a pageant, will celebrate her 106th birthday November 25 by staging her own party.

"That's what keeps me young and fit," she continues. "I never worry about another year on my age."

And apparently she doesn't, for Grandma McMahon continues to make a living by working—working from morn till night.

Her favorite occupation is sewing and as a sideline she embroiders. She came to the United States when 18 months old. For a time her parents lived in Buffalo, N. Y. Then her family moved west to what is now Milwaukee, and it was while the family was living there she experienced her first "real thrill" as she calls it.

Indians kidnapped her and held her a prisoner until she was eight years old. After her escape she returned to Buffalo and married when Lincoln was president.

She came to Kansas in 1874, experiencing the thrills of the stirring frontier days.

When she was 100 years old, Grandma decided she had been a widow long enough and was engaged to wed a young blade, "only 82," she says.

"Everything was all set," Grandma said, "We had cakes and everything—even the Justice of the peace was there to perform the ceremony—when up jumps my sweetheart and leaves me waiting at the altar. He must have got cold feet."

STORY AFTER STORY
A champion diver recently fell five stories from a skyscraper and lived to tell the story. That makes a total of six stories—Nebraska Awgwan.

It is expected that our friend Jno. I. Beelman will make an appearance in the spring style revue. The secret isn't out yet but we'll just stand by and watch.

The modern band stand that decorates our Public Square lends suggestions to making this big box a sign board, traffic sign and what not. May we or may we not hope that some unforeseen thing happen that will cause the removal of this eye sore.

Jubilant over the fact that he had a few hours to spend hunting rabbits, Eiden Nimmons was exhibiting the other day the spoils of his short hunt. Mr. Nimmons went rabbit hunting and returned with an o'possum. The reason for this as given by a few of his intimate friends is that Mr. Nimmons doesn't know the difference between a rabbit and an o'possum.

QUEEN MARIE'S DOLLAR PILGRIMAGE

Queen Marie makes a dollar pilgrimage to America and writes about liberty and Democracy while the government of her country in which she has a powerful influence is a travesty on justice and civil liberty and liberty of worship is unknown. Yet the "thrill" seeking, cast admiring and "Red" baiters chase each other in droves to get a glimpse of her royal highness or to get an invitation to luncheon with her.

Has sentiment of highly charged since Louis Kossuth landed on American shores or is it simply the curiosity in the Americans; the same as prompts him to see the Siamese Twins, Tom Thumb, The Bearded Lady or the Living Skeleton? We don't know just what it all means but we do know that it is a good time to remove the dollars far enough from our eye to see character clearly, to remove prejudice so we can see justice and to pray that the value of realities may displace the lure of the tinsel glamor of old world worn out royalty.—Telegraph Forum.

Near East Relief To Make Drive

Following cablegram concerning earthquake received from Dr. Sission of Louisville, Kentucky, in Armenia. Rural districts of Armenia terribly damaged, thousands homeless, death toll increasing, with ten thousand orphanage children in Alexandropol sleeping in the open. They have insufficient blankets and the snow is on the ground. Condition among village children and adults even worse, their homes gone and food supplies destroyed, they face intense suffering unless food-stuffs can be rushed to them. Weather condition becoming more severe—within two weeks, expect weather below zero. Appropriations so far made inadequate. We must have additional funds; the need is imperative; desperate suffering, but lives can be saved if funds are provided.

(Signed) CHARLES V. VICKERY.
In a few days committees will place Near East Envelopes in every home in Plymouth. Not later than December 5, the envelopes will be gathered up. What you can contribute will be sent through the local bank to State headquarters at Cleveland, Sunday, December 5, is golden rule Sunday.

A Great Payroll

How much scientific metallurgy is responsible for improved conditions of living is shown by the records of a few big western mines. Utah Copper used to recover 60 per cent of the copper in its 1.3 per cent ore, handling 24,000 tons a day. Now it recovers 90 per cent from poorer ore, handling 40,000 tons daily. The Sullivan mine at Kimberly, B. C., sold a few years ago for $250,000, had complex ores that, though rich defied the chemist. A long series of experiments followed, until a flotation process has brought them an 80 per cent saving of zinc and 70 per cent of lead and net profits of $15,000,000 with 100 years' supply of ore yet in sight. Mining pays almost as large a proportion of its money for wages, as farming. It is one of the few industries that in many cases has a wage based on profit; a scale that provides for wage advances based on the sale price of metal in addition to a liberal base pay.

Mining is a cash market for labor, for the farm, for the manufacturer everywhere. It is entitled to the fairest laws possible and the encouragement of everyone who can give it a boost.

A Song Recital—Something New for PHS

It has always been the aim of the instructors and students to bring only the best in every line to our High School. Once again the faculty is backing something that is the best in its line.

A week from next Tuesday, W. Bentley Ball, baritone, will give a song recital before the High School. This is not to be confused with ordinary entertainment as Mr. Ball is doing an educational work.

His program will be made up of typically American songs, Indian songs, Cowboy songs, negro minstrel and such along with these he gives an explanation of the songs and their histories. The fact that Mr. Ball makes Columbia Records shows that his voice is above average and according to press comment he is a man well worth listening to.

Participation In Literary Activities Compulsory

The Literary programs should be greatly improved, under the plan under the plan which is to be incorporated in the future. Each society has a program committee which selects the pupils who are to be in the program as well as their respective parts.

The Music Box

I wonder how many of us realize, to the full extent, just what music does for us, and has done for the world? I think that, perhaps, none of us appreciate it as thoroughly as we would if we knew more about it. The Puritans did not believe in the many beautiful kinds of music which we enjoy. They thought it detracted the soul and mind from the Bible, and from the more serious duties of life.

There are many people who are absolutely uninterested in the paintings of tone which music gives to us, but there are countless others, who Music is the soul, and the inspiration which aids them in making their daily lives richer in deeds and ideals.

Girls' Basket Ball Write Up; Physical Education

Betty Bachrach was in charge of the girls' physical education class last week. Some of the exercises the girls take are like acrobatic stunts. One of them consists of walking on the shoulders. This seems absurd, but leave it to the girls. They'll do it.

News of Junior High

Boys Physical Education

There is more than one way of taking your "daily dose." At least the boys of P. H. S. have discovered this fact. Last Monday afternoon when the Physical Education class had assembled at the gym, the leader announced that the exercise for the day would consist of carpenter work.

Preparatory Work For Vacation

Since there is a four-day vacation this week-end, teachers deemed it a good idea to find out what we know yet. By test, before we have time to forget it. Perhaps a few days of fun without worry about coming tests will send us all back with a renewed zest for study next week.

Last Tuesday afternoon when two young men and two young women should have been discussing geometry propositions and corollaries, two little boys and two little girls went into the classroom with drawing paper, scissors and gluey-paste. They proceeded to draw, cut out and paste together some very queer figures, amidst giggling and joking.

Let Us Launder Your Feather Pillows

There are two reasons why our method of laundering your feather pillows gives more satisfactory results.

First—we wash them so much more thoroughly. We use lots of rich, billowy suds, plentiful rinse waters, and work them through and through the entire mass of feathers. Every pillow is thoroughly washed and rinsed out.

When our washing is finished, they are wonderfully fresh, sweet and clean.

Second—We have a means of drying pillows which dries them clear through. A blast of hot air is blown through the pillows, while in constant motion in a slowly revolving cylinder. Every feather is fluffed up, thoroughly dried, and made as fresh and soft as when new.

The Sophomore party to the High School last Friday evening was a successful and entertaining affair.

The six upper grades rendered a 25-year period when prices declined, combined program at the Town Hall in June, 1925, prices stood at 152.3 compared to 100 in 1913.

The first and second grade has been cutting paper landscapes which are arranged on the wall.

In the United States, says The Index, there have been three occasions when prices have abruptly doubled—after the war of 1812, the Civil War, and the World War. Following each of the first two conflicts, there was

At The Churches

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
The New Haven Community is saddened by the rather sudden passing away of Wm. Van Wagner who took sick on Tuesday, of last week and died on Monday morning, Nov. 22.

He was nearing his 65th birthday. He leaves his wife two sons and two daughters.

On Monday he helped a neighbor, thresh and from there went to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Stull, to assist with the evening chores, and while there became ill, went to bed, double pneumonia developed and from this home his funeral will be conducted on Wednesday, Nov. 24th at 2 o'clock. Interment in New Haven cemetery.

Christmas will soon be here. Let us all plan for the White Gift, both in Sunday School and Church, both at New Haven and Plymouth. This will be divided equally between the Elyria Home for the aged, and our Worthington Childrens Home.

Revival meetings will begin at New Haven on Tuesday evening, Nov. 30. We are planning for, and expecting a good time in this meeting.

Every church needs and must have a revival, first, for the sake of our own souls, then for the sake of those who may catch the spirit, and awake to a sense of their duty toward higher things.

In the age of glitter and jazz, when in the mad race for gain and pleasure, it is necessary to pause and consider, first, why are we here, and for what purpose are we created. Answering this, then second, what is my responsibility, and am I doing my part in bearing it.

Sin has come into my life. There is no salvation from it but in Christ, so my only hope is in repentance, and a complete surrender of my life to Him, trusting him for the Salvation he has promised.

Plans are being made to have an Open Forum, on Sunday evening at which some live subjects will be opened and discussed, and opinions interchanged. If these are taken up and prove helpful, they will be continued, otherwise—

The Thank Offering Service, held Sunday evening was quite a success. A good program was rendered and the offering of $23.98 will help in the work our W. H. M. S. is doing.

Compassion is the by-product of the Master Passion. Love, which does not wait to be challenged by the sight of the wounded soldiers on the battle field. It goes behind him to the very causes that placed him in this extremity and remedies the causes. Compassion thinks of what is lost. Love thinks of what can be regained. "Compassion and Love" will be the theme, Sunday, 11 a.m. The Men's Chorus will sing; the Orchestra will render a special number.

Statement by the Governor

Editorials in Republican as well as Democratic and Independent newspapers of Ohio have been urging co-operation between the next General Assembly and the Governor, and the hope for such relations between the two departments is being voiced by citizens in all sections of the state.

I am deeply gratified over these expressions of public sentiment and confidently expect the Ohio Senate at its session next January to confirm my appointments to the Public Utilities Commission and other important commissions of the state government.

By its refusal to cooperate with me in the past, the Republican Senate defeated its own hopes of partisan advantage, as the recent election demonstrated.

The term of one members of the Utilities expired nearly four years ago, another two years ago and the third will expire in February, next.

Anticipating Senate co-operation in making the changes to which the citizens are entitled, it is my purpose to appoint the ablest and fairest men obtainable to the Commission—such men, for example, as Judge Oscar W. Newman, former Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, who, as special master commissioner for the U. S. District Court, recently held a 40-cent rate for gas in Columbus is not satisfactory. His former opinion in rendering this notable decision impressed everybody with its thoroughness and fairness. What we need is a Utilities Commission of such members as Judge Newman, who will deliberate rate cases on their merits, with fairness to utility and consumer alike.

The only one to profit by the repeated denial of the people's rights to a new commission were a few selfish public service corporations—all at the expense of the consuming public which has been paying the ever increasing rates for unimproved utility service. Between now and the legislative session I shall devote most of my time to a program I have in mind for helpful changes in the personal, methods and procedure of the Public Utilities Commission and necessary changes in the public utilities law. This problem is more important now than ever, although the need for a new deal has been apparent and to expressed by the voters at the last three state elections.

ONE can't feel well when there is a retention of poisonous waste in the blood. This is called a toxic condition, and is apt to make one tired, dull and languid. Other symptoms are sometimes toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many people have learned the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, when the kidneys seem functionally inactive. Everyone one finds enthusiastic Doan's users. Ask your neighbor!

The Greater OAKLAND SIX ENGINE

Rides on Rubber Drives thru Rubber

"Smoother and quieter than any car I have ever driven"—such is the verdict of owners of the Greater Oakland Six, with Rubber-Silenced Chassis. A vital reason for its velvety performance is a new and exclusive engineering principle—the Oakland Six engine rides on rubber and drives through rubber.

Rubber engine supports absorb any vibration in the frame due to torque reaction of the engine, while a rubber-silenced drive erases all body rumbles and vibrations from the rear wheels, drive shaft and transmission.

Drive the Greater Oakland Six—and experience a smoothness and quietness of operation never before achieved.

Oakland Six, $1035 to $1295. Further Six, comparable to Oakland Six, $825 to $995. Dealer by Phone. All prices on factory. Easy to pay on the General Motors Time Payment Plan.

WINNING AND HOLDING GOOD WILL

Interesting News From Shiloh

To hear the factory expert explain the manufacture and use of the Great Majestic Range at the Moser Store this week, one would imagine the kitchen range was the most important purchase a woman could make. He usually has a crowd of interested women listening to him, indicating there is still truth in the old adage, "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach." To encourage callers to buy a Majestic Range during the week of the demonstration, each purchaser is given a choice of two fine sets of cooking utensils absolutely free with each range.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET

"What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul," was but one of the expressive thoughts of Prof. J. A. Garber of Ashland College at the annual Father and Son banquet held in the Cass Township School auditorium on Tuesday evening of this week.

The talks of the evening followed a sumptuous banquet served by the ladies of the Parent Teacher's Association with the young ladies as the dainty waitresses. For the occasion, following the invocation by Dr. G. R. Mente, some 124 Dads and Lads went in to in real style and enthusiasm until the last piece of apple pie had disappeared.

After a few songs led by Ronald Howard, Prof. Fox set off with a fine start as a toastmaster by telling all that he was not expected to talk but he succeeded quite well for one not expected to do anything. A reading by Floyd Niswonger was enjoyed, as were the talks, "What a Dad's Fellowship means to me" and "What a Son's Fellowship means to me" given respectively by William Arnold and Ronald Howard.

Following expressions from the local pastors of their approval and viewpoints of the occasion, the chief address of the evening was given by Dr. J. A. Garber of Ashland College. After mentioning the growth of the Father and Son movement, Dr. Garber impressed his hearers both humorously and with solid thought of the need of "Father and Son Partnership" in all of life's ways, with the thought of mutual service to each other. Before he had finished, he had well convinced his attentive audience that one may not question the truth of the statement that "A Father touches the life of his boy in a manner that no other person can."

If the interest shown Tuesday evening means anything, it would appear to indicate that Father and Son banquet will be an annual and ever increasingly popular occasion, so Ladies' you might just as well start getting the menu ready for next year.

The Get-Together Club at their last meeting on Armistice day at the Patterson enjoyed an excellent program under the direction of Miss Pearl Darling and Mrs. Lillie Guillon. As nearly as it is possible to ascertain Miss Hunter is the first woman in the world to fill the important role of registrar in such an institution. On Thursday Dr. Mente was called to New Washington to give the last sacrament to an old friend Mrs. Campbell, who is dangerously ill, at the home of her son-in-law, Wm. Dellinger. After a very impressive service the Dr. was entertained for supper at the home of the late Dr. Kimerling.

Miss Lottie Derfinger accompanied the party to New Washington.

Perfect diamonds in a range of mountings $75, $100, $150

What price diamonds?

The fact that we can sell a good one carat diamond for $500 and another for as high as $750 suggests that diamonds have value aside from weight alone.

Profit from our extensive experience and business standing when you want honest advice in the purchase of diamonds or a fine Green Watch.
