

Future of Small Town Depends on Individual

Large Sums Are Being Sent to the Mail Order House Annually That Should Remain at Home.

"Business as usual." This short line slogan could be made a reality in many respects, but never in kingdom come will it become true as long as people in this vicinity send out of the state of Ohio to buy merchandise that can be bought at home more satisfactorily and in many cases at lower prices.

It is very evident that the mail order business is receiving quite a bit of patronage from the amount of literature and catalogs shipped in here the past three weeks. Only recently one firm sent in a supply of catalogs to Plymouth residents that filled THIRTEEN mail bags, counting 20 catalogs to the bag, and each book weighing three and one-half pounds. The number totaling 240 catalogs and postage weight was 910 pounds. Mail order buying could be looked at very sensibly from many angles, but when you weigh every detail down to the finest point you will realize that although you may get an item or two cheaper in price, yet the quality remains in the low class.

Suppose Plymouth could boast of a fine mercantile establishment doing an annual business of thirty thousand dollars. Well, that is the amount estimated sent out last year to the mail order house OUTSIDE the state of Ohio. Suppose the village and county could collect taxes on an institution of this size, and then look at the employment of local people as clerks, the ease of shopping, and many other injuries you do not receive by shopping through the mails. Would you not agree that an institution of this size would be a great thing for our town?

Are we playing fair with our home business when credit is extended from time to time and then when we get the cash, buy our needs through the mail order house?

Perhaps it is the fault of the merchants. Probably you have called for one article and he didn't have it, and so you decided that the merchant didn't have anything in his store, and naturally you've never returned except in case of an emergency when you wanted something real quick. The merchant never stocked up on the article you called for, and so goes the story.

The local stores probably cannot supply your every need, but wouldn't it be much more satisfactory to inquire at nearby towns such as Willard, Shelby, Mansfield or Norwalk where we send our money OUT OF THIS STATE FOREVER? Being on the county line, we are bound to receive some benefit from the dollar spent in these towns in the way of good roads schools, etc.

There is just one fact, Gentle Reader, and that is: Unless the outflow of money to the mail order house from the small villages and towns is curtailed, we may count our town doomed in the space of a few years. You are no doubt careless and indifferent, but the success and growth of your home town lies to a great degree, in your own power. If you expect to benefit from the money you earn, you must spend it where it will benefit your neighbor.

This story is not written for the sake of getting MORE advertising for this paper, but it is given as a warning to the business man, to the community and to the individual, that something MUST be done if we expect to grow in progress and prosperity, and the only way in which to prevent a certain destruction is to keep your money at home.

BABCOCK BUYS OLD FACKLER BUILDING
Another real estate deal was completed last week when Dr. C. W. Babcock purchased the Old Fackler building, located on the corner of Sandusky and Main street, from F. B. Lotland. For years Mr. Louis Dorringer conducted a barbershop at this stand and it is said that this building has housed a tonorial parlor for the past 35 or 40 years.

At present a barbershop is being conducted in the building, but it is rumored that changes will be made to accommodate a filling station. Dr. Babcock did not divulge his intentions, whether the 1/2 acre is to be used for his office or lease it.

Squirrel Season Opened With Many Hunters Out

Squirrel season opened Wednesday and several hundred sportsmen went out bright and early. A number of local men who enjoyed this sport came back empty-handed, and some reported a fair day's hunt.

Brown and Miller Hardware issued sixty hunting licenses for the season. This is the largest number ever issued by this store and it is a good indication that many shells will be exploded in the next few days.

SHERMAN HOTEL SOLD

The Sherman Hotel, which has been operated for the past three years by the Ohio Seamless Tube Co., at Shelby, has been sold to Mr. Charles Faber, who has acted in the capacity of manager since its opening. Mr. Faber expects to make this one of the finest little hotels in the state, and Shelby should be proud of the contemplated improvements.

Walter Donnemirch To Take Up Y. M. C. A. Work In Cincinnati, O.

Walter Donnemirch, who for some time has been connected with the Y. M. C. A. at Mansfield, will take up new duties at Cincinnati Oct. 1. Mr. Donnemirch is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Donnemirch, and is well known in this vicinity. The Mansfield Journal has the following to say concerning his work in Mansfield:

"Announcement was made this morning at the Y that Walter Donnemirch assistant in the boys' work and physical departments of the local association, has accepted an appointment as assistant boys' work secretary at Central association building in Cincinnati. His work starts there October 1.

"Donnemirch has been connected with the Mansfield institution for the past year and has been an efficient and competent supervisor, according to W. C. Mansfield, general secretary. "He will have charge of the boys' work program in the building at Cincinnati and will arrange to take several courses in the University of Cincinnati to better in the work which he has accepted."

To Teach Instrumental Music In Schools Here

Through arrangements with local school authorities, Mr. Rush Rosenberry of Shelby will open an instrumental department of music here. Mr. Rosenberry is a teacher of music in the Andrew's Institute at Willoughby.

Parent-Teachers At New Haven to Give a Bake Sale Saturday

The Parent-Teacher's association of New Haven announce that a bake sale will be held next Saturday afternoon, Sept. 18, at the New Haven school house, beginning at 1:30 o'clock. Every thing in the fund room will be sold. The public is cordially invited to attend this sale.

Rains Help Celery Growers, But Causes Fear Among Farmers

While most farmers in this territory are hoping for a season of dry weather so that harvesting of oats and wheat may be completed, celery growers at Celeryville are elated over the rains of the past week. It is said that the rains help in many ways at this season of the year in preserving the celery crop.

While the wet spell of the past few days has done no great damage, farmers are hopeful for a slack-up of the rains, which have fallen at intervals, causing fear for the corn crop.

Celery production this year is far above the average, but the price is a little lower than of last year. However, growers expect a slight increase as the demands become stronger.

LAWRENCE E. BUZARD

In Appreciation From Baby Beds to Fords; The Want Ads Get Results

To those who knew Lawrence Buzard no words of mine are necessary to tell of his lovable character, his loyalty, his high aspirations and that here, indeed, was a man among men.

But having been associated with him so closely for the past several years I can not refrain from adding these few words of appreciation.

"Buzzy" as we loved to call him, was more than a friend and business associate; it was more like a brother. Always cheerful, generous, faithful, how he did love his work, his friends and all humanity! To read the telegrams of condolence from his Sales Representatives one can appreciate the high regard and esteem they held for him.

To know Lawrence Buzard was to love him.

It seems almost impossible to realize that Lawrence, who was with us only a little over a week ago, and who had so much to live for, is gone—that we will no longer hear his gentle voice, see his cheerful smile, or feel the cordial clasp of his hand.

He is gone, but we feel that our life is better for having known him.

We cannot understand why he had to be taken from us, but there is the consolation of a cherished memory, and that some day we shall again see his face to face. "It is God's way. His will be done."

JOHN A. ROOT

Samantha says: When family relations become strained I find that, instead of nagging, a day or two of absent treatment works wonders.

L. E. Buzard Died Sunday

Death Followed Operation; One of Town's Most Beloved Citizens.

Lawrence E. Buzard, 30, died at the Carnegie Hospital, Cleveland, Sunday morning at 2:30 o'clock after a brief illness following an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Buzard, accompanied by Mr. Ned Earnest, went up to Cleveland the previous Sunday to attend a reunion of their regiment which served overseas during the World War, and arriving in the city Mr. Buzard complained of being ill. They returned to Plymouth Monday where a physician was summoned. Upon advice from the doctor Mr. Buzard was taken to Cleveland Tuesday morning where the operation was performed from which he never rallied. During the short intervening hours after the operation and the time of his death hundreds of friends awaited the meager reports of his condition, and when the final news came that Buzard had passed away, it cast a gloom over the entire community.

Mr. Buzard for the past five years had been associated with the Fate-Root-Health company, and a few months ago was promoted to sales manager. He also served on the village council for one term and entered upon his second term last January.

He deceased was born in Adario, and besides his wife and two children, his parents, who reside in Shiloh, and two brothers, Fred and Homer, of New London, survive. He was a member of the Lutheran church and Ethel Post of the American Legion, having served as a corporal in Battery B, 158th Field Artillery, and received a medal for encampments at St. Mihiel and the Argonne.

Funeral services, with the American Legion in charge, were held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock at the Lutheran church. Office associates of the legal plant as well as a great number of workmen attended the funeral in the body.

Mr. Buzard, during his residence here, won the respect and admiration of the entire community. He was a man who possessed the genuine qualities everyone admired, and he will be sincerely missed by all who knew him.

AVIATOR ARRIVES SAFELY

LONDON—Lieutenant Alan Cobham, who is flying from Australia to London, arrived at Rangoon today, according to a Rangoon dispatch.

Cobham was believed lost because no word had been received from him since he landed at Victoria, Point Burma, five days ago. It had been feared that he was lost in the jungle near Penang.

ORDERS FROM SOUTH AMERICA

MIDDLETOWN—Tremendous orders from South America have resulted in establishing a new record here for the number of employees hired by the Civic employment association in a single day.

More than 100 men were put to work here at roller mills and similar institutions as a result of the heavy commitments from South America sources.

Carl Grevat, director of the bureau of trade and commerce, declares that the local employment situation indicates an unusually healthy business condition.

DIE TOGETHER

GUARD SHOT

J. W. Ritter, Mansfield, a guard at the Sheet and Tin Plate works, suffered gunshot wounds when he interceded with a store robbery near the plant last Wednesday night. Four negroes are being hunted.

P. T. A. Held Reception for New Teachers

The Parent-Teachers' Association held its first meeting of the school year and reception for the new teachers on Tuesday evening, September 14, at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Rev. Himes, the new president, presided. He insisted that this be the big year in the history of the P. T. A. He urged that men participate in the organization.

The Parent-Teachers' Association is a common ground between the home and the school. It is the only organization in which all the people may unite on a common basis. It is our community organization and should be an expression of a community spirit.

The program for the evening was as follows:

Piano solo—Mary Becker.

Several vocal duets by Willard Caldwell and John Root, accompanied on the piano by Dorothy Straub.

Several vocal solos by Mary Faye and two readings by Mrs. Jenkins.

After enjoying the excellent program a short business session was held. The treasurer, Mrs. Eldon Nimmons gave a report.

Total receipts were $322.28
Disbursements 119.12
Balance on hand $203.16

It was decided to join the State and National Parent-Teachers' Association also that the association furnish magazines for use in the school as last year.

The president complimented Mrs. Sam Bachrach, chairman of the program committee and Mrs. Stacy Brown, chairman of the refreshment committee, on their excellent work in making the evening a success.

Mr. Stacy Brown, Mr. Sam Bachrach and Rev. J. W. Miller were appointed on the membership committee. It was decided to hold a meeting in October.

After adjournment the business association president introduced Superintendent Berry and he in turn introduced his teachers after which light refreshments and a social time were enjoyed.

PLYMOUTH STREET IS NOW COMPLETED

Hurrah! Plymouth street is completed. The force worked Sunday morning to complete a little stretch of the road so that it could be opened for traffic Sunday afternoon.

Inclement weather the past two weeks, and shortage of materials and other causes have delayed the surfacing of the road for many weeks. The surface is of the sheet-rock asphalt type. This gives Plymouth street a better road-way in northern Ohio, from Shelby to New Haven.

Another project that will be completed either this year or in the early spring is the improving of the Trux street road to the Shiloh pick. This street is getting in an almost impassable condition and needs immediate attention, as it is one of the connecting links to the main roads out of Shiloh.

Will Dig Potatoes This Week; Good Yield Is Expected by Scrafield

If weather conditions are favorable throughout the week, Mr. Scrafield, who resides just north of town, will harvest one of the biggest potato yields in his history of farming. A field of 8 acres was put in by Mr. Scrafield, who estimates that he will get from 900 to 1200 bushels of potatoes.

Weather conditions for this product have been ideal with the exception of the heavy rains the past week, which if continue, will no doubt cause decay to set in.

The price of wheat is very favorable. Quotations on the Cleveland market were $1.70 to $1.80 per bushel.

CELERYVILLE MAN ATTACKED

Sam Postema was attacked by two men in Columbus Tuesday morning. He was hit about the face. No warning was given; the attack was made in a moment's time.

The two men tried to resist payment in full on goods delivered, and tried to use force to settle the dispute before many words had been said. The two men were arrested.

NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN SCHOOLS

The New Haven schools opened September 7 with a full corps of enthusiastic teachers and a splendid group of one hundred eighty pupils. The teachers are as follows: Supt. S. A. Porter; Principal, Jessie I. Cole; English and History, Mr. Mulholland; Latin and Sewing, G. Rutledge; 7th and 8th grades, F. L. Black; 6th and 5th grades, Lucia Penner; 3rd and 4th grades, Dorothy Dowd; 1st and 2nd grades, Geraldine Grahack; Vocal music, A. E. Willet; Orchestra, Maurice Davis. The janitor, Mr. John Rapley, had the school house thoroughly cleaned, drivers of the school wagons were all one time, and everything pointed toward a good opening.

A most enjoyable meeting of the P. T. A. was held at the school house last Friday evening after a short program consisting of singing led by Mr. Willet, a violin solo by Claude Bowers and recitations by Mildred Woodworth, Mr. J. C. Woodworth, president of the Board of Education, in his usual genial manner welcomed the new teachers and instructors, first the men and then the old instructors, each of whom gave a fitting response. A delightful social time followed during which ice cream and cake were served to all. Arch E. Cole, a graduate of 1915, now of Evanston, Ill., was a guest and renewed acquaintances with former school mates and friends. A splendid spirit of cooperation seemed uppermost in the minds of all, and with it, this year, can be made the best in the history of the New Haven schools and community.

Four first prizes were won by the New Haven schools at the Huron county fair. Both arithmetic and English work throughout the grades won first place, and the High school display blue ribbons were taken by Mathematics, including Algebra I, Advanced Algebra, Plane Geometry and Business Arithmetic and English, including Composition and Literature.

Miss Alice Beauchamp and brother Richard of New Mexico have been recent visitors of their great grand mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Kurtz and aunt, Miss Agnes Kurtz Silliman.

Mrs. Mary Hughes of Norwalk spent the week-end with Mrs. W. H. Van Wagner.

Mrs. J. W. Palmer has been quite sick for the past two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stahl spent part of last week in Kenton, Ohio, with their mother Mrs. Maud Getzinger.

About forty friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry DeWitt Monday evening to give them a magnificent shower. The evening was spent playing games. Candy and cigars were passed by the bride and groom. Later a nice lunch was served by their mother and sister. They received many nice and useful gifts. At a late hour all returned to their homes wishing the newlyweds such future happiness.

Mrs. Clara Sasa and children of Cleveland are visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Skinner and Mrs. Adeline Mills.

The P. T. A. will hold a bake sale Saturday afternoon in the school house.

Miss Helen Miller returned home Sunday from a month visit with her sister, Mrs. Richard Coover in Bozeman, Kentucky.

SERVICES FOR SUNDAY

Sunday school at 10 a. m.
Worship at 11 o'clock a. m.
Epworth League will resume at 6:30 p. m. under direction of Miss Marguerite Boardman and Miss Grace Longnecker. The League will be reorganized at this time.

The evening worship will be devoted to the 100th anniversary of the Lakeside Epworth League Institute. The first evening spent in this report was so interesting, we are sure many will want to hear the remainder.

One Conference Sunday, we can now assure our readers of the rich treat in store for them, as we have been finally advised that the Rev. J. W. Dowds, D. D., of Bucyrus, Ohio, will occupy the pulpit, so let us make our plans for worship under direction of one of the churches' greatest leaders. This will be Sunday, Sept. 26 at 11 o'clock a. m.

Also Note: The committee who has arrangements in charge, will also send an outstanding preacher to New Haven at this time.

A fine meeting of the Ladies Aid Society gathered at the home of Mrs. Florence Brokaw Tuesday afternoon for their regular business session. After the business was disposed of the annual election of officers was held with the following results:

President, Mrs. Florence Brokaw.
Secretary, Miss Eva White.
Treasurer, Mrs. Hank
Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Alice Ford and Mrs. L. Z. Davis.

Mrs. Gibson will spend next week with her daughter, Mrs. P. H. Conser of Toledo, at which time Mr. Gibson will be attending conference at Elyria.

In case Mr. Gibson should be needed for any service, he can be reached by telephone to the conference, and he will gladly render any service for which he may be needed.
DEAR FRIENDS: Mrs. Gibson and myself want to take this opportunity to thank the splendid people of Plymouth and New Haven for their kind courtesies during the year now closed. We have made many friends and naturally suppose some not quite so friendly, altho these we do not know. We have, with you, seen some results of our work together, but not as much as we could hope for. It is our good fortune to return to you for another year, we shall try to render such service as it may be possible. We have called in your homes with great pleasure. Our hearts have been with your sorrows and we have rejoiced in your happiness. We shall always cherish the friendships and courtesies through the years, and if it is ours to work together for other years, we shall consider it our high privilege. Thus, we greet you at the close of another year. With greatest interest in your welfare, we are

COLD NOT A KILLER OF AIR DRIED SEEDS

Dry seeds do not heat, mold, or freeze easily. The life of seed depends more on moisture than anything else in farm storage.

Dried seed has been shown to improve in vigor or germination in addition to protecting the seeds from freezing injury. Corn that has been thoroughly air dried, M. T. Meyers, of the farm crop department at the Ohio State University says, may be subjected to a temperature as low as 263 degrees below zero without killing the germ. Corn with 30 to 25 percent moisture, as taken from the field in the fall, is killed if exposed to zero weather 24 hours.

Ordinarily air-dry seeds contain about 15 percent water. Experiments have shown that this may be reduced to 1 percent without injury to the germinating quality of the crop seed, and is not difficult to dry out seed in a few days to withstand the ordinary changes in temperature. The farm has practically everything on hand necessary to keep seed safely.

Ten million dollars' worth of seed, at farm prices, is planted every year in Ohio. It requires the same time and labor to withstand the cultivators for good or poor seed, and the loss with poor seed is usually so large, Mr. Meyers points out, that it becomes cheap to take care of seed. Care is insurance as good as you make it.

SHILOH SCHOOL NEWS

Pupils in the seventh and eighth grades have been moved to the third floor of the building and all their classes now operate on the same schedule as the High school. Under this plan the pupils of the above grades will be given a manual training and home economics period. This gives the pupils an opportunity to do more studying at school and gives Shiloh a systematic organization from the seventh to the twelfth grade. Instead of the old seventh and eighth grades we now have a Junior high school.

Shiloh schools will have a display at the Richland county fair this week. All schools in the township will be closed Friday in order that pupils may attend the fair.

Pupils under twelve years of age will be given tickets which will admit them free.

MT. HOPE LUTHERAN CHURCH

Lehr A. McCord, pastor

16th Sunday after Trinity, Sept. 19, 10:00 a.m. Sunday school, A. O. Norton, superintendent. With vacations about over, let's everyone be in the job next Sunday 100% strong. The members who are absent do not make guests of school seasons very interesting so try to find every excuse you can for coming rather than for staying at home or going some place else than Sunday school. The church is the one institution in the community in which young and old unite under the one aim of seeking the highest and best for the individual and the community, so that the church in Shiloh should have the support of every individual in Shiloh that believes in growth and strength in the community.

11:50 a.m. Morning worship with sermon by the pastor, "Three Ts." We would urge that every member of the Sunday school above the primary remain for the church service to hear this sermon.

The final service of Holy Communion for this synodical year will be held on Sunday, the 26th. Every member is being urged to be present and a large offering is expected that a satisfactory report may be made. On Sunday, October 3, the Harvest Home Festival will be observed with a special service in connection with which canned fruit and jellies will be brought for the benefit of the Oosterlinck Orphan's Home.

SHILOH METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday school at 10:00 a.m., followed by sermon, subject "Antidote for Care."

Epworth League at 6:30 p.m. Sermon at 7:30. Subject "God's Interest in Man."

This will close our work with the Shiloh church. We expect to be at Elvira next week attending conference. Our fellowship with the good citizenship of our town has been very interesting and we assure every one that we shall every remember the pleasant associations formed while pastor of the Shiloh church. In severing our relation we can only offer you a heartfelt prayer that the giver of every good and perfect gift may continue to shower blessings upon the community. Let us look to the future hopefully. Should any mystery or uncertainty hang over it, let us trust him, for He marked out for us the way we should go. Thus dangers will be averted, and trials will show themselves interlarded with mercy, for God has promised to keep his flock and lead the same beside still waters.

His leadings may at times seem dark and sorrowful, the road may be such as we would not have chosen,

Power is one reason for Pontiac Six popularity

Powered by the largest six-cylinder engine used in any car costing less than $1000, the Pontiac Six exhibits a performance range entirely new in its field. Power to soar up hills. Power to lug smoothly and steadily through mud and sand. More power than any other six at its price—and a permanent source of power too. Beauty, comfort, economy and roadability—in all these qualities the Pontiac Six represents a decisive departure among low-priced sixes. Yet, on the basis of power in relation to wheelbase, weight and price, it ranks as the one outstanding engineering triumph of the day.

but he leads always wisely and tenderly. Frailties fade. With all the many cross roads and windings and turnings, its roughness and ruggedness, the way is not only a right way, but the right way, ye the very best which His great love could possibly select.

Nothing will so establish the mind in this age of turbulence, as a look above and a look beyond. Above, so that we can behold the hand of God directing, and beyond, to the beautiful end to which we will be brought by that hand. God puts clouds and darkness at times around our road, hiding us from Him through the cloud, promising an uninterrupted sunshine on the other side. Well may we therefore commit the future to God. With that blessed thought that every sorrow is numbered by the man of sorrow every tear counted by Him who first shed his tears and afterwards his blood for our welfare. I am confident He will exact no unnecessary sacrifice impose no needless burden.

You are invited to worship with us at the church of the glad hand where a hearty welcome awaits you always.

NOTIONS

Woman Dies From Burns

Mrs. B. C. Ramsey, residing near London, who was badly burned Saturday morning when a coal oil can exploded as she was lighting a fire at her home, died at Memorial hospital Saturday afternoon.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday by Rev. E. S. Hassler, pastor of the Reformed church, assisted by Rev. L. A. McCord of Shiloh, pastor of the London Lutheran church.

A large number of relatives, neighbors and friends assembled at the Barkhill funeral home at 2 p.m. The London Lutheran church quartet, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wentz, Mrs. Frank Roush and W. C. Freudingner, with Miss Mary Hochenshilt at the piano, sang "When Love Shines In" and "When at Last We Say Goodby." Rev. Mr. McCord read a Scripture lesson commencing, "Let not your hearts be troubled," and offered a prayer.

The church services were at 2:30 p.m. The Bible church quartet, W. A. Blasing, Harvey B. Cole, C. B. Parr, Muriel Hoover and Olive Kaler, sang "Nearer My God to Thee," "Abide With Me" and "All in Well With My Soul." Rev. Mr. McCord read a tribute to the deceased, Rev. Mr. Hassler read the Twenty-third Psalm and other Scripture and preached from the text, "Lo, I come unto thee in a thick cloud." Interment was in the family lot, beside her husband, in Middle cemetery, Sandusky township, Crawford county. The pallbearers were near neighbors, Clarius Baker, William H. Myers, Harry Pugh, John Adams, S. A. Wayt and John Malone. Earl Barkhill, local funeral director, had charge of the funeral.

It is a strange coincidence that both Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey died in Memorial Hospital. Mr. Ramsey was struck by an automobile on Walnut street September 4, 1925, and died in the hospital a few hours later. Mrs. Ramsey was severely burned by the explosion of an oil can she was using to light a fire and died in the same hospital a few hours later Saturday, September 11, 1926.

Their children, four boys and two girls, are now bereft of both parents at a time when they are most needed.

The baby, Wilma Mae, was born thirteen days after her father's death last year and is now nearly a year old. They are all fine children and deserving of good homes.—Shelby Globe.

PATRIOTIC PURCHASING OF OHIO COAL TO PREVENT STARVATION

In a recent statement, Governor Vic Donosey says that unless the rapid business decline in the mining regions of the Buckeye state is checked at once, the fast approaching, ultimate results will be complete paralysis of our entire mining system.

"So serious has the situation become," that nothing but universal patriotic purchasing of Ohio coal by Ohio coal users in the immediate future, or extensive alms—which are neither desired, nor asked—can possibly prevent virtual starvation of the unfortunate miners and their families during the cold months which confront us," said the governor.

THE SCHOOL BELL

The tinkle of the school bell sounds in our ears once more. Reminds us of our school days. And the knowledge we did store.

The sound of the school bell will add new ears to the call. The wheels of time moved a cog Summer gone—now comes fall.

Many who once answered the call To them it is no attraction; They have been trained for battle And now are ready for action.

Do we educate ourselves To live a life of ease? Ignoring the laws of God and man And spend our life as we please?

We aim to educate our children To the highest standard we can. Don't believe we came from monkeys But you can make monkeys from man.

We stop to think of by-gone days When the childhood days we spent, Wonder where our associates are With whom we often went.

Many have gone to the great beyond Soon we will be called to go To that great eternal world Of which we so little know.

We are only members of a troop In the game of life now played, The earth is the stage on which Our qualities are displayed.

Our parent played on this stage They aimed to teach their part well, The same reward was held for them It was either Heaven or, who can tell?

Our friends do not return to us To instruct or give advice, You only play this game once, Don't count on playing it twice.

We are only tenants here on earth We leave when we get the call, No difference what we possess We take nothing—we leave all.

ATTENDED REUNION AT LORAIN SUNDAY

Mrs. Cora Barker Miller of Plymouth street, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Peterson of the County line road, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crum and daughter, Helen Jane of Greenwich, motored to Lorain Sunday morning, Sept. 12, to attend the reunion of the Barker family which was held at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Barker. About fifty relatives and friends, a number of which were from other states, enjoyed a delightful day. The reunion will be held next year at the home of Dr. A. S. McKittick and wife at Kenton, Ohio.

SUNDAY GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Snyder of Plymouth street entertained Sunday the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hunter, Misses Tross and Letitia Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tingley and daughter Rosemary all of Mansfield, and Mrs. Alverta Hunter and Mrs. Irene Ziegler of Shiloh.

ATTENDED FUNERAL

Those from here who attended the funeral Sunday of Mrs. Call McClure of Gallon, Ohio, were: Mrs. S. M. Brokaw, Mrs. Florence Brokaw, and Mrs. J. L. Price, Mr and Mrs. Walter Montgomery, also Mr. and Mrs. Mack McPherson of Fremont. Mrs. McClure being a relative.

Richland Fair Draws Crowds

Richland county's annual fair was officially opened Tuesday with a good attendance present. The fair was scheduled to have opened yesterday, but it had been the custom for a number of years to use the opening day to make final arrangements and preparations for the following three days.

Wednesday afternoon's program consisted of two horse races, one of which was at 2:25 and with a purse of $300 offered, and the other a 2:25 race with a purse of $300. An unusual number of horses have been entered for the races of this year's fair, and those attending are assured of some very excellent races.

A program of entertainment, of which W. A. Partello is committee chairman, has also been arranged for the fair. During the afternoon Jack and Grace Champion, America's foremost, "Rube," entertainers will appear in their specialty, "Uncle Si and Aunt Sally at the Fair." A number of concerts and riding parties, are also at the grounds which furnish amusement to men and women and children.

Displays of various kinds for this year's fair have by far exceeded any held during previous fairs, according to W. H. Shryock, secretary of the Richland county fair board. A tent has been erected to shelter a large number of automobile placed on display by local dealers. Other automobile dealers have erected their own tents in which are attractively displayed their cars. Farming machinery and implements also have their share among the displays for this year.

A large variety of farm products representing the cream of this year's crops are on display in the pavilions. Underneath the new grandstand various clubs from Richland county have displayed crops grown by them. Designs in sweet corn and other vegetables have been cleverly worked out by members of the clubs and used to center their display. Another building is devoted entirely to the display of children's clubs where needle work, carpenter work, baked goods and a number of articles made by the members of the organization.

A large amount of livestock representing the farmers' pride of cattle, sheep, hogs, or poultry are being exhibited in the large barn. Secretary Shryock stated yesterday that six entries of hogs, six entries of sheep and six entries of cattle had been placed on exhibit but since that time a much larger number have been entered.

Merchants of Mansfield have cooperated with members of the Richland county fair board in an effort to make it one of the biggest and best fairs ever staged in Mansfield. They have aided committees to arrange many of the features which can be seen at the grounds.

This evening a special program consisting of fireworks and many other features have been arranged by W. A. Partello, chairman of the entertainment committee.—Mansfield Journal.

New Jersey to Stop Vulgar Auto Slogans

New Jersey authorities who have taken steps to prohibit the practice of carrying slogans of a vulgar character on automobiles are to be condemned in the opinion of A.E. Mittendorf, president of the Ohio State Automobile Association, who says, "the action taken is worthy of commendation in every state where motor vehicle owners assume to flaunt such objectionable signs on their cars.

Ohio is by no means free of this practice and those who participate in it are to be condemned by the greater majority of motorists who lay claim to self-respect and decency.

President Mittendorf expressed the hope that no motorist in the state who is a member of any club affiliated with the Ohio State Automobile Association would bring any reflection on the club with which he is connected by carrying any one of the many objectionable slogans that are frequently seen posted on the rear of automobiles.

He gave hearty approval to the movement started in New Jersey to suppress the practice, and called attention to the fact that in that state automobiles carrying slogans of an objectionable character are being listed by the motor vehicle commissioner; and that those who fail to remove the same from their cars stand in a fair way to have their license revoked.

Just why any motorist would display on his automobile sentiments that he would not express personally to those with whom he may come in contact was hard to understand said Mr. Mittendorf. "Some may do so with the thought in mind that such slogans are humorous. On the other hand they would not display signs of a similar character on the front of their homes nor would they probably have the affront to express similar sentiments verbally unless they selected their auditors. Then why should the public at large have to submit to seeing such slogans carried on automobiles?"

Rev. A. M. Peterson, Pastor.
 A goal of 200 present has been set for our Rally Day on next Sunday. The only way we will reach it is for every one to come and if possible bring a friend. Each class is striving to have the highest percentage present. Reward plan will be given to those who have attended Sunday school during the past year. Scholars who are ready will be promoted to the next higher classes. A new class is to be organized for young married people. Now is the time to start attending Sunday school.

At the morning service the pastor's subject will be "A Great Prophet is Arisen," taken from the Gospel lesson for the 16th Sunday after Trinity, Luke 7: 11-17. Look it up.

We are not yet over the top in our Benevolence Campaign. Be prepared to hear a report of results so far and look for the corrected Honor Roll.

Hills-Pugh Wedding

Simply marked the ceremony which Wednesday at 12 o'clock united in marriage, Miss Dorothy Irene Hills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Hills and Raymond Dale Pugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Pugh.

Nuptial vows were received by Rev. A. M. Himes at the home of the bride. Only the immediate families and Mrs. Himes witnessed the wedding. The double ring ceremony was used, the bride's ring being a circle of dia-monds.

The bride wore a frock of pastel shade blue Romanne crepe and a cascade of bride roses. A white-gold wrist watch set with blue sapphires was the groom's gift to his bride.

Bride and groom place cards and a bridal rose market each place for the dinner which was served immedi-ately following the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Pugh left in the after-noon for a five day cruise on the Great Lakes stopping over at the principle cities of interest along the way. Upon their return they will make their home at 147 West Main, Shelby.

Both young people were graduates from the Plymouth high school in 1922. Mrs. Pugh is a graduate of Bowling Green State Normal College and for the past two years has been a primary teacher in the Postoria public schools.

Mr. Pugh is employed in the office of the Shelby Salesbook Company.

MINISTERS OF GOSPEL POOREST PAID WORKERS

One way to increase interest in the churches and to cause a general revival in things religious would be to increase the pay of our clergymen according to the National Republic, which asserts editorially that the ministers of the gospel are the poorest paid class of citizens in America. The editorial says, in part:

"Recently there was held in Chicago a conference of clergymen for the consideration of economic questions. There was the usual talk about conducting industry for service rather than for profit, and a larger share of the rewards of production for the toiler. A Pittsburg minister interrupted the flow of thought on this topic by reminding those present that the average compensation of a clergyman is about half that of a plasterer, bricklayer or linotype operator, and that it compares unfavorably with the wages of an unskilled workman in the steel industry, which was recently made the subject of an economic report by the Federation of Churches.

"There ought to be an awakening and a reform in this matter. If the efforts of some official leaders of churches were employed in this task rather than in projects of national and international regeneration through political schemes like the League of Nations, attention to this near at home duty would have highly beneficial results. If such organizations as the Federal Council of Churches would engage in surveys of the economic status of ministers, and devise ways and means of lifting the level of life for those charged with the responsibility of preaching the gospel, it would probably be a more practical contribution toward the solution of public problems through the means churches have to offer—that regeneration of the masses through which alone better conditions can come—than attention to fine-spun schemes for reforming the world by patent process.

"If a movement were inaugurated to raise the level of compensation for the clergy fifty per cent within the next five years, the effort of itself would underpaid clergymen which would help to vitalize the churches. It would put religion 'on the map' as nothing else could do. That accomplished, the churches should not stop short of providing adequately for the old age of worn-out pastors. Millions are being poured out by American philanthropy at this time on schemes far less worthy than this. What object more important than to put more heart and hope into all of the hundred thousand clergymen who are carrying to millions of Americans the one message that is to be depended on to maintain not only the church, but society and the ordered state? Surely the laborer not only in the industrial but in the moral vineyard is worthy of his hire."

ZONING OF A VILLAGE

The district court of the Eastern District of New York has decided that the trustees of a village may pass and enforce ordinances as to zoning of a village when authorized by the State legislature. Such a case came up with reference to the village of the Great Neck Estates. It was decided in favor of the village trustees who soned their burg with all the show and dignity that accompanies such performances in large centers of population. The zoning laws have been enforced for several years in Washington, D. C. and other large cities, but smaller places, as a rule, build more independently.

COFFEE HOUNDS

A billion pounds of coffee valued at approximately $314,000,000, was required to meet the demands of the "coffee hounds" of the United States during the past fiscal year. Most coffee comes from Brazil, but there are also large importations from Hawaii, Java, Porto Rico and Central American points.

ELECTRICITY FROM WATER POWER

There has been very little increase in the total production of electricity from water power within the last year or two, and by some persons this is regarded as indicating the ineffectiveness of the Federal Power Act. However there are a great many projects in the course of development, and it is certain that the streams of the country are gradually assuming their responsibility toward industry and humanity.

MATERNITY DEATHS

Maternity deaths in the United States are among the highest in the world, the department of labor announces, although the rate has decreased in the last 20 years here.

Reasons given are poverty and inadequate medical care of mothers. In most cases septicemia was the cause of death. Other causes were convulsions, hemorrhage and others, but in far less degree.

The figures and deductions of the labor department statisticians are not open to dispute. They are evidently taken from authentic records. But the announcement is staggering and not very flattering to the most civilized country in the world.

However, the reasons as set forth by the department and upon which any remedial measure must be founded are not convincing. Poverty may be the cause of a great many of these deaths, but this country has less poverty than any other large country, so why should it make so much difference here? And as for medical care, from authentic records, it is what medical men could wish in this country. It is far better and more universal in the United States than in any country in the world.

There must be some other and more potent factor in this high rate of mother mortality in the United States and that factor must be known before any adequate means can be devised to check it.

Find Thirteen Uses For Limestone Dust

Did you know that virtually every time you brush your teeth with powder, or polish your shoes, or tie up a parcel post in paper, or paint a chair or a house, you are using limestone dust?

Thirteen uses for powdered limestone have been found by engineers, a report on whose investigations has just been made public.

- These uses are listed as follows:
- Filler in asphalt paving mixtures.
- Filler in rubber.
- Filler in paint.
- Filler in oil cloth.
- Shoe polish.
- Putty.
- Tooth powder.
- Roofing.
- Glass manufacture.
- Ceramic industry.
- Dusting of mines.
- Agricultural limestone.

It is believed that many other uses for limestone dust will be found as the investigation proceeds. In addition to the vast quantity of limestone dust used annually in asphalt paving mixtures, thousands of tons of crushed stone are employed in the construction of highways. Of the 41,000 miles of improved highways in Ohio today, 35,000 are of some form of macadam. According to Dr. F. P. H. Bear of Ohio State University, upwards of 200,000 tons of agricultural limestone are now being used by Ohio farmers and there are about 11,000,000 acres of land which should be using from one to two million tons of limestone every year.

The chief limestone producing counties in Ohio are Franklin, Delaware, Lucas, Clinton, Miami, Allen, Hancock, Seneca, Erie, Wood, Wyandot, Marion, Crawford, Greene, Auglaize, Sandusky, Huron, and Highland.

STUFFED LIVESTOCK LOSSES OVER SCALES

The weight of animals over the stockyard scales counts more than their weight at home. Heavy weight at home often means a disappointing weight at the market because of excessive shrinkage. Livestock does not ride well stuffed. Such animals, says Paul Gerlaugh, extension specialist in animal husbandry at the Ohio State University, will be scoring when they reach the market.

A scoring animal does not have a normal appetite, so a light market "fill" is taken when they are fed on arrival at the yards. The market weight both surprises and disappoints. Hogs should be given a 75 percent normal feed previous to shipping in cool weather. In hot weather the amount should be cut to 25 percent. Provide clean water as frequently as possible.

Give cattle or sheep all the non-leguminous roughage they want. If they have been accustomed to legume hay mix the last feeding half and half with timothy, to prevent bloat. Never salt animals expecting them to take a heavy fill. They usually scour badly. If they do by chance all heavily the buyer can easily notice it and bid accordingly. Try to handle your livestock. Mr. Gerlaugh advises, so it will look normal on the market.

"Be saving of our feed just before shipping from home. You will have more feed left in the bin and more weight of livestock over the stock yards scales."

Landefeld Bros. Awarded Oakland-Pontiac Agency For Entire Huron County

Landefeld Brothers, local Oakland dealers, have been awarded all of Huron county as their territory as distributors of Oakland and Pontiac automobiles.

They are recognized by the factory as among the most successful dealers in this section and the excellent territory turned over to them is in recognition of their success in selling Oakland and Pontiac cars. It is stated. The territory includes Norwalk, Monroeville, New London, Greenwich, Plymouth and other towns, and they expect soon to establish representative firms in Norwalk and New London. They have a 150 car contract for the county to start. They have disposed of ten Oakland and Pontiac cars in Willard within the last twelve days. The firm is composed of Emil and Frank Landefeld who learned the automobile game as mechanics. They took the Oakland agency four years ago.—Willard Times.

American Woman Visits "Lost Nation"; Claims Descent From Jason

WELCHVILLE, MAINE, Sept. 14.—That the gorages of the Russian Caucasus hide a "lost nation" which claims descent from Jason, wears chain armor like the ancients, and still performs sacrifices and worship trees, is the strange tale brought back to America by Mrs. Karl Rankin, who has just returned from five years as a Near East Relief Worker in Armenia. Mrs. Rankin is the first foreign woman and the first American to venture into this hazardous and hidden land.

Mrs. Rankin, a native of Welchville, is back in her old home on her honeymoon. It was as Miss Pauline Jordan that she spent five years in Armenia, after two years of study with Madame Curie in Paris. On her arrival in New York the manager, Earl Rankin, another returned Near East Relief Worker. Her family were pioneers in Maine, coming here in 1649 and continuing prominent ever since in the upbuilding of the state.

Mrs. Rankin's story of her visit to the "lost nation" of the Saventians, as told to an interviewer, is as follows:
"I was stationed at Alexandropol, in Russian Armenia, where 15,000 refugee orphans are being educated by the Near East Relief. I found that a group of these children were of Saventian race, and it became necessary for somebody to visit their mysterious mountain homeland, in an effort to trace their relatives and if possible to repatriate the children in homes among their own people."
"Perhaps it was a foolhardy and venturesome trip for a woman, but I still feel the thrill of having accomplished it. I was told in Tiflis that I would not come back alive, but my mission was important."
"From the railroad I traveled three days on horseback to a village where I obtained local guides to accompany me through the mountains. For five days our horses climbed steadily, twelve hours a day. The trails often led along the edge of terrific chasms, where a misstep meant death. Then we reached a lofty plateau, more than 9000 feet above sea level, where we began to encounter scattered cottages and tiny hamlets. It was noticeable that no Georgian or Armenian ever came near, for they would often mumble to themselves in Russian, 'A dark people! A dark people!'"

"The country is accessible through a labyrinth of mountain passes for only a few weeks each year. I was the first American woman who had ever visited it. This people may truly be called a lost nation, because it is akin to no other people on earth today. Even the flora of their land seems strange. The natives are white, with fair skins and blue eyes, and they talk a language unknown outside their boundaries. Though they call themselves Christians, their religion is different from any other sect. They still perform sacrifices and there are remnants of ancient tree worship in their rites. Russian scholars say that these people are the descendants of Jason and the Argonauts. One of their prized relics is an anchor which they claim came from Jason's ship. It is preserved in a temple on the slopes of that great mountain upon which Prometheus is said to have been bound."

"During our trip we were compelled to seek nightly refuge in the homes of the people. They live in wooden huts of two stories the lower floor sheltering their animals while the upper floor is a single huge room where the whole family lives and sleeps. Their food consists mainly of hatching, an odd mixture of corn meal and goat's cheese."

"My mission among the Saventians was entirely successful. After a few days, they were no longer suspicious of me, and within a week they were quite friendly. They were tremendously impressed to find that Americans were caring for a group of refugees children belonging to their race, and they promised to send their best men to our orphanage headquarters to select the first unit of children for repatriation. It is quite likely that the American work for these children will result in breaking down the isolation of this people and bringing them back again to a world usefulness."

Library Notes

The Library had enjoyed a very busy summer. Two records were broken in June. The largest number of books ever loaned in an evening was on June 14 when the number ran up to 74. The total number of books loaned during the month of June was 589. This is the largest number released in any one month. The largest number previous to this time was 568 for last January. The circulation for July and August compared quite favorably with that of the winter months—563 books were borrowed in July and 518 in August.

A number of new books have been placed on the shelves this summer. The following books have been purchased or donated:
The Net, Rex Beach.
The Spoilers—Rex Beach.
The Story of a Bad Boy—Aldrich.
Judy—Temple Bailey.
The Hounds of Spring— Sylvia Thompson.
Poor Cecco—Margery W. Bianco.
The High Adventure—J. Farnol.
Fied Hayfences—Thomson.
Rides of the Wind—Thane.
His Official Places—Anon.
Afternoon—Susan Ertz.
Sorrell and Son—Deepling.
America First.
Worth While Stories.

Nine of the twenty-five "best sellers" for August are to be found in our library. Two new magazines have been added to our collection of magazines. They are the Red Cross Courier and The Woman's View Point, a woman's magazine edited and published by women.

This is the beginning of the busy season for both school and clubs. The library force is always glad to look up books on any special subject. However we must have at least a week's time when books are to be obtained from Mansfield.

Do you study your Sunday School lesson regularly? Try studying it with the help of Peloubets Sunday School Notes. It may be obtained from the library free of charge.

Miss Estes, field worker for the Ohio State Library, will be with us sometime this week. The field workers are sent out to investigate conditions in small libraries, to offer suggestions for improvement, and to determine how much aid the library is to receive from the Ohio State Library.

MRS. GEO. HERSHISER, Ass't.

Girl Scout News

The regular meeting of the Scouts was held Wednesday at 4 o'clock, after school. A business session was held and after that the formation. Following was a general good time until five o'clock. Beginning September 15 work will be resumed for attendance stars. To gain a gold attendance star a girl must attend every meeting during the troop year of 22 weeks. The silver attendance star is given for attendance of 90 per cent of the meetings.

After September 15 I will send in an additional registration of the girls who have passed the tenderfoot test since the first registration was made, so if any girl wishes to be registered and get her reward in the month of October before that time.

The Norwalk troop has invited the Plymouth troop to the public meeting to be given when the regional director visits Norwalk, and I hope to have a good turn out to represent Plymouth.

State Poor Farms In Wretched Condition

Ohio, the "mother of Presidents," is also the mother of paupers, and no very tender mother, according to a new book, "The American Poorfarm and its Inmates," recently published by Harry C. Evans, of Des Moines, Iowa. Sixteen fraternal societies cooperated with the U. S. Department of Health to sponsor the investigation.
Mrs. Elizabeth R. Walling, of Detroit, National Regent of the American Insurance Union, made a thorough investigation of all the Ohio poorfarms last year. Her report, included in this book, reveals the deplorable state of many of the institutions she visited.
Three-fourths of the 89 poorfarms in Ohio are in "abominable condition," unsanitary and filthy, with an environment that contributes to disease and immorality, according to the book. Straw ticks, unclean bedding, poor lighting and heat, vermin, a contaminated water supply, and no sewerage are the rule rather than the exception. Seventy-five per cent of the inmates are feeble-minded or insane. The remaining 25 per cent, who are intelligent, are compelled to live with these mental defectives, using the same living rooms, dining rooms, bed rooms and bathrooms.

Wretched as these conditions are, they are merely in a line with those of other states, as the investigation revealed. "Poorhouse" has rightly come to be a mere synonym for disease or degradation. The entire system, according to Mr. Evans and his collaborators, is a disgrace to modern civilization, and should be abolished for a more humane method.

QUICK DOE MEASURE FOR PEACH MEDICINE

A quick method of measuring parathionbenzene in various amounts or fumigating peach trees against the peach tree borer is suggested by specialists in horticulture at the Ohio State University.

A measuring gauge, according to directions given by Frank H. Beach, extension horticulturist at the University, is quickly made by cutting a piece of smooth paper 4 1/2 inches wide and 2 3/8 inches wide. Draw a line exactly through the middle and the long way. Mark it 1/2 ounce. Now draw a second line dividing one of these halves equally. Name this line 3/4 ounce.

Roll the paper into a cylinder, lines marking the ounces inside, and paste it into place. Overlap the ends exactly 3/8 of an inch. The cylinder will hold an ounce of parathionbenzene, known as P D B by orchardists.

Place the cylinder on any hard surface and fill with P D B to the line indicating the quantity you need. Pour the fine crystals to the chemical into a small wide-mouthed bottle and gauge the various amounts on it. A file may be used to cut a mark.

Northern peach growers, Mr. Beach says, will find the gas evolving from the chemical most effective if applied after September 15 and before October 10; in southern Ohio from October 1 to 25.

Use a half to three-fourths ounces of P D B on trees three to five years old, none on younger trees. Mature trees six years old and over may be treated with an ounce.
