

Willard Youth Is Electrocuted While Stringing Aerial

WILLARD—Walter Hunter, 22, while stringing a radio aerial was electrocuted by a live Tuesday afternoon.

Young Hunter was working on the radio aerial at the H. F. Barber home when the accident happened. He had been warned that the radio wire ran next to a 'hot' wire, but thinking the latter was connected with a transformer and carried only 110 volts. Hunter started to connect the two, gave a gasp and fell over dead. It is believed that the 2300 volts of the 'hot' wire passed through the body causing immediate electrocution.

Two incidents of the tragedy for a time led physicians to believe that the youth may have died of heart failure. C. D. Sherbundy who was working with Hunter is said not to have received any shock. Hunter's body was not burned. However, the majority of the five physicians who worked over the body for six hours were convinced that death was the result of electrocution.

The tragedy happened just a few months before Hunter was to be married. He had graduated from Ohio College in 1926 and since that time had been working with his father who is owner of the A. S. Hunter Hardware store. The youth was one of the best liked and most popular young men in Willard, and is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hunter.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Demonstration Will Show How Corn Can Be Cut to Meet All the Regulations

Two corn cutting demonstrations will be staged Wednesday, October 12, by the County and State Extension Departments for the purpose of showing that corn can be cut, low enough to meet government regulations on the European Corn Borer.

One of the demonstrations will be held at the farm of Loren Griffin, 1 mile south of Pichville on Route 13, starting at 9:00 a. m.

The other will be held on the farm of Art Robbins on the Medina road, 1 mile east of the Townsend Section Line Road, starting at 2:00 p. m.

Any farmer can see the demonstration in less than one-half hour time, and County Agent Hampson thinks that every corn grower who has not seen a similar demonstration should try to attend one of these, as they will be the last held in the County.

SHOWING UNUSUAL HEATER The Kending Plumbing Shop

The Kending Plumbing Shop is showing one of the very latest heaters, manufactured by the Crescent Stove Co., and is known as the Sunola. There are many fine advantages this heater has over other types of this kind, including shutters on the sides which open and throw heat to the floor, thus making the room warm in almost half the time required at the top prevents heat from going direct to the floor; double thickness insulation which prevents the walls from being damaged as well as children being burned; and one-third less coal as required on heaters of this type.

Mr. Kending states that those interested in heating their home with less fuel and enjoying a warm, moist air, will do well to see this heater before buying.

Further details will be announced in an advertisement next week, showing illustrations of many important features.

COMING—The Fourth Commandment

Stipenduous, you'll say!

TRUX STREET WORK LIKELY TO START EARLY THIS MONTH

While no official word has been received, yet it is believed that work will commence on the improving of Trux street around the tenth of this month. This information comes from a reliable source and every indication points to the beginning of activities soon.

A. J. Baltes, who was the successful bidder for this street, is now with his outfit at Lorain, and it is likely that as soon as he will work there is completed that he will move his equipment to Plymouth.

It is expected that the McLaughlin ditch improvement will be completed this week, and this project is destined to take care of a large area of drainage. The ideal weather has made it possible for this work to be rushed along and those in charge have taken full advantage of the opportunity.

Those in charge of erecting the new water tank are arriving in town, and work will probably begin the last of this week. The tank, as it appears, is made on the ground, makes a great mass of steel, and one wonders how the workmen will get about to set it up. The tank is a big improvement over the old one, as it allows the cleaning of sediment without much effort, thus giving us a little better grade of water.

U. S. FIGURES SHOW CRIME ON THE INCREASE

Crime, as evidenced by admissions to state prisons, is growing faster than the population of the United States, figures announced by the census bureau at Washington indicate.

Complete returns from 31 states covering 55 of a total of 99 state prisons and reformatories listed 27,918 new prisoners received by these institutions in 1926 as compared with 21,054 in 1925, the first prison census year, or an increase of 26.3 per cent. There were 34.1 prisoners per 100,000 population, just last year as against 27.9 in 1925.

The total inmates in 55 institutions on January 1 last was 63,528 as against 47,578 on January 1, 1925.

Of the states covered, Ohio led in both population and prisoners. It had 1,000,000 population and 1,785 prisoners. Its four institutions received 3,171 prisoners during the year and the total was 9,144.

at Her Home in Ripley
Eva Adell Case, oldest daughter of Israel C. and Mary E. Howard Case, now deceased, was born in village of Delphi, Huron County, Ohio, January 30, 1863, and died at the midnight hour of September 30, 1927, aged 64 years and 8 months. She became converted during the early 80's under the pastorate of J. H. Barron and gave her heart and hand to the church and remained faithful to the end.

On June 23, 1884, she united in the holy bonds of matrimony with Thomas B. Black, who now survives her. Mrs. Black was a home woman, industrious and faithful and devoted to her home and family. She always lived in Ripley and died in the house where she was born. She was a seamstress of rare merit as well as an expert in weaving carpets and rugs. All of which found a ready sale at her home. Besides her husband, three children, one brother, one sister are left to mourn her loss. The funeral was held at her home by Rev. Dr. Mente, a former pastor. Burial was made in the Mt. Hope Cemetery, Shiloh.

"MECHANICAL CHIEF" ADVOCATED BY OAKLAND EXPERT

A suggestion that the "mechanical ear" should be the next development in eliminating the human equation from the marvellous precision methods which constantly are building better performance and longer life into modern automobiles, is contained in an article which appears in a recent issue of the Journal of the Society of Automotive Engineers under the signature of R. R. Todd, chief inspector of the Oakland Motor Car Company.

"In spite of the care taken in the inspection of a differential assembly before being placed in the car is by the keen, trained and specially trained to listen to the sound of the gears as they are revolved by an electric motor.

If the assembly "sounds good" he passes it. But no two men hear exactly alike and man never has been and never will be infallible. In other words the human element is a variable. It is the replacement of this human element by a "mechanical ear" of unchanging accuracy that is advocated by Mr. Todd.

"In the case taken in many cases to establish a standard to follow, considerable difficulty is experienced and frequently a practical, uniform standard on noises," writes Mr. Todd. It is extremely difficult to secure men whose sense of hearing is keen enough to enable them to "standardize" to a point insuring uniformity of product that will satisfy the buying public. According to our experience about one man in 500 has a sense of hearing that will enable him to make a satisfactory judgment day after day; and even the best men have their "off" days: Their hearing is affected by their physical condition and frequently by outside causes to the extent that they will pass unacceptable units which are not discovered until the final car assembly has been completed. This, of course, is costly. It reveals clearly the weakness of the human element.

The invention of an instrument or process that will indicate or register noise in a practical way would be one of the greatest possible assets in modern mass production.

"There is another difficult problem in standardizing inspection in matters where personal judgment is required such as body finish and enameled parts. In visual inspection involving personal judgment, diligent effort must be made to pick men who are above the average in ability and have a favorable disposition.

"A temperamental or indifferent inspector cannot be educated to maintain a standard where his personal judgment, uniform from day to day, will avoid the handicapping of production."

In the good old days a man killed his wife and then excused himself to the jury by saying that he was drunk when he did it. In modern days a woman kills her husband and tells the jury she was "triangled" into it.

Tests by Buick at General Motors Proving Ground and by Buick owners in every section of the world—under every climatic condition—have proved that you need never change your oil if you own a Buick. Replenishments and inspection of the Buick oil-filter only are required. This is still another Buick contribution to the economy and efficiency of motor car operation . . . another indication of Buick's greater value.

TOM MIX POPULAR IN 'THE CIRCUS ACE'

Flapping in the breeze on a trapeze of a maverick parachute beside a beautiful girl is Tom Mix's latest screen stunt for the entertainment of theatre patrons. Tom has ridden plunging bronchos, bucking steers, runaway automobiles and broncho-railway trains, but this is his first attempt to ride a parachute and he does it without a sardle in the opening scenes of "The Circus Ace", his latest starring drama for Fox Films, commencing at the Castamba Thursday and Friday.

This parachute act introduces Tom to the girl of the story, in this case Natalie Joyce, one of Hollywood's famous screen beauties, who has the role of the circus trapeze performer and acrobat.

"The Circus Ace," is the tale of the trapeze performer and the ranchman in a small Arizona town, and it runs through five reels of pathos, humor, action and violent riding, in which all the desperados are vanquished, to the final scenes, in which Tom pulls his gun and writes in lead, "I love you."

"Rookies" Tells Story Of Training Camp Life

A picture described as the Shelby's funniest comedy comes to the Shelby Opera House Monday and Tuesday. It is "Rookies," with Karl Dane and George K. Arthur featured as a new comedy team, with Marceline Day in the leading feminine role. Sam Wood directed this new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer success from a story and continuity by Brown Meyer.

"Rookies" tells an exceedingly amusing tale of life in a citizen's military training camp. Dane has the role of a hard-boiled top-sergeant whose rival for the hand of Marceline Day is a scruffy young private played in imitable fashion by George K. Arthur. The warfare between these two is carried on through scenes of alternate laughter and terror, as many episodes take place in a runway balloon above the clouds.

Co-operation from the United States Government in staging this production has made possible an authentic and graphic background of military life in the training camps.

Columnist Finds Lasting Qualities in "At Sun Down"

New York City.—Do you want to know what your favorite actor eats for breakfast? Or where he spends his evening? Or how your last loved song writer gets his inspiration?

Carl Helm, famous New York columnist, will tell you. Helm has come on to New York from a small Indiana town where he got his first journalistic training on one of the intimate home town dailies that treat people as humans rather than celebrities. Now he is applying the same treatment to New York with unrivaled success.

People who see plays are interested in knowing about those who eliminate them, and people who hear scores and sing them are interested in how they came to be written and what kind of person did it.

Mr. Helm, from his contact with musicians, jazz and classical, has formed opinions about the jazz-old masters controversy.

"The truth is," he says, "that it is hard to tell today what is classic and what is popular. I have a hunch that the popular song of today, well written, beautiful in sentiment and feeling, as for instance 'At Sun-down,' Walter Donaldson's latest, may easily be the classic of tomorrow. The sentiment of the lyric is unusual and really quite beautiful and the music—well it has all the elements of a great folk song.

"It has happened often, you know, that the classic has not been recognized in its own generation. Time alone will show the truth about the so-called jazz of today. I think the critic of jazz might be surprised if they could look into the future."

Who can remember when all grandmas did was to sit in the house and knit woolen mittens for the children's Christmas?

GRAIN FED WITH PASTURE ADDS TO MILK YIELD

If you are one of the dairymen who believe that a radical change in diet for 30 days doesn't make much difference to a dairy cow, just try it on the human system for a while. Cut meat and potatoes and other substantial items from your menu for a month, then take stock of your physical condition.

Yet that is literally what you are doing to a dairy cow when you turn her out to pasture and deprive her of the grain ration she has had through the winter and spring. Such a feeding schedule means the elimination of solid, body-building food, and the substitution of something that won't accomplish the same result.

Of course, cows like green, succulent grass, just as children like lots of things to eat that you wouldn't think of permitting them to live on. The cow won't complain, but sooner or later she will show in the milk pail the bad effects of the substitution.

Even at its best, grain isn't sufficient. It has a tonic effect, and may stimulate milk flow for a while, but after she has been on pasture alone for some time, the cow begins to take off her back what she puts in the pail.

Dairy authorities who have experimented extensively in this direction urge dairymen this year to try keeping their cows on a grain ration with the grass. This gives both cow and pasture a chance. What is more important, as extensive tests have proved, cows so fed will start the fall in far better condition than would otherwise be possible, and will give a bigger yield straight through the entire year.

We don't know what President Coolidge is going to do when he gets out of office, but our guess is that if he moves on a farm he will be able to make it pay, without much help from Congress.

YOU KNOW MORE THAN TAXES TO YOUR COMMUNITY

In a recent address on "Civic Leadership, Development and Responsibility," Samuel Insull, President of the Commonwealth Edison Company of Chicago, said:

"I hold that every man owes something besides his taxes to the community in which he lives. The more he has been favored mentally and materially by fortune, the more he owes. In discharge of the debt, he is under obligation to do for the community something that he does not get paid for, something that he does not make money by. His obligation to do this is not just a one-in-a-million obligation; it is a continuous obligation, and what he does in discharge of it should be limited only by his abilities and his opportunities.

"A true sense of civic responsibility springs from recognition of this obligation. Individual response to it produces the civic leadership that assures continuous, well balanced, symmetrical community development—the development that provides for social and spiritual needs, so to speak, as well as for the physical and material needs of a community.

"It is to the men of constructive vision that we owe the welfare of this continent into one homogeneous whole—the greatest amongst the modern creations of empire. It is to this constructive class that we owe the development of our great communities and our great businesses, and from them you should draw your inspiration for taking your share of civic responsibility and community service."

HOW TO SIGNAL THE CAR DRIVER BEHIND WHEN TURNING

Foiks who go a motoring are frequently confused when the driver of the car ahead sticks his hand out indicating that he intends to alter his course. How is he going to tell whether he intends to make a left or right turn or just pull up to the curb to stop.

Here is the right code, which it would be well to memorize or cut out and paste in the car in a convenient place so you may easily refer to it. If turning to the left, stick hand out straight. If turning to the right, hold arm pointed up. If to stop, hold arm pointing down. Of course the left arm and hand is referred to as the driver does the signaling. All this helps the fellow coming behind a lot.

Statement Issued to Protect Animals on Our Highways

A plea motorists to lessen the sacrifice of animal life on the highways is made in a statement issued by T. P. Henry, president of the American Automobile Association. Dogs, cats, rabbits, chickens, turkeys and other birds and animals, both wild and domesticated are the victims of tens of thousands of mishaps every season. He points out, and the great majority could be spared if every motorist will take it upon himself to give them a chance.

"Undoubtedly many of these killings are unavoidable," says Mr. Henry. "Many, however, are needless and could have been prevented if the motorists had been willing to make the necessary concession to the animal's inability to act with reason.

"In one way there is more than the humane element in the matter of giving the animal a chance to get out of the way. There is the element of self-protection as well. It is a matter of record that an animal the size of a dog easily may cause the wrecking of an automobile, and this point should be remembered by all motorists.

"It is obvious, of course, that no one would expect thoughtfulness to extend to the absurd limit of jeopardizing the life of occupants of the car. There have been hundreds of such unfortunate cases recorded, and they show the limit to which some individuals are willing to go in protecting animal life.

"The ranks of motoring," he concludes, "are filled with individuals who possess the finest instincts. Once their attention is called to the need for co-operation looking toward the protection of animal and bird life it is certain they will respond."

Editorial And News Comment On National Happenings

The University of Iowa proposes to start a striking precedent. After two years of preparation the university has organized and is now opening a School of Religion which will function as an integral part of the College of Liberal Arts.

Religious instruction in a university is a new thing, but why not? There is plenty of the other sort of thing offered by the modern educational institutions. The project, it is said, will carry the indorsement and command the active co-operation of Protestants, Jewish and Catholic churches, aided by another group which is representative of religion at large.

The School of Religion is not in any way an attempt to force denomination all compromise or to exact uniformity. It is claimed that it distinctly is not a revolt against the traditional separation of church and state. The school has been approved and accepted by the State Board of Education with full university standing, but it is independently financed and is directed by trustees of the Protestants, Jews and Catholics.

There is much in the general field of religion about which all denominations can agree. There is nothing objectionable to the teaching of religion on the basis of complete parity with other departments of instruction. Broadly speaking there should much good come out of this effort to widen the garment of spiritual culture.

Compensation insurance has become a necessity in almost every line of activity. A fellow lost his hand while operating a still down in Alabama. A federal agent shot it off.

An election has been called off in Mexico. Evidently a shortage of arms and ammunition.

Men used to bring their lunch in tin can but now they bring themselves in one.

Of course, it is generally understood that the horse is a vanishing creature. He was bound to vanish because his upkeep was so expensive and because, unlike the tractor, he had to be fed whether he worked or not. Now the rural economics department of the Ohio experiment station says that east of the Mississippi, where farm tracts are smaller and often lie on uneven grounds, the horse is indispensable and his upkeep cost is being lowered.

At least the department finds that in 1926 the average cost of the work of 63 horses on certain farms studied was 25.3 cents an hour and in 1925 the cost of the work of 82 horses was 12.5 cents an hour. The annual food cost per horse was $175 in 1926 and only $60 in 1925.

There is a slight catch in these figures. Some of that reduction in cost is due to the lower market value of hay and grain. Yet the farmer must put about the same amount of time and energy into raising these crops for his horse so that the lower cost is theoretical.

Many experts. Particularly those of the United States government make use of a large army of experts: that's why it costs the government twice as much for anything it does as the same job would cost private enterprise. It is now said that one in every sixteen people in the United States is on the public payroll in some capacity, and those not on the payroll have to "turnish" the pay. Government experts furnish the generals, the lieutenants and the captains for one of the largest divisions of tax-eating armies. The bureau of standards, one of the many bureaus of which the public seldom hears, is a good spender and is unending in its expenditures. There are hundreds of bureaus and boards spending money in ways that the dear taxpayer never dreamed of; and this done by our dutiful congressmen who do not want to trouble their constituents with this detail that would only bring them a few more headaches. And our next Congress will find room for spending more money by furnishing new jobs.

It seems flying an airplane across the United States would be hazardous enough at any stage without carrying a lion as a passenger.

Common sense ought to dictate to anyone old enough to be allowed to have a gun that he should never fire it simply because he thinks he sees an animal move. Not to wait until he actually sees the animal and knows that it is not of the human species is he justified in pulling the trigger.

One can scarcely pick up a daily paper, a magazine, or even a little all-home print country paper, and certain ly not the home paper containing a patent "inside," these days without seeing a column or part column featuring an article written by a medical expert, on some health subject. If the family physician is shown or referred to any statements, made in one of these columns, he is apt to smile rather patronizingly as much as to say, "well, reading these articles will not do you any harm."

As a matter of fact most of these authors of health articles stick pretty close to safe text and considerable of the matter refers to dieting for the sick, and some eating for the well. As a matter of fact there cannot be much question but that many readers are benefitted by these articles, for

It is safe to say that more Americans these days, or we might say a larger per cent of our population, know how to protect health better than ever before, by right living. It is true that a few, having access to articles by one author, may misread the author's intention, and go daffy on dieting, or some other subjects, but no great harm is apt to ensue, unless some person affected with an anemic malady, might starve to death unless rescued by a physician. Authors of health articles usually are quite careful to refer the reader to a properly qualified physician if symptoms indicate a serious situation. Therefore we say, let all of the health articles be published, most of the information is good, and some of it will stick.

Volume 2 We Publish the Truth, The Whole Truth, and Nothing But the Truth Number 1

Students to Continue Publishing the Post

Having decided that it is altogether fitting and proper that we continue the P. H. S. Post, we have assembled a staff of able-bodied reporters who will endeavor to gather the news of Plymouth school and place it in print before the public. We base our reports upon actual facts giving you the "Truth, the Whole Truth, and Nothing but the Truth." We ask for the support of the public in the continuation of our little paper.

And if any one went to sleep in that time there was a man come around with a pole with a knob on the end of it and hit you on the head. There was also two different kinds of religions that they believed in: The Revival of Learning and Puritanism." Plan to Inaugurate Safety Plan During Rush Hour at School

Beginning Monday noon, there will be two student traffic officers on duty at the street crossings before the school building from 12:45 to 1:00 o'clock. This is a time of special danger owing to the fact that children are returning to school and machines filled with men are returning to the shops. Pupils see to it that you cross the street at the proper intersections no "jay walking."

And drivers, please cooperate with our "cops". There are state laws

Standard Emblem Will Be Used by Hi School on Class Rings and Pins

From now on, all the classes that graduate from Plymouth High School will have the same style rings and pins. The only difference will be the date of graduation.

The emblem chosen by the High School Students is simple and plain, and yet it will mean a lot to those who graduate from P. H. S. A small picture of the school building will be placed on the ring surrounded by the opening line of the Alma Mater, "Oh, here's to thee, old P. H. S." This emblem was chosen for sentimental reasons only certainly not because we do not want a new building, or because we think it is particularly beautiful—because we have a love for the old building even in its disreputable condition.

There will be no class fights any more over the style of the class ring, which is indeed, a very good thing. Alumni will recognize other graduates of Plymouth High by the emblem of the class ring. So you see, it has many advantages.

The entire student body voted on this and the approval of the students was shown by the nearly unanimous vote. The general design was chosen by the student body, and the particulars by the Junior Class has the honor of being the first class to use the standard emblem for their class rings and pins.

High School Wiener Roast Accompanied By Much Merriment

With their hair parted in the middle and combed straight back and their noses rouged a flaming red, the freshmen girls will without doubt be remembered by all who watched them perform their initiation antics. "The boys, rolled down to the ankles, stood right side out, also performed their duties as good little freshmen should. Just three of the boys were unlucky enough to have their locks cut, not by us, today they appeared in their classes with heads practically shaven. In order that the cruelly done them may be disguised.

Following the formal initiation in the afternoon, the freshmen, chaperoned by the upper classmen, hiked to Souarwine's farm, where the evening was spent playing football, baseball, and roasting weiners and marshmallows. The committees in charge should be commended for their splendid work.

We feel quite sure that their memories as well as ours will be happy ones, after having indulged in the sport that we did.

Glee Clubs Organized; Other Music Items.

Dear Folks:
School is a very busy place this year, and I hardly ever find time to write you a letter. However, I promise you I will write to you every week.

Both the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs have been reorganized this year. The boys elected the following officers: John Root, President, and Deryl Cramer, Secretary-Treasurer. The girls elected Emmeline Fate President and Alveta Hale Secretary-Treasurer.

Miss Lorimer has been employed as a Musical Supervisor for the grades and as a Musical Instructress in the high school. She comes every Thursday, directs music, and in between times gives lessons on various instruments.

The School Orchestra has again been organized. Miss Lorimer is the director leader. We have a ten piece orchestra and would appreciate it if some of those members of the High School who possess talent would join our band of players. You know the saying: "The More the Merrier."

These are the following instruments:
Cornet Alveta Hale
Trumpet Reginald-Ervin
Saxophones Robert Schreck
Georgine Smith
Trombone Val St. Claire
Drums Mary E. Himes
Violins Arlene Straub
John Root
Emmeline Fate
Pianist Klea Anderson

And Oh Folks! what do you think? Guess!—We are going to give an opera. Isn't that wonderful? And we have selected the opera already. Do you remember the "Belle of Barcelona"? Will, it is not that. It is a new item on the menu, and called "Pickles." It is a clever little comedy chink full of laughs. We assure you that you will not be disappointed in it. Although the definite time for production has not yet been decided, it will be given some time before Christmas. We are warning you ahead of time to warm your enthusiasm and ask you to save your pennies so that you can come. The list of characters will be sent to at a later date. That's all this week, Folks. Expect another letter again on next Thursday.

GRADE NEWS

Owing to the difficulty in getting settled for another school year, very little news of interest could be obtained from the grades. Nevertheless, the students, foreseeing the importance of study for later life and having fine example from the high school students, are proving it is possible to study and place play where it belongs.

The first and second grades are getting a nice start in their school work. The first grade started Oct. with 23 pupils. The second grade with 27 pupils. The per cent of attendance in the first grade for Sept. was 97.6. That of the second grade was 96.

SHILOH SCHOOL NEWS

Edited by Members of the Freshman English Class

Miss Ellen Firoved of Shelby will have charge of the elocution and dramatics department in the Shiloh schools. Miss Firoved will come to Shiloh every Thursday and give lessons to any pupils desiring to take them. This department will be conducted in the same manner as the instrumental work under the direction of Mr. Rosenberry. The school fur nishes the room and the pupils pay the teacher directly for the lessons. Miss Firoved already has a class of five high school pupils. Her charge per lesson is 75c.

Dr. Monte had charge of the chapel services last Monday morning. His talk was on the life of Garfield. Dr. Monte told us of the clean mind and soul that Garfield had. He also told us of his education which was limited because he had to work. Dr. Monte said that in order to be successful we must have clean minds, bodies, and souls.

Shiloh schools had a very good display of work at the Richland County Fair last week. A complete 75-foot section was filled with material from the various grades and departments. The prizes consisted of one first, two seconds, seven thirds, and one fourth. In all Shiloh won 123.50.

Shiloh boys kitenball team have two scheduled games this week due to a postponed game last week. Tuesday in 4th grade composition, $5.00. Friday to Plymouth. We hope to win both games but in either case, Shiloh will do her best.

HARMON ROETHLISBERGER

The girls kitenball team also have two games this week, playing the same schedule as the boys. The last game with Plymouth resulted in a score of 25 to 7 in favor of Shiloh. We expect to win both games this week.

"THE BLACK DIAMOND EXPRESS" EULOGIZES THE RAILROAD MAN

Monte Blue, as Dan Foster, engineer, epitomizes all that is fine, strong and loyal in the railroad man.
