FROM Our Point OF VIEW

We have been thinking all week for what we should be most thankful. There's the home—the business—the many things which we can enumerate—and quite a few which we hold very dear—but after all the man or woman who enjoys perfect health has the most to be thankful for. Not because we expect a bounteous feast tomorrow, but for the simple reason—where there's health, there's happiness.

The law forbids the selling or giving of cigarettes to minors. How then, does the average boy about town secure cigarettes? In the eyes of the law the minor who smokes is a criminal.

The other day two youngsters were seen in a local store, one smoking, and after he would take a couple of "puffs," would hand the stub over to his chum. Cigarette smoking is no disgrace, but it is a menace to the young and growing lad, whose vital organs are not developed to a point to overthrow the deadly effects of nicotine.

Cigarette dealers should remember that where death exists as to the age limit of boys, a written order is necessary to purchase cigarettes.

Smoking, we suppose, is just like any other habit—once you get accustomed to it—it's hard to quit.

I used to have my breath examined each night for the smell of "Ball Durham" and "Duke's Mixture" and I was not always successful in "killing it." When I failed, then the strap for me.

The history of Thanksgiving dates back to three hundred odd years—and what an interpretation today! Our forebears thankful for a place to worship God, and we—thankful for a sumptuous dinner.

Christmas Clubs and Savings Accounts will be a boom to business—and we'll venture to say that all of the savings will not be spent directly for Xmas joys. For through the habit of systematic saving the people have learned to become thrifty. And thrift in this respect is a well paid habit.

BAZAAR A SUCCESS

Approximately 200 people attended the chicken supper Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce Rooms under the auspices of the Friendship class of the M. E. church.

A splendid supper of chicken with all the side dishes was served piping hot and if you went away hungry it was your own fault.

A splendid display of hand-made articles were sold almost as soon as put out for sale.

Home-made candies and a fish pond proved very profitable features. All in all it was a decided success, almost $220.00 being cleared.

The Friendship Class wish to extend their thanks to the public who so generously patronized them and made the bazaar and supper a success.

RUTH BALDUF HONORED AT HEIDELBERG

Taking the leading role in the annual College Play is a coveted and treasured honor among the students at Heidelberg College. This distinction was bestowed upon Miss Ruth Balduf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Balduf.

Miss Balduf, who is a Freshman, was chosen from among twenty girls to take the leading feminine role in the Comedy Dramas "The Easy Mark," by Jack Larric to be given on Dec. 9. This is the first time in ten years that a Freshman has been singled out and honored with so important a part. The Play is being produced under the auspices of the Theta Phi Dramatic Fraternity.

THANKSGIVING OBSERVANCE

The observance of Thanksgiving here will no doubt be unusually quiet as the factory, post office, bank and most other business institutions will be closed throughout the day.

Many "out-of-town" visitors will be guests of relatives, and several local people will spend the day out of town. From indications many hunters will go to the field in search of rabbit and game. The present weather forecast at Wednesday noon indicated snow or a slow, cold rain.

Church services will be held at the Lutheran church, and all congregations from other churches, and the general public are invited to attend. Rev. McBroom, M. E. pastor, is scheduled to speak at this service.

P. T. A. MEETING

The P. T. A. had its regular meeting on Thursday evening, Nov. 17 in the High School room. The program was a stunt presented by High School pupils.

Supr. Handley of Lucas gave a demonstration with a stereophonic picture machine, showing some of its uses in educational work. The machine has been left in the school with the privilege of thirty days free trial. All who have seen it are hoping that it may be left here as a part of the equipment of the school. The next meeting will be on Dec. 28 when more pictures will be shown.

ON THE SICK LIST

Mr. R. A. McBride has been quite ill at his home the past week.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE THURSDAY EVENING

Don't forget the Annual Thanksgiving Service to be held Thursday evening in the Lutheran church. This is a union service and all church members are asked to attend. Rev. McBroom will deliver the address.

INSTALL WATER

Mr. J. L. Price and Mr. A. A. Ross are installing water in the kitchen of the M. E. church. This will fill a long felt want inasmuch as lack of water supply greatly handicapped the workers in social affairs.

$220,000 IS VALUE SET ON WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON—Although more than 100 years old, the White House and the grounds surrounding it today were appraised as worth at least $220,000,000 at present day realty values, which is by far the most valuable residential property in the national capital.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE

Rev. McBroom will deliver the sermon at the annual Union Thanksgiving Day service at the Lutheran church, Thursday evening at 7:30. Special music by the Lutheran Choir. Don't miss the Community Thanksgiving Service.

TO THE PUBLIC

We are going to call upon our prominent citizens in Plymouth to lend us in Chapel exercises. We ask your co-operation in this work.

Minstrel Show Friday Night

There's charms and thrills—melody and syncopation in a minstrel show, and Friday night a host of Plymouthites will journey "Way Down in Dixie" where they'll enjoy a regular old fashioned, "sho-out to goodness" minstrel, for the P. T. A. will give a minstrel show at Hamilton Hall next Friday evening.

The minstrel is put on by a group of women from around North Fairfield and from all reports coming to this office, they have been a tremendous success and many demands are being made upon them for appearance in other nearby towns. There are thirty five women, and they appear in black face, fully costumed in minstrel style, and with music and jokes they pull off you are more than assured of your money's worth.

The Parent-Teachers may count themselves very lucky in being able to secure this group, and we feel certain that the public will respond to this announcement by attending. It is a benefit performance, a portion of the proceeds going to the P. T. A. treasury here. Remember the time and place. Friday night, Hamilton Hall at 8 p. m. Prices: school children 20c, adults, 30c.

23 Millions In Savings Clubs

More than twenty-three million dollars will be released by the banks of Ohio early in December to approximately a half million persons in the state who have saved systematically through the year in Christian Savings Clubs operated by these institutions, the Ohio Bankers Association announced here today.

Most of these millions of dollars, accumulated by provident Ohioans in anticipation of holiday expenses, will go to the retail business houses of the state for the purchase of Christmas gifts and supplies. Portions of it also will be used to meet obligations incident to the end of the year, while a share also will go back to the banks in the form of additions to permanent savings accounts.

The exact amount of Christmas Savings money to be released by the banks is $23,022,021, according to Charles H. Mylander, Secretary of the Bankers Association. This will be distributed among 471,676 persons. These figures, Mr. Mylander pointed out, reflect the increased popularity of this form of saving. Last year, total Christmas Savings deposits for the state were only slightly in excess of $20,000,000, showing an increase of $2,500,000 for 1927.

The average Christmas Savings account for the state was $43.00. Medina County led all others with an average of more than $70. Gallia County was second with more than $41, while depositories in Summit and Stark Counties followed closely with averages of more than $55.

THANK OFFERING SERVICE

Mr. Mildred Cheever of West Side Community House, Cleveland, gave the principal address Sunday evening at the M. E. church when the W. H. M. S. had their annual Thank Offering.

Mrs. Cheever who is in charge of the Relief Training at the Home, gave some very interesting facts as well as a vivid description of the work carried on under their supervision.

Others who are compelled to work can leave their children at the Home under capable workers and every day last week the nursery averaged ninety children. Their work is not confined to this one branch of helpfulness. She cited many instances where help to needy families was given. Forty-three workers are kept busy doing deeds of kindness and helpfulness.

To carry on such a tremendous task takes considerable money. The Community Chest Fund of Cleveland has found it a commendable institution and every year it comes in for a share from that source. However, not enough to fulfill its obligations and consequently outside aid is necessary. Various departments of the local church forward funds and donations to further such worthy work.

Mrs. McBroom and Miss Ruth L'Amoreaux were also on the program giving several vocal numbers.

Local Teams Win Games

Adairo sent a fast boys' team over to Plymouth Friday night with the intention of giving our boys a good wallop. However, we are very proud to say that they got "stung."

It was a fast and furious battle from start to finish. Our boys were a little slow in getting started and trailed at the half, 19 to 16. The second half was an entirely different story. Our boys started with a rush and soon overcame Adairo's lead. More than that they took the lead and were never headed again. The subs were sent in for a short time during the fourth quarter and all played very creditably. The game ended with the score 36 to 25 in favor of P. H. S.

PLYMOUTH GIRLS vs. ADAIRO GIRLS

The Adairo girls met the Plymouth team at Plymouth last Friday night. It was the first game of the season, and the girls showed much spirit and enthusiasm. All the girls did fine work. The second half Coach Derr put in the "A" team. This game there was not quite so much competition. There are good prospects of the substitutes this year making good players later on.

Each player has to obtain a certain scholastic standard before they may play. All of the players are working hard to get their standard and keep it.

There has been more bleachers constructed to accommodate the people, come out and root for the girls team as well as the boys team. The next game at home will be with Shiloh on Dec. 2. Everybody come out and cheer for the home team.

Is It Well With The Lad?

By DR. G. R. MENTE,

No. 4
Only too often do parents forget that the pleasures of boyhood are but a part or portion, rightfully belonging to the lad, yea the rich heavenly dower with which every young life is endowed. The great teacher of Galilea in that wonderful story of the prodigal throws no reflection upon the asking of the younger son for the goods rightfully belonging to him under the law of that far away age. It was not the possession of wealth that made him an outcast, but his life was blighted and all future prospects ruined for a time, by the wrong employment and enjoyment of these blessings, and who was to blame? The early training in the home had failed to lay stress upon the great art of learning how to overrule passions and desires, calculated to destroy real happiness. Wonderful lessons are to be taught in the home and practiced by the wise parents, so that the adolescent lad or girl, can start in life unhampered by unhealthy, emotional attachments which will eventually cripple the future usefulness of the child and make it dependent upon the parental roof. If parents would only remember that children in the home, especially boys, are mere playthings provided by an all wise providence for their amusement, or to satisfy certain ambitions in their own life, that have never been satisfied, parents would be far more careful and prayerful in the development of the young life in the home. Let us teach that lad that every power bestowed upon the young, life, either mental or physical, is a gift from heavens rich storehouse, but only on trust, we are only stewards of the talents bestowed upon us and at some time will have to give a strict account of our stewardship. Let us at the same time not in any way check the joy and pleasure of boyhood's happy hours, but rather place upon youth the indelible stamp that all enjoyments pouring for a season their deep, and swiftly flowing streams of gladness thru the young life, are only given to be returned in service of joy and thankfulness. The wise parent will understand that in spite of the price of experience, it is generally by this method that he learns the most valuable lessons of life, and sees the proper way out of difficulties almost imperceptible. Do never forget the adolescent age brings a new experience to the lad, and he is beginning toirk under the restriction of some home, reaching out for independence, and it causes rebellion in the mind to be completely under the parental domination. The lad at this time will strive to work out many of his problems, for himself or he will attempt to get help from some other source than the parent. This might be called his age of emancipation. Here so many young lives suffer shipwreck, for parents too often resent the reserve of the lad, they ridicule and treat with contempt the very things that mean most to him just at this time of development—then they wonder why the lad refuses to confide in them. Another great mistake is often made by parents, appreciating their own limitation of knowledge, will live in constant fear that the lad will discover the "weak spots" in the father's armor, and this strange state of mind often leads to the tendency to become arbitrary, this will be resented by the wide awake lad, for resentment against authority is one of the common reasons among failures of our young men: You find this drawback in the home, in the school, in college, the factory, shop and office; how to be able to safely guide the lad past all these difficulties require not only deep study of human nature, but considerable meditation and communion with God. Are you beginning to realize that there is a great deal in that question asked by the prophet long ago? Is it well with the lad?

BETTER FARMING AT LOWER COSTS

By DAN H. OTIS
Director Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association

PRODUCTIVITY of labor in several industries shows a remarkable increase in output per man since 1914. In the iron and steel industry there has been an increase of 59 per cent; boots and shoes, 6 per cent; leather tanning, 26 per cent; slaughtering and meat packing, 27 per cent; petroleum refining, 83 per cent; paper and pulp, 34 per cent; cement, 61 per cent; automobiles, 172 per cent; rubber tires, 211 per cent. These lowering costs of production have made it possible for industry to face the hazards of over-production.

D. H. OTIS

Industry has laboratories that are lowering production costs. In the agricultural colleges the farmers have their laboratories—experiment stations that are constantly working on problems affecting farmers' interests, and in them many methods have been worked out by which it is possible to increase materially the yield, reduce the cost of production and follow the same business principles that have been followed by industry.

Farm costs may be reduced through improved live stock. If there were only pure-bred live stock on the farms and ranges, we could get along with millions less animals, and that would release millions of acres for other purposes. The accompanying table shows what each of seven items of live stock is producing; what each of these items could be made to produce by improved methods, and finally what the saving would be in each class. It gives a total national saving of over two billion dollars.

Kind	Number	Production	Per Head	Possible by Improved Methods			Cost	Total Saving
				No. Head	Number	Production
Dairy cows.....	22,200,000	$,220,000,000	$10.00	12,617,316	9,572,684	$96.00	$934,432,710
Beef cows.....	3,833,000	$,383,000,000	$100.00	2,200,000	1,633,000	$110.00	220,000,000
Hog and lamb.....	12,500,000	$,625,000,000	$50.00	8,500,000	4,000,000	$75.00	$475,000,000
Sheep.....	35,000,000	$,175,000,000	$5.00	20,000,000	15,000,000	$8.00	$275,000,000
Pork.....	43,000,000	$,215,000,000	$5.00	28,000,000	15,000,000	$7.50	$322,500,000
Brood sows.....	9,200,000	$,460,000,000	$50.00	5,500,000	3,700,000	$18.00	$45,000,000
Chickens.....	600,000,000	$,300,000,000	$0.50	370,000,000	230,000,000	$1.25	$37,500,000

*Slaughtered and inspected. †Dressed weight.
From this table it will be noticed that, if we could obtain a reasonable average production per head, then the number of milch cows could be reduced from 22,200,000 to 12,617,316, or a reduction of 9,582,684, and still maintain the present supply of dairy products. This would involve increasing the production per cow from 2.54 to 6.077 pounds, an increase easily possible through good selection, breeding and feeding.

Beef animals vary in age all the way from one to three years. The present number of animals slaughtered and inspected would be sufficient under improved methods to produce the present amount of beef, and mutton and lamb could be supplied with 2,617,000 less animals, and it is possible to furnish our present supply of wool and reduce the number of sheep by 2,600,000.
Our pork products are now produced from swine that average 136 pounds dressed weight. Under improved methods we ought to get pigs that would produce 150 pounds dressed weight at 6 months or 225 pounds at 9 months. At the latter age it would be possible to maintain the present supply of slaughtered and inspected pork and cut down nearly 17,000,000 on the number of hogs produced. Similar analyses apply to the other items listed in the table.

THE P. H. S. POST

VOLUME II We Publish the Truth, the Whole Truth, and Nothing but the Truth Number 6

Dear Folks:
I almost forgot to write to you this week and now I am in a hurry. As you know the saying: "Practice is the soul of wit." I guess I shall be witty, I mean brief.
Orchestra practice as Oh, I used "usual" last week—and my vocabulary is limited, so excuse me—but you know what I mean. We practice in the snow. I mean while it was snowing we were in the church—?—!
We learned a few more steps for our operetta. And if everyone in the chorus will do the same thing at the same time, we will be all right.
Well, folks—practise the small bit for this week—but be thankful for small favors. Don't eat too much turkey!
Yours "Till "Niagara Falls"

"OUR PART"
We hope you will enjoy our part of the Plymouth Post. It is very interesting to us as always.
We think we are going to have a good time next Wednesday. The Fourth grade is going to try and play a story for the Fifth grade.
We have a teeth chart and every time we brush our teeth morning and evening we get a star.
We also have a Thanksgiving song that we like and are learning.
BETTY BROWN
Helen Garrot has moved from our school because she thinks she likes it better in the country. Gatha King moved to Mansfield. Now there are 28 pupils in our room.
We have a health chart about cleaning our teeth. If we clean them every night and morning we get a star. Our today's drawing lesson is about Pilgrims. We can make a picture of Pilgrims going to church or anything we care to.
The fourth grade is giving a Thanksgiving play. The fifth grade must be the audience. The fourth grade made posters of the founding of Philadelphia for their history.
JEAN CURPEN
FIFTH AND SIXTH
Club officers were elected as follows:
President—Jimmy Root
Vice President—Ruth Moore
Secretary—Thomas Himes
Treasurer—Doyle Taylor
Chairman for program committee of first division, Betty Askakson, and of second division, Jane Hachsch.
Jimmy Root was elected new Health officer.
Through the courtesy of the Palm Olive company each pupil in the Fifth and Sixth grades received a sample cake of soap, booklets and posters. Much helpful material has been found to aid the classes in developing their "cleanliness" project.
Mrs. McBride of the Sillish Public Schools was a visitor.

THE GLASSES
"Oh, pretty maid, why is it that you always must wear glasses?"
Do you not know that with them you're prettiest of lassies?"
She smiled a pretty smile at him. Then shyly shook her head.
"I wear them daily and take them off when I get into bed."
"Oh, me! My! I knew all that! Please answer my request."
Why wear those awful goggles things when 'thout them you look best!"
"You're curious, sir, but I will tell you why I wear them—whole. Perhaps my lad, you've heard eyes termed
"The windows of the soul."
"And as you know (as they all do) Each window has a pane that you say. So these old glasses, as you say. Keep out the wind and rain."
"But this is not the only cause You foolish, foolish say! I wear them too, to keep away The bug-aboos and chaps!"

GRADE NEWS
After a week-end vacation and the double basketball victory Friday evening we feel all "pepped up," so everyone is ready to get down to business with school.
FIRST GRADE
Weighing day is an event each month among our little folks. The "zone system" proving successful from previous years is being used again this year. The honor zone or normal weight, safety zone or 10% or more lower than the safety zone. This month in the first grade, six pupils were "passed" into the honor zone while others are steadily gaining hoping to be ready next month for their "advancement."
THIRD AND FOURTH
The fourth grade students have an Arithmetic project to work out. They are planning, and will find the cost of a Thanksgiving dinner.
The fourth grade will present a Thanksgiving play on Wednesday afternoon assisted with stories and songs from the Third grade pupils.
FOURTH AND FIFTH
This week the pupils in Miss Gill's room have contributed their "very own" news:

an insulating packing of at least four inches on the bottom of the hive, eight inches on the sides, and twelve inches on the top. Directions for packing hives are found in Farmers' Bulletin 1012, "The Preparation of Bees for Outdoor Wintering."

PRUNING SHOULD BE DONE BEFORE SPRING
Other Tasks May Interfere If Trimming Is Postponed Until Mild Weather.

Numb fingers, tingling ears, and cold feet are unavoidable features of the job of pruning fruit trees in winter. But the orchardist who goes ahead with the job anyway, will reap his reward in increased yield of better fruit next year. Horticultural specialists in the extension service of the Ohio State University recommend that the pruning begin as soon as apples are harvested, and continue until the job is done. But if it has been interrupted or postponed, it should be done in the winter and not put off until the milder weather of spring. Before the orchardist realizes it, time for the dormant spray will arrive, and the pruning will be abandoned for that.

Pruning is necessary on several counts. Trees which are too dense cannot be well sprayed; production is increased by proper pruning, as is the quality of the fruit; picking fruit is easier and cheaper in a well pruned orchard.

Winter pruning, while all right for the apple trees, is somewhat dangerous for the grapes and peaches. If the weather is severe, and the fruit men at Ohio State University recommend that the grower of grapes and peaches wait until after the severe portion of the winter has passed, before beginning their work. Damage to the trees may occur if they are pruned during very cold weather.
The main idea, in any case, is to get the pruning done before spring work interferes and leaves the orchard chucky, unkept, inconvenient and with lowered production.

OWNERS OF TIMBER SHOULD KNOW VALUE

"Buying a pile like a pork" being an accepted evidence of carelessness on the part of the buyer, is equally poor policy when the commodity being sold is timber on a farm woodland. And the method is no more profitable for the seller than for the buyer.

Farmers who can estimate the yield of corn or wheat in a field, or the weight, dressed, of a steer still on the hoof, are sometimes at a loss as to what is a fair price for the standing timber or stumpage in their woodlots. The woodlot owners want to know how to scale and measure the number of board feet in standing timber, what log rule is used, why log rules differ and how they compare with the number of board feet sawed out at the mill.

For the benefit of these woodlot owners, F. W. Dean, extension forester at the Ohio State Experiment Station at Wooster, Ohio, is inaugurating demonstrations in the measurement of standing timber. The demonstrations are scheduled through the offices of the county agents, and a personal estimating service in individual farm woodlots is not contemplated, although information on marketing farm timber may be obtained by writing the extension forester.

"The most accurate way to evaluate a stand of timber is to make a complete estimate of it, standing," says Dean. "Every woodland owner should know the simplest way to do this."

Operator Who Braved Flames to Sound Warning Is Honored

WHEN the telephone exchange at Worthington, Ohio, was gutted by fire about a year ago, another heroine of the switchboard was discovered.
She is Mrs. Jeannette Griswold, night operator at the office. Recently she was the guest of honor at a dinner in Columbus given by general and division officials of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, and was presented a Vail Medal in recognition of her bravery.
At the dinner Mrs. Griswold told how she had been started at 2:30 in the morning by the crash of glass near by. She discovered that a store on the first floor of the building in which the switchboard was located was afire, and the heat had cracked the glass. Although the flames had gained considerable headway, Mrs. Griswold held her post at the switchboard on the second floor.
"I called my daughter Helen," she said, "and she was sleeping in an adjacent room. Then I rang for the fire department, the chief operator and started on the list of volunteer firemen. Helen had fled and was frantically calling to me from below, but I remained to answer some information calls and then tried to get some records, but the drawers were locked. When I left the office, I had to feel my way through smoke."
The building was completely gutted, and the town was without service until a switchboard could be installed across the street.
The medal presentation was made by Randolph Eide, vice-president and general manager of the telephone company. He said that in the course of a year many cases of heroic service and devotion to duty come to the attention of the committee that considers medal awards. Only in the most outstanding instances, however, are medals awarded. The committee, he said, realizes that every telephone employee is willing to risk his or her safety to keep the service going, and when a medal is awarded it is a tribute to the telephone workers as a whole, as well as to the employee specifically honored.

LIVE HEATING PLANT WARMS BEES IN HIVE

Bees Depend Upon Exercise When Winter Comes—Packing Hives Conserves Needed Energy.

If the beekeeper were compelled to depend upon his own muscular activity to keep his home warm in winter, he would appreciate thick walls and a tight floor to keep in the heat generated by his bodily exertion. Application of the same principle to the bees in his hives should show him the necessity of packing the colonies for cold weather.

Bees do not hibernate in cold weather. Instead, when the temperature drops below 47 degrees F., they gather in a very close cluster while the bees in its center, by strenuous exercise, develop body heat which keeps alive the whole colony. The better the insulation against the escape of this body heat, the less hard work for the living heating plant, and the more energy conserved for profitable work gathering honey the following spring.

Muscular activity, not elapsed time, determines the "pace" of the working bees. Their bodies contain a definite amount of stored energy. When that is exhausted—in four weeks to six months—they die. If they must expend energy in the winter in keeping warm, they have that much less productive life to live when spring comes. Which is one of the several good reasons for packing bee hives in the fall. Virgil N. Argo, extension specialist in apiculture at Ohio State University, points out that the federal authorities recommend, for this state,

RAISING QUAIL
"Save your winged quail and use them for breeding purposes next spring." Is the advice offered sportsmen by Dr. William E. Harris, of Wilmington, Delaware, who has gained a wide reputation as a successful amateur raiser of the sportive "bob-white." "For a number of years," says Dr. Harris, "I have made it a practice to keep all the quail I winged, and I always take a small cage with me when I go hunting, in order that the wounded birds may be preserved. When I return home, the birds are put in a pen until spring when they are mated and the eggs taken for hatching.

"A considerable number of settings may be obtained if the nests are robbed at intervals, as a bob-white will continue to lay until she has enough eggs to hatch. As many as eight-five eggs have been laid by a bird and, in some instances, even more. The eggs taken from the nests are put under clucking bantam hens for hatching.

"Young quail should never be permitted out of the coop in wet weather or early in the morning before the heavy dew is off the grass as dampness is fatal to the little birds. Also, they should be provided with plenty of insects during the spring and summer months. When old enough, the quail can be released on land with the proper cover."

Editorial-News And Comment On National Happenings

Dr. Alexander Metkjohn, noted member of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin, told 10,000 school teachers gathered in a meeting that Americans "must learn to differ in opinions." He begged them not to be too ready to agree with groups or crowds. It is a doctrine which demands careful questioning and entire freedom of rejection. Many things indicate that America contains large elements too impatient of authority, too drunk on the conceit of ignorance, too much inclined to deny the superior wisdom of the more intelligent and the better informed. But Dr. Metkjohn has often found himself with the minority, sometimes to his own discomfort and pain. Hence, he hates and fears the weight of numbers, in the realm of opinions and decisions, based on beliefs. Between learning and understanding there is a gulf that is all too commonly unbridged in American education. Mere learning is empty writing upon the memory which fades with the years. But there is a point at which learning is transmitted into understanding, and this remains forever. School work should be a preparation for life, and is valuable only when it interprets life for the student. A magazine writer recently declared that students in English and continental secondary schools were, for the most part, ignorant to their brothers and sisters in America. He gave as a reason the aim of foreign instructors to "teach a coherent, flexible and broadly applicable system of facts and conceptions; they expect their efforts to result in development of cultivated intelligence." Thorough knowledge is an ideal to be sought. No matter what pursuit is chosen for life work, happiness in a large measure depends on understanding more than knowing. The whole world is working beside the man who knows what it's all about. Too much concentration on one line, with a modern disregard for general culture, perhaps is to blame. So long as we have to go through this life, why not learn something of it?

New York merchants are talking of having deliveries to their business places made at night on account of traffic congestion. If they ever try that in Chicago, they'll have to call out the U. S. army.

Voting, as it has often been said, is only a substitute for fighting. Ballots prevent the use of bullets. Oratory takes the place of explosions of powder. Vastly better, is it not, than the Mexican way of shooting out political contentions and deciding between candidates? Even though the majority may often be wrong, even though it is foolish to argue that most of the wisdom and most of the devotion to high ethical standards can always be found in 51 per cent of the voters instead of in the 49 per cent opposed to the larger faction, surely the chances that right will come out on top are better when ballots decide than they are when issues are settled by force of arms. Democracy is far, indeed, from perfect, in America or anywhere else, but it is still the best promise mankind has yet discovered of higher and finer government than can be obtained under any other system.

There should be an age limit on this spanking business. An Indiana mother was fined in court for spanking her nineteen-year-old daughter.

In Arcadia, Ohio, a speculating bank cashier got away with $250,000 to cover his shortages in market gambling. The total tax value assessed against Arcadia is only $500,000, indicating the relative magnitude of the loss sustained by the community. The cashier is in jail, but unable to make any substantial restitution of the defaulted funds. Distress will be brought to every person in the village and to every farmer in the countryside, who were the bank's customers. Two things stand out in this distressing affair: One is, that any officer in a trust position should gamble so recklessly, when he knew the hardship which his loss would bring to innocent others. The other is: What were the highly-paid government inspectors doing when this situation was being made up? They will be around giving an alibi for their lack of efficiency, but it will not help the hundreds who are ruined by loss of their money, due to a theft that continued for eight years.

Ontario claims a $4,500,000 profit in five months of government liquor selling. But some of this money may not have come from the States.

Fame and recognition often travel with honor, but usually they arrive. It will be remembered that when Lindbergh made his overseas flight the inspiration for this endeavor was a long chance to win the $25,000 prize offered by Raymond Orteig. In the blaze of glory that followed Lindbergh's success the man who made his triumph possible was forgotten. Even when credit was tendered him he put it aside. The American Legion has just done the handsome thing is giving Mr. Orteig a testimonial dinner, and the French consul-general decorated him with the cross of the Legion of Honor. It was shown that since the Lindbergh overseas flight the air mail poundage carried in the United States has more than doubled. And if it had not been for Orteig, this material gain would not have come nor would there have been an interested public interest in the welfare of aviation.

Demonstrations before a group of telephone company employes manufactured lightning the other evening. There are many moonshiners in various parts of the United States who are manufacturing something even more potent in destruction.

Commander of the Fourth Naval District has been detached because, he says, he talked too much. Man in California, aged 101, has been broadcasting that any one can live to be 100 by attending to their own business and keeping their mouth shut. A great multitude die young.

California judge has decided a man cannot get a divorce from his wife for playing poker, when the testimony shows she always wins. Must be something the matter with a man who wants a divorce from that kind of a wife.

Theodore Roosevelt knew too much about New York state affairs and too little about the Fall-Suicidal oil lease. Is it not strange how familiar a politician can be with the shortcomings of an administration in which he has no part and how ignorant he can be concerning those of one in which he was an active worker?

Some states decided in the recent election not to change the governors term from two years to four, probably making the decision two years is about all a state can stand of an average governor.

NEW AND COLORFUL DESKS
The Renaissance of the desk is one of the notable features in the renewed attention being given nowadays to fine furniture. Desks are of such general utility that a home cannot be without one or more types. Perhaps you may have a lovely Sheraton desk with its fine lines and beautiful turnings, or, perhaps, you may have a spinet desk, which is one of the most popular types. If not one of these, perhaps you have a plain desk with drawers, which may be done in bright colors for an intimate corner of the living room. If these desks need doing up, you can find the greatest number of color schemes in a Duo finish. One of the leaders in interior decoration has recently given two color color schemes for the Sheraton type of desk. The first is done in tones of blue and gray, which serve to emphasize the agreeable lines of this style. The second is a color scheme in Talina brown, picked out with green striping. Both are decorated with a floral design.

The usual desk can be done in bright colors in a rich tone of Chinese vermilion and yellow, trimmed with black and gold, with decorations showing oriental motifs on several panels. This follows the line of the vogue for Chinese designs which is so notable nowadays. It will also serve the purpose, with its colors, of lighting up an otherwise dull corner which may need just such a brilliant hue.

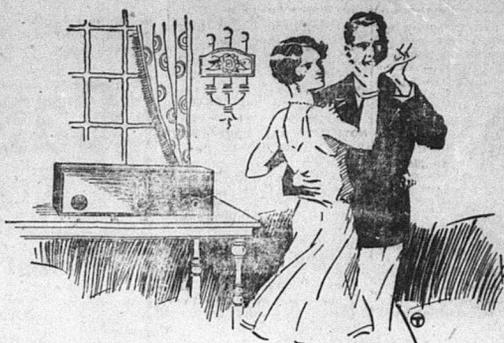

The spinet desk is presented in two colors: One of these has the body finished in rich tones of old gold decorated in black with its gold as an embellishment. The second color scheme on this piece shows the body in green, decorated in black and gold. Handpainted Chinese decorations appear on the small front panels of both ends of the desk, no matter in which color it is finished, thus adding a quaint and attractive note to the ensemble.

LOGAN GAS COMPANY SEEKS TO PURCHASE ADDITIONAL WELLS
COLUMBUS, O.—Application to the Public Utilities Commission by the Logan Gas Company to purchase the properties of the Utica Gas Oil and Mining Company, revealed that the Logan company now owns 1,111 gas wells, 87,555 acres of developed gas leases, 742,168 acres on which no drilling has been done, 1,024 miles of field and gathering lines, 757 miles of transportation system, and 1,205 miles of distributing mains.

THE "GET-RICH-QUICK EXPRESS"

By W. R. MOREHOUSE
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

SO many millions of people have been defrauded out of their savings that it is the most natural thing for them to assume that the failure of any company in which they have stock is due to dishonest manipulations within the company.

W. R. MOREHOUSE

The facts are that many companies go on the rocks financially due to mismanagement and poor judgment and without any fault on the part of those in charge to defraud the stockholders.

Because men of good moral character organize a company for the purpose of engaging in some business enterprise is no assurance in itself that the business will succeed. Good intentions are one thing and business ability another, and usually unless there is plenty of business ability the business fails.

Before you invest in any new enterprise you should not only satisfy yourself as to the integrity of the managers but you should be certain that they have the experience, the technical knowledge and the ability to make the business a success.

What I am seeking to emphasize is the importance of making a thorough investigation before you draw your savings from the bank and entrust them in the hands of persons who may lose them, not through dishonesty but through poor business judgment.

Too many inexperienced investors rely on hearsay and on information that is general to be all adequate, when it comes to parting with their cash. So I say, make it a rule always to go to the bottom of every investment, and as it costs nothing to consult your banker, or the local Better Business Bureau, or the National Better Business Bureau, New York City, leave no stone unturned in order that you get the facts. If you find that the organizers are trying to avoid an investigation, take that as a tip for making a most searching investigation.

Making investments a hasty investigation, or a superficial investigation is a most dangerous thing. To get the facts about an investment you usually have to dig deep and wide, and no rush investigation permits you to do this. Promoters of the worst type often welcome a hasty investigation, knowing that it does not give the investor sufficient time to get below the beautifully camouflaged surface finish with which they have so adroitly clothed their false stock.

The road to happiness and contentment lies along the route to safe investment, the road made safe by the slogan, "Investigate Before You Invest."

Things WORTH KNOWING

Made from Cotton
Ordinary cotton is completely changed its form and uses by the chemical engineer waving his magic wand over it. Of the various transformations of cotton none is more interesting than that made into the well-known material sometimes referred to as "imitation leather"—but which is not imitation at all, because in reality it answers many purposes far better than leather.

Fabrikoid is built of, as well as on, cotton, for both the coating and base fabric are made from cotton. It is a widely different form. Fabrikoid being all cotton the material is moth-proof, insect-proof, and vermin-proof. Cotton with pyroxylin coating wholly discourages the most destructive species of crickets and ants.

For many years the best books were bound in leather but this is no longer the case. The most radical improvement in book construction in the past 500 years has been furnished by the modern industrial chemists who have Fabrikoid to the world. One publisher of books has bound 4,000,000 volumes in Fabrikoid, which has been found to be impervious to water, grease, stain, mildew, mould and vermin, and it can be made into many colors and designs.

Even a new type of shower-bath curtain that requires no laundering is now being used in homes, hotels and clubs, and it is made of a Special quality of Fabrikoid finished so as to give it the appearance of soft silk. Leather had no competitors until about twenty-five years ago when the automobile industry called for more leather for upholstery than there were supplies of a cotton-made material which has raised cattle for the hides. There followed a series of great national advertising which all the oldtimers remember because of the question "How many hides has a cow?"

And then along came chemistry's relief to the hide shortage in the shape of a cotton-made material which has been developed until it is actually superior to leather and is being used in preference to leather in practically all industries, where leather was formerly considered an indispensable necessity.
