Plans have been completed for the serving of the Booster Club supper tomorrow evening at the Presbyterian church. The chicken and oysters have their menu with delicious sides that will fit just in to help make it a most appetizing one.

Weeks and weeks the committee in charge has worked faithfully for the event and everything so far has gone through without interference. It is a small task to prepare and serve supper for a large crowd, but the results of the work of preparation ears have been served shows that those who are responsible for this annual event know how to get the most results out of the least effort.

An advance sale of tickets show that a large crowd will be on hand tomorrow evening. Guests invited to attend are assured of an evening's entertainment chatting with acquaintances and meeting old friends.

The hours of serving will be from 5:30 to 8:00 p.m.

Musical entertainment will be furnished by the Presbyterian orchestra. A splendid program has been arranged and this alone will be worth the price of the meal.

Council At Board to Hold Last Meeting

The last meeting of the present council will be held next Tuesday night when it so convenes for its December meeting. No business of great importance is scheduled to come up, and only routine business will receive attention. Under the regime of the present council Plymouth has seen many needed improvements come to pass, and for which the town should be truly thankful.

The Board of Public Affairs will meet on Monday night, when tickets will be paid, and other regular business will be attended to. This will also be the last meeting of the present board membership.

Vance Judson With Dallas Orchestra

Vance S. Judson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Himes, and a former Plymouth boy, has come into a coveted honor through the acceptance of a position with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra, one of the most widely known musical organizations of the southwest. There are forty-eight pieces in the orchestra, and Mr. Judson has had the pleasure of taking several prominent parts, as he plays a piccolo.

Judson, as a young lad, has always had a musical talent, and has indulged in music as an avocation for a number of years.

Lodge Buys New Home

K. of Ps. Purchase Kirtland Building; Make Various Improvements.

In deal just consummated by the Knights of Pythias and Robert Kirtland, the Kirtland building comes into the hands of the lodge and will be used for its meeting places.

The Kirtland building for a long time was occupied by Kirtland's girls' school, and is said to be one of the best structures on the Square. At present the Carroll Pool room occupies the lower floor, while the upper story has remained vacant for a number of years.

The K. of P. Lodge, for years, has occupied a portion of the Hamilton building, and many of its meetings and lodge socials have been staged in its present quarters. However, for various reasons the lodge decided it a worthwhile proposition to purchase the Kirtland building where they will have permanent quarters upstairs. Already work has begun on making the new location a home of comfort, convenience and good recreation, where members may come and go at leisure. There will be one section of the hall which will occupy tables, lamps, magazines, and many other items that will tend to make it an outstanding feature of the lodge.

The purchase is being financed through members of the lodge.

PLYMOUTH GOES OVER QUOTA IN RED CROSS DRIVE

Plymouth citizens responded nobly to the Red Cross campaign this year. While headquarters at Mansfield did not specify any particular goal, the amount subscribed this year was $15 in excess of last year's donation.

Under the efficient direction of Rev. Himes, the workers canvassed the entire village with pleasing results.

Mrs. Ned Ernest, chairman of the Plymouth division, states she turned into the County Treasury $191.65 and that a call from the Mansfield secretary report they were well satisfied with the local campaign.

Special mention should also be made of the donation by the Sunshine club. They contributed $5.00 to the Plymouth chapter and also voted $5.00 to the Shelly chapter.

The workers who gave their time and effort to this worthy work deserve commendation for the manner in which the campaign was conducted and are as follows:

Mrs. Ned Ernest, Chairman, Rev. Himes, Director, Mesdames Stacy Brown, W. C. McFadden, Howard Smith, Ed Carpen, Ralph Hoffman, Elden Nimmmons, Chas. Wentland, Wm. Doyle, C. R. Williams and Miss Hartnett Rogers.

BELL STREET

The condition of Bell street at the present time is a disgrace to our Village. Is our street commissioner dead, or only dead on his feet? He has had plenty of time and good weather to fill up the holes, and the Village owns a truck—yet no action.

The east cross walk at High Street is covered with six inches of mud and has never been removed since the sewer was completed. With all the other important streets paved, why should Bell street be so neglected?

Will some one tell us whose fault it is?

HUNTING IS GOOD

"Bill" Moon of Shelly, and who is widely known around these parts, made a record haul last week when he counted up fourteen coons, six opossums, four skunks as one week's luck. "Bill" says Coons are plentiful and that there's a real thrill in hearing his hound "holler." Bill says he's just "gotta" bound from Atlanta, Ga., with "flop" ears, and a long, lean, hungry look, but is a regular trail when it comes to picking up a trail.

SHILOH COUPLE IN AUTO SMASH

Miss Cora Howell, a student in Shiloh high school, and Paul Crouse, a young man residing southeast of Shiloh, miraculously escaped death in an automobile accident which occurred about 8 o'clock Sunday evening on the Shiloh-Plymouth road, about two miles west of Shiloh. Although the machine in which they were riding was completely demolished, the young people escaped with only slight injuries.

The young couple were returning to Shiloh at the time of the accident, and there was a slight rain falling. They were driving along at a fair rate of speed, when the car suddenly skidded and left the road. The auto struck a telephone pole, and turned over. The car was completely wrecked, but both young people were thrown free of the wreckage.

The accident occurred near the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Dick. The young people made their way to the Dick home where they were given shelter.

Miss Howell was taken to the office of Dr. George Seale in Plymouth by Mr. and Mrs. Dick. She was given attention to her injuries which included cuts on the forehead and arm. Crouse sustained only slight bruises, one of his fingers being seriously bruised.

Fast Game Is Promised Here

Shiloh Teams Come to Plymouth For Tilt Tomorrow Night.

Coach Jenkins has predicted a real treat for Friday night when Plymouth's home team plays High on the local floor. While the season is just a trifle early for basketball, yet the boys have had some very good workouts and are starting into regular play. The boys of Shiloh still reserves more honor than the other, but we are forced to say something of the rapidity that Barber uses in getting around on the floor. He is a remarkable player, and we are sure draws many comments at each game.

Supt. Ford of Shiloh High has an inkling that his boys will come out on top, but there is no telling what will happen. Shiloh is expected to be on hand. The opposing team is coming to Plymouth determined to carry off the bacon, and many of the fans are at a loss to decide on the winner.

Hamilton Hall has done remarkable pairs that make it desirable for an athletic and quite few local coaches have been placed which gives those attending a comfortable seat.

The two girls teams will also play, beginning at 7:30, Friday night, Dec. 2.

Wait for Miller's One Day Special-Saturday, Dec. 3rd.

Guilty Conscience Causes False Move; Landed In Jail for Liquor Possession

Robert Poland and Donald Simon, two young Shellyites had a real thrill Saturday night when Marshal Burkett made his appearance as they parked their Ford touring car in front of a local pool room. Burkett was in his machine in front of the car when it was about 11:30, he was starting for home when he noticed a car coming at a rapid speed down West Bridge.

He observed the car come to a sudden stop in front of the pool room, and though the driver would advise the driver as to the speed regulations. But when he got out and then when he came again very nervous and started destroying the "evidence" which was in the form of a pint bottle of "hooch". At this point Burkett came up to the lock-up, and later searched the machine, finding another pint. Had not the boys been so hasty in breaking into the car, they probably would have been arrested as Marshall Burkett stated they had not been drinking and he had no cause for suspicion.

Both offenders were taken to Mansfield by the Sheriff and will await court action.

North Fairfield Man Held As Ring Leader of Band Committing Thefts.

Quite a stir was given North Fairfield residents Wednesday morning when it was revealed that Arthur Silliman, who resides in the east-end of town was held by Wm. Schriewer after a trial before Schriewer and an accomplice, who similarly has not been revealed, made his escape upon learning that Silliman had been attacked.

For several weeks Mr. Schriewer, who operates a notions store at North Fairfield, has been missing merchandise in small quantities, and for the past several nights he has been staying in the store, and it is thought that he might apprehend the thief or thieves.

At about midnight Tuesday he heard noises about the store and he seized Silliman. Silliman tried to run away and the thief was quickly gaining entrance. The store was usually dark and Schriewer did not recognize the intruder but saw that this was the most reliable and simplest type of four-wheel brake, and also the easiest to adjust, all adjustments being made from the outside without removing the parts.

An engine that is practically vibrationless develops 40 horsepower at 2,200 revolutions per minute. This unique engine is well known for its high horsepower is illustrative of the unusual efficiency of the engine. Also, it means longer life, the lower engine speed insuring less wear on the engine parts.

Schriewer was in a convenient position to strike with an axe handle and did. His first try failed to get results, but the second that followed Silliman was unconscious, and he is suffering some from the loss of blood.

Authorities at Norwalk were notified and Silliman was taken to the county jail where he awaits a hearing.

Also, it means longer life, the lower engine speed insuring less wear on the engine parts.

In addition to freedom from vibration, it is announced that the car is extremely quiet in operation, due to the elimination of the noise of vibration having been paid to that feature by the Ford engineers. In the engine, the timing gears are made of beaded fabric which is much heavier and more durable. The cams on the camshaft have been designed as to prevent valve clicking.

There is only one coil, in a waterproof case. There are no vibrators to move the coil, and it is unable to work loose or short circuit from water.

The distributor is located in a readily accessible place on top of the engine.

Centrifugal pump, large radiator and airplane propeller-type fan provide a cooling system which makes the car differ in operation, except from about a mile per hour, enough oil, or dry radiator.

Feed to carburetor is by gravity.

TRUX STREET NOW OPEN FOR TRAVEL

Everybody happy? Then let them mid GO. And it did go, for Trux street has been paved, and is officially open for public travel.

This improvement is one, that will be appreciated by a great number of residents east of town, and will also be praised by local people.

E. J. Baltes has completed another fine job on Trux street and many words of praise have been given him. The road has been cleared of all debris and gives Plymouth a complete line of fine roads from all sides. Before the side-grade was completed it was necessary to remove telephone and light poles, and of course this interfered with local light service for a few hours the past week.

NARROWLY ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURIES

Martin Matthews 17, and his sister Gall, 18, narrowly escaped serious injuries Saturday evening about seven o'clock while enroute to Plymouth in their Ford Coupe.

Martin who was driving lost control of the auto just outside the city limits of Plymouth between the Moore home and the L. Steele home. The Ford went into the ditch completely wrecking it, although the occupants were only badly shaken up, and bruised and sustained a number of minor cuts.

They were taken to the Steele home and later to Dr. Searle's office where their injuries were attended to. They are the children of W. B. Matthews, who resides just off the Plymouth-Bucyrus road.

The defendant has asked for a new trial.

Ray Craig and E. K. Trauger represented Nimmmons, while Rowley and Carpenter appeared for Sutton.

Details of Ford to Be Displayed Here on Friday

Russell & Reynolds Will Show Pictures and Specifications of New Car.

After six months of "saying nothing but sawing wood," Henry Ford today announced the specifications of his new Ford car which succeeds his famous Model T. An interesting bit of those specifications presents a picture of an automobile that in performance, appearance and mechanical features is a veritable masterpiece.

Unusual speed and acceleration are among the outstanding features of the new model as described as being capable to make 55 to 60 miles per hour with ease. In recent tests it has made even more without difficulty. What is more important, it is stated, is the economy of fuel. At such speeds it holds the road easily and with comfort to driver and passengers.

The new Ford car also introduces a new type of four-wheel brakes.

An engine that is practically vibrationless develops 40 horsepower at 2,200 revolutions per minute. This unique engine is well known for its high horsepower is illustrative of the unusual efficiency of the engine. Multiple dry-disk clutch, rear axle of three-quarter floating type, helical gear drive and spiral bevel gear drive are interesting features.

The axle shafts carry none of the weight of the car, the wheels running on rubber bearings on the axles. New developments in the transverse semi-elliptic type and hydraulic shock-absorbers prevent excessive side-to-side movement and resonance.

Irreversible steering gear, which prevents shocks from being transmitted back to the hands of the driver, makes handling easier and more positive.

Maximum steering safety is further provided by a gear housing of welded steel forgings, and a steel tube steering column welded into the housing, which is low and exceptionally safe—one-piece unit.

Ford-designed spoke wheels, completely welded into one-piece assembly, are provided.

They are the models of the new car. They are the phaeton, roadster, sport coupe, coupe, Tudor sedan and Fordor sedan.

Russell & Reynolds, local dealers, are preparing for a public reception next Friday, when models of the new line will be shown in photographs and charts.

Sutton Given Half Of Amount Asked

M. C. Sutton of New Haven was awarded a verdict of $2400 Monday in Common Pleas court at Norwalk against E. J. Nimmmons, administrator for the late Agnes Beelman. Sutton originally asked $5,000 for services rendered Miss Beelman during her life time, but the jury compromised with a $2400 award.

The defendant has asked for a new trial.

Ray Craig and E. K. Trauger represented Nimmmons, while Rowley and Carpenter appeared for Sutton.

Is It Well With The Lad?

By DR. G. R. MENTE.

No. 5

I have often heard it said: Poverty breeds discontent and crime; there may be some foundation to this way of reasoning, still research reveals that in a general way the poor boy, the scion of poor but honest toilers, becomes successful in life, pushes forward, as he realizes that his parents thru self denial have done the very best by him in training him to be self reliant and independent. It was Carnegie, the multi-millionaire, who said one of his dinner gatherings in the Y. M. C. A. at New York: "I thank God that I was raised a poor boy, one who knew the meaning of father and mother, their advice and fellowship, and not like the son of many wealthy folks, with the early training in the hands of a governess and private tutor; much truth in this, too often the parents in wealthy homes allow social functions, nurses and private instructors to come between the lad and the lad; of course, there are exceptions to this and it is not safe to make the statement that poverty breeds better men than wealth, but it is safe to say that poverty, breeds crime, but it can be safely stated that poor parents, honorable and true, will deserve more time to look after the lad. Rich showers of blessing have been bestowed upon our nation by the Almighty God, we are the envied citizens of a great commonwealth, our monetary interests are ruling the markets of the world, they are our lawful heirs, fathers have been saving, mothers have been denying them selves pleasures and many times even common comforts to leave to posterity a competence. This all seems praise worthy and commendable, yet let the question sink deep into your heart: Is it well with the lad? What value do you place upon your boy and his character? Some one answers thus: America has produced wonderful talent in all the departments of life, America today boasts of talented men and women and by the common laws of nature the lad will inherit the capacity to mould and shape for himself a wonderful future. At the same time do you realize that your education, your principles, your religious fervency, all are strictly your own individual asset and no last will and testament can convey these to another? Hence I insist that these must be impressed upon the mind of the lad, yes I want to be more emphatic and say there must be imprinted into his very soul that the groundwork of every good life is resting upon the words of the great Galilean teacher as he says: "Go and teach men to do all things that are pure, uplifting and inspiring, and lo! I will be with you all along life's pathway." The great architect of the universe ordained in the counsels of divine Providence that the lad can become what you want him to be, in other words he may become a copy or reprint of yourself. Should we not therefore be very careful, gentle and forbearing in all our dealings, honest and above reproach in our every day life? Here is a lesson to be learned by every father: Place the value the lad high, far above gold and silver, rubies or diamonds, show to him in your intercourse with your fellowman in the affairs of life the so-called Christ spirit, to render unto God the first fruits of undivided service and sacrifice, then man the helping hand; Is it well with the lad? Are we placing his valuation high and by our own life teaching him that honor and an unqualified fame are of far greater importance than worldly possession? Instruct him to look ever for the pure, noble and beautiful instead the depraved and ugly, the gloomy and depressing, teach the lad to try to find in others the hopeful instead the despairing and disgusting and the future of the lad will illuminate the pathway for some poor misguided fellow traveler. The boys' basketball team of Weller was defeated in a hard fought game with Weller Township last Wednesday. The Weller boys, who were dedicating their new gymnasium, played like devils and our boys couldn't keep up with them. The first half ended 16 to 9 in favor of Weller. At the start of the second half the Weller boys broke loose and although our boys played their best they were not equal to the task. The final score was Weller 27, P. H. S. 13.

WITCHERY OF THE PACIFIC

He saw the billowing green of the feather palms and blossoming vines and white-capped tables swirled dizzyingly as he breathed the heavily perfumed air that he associated with what he hated most—sleek women, like a well-groomed horse, but of course, much inferior. He curled his lip—he had once known one of this sort.

He could leave them all at Honolulu, and soon. His breath was coming in gasps now—he rose and stumbled out.

The doctor had plenty of fresh air. After that night when he went unconscious unconscious of the fresh air, he was a woman—he felt greatly improved but she was someone to talk to at the least. He quickly glanced from head to foot comparing so it seemed, her fluffy yellow hair with that of black and sleek headed women pictured in his mind. Her eyes were not dark and snapplish but light and sad. His mother had been the only other woman in his life—he was to judge all others by two.

"It very lovely, are you traveling alone?" he said. Her voice vibrated sweetly.

Yes his mother's voice had been like that.

She kept her eyes fixed upon the horizon, little heeding his answers, as the fascinated with what was about to be discovered. Here was an exceptional WOMAN, her perfume was not heavy but of a delicate French odor. It was just moonlight and too—the witchery of the Pacific was on him.

"Summer is the season for happiness and each day brings us nearly to our most exquisite of happiness."

"Happiness? Yes but that is not for me. I am not remaining here. Soon the ship stops at my port," See?" Slowly her arm raised and with delicately shaped hands indicated her port.

Hardly following the line eyes were fixed on one island, a noticeable tremor fell over his heart, his whole body quivered—Molokai Island—to nurse the lepers.

"My father pledge himself to this work and became ill. Before dying my brother pledged himself. He was killed in war—now it is my duty.

Rollin was numb with the horror of it. He thought, why not?

Two years the doctor had given him—then some day his heart—he was a useless burden to civilization. With her he would work and be happy for a time—making easy the life of his fellowmen. His head was whirling with the idea of it. The next morning he told her.

They watched the waves pass from sight with no thought of ever returning to Honolulu long passed from sight. They turned their gaze with eyes fixed on the slowly approaching island as if fascinated by what it would soon disclose.

Rollin was numb with the horror of it. He thought, why not?

Two years the doctor had given him—then some day his heart—he was a useless burden to civilization. With her he would work and be happy for a time—making easy the life of his fellowmen. His head was whirling with the idea of it. The next morning he told her.

They watched the waves pass from sight with no thought of ever returning to Honolulu long passed from sight. They turned their gaze with eyes fixed on the slowly approaching island as if fascinated by what it would soon disclose.

NORTH FAIRFIELD P. T. A.
GIVES MINSTREL

From North Fairfield on Friday evening many dusky minstrels traveled to Plymouth with an entertainment very interesting and enjoyable.

The costumes worn by the entertainers were gorgeous! The young women in the crowd had marvelous hats, bright colored dresses and conspicuous knees. The men were more conservative, dressing in red, green or purple trousers, black swallow-tailed coats and high hats. Stick pins of mammoth proportions and good taste adorned the various types of neck pieces.

The program consisted of well known selections, the male quartet and mixed quartet. Two young ladies favored us with some exciting duets, which were unquestionably well done.

The closing medley was composed of well known favorite southern songs.

The proceeds were divided between the T. A. of North Fairfield and that of Plymouth.

The girls basketball team of P. H. S. played Weller girls at Weller Twp. Wednesday, Nov. 23. This was the second game of the season and the team put up a fine fight. P. H. S. girls won by a margin of 17 points. The score in the finish 28 to 15 in Plymouth's favor.

The girls had a hard team to play against but when the forwards got the ball it usually meant another two points added to the score. Final score 14 points; Sheedy 8 points. Moore 6 points.

Editorial-News And Comment On National Happenings

We are taught, many of us, from our youth onwards, that competition is essential to the health and progress of the race. Or as one writer says, "Society flourishes by the antagonism of its atoms. But the obvious golden truth is that co-operation in good and competition bad, and that society flourishes by the mutual aid of human beings. That is obvious. And it is so well known in that all great military or commercial enterprises individualism has to be subordinated to collective action. We do not believe that a house divided against itself shall stand; we believe that it shall fall. We know that a state divided by internal feuds and torn by faction fighting can not stand in opposition to a united people. We know that in a baseball team, a football team, a regiment, a ship's crew, at school, the 'antagonism' of the atoms' would mean defeat and failure. We know that a society composed of antagonistic atoms would not be a society at all, and could not exist as a society. We know that if men are to be found and governed to establish bridges and make roads, to establish universities to ship coal, sink mines, and create educational institutions, and policies and regulations, they must work together and not against one another. Surely these things are as obvious as the fact that there could be no hive unless the bees worked as a colony and with mutual aid and co-operation.

Now that all the non-stop-across-the-Atlantic fliers have returned, New York can put away their flags and lock up the city hall until next season.

Chicago woman has applied for a divorce because her husband spanked her. These women are getting so they won't stand any discipline.

Benjamin Purnell, King Ben of the House of David, near St. Joseph, Mich., has been banished from his religious colony by the decision of a Michigan judge. The state of Michigan brought suit to dissolve the colony as a public nuisance. The decision permits the colony to exist, but removes old man Purnell from all control of it. The people whom he had controlled or imposed his organization may continue with their property under a receivership. They may worship as they please, but the head of the cult is removed from further activities among them. The judge found that old man Purnell was a lewd and scheming impostor who had betrayed the spiritual aspirations and religious instincts of simple people to get their property, misuse their women and abuse their faith. Under him the colony had become an atrocity.

Northwestern University professor says the bootleggers and their children will form the aristocracy of the future. Just now the customers form the aristocracy.

America's first and only federal prison for women is nearing completion at Alderson, W. Va. It is to be a model of its kind and the cost will be two and a half million. The windows are without bars and there is no wall about the place. Sixty per cent of the inmates already there are violators of the federal narcotics laws. They walk to and from the buildings unescorted. Seventeen fire-proof cottages, each to contain 30 women, will range around the main building. They will have polished floors, pretty rugs, and each inmate will have a dresser and mirror as well as a kimono and bedroom slippers. There will also be plenty of books and many pictures. It is to be hoped that there will be nothing omitted to bring tears to the eyes of the inmates.

Pennsylvania railroad has put on smoking cars for women. Why not let them utilize men's smoking cars. We can't even hear a good story in a barber shop anymore.

According to the Socialist leaders themselves, in Reading, Pa., the victory of their party in the city election was not essentially a Socialist success, but rather a revolt against the other parties. It did not mean conversion to the principles of Karl Marx or of the Socialist organization in the United States. It was only an expression of resentment and disgust caused by what most of the people of Reading evidently considered oppressive and unfair taxes. Before the French revolution a cynical minister of finance said that "The secret of taxation is to get the largest possible quantity of feathers with the least possible squeaking of the geese." His witicism applies nearly as well to modern times and to other countries as it did to the France of his day.

Preparing to reorganize the federal enforcement service on a basis safely above the dirty pool of politics, the civil service commission has already received 15,000 applications for 150 administrative positions, from $2,000 to $6,000 a year, as well as 33,000 applications for 2500 modest jobs paying from $1800 to $4,000. An ardent dry might crave the work for conscientious reasons, we suppose, and an obstinate wet might wish it for reasons of thirst. Or stern economic necessity might drive a man of either way of thinking to apply for a place, no matter what his opinion of prohibition agents. The 45,000 applications for 3,500 jobs might almost suggest an employment shortage, but other explanations are possible. Government jobs have been considered particularly desirable in some times and places. If not here and now, and the reform service is known to afford large financial opportunities of a sort.

Word comes from Hollywood that movie managers are getting rid of their high salaried stars and hiring $150 a week actors. Why, on a pittance like that a movie star can't afford a scandal.

WHEN IS A TRUE STORY NOT A TRUE STORY?

- When a man has the dough to buy it out of the newspapers.
- When it's in a true confession magazine.
- When the bass weighs more than twenty pounds.
- When the defendant is smart enough to remember his lawyer's instructions.
- When John Barleycorn, extreme youth or a noise in the dark have the upper hand.

Interesting News From Shiloh

MT. HOPE LUTHERAN CHURCH

2nd Sunday Advent, Dec. 4th
10:30 a.m. Sun School at R. Howard. Sun. It helps greatly at times to remember a little primary mathematics, that one plus one equals two. That is if you bring one we will have two. If you bring one we would have the kind of a school we ought to have. Why not?

11:30 a.m. Morning service with sermon by the pastor. "Our Bible and How We Got It." The history of the activities of God's people has been an interesting and profitable study to the people in His Word. Do you know why we have an Old and New Testament, why there are 66 books, why there are four Gospels, what the oldest book is? Is it in the Bible where it was found? These and many other questions enter into the subject of the "Bible and How We Got It." Come Sunday morning and hear this message.

2:30 p.m. Light Brigade meeting in charge of the superintendent, Mrs. Clarence Forsythe. We especially commend the Light Brigade on their rendition of the pageant last Sunday evening.

SCHOOL NEWS

Edited by members of the Freshmen English Class.

On Wednesday evening, November 23, Adario's basketball team played Shiloh at Shiloh. The game turned out to be a very good one. The girls are starting out very good but more practice is needed. In the last half of the game Adario came back with a pep that they had not had in the first half. The Shiloh score still more baskets and the game ended 31 in Shiloh's favor. Those who played Wednesday night were: Plymton, Moore, forward; Shiloh, guard; Clinker, guard; Dick, C. Griffith, center guard; the subs were Patterson, Miller, Kinsel and Harny.

This coming Friday evening we meet Plymouth at Plymouth. Plymouth has a very good girls team and will offer plenty of opposition.

DORIS CLARK

The first boys basketball game of the season was played with Adario last Wednesday evening on the local court. The game turned out to be in favor. The following line-up was used: R. Ruckman, D. Ruckman, P. Ruckman, Bob Brumback and Hershel Hammann. Dick King and Fred were substituted for the same. Remember the big game at Plymouth this coming Friday evening. LET'S beat Plymouth.

CHESTER TROXELL

Rev. McBroom has charge of chapel services Monday morning. His talk was on the importance of being able to rise above the obstacles we daily encounter. He used the example of Mr. Ward T. Van Orman, the noted balloonist of Akron, to illustrate his point. Mr. Van Orman, and his partner started out from Akron in a balloon and had made a successful take off. They had traveled but a few miles when they were caught by a storm which was forcing them slowly back and down to the places where they started from. In order to go on they had to throw overboard several sacks of ballast which made the balloon lighter and it rose above the clouds. At the end of forty-five hours they landed and found they had won the race by about twenty miles. They won the race because of their balloon's buoyancy.

Mr. McBroom said we should be able to also rise above the storms of life, in order to be successful.

The annual report for projects will be due soon. We are on making our summary that all projects except two are completed. The two which have begun last year, however, that were not carried thru. Of the new project elections 37.5 per cent are continuations of last year. You may care to produce with the majority, but is related to class room study. This is the real field for learning and there is ever room for bigger and better projects.

SHILOH'S IMPORTANT QUESTION

Shiloh gas is the much discussed question wherever a few are found conversing together. Two companies are on the ground, one holding a copy of the franchise, owning the pipe lines in town, some wells north of town and furnishing sulphur gas. The other company has the franchise, have purchased new pipes and will furnish ethyl gas.

One company is cussed, the other discussed by the various adherents, yet neither company has enough gas supply for the citizens in extreme cold weather.

The only gas that is keeping the interested ones warm at present is the old fashioned kind used since the days of Adam.
