Here's the "Dope"

A Colorado editor brings the nail squarely on the noodle when he pens this one: "Persons who are always looking for an opportunity to get offended at something somebody says or does, can always be accommodated. There is always someone ready to take them up and help them get what they are looking for—just ready to accommodate the man who is 'spilling for a fight. There are a few people in every community who can't be happy unless they are miffed at somebody else, and thus have an excuse to spend most of their time sympathizing with themselves over alleged insults or imaginary grievances. Happy indeed, are those who refuse to take offense when same is intended, but thrice happy are they who see no intent on the part of others to offend in ordinary conversation or actions."

A Secret Not Patented

The time Ohio farmers who each produced more than 300 bushels of potatoes on an acre last season on have a farm relief system of their own, but it is not patented nor exclusive. It is available to every farmer.

Some farmers produced only one hundred bushels of potatoes to the acre last season, some as few as fifty bushels.

There is no urge at this time for increased food production, but a greater production from fewer acres means less investment in land, less plowing and planting and application of manure.

Flood, draught and unreasonable frosts cannot be prevented. They bring bad luck to the best farmers, but selection of the best land for certain crops, certified seed, good fertilizer and plenty of it and scientific methods will spell success in farming in the long run.—Toledo Blade.

LARGE AUDIENCE ENJOY MUSICAL

An appreciative audience enjoyed the musical at the Presbyterian church last Sunday evening. A well balanced choir of twenty-eight voices, trained under the able leadership of E. E. Baldus, and assisted by the church orchestra, rendered the program.

This being Beethoven Week, the choir paid due honor to this Master of Music, by rendering his composition, "The Heavens Record." In this composition, in an exceptional manner, the noted composer reveals his power of emotional and intense expression.

The male chorus deserves special mention for the excellent music rendered. A violin solo by L. E. Roberts proved his artistic skill on the violin.

The audience was given a rare treat when C. K. Smalls of Mansfield, sang the base solo "Chastise Me Not, O Lord."

In an effort to relieve some of the office work and other details required in the collection of subscriptions past due, we made arrangements with an agency to handle these accounts.

This was not in accordance with our agreement and those subscribers receiving notice from the agency will please disregard it. All accounts are payable DIRECT to this office and NOT to the agency.

PARENTS SHOULD SET EXAMPLE

Numerous returns to our institution of curfew regulations all over the country may well receive attention and thoughtful consideration as a sociological problem.

That sensible people deem it necessary to invoke the aid of the law and the police to require children to be within doors, or at least under parental sight or control, at a certain hour of the evenings, is more than remarkable—it is astounding—and shows to what extremes paternal government, or at least attempts at it, have brought us.

What's the matter with our homes and our parents that the family, as such, in many instances seems to have ceased to exist, and what was of should have been the home has become a practical boarding house where the family, or parts of it, may occasionally eat and sleep provided they can find nothing more attractive elsewhere?

Whose fault is it but the parents if the children are not in the home at reasonable and reasonable times?

Why expect the police to be the parents or the guardians of the children?

Can it be possible that fathers and mothers are themselves so given to soddling, club, card parties, dances late hours and various frivolities and dissipation—that they have neither time nor inclination to stay at home of evenings and endeavor to make the family circle so pleasant that their children will be glad to join it?

Before policing the children so strongly would it not be a good idea to discover what their parents are doing of nights and why the law is invoked in a vain attempt to accomplish what the parents, unless they themselves are derelicts, should do to make home such a blessed place that children would willingly and gladly remain there instead of running wild?

There's something wrong with the fathers and mothers whose children run wild, and when the latter, as they sometimes do, go wrong there is often grave parental responsibility for it.

State Legislature Has Many Problems to Face Before Its Adjournment

COLUMBUS, O.—The most interesting question one can hear in public discussion just now is "When will the Legislature Adjourn?" No one seems willing to make even a guess as to the time. Three months in session so far has not been long, but the Legislature has settled the main issues as they did after the first week. A dozen problems face them which must be solved. The most important is of course that of raising additional revenue without raising hell among their friends. Each member of both the house and senate seem to have their own remedy, but none of them so far meet with the approval of the inexperienced leaders. Gasoline tax, amusement tax, and a dozen other taxes are talked about, but there seems an objection to each of them and the Legislators listen to the objection rather than the argument in favor of this or that plan. Everybody knows that the State treasury is running mightily low, that the cost of operating the growing state of Ohio is increasing, that the unfortunate wards of the State are getting more plentiful while the prison population is swelling the walls of penitentiaries. But what are you going to do about it? Governor Vic Donahay has made his suggestions, has studied the problem, and has taken the people and he played no favorites in his suggestion and as bad as the Republican legislators would hate to adopt his plans and suggestions they may eventually realize that he is about the best qualified man in the State to tell what medicine to take, and the number of doses to heal the present run-down condition of the treasury. The Republicans of Ohio never lacked leadership so much as they do at the present time, this fact becoming more evident every day.

Old Barn Dismantled

Work of dismantling the old barn in the rear of the Sourwine Hotel was begun this week, and with its passing many old residents of the vicinity will recall the popularity of the horse, when every type of vehicle could be found in the barn.

It is said that this structure has stood over one hundred years. Mr. Sourwine states that a shed will be erected which will be used as a garage.

DEVELOPMENT OF SHOPS AT CRESTLINE RUMORED

Altho official confirmation is lacking, there seems to be some ground for a rumor that the Pennsylvania railroad company is about to take further steps toward the development of their yards and other property in and about Crestline, and especially with the extension of the west yards and side-tracking to and beyond the Galton-Leavertown highway.

It is also rumored that the Port Wayne shops will be moved to Crestline.

GO-TO-CHURCH CAMPAIGN ENDS

It is as yet impossible to give figures concerning the results of the recent Go-To-Church Campaign as so many have forgotten to turn in their record cards. It is hoped that all cards will be handed in next Sunday without fail. Every one who attended any church service in any church during the month of March should have a record of it on a green card. Any of the pastors will supply you. The card may be dropped in the offering plate or handed to a pastor.

It was announced by Henry L. Doherty & Company, New York, Mich. The 50-mile line, together with switching and transformer sub-stations, will cost more than $1,250,000 and will be financed by the two companies jointly. It will require about 6 or 8 months to construct the line.

BACK CURFEW LAW

Mechanicsburg.—The village council here has voted to stand back of Mayor J. C. Hathaway in the strict enforcement of the village ordinance compelling the respect of the curfew law in the town. It will be put in effect again at once, it is stated.

The above should be given some consideration as Plymouth is confronted with a problem of taking care of youngsters who insist on staying out at night. The gathering of young boys on the public square and other streets is rapidly becoming a nuisance and the parents should feel the responsibility of looking after their boy just at the age when right training is needed.

Floyd McRady of Boise, Idaho, is visiting in town. He is being given a warm welcome, as he has been away from Plymouth for a period of fourteen years. He is a railroad conductor on one of the western roads.

STARS OF DIAMOND MAKE DEBUT IN 'SLIDE KELLY SLIDE'

"There's a lot of acting in ball playing—and a lot of the principles of ball playing come mighty handy in acting, too."

This is the odd discovery of Bob Messel, famous baseball star, and Yaskee hero at the recent World Series, following his first appearance before a camera during the filming of "Slide, Kelly, Slide," Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's baseball classic at the Temple Theatre, Willard on next Monday and Tuesday.

Messel, his brother "Irish," Tony Lazzari and other famous heroes of the diamond were enlisted to appear with William Haines, Sally O'Neil, Harry Carey, Karl Dane and other celebrated players in the new picture, a graphic drama of big league baseball directed by Edward Sedgwick, famous director of "Tin Hats."

The players knew nothing of acting, as such. They learned to make up, and the director instructed them in cinema technique.

"Then I began to find out," says Messel, "that a lot of the things players do on the baseball field are really acting—that showmanship means just as much in baseball as it does on the stage or in the films. After all—we do the same thing that the actor does, anyhow—we amuse the public."

"Also—I found out that the training and strict discipline of the diamond has its counterpart among the actors—working in a studio is not any bed of roses at all, but hard work. In fact, baseball training is good for an actor. Harry Carey was once a ball player."

FAMOUS BRIDGE OVER THAMES IN FOX PRODUCTION

Westminster Bridge, the famous structure spanning the Thames near the Houses of Parliament, is one of the many interesting bits of London shown in Fox Films' production of "One Increasing Purpose," coming to the Shelby Opera House on Monday and Tuesday.

It is one of the handsomest and widest bridges in Europe. It is constructed of iron and granite, and is more than 1,900 feet long. The bridge is eighty-five feet wide with footways of fifteen feet on either side of the roadway.

When it was opened in 1862 it was the most costly bridge of its kind, over a quarter of a million pounds having been expended on its construction.

Wordsworth says of the view from the bridge, "Earth has not anything to show more fair." The embankment lined with hotels and offices, spreads out on the view toward the city. Up the river are the impressive Houses of Parliament with the famous "Terrace," overlooking the river, and on the southern bank is Albert Embankment. "One Increasing Purpose" is adapted from the novel by A. S. M. Hutchinson, the well-known English author whose "If Winter Comes" was also pictured by Fox Films. Mr. Hutchinson personally supervised the adaptation of the book and suggested many bits of intimate business to Harry Beaumont, the director, and Edmund Lowe, the star of the production.

FIELDS PUTS REALISM IN LATEST, 'THE POTTERS'

An unexpectedly appropriate bit of realism was injected into W. C. Fields latest Paramount comedy, "The Potters," coming to the Castamba, Shelby, Saturday, while the picture was being filmed. In one of the scenes Fields, as Pa Potter, returns home flushed with the profitable sale of his oil stock, wearing a new fur coat, carrying a portable radio set, his pockets stuffed with purchases. To the astonishment of Ma, Mary Aledin, Pa struts into the room, takes off his coat, places his mitts on the table, opens up the aerial and tunes in. The scene was rehearsed without opening the set, which had been rented from a local dealer.

When the first shot was taken, however, Fields went through his business of turning the dials. To the astonishment of the comedian and everyone within hearing, a voice suddenly materialized out of the ether, with the following remarks: "The question of whether or not the government oil reserves were deliberately bartered away to private interests is the chief item of interest in the news today and will probably be settled by the jury hearing the case against Edward ... etc."

DRAMATIC STORY OF LOVE PRESENTED IN "MARRIAGE LICENSE"

"Marriage License," a tensely dramatic story of a woman's sacrifice with Alma Rubens in the featured role, comes to the Temple Theatre on next Sunday.

This unusual picture is based on the Broadway success "The Pelican," paralleling in theme the old legend of the female pelican who plucks feathers from her breast to feed her young her heart's blood.

Walter McGrail and Wiltter Pidgeon have the leading male roles and Richard Walling the juvenile lead. Others in the supporting cast are Emily Fitzroy, Charles Lane, Edgar Norton, George Cowl, Langhorne Burton, Lon Poff, Billie Latimer, Patsy O'Byrne Arthur Rankin and Eric Mayne.

Frank Borzage directed the production for Fox Films.

HENRY MENJOU, ADOLPHE'S BROTHER, IN "ACE OF CADS"

Do you know that— Adolphe Menjou has a brother? Henry is Adolphe's business manager?

Said brother appeared as a head waiter in "A Woman of Paris."

He has never been near a camera from that day till production started on "The Ace of Cads."

Well, it's true. Three years have elapsed since Henry donned grease-paint. And he only denied—but let him speak for himself.

"I have never played in anything but great pictures," says Menjou. "I was in 'A Woman of Paris.' That was great. Now I'm in 'The Ace of Cads.' Draw four own conclusions."

Paramount's "The Ace of Cads" starring Adolphe Menjou and featuring Alice Joyce and Norman Trevor, comes to the Shelby Opera House on Sunday. Forrest Halsey adapted Michael Arlen's short story.

WHEN CORN BORER INSPECTION BEGINS

Six inspectors and one supervisor of corn borer work have been recommended for Huron County and work will start immediately upon the approval of a man of headquarters at Toledo. This should be before April first, according to County Agent, C. M. Hampton.

The inspectors' duties will first be to visit every farm in his territory and list the existing conditions of corn stalks, stubble and other corn refuse on each farm and inform the farmer operator concerning what will be expected of him. He will also inspect work done by stubble pulverizers and pass on its effectiveness. After the first of May he will make another visit to all farms and either accept affidavits of the cost of clean-up work, in case it is satisfactory, or will reject the work and report to County Headquarters, so that further clean-up will be made. They will also have indirect help with educational work in their territory.

Demonstrations of adjusting plows for the best efficiency will be conducted in various places in the county. Weather and soil conditions permitting a demonstration of walking and riding plows and tractors with narrow bottoms will be conducted on the

Interesting News From Shiloh

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR

It is often claimed that the citizens of a community are its best resources. Some towns even bear the name of an eminent citizen or prominent event. Other places are known by a certain atmosphere or character which its unselfish citizens produce and stimulate.

It is probably an undisputed fact that the 'Shiloh' we are well acquainted with was named after the successful issue of the Battle of Shiloh. While Shiloh has neither produced nor inherited a citizen of outstanding distinction according to the yard stick of the outside world it is an unquestioned fact that we have here one who has led an unselfish life, cheerful, helpful, patient, accommodating, kind, entirely self forgetful and supremely interested in the welfare and happiness of every one round about.

It would be difficult to find a home in the community where the noblest Christian impulses of sympathy, helpfulness and general willingness to be of real service had not been shown by this devoted common sense woman in times of sickness, distress and sorrow.

Many are the occasions and numerous the events when this whole-hearted soul is to be found out of sight, behind the scenes during the drudgery work, that some one else may have the place of prominence.

Only eternally will reveal the instances where she has been deputized to do this or that favor, because "Frances knows how, Frances will be glad to do it" and with never a forget or a falter, Frances does it.

All of us from the youngest child to the most venerable, become so accustomed to these kindly ministrations that we take them as a matter of course.

On this April first, birthday anniversary, should the friends, here there and yonder send or bring a greeting, the lines of communication into Shiloh would be taxed to their capacity and a small acknowledgment given for the esteem accorded to Shiloh's most useful citizen.

FARM BUREAU HELD MEETING
Farm Bureau of Blooming Grove and Cass townships held a joint session, Wednesday evening.

Mr. W. E. Slough of Ontario reported work of the Wool Grower's Association which in its pooling of wool, enables farmers to sell their wool in a business-like way.

Wool Grower's Association carefully grades its product and sells wool as the trade needs it throughout the year, making an advance of 75% of the value of the wool to the owner when he delivers wool to the association.

It often happened before farmers organized this company that if producers did not sell their wool early in the season, at the price then offered, they were unable to find a market for it until the following spring.

While only about 20 per cent of Ohio wool was pooled last year, records show that the wool price has averaged considerably higher ever since the Wool Grower's Association has been in business, an advance which has been enjoyed by all Ohio producers of wool.

Mr. J. H. Bacon will have a supply of paper twine for wool, which gives the best satisfaction and is cheaper to use.

The Fertilizer discussion by Vance Clever, county service manager, was followed by statements of two farmers who were present, that their rebate on fertilizers last fall more than paid their year's Farm Bureau membership dues.

FRIDAY EVENING CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO MEET

MASONIC INSPECTION

At their regular meeting Monday evening, the appointed official from the Grand Lodge of Ohio for the 20th district, C. W. Ellenwood of Wooster, as district lecturer, visited and inspected the work of our local Masonic lodge.

A sumptuous 7 o'clock dinner had been prepared by the ladies of the O. E. S. after which at 8 o'clock Worshipful Master D. E. Bushey opened the lodge, welcomed Mr. Ellenwood, and then accorded him the grand honors.

As Mr. Bushey has been principal in our schools for several years it naturally qualifies him for service in his important position in the lodge, and supported by an efficient corps of officers, the work under his supervision would easily pass the inspection of the most critical.

During the regular work Dewey Hamman was given the fellowcraft degree.

There were thirty-five members present and twenty visitors from Shelby, Greenwich, Plymouth, and also three from Wooster, Woodville, Fairfield, Zanesville and Ashland lodges were represented.

Interesting responses were given from nearly all the visiting lodges and a splendid talk from Attorney C. G. A. Sells of Plymouth on Ancient History in connection with Masonic work, and also its relation to biblical history, was much appreciated. The worshipful master and lodge received many compliments for their excellent work.

Finds Wonderful Array of Spring Coats Here

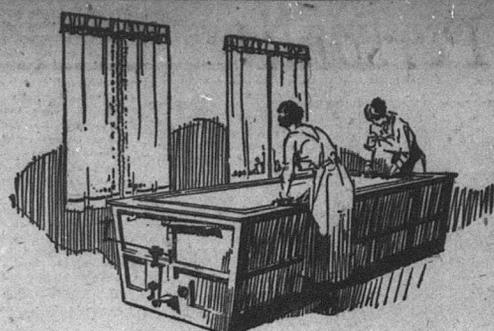

The array of Spring Coats offered by the J. W. McIntire store will exceed your expectations. Never have I seen more beautiful coats—plaid, belted models, fur trimmed, everything that's up to the minute in style. Mere words cannot describe the new creations for spring wear, but I was very much in love with a beautiful green colored coat—just the right shade of green, and a small fur-trimmed collar and a touch of braid—inquired of the price, and I am sure the same coat in large cities would cost twice asked by the McIntire store. All I can say is that if you're looking for a spring coat, and you want quality and style combined, and at a very reasonable price, I suggest that you visit this store.

Road Construction Tied Up For Lack of Funds

COLUMBUS, O.—It cost the state of Ohio approximately $100,000 to remove snow from the main arteries of travel during the past winter, according to George F. Schlessinger, state highway director. His statement reveals the fact that the state has over 200 light and heavy snow plows. Ways available, in addition to many grading units which are used for the purpose of clearing highways of snow during winter months. The average cost of removing snow in 1926 was 200 per mile, and while exact data has not been reported for this winter, it is not expected to average more than $15, or less. Because of the lack of funds no new highway improvements contracts are being let at the present time, and probably will not be until after the next appropriation is available after next July. On account of this condition there are fewer contracts working today in Ohio and fewer detours than at any time since the vast improvement program of the highway department was first started. Practically all contracts which have been let will be completed before new ones are awarded.

Ohio Auto Owners Pay Huge Sum Into Treasury COLUMBUS, O.—Owners of Ohio automobiles paid into the State Treasury during the year 1926 a total of $12,057,227.85 or $55,773.22 for each and every one of the 365 days of the year. This is at a rate in excess of over one million dollars every month of 1926. This year the cost of operating automobiles will go higher. These figures are for gasoline tax alone, and does not include the millions collected for state license tags, personal taxes, recording fees and other little contributions made by auto owners in support of the State and County government. The grand total of taxes collected from the auto owner last year in Ohio was close to the $40,000,000 dollar mark. No wonder auto owners are opposed to a 100 per cent increase in the gasoline tax. One thing is very certain and that is that officials of the Ohio State-Auto mobile Association are on the job, and a referendum on any gasoline tax is certain, according to Chas. C. Janes, its secretary. Which means that the collection of such a tax will be held up for at least two years.

Our curtain dryer makes them hang true

A carding material, similar to a stiff bristle brush, holds the edges of the curtains, without hooks or pins. Corners are square, scalloped over, measurements true.

Even after you spend a hard day washing your curtains and drying them on the floor or an old-fashioned curtain stretcher, they so often lack that smooth finish and even "hang" that they had when new.

Let our curtain dryer take the tiresome job off your hands. We measure every curtain before it is washed, and dry it exactly to its original size. The edges are patted down on the carding material at the sides of the dryer, and come out straight and true, without pin or hook marks. And both in washing and drying, your finest curtains are handled gently and carefully.

You'll never wash your curtains at home again after you know our quality work and low prices. Phone and let us tell you more about it.

A Gloomy Prospect

The cost of living in American cities will rise, and this will result in a decrease in the amount of money wage-earners and salaried employees will be able to spend upon luxuries, Carl Snyder, economist for the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, predicts for the not-distant future. Prices will rise in the cities, he says, because of the steady drift of the farm population to urban centers. Two and a half million persons have left the farms since 1920; and this, he holds, has decreased the active farm workers by from eight to ten per cent. If Mr. Snyder's prediction comes true, it may not be a bad thing. It may serve to solve the farm problem, but it will doubtless cause other evils equally puzzling. And yet when we consider that this country spends eight or nine billions a year for the maintenance and replacement of automobiles alone, it does not appear that a slight economic adjustment caused by a rise in the cost of living would cause a great deal of suffering.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The writer had the privilege and great pleasure of singing three duets - specials during the meetings with Miss Alma Budman, the evangelist. We have been the possessor of a strong voice, but when we come to stand by a young person with a beautiful and powerful alto, showed us some static in our 79 year old voice.

The Amens at the close gave us cheer.

It is said by the older members of our Delphi church that we have had one of the best campaigns for souls that we have had for years. The church is practically rebuilt, so to speak, spiritually. Rev. Leonard E. Smith, serving his fifth year here is a rapid, strong and forceful speaker, logical and biblical in his sermons as well as fearless. Miss Alma Budman of Muncy, Pa., an evangelist, and I believe her sermons in regard mostly, is a product of The Cleveland Biblical Institute, a gifted young lady, in song, pleading, a rare specialist in altar services. A pleasing personality, easy of approach, quick and discerning in an argument. A strong center for a fully saved life. She often made us think of what Elijah Bralon used to say "If you haven't got religion enough to know it, you wouldn't miss it if you lost it." She let Monday morning for Eastern Alabama for a full service during the month of April with the best wishes and liberal donations of her many friends.

See the tub drain and clean itself in 30 seconds after the washing is done.

Don't do another washing in the old way when any Maytag dealer will lend you a Maytag without expense or obligation of any kind. Just try the Maytag—if it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it.

ARMS OF DIVINE LOVE

I heard a child once remark: "If I am well I like Daddy to carry me in his arms, but if I am sick, I prefer Mother to carry me." That little fellow did not dream that he thus was preaching the real Gospel of Divine Love, for it was Jesus, you read in Holy writ, who took the little children up in His arms, and put His hands on them, for the purpose of bestowing His blessings. The psalmist refers to God's arms as being stretched out in blessing, hence we are glad to know that the Divine Teacher not on loved little children, in the days of His earthly pilgrimage, but that today and as long as the world shall stand, He is ever ready to give the touch of Love and gentleness to the child, accompanied by the injunction "Suffer them, for of such is the kingdom." Have you ever seen a mother teaching her baby to walk? Placing the child against the chair, mother receives a few steps, stretches forth her arms, and lovingly invites the child by the encouraging words: "Come." Perhaps the first trial ends in failure, but finally the baby succeeds, encouraged by mother's smile, and the first voyage in life is taken. His end brings the child into the embrace of mother and the reward is a tender kiss of approbation. I wish that all children might make their first great venture in life a venture into the outstretched arms of Jesus.

The poet certainly was divinely led when he wrote to the world that wonderful hymn: "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." Isaiah, the prophet, in referring to God's arms, called them

Holy arms, hence it is clear that the child entering the fellowship of the blessed Jesus who is holy, will early in life shape the same after the pattern of the teacher. A few years ago, I read a touching story about a ship-wreck on the coast of Africa. Among the passengers was a little child who had become a great favorite with all and especially of one strong sailor, who spent his hours of rest, amusing the child. Without warning the ship struck a hidden rock and began sinking in a fearful storm. The sailor rushed into the cabin, took the child from the weeping mother's arms, wrapped it in his oilskin coat, strapped it to his own body, folded it in his bosom and jumped into the raging sea. All on board perished. The people on shore, on rushing down to the shore, saw a body of a man, fearfully mangled, his head having been dashed against the rocks, but the bundle which he securely tied to his bosom revealed to the astonished people a living child. The sailor lost his life to save the child. Fathers, mothers, do not forget to teach the child in the home, that the Father's love for humanity was so great, that he suffered his only son to die for our transgressions.

JUSTICES AND MAYORS ARE HIT

The Decision of Judge Taft Stops the Fee Business Which Has Been Abused.

Chief Justice William H. Taft of the United States Supreme Court nullifies the Ohio law which allows mayors to preside over liquor cases which as presiding magistrate they receive fees from costs paid by the entire court. Any lawyer will, doubtless, agree that the Chief Justice's nullification decision is entirely right and wholly in accord with the law, sound judgment and civic welfare. Few men, to say nothing about the caliber of those that aspire to mayoralty by accident become mayors, are immune to the prejudicial influence of leading favor to the side that guarantees the highest fee.

The Supreme Court decision is sweeping and far reaching in its application of principle. True it is handed down in a liquor case, but doubtless it establishes the law for all cases in which the presiding magistrate has a pecuniary interest to the cost assessed against the accused. Presumably, therefore, justices of the peace will henceforth be disqualified to sit in judgment in all cases where they obtain a fee from the costs paid by the person charged with crime.

Some lamentation has gone up throughout the county by reason of liquor cases shall flourish for want of judicial qualifications in liquor offenses. Such lamentation is unwarranted. The probate judge is a salaried official wholly unrestrained by the prejudice of the fee system. His jurisdiction is co-extensive with the county in liquor violations. Before him such cases must hereafter be brought.

The fact is that the decision of Justice Taft is commendable after all. The fee system for judges is vicious at best and especially when used with "small fry men." Probate judges invariably lawyers, their liberal education and training. Therefore their prejudices are less likely to dominate their judicial opinions against facts and law.

Jail and work house sentences will be less frequent now. "Barefoot" decisions the Mayor often committed the liquor violator, to jail of work-house until the fee is paid. How intricate has a pecuniary interest to the cost assessed against the accused. Presumably, therefore, justices of the peace will henceforth be disqualified to sit in judgment in all cases where they obtain a fee from the costs paid by the person charged with crime.

if he could jail his debtors until they paid? Few would stand for jail for debt. Nevertheless until the fearless Supreme Court Justice struck at our Ohio law mayors and justices of the peace were doing that very thing.

In Huron County not many years ago there came to the attention of the writer in a small hamlet a case of liquor violation. The offender had in his home fermented liquor. The magistrate and the offender were rival candidates for mayor only a year before. The case came on for hearing and before the defense counsel could summarize the evidence the magistrate shouted, "Guilty as charged. Fine $250.00." Error proceedings were prepared and since no record of the evidence was made, all material testimony was stricken from the record before the trial magistrate would approve the record. In higher court the proceedings were farcical. Sufficient to say the magistrate followed the case with zest and used his power of arrest to collect his share of the costs in fees.

All in all Huron County people are heartily in accord with Taft decision. We admire the Chief Justice for his courage in upholding a great American principle "due process of law."

We can see no ill effects for Huron County, for we repose the utmost confidence in the equity and in the intelligence of our own Probate Judge John M. Beck.

Let us be enough concerned about Chief Justice Taft and his decision to observe for a time at least what the thoughtful barbers of epithets and opprobriums have to say, whether they dominate him Republican, Democrat, wet or dry. And as we hear such epithets and opprobriums let us weigh the wisdom of the justice with the wisdom of the accusers.

Our only wish is that ardent "dry" who would have their way at sacrifice of American principles keep mindful of the political complexion of the author of the supreme court decision, Huron County News.

John F. Rockefeller acts the peace-maker getting daughter and granddaughter to settle $8,000,000 case out of court—which should be a good lesson for persons less able to hire lawyers.

Too Much "Acid?"

Excess Uric Acid Gives Rise to Many Unpleasant Troubles.

AUTHORITIES agree that an excess of uric acid is primarily due to faulty kidney action. Retention of this toxic material often makes its presence felt by sore, painful joints, a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backache and headache. That the kidneys are not functioning right is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Thousands assist their kidneys at such times by the use of Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Doan's are recommended by many local people. Ask your neighbor!

progress at T. R. U. are Opal Phillips, Mabel Sourwine, Teddy Beberick,

Fetters is pianist in the orchestra, Mr.
Beberick is one of the honor students,

Girls Glee Club Makes
Good Showing Tuesday
Evening at Hamilton Hall

The concert given by the P. H. S. girls Tuesday evening was a splendid success in spite of the fact that the audience was small. Those who heard it were pleasantly surprised at the wealth of talent among the young people of Plymouth.
It is to be hoped that parents will encourage children who are interested in music.
The club roll is as follows: First prizes: Ruth Balduf, Dorothy Straub,

Shelby's Greatest Store for Men and Boys.

YOUNG WILLARD BOY HANGS SELF

About 7 p. m. Sunday the body of Francis A. Richards, 14, was found hanging in the basement of his parents home in Willard.
Coroner C. L. Bell of Norwalk, who investigated the case, states it is likely that the boy, while playing, put the rope around his neck and fell forward. The youth probably had been dead an hour when the discovery was made. Coroner Bell, upon investigation, found that the boy, a few minutes before the fatality, had been in the very best of spirits and had been playing boisterously. He was getting along well with his studies and had the advantage of an excellent home and loving indulgent parentage.

Site for a national home for aged members of the Daughters of America was purchased at Tiffin last week. The purchase was made by the Tiffin chamber of commerce with a fund of $250,000 raised by public subscription. A 50-acre site, recently approved by national officers of the order, was selected. Building of the first group of buildings at an estimated cost of $250,000 will be started within a few weeks, it was announced.

Wrong Figures Given

In giving the figures of those sustaining the action of council in the water works last week an error was made, stating that 276 voted to sustain council's action. This should have been 40. The polls showed that 276 were in favor of doing away with the action of council in regards to the purchase of the quarry site, while 40 upheld it.

ANNOUNCEMENT
We suppose everybody sometimes has wanted to run a newspaper of their own.
We plead guilty, not only on that score, but also to wanting to be an editor.
P. W. Thomas of The Plymouth Advertiser says running a newspaper is full of grief, but if we insist, he'll rent us this little corner each week, and it'll be up to us to make good.
So we'll be here every Thursday with B. & M. Broadcasting in which we will talk about: YOU PEOPLE, OUR COMMUNITY, ITS IMPROVEMENTS, and maybe a little bit about the hardware business.
We'll promise to be interesting all the time.
But we'll need your HELP with criticism, comments and contributions.
