An Easter Meditation

By Rev. J. W. MILLER

At this season of the year does there not come to all normal human beings, that wonderful experience which is the thrill of Spring? That we are glad we know. But why? We know not. In the air there is an exhilaration and in things an unaccountable delight. From nowhere, Hope and Joy seem to spring up, and when we ask ourselves the reason we are unable to find it. This we know, our winter of discontent is over and we rejoice in the returning light. Over the world, with lavish decoration, the spring gladness is celebrated. Beauty is everywhere. An Artie explorer and Naturalist tells us that on the north coast of Siberia "no sooner was the snow gone than hosts of tiny flowers sprang up, saxifrages, pale, yellow mountain poppies, forget-me-nots, and clop berry flowers and blue bells, not more than two inches high. About everything there is a sense of cleansing, of refreshment, and new beginnings. The saddest heart feels that all is not lost, and the most pitiful catches sight of some possible improvement.

In matters of religion, the winter sadness comes upon us all. Not the winter of discontent merely, but for many, it is the winter of their fallow, hopelessness and sin that has moved toward Calvary through dark and darker days. Many are asking the question "Is there a Resurrection of Hope?"

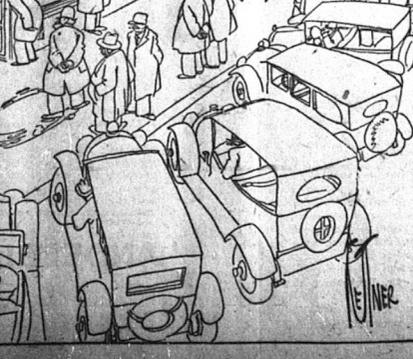

Let us face the fact of the Resurrection itself. Is there a fact more shapely historic than that of the sudden appearance of the Christian Church? There certainly is not. It was unlike anything which existed then or had ever existed in the world before. At the time of its rise the whole of the little new and unorganized Christian world was sunk in gloomy depression. In the great trial of strength between it and the ruling powers of the day it had been defeated. It could not be called a revolutionary body, for there was no reformulated program, nor any clear understanding of aims. It was simply a little group of men and women stunned by defeat and in sorrow.

Suddenly, without the least warning, the Church sprang into the most vital center of propaganda, with full powers of adjustment and organization, that then existed in the whole world. Instead of sorrow, its message was full of the most exuberant gladness. The joy of it was contagious, and seemed to infect humanity. Everywhere, far and near, across the lands, the Church set the world wild with joy.

What was the cause? There is no doubt whatever that the cause of this was a well-authenticated "veter" in the resurrection of Jesus Christ. This was the view of the Church, and it was the reason the Church gave for her power on earth. It is very interesting to notice how this interest in the first preaching of Christianity. Every doctrine has its supreme hour. The note of the modern preaching is

SIT STEADY

This is a good time not to take too much for granted on any way or other in the Chinese situation. All sorts of stories are coming out of the Orient. Every Chinese faction has a propaganda bureau all its own, and the European powers interested in China of course have a way of censoring the news which comes from their correspondents. There can be little doubt that the situation in China is bad. Just how bad it is only time can tell. It might be that the Cantonese will sweep on to Peking during the present year and then again it is possible that the so-called nationalists will get set back again.

It is therefore not a good time to enter into any rash undertakings and it is confusing to know that the administration at Washington is not one which is apt to go off on a tangent on this or any other proposition. The government is of course taking such steps as are necessary to protect American lives and American property in China. In so doing the government is only performing its duty. But it will not embark on any definite and sweeping policy in China until it is sure of all the facts.

It is significant to note that with all the trouble in China and the world wide concern it has caused, there has been as yet no effort to call the League of Nations in to iron out the trouble. The league, as has been suggested, can only act when Great Britain and France want it to act, and in the Chinese these two powers prefer to work things out without any league interference.

EXAMINATIONS ANNOUNCED FOR DRY FORCES UNDER CIVIL SERVICE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The United States Civil Service Commission today launched its country-wide campaign to recruit eligibles for the 2500 positions in the Bureau of Prohibition which were classified under the civil service law by the Act of March 3, 1927. The Commission announced open competitive examinations for the following positions:
1. Chief of field division, at $5,000
a year.
5 Prohibition zone supervisors, at

$5,200 a year.
25 Prohibition administrators, at $4,000 to $5,000 a year.
24 Assistant prohibition administrators (enforcement work), at $3,300
to $5,200 a year.
24 Assistant prohibition administrators (permissive work), at $3,300 to $5,200 a year.
50 Deputy prohibition administrators, at $3,000 to $4,600 a year.
2 Field office inspectors, at $3,900
to $5,900 a year.
4 Associate field office inspectors, at $3,900 to $5,600 a year.
18 Senior prohibition investigators,
at $3,900 a year.
109 Prohibition investigators, at
$3,000 a year.
53 Junior prohibition investigators,
at $2,400 a year.
228 Prohibition agents, at $2,400 a year.
1250 Junior prohibition agents, at
$1,800 a year.
102 Warehouse watchmen, at $1,140
to $1,800 a year.
74 Attorneys, at $1,800 to $5,200 a
year.

The Civil Service Commission states that the examinations will be practically the same specially designed to test the qualifications and fitness of the applicants to perform the particular branch of the work for which that kind of examination is held.
The examinations for investigators below the senior grade, those for agents of all grades, and those for warehouse watchmen will require the assembling of competitors in examination rooms for written mental tests. These will be given in approximately 400 cities throughout the country. The other examinations listed do not include written mental tests in examination rooms.

All of the examinations will include ratings on training and experience, a searching oral test, and a rigid character investigation made by the Civil Service Commission with the assistance of other Government agencies.
In order to give the oral tests it will be necessary for the Commission to send investigators to interview applicants in various parts of the country.
The character investigations will be made with the most painstaking care. Because of these two features of the examinations, the testing of applicants for the 2500 newly-classified positions under the Bureau of Prohibition is one of the largest single tasks ever undertaken by the Commission.

Fingerprints will be made of all applicants who attain eligible ratings.
These will be used to check the accuracy of the applicants' statements as to arrest, indictment, or conviction for crime or misdemeanor. The Civil Service Commission feels that any person who is worthy of appointment to a position under the Bureau of Prohibition will not object to the most searching investigation into his past life.

The act bringing these positions into the competitive classified service provides that those now employed who were not appointed in accordance with the civil service law must compete with others in examinations if they wish to have an opportunity to retain their positions.
Copies of the examination announcements and application blanks may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. or from the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners at this post office in this or any other city. The examination announcement gives detailed information regarding the scope of the examinations and the requirements for entrance thereto.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Who has not felt the inspiration of these spring days? With the bracing air, the song of the early birds, the blossoming of the flowers and bright sunshine, all lend to the joy of life.
Holy Week has the mingled notes of both joy and sorrow. Sorrow, as we follow the events of our Lord through His passion, the glad acclaim of Palm Sunday and bitterness of the days of disappointment that followed, leading to Gethsemane, culminating in the Crucifixion. But amidst the darkness spring a ray of light that increases hour by hour until the stone is rolled away, and He who was dead is alive, and behold He liveth forevermore.

What does THIS mean to YOU who read these lines? Have YOU entered into the experience of the Resurrection Life? If you have, you have cause for rejoicing with Him, who, by your devotion, sees His death has not been in vain for you. Then indeed, you can come to the greatest festival of the year with rejoicing and gladness, for your night has passed away, and the Day Star has arisen in your heart. Of course, you will be attending the meetings in the churches the evenings of this week, in preparation for the services of Easter Morn.
On the evening of Good Friday, at 7:00 o'clock, those who will join in worship will be led by the choir of First Methodist Church, of Cleveland, who will broadcast over "W. T. A. M." Stalners "Crucifixion." Mr. Brown of the Brown & Miller Hardware Co., will have their radio set in the church, to receive this wonderful production.
Those who have listened to this set, as it has been used frequently, will need not be told of its excellence in bringing off the air, these productions to the entire satisfaction of all. So be present at SEVEN O'CLOCK. After the cantata, we will proceed in the closet of the service. Easter morning, the Epworth League, and others who care to do so, will meet at the church at 7:30, for a Sunrise service.
At New Haven, at 9:30, there will be Baptism of children and adults, reception of members, and Holy Communion. The same order will be used at Plymouth at 11 a.m. Evening, at New Haven, the young people will conduct the evening service at 7:30.
At Plymouth, the choir will render the cantata "The Prince of Life." Some who have listened to rehearsals, know of its excellence, and all will want to hear it.

Unless something prevents, Mr. and Mrs. Gibson will leave here Monday for a few days for Toledo, to visit their daughter. They will return Wednesday or Thursday of the week.

WHY GROW OLD?

The rejuvenation studies of Professor Steinhach in Vienna seem likely to upset all calculations of actuarial and economic death in the American Monthly in an article entitled,
"Why Not Live 200 Years?"
If experiments on a large scale verify the conclusions reached by Steinhach and his fellow-students, no life insurance policy of the future will be written without making rejuvenation obligatory. Dr. Peter Schmidt of Berlin, suggests that the restimulation of the age gland should be made obligatory for the old, as vaccination is compulsory for children.

Dr. Harry Benjamin of New York, in a medical report on 123 American patients treated by him, shows marked benefits in 77 per cent of the cases. General vitality was raised, he says, and various symptoms of age, such as hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure, were reversed. Dr. Benjamin criticizes the "medical grates" who have discredited Steinhach's work by sensationalizing and commercializing it.

Printed Stationery Adds Charm

Our stationery will add just a touch of individuality to your correspondence, and you'll enjoy using the soft crushed paper—the quality of which is unparalleled.

And then there is the size—a convenient size. The sheet is large enough for one letter, but you get one hundred sheets and fifty envelopes. So one box gives you an ample supply for a long time.

Of course you have your choice of types to select from for the printing. "The Civilite" is a new French creation and is the "Elite" monogram initials and the effect is very pretty.

What is more appreciative than a nice box of personal print-

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the eighth of a series of articles that will appear each week in this newspaper dealing with Ohio's problem of increasing insanity. These articles are sponsored by the Ohio Association for the Welfare of the Mentally Sick, which has but one objective, namely, more scientific and more humane treatment of mentally sick patients in state hospitals and the rapid rehabilitation of these unfortunate.

Due to the fallacious idea of "once insane, always insane," and that "mental sickness is due to heredity"

If you buy a new car every 10,000 miles or so, almost any car will give you satisfactory results.

But if you want the same fine service on through the second, third and the many following tens of thousands of miles, buy a Buick!

Accurate tests at the great Proving Ground of General Motors, where all cars are driven and examined, show Buick's sturdy structure and powerful Valve-in-Head Engine still gaining in efficiency at the point in miles where other cars are distinctly on the down grade.

and was born and bred into the individual and, therefore, inescapable, one can really realize the feelings of the average family when one of its members becomes mentally sick.

The first thought that occurs when we notice one of the members of the family acting in a traitorous manner is that it probably is "in the blood." We then search back through the family tree to find out just where this thing started. In 25 per cent of the cases, we will find some uncle, aunt, grandfather or grandmother who some time in their lives had been classed as "insane." We then hang our heads in sorrow to think that this abnormal thing of "insanity" has cropped out in our generation.

THE WRONG ATTITUDE

The first remark of the family is usually, "There is no insanity in our family that we know of." In other words, they start off trying to excuse the condition. They do not know that this disease is in no wise connected with their good family tree. They have thought otherwise, and consequently one cannot blame them for so believing. As a result, they shield this member of the family from the gaze of the public as long as they can. Then, when the condition can no longer be kept secret, they manufacture excuses as to why this patient should become mentally ill.

When the patient finally is placed in an asylum, there are many relatives who go there to see him only under cover of a taxicab or after dark for fear some of their friends will see them.

PUBLIC SUPPORT NEEDED

Can you imagine your friends and relatives look upon the present patient in our state institutions? Do you realize that practically one-third of the patients in our state hospitals for the mentally sick never have visitors from one year's end to another? Can you imagine what it would mean if you were one of those unlucky one-third?

The present state of the mentally sick, unfortunates places them as "God's most neglected people"—neglected through false ideas, false impressions, false standards, false teachings and false books.

The Ohio Association for the Welfare of the Mentally Sick merely attempts to give this patient a square deal, to encourage an early discovery of any irrational condition, to provide adequate care and attention, that he may again be restored to his reason. If scientifically correct and sympathetic medical and nursing attention will do the job. Your moral support, whether you are a friend or relative or merely an interested citizen, is solicited, because this great movement cannot go over unless the public spirited citizens of Ohio give it their moral support.

SOME CHIPS

One thing we do know
And that is exceptionally true,
We often fail to give credit,
Where it is so often due.

While many are striving,
And seeking for a light,
A few words and a kindness,
Is only just and right.

When people are in darkness,
And seeking for a light,
A few words and a kindness,
Is only just and right.

When clouds are darkest,
And you in constant fear,
A kind word from a friend,
Would show them very near.

Praise your wife for work,
Not only for good eats—
The minister of the church,
Waits ears instead of seats.

Your minister gives a sermon,
One thing for you to do,
Tell him how it hit,
As it was meant for you.

If he finds his message,
Seems to hit the spot,
It will stimulate him,
And not feel as if forgot.

School teachers are willing
A part of our burden to bear,
In training of our children;
We should treat them fair.

The editor publishes a paper,
He tries to give you the news,
He needs your support in business;
And why should you refuse?

Pay the man who trusted you,
You promised to pay the bill,
You may have to repeat this,
Your credit will be good still.

And the man you do work for,
From whom you expect pay,
Give him the worth of money,
Don't watch the time of day.

The town you live in,
You can help it to make,
Then why not help figure
To save the town from break.

You say you will be neutral,
You know, but won't tell,
Some day you will go somewhere,
Not neutral—but heaven or?

Why not be a good soldier,
Prepare and go to the front,
Don't hide behind neutrality,
Instead of fight, you grant.

You may not like the above,
I am sure a part is true,
If it does not hit them,
I quit before I was through.

ELECTRICITY FOR POWER PLANTS

A statement from the United States Geological Survey shows that the total output of electricity in public utility power plant for the first two months of this year was more than nine per cent larger than the same period of last year. Since in 1926 production gained eleven per cent over 1925 it will be comprehended that electricity for public-utility power plants is gaining in the production.

The Funny Bone

Sneezing?—Use Minard's Liniment.

A little English girl named Margaret Clarke this year celebrated her seventh birthday on the seventh day of the seventh month, and she is the seventh daughter of a seventh child. If there is anything in lucky numbers—and seven is proverbially lucky—this young lady must be marked for an extraordinary career.

And Willie wrote, "My pants are a tradition."

The young people are subjected to considerable criticism these days, but we should not forget that parents are "stepping out" more than was customary in the days of the one-horse-shay.

I hug him in the hallway,

Because he is my dad.

A man was spending a night at a hotel in a small Southern town, and when going to his room for the night he told the porter that he wanted to be called early in the morning.
"Say boss," replied the porter. "I reckon yo' ain't familiar wid dese bash modern inventions. When yo' want to be called in the mornin' all yo' has to do is press de button at de head ob yo' bed. Den we comes up an' calls yo'."

A Versified Attack on the Corn Borer

Rhyme is the latest weapon called into action against the European corn borer, reports the agricultural college extension service at Columbus, Adams, author of this verse, is extension specialist in vegetable gardening at the New York State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y., and known for his "Rural Rhymes."
THE EUROPEAN CORN BORER
How, down along the C road road,
By the tule bridge that arched the road,
Bled;
Stout farmers in the April mud Made good the challenge they had hurled
And "fred the shot heard round the world."
Right here and now as loud as then
There sounds a corn Minute Men,
A state of war exists once more;
A foreign foe is on our shore.
We rightfully apply the term
To this here new corn borer worm.
He is a cautious coot, dodrot him!
He won't come out where we can swat him.
Within the cornstalk armor sunk,
His tunnels, here and yonder dug,
Cause breaking over of the tassels
And likeli tell you where he wastes
Just cutting up a stalk or so.
Will show the cause in status quo,
Easle the crop where he is seen,
Plow all the weeds and stubble clean
If every weed or stalk go under,
You're sure to bodder him like thunder,
I aim to lather a hearty swat
When he appears on my back lot,
And trust that men with broader acres
Will not be idle belly achers.
But smite instead his solar plexus
Before his sons are born to vex us.
O let us rise and crush the stranger
Who puts the Indian corn in danger.
Or if we can't destroy him quite,
Let's make him know he's in a fight.

Keep Eliminative System Active

Good Health Requires Good Elimination
ONE can't feel well when there is a retention of poisonous waste in the blood. This is called a toxic condition, and is apt to make one tired, dull and languid. Other symptoms are sometimes toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many people have learned the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, when the kidneys seem functionally inactive. Everywhere one finds enthusiastic Doan's users. Ask your neighbor!

Paragraphs

Well, all I know is what I hear around the Square. And judging from this there is going to be very little news this week for 95 per cent of the people do not know ANYTHING.

Ed. Phillips, Mayor Derr and Marshal Burkett were seen on the square Monday afternoon. We suppose they were spotting out the location for the new turtle tight which is to be installed.

Judging from reports down at Columbus, Trux street will remain in about the same condition. It's too bad that important improvements have to be delayed while a lot of red tape has to be straightened out. A public subscription might have to be resorted to for the purchase of crushed stone to be used temporarily on this stretch of road.

We're a little sore this week—after moving about three tons of ashes. Anyway we've started the spring clean-up drive and we hope the other fellow thinks as much of his property as we do.

The corner of The Peoples National Bank affords an appropriate place for a chime clock. It's just a suggestion, but The Advertiser will top the list with a subscription. Let's go. We need a time piece for the public. Motorists passing through will appreciate it as well as many of our citizens.

Guy L. Bodine was a pleasant caller last Friday. Mr. Bodine is a picture of health and still retains the picturesque characteristics of the early settlers. He related many interesting incidents of his youthful days in Ply-

Suppose we look up the rules and regulations governing house to house salesmen. They should be made to pay a fee for this privilege, and in this case the town should be well off financially, judging from the number that have visited here recently.

In the old days we thought a man was shiftless if he lived from day to day, consuming today what he earned today. Now our problem is to curb the man who is consuming today what he will be earning six months from now.

In another case the manufacturer of a cigar labeled his weed with the word "Havana," although his tobacco hadn't come within a thousand miles of Cuba. He had to quit, too.

A "direct from factory to you" concern that bought its goods in the open market and tried to make the public believe that it was cutting out all of the middlemen was given to understand that its business was misleading and deceptive. The Trade Commission acted a can on them, too.

ALFALFA SEED FROM SOUTH AMERICA
 Alfalfa seed grown in South America is not adapted for agriculture in New England, the Middle Atlantic, and western States, according to the Secretary of Agriculture, but Mr. Jardine says that it goes all right in certain of the Southern States. In order to protect the country from South American alfalfa seed the Department has issued an order that the seed must be stained an orange-red color.

VETERANS BUREAU ANNOUNCES INSURANCE DIVIDEND SCHEDULE

The dividend schedule for Government Life Insurance for the year 1927 has just been issued by the U. S. Veterans' Bureau.

This schedule not only shows the dividends on policies recently issued each year since 1915. The usual high dividend rate has been maintained. This is of interest not only to holders of Government Life Insurance Policies and to those who now hold War Risk Term Policies which must be converted, but also to ex-service men generally, who are now being urged to reinstate their Government insurance.

All War Risk Insurance Policies must be converted by July 2, 1927, which is also the last date for reinstatement.

Opening Announcement

On Saturday, April 16, the Kirkpatrick Mail-Order Shoe House will open a retail department.

We are pleased to give our former customers in this immediate vicinity the opportunity of securing Arch-Vigor shoes. Therefore we are opening a retail department, where Arch-Vigor footwear will be sold at the phenomenally low price of $5.00, which is also the mail-order price.

We appreciated your patronage and the confidence you placed in our ability to serve you when we were in business here a few years ago. We did not abuse this confidence though you received good shoes at a fair price. And we are glad to be in a position again to offer you footwear of the highest quality at the lowest price.

Arch-Vigor shoes embody all the style elements found in the newest footwear. They ABSOLUTELY FIT as well, WEAR as well, LOOK as well, and are as satisfactory as eight to ten dollar shoes.

Our mail-order department demands that we carry a very extensive stock, therefore we have the largest range of sizes and widths known to shoeedom.

Widths AAA to EEEE. Sizes 3 1/2 to 10
The Arch-Vigor price is $5.00. Never More, Never Less

We hope to have the pleasure of serving you.

JOHN GILBERT DOES GREAT WORK IN HIS NEW PICTURE

John Gilbert, the famous doughboy of "The Big Parade," isn't a one-role actor by any means. His greatest success was as an American soldier—and now he has turned about and scored another success just as great—as a young German.

It proves two things—one of them that John Gilbert is an actor who can essay anything and do a great piece of work; another is that young men are young men the world over, and the color of the flag that flies over their native land doesn't have anything to do with the color of the red blood of youth.

All of which is to say that John Gilbert has done one of the greatest pieces of work in his career in "Flesh and the Devil." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's adaptation of Fauterman's "The Usual Suspect" to be shown at the Shelby Opera House on Sunday.

He has caught the idealism of the European youth and tinged it with the adventurous susceptibility to feminine charms that the author so graphically painted in word pictures; and from the Siedemann character he has evolved a new triumph.

Greta Garbo is the heroine, a charming, exotic siren who charms him at most to do doom, a literal modern prototype of Germany's legend of the Lorelei; Miss Garbo establishes a new school of screen vampire in her role in the new picture. She is compelling by convincing and dramatically charming, and when the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios lured her from Sweden they laid the foundation for a very great success. Lars Hanson is a compelling figure as the wronged husband, and George Fawcett a dominant character as the old pastor, William Orlmond, Barbara Kent, Eugenie Besserer and others of note have adequate roles.

Janet Gaynor, pretty Fox Films featured player, has had leading "sweetheart" roles in five pretentious pictures, but it was not until she came under the direction of Victor Schertzinger in the screen version of "The Return of Peter Grimm," showing at the Temple Theatre, Tuesday, that she actually donned a wedding gown and made active preparations for the "march to the altar."

LOCK OF JACKIE'S HAIR IS PRESERVED

In an airtight glass case in the library of Jackie Coogan's home in Hollywood reposes a large lock of the golden hair known to men and children the world over. Jackie's bobbed hair has been a trade-mark worth more than its weight in gold, and when he grows to manhood he will have in addition to his memories a substantial memento of his babyhood.

When it was announced that Jackie's hair was to be cut in his new production, "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut," letters and telegrams from all over the world poured into the Coogan headquarters in Hollywood requesting a lock of hair. To have obliged all of the souvenir hunters Jackie would have needed thousands of hair cuts. The exact cutting of the most famous hair in the world will be seen at the Castamba, Shelby, on Friday, where the young star's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture will be shown for the first time.

As an ambitious jockey in Gerald Beaumont's story, written especially for him, Jackie rises to new cinematic heights. For the first time in years Jackie has deserted his ragamuffin character and ventures forth into new film fields.

Assisting Jackie in this story of the racetrack is Maurie Costello, Jim Corrigan, Mattie Whiting, Bobby Doyle and Pat Harrigan. The production was made under the personal supervision of Jack Coogan, Sr., for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer release.

MISS BENNETT WEARS SPECIALLY DESIGNED GOWN IN FOX FILMS

Simple frocks predominate in "The Lily," Fox Films version of David Belasco's gripping drama of the legitimate stage which opens at the Shelby Opera House next Monday and Tuesday, but one gown in particular has an interesting history. This is the little crepe-de-chine frock worn by Belle Bennett in the chateau sequences with John St. Polts and Reata Hoyt. Miss Bennett is featured in Victor Schertzinger production.

This gown, with full-length skirt and medium train, was designed by Miss Bennett's dressmaker in New York nearly a year ago. This was just after Miss Bennett had decided to go back upon the legitimate stage.

MILES OF SMILES IN MACLEAN'S LATEST

To be exact, Douglas MacLean brings a little more than a mile of smiles to the Temple Theatre Sunday with his latest Paramount laugh provoker, "Let It Rain." You see, there are usually one thousand feet of film in a reel and five or six reels combine to make a feature picture. Any bright child will tell you the number of feet in a mile and, as Doug claims a smile for every foot, well, figure it out yourself.

"Let It Rain" Riley, leader of the marines on a battleship, is sentenced by his commander to shake hands with Kelly, a rob, every time they meet. While this sounds like a mild punishment for some of the battles they've fought, it really has its disadvantages. For instance, both men fall in love with the same girl. One day they go ashore but Riley gets there first and takes her to an amusement park. He tells the lady of his love and they are about to go into a fond embrace when the nemesis comes along and insists on shaking hands for fifteen long minutes.

DEER NO LONGER SCARCE IN N. J. BUT NOW MENACE GROUPS BURLINGTON, N. J.—Deer, once reduced to less than 100 in New Jersey, are now so plentiful that farmers are demanding permission to shoot doe for two days after each regular four-day hunting season as a means of protecting crops. Sportsmen are against any such legislation on the grounds that it will wipe out their game in a few years.

Thirty years ago New Jersey's deer population was at rock bottom. In 1899 a ten year closed season was ordered and 200 deer imported, mostly from Virginia. The shooting of bucks four days each year has been permitted since 1909.

Despite deer drives at Weymouth and elsewhere, with the clatter of tin pans, cowbells and horns to frighten the deer from their hiding places to vantage points concealing hunters, the animals have multiplied rapidly. Last year 1,700 bucks were killed and the fish and game commission estimates there are 18,000 buck and 20,000 doe in the wild territory of south Jersey.

"Fatherhood" and "Kingdom of God." The note of the Reformation doctrine was "Justification" by Faith. But these early days were distinctively the hour of the Resurrection. In all the preaching of the apostles what did we hear? We hear the sound of the triumph. They never represented Christ as merely escaping from the prison-house of death, but spoke of His VICTORY over Death as a Think which has changed the world. His enemies little knew that He died deliberately, knowing that in dying He was conquering Death.

Throughout the whole story of the Acts of the Apostles this preaching is manifest. Peter preached it at Jerusalem. At Athens and everywhere else, Paul proclaimed it. According to his own words, Paul's conversion was caused by the assurance that Jesus Who died was still alive and had spoken to him. Throughout the whole of these narratives we hear of men witnessing and preaching the resurrection of Jesus Christ. That was their Gospel, that their living faith.

The world of their time had been absorbed in the thought of death. A strong tension and strain were on it. It has been called a sustained cry of hungry souls crying out for immortality. In the centuries immediately following, the same thing is felt. In the record we have of the Greek oracles and the questions men and women asked of them. "These people lived intensely and loved their life. Their labor meant much to them, and their sensitive spirits responded to beauty, joy, love, with great and constant delight. To them these things were more convincing than death. They were the very reality, the life, the permanent truth of things. Yet death came in among all those fair and charming convictions. In this there was something not only terrific but unreasonable. It is this tension, and this attitude to the thought of continued life beyond the grave, which explains the great shout that arose from the conviction that none of these fair things had perished, but that all survive for those who believe.

The resurrection of Jesus Christ was much more than an event. It was an event that changed the whole aspect of life for all believers. The spectacle of the early Christian Church, even in the days of the and trying times of their worship in the Catacombs, has been well described as that of a company to whom authenticated message had come from across the flaming rampart of the world.

That message we believe still. Thousands of glad spirits have managed to preserve permanently their faith in life; they have passed through all that tends to make men morbid, and yet have remained healthy, as they face today and look forward to tomorrow. These confident believers draw from the Resurrection of Christ constant supplies of peace, joy and love. After centuries we believe the Resurrection message still.

What does the fact of the Resurrection stand for in our lives and in the lives of all Christians? Is there a spiritual interpretation of the Resurrection? The answers to these questions will give us the permanent gifts of Easterday.

First, the Resurrection has revealed the method of God in history. The ways of Providence are proverbially perplexing. The old problems which troubled Job and the patriarchs repeat themselves still. Among these difficulties, not the least is this, that we expect a smooth course of progress in history, and regard that as the natural way in which God fulfills His promises. When the smoothness of the development of events is broken, and the stream of life become turbulent, we are apt to feel that this is not what we would have expected of the God in whom we had believed. The Resurrection of Jesus Christ proclaims that God's method is very far from being a smooth and unbroken progress. He works by constantly repeated successions of deaths and resurrections that may be expected continually, both in history and in the lives of individuals. Here, in the supreme revelation of His nature, He has, as it were, set the type after which in His own inscrutable wisdom He has chosen to operate all along the line. If we can take to ourselves in an intelligent way this fact that death and resurrection is the method of God, it will be of immense value to us. It will end our amazement and silence our futile rebellions. It will give us faith to watch calmly the broken and often disappointing course of history, and it will give us faith also to endure patiently the experience of life. In both, material and spiritual fields, we shall expect and find, that it is through loss that gain must come, and life through death.

Second, in His resurrection Jesus takes us up into His own experience and shares it with us. Paul, in his letter to the Philippians, speaks of our being made comfortable to the death that we may attain to the resurrection of the dead. This is not enough for us that He has risen. We must also rise from some death that has overtaken us, silencing and darkening our spirits. This is what Jesus desires to do for us, at this Easterday, calling us to come to Him, that He may take us up into His whole life and put a new and higher meaning upon every incident of ours. By faith we are to be united with the Crucified, in the death He died for sin. Then we are called to rise with Him to that greater and brighter life in which men seek the things that are above. We are called to rise out of small things into great, out of poor and selfish interests into a large and

Damage Suit Filed Result of Accident

Louisa Deucher Files Claim For Damage Received in Accident, Jan. 1, 1927.

For injuries received in an accident at Plymouth which occurred January 1, 1927, suit for $10,000 damages was brought in common pleas court by Louisa Deucher against The Akron, Canton & Youngstown Railway Company.

The plaintiff, represented by Leonard S. Wise and Rowley & Carpenter, Huron county attorneys, alleges that she was riding as a passenger in an automobile driven by Valentine Diehl and the machine was struck by a train operated by the defendant company at a grade crossing near Plymouth.

She declares that no warning signal was sounded by the engineer of the train and that it was running at an excessive rate of speed. Cuts and bruises on her face, received in the accident, have left permanent scars, she says, and other injuries were suffered which have permanently incapacitated her for work.

The woman also avers that when the train struck the automobile she was thrown into a pool of water along side the track and that trainmen at first refused to rescue her and as a result she nearly drowned. The railroad is charged with being responsible for the crash because of the negligence attending the operation of the train.—Shelby Globe.
