

Attica Man Saves Child

H. P. Ford Makes Daring Rescue of Youngster On Big Four Tracks.

This story is belated, but it will be interesting to Plymouth residents as the hero is no other than H. P. Ford, of Attica, a former resident.

On his weekly trip to deliver flour and feeds from his Attica Mill to Willard, Greenwich, Shiloh and other places, Mr. Ford saved the life of a three-year-old lad by literally snatching the youngster from under the wheels of a rambling eastbound Big Four passenger train last Monday on the road from Greenwich to Shiloh.

There is a steep incline at this crossing and as Mr. Ford drove up and onto the tracks he saw the child, pulling at something fastened to the ties between the rails, and he also saw the train coming. He hurriedly drove his truck to safety and returning to the boy just in time to save him from a tragic death.

The name of the boy, or his family, could not be learned, but they are no doubt very grateful to Mr. Ford for his heroic deed.

The child, it was later learned, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hopkins, who reside close to the railroad at this crossing.

RAIN HALTS BALL GAME

Score Tied, 6 and 6, When Cloudburst Interferes.

Rain stopped the kitten ball game last Thursday between the home team and the visiting team in the sixth inning. The tie was six and six.

Some of the players thought the rain was just in the eye. The heated argument was in progress. But, all in all, the games are being enjoyed by the spectators.

Longs Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Long, 2658 No. 10th St., East Cleveland, Ohio, celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary, July 19, 1927, at Euclid Park.

There were eighty guests present, seven children of the bride, twenty-seven grand-children, one great-grand child, and friends and relatives from Chicago, Ill., Buffalo, Ind., Toledo, Columbus, Newark, Newark, Plymouth, Kent, Bouchtonville, and New Haven, Ohio.

The bride, beautiful in her dress of white crepe de chine, carried an old-fashioned bride's bouquet of yellow flowers. The groom in a suit of gray, appearing many years younger, responded in a clear voice of his own.

After the ceremony, a five course dinner was served at the Polly Teasdale. The table appointments were beautiful in gold and white delphiniums, baby breath, and white, with yellow roses predominating.

The gifts were numerous and beautiful, perhaps the most substantial being a chest of gold containing many gold coins. Among the gifts was a gold ring for the groom from the bride.

The afternoon was spent in visiting and games of all kinds. The bride and groom many return to their home in the near future.

CHILD SELECTS RATTLE SNAKE FOR PLAYMATE

McMINVILLE, TENN.—Three-year old Hiram King, a hardy son of the Tennessee hills, has been robbed of his playmate, a well-named rattlesnake.

Investigating a puddle of milk which made its appearance daily on the back porch of the King home after Hiram had received his afternoon rations, the boy's father discovered the secret comradeship.

The youngster waddled to the porch with his milk, squatted in front of a knot hole and waited. Suddenly the head of a large rattle snake appeared. Gurgling his delight, the boy poured his milk into its open mouth.

The lad explained that he had been feeding the snake since he approved of his snake's friend, how ever and killed the snake, a monster with eleven rattles.

Mother of Ross Finley Meets Tragic Death

Friends here of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Finley who lived here for several years, will regret very much to hear of the tragic death of Mrs. Finley, who died at Shiloh, Ohio, Wednesday, July 20.

The tragic accident is taken from the Belaire Daily Leader.

Mrs. Finley spent the most of the day on a pleasant visit with her son, Ross Finley at Glencoe and while on the train at Glencoe, she took her back to her home in Barnesville, Mrs. Lydia McCort, 73 of Chicago flyer near Glencoe last evening at 6:45 o'clock sustaining injuries which resulted in her death.

The body was buried at a distance of about 20 feet against a steel freight car on another track, practically forgotten in the body having been broken by the impact.

"She was the mother of County Auditor Homer Finley and besides him and the son she was visiting four other children, Fred Finley of New Concord, Owen Finley of Columbus, Mrs. Mary Shipman of Mrs. Ellen Cook both of Barnesville, also survive.

Following the accident, Coroner J. W. Neal was summoned and after viewing the body, he permitted it to be taken to the station Glencoe, prepared for burial. It will later be taken to Barnesville.

It was learned that Mrs. McCort had been at Glencoe since Sunday, visiting her son Ross Finley, a B. & O. Conductor, who had returned several weeks ago. She had purchased a return ticket to Barnesville and was on her way to a communion due at Glencoe 4:50 p. m. was reported late, and Mrs. McCort, starting for the station, was one to take her home. She had reached the station and had evidently aimed at approaching a train to make the Chicago flyer, which leaves Belaire at 5:15 p. m. and did not make it.

As the train was approaching at Glencoe, the engineer blew the whistle but the woman failed to heed the warning. The whistle was the only eye witness, except the engineer.

"Before leaving her son yesterday afternoon Mrs. McCort informed him that she would perhaps be the last time she would come to see him on a visit, not intimating that such an accident would occur, but that her health condition, owing to advanced age, made it difficult for her to make the trip.

The Sunshine Circle met at Congora Grove last Thursday for the July meeting. It came early bringing well filled baskets, at the noon hour all dined just to a bounteous picnic dinner.

Afternoon was spent in bathing and a general good time.

Ohio Brass Gives Pep to Big Crowd

Music Saturday Night Popular With Big Crowd

The melodious tune of "Turkey in the Straw," Rosie O'Grady," and dozens other old time pieces thrilled the crowd here Saturday night when the Ohio Brass band gave a concert at the Square. The weather was ideal, the people were in the best of spirits, and the musicians must have felt the movements of the entire throng for they put the music on the air in a wonderful style.

Most everyone comes to Plymouth Saturday nights, and the convenience of parking and the open square add greatly to this weekly affair. The old and young join in the happy throng and the Saturday night visits help to bind old ties that cannot be forgotten throughout the years.

Greenwich Band Here

"Blow with Greenwich!" That's what you'll do Saturday night when the Greenwich band will come for the weekly concert. Greenwich uses the slogan: "Grow with Greenwich," so to change things around we're going to blow with them.

Greenwich boasts an unusually good musical organization this year, and there are about 30 members, and they're coming to make a real show for Greenwich. The public is cordially invited to come and hear this concert, and there'll be plenty of parking space and a general good time will be in store for those attending. So let's come—your friends will be here.

Livestock To Be Feature at Huron Co. Fair

Mr. Phillip's requests that all local exhibitors of livestock drop him a card immediately stating about what each exhibitor expects to show, as well as request the management to make necessary plans to handle the show and save the exhibitors the best of service possible.

The grounds will be given a general overhauling and clean-up starting about Aug. 1st.

CRIPPLES

Between 8 and 9:30 p.m., Sunday, the following crippled auto-mobiles passed the Plymouth Advertiser office. Sixteen without tail lights, fourteen blind in one eye, some on the left, others the right eye was diseased.

One auto was blind in both eyes. One was not only blind in both eyes, but in addition, possessed no place for eyes, yet a good samaritan puts was plugging him through the country.

Drivers of above cars by their actions, showed contempt for statutory laws of Ohio, disregard for the safety of other drivers or life and limb of themselves and occupants of their own cars.

A car filled with joy-riders passed through the square going North about 3 p.m. at the rate of about 50 miles per hour.

Citizens! Don't you think it about time some action should be taken or would it be well to wait until some person is maimed or killed?

Man Killed by Live Wire

When a crane in contact with a high tension wire from which he was taking up pipe from an old gas line, Scott Gelsinger, 55, of Mansfield, died almost instant death Wednesday morning at 10:20.

The scene of the accident was at Sand Hill corner on the County line about two miles northeast of Shiloh. When the crane touched the tension and telephone wires, it threw them both to the ground, and traffic over this road was held up until the power was shut off in Shelby. Efforts were made to have it cut off from the Plymouth switch, but this was impossible.

Mr. Gelsinger leaves a wife and one child to mourn his tragic death, besides a host of friends and relatives.

One reason given by the wife in her divorce petition why she believes she would have had some of the money off the farm is because she is part owner of the land. She complains her husband never consults her about the management of her property.

The Parsels were married at Plymouth in 1900 but the wife declared she no longer can live with him. She asks for a divorce, temporary and permanent alimony, and that the probate court compel him to pay her attorney, C. B. Robinson. The Parsels have three children, the youngest 16 years old.

The fat woman who, 20 years ago, was fair, fat and forty, is now sleek, slim and sixty.

DOES ALL WORK

After doing the housework for a family of five, helping with the farm work in the fields, milking from ten to twelve cows every morning and night, Mary C. Parsel says she had to work for the neighbors to get money to buy her clothes because her husband, William B. Parsel would not give her any money.

Corn Borer on Barnhart Farm

Pest Made Splendid Showing in Corn Field; Inspector Waching Closely.

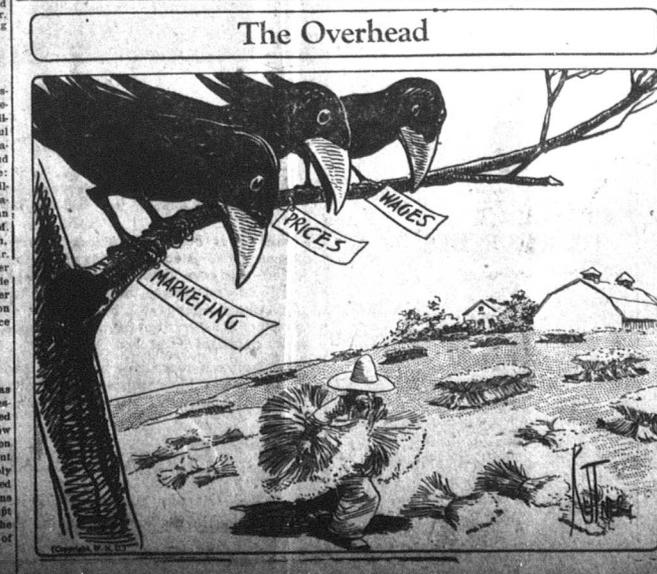

About two weeks ago the corn borer made a brave attempt to ruin a 10-acre field of corn, and the results can still be seen. However, most of the borers are believed to have disappeared. The borers made their appearance on the C. M. Barnhart farm, located about five miles south of Plymouth on the Bucyrus road. Several inspectors have made visits and are watching the activities of the borer very closely.

While the field is not completely ruined, Mr. Barnhart notes little hope of reaping the harvest he anticipated. This is the first report of a field being thickly infested by the borer in this community. Although several farmers have discovered the insect in various kinds of plants such as potatoes, asters, senias, etc.

The opinion that the borer will not be harmful to immediate crops is expressed by many farmers, and no fear of the insect is being held next year.

A SINFUL WASTE
Report comes from California that peaches are rotting on the ground because growers insist that they cannot afford to pick and pack them at current market prices. Is not this a sinful waste of one of nature's products? Was it not the same in Ohio during some recent years when many thousands of bushels of apples were allowed to decay on the ground for similar alleged reason? If prices are really so low that the harvesting is not profitable why should growers not permit somebody to gather the fruit for their own use? When apples are rotting on the ground in Ohio orchards purchasers of that fruit were paying six and seven cents a pound for them from dealers.

OLIVE BORDEN SMOCKS SUGGEST TIE-UP WITH BIG DEPARTMENT STORES Attractive "smocks" for women are in vogue at present. Many girls are wearing them at their offices while others are using them for housework. It should be a comparatively easy matter to induce one of your local department stores to name certain style of smock after Olive Borden, the star of "The Secret Studio."

A revealing picture of the loves and romances of the artists' colony of Greenwich Village will be shown at the Shelby Castaneda Tuesday when "The Secret Studio," will make its appearance. Olive Borden, beautiful and dainty as ever, plays the part of Rosemary Merton, a thrill-seeking young flapper who runs the dangers of the studios with her eyes wide open in a firm belief that she is fully able to take care of herself. Her confidence nearly costs her all that makes a woman worth-while, though in the end she wins out to happiness. But till she does, all the follies as well as all the empty gayeties of the so-called Bohemian life are revealed with start ling realism. It is a picture that not only holds great entertainment value, but carries a moral as well.

Writes Letter of Western Trip

Mr. J. P. Pipher of North Auburn, who is making a tour of the West with members of his family, writes a most interesting letter to Russell and Reynolds, local Ford dealers, concerning his trip and other interesting sights seen along their route. The letter in full follows: Russell and Reynolds, "Dear Friends:—

"I said I would write you a few lines when we got to the lake country. We have been fishing twice, have had good luck, and Oh, boy, how good they taste. Well, we had a nice trip. All the trouble we had was the Ford picked up a tack, otherwise everything went fine. I will give you our route, and the roads were the best, all extra good.

"From home we went to Toledo, O., from there to Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Brighton, Ponton, Flint, Saginaw, Mich. We pitched our tent for the night in the state park and a fine place it was with the fishing well. The next day we continued on highway Michigan 18 or U. S. 27 to Cheogogan, then camped at another beauty spot, a state park. The next day we continued to Mackinaw city, then drove on the ferry to St. Ignace. I often heard and read about the Locks at the Soo. So we drove to Sault St. Marie and that is a wonderful sight. Will tell you more after we get home.

"That day we drove as far as Newberry and then had another fine place to park but this was a city park with all conveniences. Our next day we went through Minnising, Marquette to Wakefield, where we parked along a small lake and this was a city park also with the best of park accommodations. That day's driving carried us through the iron ore country and Oh what beautiful scenery—rivers and bluffs—hundreds of feet high, the finest of roads. So our Ford rumbled right along up and down hills which made riding a pleasure.

"The next day's drive took us to our destination. We crossed northern Wisconsin to Duluth, Minn. From there we had about 150 miles. Now this is a trip of between 1300 and 1500 miles and I used only 1/2 gallon oil to keep the oil level in the crank case and 40 gallon gas, which cost from 15 to 20 cents per gallon; Red Crown at that. This is getting rather long, so will close with best wishes for your success. "Respectfully, J. P. PIPHER "Jesse Lake, Minn."

BEEBEE A MODISTE'S MODEL "STRANDED IN PARIS"

Enough beautiful gowns to clothe all of Solomon's wives are worn by Bebe Daniels, Parahum Star, in her current comedy success, "Stranded in Paris," which has its local premier at the Castamba Theatre, Shelby on Sunday.

As a sales girl in an American department store and as a model for a Parisian modiste, Miss Daniels wears dozens of the very latest afternoon and greater creations. The costumes were designed by Howard Greer, famous fashion creator.

"Stranded in Paris" is a story of an American shop-girl, who, on winning a free ticket to the French capital, arrives there penniless and without a friend. How, through an innocent error, she finds herself mistaken for a famous courtesan and how, after a series of breath-taking episodes she manages to return to the United States, goes to make one of the breast-ast smile-ecoon comedies. Paramount's star has ever appeared in.

Unity Class to Meet The Unity Class will meet in the church parlors Wednesday evening August 3.

Boy Killed at Boughtonville

Another sad accident happened at Boughtonville Wednesday when Robert Stevens was smothered to death as a result of falling into a wheat bin at the elevator in Boughtonville.

A carload of wheat was being loaded about noon, and Mr. E. Sloan, who is manager of the elevator, left the car with the wheat coming in at a rapid rate. Returning from lunch about one o'clock he noticed that the chute had almost stopped and he began to make an investigation which resulted in finding the feed of young Stevens protruding from the bin. It is evident, so reports so, that the lad was playing in the bin, letting himself down and pulling up again, when the fatal accident happened.

Medical aid was summoned, but life was extinct when the body was found.

Robert was a bright and cheerful lad, and was just about to enter his thirteenth year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Webb Stevens, and leaves besides his parents, three sisters and two brothers.

The deepest sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family in their sorrow.

Paragraphs

We picked up Chester Moore's car into town Tuesday afternoon, and we had quite a nice little chat. Chester has been helping Tony Bockman harvest the hay crop, and he says that the past ten days have been busy ones for him.

Chester is eleven years old and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Moore. He will enter the fifth grade here in September. We wonder if all boys at 11 years are as industrious as Chester?

Well, better go down to the Quarry for some other summer report, and take a look at summer. August will soon be gone and then the cool breeze of September.

NOTICE—J. F. Earl will be in Plymouth at Smith's Hotel every Wednesday from 7 to 8 a. m. with fresh fish. Prices right. 28-p
