Peru Man Has Narrow Escape From Monoxide Poisoning Last Sunday

Porter G. Bishop of Peru, an employer of the Norwalk Telephone Co. nearly died of carbon monoxide poisoning Sunday while working on his automobile at his home.

Bishop was trying to detect a motor noise and, was lying under the car. He told his sister to shut off the motor. She did so and went into the house. Upon returning later she found her brother unconscious. The mishap occurred about 1:30 and it was 4 p. m. before Bishop was revived. The barn doors being opened was probably the only thing that saved young Bishop from asphyxiation.

PLYMOUTH YEARS AGO

In an interview with W. B. Keefe of Willard this week we learned a few facts concerning Plymouth which proved very interesting. Mr. Keefe states years ago, before Chicago Junction boasted a paper, that The Advertiser had a goodly number of readers in that town. The paper then was under the management of Frank Bestman, and Mr. Keefe was postmaster at the Junction.

Years rolled by and good fortune was kind to Mr. Keefe, for since his early start in the business world in Willard, he has risen to a high position in the financial and social life of the town. Moving to Willard with his parents at the age of five years, the aged banker has spent all of his time in that town and has won hundreds of friends throughout the country. In the early days Mr. Keefe states that Plymouth was quite a trading center and that he came in contact with this town's foremost businessmen.

In his retrospect of earlier days, he mentioned the name of Fred Woodworth, who some forty years ago left Plymouth, and is now active vice president of the Union Trust Co. in Cleveland. Mr. Woodworth, so states Mr. Keefe, began his banking career in the old First National Bank here, and his rise in the financial center of the Fifth City has been phenomenal.

Readers of The Advertiser, who are acquainted with Mr. Keefe, will no doubt be interested in knowing that he is still very active in his work and that he is enjoying the best of health.

Smoking Timbers Cause Excitement At Brown Home Sunday Afternoon

A smoking cigaret or a lighted match, supposedly to have been thrown under the doorsteps of the Stacy Brown home on West Broadway by a careless smoker.

Investigation revealed that the large timbers were smoldering, and through the efforts of a bucket brigade and fire extinguishers the blaze was immediately put out.

Investigation revealed that the large timbers were smoldering, and through the efforts of a bucket brigade and fire extinguishers the blaze was immediately put out. However, before the alarm was sounded, thus causing several hundred persons to come out to the fire.

Road Officer Had to Shoot Tire to Halt Race on Wakeman Road

L. S. Bedell, county road officer, had to use his .35 caliber effectively last Wednesday to bring to a halt a racing maniac who passed through Wakeman at a terrific speed. Bedell let the air out of a rear tire. A Hudson and Studebaker, driven by Tony Carmanto and A. R. Center, respectively, were trying to see which would go the fastest. No decision was given, but a fine of $10 and costs were impressed upon the drivers.

State Auto Association Backing Safety Drive in Ohio Public Schools

Recognizing that growing children are fertile prospects for the statewide safety movement that is being carried on by the Ohio State Automobile Association, the state is set to enlist the support of all school pupils, now that the schools are organized for the new year, toward making Ohio safer states in which to live. This phase of the campaign will get under way at once and will be pushed with the enthusiastic support of the automobile clubs and the school authorities in practically every community in this state.

One of the principal matters to be taken up immediately is the practice of young people who ride on running boards of automobiles. This is recognized as a very dangerous practice and has been filed with city officials in many municipalities by A. E. Miltendorf, president of The Ohio State Association, urging that action be taken to halt this habit.

"This is a habit that is prevalent in all places," he said, "and it should receive the attention of the authorities. Standing on the running board is a dangerous practice at any time, but especially so when a car is being operated at a fast rate of speed and most of the youngsters insist on driving fast when a machine is overloaded."

A group of suggestions for children to follow, both during school days and vacation periods, has been prepared by Chas. C. James, secretary of The Ohio Automobile Association. "Every youngster should be impressed," he said, "with the necessity of looking to the right and to the left before crossing the street."

"They should also be taught that it is dangerous to hang on wagons, automobiles or trucks. Running along the street after a ball without first seeing that no vehicles are coming along at a street intersection is another practice that has been responsible for many accidents."

"One good practice that has been inaugurated at many playgrounds during the summer is the instruction regarding assisting smaller children in crossing streets on their way to and from the playground. Such aid should be continued this fall, both at approaches to the playgrounds and at all intersections near public, parochial and private schools."

"This practice will train the growing child to always be alert to prevent other children from endangering themselves. It will also develop a spirit of unselfishness and public service that will be of great help to the youngster and humanity when he grows to manhood."

"This matter of instructing children in safety habits should not be left entirely to school teachers and playground instructors, but all parents should give close attention to it, for too many fathers and mothers think their children will receive all the safety instruction they need from the hands of others and, therefore, neglect this very important parental duty."

If you don't believe time can be just made a note at the bank.

FINE MUSICAL PROGRAM

A splendid musical service by the choir of the First Lutheran church of Shelby, delighted a large audience, Sunday evening.

E. E. Balduf, the efficient choir director with the cooperation of his choir members put on a program that was inspirational and pleasing. A number of local people were invited to participate which included: Messrs. Deryl Cramer, Weldon Cornell and Harley Kendig; a violin solo by Miss Arlene Straub, accompanied on the piano by Mary Elizabeth Himes; and a tenor and baritone duet by Messrs. Balduf and Smaltz of Shelby.

Behind Prison Bars Since 1876, Man in Hope of Seeing World

Still with a forlorn hope that he may some day be released to see a twentieth century world, whose wonders his imagination can only picture, Jesse Pomeroy, said to be the world's most famous life prisoner, has just completed the first lap of his second half century behind the prison bars at Boston, Mass.

Pomeroy entered the state prison at Charlestown in 1877 as a boy of 17. He reiterated that he hopes to obtain a parole or pardon in order to see some of the outside world. Pomeroy, his youth, had an unusual crime record. At the age of 13 he was charged with brutally murdering several children and was sentenced to a term of life.

Since Pomeroy entered prison many inventions have become common, such as the automobile, electricity, airships, city newspapers, etc.

Presbytery Held Here Last Week Well Attended

A special feature of the meeting of Vooster Presbytery in the local Presbyterian church, September 19-21, was the Monday evening meeting of Mr. Wishart, president of the College of Wooster, gave a stirring address on "The Vision and Progress of the Church." The choir, under the leadership of E. E. Balduf, rendered some very fine music. A solo by E. E. Balduf was worthy of special mention. The orchestra, under the leadership of L. B. Roberts, was an inspiration to those who had the privilege of listening to the music. The evening was one of great pleasure and profit.

We, as members of the Wooster presbytery, wish to express our appreciation of the fine and worshipful music rendered by the musicians of this church. Of the work and progress of this church, we have heard much, but we can only express ourselves only in the words of the Queen of Sheba. "The half has never been told."

The Presbytery conferred a special honor on the pastor of this church by electing him Moderator of Wooster Presbytery.

SMALL CHILD IS KILLED BY SNAKE

Locked in a small dark room for punishment by her mother, the small child of Mrs. Raymond Gunn was found dead with a snake wrapped around her throat and her tongue half eaten away when the door was opened.

Shortly after the child was put in the closet, she screamed that "something's after me." It was several minutes before the mother opened the door where she found the little tot on the floor, a huge coath-wiper snake wrapped tightly in two-folds about her throat, its head in the child's mouth. The above tragic affair occurred last Sunday at Juliette, Ga.

Editorial And News Comment On National Happenings

There is a movement in Missouri to erect a monument for Jesse James as such monuments usually terminate, it probably will be built. It is certain that if all the successors to Jesse James contribute liberally, they should be able to build a monument that would make the Washington monument look like a wart. There is not much distinction in the superlative field. Jesse James may or may not have been the bandit with the most murders to his credit but it is said that he killed more men than any other outlaw—so, naturally he was a great man. Had he killed only one man, he would hold no interest—he would be just a common murderer, but he dealt in wholesale. The only monument for Thomas Jefferson is one he built himself. Patrick Henry has none. But, of course, that should not stop our building one for Jesse James. That's the kind of a great man we are—again we say, it's a great world we live in.

A new law in Michigan similar to the Baumes Law in New York, which provides for life imprisonment for second offenders of crime, is beginning to have its effect and is driving criminals out of New York state into New Jersey and Pennsylvania. It is but a matter of time until this exodus of criminals will make it compulsory for all states to adopt such legislation—there will be nothing left but the oceans and Mexico for the criminals then, as they fear Canada and always have.

Almost the first of October now and Congress does not meet until December—almost time for the Mississippi to start its fall rampage. The President says there will be no extra session and also adds that numerous "other important things" will occupy much time in Congress when it does go into session. Probably before this legislative body adjourns there will be an opportunity for them to visit another devastation of property along the Mississippi.

kicked up some comic dust by telling a meeting in Denver that the hen ought to be substituted for the eagle as the emblem of this republic. He said the eagle is too fond of "strutting through the air," its talons ready to destroy anything that gets in its way, but the useful hen is a domestic and harmless contributor to the welfare of humanity. The Reverend Thomas is not original in this matter. A protest was made by Benjamin Franklin against the adoption of the eagle as an emblem of the new nation, but he wanted the turkey, a bird native to America. The eagle won in Franklin's day as that bird will win every time against any creature which always or almost always belongs to someone. Eagles do not have owners or masters, but are free and no nation with half the spirit of America will ever chose for an emblem a bird which is the property of someone.

Early next year the new dollar bills, exactly one-third smaller will be put into circulation and the treasury department expects to save a neat sum in the lower cost and the longer wear of the new dollar. There's is another change in the dollar which is in the opposite direction although hardly noticeable to the average citizen, but its usefulness is growing larger. Through July and August a dollar would buy 7 per cent more of the principal staples of commerce, in this country, than it could pay for in 1925, and it would buy 10 per cent more than it had in 1925.

The fellow who wins is the one who can come right back after every blow—the man who can stand the punishment and come up smiling every time—the one who increases his determination as the resistance to his purpose increases and holds on to his invincible faith in himself and the ultimate success of his efforts. The power of will and even temperament which are exercised under the most trying conditions often increase the difference between success and failure. When you are fighting the battles of failure and of life and business, it is not alone the natural opposition you are struggling with, but SELF, the one individual you must be able to conquer and dictate to at all times.

Katie Smith of Los Angeles, thought her pride and feelings had been hurt to the extent of $10 when Artie Gardner stepped on her foot while dancing. It was one of the modern scrambles—not exactly a mild, but it seemed in the course of his earnest efforts, Artie inflicted bruises upon Katie's feet. The judge however, decided against Katie when one of Artie's henchmen testified for him. One in particular said that when Katie consented to dance with Artie, whether she knew him as an excusable dancer or not, she automatically forfeited any claims that might have resulted from cracked spine, broken neck, fallen arches, sprained knees or any other little ills that one risks in the lattersday ballroom wrestling matches.

The NEW G-M-R Cylinder Head

EXCLUSIVE ON THE OAKLAND ALL-AMERICAN SIX

provides Amazing Smoothness
Silence and Power

Conventional Cylinder Head vs. G-M-R Cylinder Head

Concave curves tend to throw the gases back into the center of the chamber, thereby retarding cooling and causing "detonation" or knock. Concave curves in the G-M-R Head have the opposite effect. They deflect the gases smoothly along the wall into the clearance space between the piston, thereby aiding cooling and retarding knock.

Deep clearance space and raised cooling flange in the G-M-R Head allows for better cooling and less knock. The raised cooling flange is further reduced.

The comparative effects of concave and convex curves are illustrated by a spoon held under a flame. At the left, the water strikes the concave surface and causes a violent disturbance. At the right, the water, like the gases in the G-M-R Head, strikes the convex surface and glides smoothly away.

Everyone who drives the Oakland All-American Six marvels at the smooth and whispering flow of power produced by the new G-M-R Cylinder Head.

Specifically, the G-M-R (General Motors Research) Head accomplishes three results:

1. It reduces "detonation" or spark knock to a negligible factor while using only ordinary gasoline.
2. It completely eliminates roughness or "thump"—an entirely different engine noise.
3. It provides greater power and economy because it allows the spark to be advanced to the point of maximum efficiency. (Once set, the Oakland spark remains in proper position since it is automatically controlled.)

The G-M-R Head is only one of the engineering advancements which have created such widespread favor for the All-American Six. Come in for a demonstration of the principles involved.

As We Grow Older
Proper Kidney Action Is More Than Ever Important.

As we grow older, there is apt to be a gradual slowing up of bodily functions. The kidneys are the blood filters. If their action becomes sluggish they do not thoroughly cleanse the blood of poisonous wastes. This tends to make one tired and waxy, with often sagging backache, drowsy headaches and dizziness. A common symptom of imperfect kidney action is scanty or burning urination. Kidney people recommend Doan's Pills. This tested diuretic is endorsed the country over. Ask your neighborhood.

MANSFIELD, O.

Ambition of Six Years Fulfilled by Lillian Gish

Lillian Gish, celebrated star of the screen, has just fulfilled an ambition of some six years in playing the role of "Hester Prynne" in Nathaniel Hawthorne's classic romance, "The Scarlet Letter." For six years the actress has mentally rehearsed the role, hoping that some day she would be given an opportunity to play the dramatic heroine of one of the most famous romances in the world.

be seen at the Temple Theatre, Willard, on next Monday and Tuesday, when Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will present her in the role.

Miss Gish regards the role as a tribute to her ancestors, as she is directly descended from one of the original Puritan families. In fact, the family home at Deerfield, Mass., is being maintained by the Daughters of the Revolution as a museum where the ancient furnishings and possessions of the actress' ancestors are on public display. Miss Gish is herself a member of the D. A. R.

The new picture is the dramatic story of a Puritan woman who carried a badge of shame through life to shield the man she loved. It was staged on a lavish scale, with a huge cast of celebrities, nearly a thousand men, women and children in the larger scenes, and in elaborate settings. An entire replica of America's first Puritan village was constructed for the big production, her second Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vehicle, "La Boheme" being the first.

Victor Searstrom, famous as the director of "He Who Gets Slapped" and "The Tower of Lies," directed the production. Lars Hanson, famous Swedish star, makes his American debut as her leading man, and Henry B. Walthall, Karl Dane, Marcelle Corday, William H. Tooker, Jules Cowles, Fred Herzig, and other notable players appear in supporting roles.

11 Vacancies to Be Filled At West Point Next June

COLUMBUS, O.—There are 11 vacancies for Ohio in the list of candidates for West Point who will enter the academy next June, all available to young men from this state with military ambition. Of these one is in the hands of Senator Willis. The candidates must pass an examination to be held March 5, Congressmen and senators may select them at pleasure or may do it by competitive examination. Among Ohio young men for some reason on the appointments to the naval academy seem to be the more attractive and there is rarely an available vacancy to be secured at Annapolis.

Cleveland And Cincinnati Pulling For Democratic Convention Next Year

COLUMBUS.—While both Cleveland and Cincinnati have bid for the national Democratic convention, strong opposition to either city has developed among national party leaders. The stand is taken that Governor Vie Donahay may be a "dark horse," for the nomination, and to bring the convention to Ohio would prove greatly to his advantage. For the Republicans national gathering Cleveland is making a strong bid, but because Ohio Republicans may have Longworth as a candidate Ohio will not be considered, according to information from Washington. If Ohio has no candidate for the presidential nomination of either party, conditions would be different, and because Ohio is a pivotal state would stand a mighty good chance of getting one of the conventions.

HOW SWINDLERS MARK THEIR PREY

By W. R. MOREHOUSE
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

IN the field of fake investments suckers are graded according to their reaction to the appeal of glittering schemes. A name or a sucker list of investors may have a valuation anywhere from zero to $100.

W. R. MOREHOUSE.

If your name is on the list and it is known that you invariably "Investigate Before you Invest," your name is checked to indicate that you are too hard to sell to be worth cultivating further, but if you invest first and investigate afterward, your name is checked to indicate that you are easily swindled and for this reason your name is worth $100—not to you, but to the owner of the list, for the names of those who invest without investigating are choice prospects and sell readily to promoters.

Certain names on a sucker list are checked to indicate "easy picking," and by this is meant that in addition to being ignorant on investments, those checked are not disposed to ask advice of their banker but go ahead and invest in anything from gold bricks to stock in some proposed company for the exploration of diamond fields on Mars.

Those whose names are listed are what might be called marked investors—investors who have been marked for slaughter—investors who have been marked to have their savings taken from them by unwarranted promises of fabulous riches.

If your name is on the sucker list and you are receiving "wild-cat" literature, be on your guard, for not only one but a whole tribe of "wild-cat" promoters are hot on your trail. If you are skeptical as to the extent to which they will go in order to sell you an interest in their fake schemes the following should prove illuminating, as it itemizes the literature and stationery sent to each name on a certain sucker list of investors. This literature was mailed in 31 different mailings. Each person received:

- 125 envelopes
 - 13 one-page letters
 - 22 two-page letters
 - 6 three-page letters
 - 2 four-page letters
 - 52 fake newspapers containing fake write-ups
 - 39 pieces of highly lurid prospectus material
 - 34 return addressed postal cards
 - 72 subscription blanks
- making a total of 383 pieces of literature weighing 11 pounds and costing approximately $50. In addition to this there were numerous telephone calls and personal interviews.

A person receiving a flood of lit-

In reaching for money, you may lose what you have.

erature calling attention to certain investment chances has a good reason—or watching his step lest he weaken and invest and finally lose his savings if you are receiving "wild-cat" investment literature it is a good indication that your name is on a sucker list and that it, with other names, is being sold to irresponsible promoters and consequently you may expect to continue to receive literature of the get-rich-quick variety from different sources. If you have ever invested in any one of the investments offered you may rest assured that you are "easy" and it is reasonably certain that as long as you live you will receive bunkum literature.

Some people are so foolish as to feel complimented that so much attention is shown them by men having investments to offer. The facts are, instead of a compliment being paid them, it is a reflection on their ability to judge between a good investment and one of the bunkum variety.

If you want to draw the attention of dealers in sucker lists and of promoters of various kinds, let it be known that you have a savings bank account or good securities and you will be the object of a very vigorous campaign to relieve you of those savings.

It is always well to remember that the irresponsible promoter specializes on swindling savings depositors, exchanging his fake investment for their bank account, which is always worth 100 cents on the dollar.

From the numerous schemes used to swindle the public the trading of equities in real estate is among the most successful from the promoter's standpoint.

From the owner's standpoint a trade usually means getting into deeper water financially—going further into debt.

Here's how it works. If you have an equity in a piece of property, which equity you would like to be relieved of, some promoter will offer to give you credit for your equity on the purchase price of another piece of property or on the purchase of certain hot air stocks.

In the first place, the swindler actually allows you nothing for your equity as he marks up the price of what he is selling you a like amount—with the result that you lose your equity on one hand and get yourself into a less desirable deal on the other.

Proceed slowly, if you are approached with a proposition to trade an equity. It may not be exactly what you prefer, but holding the equity is far ahead of holding the sack after some swindler has dealt with you.

Football Season Opens This Week At O. S. U.

COLUMBUS.—The football season opens this week with Ohio State University, and for the next two months the main topic of conversation in this neck to the woods will be the team that fights for honors of the scarlet and gay colors. The advance sale of tickets indicate that record breaking crowds will attend all games. Strength of the team will be determined after their first game this week with Wittenberg, although many second team men will be in this game which is really considered only one for practice and shaping up for the Big Ten games which follow. Close observers are not counting on a championship team this year at Ohio State, unless some of the other Big Ten teams fail to measure up to the standard set by critics who have seen them in practice.

Grange Master May Be Candidate For Governor

COLUMBUS.—L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, told an Ohio audience the other day what he would do if he were governor, which has been taken by many to indicate that he might seek the Republican nomination for governor of Ohio next year. Which makes just one more. Taber is a dandy fellow, has a wide acquaintance over the state, and stands well with the farming or rural elements, but those who know him best don't take him as seriously as some newspapers do. Taber knows his field, and will remain head of the National Grange, and isn't considering being a candidate for governor. It was but natural to say what he would do if he were governor, but then he intends going after the nomination, which is different. At that no one thinks he would refuse it if tendered, which isn't at all likely.

Paragraphs

Well, we hope to live through another year in Plymouth for there's bound to be something doing in the old town. For instance, we have the water question, the new school issue, the November election, the completion of Trux street improvement, and—well, there's several things to come yet which we dare not mention.

J. H. Dawson certainly gave us a light heart Tuesday when he came in and had his name entered on the book of life. J. H. lives in Shiloh (and that's a good town for they all read The Advertiser) and he says that it's impossible for him to do without the paper.

We have always been taught to "follow the crowd" if it goes out the window. But last week a write-up of the Presbyterian Presbytery which held a two-day session here, was lost and didn't get in the paper. However, we expect to make retribution by attending Sunday school in the near future.

Just been invited to attend a session at the Old Men's Home, and we gratefully acknowledge the invitation. Reports say that these meetings are becoming very interesting, and as the cold days draw nigh they will have a greater attendance. Thanks, fellows, we'll be down some evening.

Editors hear a lot of trials and tribulations. The other day a Plymouth man was in telling us just what he thought of the women. He says that: "Some women would rather manage a man than be President of the United States." Too bad, poor fellow.

Art Moser, over in Shiloh, says: The beauty doctors can help the women disguise almost anything except thin ankles."

From the outlook, the farmers are going to have another slice of the corn burner drive. H. R. Briggs suggests that all the pests be captured, put in a silo, fill with gasoline and strike a match. The idea we believe, is a good one.

Ed Phillips, our noted electrician, is about the happiest man in town. Ed has just been released from a three-week quarantine. He hasn't quite adjusted himself to the outdoors as yet, but hopes to do so shortly.

Portner street is a scene of much activity these days. Trucks loaded with crushed stone and cement, steam rollers, mixers, etc. make the town sound like a boom was at hand.

What makes us shudder most is the sound of coal going down the chute into the cellars. Another sign, we suppose, that winter is near.

House your pullets before bad weather sets in, and so prevent colds and roup, which result in lowered egg production.

W. C. T. U. ELECT COUNTY OFFICERS

The attendance at the Huron County W. C. T. U. Convention in Peru last Friday was splendid, most of the Deacons in the county being represented by the allotted number of delegates.

The election of officers in the forenoon resulted as follows: County President—Mrs. Ray Long, Willard; Vice President—Miss Mary Fitterer, Bellevue; Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Wm. Gumbert, Bellevue; Treasurer—Miss Mabel Higgins, Bellevue; Recording Secretary—Mrs. Bronhard, Peru.

The afternoon program opened with devotions and a beautiful memorial service, for those who had left the ranks of White Ribboners in the past year, led by Mrs. Harris Gillespie of Willard. Mrs. Gillespie also gave some musical numbers during the afternoon, and an evening which were much enjoyed by the audience. Mrs. Emma Rank and Mrs. J. L. Price of Plymouth delighted the audience with several musical selections.

Mrs. Viola Romans of Columbus, Vice-President of Ohio W. C. T. U. and a member of our State organization was the speaker of the afternoon and evening. She emphasized the need of keeping up the work of the W. C. T. U. and especially urged the women to go to the polls this fall and vote to retain the Marshall Bill saying that the effort to do away with the Marshall Bill and a scheme of the wets and if this Bill is defeated at the polls this fall, the word will go forth to all the world that Ohio has voted wet. She told of an effort which was made in our last legislature, and which is not generally known by the public, of an effort of the wets to get a bill through and how she was prepared for two weeks with a dry bill ready to offset the wet bill and how on the last night that bills could be presented, consternation and surprise of the wets was amusing when they found the dry bill ready to go. She told the leader of the wets that if things were not put through in regular order as an officer of an organization of 45,000 women, all she had to do was to speak the word and over night they would be at work to help her in every way possible, more than that, this organization was strong in his home county and he could just guess his fate if it became known he was presenting a bill for the wets.

Surely with such a leader as Mrs. Romans, the women should go forth this fall determined to keep the record of the grand old state of Ohio from any stain, the liquorites may attempt to put on it!

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Price, Mrs. Emma Rank, Mrs. J. L. Judson, Mrs. Dan Clark, Mrs. Georgia Boardman, Miss Eva White and Mrs. J. H. Baitzell attended from Plymouth.

A Wedding of Interest

A wedding of interest to Plymouth people took place Wednesday, September 21st, at 8 o'clock at the Unity Evangelical Lutheran church of Detroit, Mich., when Miss Charlotte Nanette Charbonneau became the bride of Mr. Albert Loeffler. The vows were spoken in the presence of a large audience of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. Just before the ceremony Mrs. Lucy Banta sang "O Promise Me," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. B. F. Auspach. To the solemn strains of Loehengrin by Wagner, the bridal party took their respective places before the altar. The bride was attended by her sister Elizabeth as maid of honor, who wore an old rose taffeta and by the groom's sister Lillian who wore green taffeta, the bride wore a period frock of white taffeta with pearl trimmings and a veil fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms. The groom had as his attendants Messrs. C. W. Miller and G. F. Dielrich. The service included the ring ceremony. Following the nuptials, a reception was tendered in the church parlors with serving of refreshments. After a honeymoon trip through the East, Mr. and Mrs. Loeffler will make their home in Detroit.

Mrs. Loeffler is well known in Plymouth having visited here in the home of Mrs. Catherine Taylor and Miss Ida Cheesman. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Charbonneau of Highland Park, Detroit, Michigan.

YOUTH AND OMNISCIENCE
Samuel Hopkins Adams, the author who shovelled upon the country one of last year's choicest loads of literary "dirt" in his volume "Revelry," has been absolutely discarding on the subject "YOUTH". He says:

"We have educated the modern generation so that a boy of today knows more than his father. Small wonder that today, youth, knowing that it knows more than the 'old man,' thinks itself capable with this greater knowledge to pilot itself through life. The student of today can no longer be terrorized by religion in doing right after he has taken a course in comparative religions, or be frightened by the bogeys of sex after he has studied biology, or be commanded to adjust himself to standards of authority, after he has looked through telescopes and microscopes and has been taught to make everything answerable to his own reason. We live in a brand-new world. We must have new standards. We won't get them from parents who think in terms of a century that has gone and will never come back."

Like many other scholastically educated men, Mr. Adams is addicted to the superstition that all knowledge is to be found between the covers of books. Because of this delusion, his sweeping generalization indicates a belief that the boy or girl of today, who has passed through the process of academic education, would be equipped to instruct a George Washington, a Benjamin Franklin or an Abraham Lincoln in matters of fundamental belief and conduct. For these men have been dead many years, and never had the advantages that cross-cut to omniscience which Mr. Adams finds in modern education.

We do not live in a brand new world though the delusion is cherished by many visionaries that mechanical changes, and the sprouting of new theories concerning the fundamentals of human life, are accompanied by similar revolutionary changes in the nature of men. Nor does the mere accumulation of knowledge ensure wisdom; otherwise civilizations which in the past have risen to a high point would not have fallen into decay.

There were better spellers than Washington during the Revolutionary period, and there were many scholarly men who resented Lincoln's sudden promotion to the chief magistracy during a great crisis. These two men taught the world, however, that not all wisdom comes from books. There are many illiterate men today whose counsel would be worth more in a human crisis than that of some people with university degrees.

There is no greater pest or menace to the immature smartaleck with out respect for those lessons of experience which come only by contact with men and affairs. It is in this crucible that all knowledge and pseudo-knowledge acquired from books must be tried. Most men of mature years remember the period when they believed they knew it all. Usually this is the sophomore period. It persists, however, in boys and girls who never grow up, and by them is preached to the new generation.

Standards of conduct which are a part of our civilization have more basis than mere religious and scientific authority. They represent what the world has learned in centuries of trial as to the results, personal and social, of deviation from fundamental codes of conduct. The Leopolds and Loehs may know more about telescopes and microscopes, Nietzsche and Freud, than did their father, but their fathers are not in the penitentiary for life.

JOAN CRAWFORD IS HEROINE OF PETER B. KYNE'S STORY

As the first of a number of important roles for which Joan Crawford is slated during the coming season, she plays the part of Monica in "The Understanding Heart," the Cosmopolitan production directed by Jack Conway, which is to be seen at the Castagna, Shelby, Friday. The background of this story is the Klamath National Park of Northern California. Miss Crawford was a dancer on the New York stage when her screen possibilities were seen and she was brot to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, where her outstanding work in "Sally Irene and Mary" and "Paris" at once won her recognition.

"The Understanding Heart" is said to be one of the big features of the new season, with the climax of the story a tremendous forest fire. It was adapted from the famous novel by Peter B. Kyne. The cast includes Francis X. Bushman, Jr., Carmel Myers, Rockliffe Fellowes and others.

Says Sam: It isn't the hot weather that's unbearable; it's the keeping up to the changes in the weather!

Our Schools

(By Supt. R. R. Miller.)

Punctuality is commonly regarded as one of the little things of life. In fact there are those who consider it good social form to be a "little bit" late. But true politeness never permits one to be careless of the rights and feelings of others. When one is late he is robbing all the rest of the people in the gathering of just so much time as he delays their activities. Of if, as it is with the school, the group goes on without the tardy one, the teacher must be inconvenienced with the extra work of having the tardy one make up the loss; or the class must be handicapped in its progress by the one who has missed part of the work. In any case, the tardy one has imposed upon the group and imposition is always bad social form.

Punctuality involves more than politeness. Business and industry demand that their employees be on time if we accept social efficiency as a goal of education, one of the requirements of our schools is that they teach punctuality. However, this is not like teaching history or geography. The teacher cannot say, "Pupils, get out your books and we will now study our punctuality lesson." Punctuality is a matter of habit, and has to do with all our activities. Like all habits, it cannot be practiced part of the time and ignored the rest of the time. Every exception tends to break down the newly formed habit, and quite soon, instead of a habit of punctuality, there is formed the habit of tardiness.

However much good may come from little talks on being on time, habits of punctuality are not formed this way. The talks by calling attention to the matter, are but the starting point. The habit must be fixed by constant repetition.

One of the best ways in which we may see to it that the child forms this valuable habit is by seeing to it that he always gets to school on time. This is a matter in which there is special need of cooperation from the home. Unless the child is started from home on time, all our efforts at school are wasted. Patrons, let us have your cooperation.

MORE THAN YEAR SPENT IN MAKING "MARE NOSTRUM"

Rex Ingram can always be depended upon to bring something worth while to the screen. With "Mare Nostrum" (The Sea), his latest production for Metro-Goldwyn, which is showing at the Shelby Castagna tonight at 7:00 and 8:30, the youthiful director has again delivered one hundred per cent it is a powerful modern drama produced and directed by a master craftsman.

Ingram took his entire company to Europe and spent more than a year producing the famous Blasco Ibanez story on the original locations described by the noted author in his book. The picture has the Continental atmosphere and its pictorial beauty is beyond description.

Alice Terry and Antonio Moreno share honors with Ingram and Ibanez in the success of "Mare Nostrum." In the featured parts of this picture they give the most delightful and convincing performances that have ever been witnessed on the screen.

Miss Terry has always been an interesting screen personality in the queenly roles she has enacted in previous pictures. In "Mare Nostrum" she rises to no weights as an actress

LEW CODY PLAYS "SHEIK" IN HIS NEWEST FILM

Three women against one lone man. And all three peachy janes, too! That's the predicament Lew Cody finds himself in at the Shelby Opera House next Sunday, where "The Dowl-Bride," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's starring picture for Norma Shearer with Lew Cody is showing.

Girls, if you want to see what a woman can do when a man gets tippy, just watch Norma Shearer in "Lew."

Lew, the say doe, might be a match for Carmel Myers and Dorothy Sebastian in their sophisticated roles, but he was doomed the day Norma came into his life. The way that girl twists him about her finger when he's supposed to be lots older and knows all about life is a surprise to me. If she hadn't had experience in handling men she must have read a lot or it was just a gift from Mother Nature.

Situation In Two Political Parties

Democrats Working In Better Harmony

Republicans Face Problem of Too Many Candidates.

Governor Will Try For U. S. Senatorship—Congressman Martin L. Davey in Lead For Democratic Gubernatorial Nomination.

Columbus, O. (Special)—Vastly different situations are facing the two parties—Democratic and Republican—with reference to the state campaign in Ohio next year. The situations are so at variance as to attract attention and cause no end of comment among the close followers of political events. In some ways it is analogous to the situation which has existed in the three last campaigns, in each of which Governor Donahay was elected.

A few months ago there were indications that the Democrats would find themselves facing a primary in August 1928 with at least two outstanding candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, the Governor himself and Congressman Martin L. Davey, of Kent, National Representative from the 14th Ohio district. This might have provoked a determined and animated contest. The Governor, however, has simplified matters by his own declaration that he will not be a candidate for the office again. He is thoroughly sincere in this and his reasons are sound. The logical conclusion is that there is a desire in his mind to go to the United States Senate and he is perfectly willing to test strength in the election against Senator Simeon D. Fess, or whoever is nominated by the Republicans. There seems no probability that any one in the Democratic ranks will care to contest the senatorial nomination against Donahay. No one yet has even been named as an active candidate and those who are in a receptive frame of mind are not likely to try conclusions with Mr. Davey.

Leave Davey for Governor.
The outcome of this situation is to leave Congressman Davey as the outstanding figure for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. It is generally conceded he will go into the primaries far in the lead of any opponent and it is not surprising if there were no other candidate in the field. He is the only candidate apparently in whom there is a widespread popular interest. That he should have made such progress without having definitely declared himself, indicates the very real strength of Mr. Davey.

His friends in pointing out the characteristics which command him to the public mind speak of his repeated elections in a Republican district by consistently growing majorities, and give this as a test of vote getting ability. They say he is the one candidate mentioned on the Democratic side, who appeals to the people as a man who has done big things and would make a great Governor.

Republican Situation Divided.
Republicans are in a condition less conducive to peace of mind, both as to the senatorship and the governorship. At the present time there are indications that Senator Fess may have to face a very lively fight for renomination. It is said that Chief Justice Marshall of the Ohio Supreme Court and Charles L. Knight, publisher of the Akron Beacon Journal, both have ambitions for the senatorial spot. Chief Justice Marshall has been saying and doing things that keep him in the limelight while Publisher Knight has been traveling hither and yonder through the State denouncing "papsuckers" and governmental interference with everything. Both men are hard hitting fighters and the outcome of a three-cornered race with Fess in it would be extremely doubtful and might leave scars that would be slow in healing.

The gubernatorial situation also furrows the brow and perplexes the mind of state Republican leaders. Undoubtedly the outstanding candidates, at the present, are Myers Y. Cooper, who was defeated by Donahay in 1926; Congressman James T. Searle of the 13th district; Attorney General Edward C. Turner and Colonel Carmi Thompson. Each has strong support and possess elements of strength sufficient to command attention but in many ways they are diametrically opposed and no one could well hope to draw from the followers of the others.

Mr. Turner has come more rapidly to the front than the others during the past few weeks. This finds its basis in the attacks he has made in public speeches upon the Anti-Saloon League and Public Utilities, pointing to these two factors the power to control legislation in the state. While he could not expect the support of the Anti-Saloon League or the Utilities, it might bring strength from other sources, which would prove of vote getting power.

Myers Y. Cooper takes the position that his battle against Donahay in 1926 entitles him to first consideration this year. His claim is given strength by the fact that he ran only 18,000 votes behind a candidate who at that time was considered invincible. Cooper is in a frame of mind to put up a hard fight for nomination.

If these were the only candidates on the Republican side the situation would be less perplexing. But a number of others are spoken of as serious contenders. The list is a long one and includes men of prominence among whom are Congressman Cooper of the 19th district; Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown; Former Governor Harry L. Davis; State Chairman Fred E. Warner and other men prominent in the party are devoting their efforts.

Mr. Warner contemplates calling a meeting of the State Central Committee soon to discuss the problem and reach a solution, if one can be found.
