Congressman Begg Makes An Official Announcement

I announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor of Ohio.

If nominated and elected I will endeavor to give to the State the fullest measure of my conscientious devotion to its best interests and will avail myself of ten years' experience under a national Republican leadership, which experience is my guarantee to the people of Ohio of an economic and constructive government.

I am not being supported by any individual, group or selfish interest. I am a candidate for the nomination only on the basis of seeking the approval, support and cooperation of the entire Republican electorate of Ohio. On no other basis would I permit the consideration of my name. And if nominated and elected I will be a Republican governor.

LAW ENFORCEMENT: If nominated and elected Governor of Ohio, I will impartially enforce all laws and will endeavor to impress upon the several communities their responsibility in promoting good government.

PUBLIC UTILITIES: Because of the monopolistic character of some services the State must assume the responsibility for seeing to it that their rates are equitable and no citizen is overcharged for service. Stockholders in these enterprises should be allowed a fair and honest return on their investment, but no unreasonable profit can be tolerated. Ohio laws can be made to protect both the owners and the users of utility services. If I am charged with the responsibility of directing the affairs of the State, it will be my policy to make it possible for all citizens of Ohio to enjoy the benefits of the utility services at a minimum cost.

WAR VETERANS: Ohio recognizes her obligations to the men who served their country in national defense and will continue to express her gratitude by increasing the services already provided for their comfort. My congressional record on soldier legislation is proof of my gratitude toward and interest in those who have fought under the American flag.

AGRICULTURE: It is my conviction that agriculture must be considered from the standpoint of marketing as well as production. Both the federal and state governments have emphasized production and given less attention to the development of marketing facilities. If charged with the responsibility of directing affairs of Ohio I will appoint only such men to agricultural positions as have practical experience with producing and marketing farm products and will charge them with the responsibility of solving problems affecting agriculture. They will be men who will have the confidence and respect of the farm organizations, the agricultural press and the farmers themselves.

TAXES: Corporation and other taxes in Ohio must not be higher than in neighboring states, else our industry will fail in competition. Industry in Ohio must be allowed to live and prosper so as to permit high living standards for our laboring men. If selected to be Ohio's chief executive I shall seek to remedy the disparity now existing.

LABOR: It will be my purpose to protect and preserve every benefit and privilege now enjoyed by labor and where conditions warrant, increase them. Labor should share equally in the general prosperity of Ohio.

ROADS: It will be my policy to give Ohio wider, straighter and more permanent highways on our main thoroughfares, at the same time guaranteeing to the people living on secondary roads an equitable share of the road improvement funds. There is too much waste in road building and upkeep in Ohio. The same condition of extravagance was found in the federal government when the Republicans took control. That has now been eliminated and taxes have been reduced without impairment of government service. The same can be done in Ohio and will be done if I am nominated and elected.

EDUCATION: My fourteen years as a school superintendent is a guarantee of my interest in education. Standards and facilities for education must be maintained and Ohio must continue to be among the leaders in this field. I believe the State Library should be restored as a distinct asset to rural Ohio.

BENEVOLENT INSTITUTIONS: The facilities for caring for our unfortunate must be made adequate in the shortest possible time and to that

Plymouth 75 Years Ago

Let us roll back the pages of the past today, and make a visit to the village of Paris, as it was seventy-five years ago. You say you are not interested in such a village, and never heard of it before. Oh! yes, you have. In fact you are living there today, for Paris is the old name of Plymouth.

A little girl is going to guide us on our trip. She has lived here since 1848, and knows the town very well. Let us see how she is dressed. She wears a calico dress, gathered in a full skirt, and full sleeves, gathered into the armholes. Pantaloons, of course, with a rubber band at the knee and falling to her shoe tops.

We must start our trip down by the river, for that is where most of the town is located, as water is the only source of power. We visit Webster's grist mill, and watch them grinding the corn and meal, then to the carding mill, where the wool is brought, to be woven either into blankets or carded into rolls. These the women take home and spin and knit into stockings for the family.

Now we come to the tannery. The vats stand in the yard beside a huge pile of tan bark. Here the raw hides are brought, to be tanned into leather for shoes, and other uses. The family live upstairs over the tannery, so we may conclude that they receive a fair amount of tanning as well.

Now we reach the corner of the square. We come to a two story building, with a drygoods store downstairs, and a dance hall above.

Across the street to the north is John Way's wagon shop, where he builds and repairs wagons and a few buggies.

There is no Porter street. Instead there is a brick building of two stories where in years to come Porter street will open on the square.

There is a blacksmith shop in the lower part, and above the town offices and that of the Justice of the peace.

Still going west we come to a hardware store kept by the father of Sue Seymour, one of the teachers.

Here is Dr. Power's office and drug store, for the doctor both prescribes and dispenses drugs. If you were to tell him that spot would be the

WILLIS MAY LOOM AS LARGE FACTOR IN G.O.P. CONTEST

The national political situation is being discussed in every nook and corner in Ohio as this state is very much in the limelight as both parties, Republicans and Democrats, have promising outlooks in furnishing material for the presidential nomination. Senator Willis, well-known and loyal son of Ohio, has won much praise during his administration at Washington, and Albert W. Fox, staff writer for The Washington Post, gives the following concerning Willis and his outlook as candidate on the Republican ticket for President:

"Frank B. Willis, senior senator from the Buckeye State of past presidential timber, has announced himself a candidate for the Republican nomination, and for several reasons, will be an important factor at the coming convention."

"In the first place, he comes from the geographical important State of Ohio, which has furnished the Republican candidate nine out of fifteen times since the Civil War, as pointed out by Senator Fess. Secondly, Willis will have the Ohio delegation with all or most of its 51 first choice votes widely scattered. This means, according to Willis' friends, that he not only looks up as a long-shot bet to carry the coveted prize himself, but in any event he will be in a position to count with others and have a voice in naming the nominee."

"Respecting his chances, his probable control of the Ohio delegation will be his first source of strength. His unclouded prestige with certain groups of Republicans who favor the twentieth-century moral uplift and reform trend constitutes according to his supporters another potential grant of political power. Willis, it is pointed out, has grown up in the very midst of this modern reform atmosphere which has been effectively fostered and encouraged by the power of the pulpit, educational institutions, the tireless advocates of moral reform and the anti-saloon League, the latter having the Buckeye State as its birthplace.

"Those who disagree with Willis and his political creed — and there are many — may regard the above mentioned qualifications as constituting liabilities rather than assets. But the senator's friends say that the political creed of the next Republican nominee must not be judged by standards set up in certain restricted Eastern localities but must be carefully weighed in connection with the broad gauge political thought of the country as a whole. North East, South and West.

"The modern trend in the United States during the past decade has been toward the reform brand of Republican politics which Willis personifies according to his followers. Republican progressives and so-called reformaries disagree as to methods of reform and subjects to be made the basic of reform movements. It is conjectured that in each camp the wave of national reform has been equally

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

For the fall quarter the local college of agriculture had a registration of 764 students. The university itself was sixth in size among the colleges and universities of the country and fourth in rank among STATE universities.

The college of agriculture at the University of Minnesota was next to that at Ohio State in size with 744 students. Other leading colleges of agriculture were listed as follows:

Wisconsin, 724; Cornell, 664; University of Illinois, 625; Nebraska, 496; California, 387; and Missouri, 268.

The bride was an employee at the Rainier Tire Co. at Shiloh. The groom is a farmer of high esteem in his home.

Both the bride and groom have a host of friends who wish to join The Advertiser in extending their best wishes for a happy and prosperous married life.

WHY NOT A CURFEW?

Observant citizens have expressed regret that Plymouth doesn't have a curfew law. So many of the young children are unmindful of the parents' insistence demands that they be home at a given hour. Many a mother is disturbed at the thought of the public. In fact, Marshal Burkett is called upon most every evening to send "so and so" home once.

He has not obtained enough thought in this respect that it is high time for a curfew or some other method to be brought into play, and put them home at given hour. Directly and indirectly it is a great help to the keepers of a drawcock to their studies, the home life and their influence (if they have any).

BABY CLINIC AT SHILOH

SHILOH—The baby clinic will be held here in the medical auditorium next Tuesday, Jan. 24, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Mother, please take notice.

43 LOTS SOLD IN GREENLAWN IN 1927

Just once a year the Board of Public Affairs looks into the affairs of Greenlawn cemetery, and so far conditions remain about the same. A check-up on lots sold, operating expenses, etc., are gone over and at a recent meeting these were found to be about the same as in past years. The cemetery is owned and operated by the Village, but the taxation alone doesn't make it self-supporting so it has been customary of turning the money from sales of lots to keep up the premises and pay other operating expenses.

It is not often a story is written about the last "tearling place," but Greenlawn cemetery in Plymouth affords a touch of beauty for the eye and in both seasons, winter and summer, it always gives an air of peacefulness to the wayfarer.

A report for the year of 1927 shows that 43 lots were sold, Jan. 5; Feb. 1; March 7; April 4; May 4; June 7; July 2; August 2; Sept. 3; Oct. 3; Nov. 4; Dec. 1.

Motorists are also cautioned of parking cars on the streets of Plymouth without tail light. The above comes also under an ordinance passed by the Village, and will be enforced.

The Health Habit—It is Contagious

Get the health habit—if a man is sent to the penitentiary it is because he has disobeyed the laws of the land. Such a one is disgraced in the eyes of his friends and of society. . . . If a man is sick it is because he has violated the laws of Nature—that is to say, the laws of God. And such a one, instead of feeling disgraced, often feels sorry for himself and explains his sad plight to any one and everyone who will listen.

Man is made to be well and happy and useful. And if a person is happy, the probabilities are he will be well; and in order to keep well he has to be useful. Health is the most natural thing in the world. Nature is on our side. Health is the norm, and all Nature tends therewith. Physicians nowadays do not talk about curing people. All the wise and good physicians can do is to put the patient in line with Nature. Nature heals, and all the healing forces of the world are perfectly natural. We know the rules of health. Everyone of common intelligence is familiar with them. The trouble is that many men consider themselves exceptions; and postponed punishment does not deter them from violating the laws of Nature. . . . We must not only know the rules of health and bear them in mind, but we must bring to bear will to see that we live them. Health is a habit, and a vast number of people in America are getting it. They make it their business to be well every day and all the time, and the rules whereby they succeed are endorsed by every physician. Get the health habit, an associate with people who have it. It's contagious.

Seattle Spends Millions For Stockings

A mathematical situation has arisen by a statement from the United States Chamber of Commerce when it was stated that it costs the populace $1,500,000 for stockings per year in Seattle. Wash. Another complex—the cigarette bill of the nation is 90 per cent greater than that of electric service in all the homes of the country.

Price-Cutting Contest

Automobile manufacturers have entered into a price-cutting contest, but most of us will be more interested when the garage men get into a fight.

At Least One American In America

It is rather unusual for bankruptcy proceedings to bring to mind twenty-two years later in the same way as in a Chicago instance. The brokerage firm of Knight, Donnelly & Co. failed in 1905, according to the story, and nearly 300 customers or others lost heavily. The reminder is the fact that Reuben H. Donnelly, the surviving partner, has now disbursed more than $600,000 to the losers and their heirs, the same being paid in full plus interest through the long period, though there was no legal obligation to make any such restitution. Reading of such an act of voluntary honesty is a pleasure to most Americans.

It is to be hoped that their country contains one such man—as many as many more, we no doubt, who would wish to do as much, if they had the occasion and ability. To go through with such an undertaking, when no necessity compelled, must have required determination in high degree, as well as unusual ability.

Farmers Improving Standards of Living

A survey made by rural and state grade school teachers reporting on nearly 50,000 farms in Wisconsin show that farmers in the state rapidly are adopting modern convenience in their homes and are generally improving their standards of living. Of the farms covered by the survey 17 per cent have electricity. Carrying out this percentage and applying it to Wisconsin's 191,000 farms, this means that there are more than $2,000 farm houses in the state where the family live in the long winter evenings by simply turning a switch for light. Those who have never used electric power, of course do not know of its many advantages. But in 13 per cent of the farm houses of the state electric power is in daily use. It does the washing, the ironing, the separating, the pumping and a number of other things in and out of the house.

site of a picture show in years to come, he would not know what you meant, for he never heard of such a thing.

Now we come to "Old Aunt Rhody's." There are two small buildings in the yard, which is so much lower than the level of the side walk that steps are needed to reach it. These buildings are known as "holes by the villagers." Aunt Rhody has been married three times, first to a man named McLaughlin, while her second and third husbands are called McNally and Bob Marshall. This last one is the first person to be buried in Greenlaw cemetery.

We pass Black Glitter's tavern and Steve Starr's drygoods store. Now we are at the corner of the square, and must turn north to continue our walk, for ahead of us is only farm land. Here is Graham's store which is divided into different rooms to accommodate the various commodities which he sells. There is a large tin shop in connection where we may have tin ware made to order.

Still going north is an old blacksmith shop and across from it the tinsmith. Everyone burns wood, even the railroads, and the ashes are used for making lye and potash. A Little guide tells me that when a show comes to town she hunts up some ashes to sell to the ashery, so she can have money with which to pay her entrance. Just as in later years youngsters will hunt up old iron for the same purpose.

As the day is fine we will continue along the stage route to the tavern, which is also the stage depot. This is a brick building with a large door in front, and a beautiful fan light over it. Here the travelers can find accommodations over night if necessary, when traveling from Mansfield to Milan and Huron. Straw ticks are laid on the floors, so close together you can hardly step between, and the people rest on these for the night. In the road way will see teams, one behind the other, the wagons loaded with grain, to be shipped from Huron by boat. Sometimes at night dusky figures slip into the tavern, for this is a station for the underground railroad which bore runaway slaves to safety in Canada.

As we turn back toward the square we see the stage come in. Now there are but two horses hitched to it, but in bad weather four are needed to take the vehicle through the mud. When the stage route was laid out, those who planned it did not know that they would have an influence on the Plymouth of a much later date, but nevertheless this is the case.

After coming up the hill from the east, the old route cut off the corner and went diagonally across the square, to turn once more to the north, and in years to come this will result in the public square at Plymouth being in the form of a V. Instead of square, as the stores built close to the road, and lot lines were thus established which will never be changed.

Now we go toward the west to Morfoot's pottery. This is especially fascinating to our small guide, who watched the clay first being ground by horsepower and then mixed to the proper consistency for moulding. Then it is placed on the potter's wheel, a revolving board. A foot treadle caused it to turn, and the crock is shaped with the hands as it goes around. Later the finished crocks will be fired which glaze them ready for use.

Now we pass the school house, a two room building. We see Miss Theodosia Smith at the window. She has the reputation of being quick tempered and very strict, ready to ferule those who do not obey instantly. She wears a black sateen apron over her dress, and her hair has puff combs in it, holding it out, like the later day rats.

Our little guide tells us that we must be careful to get home before dark, as there are no streetlamps, and the only way to find your path is by taking hold of the fence pickets and using them as a guide.

The women all wear hoop skirts, and over them calico dresses, and possibly a cotton or wool delaine for very best. They are very busy for candles must be dipped, spinning done, and quilts pieced and quilted in the spare time. There are no clubs or card parties, and woman's suffrage is not dreamed of.

New Haven is now the big center, and has six taverns at the cross roads. The large colonial home of Judge Ives is here. When the railroad is talked the judge opposes it bitterly as he says it will bring a bad element into the town. Later when the railroad is a fact the people of New Haven compel the road to run a half mile away so it may not corrupt the town. They do not see that they are sealing the fate of the community as far as development is concerned, and that the town will dwindle away from that time on.

We now think our little guide and mother have left us, asking her name before we depart. She tells us it is Butler, and does not know that in 1928, as Mrs. Dolly Hanck she will be thinking of these times and that they will be just as clear as yesterday to her as she tells of her childhood in Plymouth, seventy-five years ago.

Shiloh News

Special services were held in churches and schools commemorating the ushering in of nation wide prohibition and upon special request by Capt. John De Monte spoke to the High School on the greatest topic of the age, "Temperance." The doctor took for his text the words of Paul condemning the idea of personal liberty, if in any way conflicts with the liberty of our fellowmen. Dwelling upon the beautiful life of Francis Willard, he pointed out the principles of Temperance advocated by pure womanhood, while referring to the life of Jno. B. Gough, he called attention to the power of God unto salvation, even in a wasted life; admonishing the children to follow the footsteps of the pure and morally clean, lest they become moral lepers, the curse of any age.

The Poultry Exhibit Farm Products Display and Poster contest all drew out good entries which were admired by interested attendants at the institute.

great variety and at low cost.

It is especially gratifying that practically every participant in the program has volunteered to undertake their parts and on time.

This year's session is past, next year's Institute is coming; in features with a poor record we must make a record; where the record has been good we MUST BREAK THE RECORD.

The song books used at the institute were borrowed and as some are missing, there is a kind request for the return of any book mislaid or carried from the building unintentionally. These books are very much needed so please comply with the request.

DEATH OF A MUCH LOVED WOMAN

Mrs. Alma Kinsell who has lived nearly all of her life in this community died in the Shiloh Memorial hospital early Sunday morning. One week ago Saturday she had come to the home of a friend Mrs. Myra Boyd to spend the week end. On Monday morning she had the misfortune to fall while descending the stairs, and sustained injuries which resulted in her death.

Surrounded by devoted children everything possible was done to make her comfortable, but death claimed the Christian mother whose whole life was given for home and children, and her faith in her church was beautifully exemplified throughout her life.

SCHOOL NEWS*BASKET BALL

Madison boys met Shiloh boys at Shiloh Jan. 13. Both took the lead from the first and were never headed throughout the game. At the start of the last quarter the score was 27 to 27 in favor of Shiloh. Then Madison made an extra effort and the final score was 25 to 27 in favor of Shiloh.

A couple of Shiloh's boys accidentally let go of the ball, and were shocked to see it go through the basket. When Bill Saylor was put in one of Madison's players thought it was over.

Our players were: Paul Ruckman, Bob Brumback, Bob Ruckman, Dick Ruckman, Dub Hamman, Charles King and Bill Kaylor.

This coming Friday we play Shiloh there.

CHESTER TROXELL

Last Friday night we played Madison here and won by the score of 30 to 4.

It was a very good game even though Madison was out-classed to a great extent. Our girls did their new suits justice by winning the game. Dick played a very good game making 22 of the 35 points. Moser missed a quarter as she had a cold. Saylor was back in the game last Friday night and going fine. She made up for letting out the Lucas game. Those who played Friday night were: Dick Moser, Russell, Miller, Firestone, Downend, Griffith, Clinker and Sewartz.

Next Friday night we play Shiloh at Shiloh. This will be a very good hard game for Shiloh as Shiloh is in Class A. If the girls are going as good as they were last Friday night it will be a good, fast game. We hope to average our two point defeat by Shiloh earlier in the season.

MORNELVA PATTERSON*PICTURE SHOW HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

Everyone wants to come to the picture show in the Shiloh School Auditorium Saturday, January 21, to see Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton in "We're in the Navy Now." This show is a Paramount picture and is widely known throughout the country and has proven very popular to those who have seen it.

Mid-year exams are over and we are glad of it. They started Wednesday afternoon. The rest of the week was spent thinking and studying hard. Oh yes the teachers are also very glad they are over too as they were getting tired of making up such hard questions.

CORA HOWELL

Chapel services were conducted by Rev. McCord Monday morning. They were opened by singing and the reading of the Scripture. He told us this week about a city printing press. He gave us such a vivid description that we imagined that we had been coming.

THE P. H. S. POST

VOLUME II We Publish the Truth, the Whole Truth, and Nothing but the Truth

Number 6

HEARD OVER THE RADIO BY ONE OF OUR AMBITIOUS STUDENTS

While eating your foods you should chew it 600 times, no more and no less. Recently there has been an invention patented that, when the six hundredth chew has been finished a little bell rings. The reason for chewing your food six hundred times is that there are little juices in the stomach that digest certain foods and when you have chewed the food six hundred times the brain sends a message to the stomach and the juice comes out to digest the food. There are about twenty juices in the stomach for every kind of food. When you eat an apple the apple juice comes out in the stomach, etc. One thing you should guard against is over chewing your food. Take popcorn, for instance. If you chew popcorn more than six hundred times the popcorn juice comes out and, if you don't swallow the corn right away after the six hundredth chew, the juice becomes digested and goes back into the lining of the stomach. Then, when you do swallow the corn it falls on a perfectly dry stomach. There, it grinds around until it is reduced to a fine, dry powder, which is taken into the blood and circulated around until it comes out of the head in the form of dandruff.

Also you should eat well-balanced meals, well balanced meal is eaten by sitting perfectly straight in your chair while eating your meal. If you do not do this there is a very bad effect. If you lean forward while eating, all the food falls on the front part of the stomach and piles up, and up until it reaches the throat and forms a bullock in the throat, called a goitre.

Tommy and Hazy come running up the stairs. And are told by Mr. Jenkins "to go down and come back up."

Tommy: "But you see we were trying to make a touchdown."

Hazy: "Yes, but I suppose we were penalized."

Raymond Brooks in Latin class, very much interested: "Mr. Fisher, in the fourth sentence, which noun does the adjective modify?"

PLYMOUTH HI IN BIG UPROAR
Starting in the second semester seems to have upset everything in Plymouth High School. Evidently, the students and teachers are planning to start things out right.

In the first place we were worrying about exams all last week. Those of us who were bright enough to get out of the exams, were worrying about our department grades; and those of us, who knew we couldn't get out, were worrying and fretting over the exams. And so, this week, after all the hard study, we don't feel a lot like studying.

In the second place, our schedule for classes has been changed considerably. All classes in 3rd and 4th periods have been moved back to 5th and 6th periods, and all classes in 5th and 6th periods have been moved up to 3rd and 4th periods. There is much confusion, while poor students try to become accustomed to a new schedule.

And in the third place the Juniors have been moved into Room 5 with the Freshies. Poor Juniors! Their lives seem to be doomed. For two years they have worked hard so that they could live in the main room. This year they thought they had succeeded, and then they got shoved back into their old home. Now they parade around looking much like martyrs.

GIRLS WIN TOO
P. H. S. girls finished the rout of Wellers by defeating their opponents 22 to 19. The game was extremely close as the score indicates, but Plymouth held a small lead during the whole game. Weller girls fought desperately and threatened the entire time, but never came within less than three points of tying the score. Fate was high scorer for Plymouth with a total of twelve points. Miller and Snyder were high point getters for Weller with nine and eight points respectively.

PLYMOUTH HIGH CLEANS UP
P. H. S. boys disregarded the superstition about "Friday the Thirteenth" long enough to give Weller Twp. a sound drubbing last Friday. The game marked the return of Captain Hatch to the line-up and he certainly celebrated the event in fine style, taking off high scoring honors of the game with nine baskets and one free throw, a total of 19 points. Plymouth took the lead during the first minute of play and never relinquished it. At the end of the half, Plymouth led, 22 to 14. At one time during the third quarter P. H. S. increased the lead to 16 points, but Weller, fighting gallantly soon cut it down several points. As the end came near Weller began taking long shots but all to no avail. The whistle blew with the score 40 to 29 in favor of Plymouth.

JUNIOR HIGH BASKET BALL

Junior High vs. Willard
Plymouth Junior High lost to Willard Junior High at Willard last Wednesday by the score of 26 to 18. The Plymouth team was handicapped by the size and slipperiness of the Willard floor, to which they are not accustomed. Willard had a great advantage in size, also, having three-footers on the team. Notwithstanding, the boys played a good game and deserve a lot credit. Mumes and Long were stars for Plymouth.

Junior High Beats M. W. A. Seconds

Junior High defeated the M. W. A. Seconds Thursday night in the preliminary to the M. W. A. Bloomington. The game was very close all the way, one team leading at one time, the other at another. The score at the end of the regular playing time was Jr. High 2; M. W. A. 9. In the extra period the boys put on a short rally that netted four points, making the score at the end 13 to 9 in favor of Jr. High. Mumes contributed several baskets to his team's score while the most spectacular play of the game was a basket by Hale, made near the opponents foul line.

Mansfield Junior High Beats Plymouth

Saturday night, Mansfield Junior High defeated Plymouth at Mansfield by the score of 17 to 5. All of Plymouth's points were made on free throws, three by D. Bachrach and two by Mumes. Mansfield, has a very strong team, having defeated Bellville High School 37 to 7 and our boys did well to hold them to such a low score.

Last week during General Science exam we discovered a new invention on the gas engine which takes the place of the connecting rod and is called the "Ramrod."

Institute at Shiloh Very Successful

The Farmers' Institute convened in the school auditorium Wednesday morning and the first session was opened by the president R. H. Howard with a short greeting and by introducing the State speakers, Mrs. Hendris and Mr. Galehouse. The music and entertainment of each session was furnished by the different grades, the girls Glee club, The Boys Glee club, the Dramatic club, London and Cranberry Schools and the Farm Women's clubs of the surrounding community.

And the variety of entertainment was much appreciated considering the hearty encores given each number.
Mrs. Hendris' first talk was a call for good health for all children, by strict attention given to the proper amount of sleep and good food. In the first talk given by Mr. Galehouse he stressed the advantages of training and possibilities produced by trying.
In this speaker's talk on "Organized Agriculture" he spoke heartily of the work accomplished by the Grange farm bureau in keeping up the social community spirit, and that greater benefit was derived by all farmers from organization.

Rev. R. B. Robinson from Ontario talked also on organization and leadership.
He said that statistics prove that 85 per cent of the leadership comes from the country, and extension work functions through the various farm clubs. Mr. Robinson's discourse was given and heartily received.

Mrs. Hendris in her talk "Making

Your Head Save Your Heels," urged on organized family work, teaching children for their own knowledge.
On Wednesday evening Mrs. Hendris gave a very interesting talk on the Old Men Builders especially one of the largest, Fr. Ancient, which is near her home.

Mr. Galehouse talked on "Community Spirit" urged education on all lines which would produce intelligent living condition.

Thursday morning Mrs. Hendris talked on "The Home, the School and the Church." She spoke strongly in favor of the Public Schools with their properly supervised play for the child with social enjoyment among other children was good for the whole group.
And that cultural training was a necessity to teach the love for all that is beautiful in art, music and literature.
She also urged that we make our homes so attractive that the boys and girls will enjoy their home surroundings, and that parents cooperation with the teachers was also for the child's training and benefit.

E. F. Hetrick of the Smith-Hughes department gave a splendid practical talk urging the necessity of practicing on the farm the lessons learned at school. He explained the different farm projects, and the need of more encouragement. His talk was clear and concise, and the results he has already accomplished has given him a confidential position among the farmers and school patrons of this community.

County Agricultural agent J. R.
Greay always receives a hearty welcome from a Shiloh audience and his picture of various interesting scenes and successful farms in the county with an appeal to see these attractive places of our own county, was most heartily received, as was also his talk on "Crop varieties."

The officers elected for the next year are as follows: President A. O.
Morton; Secretary and treasurer H.
S. Maring; Lady Correspondent Mrs.
Frank Dawson.

lace Hamielec.

LEARNING IS NOT WISDOM

It has been very true said by Merrill Edwards Gates that learning is not wisdom. It is true that learning is emphasized as a very valuable possession but the wisdom lies in knowing how to make the best use of the knowledge. Learning along the line of text books is not all one should strive to gain from school life. Probably of more importance to the world is the mastery of right social conduct. He who has learned to follow instructions, to co-operate with others, to win games or contests for the honor of the school, to respect authority and to distinguish between right and wrong, has obtained valuable wisdom. College students say that fraternity and sorority life is half of a university education. And this is an undeniable fact if these organizations have the right moral and ideals. One has not advanced himself very far in human society if he does not know how to get along with his fellowmen and if he has never worked for the betterment of the world instead of just for himself alone. But at the same time learning must not be all that is taught. Learning is the foundation of all the great inventions and discoveries of the world. But this knowledge is valueless as far as moral character is concerned if it is not employed for the welfare of mankind. To be wise one must have the right aim in view and the true end of life clearly in mind. All men may obtain learning if they only have the ambition; but wisdom is not cast about as leaves from a tree but like the "oriole's nest can only be reached by man after hard climbing and much labor.

Let us put our idea and learning to the highest uses for herein lies WISDOM.

"MANUAL TRAINING"

Several of the boys are still working with "Art Fibre" material. If they keep up their work, they will be experts—some day.

Lockers are finished, and are being used by the basket ball team. Several new installments have been made recently. Hooks have been made and put in the tank room. Hinges have been put on the "trap door" of the "storehouse." This will lessen our task to a great extent, when we wish to secure material from the second story.

WANTED — A good detective—Some of the tools of the work shop have started to walk off. If you see them, give them the "Manual Training Dept." address and send them back.

"Book Racks" are being constructed by a few members of the class. Material had to be secured from the "Training Dept's" lumber. Before the material leaves the building, we are charged a small amount for the lumber and other material that we might use.

We are looking forward to examinations. They will probably be hard, per usual.

Farmers' Institute to Be Held Feb. 10-11th

The North Fairfield Farmers Institute will hold its annual session February 10 and 11th at the Town Hall.

The program looks good and it is to be hoped that as many as possible will make use of the opportunity to hear some of the best talent furnished by the Extension Department and enjoy a good visit together.

The State speakers this year are: Vernon E. Crouse of North Lima, Ohio and Mrs. W. H. Busch of Westerville, Ohio.

V. E. Crouse is a dairyman of much practical experience and ranks as one of the highest authorities in this State in the line of dairying. He is now managing his own herd of accredited Jersey's and making a good profit.

Mrs. Busch is one of Ohio's most successful poultry raisers. Her income from her 500 layers is over $2,000 per year. She has a plain, common way of handling her flock and of giving information to anyone interested in her work along this line. However she is more than a poultry raiser. Her chief interests are in her home and community.

With these two speakers as headliners and good local talent to back them up, it is sure that all who attend will find something of benefit to repay them for the interest they express by their presence. "LET'S GO."

JOINT INSTALLATION OF Eastern Stars and Masons was held Thursday evening, Dec. 29th. An oyster supper was served.

OBITUARY

Almyra Elizabeth Kinsell, daughter of Oliver and Sarah Harbaugh, was born at Adrian, Aug. 26, 1859 and departed this life on Jan. 15, 1928 at the age of 77 years, 4 months and 20 days. All of her life was spent in or near Shiloh.

At the age of 18, she was united in holy wedlock with Thomas Frederick Kinsell, who has preceded her from this life, 18 years.

To this union were born eight children, two of whom are dead: Thomas Frederick, Jr., and Mrs. Virginia Saunders. Four sons and two daughters remain to honor the loving memory of a most devoted mother: Victor of Shiloh; Otto of Plymouth; Edward and John of Shiloh; Mrs. Lorena Hunter of Chicago, Ill. and Mrs. Lois Heedeen of Bucyrus. There are 14 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren living. One brother, Thomas Harbaugh of Los Angeles, Cal., also survives.

Soon after her marriage, Mrs. Kinsell became a member of Mt. Hope Lutheran church, in which she was most faithful, contributing of herself to all of its activities, but especially to the musical part of the worship which she often sang with Mr. Kinsell in the years that are past.

Many other relatives and a multitude of friends in the community bear testimony to the high esteem in which she is held.

MANSFIELD NEW $500,000 THEATRE OPENS TONIGHT

The long awaited event and the most important from a standpoint of theatrical interest is the long awaited opening of the New $500,000 Ohio Theatre situated on Park Avenue West, Mansfield, Ohio which will take place on Thursday evening, January the nineteenth.

More words of tongue nor pen can not describe the beautiful temple of art which has been built on the most prominent street in Mansfield. The glass and timber set gold of the old time Opera House has given way to soft tones and a feeling of absolute luxury comfort and safety.

The opening night performance will commence at 7:30 with another at 9:30 and the thereafter there will be four performances daily, at 2, 4, 7 and 9. Prices will be popular, fifty cents in the orchestra and forty cents in the balcony, in the evenings and Saturday, Sunday and Holidays with children 15¢ at such times. Week day matinees will be 25¢ with kiddies ten cents.

Two thousand seats have been placed by the American Seating Company in the Ohio Theatre and it is anticipated that nearly one half the population of North Central Ohio will endeavor to gain admittance to the big playhouse on opening night.

Opening bill includes Virgil Moore and his twelve piece Ohio Theatre Singing Orchestra. Mr. Moore comes to Mansfield direct from the Allen, Park, Neil, and Granada Theatres in Cleveland. A big production girl act is slated for the stage with ten girls, gorgeous costumes and scenery and a few comedians of highest calibre. Then one must not forget the mighty Kimball Organ with the surprise guest conductor organist. The Kimball organ was installed at a cost of $40,000. On the screen will be displayed Clara Bow in "Get Your Man" a two reel comedy from Paramount, Paramount News and a Kelly Color production. All motion pictures will be correctly interpreted by the large orchestra.

The service staff at the big theatre has been trained by army officers and will be the last word in such organizations. Selah.

HEROINE IN MIX FEATURE TAKES RISKY CHANCE

Dorothy Sebastian has, Narrow Escape During Filming of "Arizona Wildcat."

Dorothy Sebastian takes a daring chance in the opening sequence of "The Arizona Wildcat." Fox Films latest release starring Tom Mix in a western polo story written especially for Mix by Adela Rogers St. Johns, celebrated magazine writer. It will show at the Shelby Opera House tonight and Friday.

Miss Sebastian has the role of Regina Schuyler, a society girl, and Mix plays the part of Tom Pheasant, a former army captain who has a polo pony ranch in Arizona. She and her aunt start for the ranch to rest before the strenuous society season at Santa Barbara begins. Tom sends a coach that his father drove in pioneer days to meet them at the near-by siding on the branch line railway.

On the return trip the horses bolt and during the runaway break loose. The coach overturns in the middle of a stream at the brink of a waterfall. Tom, riding Tony, sees the accident and dashes to her rescue. Miss Sebastian acknowledged that for a moment she thought Mr. Mix could not effect the rescue in time. Sensational as is the rescue at the stream, Tom saves her from even greater danger in the concluding scenes.

ROUGH RIDING GIBSON PRESENTS NEW THRILLS IN THE "RAWHIDE KID"

Hard-riding Hoot Gibson gives his friends and admirers many new thrills in "The Rawhide Kid," the Universal production to be screened at the Shelby Opera House, Saturday.

The production is unique in that both the star and the director, Del Andrews, have had actual experience in much of the life that is portrayed in the picture.

As the rough and ready cowpuncher Dennis O'Hara, Hoot Gibson is again returning to the life that he once led, that of a cowboy on the great Western plains, for it is known that Hoot was once a real honest-to-goodness cowpuncher.

Born in Tekamah, Nebraska, Hoot early took to the life of the range and at the rough and reckless school of outdoor nature he learned to do the riding stunts that daily furnished thrills for millions of movie fans. As he hardened and developed, the toughest bucking bronco in the corral always received his particular attention. He got so he could throw as unerringly a lariat as the best of them and he fanned a gun with as much accuracy and ease as the most hard-boiled gun-man on the range. His bull-dogging at numerous rodeos attracted the attention of veteran ranchers and early were the predictions for his success.

But Hoot was not content with always being just a plain cowpuncher and sought the field that would pay more than the monthly stipend of a range rider. He joined Bud Atkin's circus and after traveling over Australia he returned to the movies after winning the title of world's champion cowboy at the Pendleton, Oregon Round-up.

He is now a star in his own right.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. DeVoe of Greenfield are spending their honeymoon in Florida. They left last Monday by auto and will remain the balance of the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. DeVoe surprised their friends and were married in North Fairfield on January 8th. Mrs. DeVoe was formerly Mrs. Blanche Leonard.

Mr. DeVoe is well known in Plymouth and vicinity and the newlyweds are receiving the best wishes of their numerous friends.

and will my energies be devoted.

NATURAL RESOURCES: Our most important natural resources are coal, timber, fertile soil, fish and game. Our coal mines must be kept busy and Ohio should so far as possible consume coal produced in her own mines. There is no way to replace the coal once used and soil fertility is and has been receiving attention in our agricultural colleges and experiment stations. Ohio should have a definite program of reforestation on her abandoned land. Fish culture and game preserves should be expanded. All this I shall endeavor to accomplish if elected.

In conclusion, let me invite the closest scrutiny into my private and public life. If my record is such that the people of Ohio believe I would make a proper chief executive, I will appreciate their support. If entrusted with the responsibilities of the office of Governor, I will give the best that is in me at all times to serve all the people of Ohio.

A Prescription That Ends Night Cough in 15 Minutes

Persistent night coughing is usually due to causes which cough syrups and patent medicines do not touch. A new prescription—Tussin-A-Thoxine, working on an entirely different principle, goes direct to the cause, and is guaranteed to stop the persistent coughing in 15 minutes. One swallow is all that's needed. If it fails, get your money back. No chloroform or other harmful drugs. Safe for children. Equally good for sore throat, colds, etc. Its purpose is to clear the airways. It is far superior to garlic, Ast. for Thoxine, $5c. 60c. and $1.00. spreading and contagious. The only question, from Willis' standpoint, is whether 1928 is this respect to be a flood tide or ebb tide year. Willis bases his aspirations on the hope and belief that the flood tide is here to stay and that countless patriotic Americans are ready and eager to rally to the clarion call against those who would check it.

"So Frank B. Willis, in this sense, has a real issue. It clashes head-on with the issue of Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, or Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, or Gov. Albert C.

Tuberculosis On the Increase

Very few persons except girls and would-be girls can have been surprised by the statement of a New York doctor before a race betterment conference at Battle Creek, Mich., that an "alarming increase in the morbidity and mortality of tuberculosis among young women" has resulted from the "insane desire" for boyish figures and the styles of dress in vogue in recent years. Whether or not the health of American girls is impaired by "too much night life" and "insufficient sleep, too many cigarettes and too much bad liquor," as the doctor alleged, most disinterested observers must regard it as no more than natural if tuberculosis or other diseases have grown in frequency and fatality among young women in consequence of short skirts, scanty underwear and low shoes and silk stockings worn in the coldest weather," combined with "intentional under-nourishment" in the cause of boyish forms for girls. The only uncertainty has been as to when the effect on health and life would become recognizable and in just what way. The history of such matters the last decade would seem to prove it literally true that the modern girl would be as soon be dead as out of style. * * *
