THE PARSON'S COLUMN

The other day an observant old Saint of God said to me: "The trouble with religion today is that we don't make our religious thinking deal with the problems of daily life right next to us. We can get all stirred up about the child in the city slums, the women of India and the hottentot of Africa, and ignore the unfortunate who live around the corner from us."

Now that wonderful old gentleman was not saying he did not believe in missions; he does and gives freely, but he was laying his finger on one of the places where the Christians of today are falling down.

Jesus, of Nazareth was the original and a most thorough-going Pragmatist, philosophically speaking. No one else has ever insisted quite so vehemently as he, that ultimate values are determined by the results obtained. "By their fruits ye shall know them." Do men gather grapes from the thorns or figs of thistles? "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least or these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

"I heard not long ago of an incident that will serve very well as an illustration of practical Christianity. In a certain country, the people were a mixture of people who lived segregated. If cause they differed in ancestral and social background from the rest of the community, not a large one by any means, the churches went on doing their work with never a thought seemingly that they had a ministry to render to this isolated group.

They moved into this community and united with one of the churches a woman, who had the missionary passion that considers all unevangelized folk as individual responsibility in the sight of God. As soon as she had become acclimated somewhat to the local situation, without saying a word of criticism and with no ostentation, she began to cultivate the friendship and confidence of this thoughtlessly ostracized group. In their own homes and in little group prayer meetings she led some of the women into a Christian experience. She invited the children to her home and by precept and example taught them the love of Christ. From time to time as opportunity offered she interested some of the Christian people. The women and children of the ignored group began to attend church, and Sunday School in increasing numbers and gradually the standard of living of the group being ministered to came up towards that of the rest of the community.

"It looks now as though the ultimate result of one little woman's faith and Christ-like love is going to make the community one through the light of a practical gospel of personal interest and kindness.

Surely the Master would say well done.

"Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Steele and daughter Elitha, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Steele and family, and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Gale and family were Sunday callers of Mr. and Mrs. William Nelson at Nova.

FARMWOMEN HOLD MEETING

The Farm Women's Federated Clubs of Richland County, convened at Plymouth in the Presbyterian church, Wednesday, October 10th, 1928.

The morning session opened at 10:30 with singing of "America." Mrs. McBride leading. Rev. Miller offered prayer. Mrs. Harry Stroup gave the address of welcome and Mrs. Ruth Forsyth the response. Mrs. Huddleston gave a piano solo which was heartily applauded. An interesting business session followed with the secretary reading the minutes of the previous convention. As the roll was called the secretaries of the various clubs read a report of the work done in their club during the past year. This proved to be an especially interesting part of the program. The treasurer then gave her report after which all joined in singing "Blest Be The Tie That Binds." The meeting then adjourned for dinner.

The afternoon session opened at 1:30 with the report of committees and election of officers with Miss Pearl Darling, president; Mrs. Myrtle Dawson, vice-president; secretary, Mrs. Hugh Boyce; Mrs. Mildred Harp, treasurer; Mrs. Myrtle Dawson, reporter. In the absence of Mrs. McBroome who was to have given a solo, Walter St. Clair gave a trombone solo accompanied on the piano by Miss Cleo Anderson. This number was well received and the clubs appreciate their services very much. Following this the White Hall club then presented a clever comedy and proved themselves capable actors. Miss Harriet Mason conducted a round table discussion which proved to be both interesting and beneficial to all club members. Madam Myrtle Dawson and Edna Dawson gave a piano duet and responded to the encyclopaedia. The speaker closed for the afternoon was Mrs. Wyatt Kyle of Somerset, Ohio. Mrs. Kyle's charming personality immediately endeared her to her audience, and as she spoke on "The Fulness of the Earth" her presentation was inspired to look for the beautiful in all things for as she repeatedly pointed out in her talk, beauty is beautiful in all things if we only look for it.

Miss Jackson sang a beautiful vocal solo and she also responded to the hearty applause of the audience. This splendid young lady was also given a vote of thanks for supplying in the absence of Mr. Artz.

Rev. Miller was then invited to speak and his remarks both fitting and comforting were well received. Miss Leola Hamman will know an entertainer gave two clever readings.

The most touching part of the program was the tribute to our beloved club sister and organizer of the Federation, Miss Pearl Darling, read a letter which was read from Scripture which were entirely in accord with the life of this dear woman who passed away last summer and as a part of this tribute Mrs. Kyle sang "O Perfect Day" and "The Rosary" Adjournment.

The evening session was opened by the Sunshine club, which cheerfully responded to several encores.

The comedy presented by the Paterson Progressive club, sent the audience into gales of laughter.

Miss Mildred Griffith gave a dramatic reading after which Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kirkpatrick sang two duets. Both numbers were excellent and very much enjoyed.

The address by Judge Carpenter of Newark was of a serious nature but instructive. The clubs realizing how valuable time is, highly appreciate his coming to Plymouth for this occasion.

Throughout the past year the clubs in the Federation have held a contest, to determine which should be called the banner club. At this time the committee submitted the report to the President. Their report revealed the Rome County club to be the winner, receiving the name Banner club and the loving cup. Music by the orchestra and a beautiful Phantomine given by the Rome County club closed the program, which was considered by all inspiring, instructive and entertaining.

The next convention will be held at Adario.

To all those who contributed in any way to the success of the convention the committee and clubs extend a vote of thanks.

THE BIG FOUR OF 1928

(By The Wieder Syndicate)

In two weeks the voters of this country will decide by ballots which of two men will be the next President of the United States. As we are well aware, the choice lies between two men, Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce for the past seven and one-half years who was nominated by the Republicans at Kansas City, June 14, and Alfred E. Smith, four-time Governor of New York who was nominated by the Democrats at Houston two weeks later.

A number of records that are being broken this year may serve to fix in mind certain interesting facts about the principal candidates.

For the first time in more than a quarter of a century both parties enter the contest with candidates all of whom were nominated on first ballots. Both Hoover and Smith had clearly proved their strength at various state primaries before the conventions met. No single candidate in either party approached these men, this year in popularity. Both Hoover and Smith had been prominently mentioned as candidates as long as eight years ago. In 1920 Governor Smith was eliminated from the race only after the ballots had been taken in vain. This year a very rare occurrence, not only the candidates for President but also those for Vice President were nominated on first ballots.

Usually, at least one of the presidential candidates is a lawyer. This year, as in 1920 when both were newspaper publishers, neither is a member of the bar. Hoover is a graduate of Leland Stanford University of California, a mining engineer by profession, and, if chance, he will be the first engineer to occupy the White House since Washington the surveyor, who, by the way never did live in that mansion.

If Hoover is inaugurated, he will be the first president with a military record. The country to have been born on the Mississippi River and the first since Lincoln to have come from west of Ohio.

The fathers of both candidates died when their sons were mere boys, leaving both dependent wholly on their selves from an early age. At Smith never did have the advantages of high school or college training. Born in the lower East side of New York, he is the first presidential candidate to come from that most crowded part of our country.

Smith is the first non-college man in the presidency since another Democrat and Governor of New York Grover Cleveland held the office.

In religion, Herbert Hoover is a Quaker and Al Smith a Catholic. Hoover was a member of either of these churches but not for the presidency by a major party.

Hoover, if elected will give the country for the first time, a President who knows European conditions at first hand. Asia too he knows intimately from his several engineering jobs in the Orient. The work that he first brought him into prominence was his administration of relief in Belgium. His later work as U. S. Food Administrator, as a promoter of American trade, and as a member of the Debt Restructuring Commission, has given him an intimate knowledge of foreign affairs.

A peculiarity of the campaign this year is that the acceptance speeches of both candidates were delivered unusually late—nearly two months after the Pullman train, probably the opening of the campaigns from a few days to several weeks longer than ever before.

More than ever before, too, this is to be a campaign of the radio, rather than from the rear end of the Pullman train. Probably that, rather than any desire to curtail the discussion, accounts for the short campaign. Extensive traveling takes time, whereas over the radio a nation-wide audience can be reached with far less outlay of time and effort.

Not in so many years have the issues been so clear-cut as they promise to be in this campaign. This is not because of the party platforms adopted so much as it is because of the candid proclamations of Governor Smith, on prohibition, immigration, and power control, especially.

ENTIRE PICTURE TROUPE ADOPTS OVERALL COSTUME

Overalls were the principal item of wardrobe for members of the company from the Paramount studio in Hollywood on location in the desert for the filming of Zane Grey's story of modern life, "The Water Hole," at the Opera House, Shelby, Saturday.

The riding trousers, so often seen in location camps, were conspicuous by their absence among "The Water Hole" crew. The heat, made laced trousers uncomfortable. Even the script clerk, wardrobe assistant and the hall dresser, the only women with the troupe except Nancy Carroll, Jack Holt's leading woman, found overalls more comfortable than riding clothes.

Holt was the only member of the cast who stuck by riding breeches and wardrobe requirements were responsible for that. Miss Carroll had to wear a smart sports dress most of the time.

To the 5000 who daily become owners of the new Ford car

THE service obligation of the Ford Motor Company and its dealer organization is now growing at the rate of 5000 cars a day. It is to these new car owners that this message is addressed.

The new Ford is a remarkably fine car for one that costs so little. It is simple in design, constructed of the finest materials, and built to unusually close measurements.

These are the reasons it performs so wonderfully. These are also the reasons its service requirements are so few and the up-keep cost so low.

When you receive your new car, the dealer will explain the simple little things that should be attended to at regular intervals to insure the best performance. He will also tell you something of his own facilities for doing this work promptly and at small cost.

With the purchase of your car, you are entitled to Free Inspection Service by your dealer at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. This service is due you and we urge you to take full advantage of it. Proper care during this breaking-in period means a great deal to the life of your car.

Included in the Free Inspection Service is a check-up of the battery, the generator charging rate, the distributor, the carburetor adjustment, lights, brakes, shock absorbers, tire inflation and steering gear. The engine oil is also changed and chassis lubricated.

No charge whatever is made for labor or materials incidental to this inspection service, except where repairs are necessary because of accident, neglect, or misuse.

The labor of changing the engine oil and lubricating the chassis is also free, although a charge is made for the new oil.

We believe that when you see the good effects of this inspection you will continue to have it done regularly throughout the life of your car.

Wherever you live, you will find the Ford dealer very helpful in keeping your car in good running order for many thousands of miles at a minimum of trouble and expense.

He operates under close factory supervision and has been trained and equipped to do this work promptly, thoroughly and economically.
