METHODISTS PLAN INDOOR PICNIC

During the late summer plans were laid for a picnic for the membership of the two churches making up the Plymouth-Shiloh charge, but for various reasons they had to be abandoned. At the invitation of the official board of the Plymouth church an indoor picnic will be held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Friday evening, November 16th, 7 p. m. The entire membership and constituency of both churches are cordially invited to attend. Dr. C. B. Hess, Superintendent of the Norwalk District will be present and will conduct the first Quarterly Conference of the year at this time during the evening.

ANOTHER SERIES

The third of a series of advertisements of the home-owned stores appears in this issue and the local groceryman point out many interesting facts. The home-owned stores feel that the public should know their attitude, or at least their side of the question of the "buy-at-home" problem. The home-owned stores here are working together in every way to promote good will and will at an early period arrange a series of articles that will appeal to the housewife.

PLYMOUTH $75,000 SCHOOL BONDS CARRIED BY A GOOD MAJORITY

After many years' struggle Plymouth is to boast a new high school building with ample facilities to take care of its present enrollment and for a small increase that may occur in the coming years.

Although the bond issue faced strong opposition in last year's election the village voters favored the proposition this year and gave their support by voting the issue almost three to one. Many of the leaders in last year's opposing forces came over to the defense of the school and this proved to be a big help in piling up a good majority.

The Board of Education has worked earnestly in every way to present a suitable building for High School purposes and plans and specifications were gone over and every detail brought out in order that there would be no drawback at the election this year, and as a result many complimentary remarks were passed on to the board for its action.

The bond issue received the following vote in Richland county precinct: For the school bonds, 299, against the bonds, 101. The Huron county side also gave splendid support and the vote was 231 in favor and 74 against.

The illustrations above give a fair outline of the building and the necessary "meal" procedure will begin at once in order that the selection of a site may be decided upon and construction begin at once.

FROM THE SCHOOL

Needless to say, the pupils are overjoyed at the prospect of a new school building. The Senior Class of the High School is especially grateful. Although they will not be permitted to go to school in the new building, the assurance that it will be built has saved our first grade charter. This means that their credits will be accepted for college entrance. It is quite touching to see how elated the smaller pupils are, even though they know that they will have to wait till they are old enough to share the advantages and pleasure of working in the new school building.

Faculty and pupils alike join in expressing their appreciation to the citizens who have made this forward step possible and in assuring them that they will be amply repaid by the better school work which will be done.

WHITE WAY COMPLETED

Shiloh's new white way has been completed and will be illuminated at an early date. The white way will light up the business section of the village.

LEAVES FOR FLORIDA

Mrs. Ed Howell returned to Plymouth Saturday from a visit with relatives at Upper Sandusky and Tiffin, and left Wednesday morning for Cardington where she will be joined by Mrs. Eliza Coomer. They will leave Saturday for Coronado Beach, Fla., to spend the winter.

MRS. CHRONISTER DIED SUNDAY

Mrs. Sylvia B. Chronister, 56, passed away at her home on Mills Street about six o'clock Sunday morning after a short illness. Death was due to heart trouble.

Mrs. Chronister was born in Belleville and has made her home here for a long number of years. She was a christian woman of the highest character and was a member of the Presbyterian church to which she was faithful to the end.

Mrs. Chronister leaves to mourn her passing, a husband, Benton Chronister and two sons, Mathias B. of Toledo and Harry Chronister of Mansfield.

and a host of friends who held her in the highest esteem.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home with Rev. J. W. Miller officiating. Harry Postle was in charge of funeral arrangements. Burial was made in Greenlawn cemetery.

The passing of this beloved woman removes one of the community's best citizens for she was a kind mother, a cheerful wife and a lovable neighbor. Her absence will be greatly felt in our midst and especially those with whom she came in contact.

SCHOOL LEVY GOES OVER

The school levy for the Cass township schools was approved by the voters of the township in Tuesday's election. There were 203 voted in favor of the levy while 155 opposed it.

BOOSTER SUPPER NEXT THURSDAY

Just a week from tonight and the community will once more respond to the splendid event offered annually by the Booster Class of the Presbyterian church. The supper this year will be the opening event of the church after extensive repairs and improvements which have required many months to complete. A large basement with many conveniences and a seating capacity of 300 has been completed. The walls of the auditorium have been redecorated and the building looks like new since it has been painted a beautiful cream color.

In order to carry through the repairs of the church with the least expense possible members and non-members have contributed generously with their services and a portion of their material wealth and the results of those who have so expressed themselves will be seen as they enter the church next Thursday evening.

The main part of the men Thursday will be chicken, surrounded with a gracious helping of everything that goes with it and while served by the men of the Booster Class, the supper will be prepared by the women of the church. The hours are from 5:30 to 8 p. m. and it is not necessary to "wait" in the kitchen. An improved luncheon of the added conveniences of ones to be served almost immediately.

A small charge of 50c will be made for adults and children under 12 will be charged 25c. And don't forget the date, next Thursday evening, Nov. 15.

BOOSTER CLUB SUPPER THURSDAY, NOV. FIFTEEN 5:30 P. M. UNTIL 8 P. M. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

BIG UNION HALLOWEEN SOCIAL

Many interesting Halloween socials have been held this year. But the one held on Friday night was different. It was a union effort of five groups of young people from five different churches. It was given by District Number One, Council of Religious Education of Richland County. District Number One includes the young people between the ages of 15 and 24 from the five churches in Cass and Plymouth Townships. These churches are Shiloh M. E. and Shiloh Lutheran of Plymouth, Presbyterian Lutheran and Methodist.

The social was held in the social room in the basement of the Presbyterian church in Plymouth. The groups of young people from the five churches were well represented. The night was dark, rainy and "spooky" and the social room was decorated with corn fodder stalks, forest leaves and appropriate objects to form a hiding place for the ghosts. And the ghostly Hobboblins were everywhere in evidence and the spooks appeared in the form. Over head was always something ready to grab one by the hair.

Promptly at 8 p. m. the activities began. The young people from Shiloh furnished the program and there was not a dull moment from beginning to end. At 10:45 p. m. the program came to a close. Every one had taken some part and enjoyed himself to the fullest extent. To a visitor, the five groups of young people looked alike. One could not tell them apart. Like Hans and his brother Jacob, "It made no difference which answered, for they both got called the same." A Methodist, a Lutheran or a Presbyterian there are a few people in Plymouth and Cass Townships who will not co-operate with those who belong to a different church than the one of which they themselves are members, and if there are, they were not present at the social last Friday night. The reason young people do not co-operate is because they DO co-operate. The proof of the pudding is in the eating of it.

TWO MEN ESCAPE DEATH IN WRECK

Two Willard men narrowly escaped death Tuesday afternoon when their car plowed through a heavily loaded wagon just north of town, seriously injuring them, and completely demolishing their roadster.

William Serafield was being assisted by neighbors in the gathering of corn in a field on the Hamilton farm and W. W. Trimmer had been engaged in hauling the corn from the field to the husker on the Serafield farm.

Just as Mr. Trimmer drove his team on to the highway and was about a front of the Brooks home on the Plymouth New Haven road, Ralph Guthrie and Roy Steinmetz driving a Chrysler Roadster at a high rate of speed plowed into the wagon completely demolishing the heavy timber rear axle and overturning the corn on the side of the road. The team of horses received many deep cuts and were severely bruised, while Mr. Trimmer, who was riding on top of the corn, was thrown several feet clear of the wre-ked wagon and received a severe jolt when he landed some feet below.

Guthrie and Steinmetz were rushed to Willard in the Miller ambulance where they received medical attention. Injured, Steinmetz came out of the fray with a few cuts and bruises.

The accident occurred as stated by Mr. Trimmer around 5:15 o'clock, and he states that Steinmetz admits the fact that he did not see the wagon until after the machine struck it. The impact seemed to be squarely in the center of the wagon as evidence showed by the marks made on the front end of the car and the rear end of the wagon.

Those nearby the scene of the wreck rushed to give the injured men relief and to clear up the wreckage. Several hundred saw the results of the smash-up and it required some time to get the corn and the remains of the wagon off the road. The machine was towed to a Willard garage.

Both men are Willard residents and Steinmetz is said to be in the employ of the Baltimores and Ohio as a boiler maker.

Mr. Trimmer while not injured by the impact, was given a severe jolt and was several minutes getting his nerves back together. Mr. Trimmer states that for a second he thought that some kind of an explosion took place for when he turned to see what the trouble was the view of the auto was completely hidden by the corn.

Those at the husking machine failed to hear the impact, but after waiting a short time decided to see what the delay was in getting the corn to the husker and started out to the Hamilton farm, and so their way they saw the accident very shortly after it occurred.

Please plan to be present at this meeting.

TO HOLD AUCTION

After eight successful years in Shelby by the Thern Jewelry Store in Shelby will sell out its stock and Mr. W. J. Thern will return back to Mansfield his former home to conduct the W. J. Thern & Bros store there.

Rather than move the stock or try and sell it at private sale the owners have decided to conduct an auction which begins tomorrow afternoon. The entire stock of this high class jewelry store is to be included in the auction, and private sales will be conducted in the mornings before the auction.

An announcement of the auction appears in this issue and will be read with much interest.

Landefeld Bros., Willard, Ohio

Oakland Announces New All-American Six

Completely new and original in appearance, with a host of advanced engineering features, the latest Oakland All-American Six went on display at Willard today at the showrooms of Landefeld Bros. (Oakland and Pontiac dealers).

Smarter, roomier than a year ago, with bodies of distinctive design, and a chassis said to be the last word in mechanical refinement, the latest All-American model bears only a passing resemblance to its famous predecessor—the first All-American Six brought out by the Oakland Motor Car Company a year ago.

Briefly, the new line offers a bigger, faster, more powerful engine; new Oakland type internal expanding 4-wheel brakes; masterful body creations by Fisher; new Duo color combinations; higher, larger cross-flow radiator with grill front; adjustable driver's seat; chrome-plated lamps of new design; sturdy ten-spoke wheels; Lowboy shock absorbers and spring covers as standard equipment; new steering gear; sturdier frame, and a host of other improvements that are destined to make the car a distinguished addition to the aristocratic motor car family of America.

Into the perfection of power plant and body lines have gone the pooled resources of Oakland and General Motors engineers, General Motors Research Laboratories, General Motors Proving Ground, and craftsmen of the Fisher Body organization. Many months have been spent developing and proving every detailed change to bring the finished product up to the rigid standards called for on the specification charts.

Seven passenger types comprise the line: sport roadster, sport phaeton, coupe, 2-door sedan, 4-door sedan, and a new Landaulet sedan and convertible cabriolet.

A new instrument panel finished in black imparts a dignified touch to the front interior. Instruments are individually mounted on the dash and directly illuminated by two soft shielded lights. On the dash are an eighty mile speedometer, gasoline gauge, oil gauge and ammeter mounted on a rated panel in the center of the board. On either side are the ignition lock and lighting switch button, and the choke and throttle control buttons. The windshield wiper control and light switch buttons are below the speedometer. All instrument dials are black with white figures.

A new grill, or radiator front louvre effect, is of chevron design with a vertical chrome plated bar extending the full height of the front in the center of the grill.

The Oakland emblem has been redesigned this year in the form of a shield. Red, white, and blue enameling bear out the All-American motif. The famous Oakland-pioneered cross flow radiator is retained with the cooling capacity increased.

A powerful new engine, offering flashing performance at every speed, has been achieved by stepping up the cylinder displacement to 228 cubic inches as against 212 in the earlier model. This, in conjunction with other engine changes, results in a top speed of well over seventy miles an hour and quick acceleration of from ten to 25 miles an hour in high gear in six seconds flat.

provide 290 square inches of braking surface. The parking brake on the transmission also has been redesigned for increased safety. Spring squeaks have been largely eliminated by the inclusion of fitted spring covers as standard equipment on all models. By the retention of spring grease, and the protection of springs from outside dirt and grit, the covers eliminate the necessity of oiling the leaves except at extremely long intervals.

Among other refinements of the chassis are an improved universal joint; larger muffler, and new fender tie rods, front license supports and spare tire carrier.

Special sport equipment consisting of six wire wheels is available for all models. Spares are carried in front fender wells and are provided with tire locks and chrome-plated hub caps bearing the Oakland emblem in colors.

The interior of all bodies is finished in pleasing harmony with the smart new exterior Duo combinations. Heavy mohair upholstery material in plain colors is used for the interior of all closed types except the new convertible coupe, where trimming is of leather. The form-fitting cushions and backs are deep and luxurious.

The driver's seat on all closed bodies is quickly adjustable, forward or backward, by an easily operated control located at the side of the seat. A foot control conveniently opens or closes the smart side cowl ventilators. All bodies are slightly wider also across the dash to make for increased comfort of passengers in the front compartment. The semi-colonial transmission lock is retained this year as is the theft-proof door lock which will not yield to the application of a wrench to the door handle.

Production of the new line is going forward as fast as precision manufacturing methods will permit. Cars are being shipped to dealers with the utmost dispatch so that they may have on hand models for prompt delivery.

The gridding new beauty of this latest All-American, and the better staming and performance built into the sturdier engine and improved chassis, lend substance to the confidence of Oakland officials that the car will prove the most successful Oakland brought out since the organization of the company more than twenty-two years ago.

REV. VANSWERINGEN DEAD

Postmaster and Mrs. H. B. Miller and daughter Miss Reva Miller attended the funeral of Mrs. Miller's father, Rev. Joseph Van Sweringen at Findlay Sunday afternoon. Rev. Van Sweringen died suddenly Thursday evening at his home aged seventy-one years. Mr. Van Sweringen and family made their home here many years during his pastorate at Bloominggrove Bethel church. He retired from the active ministry and has lived in Findlay a long time. During his residence here he was held in high esteem, and his friendships and regards were attested by Findlay citizens. In the unusual large attendance at the church services and by the many friends who paid their respects at his late home. He leaves the widow and six children to mourn his passing.

ENDURING MONUMENT

The Saginaw paper had the following to say in honor of Mr. Handley: "Lasting honor is paid the memory of the late Cassius H. Handley by the action of the Board of Education in naming after him the fine new Court street school building. This action was decided upon at the suggestion of the Fordway Club, made in a communication to the board.

For many years Mr. Handley was principal of the Emerson school, where he did admirable work, not only for his immediate charge, but for the teaching profession generally. He was of the type to regard his profession as one offering opportunity for richer public service than he could give in any other way, and his devotion to his calling was notable through this unusual tribute now paid him, the teaching profession generally receives merited honor, is appropriately recognized as of the really important and useful callings, and a great moral encouragement is given to others of the Handley type to continue their noble service."

"This monument doth not make the famous -
O Euripides
But thou makest the monument famous."

SUPERLATIVE TEXAS

Since the globe of Gen. Sheridan many years ago, progress has made an indelible stamp in homes and industry and the transition verifies the old statement, "that countries and sections of countries depend upon one another for their sustenance." Between Laredo and Brownville there has been developed a citrus growing region of wealth and importance. At present the north is enjoying some of their fruit, the finest grapefruit grown in the United States.

Our citizen N. J. McBride has a productive farm in the Cameron County valley near LaFeria, and with Mrs. McBride will leave in a short time to enjoy its fruits. Some of their neighbors and men with whom Mr. McBride is personally acquainted are having financial profits which are very interesting. One man Mr. Erickson sold 1,753 packed boxes of grapefruit from three and one-half acres, for a total of $5878.75, and there were between fifty and one hundred boxes left. Thomas G. Schock marketed a car of grapefruit which brought $1169.25.

The local banker B. H. Dunlap, from two town lots sold $324 worth of grapefruit. The Marsh seedless and the Duncan varieties are the most prolific. The entire outlook of fruits and vegetables in this section are unusually good.

POWER OF THE WORD OF GOD
 Psalm 19:7. The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul: The testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple.

8. The statutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart, the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes.

9. The fear of the Lord is clean, enduring forever: the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether.

10. More to be desired are they than gold, yea, than much fine gold: sweeter also than honey and the honeycomb.

11. Moreover, by them is thy servant warned: and in keeping of them there is great reward.

PRAYER — O God, give us greater reverence for thy word and thy law. Help us to realize that thy way is always best for us. May obedience be a mark of our love to thee. Amen. Remember the Sabbath Day, to Keep it Holy — Exodus 20:8. Go to Church Sunday.

THE PARSON'S COLUMN

On Sunday next, we will celebrate the tenth anniversary of the close of the great World War. It seems very fitting that this decade anniversary should come on the Sabbath day. Surely it should be a day of Thanksgiving and prayer.

Thanksgiving because of all the blessing of comfort and prosperity that have been ours during those years that have meant so much of hardship and anxiety in those nations across the water that had the really grave problems of reconstruction to face.

Prayer because in the midst of our comforts, joys, luxuries, we are apt to become complacent or even arrogant forgetting at what cost of human life we are today enjoying all of these blessings; to say nothing of that spiritual idealism, which sent our soldier boy over there to fight for "Democcr," as a principle of government in, "A War to End War."

 None of us, who was old enough to comprehend all the meaning of the joyous hilarity of that first Armistice day, will ever forget the conviction that was registered down deep in the hearts of all Americans; beneath the effervescence of rejoicing that the whole terrible business was over; namely, such an insane world tragedy must never occur again. "Hereafter the United States of America must give herself first, last and always to the task of promoting international peace," we said.

What an hour of high vision it was but also how soon much of it was dissipated by the influence of selfish interests. Woodrow Wilson impelled by the clear vision of that sacred hour lead in the formulating of the plan of the League of Nations, only to come back to his mere lead to see it made the political football of a Presidential campaign. But undaunted by this and many other untoward influences there still persists in the thinking of our people the conviction that war is the world's greatest "Social Sin" and that it should be placed with the practice of dwelling in the limbo of those customs of a bygone age, upon which an advancing civilization has put its taboo.

In the summer of 1917 just after the U. S. had declared war a young professional man sat in his office window watching a bunch of rookies training in the street below. He had been born of Quaker parentage and his college and university training had not entirely dissipated his abhorrence of militarism. Nevertheless he had gone through three years of military training, just as a means of physical exercise he had thought at the time. But now as he watched, within his breast was being waged a great battle. Should he maintain he was a conscientious objector or should he put his harmony at the disposal of his country? The battle extended over many useless days and sleepless nights finally the call, "A War to End War" won. That young man sleeps somewhere over there, let us voice a prayer on this Sabbath Armistice day that his idealism be vindicated.

Till the Soil that Feeds You

Mother Earth is mankind's best provider. She produces everything we wear—everything we eat—and everything that shelters us. In brief Mother Earth has made life possible.

So it is with your town and your merchants. Your success is dependent upon their success. You must support them or they will retrograde. You are to them what the plow is to the field. In other words, sustain your home-owned grocery by buying your groceries from them. They extend to you a service in exchanging food for farm produce. Consider them when you purchase your week's supplies.

The home-owned grocery affords the farmers a convenient market in Plymouth for their cream, eggs and other produce, and in turn the farmer should consider those who render him the greatest service.

Adin T. Hills was born October 20, 1854, at the family homestead in Richland County, Ohio. He was educated in the Public Schools of Richland County, in the High School at Plymouth, Ohio, and attended Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio, graduating in 1880.

He was married in June, 1886, to Miss Sarah C. Tucker, of Plymouth, Ohio, who, with their three children, Myra E., Harold G. and Virgil A. Hills and five grandchildren survive him. He also left surviving him two sisters, Mrs. Artie S. Gibson and Miss Mary F. Hills, who live in Plymouth, Ohio. His greatest joy and pleasure was found in his home life, which was ideal.

Mr. Hills studied law in the office of Diriam & Leyman, at Mansfield, Ohio, and was admitted to the Bar in May, 1882. He began the practice of law in Cleveland in August, 1882, in an office at 213 Superior Street. In 1884, he formed a partnership with M. B. Gary and N. A. Gilbert, under the firm name of Gary, Gilbert & Hills, at 243 Superior Avenue. In 1885, Mr. Gary retired from the firm, which continued as Hills & Vanderveer, until Mr. Hills' retirement from active practice, in June, 1927. For many years he was one of the leading trial lawyers at the Cleveland Bar, taking part in the trial of many important cases in this and other counties, one of the most celebrated being the Reason Glass will forgery case at Ashland, Ohio. He had a keen, analytical mind, and prepared every case for trial with the utmost care and patience. While he fought hard and on all reports and took definite action, he was always courteous and kindly to opposite counsel and the court. In his later years he withdrew from the arduous trial work, and confined himself mostly to office practice. He was an excellent adviser on legal questions, having an almost uncanny knowledge of the law and legal principles. He was unusually kind to young lawyers, who often come to him for help and advice on difficult and complicated questions of law. He was one of the old school lawyers, looking upon the law as one of the most honorable of the professions, and he often bemoaned the fact that, to many lawyers, it seemed to be more of a business than a profession. He was the embodiment of honesty and integrity, and the interests of his clients always came ahead of any personal interest he might have by way of remuneration for his services.

Mr. Hills wrote a small treatise on "Commercial Law," which was published in 1893, and has since been used quite largely in schools and business colleges.

However he was interested in other things besides his law practice. He was a member of the American State and Cleveland Bar Association, The Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity, The Cleveland Museum of Art and the Union Club. He was greatly interested in the Cleveland Bar Association, and for several years was on its executive committee.

For many years he was an Elder in the Second Presbyterian Church, which was later merged with the Church of the Covenant, and always took an active part in its deliberations. He frequently gave addresses before the Men's Club and other bodies of the Church and such addresses were always gems of thought and wisdom.

He was especially interested in the Federated Churches of the City of Cleveland, and Dr. Edward R. Wright, its Executive Secretary, says in regard to his work in that organization: "Mr. Adin T. Hills was a member of the Civic Committee of the Federated Churches for years, serving as its Chairman from 1921 to 1923. During this period he was a member of the Executive Committee where his counsel was eagerly sought by the heads of other departments. Mr. Hill's deep interest in every phase of church work made him a most valued member of this executive body which passed upon all reports and took definite action in the name of the Three Hundred congregations in the organization. He was a close friend of the Executive Secretary and held himself in readiness to come to the office at any time to advise upon difficult matters relating to closer cooperation among the denominations in the Federation."

In regard to Mr. Hills' work in the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Maunson A. Havens, its Secretary, says: "Mr. A. T. Hills was for six years a member of the Chamber's committee on taxation, then for seven years a member of its committee on city finances and then for four years a member of its committee on labor relations. His is an unusual record of service to Cleveland's business community, and through the Chamber to the city itself. A conscientious and zealous committee worker, he has had a part in infilling many noteworthy public projects, always evincing a strong sense of civic duty and a practical civic idealism. His passing is a distinct loss to the Chamber and to Cleveland."

O. E. S. MASQUERADE PARTY

The Social Circle O. E. S. held a masquerade party on Halowen'eu in the Chapter Room. The room was beautifully decorated in orange and black, a skeleton ghost presided over the entrance. A witch with gleaming electric eyes kept watch in one corner, a gypsy fortune teller's tent drew a steady stream of guests desiring their fortunes told by the gypsy queen within. Black cats and witches climbed walls everywhere, and in one corner was to be found a graveyard with ghosts wandering among the tombstones. The epitaphs on these tombstones, furnished much amusement.

A large crowd of guests were present. Black cats and varied costumes worn from Aunt Jemima to a beautiful Spanish Senorita.

The first prizes were awarded Mrs. Chas. Silliman, impersonating a Colonial Dame, and Mr. R. R. Miller who was a regular "DEVIL." Mrs. Burt Anderson won the prize for the most disreputable costume, that of a colored hobo fisherman. This prize was stolen from her before the party was ended, and the services of Nevermore Spottsmen of the Gostus Correspondence School of Detectives was at once secured, result, the beautiful pie-pumpkin was found, serenely resting on the Anderson porch.

After appropriate refreshments the guests departed, each hoping the masquerade would become an annual event.

STORY OF WAIF AND ARTIST SET AMONG BEAUTIFUL BACKGROUNDS

Unusual Treatment Given to Fox Films "Street Angel" Co-featuring Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor, by Frank Borzage, the Youthful Director of Masterpieces.

A number of technical departures, introduced into "Street Angel" by Director Frank Borzage, will be observed when this new Fox picture co-featuring Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell is seen at the Temple Theatre, where it opens on Sunday. Various problems in photography had to be met.

The technical treatment suggested itself to Borzage from the nature of the story, which is based on a play by Monckton Hoffe. The narrative centers about a little Italian street waltz foreed to flee from the police and take refuge with a traveling circus, where she meets with a wandering painter and proves his artistic inspiration.

Its locals is Naples and environs. Since Naples is a city of towering houses and dim courtyards, this put the thought into Borzage's mind of photographing much of the picture in a twilight state of illumination. He and his cameramen had to take particular pains that in achieving this subdued effect they would not at the same time blot out the features of Miss Gaynor and Farrell. Their aim was toward an almost contradictory mingling of obscurity and clarity, with high lights and silhouettes to bring out the features, without making them too sharp.

Moreover, as Naples is a seaside city, and much of the action of the picture took place along the waterfront, the logical step was to introduce mist effects into the picture. Borzage made frequent use of this opportunity, swathing many of the scenes heavily in vapor, with ships and twinkling mooring lights showing through.

Here again he was confronted with the same problem as when he shot his dim scenes. He had to keep his players from being smothered in the fog, while at the same time maintaining a thick enough haze so that it would not look like the feeble wisps of smoke pots which so often pass for mist in motion pictures. Despite many difficulties Borzage stuck to his plan, because he felt that the softened photographic effects would suit the pensive mood of many of the scenes.

McLaughlin, licensed pilot, was at the controls and was only slightly injured. Noss, however, in the passenger's cockpit in front, felt the full shock of the fall and sustained a bad cut over one eye and head injuries. He was taken to a Mansfield hospital, where he is expected to recover.

PURCHASING POWER NEAR 1909-10 LEVEL ON FARM PRODUCTS

WASHINGTON—The department of agriculture reports that, despite its forecast of a five per cent increased production of nearly all crops over last year, the purchasing power of farm products in terms of other commodities remain with 10 per cent of the 1909-1914 level.

The livestock industries are the chief sustaining influence, the department said, noting a "considerable revival of stock feeding in the central regions."

There are some suggestions that the seasonal drop of corn prices may be delayed, said the department.

"The European crop appears likely to be about 20 per cent smaller than in 1925, and, unless the Argentine crop turns out to be a large one, this should help the export demand on American corn," it said.

NEAR TRAGEDY BEGINS ROMANCE FOR THIS COUPLE

VERMILLION—A harrowing experience in the waters of Lake Erie off the shore here, was the beginning of a courtship which will result in the marriage of Miss Helen G. Jaeger to Richard L. Kroesen, both of Cleveland.

Shortly after the couple met, they went boating with Mr. and Mrs. Mark Zettelmeyer, of Cleveland. Their boat capsized, and for eight hours the four people clung to the overturned craft until they were rescued.

That was two years ago. The marriage of the two young people took place Saturday at a Cleveland church.

GREENWICH MEN ARE INJURED IN AIRPLANE CRASH

GREENWICH—Two Greenwich men, William Noss and Virgil McLaughlin, received injuries in a plane crash near the Mansfield airport Thursday.

McLaughlin, licensed pilot, was at the controls and was only slightly injured. Noss, however, in the passenger's cockpit in front, felt the full shock of the fall and sustained a bad cut over one eye and head injuries. He was taken to a Mansfield hospital, where he is expected to recover.

According to reports, the accident occurred when McLaughlin maneuvered for a landing. A short distance from the airport he dodged a tree and sent his airplane into a nose dive to the ground.

"PEACE"
Next Sunday marks the birthday of "Peace." It is with a mingled feeling of joy and grief that many of us meet this day. We all have a right to feel this way. Maybe some of our friends or relatives have died or been killed in that great struggle. We were overwhelmed with joy upon learning of this day and we voiced our feelings to the world. But all of us thanked our Maker that day for ending a struggle of world magnitude, and ask Him to take the dead into his care.

Ten years coming Sunday the news of Peace spread out over the shell torn, battle wastes, and the mud bespattered, bloodstreaked warriors ceased their gruesome activity. Tears of joy and sadness rolled down the cheeks of those loyal sons, but this was nothing in comparison to those that were shed back home. Returning soldiers marched down the streets of large cities while cheering mobs greeted them, but the eyes of those who were turned heavenily thanking the good "Lord" for the safe return of those men and hoping that the dead were marching on a higher more elevated road for they would never march on the roads of the world again. Thoughts of that bloody struggle causes a straining, clutching, grip to tighten on our throat. If we could only abolish this terrible life robber and establish world peace we would be able to express our feelings. But this can be accomplished and its up to us to do it.

Next Sunday let's all of us bow our heads in meditation asking our Father to help us to abolish this menace and establish what the world needs, World Peace. R.N.H. '29.

The fourth annual Prince of Peace Declaration contest will be held at the Presbyterian Church on Armistice Day, November 11th, 1928. Following are the declarations to be presented:

"Peace Triumphant," by Helen B. Montgomery. Ethel Beard

CHAPEL
Mr. J. B. Derr gave us a very interesting and inspiring speech at chapel service last Wednesday morning. His subject was on the "Parable of the Talents." In his talk he compared three stone cutters to the three men receiving the talents.

Upon being asked what they were doing the first stone cutter replied: "I am cutting stone." The second replied: "I am working for seven dollars and fifty cents a day." The third stone cutter answered: "I am building a cathedral where people may worship God."

The first and second stone cutters were like the man who received one talent and buried it. But the third stone cutter was like the man who received two talents and gained two more.

Mr. Derr expressed the hope that we might all be like the third stone cutter and not as the first or second. M. P. '30

BIG PARTY FOR UPPER CLASSMEN

Doris and Ruth Feaner were the hostesses at a Halloween party in their home. The guests were the Juniors, the Seniors, the Faculty and their wives and husbands. This was a new event for the High School students, and naturally caused much excitement and preparation.

The house was decorated effectively. A huge fire in the fireplace, owls, cats, witches, and other spirits suggestive of Halloween. As for the costumes, one could not begin to describe them! The effect was very colorful indeed. There was a lot of sport in trying to recognize the various guests and in trying to disguise oneself. We must say, there were some clever disguises. Devils, witches, ghosts, clowns and old ladies and gentlemen displayed themselves at this gathering of spirits.

The evening was spent in various games and contests. It was very exciting to watch members of the faculty give warpoons, roll chestnuts across the floor with their noses and perform many acrobatic stunts!

SEVENTH GRADE

Seventh graders had a practical hygiene lesson Friday when different pupils demonstrated first aid. Among the things shown were bandaging a finger at the end or in the middle; putting on splints and putting an arm in a sling; making a tourniquet and artificial respiration.

The pupils are making maps of South America as part of a geography project. These maps will show graphically the population, temperature and rainfall areas as well as physical and political divisions.

Many pupils in the room have been absent with the grippe. We are glad they can be back in school again.

EIGHTH GRADE REPORT

For the past two weeks we have the "Tennis Tests and Practice Sheets" in Arithmetic Class. We like them very much. In geography we have finished Europe and are now on Asia. We also drew maps of that country. Our history class changed rooms with the Commercial arithmetic class. We are now in Room 5 and the Commercial arithmetic class in the portable. We are also making an essay on United States history.

The person who is really capable of friendship never lacks friends.—Woman's Home Companion.

As a new dressing for the turkey this year the writer suggests a loaf of raisin bread as a base, adding stock, celery, onions, oysters and nuts, and then steaming for twenty minutes before stuffing the turkey. It is said to be advisable to allow twenty minutes per pound of turkey, in the matter of cooking, at a temperature searing should be used, as turkey skin toughens more easily than that of any other fowl. Above all things those preparing the Thanksgiving Day dinner are cautioned against too much heat.
