COLUMBUS VOTES ON AIRPORT ISSUE

Ohio's capital city, Columbus, is about to take its place as one of the most prominent air centers of the mid west, following adoption at the recent elections of an airport bond issue for $50,000. Col Linbergh, Clarence Chamberlin, Amos Earhart, General Fochet, commander-in-chief of the army air corps, and scores of other noted flyers, have given their approval to the site selected, which is adjacent to the army reserve depot, northeast of the city. The tract will embrace nearly 1000 acres when completed. As soon as the port is placed in shape, Transcontinental Air Transport, a train-plane combination passenger service, will use the field as its eastern air terminal, and various feeder and other long routes will also make the port their headquarters.

Aviation Laws

Aviation is expected to play a prominent part in the deliberations of the next general assembly which convenes the first week in January. At the last session, a joint committee was appointed to draw up an aviation code for the state, and this has been completed, according to David S. Ingalls, Cleveland, chairman of the committee, the only avial flyer to receive the congressional medal of honor during the world war. The code to be presented for adoption follows very closely the regulations of the United States department of commerce, which have done much to provide for safety of pilots and passengers.

COUNTY DOG WARDEN MOVES TO NORWALK

F. B. Clark, county dog warden has moved his family consisting of his wife and three children from Plymouth to No. 31 Woodlawn avenue. The family will be warmly welcomed to the city.

RED CROSS SEALS

This year, the entire quota of Red Cross Christmas Seals has been sent to the school authorities. Any of the pupils will bring them to you. Because we do not think it befitting the dignity of such a worthy cause, we are not asking the pupils to "peddle" these seals, but are asking you to send your money to the teachers by the pupils, who will deliver your seals to you. This will assure you fresh seals which have not been soiled by handling.

This year's seals are especially attractive and will worthily adorn any Christmas tree. And don't forget that these seals represent one of the worthiest causes humanity knows, the suppression and cure of human suffering.

Plymouth has always taken its full quota of these seals. Last year, we asked for a new supply which was also taken, making Plymouth leader of the County Schools, (not including Mansfield and Shelby.) Let us keep our excellent record.

WHAT'S THE DIRT ON YOUR FARM

Perhaps the dirtiest job ever undertaken will be the check up on the dirt or soil of the whole United States that is planned by the United States Department of Agriculture and agricultural agencies of the states, according to the National Farm News Exchange. We have a rather accurate knowledge of the mineral resources of the country through government surveys and now it appears that we will have as complete information about the soils of our farm. More than half of the agricultural area of the country has already been covered to establish facts about the quality of farm lands. The results of this work will be available to every farmer in the country who will be able to tell what crops are most suitable for his land.

Bodey of Willard and two friends met with what might have been a fatal accident on the hill just north of the bridge at Ganges. These people were on their way to Mansfield and J. R. Bodey was driving, when according to report, he lost control of the machine, which turned over twice finally landing in the ditch against a telephone pole, pinning Mr. Bodey underneath. A summons for L. L. McQuate's ambulance, was responded to promptly by Mr. McQuate who in a very short time with the assistance of I. T. Pittenger had them at the doctor's office in Willard and then later removed them to the Bodey home. Mr. Bodey was badly bruised and the other man had several ribs broken. The women escaped with only slight bruises, and the car was a total wreck.

DEATH OF YOUNG WOMAN

SHILOH — Word was received by relatives here of the death of Mrs. Dwight Ferrell at Charity hospital in Cleveland at 2:30 Monday morning. Mrs. Ferrell was stricken with pneumonia about nine weeks ago and that followed by an abscess, caused her death.

Mrs. Ferrell was only 23 years of age and besides her parents and husband, leaves a little son four years old. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 from her late home in Cleveland and burial was made at that place. While Mrs. Ferrell was not so well known here, her husband was born and raised in this community and has a host of friends and relatives who sorrow with him in his great loss.

JACKSON BEVIER PASSES AWAY

Jackson Bevier, son of Caleb and Cornelia Brinkerhoff Bevier, was born in Plymouth, Richland County, Ohio, on November 23rd 1854 and died on December 7th, 1928 at the age of 74 years and 14 days.

On March 9th, 1851 he was united in marriage to Nancy Seal Leppo who passed from this life, March 2nd, 1925. Into this home were born three children, Cornelia of Plymouth, Frank who died in infancy and Nellie, Margaret, wife of Wallace E. Smith of Plymouth. These two daughters and one granddaughter, together with a large number of relatives and friends mourn his leave taking. Four sisters and two brothers preceded him in death. A brother, R. C. Bevier of Shelby and a sister, Miss Isabel Bevier of Urbana Illinois also survive him.

Most of Mr. Bevier's life was spent on a farm near Plymouth. About eight years ago the family moved to Plymouth where they found a welcome in the community. The outstanding traits by which the deceased will continue to live in the memories of those who know him, were his integrity, his honesty, his faith in his fellowmen that enabled him all ways to spend himself for others.

EDITORIAL NEWS AND COMMENT

The government finally has abandoned its effort to collect $30,000,000 additional taxes from former stockholders of the Ford Motor Company, prominent among them whom is Senator Couzens of Michigan. Assertions that the suit was unwarranted would seem to be borne out by the fact that the government was defeated both in the federal courts and before the Board and Tax Appeals. Taxes had been levied and collected and apparently the case was closed in 1922. Five years later the government suddenly moved to collect the additional sums, contending that Senator Couzens was obligated some $1,000,000. Couzens and Secretary Mellon were at the moment engaged in a heated controversy over the conduct of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Couzens charging that it was badly administered and that favoritism was shown certain large taxpayers. When the tax suit was filed charges were made on the Senate floor that Mellon was endeavoring to crush his critic. The outcome of the treasury's effort would assure taxpayers that the government will find it difficult to cast overboard settlements made and approved by its own agents after a lapse of time.

Have you noticed how many boys and girls are coming in after school these days and asking Mother if they can't do something to help her?

Reports from Secretary of Labor James J. Davis to President Coolidge, relative to the employment situation in the United States are sufficiently convincing. We are in the worst and most deplorable unemployment this winter will be considerably less than in past years. While complete details of the secretary's survey are not ready for publication, it is no secret that it will show a well sustained employment in the largest industries and cogenerable gain in others. Preliminary reports for the first part of November add to the general optimism in revealing still further improvement in employment in many of the country's principal factories. Everlast activity which it may be the best work is the logical corollary to the sound business conditions which are everywhere apparent to department of labor specialists.

Startling disclosures have been expected from the investigation of the Titanic. It may even be proven that the ship sank because it leaked.

A prominent United States Attorney says with a force of 1200 men at his disposal, (most of course) he could dry up any city of a million people so effectively that it would be hard to buy a drink. Such a declaration would imply that prohibition enforcement is a task beyond control of the present fed equipment. At this ration it would take a dry enforcement army of 14,000 to enforce prohibition in the nation. This would be a city of more men than are in the present standing army. When a law requires that many men to enforce it the inference is that a large proportion of the population is not convinced of its necessity. Friends of prohibition would probably gain more by relying more on education than on force.

Poison booze says the head of the department of Health of Illinois, caused the deaths of 1000 persons in that state last year Illinois is slipping. Why "good" whiskey used to kill that many in Chicago alone.

At the West Virginia penitentiary is a prisoner named Clyde Beale sentenced to be hanged next May 11. Beale was convicted for killing Mrs. Russell Purdue by a jury in Mingo county which returned a verdict of first degree murder without recommendation for mercy. The presiding judge, Robert D. Bailey, refused to sentence the defendant because he was convinced that the man was innocent. Although directed by the state supreme court to pass sentence, Judge Bailey whose term of office expires January 1st, has remained adamant and it has been necessary to draft the services of a special judge to impose the death sentence. The situation is unique in court annals.

While the usual complaint voiced by critics of American justice is that juries are too lenient and that it is the judge who often stands as a bulwark against the undermining of the law by rampant sentiment.

AS THE TWIG IS BENT

According to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., it is a good thing for any boy to work his way up from the bottom. And Mr. Rockefeller adds: "I have sometimes regretted that I did not have that sort of a chance, and I have coveted it for my boys."

Bringing up children is one of the things to which the younger Mr. Rockefeller has given a great deal of thought and attention. He sums up his conclusions on the matter in the current issue of The American Magazine as follows:

"The essence of the problem, it seems to me, is this: that the will of the parents should not be arbitrarily imposed upon the child. Until the age of eight or ten, it is impossible to discuss the reason for many things, but after that parental guidance can increasingly take the form of discussion and suggestion.

"Children should be helped to form the habit of doing things for themselves—things that need to be done—whether they like to do them or not. I think that many children of today are not developing the will power and self-mastery that are essential to the

OBITUARY

Jennie E. daughter of Cornelius and Angeline Bodine, was born near Plymouth, Ohio, April 7th, 1845.

Her early life was spent at the Bodine homestead. In the year 1864, she united in marriage with William E. Schiffer. Her companion preceded her into the Great Beyond, in the year 1888.—Since that time she made her home with her brother, Guy Bodine. Twenty-four years ago, she was stricken with blindness. Her affliction she bore with Christian patience. In her brother's home everything was done to make her life cheerful, and especially, during her declining years. To her brother, she remarked recently, "As I pass on, you may drop a tear, but do not worry."
At the Bodine homestead where she first saw the light of day, she closed her life and peacefully entered into rest, December 5th, 1928, at the age of 83 years, 7 months and 23 days. She leaves to mourn her departure, her brother, Guy Bodine and a host of friends.

When a light on the path going downward
The feet of the righteous shod;
When we thought with faith unshrinking
She came to the Jordan's side,
And taking the hand of the Savior,
Went up on the other side.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CIRCLE

The circle met with Mrs. Gaskill, December 7th, for their annual Christmas party. Being so early in the month, it was not easy to feel the Holiday spirit, but the weather man aided by giving us a cold, snappy night, with snow flurries. Every member, except one who was unavoidably detained, was present, also, as guests, were: Miss Mary Catherine Helfer of Shelby; Mrs. Stacy Brown, Miss Grace Trimmer and Marian Ruth Nimmons.

The following program was given: "What Christmas Means to Me" by William Leon Phelps; Miss Jessie Trauger: "The Legend of the Christmas Rose" Miss Rilla Trauger: "A Christmas Legend of Hamelin Town" by Contags—by Dawson, Mrs. Sewille. Miss Helfer, accompanied by Miss Trimmer, rendered two vocal solos, which were much appreciated.

The house was tastefully decorated in keeping with the season, and after the program there was a snowball skrimish. Each ball contained a name, which corresponded with the one on your Christmas gift. The hostess served dainty refresh-

GREENWICH RESIDENT'S POEM

TO BE SET TO MUSIC
GREENWICH, O.—Another success has come to Mrs. Elizabeth B. Snyder, of Greenwich, Stock Company repertoire, vaudeville, nursing, were the professions of Mrs. Snyder's early accomplishments. But her newest victory has led her into the musical world. Her poem "Daddy's Vacant Chair" which has been accepted and copyrighted by a Chicago firm, is being set to music.

Mrs. Snyder has been writing for a number of years. Her first poem, "Mother is Different From the Rest" was accepted by the Literary Digest a number of years ago and other poems from her pen have appeared in various periodicals.

Mrs. Snyder is a native of Greenwich. She is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kinsey. Mrs. Snyder was married at the age of 20 to Lee Brewer and after residing in Norwalk for a short time she and her husband went to Toledo, where Mrs.

Snyder took private instructions in elocution. Her aptitude for the dramatic took her and her talented husband to the stage together. In a short time their joint ability attracted the attention of the theatrical world and under the management of Hall Hottel the couple became members of a six character cast for the four-act drama "By the World Forsaken." Mrs. Snyder took a lead and Mr. Brewer was in the comedy role. Their success in the play drew them an offer from Keith's circuit for whom they played during four years. The falling health of the couple to retire and they returned to Toledo where Mr. Brewer died in 1922.

Following her husband's death, Mrs. Snyder studied nursing and she was equally as successful in her new profession as she had been in her theatrical work. She was head nurse of the Auto Light Hospital in Toledo, and later she became head of the nurses in the C. E. B. Linscom Co.

In 1925, Mrs. Snyder returned to Greenwich and became the bride of Leland Burder, a sweetheart of her school days in the village. Together the homestead, Mrs. Snyder's aged father resides with them. He was one of the earliest schoolmasters in this village and was loved by his pupils for his sense of justice and his thorough knowledge and ability as a teacher. Many of his former students still reside in this vicinity.

The Kinsey homestead is one of the show places of this village. The majority of the furniture furnishings of the home are aged articles of the early pioneer days and have great value as antiques. Mrs. Snyder's originality and love of beauty have transformed the homestead into a charming home and her personality and accomplishments have made her a pleasing hostess to this community.

Passenger Increase

COLUMBUS, O.—Railroad passenger agents declare that the flow of traffic to Southern states from Ohio is starting earlier than usual this year with indications that it will be the greatest in the history of the route. Rates lower than ever are to be given those who want to invade the South with a prospect of locating there and "home seekers" excursion rates have already gone into effect. This is especially true to traffic to Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and other states bordering on the Gulf of Mexico. Florida traffic is not expected to enjoy a rush until after the holidays.

Cradle Song of Noel

JOHN ADDINGTON SYMONDS in Family Herald and Star

Sleep, baby, sleep! The father sings: Heaven's angels kneel and fold their wings.

Sleep, baby, sleep!

Edith snatches of sweets has she had? My Mary's hand at eh, was spread.

Sleep, baby, sleep!

'Til midnight came the shepherds, their lanterns scintillate by the way.

Sleep, baby, sleep!

And three kings from the East star came laden came guided by the star.

Sleep, baby, sleep!

They brought thee gift of gold and gems, Pure Orient pearls, rich diamonds.

Sleep, baby, sleep!

But then who first sumbringer there, The King of kings, east, west, and air.

Sleep, baby, sleep!

Sleep, baby, sleep! The shepherds sing: Through barren, through earth, bosommas ring.

Sleep, baby, sleep!

Yule Was Pagan Feast

Christmas and Yuletide are said to be in reality two distinct festivals, the latter originally being a pagan feast in honor of the sun gods. It dates back to long before the Christian era. Yuletide was celebrated about December 22, and when the festival of Christmas was instituted on December 25, the name of the older feast gradually became synonymous.—Montreal Herald

Spread Holiday Joy

Holiday decorations spread more cheer if they extend into the yard and garden. A living Christmas tree with its lights is enjoyed by all the passers-by while sprays of bitterness around the sundial, with wreaths over the window and plenty of cheery window decorations being holiday cheer.

WONDER WHY?

Sue—Aren't you going to kiss me under the mistletoe?
 How-hey! Each make it behind the tree instead.

Born on Christmas Day
 In Ireland it is believed that the baby boys born on Christmas day are thereby destined to become priests. Beyond that, those born on Christmas day were believed to have the power of "healing" by the laying on of hands, and to be gifted with "second sight".—Montreal Herald

January 6 as Christmas Day
 Recent investigators incline to the belief that in fixing January 6 as Christmas day, the early Christians were not very far out, for January 11 could seem to be the correct day.—Montreal Herald tors, not of The Advertiser.

Editor Advertiser:—

I feel you deserve a word of commendation for the item entitled "Sugar and Cigarettes" in last week's issue of Advertiser. So many editors are afraid to write a line against the popular fad of smoking cigarettes.
The W. C. T. U., through Anti-Narcotic Dept., has been fighting the use of tobacco in all forms and the deadly cigaret in particular for many years, and I think if many parents knew the State law which prohibits the sale of these things to minors they would perhaps be more ready to help put a stop to the sale of them to their own boys and perhaps girls.

It seems the State law is being flagrantly violated by some dealers in Plymouth, and in order that the parents may be informed on this subject the children of the school are being given copies of the State law in leaflet form, and that those who have no children in school may also know the law, a copy of same is given here.

Sec. 1295. Whoever sells, gives or furnishes to a person under eighteen years of age a cigarette, cigarette wrapper or substitute for either, or a cigar or tobacco, shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars or imprisoned not less than two days nor more than thirty days or both and for each subsequent offense, shall be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than three hundred dollars and imprisoned not less than five days nor more than sixty days.

The State law requires that each dealer in above named articles must have a copy of this law displayed in a conspicuous place in a building where this business is carried on.

The dealer who violates a State law which carries a prison sentence for first violation is committing a serious offense.

If some druggist was selling Arsenic or Strychnine to the youth of our community and encouraging the use of it in small doses, the whole community would rise up in protest; yet nightly in twenty times more readily than either of these and we sit quiet-our fellow citizens is plainly of the Utopian character.

We are all citizens of our community. It is the truth that we do not all admit the qualifications of all our neighbors. One has this fault, another that one.
But in one respect we should all agree. We should have a pride in the youth of the community above all other prides. That pride is easily obtained or killed by the youth or by some of our fellow citizens who do not seek to bolster up the standard but deliberately commercialize the desires of the youth.
These may be plain words. But the fact is so apparent that the case demands not only this but also drastic action. It is a community problem that we all see or sense.
It is not an uncommon sight on the streets of Plymouth to see a boy in his early teens furtively, and often times boldly, puffing away on a cigarette. Where does this boy get them? Do not our laws prohibit the sale of and the gift of these things to minors? Isn't there some way in which this traffic may be stopped?
It is common knowledge in the community that boys of school age cheap-en and debase themselves with any of these things. Neither does it tend cause to point with pride to my own community as a model.
When the community recognizes these problems and takes action to eliminate them, then and only then may we have pride in the community but also in our fellow citizens, and our youth.

The Parson's Column

As I sat meditating the other day, this question presented itself: "Where in did Jesus more fully reveal the nature of God to the world." My final conclusion might be summed up in the Master's words, "When ye pray,

Our Father."
The world has had many and varied conceptions of deity. God as a creator, God as a despot, God's whose character were as fickle as human caprice, a God of a single nation, a God of holiness, a God demanding righteousness of his believers, etc., such had been some of the concepts of the supernatural up to the advent of the Messiah.
When he came to fulfill the Fathers will and declare the day of salvation to the children of men he gave to the world a new thought of God. A God who was greatly concerned about the welfare of the supreme beings his creative powers had produced. A God who "so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son that whosoever believeeth on him shall not perish but have everlasting life."
A God whose love is the love of a father not a King for his subjects.
The King loves those who cultivate his favor and do his will but Jesus says God love his children even as the father loves the prodigal son.
From this concept of God has grown the doctrine of the brotherhood of man of which we hear so much of these days and upon which so many dreams of world peace are founded.
But let us not forget that, brotherhood came subsequent to divine fatherhood and the spirit of brotherhood comes only with the knowledge of the spiritual fatherhood of God.

HARDER WORK WON'T STOP THESE LEAKS

That harder work and more of it is all the farmer needs in the way of farm relief, is a cherished belief in some non-agricultural quarters. He which as it may, C. R. Arnold of the rural economics department of the Ohio State University, points out that the farmer is doing some things which are cutting down his gross income and which cannot be remedied by working harder.
 Among these money-losing practices is that of milking scrub cows which average about 135 pounds of butterfat annually and hardly pay for their er. Thou wilt never leave us nor feed, instead of milking 300-pound producers which would return a profit be just as easy to milk, and require little extra feed.

Another is the practice of selling cream when everybody else is selling it and the price is low, from the cows which have freshened in the spring instead of in the fall.
 Still another trick is taking seed corn at random from the feed bin in the spring, instead of selecting it from the field in the fall, storing it in a dry place, testing it for germination, and planting only the best of the corn. Experiments at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station showed that the farmer could make $5.50 an hour as wages for simply testing his seed corn for germination and planting the high-germinating ears.

"Are my boots in?" "Is my talking 'dolly there?'" Reverend Dalton bent low over the box making a pretense of examining its contents more closely, but in reality trying to hide his face.
 Finally, there being no further excuse for delay, he took out the only thing which the box contained—a large merchandise catalogue.
 "I cannot understand; there must be some mistake here," he said, turning over the leaves absentmindedly. As he did so a letter dropped to the floor. Picking it up he read:
 "We are sure you are tired of getting old things year after year. We planned to sell all the rummage sale all the cast-off garments usually kept for the box. We got over so many more things, too, and a big successful sale, and are sending you a check for $100 to buy the things you most want.

 "Because you are away out on the frontier and cannot get to stores we are sending you the merchandise catalogue. With best wishes for the merriest Christmas ever, we are,
 "The Girls of the Sunshine Class."
 As the missionary and his wife watched the eager, happy faces of their children as they did their shopping from the big book a deep sense of happiness came over their hearts.
 "Do you know, dear," said the mother of the happy brood, "I can't help feeling that God was in that box."
 "Of course He was," said Reverend Dalton reverently.

THE BOX THAT GOD WAS IN

By Alice Crowell Hoffman

"DO YOU think, mother, that the Christmas box this year might have a pair of red-topped boots in it?" asked the frontier missionary's little wife earnestly.
 "I hope so, dear, but we must be glad for whatever it contains," was the tender and cautious reply.
 "But, mother, it's awfully hard to be thankful for old clothes that don't fit," put in the daughter of the household. "How wonderful it would be to pick out what one liked!"
 "Do you think I'll get my dolly that talks this year?" questioned wee Dot.
 "Hush, children, hush, here comes

"I cannot understand," father with the missionary box bow you must be glad for anything you get," urged mother bravely.
 Reverend Dalton pried open the lid of the box wondering all the while, as did the rest of his household, why it should be so much smaller than usual.
 "Mother, did her best to prevent her little brood from hurrying the kind on, understanding heart of their father, but in spite of her best efforts, they blurted out their heart-rendering question:

The Purse-Strings were wide open... when this great new car was planned.

Designing an automobile . . . too often a process of discarding desirable features because of their cost. But not so in the New All-American. The purse-strings were wide open when this great car was planned . . . An example. The New All-American bodies by Fisher including the Convertible Cabriolet and the Landauet Sedan. More costly for Oakland to use on its cars? Certainly! But also more beautiful. More sturdy. More advanced in luxury and style . . . Another example, Oakland's internal-expanding four-wheel brakes. Cost more than ordinary brakes? To be sure! But also brakes better. Require less attention. Guard against mud and water and ice. They're more positive in action. More silent. More satisfactory in every respect. . . No wonder it's creating such a furor . . . considering the unprecedented quality it provides. Considering that it's the creation of skilled engineers unhampered by the necessity of skimping . . . that it's a new and even finer All-American Six!

AVOID THE SHADOWS

STARVING for the joy of giving—that is perhaps the starkest form of poverty of the Christmas season. To dispel the shadow, to bring the shadow of a cloud into small expectant faces—this is tragedy indeed. The restriction of penitence falls heavily upon the would-be-giver. It hurts—being kept from the role of Santa Claus. No tin soldiers for the little man, no dolly for the little mother, no fine foods with which to load small stomachs—these are the negatives which scratch the souls of mothers and fathers who are being beaten by life—Holland's Magazine.

STORING WATER WITH STRAW

Ever since and ages before Moses smote the rock with his staff to make water pour forth, herdsmen and cultivators of the soil have been up against the problem of getting enough good water, says the editor of BETTER CROPS. Dams have done the job in some places and pools in other regions. Now comes the news that western herdsmen in the desert range use straw to store up a supply of water. These men put a heavy layer of straw over snowdrifts to delay melting. The result is that the slow melting snow dribbles away over the range at a time when rainfall has slackened and lives up the grasses as it sinks into the thirsty soil.

Oxalic acid crystals dissolved in hot water will bleach discolored wood surfaces that are to be varnished. The solution is poisonous.

Dear Santa: Will you please send me a train on a track, a fire engine, a wheel barrow, some candy, pop corn balls, that is all. Don't forget I live in the country. Junior Sillman

THE P. H. S. POST

Vol. III Published in the Interest of the Plymouth Schools

Students of P. H. S. Do you appreciate the privilege of student government. If you do, the way to show it is by cooperating with the faculty in carrying out the rules already made. If proper respect is shown to such rules the faculty has promised that they will soon turn the matter of making laws over to the students themselves. This is the last year that we will occupy the old building along with the grades. Let's fall in line, high school pupils, and show them how much we desire student government, and next year we may rule ourselves in the new high school.

One could hardly expect that our newly organized Debate Club would be able to produce a team who could defeat veterans in their first encounter. However, our team did credit to P. H. S. at LaRue last week and gained valuable experience used for future forensic engagements.

The subject discussed is a live one. "Resolved that the U. S. should cease to protect by force of arms, capital invested in foreign countries except after a formal declaration of war."

The following account of the trip is given by the debaters:—

The team was accompanied by our coach and a few interested people from Plymouth. The LaRue people were very kind to us and made us as comfortable as possible in their new High School building. We were very much impressed by the conditions in their high school. Their heating is new and well equipped.

"During the debate the greatest consideration was shown for the two teams and not a whisper was heard. We found that LaRue has a very progressive school. In the hall we noticed two banners, showing that they had taken first place in the Literary Contests of Marion county for the past two years."

"After the debate a delightful reception was given in the Home Economics department of the High School. This reception was for the victors, the judges, the LaRue team and coach."

P. H. S. QUINTETTE TAKES

TWO GAMES

Friday night, Willard Hi's basket-overs ventured within range of the Pilgrim's guns and were sent home defeated. The final score was 33-6. From the starting whistle to the final gun Willard was entirely outclassed. Willard's six points were the result of two field goals and two free throws. Five of their six points were made in first half showing that Plymouth Hi's team is like the automobile that "the engine improves with use." At half-time the score stood 18-5 with Plymouth leading. Hatch was high scorer with 11 points.

PLYMOUTH DEFEATS SHILOH

Saturday night the Pilgrims did a little venturing themselves. They went to Shiloh and quietly came home with more points than their belts. That the right one really isn't put to exactly the right use there because the dressing room after that game was anything but quiet. The final score was 19-18 with Plymouth at the long end. It was nip and tuck through the whole game. At the half the score was 10-8 in favor of Plymouth. This is one victory Plymouth wanted and wanted badly.

More than one Shiloh person said that Plymouth's teamwork was better than Shiloh's. Barber held high score with 9 points.

Our next game is with Adario at Adario on Friday, December 14. If you are going and taking a car let someone in the High School know as we would like to take along some rosters to back up the team.

FIFTH GRADE NEWS

We learned a Christmas song this week. Audrey Dimmer brought us a picture of Santa Claus and his reindeer. The Fifth grade are going to have a Christmas play. We are interested in the Plymouth Safety Club and some of the fifth grade went to Uncle Bob at K. Y. W. Chicago, Ill., to join his. We are measuring our writing according to size. We have received our Junior Red Cross magazine for this month. The children always read this magazine very much. News Reporter—Anna Mae Lindie

SIXTH GRADE

We dramatized "Twelve Months," for English. It turned out very well. Alphine Doyle was elected health officer. We hope the pupils won't get many marks (for not bringing handkerchiefs and not brushing teeth). A few pupils have had their Safety Club pins taken away on account of "Jay walking."

JEAN CURPEN

JOKES

The history class was discussing the word fugitive; when Mildred broke out with "I'm a fugitive."
Mr. Jenkins: "I don't believe you understand the word, Mildred. It does not merely mean one being pursued."

The World News was thought lost, but recently Mr. Jenkins found them and brought them to class telling us he had found the "World News."
Liver "Gosh, but that's bad news."

Mr. Jenkins "What was the first state to secede?"
Doris "South California."

After asking to speak to Herald Mary was refused, but nevertheless she took the privilege when Mr. Derr wasn't looking and when he gave her permission she declared promptly, "I did."

The Physics class was discussing the space about the sun and the probable occupants of that space.
Mr. Reed "Wade, what kind of light is found about any burning body?"
Wade "Smoke."

The utilities of a city are combined in your motor car

YOUR automobile is something like a miniature city. There is an electric light and power system, a water system, a fuel system.

In the new Ford, you will find each of these systems of the latest design and best materials. Every part has been made to serve you faithfully and well at a minimum of trouble and expense.

Take, for example, the generator—one of the most important parts of the electrical system which supplies the current for lighting and for engine ignition.

In the new Ford, the generator is of the power-house type and is distinctive in many features. It has been specially designed to prevent most forms of trouble. Oiling is necessary only once a year. About the only thing you need do is to have the charging rate changed as the seasons change.

Closely allied to the electrical system is the ignition system. It, too, is of new mechanical design in the new Ford. There is but one high tension cable and that connects the coil with the distributor. Even cables from the distributor to the spark plugs have been eliminated. Special care has also been taken to make the distributor water-proof, thus preventing short circuits from rain, etc.

The entire electrical and ignition systems of the new Ford are so simple in design and so carefully made that they will give you surprisingly little trouble. Yet that doesn't mean they should be neglected. Certain little attentions are needed from time to time.

The storage battery should be given water and the connections kept clean. The generator charging rate should be changed as indicated. Spark plugs should be cleaned at regular intervals. Distributor points should also be kept clean and the distributor cam given a light film of vaseline every 2000 miles.

These are just little things, but they mean a great deal to your car. You can have them looked after for very small cost by the Ford dealer when you take the car in for oiling and greasing.

A thorough check-up at regular intervals will lengthen the life of your car and give you many thousands of miles of carefree, economical motoring.

EGYPTIAN TREE

THE Christmas tree, which has become an almost universal symbol, and is by most persons supposed to have originated in Germany, seems to have had something of a counterpart in Egypt at a period long before the Christian era. The palm tree is known to put forth a branch every month, and a spray of this tree, with twelve shoots on it, was used in Egypt at the time of the winter solstice, as a symbol of the year completed.

Dipping-up milk is out of date . . .
Yet ordinary milk-caps are almost as dangerous

REMEMBER the old corner grocery store that used to sell milk by dipping it out of a big can. . . How it used to catch dust and tobacco ashes and sometimes flies.

Yet if an ordinary milk-bottle is left on your door-step, a cat can lick the rim before you take the bottle inside. An exposed rim is a ready source of contamination by animals, dust and dirty hands.

We want you to be certain that our milk is pure and good when you drink it. So we have adopted Seal-Kaps for our bottles. Seal-Kaps cover the entire pouring surface. No dirt or germs can get on the sterilized lip.

Seal-Kaps can be removed and replaced easily. No sharp instruments necessary. No milk flying onto your clothes. Afterwards, Seal-Kaps make a handy—and safe—little cover until all of the milk is used.

That's the guesswork out of your milk-sterilizing. Order your first Seal-Kapped bottle tomorrow morning.
