SHILOH WOMAN FOUND DEAD

This entire community was shocked Monday evening when the news of the finding of the dead body of Miss Emma Cleland was flashed over the wires from friend to friend. Miss Cleland for a few years has made her home on the second floor of the N. J. McBride building on East Main street. She was missed from her accustomed place at church Sunday morning, and on Monday by Mrs. Ida Lattener, a cousin and nearest neighbor. Mrs. Lattener becoming alarmed, went in the evening about 5 o'clock to the Glasgow home and, with Mr. and Mrs. Glasgow, Alto Brumback and son Robert, went to Miss Cleland's home and made an investigation and found that Miss Cleland was dead. The door was forced open, and coroner Dr. B. C. Schreiber was called, and pronounced the cause of death, acute indigestion, and from indications that she had passed away Sunday. Miss Cleland has been a life long resident of this community, with the exception of several weeks each year since the death of her brother, being spent with her relatives in Mansfield and Gallon. She has been a member of the M. E. church nearly all her life, a teacher of the women's class in the church school many years, and a charter member of the missionary society. A quiet unassuming, good Christian woman, who, as one of her friends said, had never made an enemy. She was the daughter of Amarah and Ellen Stewart Cleland, and was born Sept. 6, 1855, and leaves her immediate family one sister, Mrs. J. S. Marlow of Mansfield, and two brothers, Ezra E. Cleland of Mansfield and Dr. H. W. Cleland of Gallon. The body was moved to I. L. McQuate's mortuary for burial preparation. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the M. E. church by Rev. E. B. McDermott. The body was laid to rest in Mt. Hope cemetery.

THE NEAR EASY RELIEF

A committee from the District Council of Religious Education made the annual canvass of Plymouth for the Near East Relief on last Sunday afternoon. The committee report that they met with a generous response for this worthy object in helping war orphans across the seas. The committee was selected from the young people of the three churches, the canvass was made a community effort. The committee desire to thank all who contributed for the Near East Relief.

PLANNING HUNTING TRIP

Henry Newmyer of Plymouth and Ben VanZee of Colerainville intend to make a hunting trip to Maine for deer and moose. They have friends there and will stay two weeks. They are informed that moose and deer are plentiful and are sure of bagging the limit.

MISS VANZEE AND EVERETT WILSON

Ben VanZee and Everett Wilson were successful hunting trip to Pennsylvania last year. They are experienced moon hunters but the game is getting scarce in this section so they are going after big game.

FLAG PRESENTED

The Daughters of Union Veterans of Shelby presented the Plymouth Girl Scouts with a new flag and Standard on Monday evening, November 26. This same organization had also presented the High School Athletic Field at Shelby with a new flag on the month. They are now getting busy to raise their apportionment of funds toward the new band stand, which will be erected this coming summer in the State Home for Veterans at Sandusky.

MADE FLIGHTS HERE

Elmer Parsel, who has been attending an aviation school at Cincinnati, and who is now an instructor, was home a few days last week for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parsel.

Elmer Parsel journeyed to Plymouth in one of the company's planes, and while here he was kept busy making flights. Many local people got their first thrill in the air, and young Parsel was praised by many for the way he handled his plane. His skill was shown last Friday for he would soar up into the air and loop the loop, and do many other stunts as well that always would draw a crowd to the streets to watch him.

After spending Thanksgiving vacation with his parents, Elmer was shown last Friday for Cincinnati where he will resume his work as instructor.

ENJOY VACATION

Miss Zetta Brooks of Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brooks during Thanksgiving vacation Saturday afternoon and evening she entertained Misses Glenna Baltzell and Geraldine Smith.

ADD IMP MEETINGS GD

The Loyalters Sunday School class of the M. E. church will have a covered dish supper and class meeting at 5:30 p.m. Thursday at the M. E. church. All members are urged to come.

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Paga, on Sandusky street, next Thursday, December 12, at 2:30 p.m.

Ladies are asked to note the change in date from the regular meeting day. These meetings are always open to everybody.

PROGRAM WELL ATTENDED

The Thanksgiving service, at the Presbyterian church, last Thursday evening was well attended. It was a community service. After the service, it seemed very much like a home-coming. As a number of folks who have been away from Plymouth for a number of years, were present and greeted each other and renewed acquaintances. A generous offering was taken for local charity. The committee who have charge of this work were reappointed for the next year.

ON VACATION

Mrs. Helen Polak is enjoying a rest, after vacation from her duties at the State Cycle Company.

QUEEN ESTHER CIRCLE TO HOLD PROGRAM

On Sunday evening, December 9, a program will be held at the Methodist Church at 7:30.

Mrs. Hammerschmidt, Supt. of Young People of Newark district, will be the speaker for the evening. Also a concert play will be given by members of the Circle.

A silver offering will be taken at the close of the program.

Come, and show your interest in the work of the Queen Esthers. "I thank you!"

BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. Joe Bevier presided as hostess to two tables of bridge Friday evening at her home on West Broadway.

At the conclusion of the game Miss Mary Jo Fate held high score and Miss Helen Polak consolation.

A lovely lunch was served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

ILL

Mr. Ralph Hoffman is confined home with an attack of quincy.

TIFFIN ASSURED FISH HATCHERY

TIFFIN—Offer of Charles S. Seltz to give the Mohawk Clubhouse to the Mohawk Golf Club in exchange for land sought by the state for a fish hatchery site was approved by golf club directors.

Golf club directors were enthusiastic over the offer of Mr. Seltz since it placed at disposal of the club the clubhouse and grounds long desired and also opens a way for location of a state fish hatchery. The clubhouse was built by Mr. Seltz after establishment of the Mohawk Country Club and before location of the golf course.

A six-acre tract of lowland along the Mohawk rd. will be exchanged for the clubhouse under the proposal of Mr. Seltz. This land will be given to the state which has approved it as ideal for a hatchery site.

MOVINGS

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Patne moved Monday to the Seller property on Sandusky street from Mills Avenue.

KELLER-SEITZ WEDDING

Miss Edna Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keller of near Plymouth and Kenneth Seitz, son of Mrs. Mary Seitz of Shelby, were united in marriage last Wednesday at 4 o'clock in the presence of the Presbyterian Church with Rev. J. W. Miller officiating.

The young couple will make their home on West Park Drive, Shelby. Both are employed at the Shelby Cycle Company.

HINTS FOR CHRISTMAS

IF YOU spill salt, throw a pinch over your left shoulder, and ill-luck will pass you by.

Always try to have a bit of mistletoe in the house, for it is a luck bringer.

For every kiss you take under the mistletoe a berry must be plucked and when all are plucked the privilege ceases.

If you find a bit of red ribbon or red wool amongst your presents (especially wool), you will have luck in love. Be sure to wear the trifle while you make your wish.

If you want a "Happy Christmas" put more into it than you take out.—Montreal Herald.

ANOTHER WRECK ON N-H ROAD

Louis Snyder and his team of horses had a narrow escape from serious injury Friday afternoon about 4:45 when they were struck just south of Mr. Snyder's barn by a Chevrolet sedan driven by John Pagan.

Mr. Snyder was hauling dairy feed to his home and was about a hundred feet south of his barn when the crash occurred. It is said that Mr. Pagan had intended passing Mr. Snyder and just as he started to turn out another machine appeared forcing him behind the wagon. Both the team and Chevrolet were going north.

One horse of the team was slightly injured and Mr. Snyder received a good shaking up from the impact and his injury proved not to be as bad as it was first thought. The Chevrolet was badly damaged around the front, the radiator and fenders taking most of the damage.

This is the second accident of this kind occurring on this road. Just a few weeks ago Wm. Trimmer had his wagon smashed in the same manner.

ENGAGEMENT CANCELED

At a late hour it was announced that Brooks Fletcher, who was scheduled to appear here tonight at the Lutheran church, has found it impossible owing to the demand for his presence in Washington.

PLYMOUTH BOYS BEAT GREENWICH

The Plymouth Boys found lodgings on "Ye Good Shippe Mayflower" and rode to victory over Greenwich High's fast quintette Tuesday night, November 27th. The boys played "one swell game." It reminded one of the days when Plymouth High won the county championship. The score at the end of the regular playing time was 22-22. At the end of three minutes overtime period the score stood 28-24 in favor of Plymouth. At the end of the first half the score was 13-7 with Plymouth leading. The boys will only play like that from now on this promise to be a successful year from now on. If anyone did not attend the game that night they missed the time of their life both by not seeing the boys in action and by not seeing their new suits and "Ye Good Shippe Mayflower" is inscribed in crimson upon the Plymouth Rock and Plymouth Rock is inscribed on the front of the white jerseys. On the back are the red numbers. The trunks are white with a crimson belt. The suit is completed by a pair of white stockings.

Let's boast Plymouth High's games from now on. Come on out and see the boys "strut their stuff" and give them a "hooray!"

On December 7th Willard HI comes here for the next game. Both the boys and the girls play that night.

The summary of the Greenwich game follows:

E. B. HELFER AND HIS FAMOUS "HONEY BEE" WILL END YEARS OF FAITHFUL SERVICE JAN. 1

After many years of faithful and untiring service to his company and the public "Doc" Helfer and his famous one-horse wagon will no longer be connected with the American Railway Express Co after Jan. 1. Mr. Helfer will be succeeded by H. M. Willett, local drayman.

"Finner day!" That's what "Doc" hopes to see. For over 27 long years he has faced the fray of winter blizzards and the trying heat of summer—day and night he has been faithful—and his horses—ho's always been kind to them—"Finner Day"—No matter what the weather might be "Doc" always had a cheery smile and a good word. One peculiar trait "Doc" acquired was the placing of his receipts, paper bills and other important papers under his cap. More than once a rust of wind would sweep his cap piece from his head and this would cause "Doc" considerable agony—for he valued all of his express papers and the thought of losing one greatly worried him.

Mr. Helfer states that he will continue to do draying in Plymouth and will be pleased to have his old friend call him when there's anything to move.

Mr. Willett, who now handles the mail will be able to give prompt service on all express shipments, for he does his hauling with a truck.

CHAPEL EXERCISES
We were very glad to have with us last Wednesday morning Rev. A. M. Himes, to lead the chapel service. He gave us a very interesting and inspiring talk on Intelligence, Knowledge, and Wisdom, showing how we obtain knowledge by intelligence plus study and these three determine our wisdom. Along with this he told several stories which helped us to appreciate what he was telling us. We enjoyed his talk immensely and hope that we may hear him again in the near future.

LITERARY PROGRAM
The Clontion Literary Society gave a very interesting program last Wednesday afternoon at Hamilton Hall. The program was opened with a short skit entitled "The Thanksgiving Pumpkin Pie." The parts were played by Madelyn McQuown, Eloise Shaver, and Raymond Hatch. Then a Thanksgiving poem was given by Robert Batsford. The concluding number was a play entitled "The Waifs Thanksgiving" given by other members of the Clontion Literary Society.

AT PEACE WITH THE WORLD
When the clouds of a coming storm Cover the skies above
And you hear the low sweet call Of the mourning dove do hear
And the rumbling of thunder That's followed by a flash Of lightning in and out
The clouds it seems to dash
Then we hear a pink, pink, pink Upon the window-pane
And glancing out we see That it's begun to rain.

Now the wind begins to blow And the clouds are passing by
And the rain comes in torrent That blind the naked eye
But now it seems to cease
And the sky has grown quite clear
No longer the low sweet call Of the mourning dove do we hear
And in the place of the clouds The sky turns to a spotless blue
And a rainbow arches itself In colors of every hue.

And the sun then does its part By throwing its golden rays Upon the earth below
Where any a shadow plays
The trees have ceased to blow But gently to and fro
The rain no more against Our window-pane is whirled
And once again we say We're at peace with the world.

DEBATE
Several weeks ago a debating club was organized with Mr. Fisher as sponsor. The club has been entered in the Ohio State High School Debating League. Friday night a team composed of Mable Preston, Rosemary Bachrach, Mary E. Himes, with John Dick as the alternate, will go to La Rue to uphold the negative side of the question, "Resolved, that the United States should cease to protect by force of arms capital invested in foreign countries."
We wish to assure Mr. Fisher and his team that they can rely upon our best wishes for their success, and we are sure that they will uphold the honor of Old P. H. S. in a most capable manner.

We also desire to call attention to the fact that although athletics are very fine and up-building, we do not turn all of our energies into that channel.

BASKET BALL GAME
When? December 7th.
Where? Hamilton Hall.
With Whom? Willard.
Is it going to be a good game?
Is it; it will be one of the biggest games of the season. We all know that Willard is a hard team to compete against; both girls' and boys' teams are having a hard work out to get in shape to play them.
COME Support our team and see two real games of Basket Ball.

BASKET BALL GAME
Both the girls' and boys' teams will go to Shiloh Saturday, December 8th to compete against them. This will be Shiloh's first game of the season while we have had three games.
Folks! Pack up and take a lead over to the game and support our team. You will see a real game of Basket Ball.

SIXTH GRADE NEWS
Our Thanksgiving program came out very nicely. The fifth grade came over to our room to give their program with us. They had a dialogue and some songs. Sixth grade had some poems and a dialogue too. Alpine Doyle brought some little dining room chairs and a table to put on the stage. We had several parents and friends who came to hear our program.

JOKES
Miss LaFerre: (To Soph B. E. player) "You played a nice game 'bat nit'?"
Soph: "I know it."

One of our freshmen was given a job in a general store. One day a tonist came in and exclaimed "What have you in the form of auto tires?"
Frosh. (brightly): "Funeral wreaths, dogmatus, bars, etc."
Jim: "If I died where would you put the flag, on the flag pole up or down?"
Bill: "Clear down."
Jim: "Why?"
Bill: "Because it points which direction you are going after death."

1st Junior (Bragging about his father): "He built the Rocky Mountains."
2nd Junior: "But mine killed the dead sea."
Fat lady: "If I decide to reduce what would you prescribe?"
Doc: "Carbolic acid."
P. L.: "Why?"
Doc: "It will reduce your suffering quicker."

CHAPEL

Chapel services were conducted Monday morning, December 3 by Dr. Mentie. His text was taken from the first chapter of St. John, the 35th verse. His main topic was "Building for Eternity" in doing this, the two main steps of foundation stones are conviction and determination. He illustrated this by telling of the experience of William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army. The advice he left with us was to be fully convinced that we are right in the sight of God. Then by determination we shall accomplish the task.

P. T. A. MEETING

The December meeting of the P. T. A. held in the school auditorium Monday evening was well attended. A well arranged program was given. The program consisted of:

Drill Primary Room

Recitation Eileen Reynolds

Vocal Solo Donna Russell

Piano Solo Raymond Martin

Vocal Duet Allie and Charlie Black

The main speaker of the evening was Rev. George Gibson, pastor of the first M. E. Church of Willard. He gave a very interesting talk on the subject "What Shall My Boy or Girl do for a Livelihood?" He stressed that the parents should teach their boy or girl in the right way and that he or she should be allowed to choose his or her own life work.

WANTED FAT FOLKS

Farmers in the Middle West have started a crusade to make fat folks fashionable. "Let every boy be taught to look upon a fat man as his ideal of manly perfection, and let every girl be instructed that curves are the surest lure for a handsome and wealthy husband," says the backers of the movement, which believes the problem of farm relief will be solved if Americans can be persuaded to eat more food.

Commenting on the new crusade, the editor of Farm and Fireside, a national farm magazine, says: "The farmers are right. Curves will solve the farm surplus problem. These flat chested, skiny-hipped, hide-and-bone women are the real menace to agriculture. What we need is more wholesome respect and admiration for fat people."

"The present fashion for slender females is not based on human nature. No woman wants to diet. Women like to fill their tummies even better than

For more than a quarter of a century, more thoughtful people have sought the Norwalk Vault. It solves their problem of the protection of the dead. From town to city and city to State, from one end of the United States to the other, the use of Norwalk Vault has spread. Many leading funeral directors make it the foundation of every funeral for its assurance of eternal protection adds to the meaning of all other tributes. Waterproof, airtight the Norwalk Vault protects against vermin and vandals. Seals into a single solid piece of masonry.

Any man would much prefer to associate with and marry a good healthy cylindrical girl who has a lap and some girthing.

"The idea that a lettuce leaf and a slice of pineapple make a meal must be annihilated. Dieting is digging more graves today than ever were dug with teeth."

As one step, the farmers suggest that exemption from taxation be granted to all people who weigh over 200 pounds. They declare bluntly that what agriculture needs is more consumption of its products in regular homes; square meals that include two kinds of meat, three kinds of pie and plenty of mashed potatoes and gravy.

SUGAR AND CIGARETTES
American sugar refiners are entitled to credit, even though they are acting in defense of their industry, for halting the lie that appears in cigarette advertising, that it is better for a woman or a girl to smoke a cigarette than to yield to the temptation of getting too fat by consuming sugared sweets. The Sugar Institute contends that the public has been cutting sugar out of its diet to a dangerous extent as a result of publicity that has been sent through all parts of the country, advising those who seek the "boyish figure" to avoid sugar and sweets. Undoubtedly if they try hard enough, the Sugar Institute will be able to convince the public that sugar is more essential to the human system than cigarettes, and that sugar is still an important article of food, while cigarettes are still "coffin nails."

THE ANSWER WHICH OUGHT TO CONVINCE
(Reprinted from issues of October 18, 1914, and October 28, 1928)

The men and women on the anti-Catholic platform today, are numerous because the backing, which they receive from the haters of the Catholic Church and the gullible, makes their obscene declarations pay. Frequently we are appealed to for a refutation of the slanderous charges they make against the Church. For more than sixteen years the publishers of OUR SUNDAY VISITOR have had on deposit in the First National Bank, Huntington, Ind., $1,000.00 for any of the antic (and easy money) is all they are after) who will give proof for their general accusations, which might be classified among the following heads:

1. Catholics cannot be loyal to the United States government.
2. The Pope seeks to control American politics;
3. The Catholic Hierarchy controls a political machine;
4. Catholics adore images and statues;
5. Immorality is common in monasteries or convents;
6. The Jesuits teach that "The end justifies the means";
7. The document known as the "Knights of Columbus Oath" is genuine;
8. The so-called "Jesuit-Oath" is genuine;
9. Girls are forced into the Sisterhoods or retained there against their will;
10. Catholics seek to destroy public schools;
11. The Catholic Church refuses to acknowledge as valid the Marriage of Protestants;
12. Catholics are given undue government patronage;
13. Our country would be benefited by closing the parochial schools;
14. The assassins of Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley were Catholic;
15. Lincoln's "Dark Cloud" utterance is genuine;
16. Catholics believe that the Pope should rule in a temporal way over the world.

We are willing that the enemy's charge—he they of professedly anti-Catholic abuse, or of anti-Catholic lecturers—together with our refutation be submitted to three judges, one to be chosen by the enemy, one by us and one selected by these two. If these judges—to be men of education—decide that the charge (any or all of the seventeen stated) be really proved against the Church, we forfeit the $1,000. Let our readers take note of our offer, publish it in their local papers whenever one of His Stagnant Majesty's proteges pops up to denounce the Catholic Church. If the Defamer will not submit his proofs to

THE ARTIST AND HIS PAINT

The restoration of the Presbyterian Church, Plymouth, Ohio, has been completed. A modern kitchen and an attractive and well-lighted dining room have been fully equipped to serve banquets. A modern church parlor has been finished, in which the different committees of the church may hold their meetings. The Sunday school rooms and the auditorium are so arranged as to give the most light and convenience to the church-going public. The interior of the entire building has been decorated in such a manner that the colors and designs used are very restful to the eye. When one enters the church, the beautiful decorations are so inviting and restful, that one can not help but enjoy the pleasing, peaceful feeling. On Thursday evening, November 15, 1928, the church was opened to the public for inspection. A large number of people from Plymouth and surrounding towns visited the church. The visitors were much pleased with the decorations. The Booster Club men of the church, furnished the chicken supper for the occasion. The decoration is the work of A. R. Howard of Norwalk, Ohio. Mr. Howard is a born artist. He used the Sherwin-Williams Co. Products in his work. When such materials as this company puts on the market is placed in the hands of a master artist, the results are not only beautiful, but permanent. The Sherwin-Williams Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, are said to be the largest Paint and Varnish makers in the world. The products of this company are the very best. (Advertisement)

DEMILLE'S BIG FILM "THE KING OF KINGS" AT SHELBY THEATRE
In response to many requests from his patrons, Manager Shreffler of the Shelby Theatre, has booked Cecil B. DeMille's production, "The King of Kings," for a 3 days' showing beginning on Monday next. This is the picture that was presented to crowded audiences for six months at the Gaiety Theatre, New York. It enjoyed exceedingly successful runs in Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and many other cities in this country and abroad. In filming this wonderful story of Christ, Mr. DeMille displayed daring, the work being even more venturesome than his "The Ten Commandments" and the pitiable martyr. The unanimous praise of the reviewers in all the metropolitan centres indicates that his effort proved successful. He employed all his own personal resources and exhausted the new and old technique of the screen. He was aided in the work by representatives of many faiths and research scholars of authority. Miss Jeanie MacPherson, the scenarist, is said to have wrought a more finely constructed story than that of "The Ten Commandments." Among the eighteen stars of the production are such favorites as H. B. Warner, Jacqueline Logan, Rudolph and Joseph Schildkraut, Victor Varconi, William Boyd, Montague Love, George Slesmann, Theodore Kosloff, Julia Faye, Robert Edison, Sam De Grass. In fact, the cast of principals is a roster of eminent names in pictures. Approximately $2,500,000 is said to have been expended on the production. As the actors embody the cherished characters of the New Testament narrative, so the hundred great sets faithfully realize the scenes in the life of the Jesus. The picture was shown with extraordinary success in this country and abroad and it won the commendation of press and public alike, its beauty and charm evoked the general praise.

NEWS FROM DELPHI

S. C. Howard is plastering and coating the rooms in C. G. Howard's on the former Caleb Mosher's place. Clarence has remodeled and equipped the home so that it is fully modern and an up-to-date dwelling.

George and Sylvia Howard of Tiffin were last Friday callers on friends in Delphi.

John Yutsey is performing a real neighborly act in taking them in his new car several nights a week to the Pentecostal meeting at Guinea Corners. Besides himself as driver he had in his car Wm. Penrod and wife, Mrs. Ella Blackmore, Rev. M. E. Williams, G. S. Catlin and John Yutsey, Jr. Sunday evening. They have the most wide spread attendance of any church this side of Pontiac, Mich. Sunday evening the house was filled to capacity. There were people there from Ashland, Mansfield, Shelby, Plymouth, Willard, Norwalk, North Fairfield and intervening points. Rev. Braun has a message.

Thanksgiving Day guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gleason were S. E. Gleason and wife and George T. Cupit and his wife, Meda Gleason Cupit and their children Herb Gleason of Athens, Ohio and Robert Gleason at home.

F. E. Craig, wife and sons Chester and Theodore and G. S. Catlin were Thanksgiving guests of W. J. Wilkinson and wife of North Fairfield.

The Boardman family Thanksgiving feast was eaten at the commodious home of B. A. Boardman and wife. B. A. told the writer that "the gang was all here."

The funeral of Evelyn Knight Moore Friday was largely attended at the Delphi church. Rev. Grimm preaching the sermon, undertaker C. D. Harvey in charge. Mrs. Hoehen and Mrs. Wm. Penrod had charge of the beautiful community floral offering.

T. G. Campbell of Dayton was an over Sunday guest of his parents.

M. Sexton of Greenwich was in Delphi Friday looking for a house to rent. The T. B. Black home is our only vacant building and that will soon be in the hands of an administrator and will be sold.

Harold Hurst, agent for the N. Y. Central line at Collins attended the Evelyn Knight funeral last Friday, other relatives from Cleveland, Mansfield, Greenwich, Plymouth and Willard were in attendance.

Evelyn Knight was a member of the Episcopal church in Delphi, attended our Sabbath School, was a beautiful spirited girl, cheery and affable at all times and occasions. Even in the midst of her struggle with the ravages of the dread white plague she was full of hope and comforting words. The large gathering of friends at the funeral was an expression of the sympathy and appreciation of her many friends. She was 23 years of age.

S. C. Howard and W. C. Gleason attended our natra practice in Plymouth Saturday eve.

Electrician Robert Gleason is wiring the hen coops for electric lights for Alton Barnes, Ripley's poultry specialist. Our poultrymen are going to make the day longer to enhance egg production.

Robert is a trained electrician and his every day practice in all kinds of house wiring will soon place him among experts.

Wm. Wier on the Blackmore farm entertained Thanksgiving visitors from Kokomo, Ind.

Delphi church had 50 in attendance last Sunday. We are falling back, we spoke for 89 but we had 50. Three weeks ago we had 61, one week ago we had 50, two weeks ago we had 41.

Some one is getting awfully careless with God's work. R. L. Barker and wife drive from Norwalk every Sunday to take care of her large class. We have had no absent teachers or substitutes for any weeks. For next Sunday Supt. Cole offers a prize for the largest single family. See who gets it. Preaching at 10, Sunday school at 11.

A collection will be taken next Sunday evening for Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Braun at the Guinea Church. These faithful and untiring workers, going back and forth every night from their own home in Ashland 20 miles away, are deserving of great liberality. Rev. Braun asked that no one should stay away from the meeting because of the collection. All will be just as welcome whether you give or not.

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Medical authorities state that nearly all cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, etc. are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food accumulates, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Pharmaco is a wonderful relieving agent in all cases of stomach and bowel trouble. Pharmaco comes in handy tablet form and is not unpleasant to take. Positively does not contain any habit-forming drugs and may be used by young and old. Entire satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

DO NOT ACCEPT SUBSTITUTES if your druggist cannot supply you, a full sized package will be mailed to you upon receipt of $1.00. (Taxes for $2.75.)

Again The Bells Ring Out

By Kathyrne Gdelman

AGAIN the bells ring out to tell
The story angels told.
The blessed tidings of His birth,
That never can grow old.

Again the world is thrilled and stirred,
With gladness men rejoice,
And happy thoughts and wishes true
In every heart find voice.

With smiling face friend calls to friend
A greeting most sincere,
And friendship ties and ties
of kin
Have grown more strong and dear.

Once more the joy of Christmas fills
The hearts and souls of men,
Once more in Bethlehem's little town
A Child is born again.

PONTIAC PRODUCTION FOR 1929 TO BE GREATLY INCREASED

PONTIAC, MICH.—Preparations for the building of the first Pontiac Sixes for 1929 were under way here this week at the plant of the Oakland Motor Car Company with the completion of inventory-taking and the soaring of employment figures to the highest December level in history, according to W. R. Tracy, vice-president in charge of sales.

Promised as a "bigger, smarter, more powerful and more luxurious Pontiac, bringing big car features within the price range of the small six," this newest creation of the fast-growing Oakland division of General Motors has given rise to many rumors and much speculation here because of the phenomenal volume growth of the Pontiac Six. Introduced on the market for the first time at the New York Automobile Show in 1926, the car in less than three years has topped all former sales records for a new make of car, and during the height of the past selling season out-sold every other make of six cylinder car in the domestic market for several months. Hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of new dies, tools, machines, testing gauges, etc., to build the new car are being installed in the modern Oakland-Pontiac plant, which in 1929 will have a capacity of 350,000 cars. Production of several parts for the new car already is under way, while other parts are being put into production as fast as equipment is made ready. The three Pontiac assembly lines, each a quarter of a mile long, are being re-arranged to build the car in the greatest volume in the history of the company for this season of the year. Tentative plans call for a substantial production of new Pontiacs in December to be followed by greatly increased output in January. The plant capacity of Pontiac Sixes every working day is expected to be taxed to capacity well into 1929 to meet the anticipated demand, Mr. Tracy stated.

discussed. A motion was then made to adjourn to which all responded. The group then packed the Christmas box. We were later served with delicious refreshments by the hostess. CLUB CHECKS TO GO OUT MONDAY

Christmas Club members of the People National Bank will be highly ejaculated Monday when they receive their Christmas Club checks, and it certainly makes them happy over the fact that they'll have money at Christmas time—money that they've saved week by week throughout the past year, and now it comes just as it is needed most.

J. E. Nimmons, cashier, states that the Christmas Club opened last Monday and that members can be enrolled for a few weeks more, and that he expects the 1929 club to be larger than ever. Mr. Nimmons states that there are many people who do not understand the principal of the Christmas Club idea, and that if they call at the bank they can receive this information without any obligation whatsoever.

Many of the boys and girls on the farm as well as the housewife, have found that they can easily carry a club membership and keep it paid up through the "pig" money that they derive from various sources about the farm.

ACCEPTS POSITION

Director John E. Monger of the State Department of Health will be connected with the U. S. Standard Products Company of Chicago, after his retirement in January next. Dr. Monger for some time has advocated a change in the health laws of the state and he has re-iterated that appointment of the director be taken out of politics by removing it from the hands of the governor and lodging it with the Public Health Council. The Doctor advocates that tenure of the office should be considerably increased.

SANTA TO BE AT BROWN & MILLERS

Hip, Hip, Hoory, Kiddies! Santa Claus—the old gent, himself, will be at Brown & Miller's Hardware next Saturday afternoon to bring joy and merriment to you. Write Old Santa a letter and drop it in the box at Brown and Miller's and The Advertiser will print it next week. You must write very plainly for Santa can't read so very good, and you must use one side of the paper only. Sign your full name so that Santa can find where you live on Christmas night.

Santa Claus sent a radio message from the North Pole yesterday saying that he would be at the hardware store and that he wanted FIVE HUNDRED children there, and the best part of it is that he will have a little remembrance for you. Make your mother or father promise you to come SATURDAY AFTERNOON and you'll have a good time. Don't forget to write your letter.

TO DISCONTINUE SERVICE

Are the trolley lines doomed, is a question which perplexes many of the smaller towns and villages over the state. The Southern Ohio Public Service Company has been granted permission to discontinue its service between Columbus and Zanesville and no doubt more buses will replace the interurban cars. The twenty-four electric railway companies now operating in Ohio also operate 753 motor buses in connection with their electric cars, covering 1,514 miles of route within the state. It figures furnished by a committee on utility information it is shown that 443,300 people are employed by the telephone industry of the country, and of this number 256,000 are women, also that during 1927 it is estimated that it cost approximately $775 a minute to keep up with the demand for new telephone construction throughout the United States.

PLYMOUTH FIRMS READY FOR XMAS

Plymouth stores are ready for Christmas with stocks bigger and better than ever. Already Christmas shoppers are busy looking around and many of the local stores report a good trade in gifts. It is natural that the early shopper shall get the choicest gifts and shopping early also makes it easier for the buyer as well as the dealer.

Weber's Drug Store is replete with a wonderful line of toys for the children, especially the Tom Tinker kind, and an unusual selection of mechanical toys. Books make a different gift for the boy or girl and Mr. Weber states that his book shelf has all kinds of stories for boys and girls as well as the latest in fiction for the grown-up.

The woman shopper that has to buy for the men folks, will find that her task will be unusually easy at Rules' Clothing Co. Here one may find gifts that will please any man, such as ties, socks, shirts, luggage, belts and buckles, bath robes, gloves, etc. Many of the items come in Christmas boxes and make a beautiful showing on Christmas morning. This store carries many of the nationally known brands of men's furnishings, and Mr. Rule says that all articles can be exchanged after Christmas.

Electrical gifts are more beautiful and useful than ever, for out every farm home now has electric current and the rural resident as well as the town people can enjoy the conveniences of a toaster, electric iron, percolator, washing machine, curling iron, electric pads, pop corn popper, and many other electrical items that can be found in this modern hardware store. A wonderful selection of electrically operated toys are being shown this year at Brown & Miller's and the boys and girls that have seen them are more than pleased. Mr. Brown says that one can find suitable and desirable gifts at the store for any member of the family.

The Lippus Store, a store of Christmas Gifts, has so many various items that it takes a page advertisement to tell you about them. The Lippus Dry Goods Store enjoys a substantial patronage last season and so they have bought their Christmas stock with the aid of bigger and better selections and more of them. The woman shopper will simply delight in going through this store, and she will be amazed at the many worthwhile gift suggestions.

Edw B Curpen can say something that few store owners can boast of, and that is "we have gifts from every country in the world." And you'll agree with Mr. Curpen after you've seen his unique selection of ornamental and mechanical gifts. Gifts which have come to his store from over the entire world. Beautiful handwork in many pieces, and art that is hardly known to America. And the price—one wonders how it can be done.

Mr. Curpen is also featuring a beautiful line of Christmas gifts, which are the very newest materials and the latest designs. Watches and rings also hold a prominent part in Curpen's Christmas showing.

Deciding on a useful gift is as easy as Miller's Furniture store for the Christmas shopper finds many pieces such as rocking chairs, smoking sets, floor lamps, and etc., that will go a long way in keeping Christmas cheer the year round. Mr. Miller is showing a splendid line of Christmas goods, and the Christmas desire items for the home will do well to visit this store.

BE CAREFUL

Christmas shoppers who are anticipating the purchase of a watch for Christmas present should be sure that the watch is made by a reliable manufacturer. There are many "wild cat" watch makers who are victimizing the public, especially at Christmas time, and the purchaser or the recipient of the watch who repairs are needed and they take it to their jeweler, nine times out of ten, the repair parts are unobtainable, or a long delay is experienced in getting parts.

The watchmakers association are always over the fact that few young men are taking up the watch-making and watch repairing trade, and they predict that in a few short years, the jewelry store will only repair the watches they sell. So just as a warning we suggest that you inquire about the watch, and who manufactures it before buying, and ask about the company's reliability.

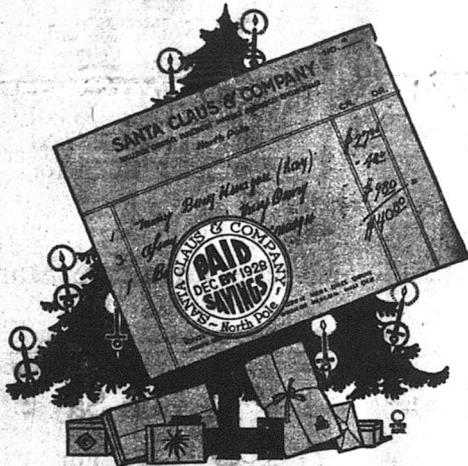

Editorial-News And Comment On National Happenings

The latest news from London tells of a "mechanical man," electric, radio-fitted able to stand or walk; able to sit down, climb and descend stairs, and to make a speech. The other day, he, or rather it, walked across Trafalgar Square, mounted to somewhere, and standing, made a speech, by radio. There is no good reason why a "mechanical man" cannot be made: a man literally of steel, which can walk, sit or climb stairs. It is almost purely a matter of equilibrium: keep a balance. The rest is easy. . . . Already the wireless gives us boats and automobiles which can be guided in any direction while nobody is in them. It is but a step from such devices to mechanical men. But let us be quite clear about these mechanical men—how far and by how much are they men? And this question is in order, because since the presentation of R.E.R. the sensational, the good drama of a few years ago it has been often said that there would yet be produced mechanical men, or artificial creatures of real flesh and blood. The conclusion was that a large part of the human race might have to make itself scarce, through death, or other means, if robots were made on a large scale. The thought produced a "thrill" of excitement and fluttering speculation followed. Now the mechanical man of London sets the talkers going again and they are full of ideas as to how far this "monster" can be developed. Some are forbidding; a bit troubled. Let the worrier be at peace; let the dreamers dream on—to no effect. "Mechanical men" can be made which will work on the fixed and set job. But automatic machines are already in existence which can do the work far better than these mechanical men and at a lesser expense. They are to be seen everywhere. Think of the basket-making machines; the linotypes; the mechanisms which mix, knead and carry bread to the ovens, and which wrap that bread afterward. The unsurmountable difference between mechanism and the most common man is this; the man thinks. He is self-contained; a self-moved, universally capable unit of action. He adjusts himself to every contingency and circumstance, doing a thousand things in a thousand different ways and planning his varied action as he goes along. His brain, his mind, his power of meeting every circumstance; his power to make circumstance or prevent it—makes a man a man. Think of his imagination; that gift which leads him to create the new, the novel and then control what he has created.

GOVERNOR'S INAUGURATION TO BE ELABORATE AFFAIR

Columbus—The inauguration of Myron Y. Cooper as governor of Ohio on January 14 promises to be a most elaborate affair. Complete arrangements have not as yet been completed, but committees are working out the details. Decision as to the inaugural ball on the evening of the inauguration are uncertain, but it would not be surprising if this old custom was revived and society would get a chance to strut itself before the many guests who would naturally assemble for such an event. The Ohio National Guard will be represented at the inaugural ceremonies and a reception for the crowd will be held by the new governor in the rotunda of the capitol building. Indications are that Republican clubs from many cities will attend, and if this is done there will naturally be a rivalry which means a tremendous crowd. The new Governor is expected to return late this week from the South where he has been enjoying a brief rest and vacation, and when he comes plans for the inaugural ceremonies, will be worked out.

DRASTIC CHANGES TO BE MADE AT SOLDIERS HOME

Drastic changes in the method of conducting business at the home for disabled war veterans in Sandusky, will be put into force if the next general assembly acts on recommendations of the legislative committee which will make its report at the opening of the coming session. One of these changes will provide that war veterans must pay a small fee for their board and keeping from their pension money. There is probably not a veteran in the home but who gets a good pension, and many of them have no relatives to leave this too should they die. Other changes recommended are for a change in the food served, and the control of pay to these veterans who in addition to their pension money, get pay from the state for what little work they perform at the institution.

BLIND WORKERS ARE MAKING XMAS GIFTS

Blind workers of the state are busy at the present time making many dainty household articles which are being sold by the Ohio Commission for the Blind. Thus they are enabled to earn their Christmas money and at the same time take their thoughts from their personal handicap and enjoy life all the more. Material for the work is furnished by the state of Ohio. It is delivered to the home of the blind worker, and when they have transferred the material into household necessities, towels, dish rags, and even pretty dressed dolls, they are shipped back to the blind commission and then sold. Every penny received from the sale minus the cost of material is remitted to the blind worker. The state of Ohio makes no profit out of the transaction, merely acting as an agency to help the blind men, women and children of the state.

INDUSTRIAL FATALITIES SHOW INCREASE FOR 1928

Fatal industrial accidents again showed an increase in Ohio during the month of October, with a total of 109, or 25 more than during the month of September. This is not attributed to any unusual carelessness on the part of employees, but rather reflects the manufacturing and industrial activities at the present time. Reports show that more persons are employed at the present time in Ohio than in many previous years, with the list of unemployed correspondingly lower. Employment agencies report that they are able to give a large percentage of all applicants positions and in several branches of manufacturing the demand is in excess of the supply.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS DISTRIBUTED THIS WEEK

Millions of dollars is being distributed this week by banking and building and loan companies of the state to Christmas savers. It is said that never before in the history of Ohio has such large amounts been distributed. As a result of the early distribution of these savings early Christmas shopping far in excess of other years is reported, with indications that all lines of business will participate in one of the biggest holiday trades in years.

Miss Helen Detrich of Findlay, Miss Mary Sipes of Gallon, Miss Amy Butts of Shelby and Mr. Albert and Chas. Fleckner of Bucyrus were entertaining over Sunday at the home of Mr. Albert Felchner and family.

NORWALK BUYS FORD FOR POLICE WORK

Norwalk has bought a Model A Ford touring car for the police department. The machine is housed in the fire station but in a short time will be placed in the new garage which is being constructed in the northeast part of the first floor of the fire station.

Word has been received from Royle Trauger that he has arrived at Miami Beach, Florida, where he expects to spend the winter.

COUNTY'S BOARD VISITS PROPERTY

Members of the Richland county board of revision visited numerous properties in both Mansfield and the county Friday with a view of passing on complaints which had been lodged by property owners who believe their appraisal figure to have been too high. The board received each complaint which is filed with it and then makes a survey of the property with a view to determining whether or not the objection is worthy and a revision should be made. County auditor Arthur S. Beck.

SPEEDY RELIEF FOR SORE THROAT

Safe Prescription Requires No Gargling
No longer is it necessary to gargle or to choke with nasty tasting patent medicines or gargles to relieve sore throat. Now you can get almost instant relief with one swallow of a famous doctor's prescription called Thoxine. It has a double action, relieves the soreness and goes direct to the internal cause not reached by gargles, salves and patent medicines. Thoxine does not contain iron, chloroform or dope, is pleasant-tasting, harmless and safe for the whole family. Also excellent for coughs; stops them almost instantly. Quick relief guaranteed or your money back 35c., 50c., and $1.00. Sold by WEBBER'S and all other good drug stores.

County Commissioner B. B. Kuhn, president of the board and County Treasurer John J. Charles make up the board of revision.

The objections which have been filed with the board and which are being cared for are located in widely different sections as well as Mansfield.

THROW OUT MANY VOTES HOOPER

Comment is being made over news items in New York newspapers to the effect that more than 100,000 votes cast for Hoover at the last election in Texas were thrown out because of technicalities. Similar rulings on the part of election officials were made in other southern states, the items set forth.

GOLAND'S COW LICKS PAINT AND KICKS BUCKET

It is stated that Frank Geland of the Medina road has a cow valued at $100 or more in an unusual way recently. She one threw a partly-filled paint bucket over the fence into the pasture lot. The cow, it is reported licked enough of the paint out of the bucket to bring on a fatal case of lead poisoning.

NORWALK GIRL IS MADE DEFENDANT IN $20,000 INJURY SUIT

SANDUSKY—Nellie Henry, Norwalk, is named defendant in a suit for $20,000 damages, filed in common pleas court Wednesday by Robert Fay 15, Milan, through his mother, Grace Fay.

It is claimed in the petition that on October 4, the plaintiff was on a public highway in Milan, and that the defendant was driving an automobile which struck him. It is also alleged that the defendant was guilty of carelessness and negligent driving; that she was driving the car on the wrong side of the road. Injuries to his head and face, and a broken leg are listed by the plaintiff. Attorneys Young and Young brought the action.

The Christmas Glow

By R. T. SUDDEN, in New York Times

THERE'S a glow in the air, a stir in the street. That comes but once in a year. There's a tone in the voice of friends you greet. The echoes of hope and cheer, And the feet-footed days hasten on to the time. When glowing in dawning skies The gladder of days and most sublime. The Christmas morn shall rise.

Each shop and each store of the throng-filled mart Its choicest treasures displays And each to the brightness adds its part Of the greatest of all the year's days. And the eager crowds as they move along A festive scene supply. For joy in each heart is pulsing strong, The joy of Christmas night.

The Word "Carol"

The word "carol" was originally applied to ring dances of children, as mentioned by St. Augustine. In time the word came to denote a lively tune suggestive of dancing. Christmas was universally recognized as a time for merriment as well as religious songs and so in the carols sung at this season religious facts were merged in simple phrases and sung to merry dancing tunes.

The Christmas Feelings

Martha Banning Thomas

SALLY walked aimlessly down the brightly lighted street. She felt dreary as possible and resigned herself to a dull evening with a kind of ferocious fortitude. It's supposed to be the merriest time of the year," she reflected bitterly, "but just there can be merry about a lonely Christmas eve in a strange city with no one to speak to; no place to go; nothing to do. I can't laudner."

Sally knew herself to be a strong, capable girl with more than average ambition. She had come from New York to London to fill a certain vacancy in a publishing firm. It was interesting work. Sally liked it and looked forward to an increasingly responsible position, followed by a more substantial salary. She had no patience with people who did not succeed. "Failure is a disease of the will," she was apt to say with a very determined look around her lips. And this seemed to close whatever argument there might have been concerning work—and workers.

But tonight Sally was out of humor. She missed her friends at home, and wondered what they were doing. She had plenty of acquaintances at the office, but this was the one season when acquaintances were quite busily engaged with their own family interests. They had inquired in a vague way about her plans but Sally was too proud to follow. And they had left her with good wishes and a hearty handshake. And that was that.

"Sorry," said Sally.

In stepping down into the street Sally collided with a clumsy person wrapped up in a great many shawls. This person had a large basket under her arm and out of the basket, and protruding from under the fringe of the shawls, were feathery tops of celery, the yellow claws of a chicken, a carrot or two, a piece of a brown paper parcel.

"Sorry," said Sally. Something in the smiling expression of the woman's face arrested the girl. Hardly knowing why she did so, she timed her brisk steps to the slower pace of the woman. "You seem to have a great deal to carry," said Sally.
"Why, no," laughed the woman. "This ain't nuthin' Christmas stuff for some orphan children. I ain't got none, so I said I'd just pop out to the meat market and the green grocer and get the food for dinner. 'Oh,' said Sally. A strong desire came over her to follow this woman home. "May I go with you?" she asked. "I'm not very busy and I don't know many people. Perhaps I could help you."
The woman beamed. "You're an American, I dare say. It must be a bit lonely here in London for you. Do come along and I'll show you some fun."

In ten minutes they had reached rather bare, extremely small but very neat lodgings. Nine children catapulted out of the door in one mad onslaught. "Here they are," said the woman; then behind her hand. "All orphans. They lend 'em to me Christmas eve."

Sally remained in a confused state of bewilderment for three hours. She helped put the children to bed, on sofas, on a mattress, on the floor, on anything the woman could devise for their comfort. She helped trim a tree. She got thoroughly mused up and tired and completely contented. "Best Christmas eve I ever had," she panted wiping a stray strand of hair out of her eyes.

"I always says," said the woman (now reduced to one shawl instead of three) "that it's the feelin's that count, not money or presents. Get the Christmas feelin' under your skin, and you'll have a proper jolly time."

"You're perfectly right," said Sally, "and I'll be back in the morning to help with the dinner."

Singing the Candle Out
There are many curious customs connected with the celebration of carols in the Isle of Man villagers assembled in the church on Christmas eve and, in turn, sang a carol. Each held a lighted candle and, although some of the carols were lengthy, the singer had to stop when the candle went out.

Abbreviating Christmas Spoils Wonderful Word

Cherizmen of many of the denunciations in New York have joined in a protest against the abbreviation of the word "Christmas." They declare that writing it "Xmas" is irreverent and should not be permitted. It is said that with one exception letters sent out to Christian leaders brought replies in protest against the abbreviated form of using the word. It is not irreverent certainly it is not good taste and spoils the appearance of one of the finest words in the whole language.

The protest is timely for many reasons. There is no occasion for abbreviating the name of Christ. Moreover "Christmas" is an event that appeals to nearly all, both nonbelievers as well as believers. It signifies much more than a religious observance. Nearly all the world, non-Christians as well as those who observe the day as the birth of their Lord and Savior, make Christmas the occasion for good deeds. It makes a sort of spiritual revival that affects the people of all faiths and creeds. It is the time when all mankind is drawn closer together; when selfishness is more nearly crucified than at any other period of the year; when men of all beliefs will each other in the doing of good deeds. Hearts are softened at this season of the year and acts that at other times would be quickly done, are now, for the time being at least, barred by quills of conscience. The better and finer impulses of mankind, that often during months appear to be submerged by the selfish desires of the flesh, are for a brief period, in the ascendancy.

For all these reasons the word "Christmas" is now come to be one of the oddest and most inspiring in the language. To the devout followers of the lowly Nazarene it is the occasion for the celebration with peace of praise and songs of thanksgiving of the coming of man's redeemer; to the non-Christian it is the time of rejoicing because it proves man's humanity to man. That is why it is the most widely observed of all the "red letter" days in the calendar of time.—Nashville Tennessean.

COLLECTION OF TAXES DELAYED
Although Saturday marked the arrival of December, the last month of the year, Richland county's tax collection will not be opened before December 15, according to John J. Charles, county treasurer.
The opening of the period for the collection of the tax for the first half of 1928 will be delayed at least half a month and possibly a bit longer, the treasurer said.
He pointed out that during the year Richland county has improved 90 miles of new roads and there have been 20 street improvements in Mansfield and Shelby.
"To secure the assessment figures on all of this work and make a proper entries has taken a great deal of time and effort," the treasurer points out.

IT IS IN EXCESS OF THE OTHER WORK required before the tax collection period is ready to be opened and for this reason the collection will not open as early as in some years gone by.

Going Home For Christmas

By Katherine Morris

The train sped on its way through the frozen country as if trying desperately to outstrip with whom he was making to the old home town. It was the first since leaving abruptly ten years before in answer to the call of a wealthy hunching uncle who wanted to train him for the management of his profitable business from which he hoped to retire within a few years.

None of the Hargreaves now lived there, but Ridgewood, where he had grown to young manhood, would always be "home" to Russell. The glamour of business success had not dimmed his ardor for old associations. He loved every foot of ground in and around the town, as well as its inhabitants; but above all things else he treasured the memory of Lucy Miles, the sprightly little dark beauty whom he had loved and played with in childhood and with whom he had gone through the Ridgewood schools.

He had gone away without asking her to go with him as his wife, because his future, at that time, seemed very uncertain. He would get a good start, he planned, then go back for the dear girl. But Russell Hargreaves carried too long over the job of getting ready. A strange man had come out of the West to win Lucy's heart, and had placed her beyond his hope. No other girl had ever interested him. He sighed now as he reflected, and wondered if by any chance she, too, should be going back home for the holidays.

On and on the train dashed, his eager desire keeping pace with it until suddenly he and all other passengers were thrown violently from their seats. Brakes screeched. All realized that there had been an accident.

An automobile had been struck on a crossing, the way being obscured, no doubt, by the heavy snowfall. The injured were placed aboard the baggage car to be taken to the hospital at Ridgewood, only a few miles farther on.

At the station Russell made haste to lend aid, if possible, to the sufferers, and some one in the crowd was heard to say:

"It is John Miles and his sister Mrs. Gainestone."

Russell's heart-beats seemed to stop short.

"Lucy!" he murmured to himself, his pushed forward to see. One glance at the upturned face was enough. "Yes, Lucy, and my train struck her down."

The homecoming meant nothing to him now, nothing unless he could bring comfort to the injured.

At the hospital he wanted to learn the story of the patients and was told that John was not seriously hurt, but that Mrs. Gainestone might not recover. She had not regained consciousness.

"Has her husband been notified?" he asked a little later.

- Spain—Felices Pascuas.—Montreal Herald.

"She has no husband," the attendant answered, "he died several years ago."

"Oh," with a catch in his breath, "I did not know she was a widow." "Her mother is here. She and the boy live alone. Mrs. Gainestone still makes her home with Mr. Gainestone's mother. John was bringing her home for Christmas."

For weeks Lucy Miles Gainestone hovered between life and death. At last there came a change for the better, and one bright sunny morning late in January she was able to see the unknown friend who had kept her room abloom with roses.

"You," she exclaimed as Russell stepped snuggling into her presence. "Oh, Russell, so it was you." Tears of happiness filled her eyes as she held out her hand to him.

"Lucy! You don't know how very happy I am that you are getting well. I was on the train that struck you. He was at her side beaming upon her as he tenderly stroked her hand resting trustfully within his own. "I've never forgotten you, Lucy," and his voice choked with emotion.

"Nor I, Russell."

"My decision to come back to dear old Ridgewood for Christmas was sudden. I feel sure now there must have been a guiding influence."

"And I didn't even know when Christmas came and passed," she said sadly.

"Nor I, scarcely. My mind and heart have been here with you. I shall not wait another day to tell you, Lucy, that I love just as I used to love you in the old days. I believe you loved me, too, then. Could you love me again, dear?"

"Sit down, Russell, and listen. I want you to know that I should never have stopped loving you if you had not gone away as you did. But it won't be hard to start all over again."

Christmas Memories

Christmas means memories of those who were dear to us and who never failed to provide a gift laden Christmas.

"I wouldn't be at all surprised if this Christmas buying wouldn't put us in bed."

"Hoying doesn't affect me that way, dear! It's the paying that'll put me on the flat of my back."

HIS CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

By Maxine Chapman

MISS HEPPIE'S Christmas turkey had disappeared and she had looked in every crook and cranny of the great old Padgett place, chiefly to reassure herself, she was indignantly sure, that she knew who had taken her bird, although she had not really seen it, for there had been hundreds of her neighbors' evil practices. Miss Heppie had not listened very much. Lonely and prim, she lived in the house where her father was born. The changing world beyond her walls went by without her knowing, and the ill-reputed neighbors were strangers, except for an occasional glimpse of a horde of bedraggled children. And now, she hated them.

Miss Heppie Continued to Stare.

Miss Heppie Padgett wondered what to do.

The sun set red behind the naked trees and cast long purple shadows on the snow of Christmas eve. It was too late to get another turkey. The array of pies and cakes, even the dressing, were waiting for the morrow, and it was the first time in the history of the proud old red brick house that Christmas time had been with out a turkey. The more Miss Heppie thought of it the angrier she became. Then on the wide front porch she heard the commotion of many footsteps and, presently, the thud of a timid knocker. Few visitors came to the Padgett house, so the parlor was dark and the heavy front door was bolted. Miss Heppie opened it a trifle and, there, on her spotless porch, were a half-dozen ragged children, frightened, cold, unlovely, but bathed in the chastening light of the winter moon, and, carried on the back of one, was Miss Heppie's Christmas turkey.

For a long, tense moment they looked at each other, the woman, the children, the turkey, then, quaveringly, but with a strange uplifted pride, the biggest of the children blurted out: "Maw sent it back." Miss Heppie continued to stare. There was nothing encouraging in the steady gaze of her eyes, but the boy went on: "Maw sent us out to swipe it but she changed her mind, I guess. She said it wouldn't taste good now, on Christmas, and we'd just fix a ham and turnips, and apple sauce for pud-din', same as always. She sent yer turkey back 'cause, even if you didn't need it, really, 'twasn't hers." Suddenly the boy began to cry. "Gee, it must be grand," he sobbed, "to live in a big fine house like this and have turkey for Christmas dinner. Then, as if a great joy had come to him, he raised his head and smiled through his tears. "But we ain't goin' to steal no more. We ain't, no, ever, 'cause maw, she said we want." The moonlight that fell on his earnest face erased the lines of hardness and left only a baby purity. Babies, surely, almost all of them were, huddled there together, strangely timid yet strangely strong in the humbleness of their confession. Across the night a song rang out, carolers bearing his message. "For whatsoever ye do unto one of the least of these..."

Suddenly Miss Heppie saw her Christmas turkey, laden and set in selfish solitude, presiding at the feast. No love had ever stirred her heart at Christmas. And then she saw her feet again, with a group of happy faces round it, immersed in turkey and cake, and at the foot of the table, a mother who said, "We ain't goin' to steal no more." With a soft, choked cry, she opened her arms long, empty, and into their warmth she drew the tangle of huddled, hungry, children.

Across the night a song rang out, carolers bearing his message, "Glory to God in the Highest, on earth peace, good-will toward men."

DRIVER SAVES FIVE IN WRECK

NORWALK — Edward E. Jackson, Friday merchant and for many years manager of the Glass Block department store in Norwalk, is suffering in a St. Wayne hospital from injuries received last week in an automobile accident just east of that city. The machine went into a ditch and burned up. In the car with Mr. Jackson were his wife, the two children and Mrs. Cora Welch. The chauffeur rescued Mr. Jackson and the others. Mr. Jackson's arm is broken just below the left shoulder. Mrs. Welch suffered three broken ribs and the other escaped with only minor bruises and scratches.

WATER SUPPLY LOW

NORWALK — The water level of the two Norwalk reservoirs is still very low, and unless heavy rains help, a serious shortage of water may develop. The lower pond is about five feet lower than the normal stage. In the upper pond, however, the stage of the water level is the lowest on record.

COOPER RETURNS

Hon. Myers Y. Cooper, Governor-elect, has returned from the southern health resort at Asheville, N. C., and after a rest period of ten days is making a survey of the varied duties with which he will be confronted upon assuming the governmental reins on Tuesday, January 14th. He will have a number of important announcements to make however before that time.

QUITE A VARIETY

John P. Maynard, clerk of the House, has compiled a roster of that body which shows thirty-three lawyers, thirty-two farmers, seven representing the teaching profession, five bankers, nine merchants, three manufacturers, three accountants, three ministers, two physicians, two dentists, a chiropractor, a veterinarian, druggist, two salesmen, two insurance dealers, two contractors, a broker, telegrapher, taxite buyer, oil distributor, real estate dealer, printer, electrician and seven women. Others are officials of organizations and professions which bring the total membership up to 133, of which 122 are Republicans and 11 Democrats.

WEEVILS IN BIN CAN BE KILLED WITH GAS

Will Damage Stored Grain Unless Eradicated as Soon as Found Weevils in stored grain will do much damage if not killed as soon as discovered. Fumigation with carbon bisulfide will dispose of them without demoralizing the food or germinating qualities of the grain, according to T. H. Parks, extension entomologist of the Ohio State University. Carbon bisulfide is a liquid which can be purchased in tightly sealed cans at any drug store. When released in the air it evaporates rapidly into a gas which is heavier than air. This gas, mixed with air, is inflammable, and all lights should be kept away from a grain bin which is being fumigated with it. And the person doing the fumigating should breathe as little as possible of the gas.

An important part of the fumigating process is keeping the bin sealed as tightly as possible. The work should be done on a calm day when the temperature is above 67 degrees. Eight to 15 pounds of the liquid are necessary for fumigating 1000 cubic feet of bin space. When figuring the space it is necessary to take into account the volume of the grain, according to the grain. The liquid may be placed in large pans on top of the grain, or bur-lap bags or cotton waste, saturated with it, may be buried in the grain. The bin should remain tightly closed for at least 36 hours after the fumigant has been applied.

HENS HELPED BOOST FARM CASH INCOMES

Both Prices and Production Went Higher in October of This Year
Ohio's hens did their share toward boosting the October gross cash income of Ohio farmers past the points at which it stood in September of 1928 and in October of 1927. Prices of poultry products were higher, and production was greater, last October than in September or in October of 1927, according to figures assembled by V. R. Wertz, of the rural economics department of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

Farm prices of eggs last October were 16 per cent higher than in September. Estimated sales of poultry also increased. The result was an increase of 11 points in the index figures representing the poultry and egg income of Ohio. The index stood at 124 in October, 113 in September, and 103 in October of 1927. Poultry prices last month were three cents a pound higher than in the same month last year, and 20 per cent more eggs, it is estimated, were produced.

FOUNDER OF PLYMOUTH ADVERTISER IS AMONG THOSE IN HALL OF FAME

One of the pleasing events of the All-Ohio Newspaper Conference was the dinner to the Judges in the election of the Ohio Journalism Hall of Fame. All newspaper men and women present at the conference were invited, and on Friday evening, Nov. 3, seventy-five were seated in the dining room of the Faculty Club.

Professor Joseph S. Myers, director of the School of Journalism, presided, and at the conclusion of the dinner introduced the program with a few remarks as to the purpose of the gathering—to dignify Ohio journalism and to honor a few of the distinguished members of the profession who had, by the votes of fifty-one judges, been chosen as the first to be admitted to the Hall of Fame.

Among the eight famous Ohio newspaper men eligible for the Hall of Fame appears the name of David Ross Locke, who originally began the publishing of The Plymouth Advertiser. Mr. Locke was not only the founder of the Plymouth paper, but he was publisher of numerous other northern Ohio papers, and The Ohio Newspaper prints the following concerning the activities of Mr. Locke in the newspaper field:

DAVID ROSS LOCKE

Professor Myers: Our next topic is David Ross Locke. Mr. F. L. Dustman of the American Issue—if there is an American issue any more—I doubt it very much—will tell us about his acquaintance with Mr. Locke. Mr. Dustman:

Mr. Toastmaster, Ladies and Gentlemen, The American Issue is still going—a dollar a year.

Professor Myers: That is not the issue I referred to.

Mr. Dustman: David Ross Locke was born in 1833 and died in 1888. As I understand, he started early in life to learn the printing trade; he started when he was ten years old and finally succeeded from time to time in running several country newspapers, here in Ohio, particularly in the northern part of the state at Plymouth, and later on, Mansfield, Bucyrus, and Findlay, and then went to Toledo about the time of the opening of the Civil War. Before he left Findlay, however, he began to publish over the name of "Petroleum V. Nasby" the "Confederate Cross Road Letters," that really made him famous and made the Toledo Blade famous.

Years ago, I dug in my home a copy of a book published by Mr. Locke containing all the Nasby letters, at least a volume of, oh, I presume, seven or eight hundred pages.

During the war and during the period of reconstruction following the war, he published those "Confederate Cross Road Letters," under the name always of "Petroleum V. Nasby."

He was a master of satire. You can tell that by reading those letters. You created a great deal of attention all over the country and made the Weekly Blade famous from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and the fame went on after D. R. Locke died in 1888.

At that time, the Toledo Blade had wide circulation all over the country. I know we had the idea in the office at Toledo that no one could mention the name of a postoffice in the country to which copies of the Toledo Blade were not going. During the years I was in the Blade office, there were a great many callers, men and women, from all over the country, who had been readers of the old Weekly Blade, and, passing through Toledo, would stop and visit the office. I often remarked that we would give them $100.00 if they could mention a postoffice in the country to which I could not, by turning to the files of the circulation department, show that copies of the Blade were being sent. I remember one day a gentleman from some place in Colorado came in. He had been raised on the Weekly Blade. So I told him what we could do. "Oh," he says, "you can't do that. I think right now of a postoffice in Colorado, to which I am very sure the Blade does not go. It is a postoffice all right. A train goes through there once every week or two on a little railroad, but there are only three or four houses and I don't think you have any circulation there." He named the place and I went to the circulation department and I couldn't find record of the place. So I said, "I guess you have got me. It looks as if I owe you $100.00." He says, "Oh, I knew there wasn't anything there. But," he says, "maybe I made a mistake about that town. One went to have a great many towns that are named by one name and the postoffice by another." He says, "That is not the name of the postoffice. That is the name of the town that I gave you." He gave me the name of the postoffice, and I found that there are four towns going to that office.

So that it really did have a general circulation all over the country, long before the days of rural delivery. That was due to the Nasby letters. There is no question about it.

Mr. Locke, unlike the gentlemen spoken of by the other speakers, was not a politician; didn't care anything for offices of any kind, and ran the Blade as a Republican newspaper and that was the end of it. He had more fun outside of politics when he had it. He was a humorist and he gave humorous lectures all over the country and also all over Europe.

Around the office, he had his peculiar characteristics. You may say that they belonged to genius. I suppose, because he was a genius in his line. For instance, in writing editorials, he could never be comfortable in writing unless he turned his trouser legs up at the bottom. When he had done that, he could settle himself and go ahead and write the editorial on whatever line he desired.

He had other peculiarities. For instance, his son, Robinson Locke, told me that he was down in the counting room and his father came in. There was a young man in the counting room looking after some business. Petroleum V. Nasby said to Robinson Locke, his son, "Who is that young man?" "Well," Robinson Locke said, "he belongs upstairs; he works for us; one of our reporters." "Well," old Nasby said, "fire him." "Why, no," Rob Locke said, "he is a good reporter, fine fellow." "Fire him." "Well, why?" "I don't like the way he dresses; he is too dudsish; we don't want that sort of a fellow around here." He insisted and the young man was fired solely because he wore good clothes, I presume.

Of course, as the Blade grew—not only the weekly, but the daily—it made money and David Ross Locke spent the money about as fast as the paper made it. He had all kinds of theatrical troupes on the road, and one friend of his who made some invention that was going to revolutionize the world, but needed the capital to put it on the market. David Ross Locke would back him in his venture and systematically lost his money, of course.

The last few years before his death, he got the fad of putting money into downtown real estate in Toledo. He had plenty of it to put into real estate and he made it pay, and I presume, probably for the heirs, about that time, before a new fad struck him, he passed on.

As I said, he cared little about politics; he had a good time; he worked hard; he was a real newspaper man without any of the frills or furbelows for office or office-hunting.

The Blade was now passed from the hands of the Locke family. It did that two or three years ago, and is now owned by outside interests. A New York man owns the Blade and the people of Toledo are not very well satisfied with the situation of having the old Blade owned by a man who does not live in Toledo. But, of course, that is one of the ways of the world.

NEW ROAD OPENED

The south Main street road out of Mansfield, known as the Sherman Highway, and which during the past summer has been under improvement for a distance of six miles between Mansfield and Belleville, was opened for travel last Thursday. Richland County surveyor A. L. Allen in making the announcement of the opening, stated that motorists must exercise care in using the new road which has not been entirely completed.

MAY INCREASE DOG TAX

IN HURON COUNTY AS A RESULT OF HIGH LOSSES
Dog owners in Huron county may have to pay a $2.00 tax instead of $1 as a result of heavy sheep damages which have been reported this year. Under a new statute the tax can be increased to set sheep claims. It is predicted that the cost of a dog license may be boosted to $2.00 as a minimum charge in Huron county.

Editorial News and Comment

fering a plan to safeguard the country against unemployment which promises to be of equally great benefit. Lots of people have voiced the opinion that someone ought to visit South America and straighten things out. So, too, lots of people have said that it would be a good thing to build streets and postoffices when work was slack. It took Hoover to give both schemes vitality. No better example could be offered of his fitness to be president of the United States at this time. . . . From the "Christmas clubs" maintained by 8,000 banks of the United States $550,000,000 will soon be distributed to their millions of customers. This handsome total, representing a ten per cent increase over last year's holiday savings is a pleasant reminder of our end-of-the-year level of prosperity. Not all of the $550,000,000 will be immediately spent, for it has been observed that the habit of saving fostered by the "Christmas club" steadily persists and a reasonable balance is retained as a foundation upon which to build the next year's accumulation. Nor does the entire Christmas fund come out of savings accounts. Additional tens of millions are charged by reputable purchasers to active store accounts and subsequently paid out of current income. The outstanding fact is, however, that the money which will pour into Christmas shopping promises to be so enormous in quantity that it will start next year's industry at an accelerated pace and continue it in full swing for many months.
