Getting Out of Patience

Local Factory May Have Great Future In Use of Diesel Engine

Low Cost of Operation and Maintenance Are Big Features of Motor Now Being Used in Locomotives.

The outlook for Plymouth's home industry, The Fate-Root-Heath Co., is considered very bright at present, and from reports, the company will enjoy a good expansion in both the manufacture and selling of its already famous product, the Plymouth locomotive. This will be made possible through the Diesel engine, which displaces the use of gasoline and consumes fuel oil instead.

The Diesel engine, while practically new to America, is fast becoming one of the most outstanding means of motive power today. It was originally designed and perfected by the Germans and the engines made in this country today come under the German patents. The Diesel has many advantages over the gasoline type of engine. It is said that the operating cost of the new locomotive can be reduced to about half the present cost of the gasoline type, as fuel oil is considerably cheaper than gasoline, and the maintenance of the Diesel engine is comparatively small.

Last year the local company began its experimenting and investigation of the Diesel engine, and have so far found them very satisfactory in every respect. In fact, several gasoline prospects turned to the Diesel engine and this week a number of them will be shipped.

One of the new locomotives that will leave Plymouth the latter part of the week for St. Louis is a 25-ton type, 36-in. gauge, and 24 feet, six inches long. It has the resemblance of a small sized steam locomotive, and it is said this type of locomotive can be operated all day on as small a sum as $2.00. Monday a 15-ton Diesel locomotive was shipped to Chicago, while another is on hand for another of the 25-ton type. A 12-ton Diesel was shipped Tuesday to Crestline where it will be used on a construction contract for the Pennsylvania railroad. Indications point to many orders for this type of locomotive and Plymouth people hope for a continued success of the local plant.

The new ordinances will be found on page 4 of this issue, along with other legal advertising. Regular routine business was also transacted.

Last Wednesday Deputy Dog Warden F. B. Clark was called to the Alton Snyder farm at New Haven to shoot a cow afflicted with rabies. This was the third animal necessary to be killed on account of having been attacked by a rabid dog. The man who is always killing time is really killing his own chances in life; while the man who is destined to success in the world makes his time live by making it useful. In these days much of the profit and success sometimes the whole of success depends upon utilizing the odds and ends, the so-called "by-products." The by-product is something apart from the main article the manufacturer has produced. I think that has an actual value of its own. For instance, in the manufacture of gas there are by-products; these are obtained from the coal as the latter is made into lighting gas. And these by-products, including the coke from the gas, usually suffice to pay the cost of the gas.

All kinds of big business have their by-products, their little odds and ends that pay well. Time is the one thing we possess. Our success depends upon the use of our time, and its by-products, the odd moments. The point here is that the man who is successful in time. Each of us has a regular day's work that he does in a routine, more or less mechanical way. But, what about the by-product, the odd moments that we have? These are the moments that have made great successes in this world are the men that have used wisely those odd moments? What a man does in his odd moments is not only apt to bring him profit it is apt also to increase his mental activity, his capacity for his job, his energy, and it often does well the usual thing out of the routine.

"Letting well enough alone" is a foolish motto in the life of a man who wishes to get ahead in the first place, nothing is "well enough" if you can do better. No matter how good it may be, if you can do more, it is an old Spanish proverb which says, "Enjoy the little you have while the fish is hunting for more." The energetic American ought to turn this proverb upside down and make it read, "While the fool is enjoying the fish, he will be gone for more." And the way to hunt for more is to utilize your odd moments. Every minute that you save by making it more profitable, is so much added to your life and its possibilities. Every minute lost is a neglected profit—gone, gone, gone. Every quarter of an hour in the morning before breakfast, the odd half hour after breakfast, remember the chance to read or figure, or think with concentration on your own career, that comes now and again in the day. All of these opportunities are the by-products of your daily existence—Use them, and you may find what many of the great concerns have found, that the real profit is in the utilization of the by-product.

Voltra, head of Zion City, who says the earth is flat, has had an income of $3,000,000 a year for the past six years. The fact that he has had an income of that amount may give you an idea of how many people there are who think the earth is flat.

A Lord N. J. girl driven to despair by the plight of her six little brothers and sisters "on the verge of starvation" and an overload of family debt, has offered to marry "any white man" with $10,000. A New York girl has advertised herself for sale to any man who has enough money to relieve the starvation conditions of herself and parents. There was a $5,000 mortgage on a Milwaukee home which threatened to deprive a family of shelter, so the two young daughters put their heads together for a "block" for any two men who would liquidate the mortgage. Just for want of a husband to keep her from starvation, a Wisconsin girl thinks a man with about $5,000 would answer the purpose. Another mortgage case has been the occasion for a "block" for any man on the market in New York to liquidate the family debt of $9,000. A Massachusetts man finds himself without a wife and must have one before he receives an inheritance of $200,000. He is literally swamped with applications for the "block" for any man in order to give him a life. A mother wants $10,000 to advertise her business, so her daughter has offered to "sell herself" to any man with that amount to help her mother. . . . A woman, 40 years of age, enters a tabernacle in California after having drank poison, left a note on the seat with this: "Destitute, hungry, unable to find employment. I am ending it all. . . . An Ohio woman killed her baby because she had neither food nor clothing, then ended her own life."

A FAITH, FIRM-FIXED
We heard on the street, following the talk given before the Kiwanis club by Director of Agriculture Charles V. Trux, the thought that the small town is doomed to become an unimportant factor in American life. Trux expressed that view when he said that unless agricultural conditions improve, the small town is doomed to extinction as a business center.

Some appear to have been led by Trux's eloquence to believe that such is the case, although much of the speaker's eloquence may be attributed to his desire for political promotion. He was, perhaps, not above capitalizing Wellington's situation in the farming community to glorify the great "I AM."

Unquestionably, the smaller communities all over the nation have been changing. The automobile and good roads perhaps have had more to do with this than anything else. But who can say they have not and are not changing for the better?

It would be interesting to know whether the business men of Wellington a generation ago were more prosperous than those of today. Certainly the town of a generation ago was far from being as good a town to live in as the present town. Time seems to better many things, especially living conditions. Every business man, whether in the metropolis or at "Four Corners," has the problem of getting business and making a profit. It is not so much the town in which a man lives, but the spirit in which he does business, the acumen he uses, the way he makes use of his opportunities, that wins for him success or failure.

ways will be room, for the man with sufficient business ability to be master of his own concern. If it be true that the small town is on the decline, then it would be a good time for the business men to leave—to desert like rats that scamper from the deck of a sinking ship. We call it tommyrot to hold that theory. We maintain that the small town is a better place in which to live and, at least, as good a place in which to do business as it was fifty or twenty-five years ago. And we think it is going to continue to be if we did not, we would get out. The small town will live and grow commercially speaking, in proportion to the merchandising efforts of its retailers. If they lay down on the job, they must blame themselves. After all, a town is what its people make it, and if none strives to make it better, it will stagnate. Especially is this true of retail trade. Trux and his political talk to the contrary, the small town affords opportunities for retail merchandising today that it did not offer a generation ago. The need is for men of vision who are ready to fight for their businesses, who will seek trade and make conditions such that trade will be attracted to the town. We have faith in the small town and he who has not should get into business elsewhere. He will find that the only bed of roses for the man in business is in Heaven.—Wellington Enterprise.

"EVA" DID NOT GO TO HEAVEN AT ALL

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" inevitably had to succumb to modern treatment, just did "Hamlet," "Camille" and "Hannibal" battle along "The Road to Rome." It was the Duncan Sisters, Rosetta and Vivian, who took upon themselves the task of playing this old tune of Civil War days to jazz time. How successfully the famous sisters did this may be seen at the Shelby Opera House, Friday, March 9th, where they are appearing in "Topsy and Eva," the screen version of their own musical comedy which has been played for four years on the stage throughout the United States.

The naughty and impish slave girl, "Topsy," is played by Rosetta Duncan, who uses morlock-faces make-up than Al Jolson ever will. The sweet orphan child, "Eva," is portrayed by doll-like Vivian. Simon Ledger, the whip-cracking money lender; Uncle Tom, and a host of others immortalized in the classic are there—but how differently! Each of the original story and characters remain to afford recognition, but there is in the film a never-ceasing flow of fun caused by the comic antics of the Duncans.

P. T. A. Monday, March 5th, the monthly P. T. A. was held in the High School auditorium. There was a large crowd present and the program was enjoyed by all. The program was as follows: Piano Solo Greta Russell Minnette Grades Vocal Solo Mrs. McElbroom Picture Show—Youth Regained by Fleischman Yeast Co. Everyone enjoyed Mrs. McElbroom's solo that she sang in her usual ably manner. The plot of the show was a man in a run-down condition. He took Fleischman Yeast three times a day which caused him to regain his strength and courage to meet necessities of life. The grades can surely put on good plays when they try to. Mr. Ford made several announcements to be looked forward to in March, they were: March 17th—the picture show—Mabel Normand in "Suzanna." It is the show which will be famous. March 23rd—Dramatic Club recital. March 30th—Musical recital.

The business session was very short and the meeting adjourned at an early hour. DORA BLOOM LITERARY The last literary program was given by the Delphian Society. In spite of the fact that the president and secretary did not take their offices, and the vice president and the assistant secretary substituted, the program was very good. The debate certainly warmed the hall in which the thermometers were, and the Delphian program went up. The next program will be given by the Atlans Society on March 16th. We hope the Atlans mercury will go up as high. If not higher than the Delphian, in the coming program. M. J. H.

LIFE INSURANCE

For Baby Chicks Insured at Shelby by Hatchery by Carl Daugherty. Carl Daugherty, proprietor of the Shelby Hatchery on Washington street, Shelby, who has been very successful for years in raising baby chicks, is now adding one more department to the hatchery business which is a little out of the ordinary. In the last few years we have heard of insurance of every kind. There is no limit to the insurance field and now comes Mr. Daugherty to the front and insures the plan of life insurance for baby chicks.

We have life, fire, public liability, theft, cyclone, stick and accident and a score of others but we confess that baby chick insurance is a new one to us. When Mr. Daugherty informed us that he was planning to insure the lives of the baby chicks turned out at the Shelby Hatchery it sounded queer to us, but as he unfolded the plan we found it was an added service to the customer which will certainly be appreciated.

The life insurance on baby chicks sold by Mr. Daugherty will cover them for the first ten days and after that time whether they live or die is a matter of feeding and care, but the life insurance covers the chick during the dangerous period. Mr. Daugherty believes he can afford to do this for the reason that careful selection of his breeding stock and eggs and expert incubation enables him to raise a sturdy vigorous chick that will live and he is thus encouraged to make this liberal offer of insurance on the chicks sold from the Shelby Hatchery.

Purchasers of baby chicks need no longer take a chance of any of their chicks dying. Any loss will be covered by life insurance issued by the Shelby Hatchery. Stop in at the Shelby Hatchery, 21 Washington street, Shelby, any time and the details will be explained to you.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN IN "THE CIRCUS" AT TEMPLE THEATRE

Latest Comedy a Merry Tale of Peanuts, Sawdust, Tigers and Pink Lemonade.
 Charlie Chaplin in "The Circus!" Peanuts, sawdust, pink lemonade, clown, tigers, elephants, roaring lions, acrobats, wire-walkers, and Charlie Chaplin in his brand new comedy will all be at the Temple Theatre, Willard, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, March 11, 12 and 13. Written, directed and produced by Charlie Chaplin. "The Circus" two years in the making and it is the first Chaplin comedy since "The Gold Rush."
 Charlie plays a wandering lad who is mixed up in a series of hilarious adventures, chases, arguments and situations that land him in "The Circus" as a very fine fellow. Norma Kennedy, with red hair and just five feet, two, with eyes of blue, is his leading lady. She makes her screen debut in the role. Others in the cast are Harry Crocker, Henry Bergman, Betty Morrissey and Allan Garcia.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

According to officials of United Artists Corporation which released the new Chaplin comedy "The Circus" presents the Chaplin of old, the Chaplin of "Shoulder Arms," "Pay Day" and "The Pilgrim"—the thumping, bumping little man with the trick derby and cane, the wriggling moustache and the feet almighty. Chaplin himself announced during production of "The Circus," which was made at his own studio in Hollywood, that his new picture would be "a low brow comedy for high brows."

Manager of the Temple Theatre said that he felt "highly gratified" in being enabled to present at his theatre Charlie Chaplin's first comedy in two and a half years, especially so because he considers "The Circus" the funniest Chaplin picture he has seen in his many years of motion picture exhibition.

MARION DAVIES IS STAR
 Johnny Mack Brown, Famous Star of Gridiron, Plays Leading Role Opposite Star

In the supporting cast of Marion Davies' new starring vehicle, "The Fair Co-ed," coming to the Temple Theatre, Willard Friday and Saturday, March 9 and 10, are seen a number of the best football players of America, a thousand students from various colleges and universities, the champion all-around woman athlete of the world, famous coaches and physical instructors and the cheer leaders of various big schools.

 Johnny Mack Brown, who made football history two years ago when he was the star halfback of the University of Alabama's famous "crimson tide" team, is seen opposite Miss Davies, in the leading male role—that of a college basketball coach—Johnny sprang into the limelight of football when he won the Pasadena Rose Bowl East-West game for Alabama when the University of Washington players had the game "clutched."

 With him, in Miss Davies' picture, are seen Morley Drury, captain of the University of Southern California's football team, and a number of famous players from that school, including Howard Elliott, Don Williams, Bert Heiser, Don Moses and Drew Percy. Another great pigskin carrier seen in the production is Earl Merritt, a star backfield player of Pomona four years ago.

ATTEND BANQUET AT NORWALK

Huron County Epworth Leaguers enjoyed a banquet and evening of fun and frolic at the Norwalk Methodist church Friday evening. At 6 o'clock one hundred and fifty young people from the five Epworth Leagues of the county enjoyed an hour of fellowship, then entered the beautifully decorated dining room for the banquet served by the Ladies Aid. Miss Mary Wood of Norwalk led the songs and yells. Rev. E. B. McBurn is county president and had a short program at the table when Dr. C. B. Hess of Norwalk and Rev. E. R. Brown of Mansfield, spoke messages of encouragement to youth. The ministers and presidents of the Epworth Leagues added a word of appreciation for the cooperation of the youth of our churches. Some lively games and stunts were conducted by the Norwalk Epworth League after the program and all were made acquainted and enjoyed one of the happiest evenings of the winter. Another county rally will be held in May to prepare for the Epworth League Institute at Lakeside this August. The attending from Plymouth included Misses Thelma Kerman, Lucille Moore, Helen Payne, Mary Payne, Glenna Baltzell, Marguerite Boardman, Zetta Brooks, Alice Johnson, Thelma Johnson; Messrs. "MY MARYLAND"

Returns Next Week
Another opportunity will be given theatre patrons of this vicinity to see and hear the great American opera "My Maryland" which played two sensational weeks in Cleveland around the holidays for it will return to the Hanna Theatre there for one week commencing next Sunday night (March 11th). This popular musical attraction is returning with the same splendid company and huge production intact which means that the great make show in all its glories will again sing the famous marching song "Your Land and My Land" with the same volume and quality that has made this feature one of the outstanding incidents of the current theatrical season everywhere.

In coming back "Maryland" is adding another page to its chronicle record of success which challenges comparison by any other musical attraction in theatrical history for it has completed a tour of the middle west with record patronage and now is booked for a long series of returns engagements that will take it back over the same route which lease it originally to Cleveland. Since leaving there two months ago it went back to Buffalo and in return engagement of one week actually packed into the Shubert Theatre there the greatest number of persons that the theatre ever housed in any one week in the forty-five years of its existence. This company is booked to return there again shortly, which will mean three separate engagements within a period of five months a record never before attained by any theatrical attraction anywhere.

To those who were unable to obtain tickets for "My Maryland" when it was in Cleveland before, its story tells of a thrilling and charming romance of Crispin's Day with melodramatic power, and is set to music by Sigmund Romberg, composer of "Blossom Time" and "The Student Prince." It is this latter feature, as much as any other element that had made it the tremendous, sweeping hit everywhere, for the score contains some of the most stirring and virile music ever written.

Christian Endeavor Societies to Enter In International Crusade

Christian Endeavor societies and other youth groups in the churches of this vicinity will enter the international crusade with Christ, states Harold Stanz, president of the Huron County Christian Endeavor Union. The Crusade is based on allegiance to Christ and the church in terms of Evangelism, World Peace and Christian Citizenship. The first emphasis of this new movement will be on Evangelism, the individual's relations to God and religion. This phase formally opens during the week preceding Easter, which will be observed by the young people as a week of prayer for the International Crusade with Christ.

On Easter morning, sunrise prayer meetings will be held in thousands of cities and villages all through North America, in which it is expected 4,000,000 young people of Christian Endeavor, the Epworth League and other young people's church organizations will participate.

On the Sunday following Easter, April 15th, the young people will consider in their societies and discussion periods the topic, "How can We Crusade with Christ?" Societies will be asked to set definite goals for their part in the Crusade. In the months following, the Crusade ideals will be presented in young people's camps. Study books and leaflets of practical suggestions will be available as aids to the societies in their activities. Informational mass meetings will be held in many sections, addressed by state and international officers of denominational bodies and of Christian Endeavor.

The Crusade was first presented and adopted in the International Convention of Christian Endeavor in Cleveland last summer by Rev. Daniel A. Poling D. D. and has since received the approval of scores of religious leaders.

Truax Tells Farmers' Troubles In His Address at Wellington

Says Farm Legislation is Necessary to "Save Farmer From Life of Serfdom;" Points Out That Farm Valuation is too High.

In his address before the annual Farmers' Day meeting of the Luncheon Club at Wellington last Thursday, Chas. V. Truax, director of agriculture, delivered one of the most interesting addresses ever heard at Wellington. Inasmuch as the address dwelt on conditions of agriculture we are taking the liberty of quoting Truax and his statistics on farming.

Mr. Truax spent thirty years of his life on a farm in Seneca county, near Sycamore and having followed agriculture all of his life he can talk with accuracy on the farmers' problems. Below is the address in full which you will find filled with interesting figures.

"Where agriculture fails everything falls—city and urban prosperity alike depend upon farm prosperity; the early Roman empire failed because agriculture was not prosperous. Yet, the only times the farmers of the United States have enjoyed prosperity has been during war periods. The farming industry has never been favored by legislature as other industries have been.

"Our cities and the wealth of our country are constantly growing, but not agriculture. From 1920 to 1925 the value of farm products in the United States decreased 29 billions of dollars, which is more than the value of all our railroads combined, while, at the same time, other industries all gained in capital stock.

"The manufacturer can determine his production but not so the farmer. The farmer can determine his costs but not so the production, because of weather and disease and insects over which he has no control and cannot foresee. The manufacturer can set his price but the farmer has the price of his produce set for him. The manufacturer can speed up production but the farmer's crops will be what they will be after his seed is in the ground.

"They say the farmer is not efficient, yet what other business man has to contend with what the farmer has to contend with? Further, it is the farmer in the U. S. today is producing more per man than any country in the world.

"The farmers represent 40 per cent of the population of our country, and they have been forced to quit buying because of the general depression of prices for their products. And because the farmers are on a buying strike, the employment situation is as it is today, with accompanying failure of banks and depression of real estate in the cities.

"We recently made a survey of land values of farms for sale. The value in 1925 farm land brought on an average of $87 per acre, while today the average is $50. In ten years, land valuation has dropped two billions of dollars. In 1920 the value of the crops grown in Lorain county was $1,550,000; in 1925, $2,215,000; in 1927, $2,603,000, or a loss in seven years of about $1,350,000.

"Some people say let the farmer alone, he will work out his own problem. This is an Eastern viewpoint, a manufacturer's viewpoint and is all wrong. The farmer needs co-operation and needs it badly." Here the speaker displayed a recent issue of a Des Moines, Ia., paper which contained thirty-four pages of delinquent taxes. "Here is listed over two and a half millions of farm property which will have to be sold," he said. "And

Mrs. Tom Shaarda spent Thursday evening with Mrs. Fred Vogel and daughter, Kathryn.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Folkes of Plymouth spent Thursday evening with H. Newmyer and family.

"All the farmer wants is equality—a fair return or dividend the same as other industries," Mr. Truax declared. "If it is denied him longer, the small community will be terribly injured and the cities will suffer also. You cannot destroy the farmer without hurting the balance of the nation. The small town is doomed unless agriculture is put on a paying basis.

"What is needed is that our representatives should fight arm and arm for farm prosperity. There is not a class of tollers more deserving than the tillers of the soil, on whom we depend for the food we eat. The difficulty arises in Congress, where other industries have been favored at the expense of the farmer. After the war, war contracts were paid to other industries, but the farmer was told to shift for himself. The government paid 600 millions of dollars to the railroads alone, but not a cent went to agriculture. The railroads employees represent 11 per cent of our population and the farmers 40 per cent. If agriculture were paid on the same basis as the railroads, it would have meant 2 1/2 billions for farmers.

"Then, too, the immigration laws have effected the farmers' labor problem, as has the increased wages in the cities, which as a whole, are on the same level if not higher than during the war.

"After the war the farmer was forced into the world food market, and depression followed. The farmer had a surplus after the war, too, but he was left without aid Congress said. It is your problem, solve it yourself. I consider it the blackest crime in the history of any country—this deliberate bankruptcy of the farmer at the hands of his own government. Why conditions are such that two million people left the farms in 1927 alone?

"Commodities which the farmer buys have increased in price 200 per cent in recent years, while the products he sells show an average increase of 15 per cent. Figure it out for yourself where the farmer is. He holds the bag, I say."

Here Mr. Truax launched into a discussion of the McNary-Haugen bill, saying:

"The McNary-Haugen bill should pass. I'll tell you why. For example, we produce normally about 500 million bushels of wheat and have use at home for about 650 million bushels of it. The farmer is forced into the world market to sell the surplus, and Liverpool sets the price—not only on the excess 150 million bushels, but the Liverpool price governs the entire crop. Under this bill the farmer would receive a better price for the wheat consumed at home and, through an equalization tax, would receive a better price for the portion sent abroad. It is the only tax where the payer can get back 100 cents on the dollar.

"The enemies of this bill say that we would have to have another board to look after the farmer. True, but there is any other group of people in this great country of ours more entitled to a board than the 40 per cent on the farms? Every other industry has its board, why forget the farmer on whom the prosperity of the entire country rests?

"This bill would increase the value of crops in Lorain county 25 per cent which would amount to about $651,000. Most of this money would naturally be spent in Lorain county, for the farmer is a good spender when he has the money. And this amount of money would mean the difference between slow business and good business in your community and the country and the country.

"Agriculture is facing the greatest catastrophe in its history. Immediate action is imperative not for the so-called relief but for co-operation and a square deal. If it is denied, our farmers will become what they were in ancient history, 'back bent surfs' and I for one will fight to the last ditch before this comes to pass."

Atlantic City is complaining because the dirigible, Los Angeles, flew over the city and kept the hotel guests awake at nights. We thought that Atlantic City visitors had a lot more than that to keep them awake.

It is now reported that Europe may offer us three billion cash to pay all our claims against her. But we doubt whether they will offer even this much in real money unless there is a catch in it somewhere.

Says Advertising Signs 'Should Not Imitate Official RoadMarkers'

Columbus, O.—Director of Highways, George F. Schlesinger, calls attention to the fact that many of the companies erecting billboards for the purpose of advertising along the highways are closely imitating the standard warning signs being used by the Department. Although these billboards are not permitted within the right-of-way line they are often so located that they become confusing and deceptive destroying the efficiency of the standard highway warning signs. In some states legislation has been proposed which would prohibit the erection of billboards, refreshment stands, etc. in a zone extending along each side of the highway right-of-way. The purpose of such a law would be to preserve the natural beauty and scenery that is often hidden from the motorist by unsightly commercial advertisements. Officials of the State Automobile Association have expressed themselves as antagonistic to the erection of advertising signs that are so similar to the highway warning signs that they detract from the effectiveness of the latter and, consequently, increase the hazards of motoring.

Many Attended C. of C. Meeting

The annual meeting was held Friday evening, March 2nd in Masonic hall.

About fifty members and guests were present including a delegation from Plymouth. A special vote of Thanks was extended to the arrangement committee for preparing and serving a fine duck supper, also to Geo. W. Page for the donation of the ducks for the occasion. This committee consisted of A. J. Willett, Rudy Rader, I. L. McQuate and A. W. Moser. The membership includes fellows who can arrange all the details and serve a good banquet as well as the general run of citizens who can discuss politics and by various efforts provide the necessities which are essential to the well being of their several families.

Report of road committee by F. C. Dawson showed that some roads have been granted during the past year and others are on the way.

Glen Swanger stated that the town committee thought prospects were good for some advance.

Report of Hamman reported that the country would be even more alive than in the past.

Stacy C. Brown, N. B. Rule and P. W. Thomas each expressed their interest and good will in the pity talks they gave.

Ford and L. A. McCord representing the local membership gave a review of the past year showing that now we can have a community program and that we are able to get roads and many other benefits, because we are invited and speaking and reporting for community advancement.

We do not work to get the advantages belonging to us, we simply grow the weaker, while other communities far outclass us.

A motion was adopted that annual election of directors be held at the regular March meeting, the first Friday evening.

Certainly it seems good to have sixty-seven members on the roll—twelve new ones. When we remember the first scouting meeting on January 13th a year ago attended by thirteen people with three other meetings to follow before we had an organization effected.

Considerable investigation has been made of the lime and coal unloading question, also of a signal system for fire, theft and other emergency use in the community.

The vote on the program of work which should be done brought out requests for general good roads from several, also for picking of Old Salem road, Ferris road, Shenandoah road, Bowman street road, Scott. Coal unloading, rest room. Fix up the club room so it can be used by citizens any time winter plant, a most beautiful Shiloh ad to advertise the community.

The following directors were elected for the present year: F. C. Dawson, Boyd Hamman, Geo. W. Page, C. D. Nelson, A. W. Firestone, H. L. Ford, Norris Gilger, R. H. Howard and I. L. McQuate.

All in attendance wish Geo. W. Page success in selling all the baby chicks that chirp at the hatchery this season, but it is hoped that he will have time to fatten a crate of nice fowl for the market on March 1, 1928.

FROM THE PEN OF A

BEEHIVE SCHOOL GIRL

The following lines were composed by the little granddaughter of Mrs. Anna Middleworth. She wrote it without any help whatever, a development of an unusual love for and study of wild animals. She is well known here and friends are very much pleased with her accomplishment.

The Wolf

The wolf is an animal swift and brave.

He dwells in a hollow den or cave. He kills his food for his own good use. From the tiniest mouse, to the largest mouse.

He roams thru valleys and over hills. Nor bothers his head with household bills.

The she-wolf has love for her cubs, seldom fond. And for them she won't give one inch of ground.

The wolf has an eye that reads with one look.

Every broken twig, like an open book.

He spins a nose, too, that never fails. That sends him bounding along right trails.

And so I must quit my story true About the wolf and his habits, too.

MABEL NORMAND IN

BEWITCHING COMPANY

Has Star Part in New Bennett Feature "Suzanne," Beautifully Romantic

An appeal to the lover of the artistic and picturesque is Mack Bennett's "Suzanne," starring Mabel Normand, an Allied Producers and Distributor's Corporation release.

She is against a background historic and romantic, "Suzanne" faithfully depicts the charm, romance and fruitfulness of California about 1835. To the most minute detail, the mannerisms, customs, adventures and buildings of the early Californians have been reproduced and revived for this quaint but beautiful story.

Supported by a cast chosen with great consideration for type, Mabel Normand is irresistibly appealing to every lover of beauty, romance, adventure and comedy.

She has been given ample opportunity, to her great delight, to appear before millions of comedy-lovers in a role at once so human, so lovable, so sympathetic, so bewitching that no one can resist her.

The character of Suzanne, so ably portrayed by Miss Normand is that of an early Spanish-Californian poem, raised so from the day of her birth. Through destiny, however, Suzanne has been cheated of her rightful heritage, for she is in reality the daughter of a Don of high caste and lineage. This picture will be shown at the Shiloh School auditorium March 11th.

The Ladies Aid met with Mrs. John Wilson, Wednesday, February 29th, 1928 for an all day meeting with twenty-five members and one visitor present. The En-
