Mrs. Sarah Darling Victim of Painful Accident

SHILOH—While Mrs. Sarah Darling was looking after the fire Tuesday forenoon, her dress became ignited and she was seriously burned. Her daughter, Miss Pearl, was in the yard, and hearing her mother call rushed toward the house and saw her mother at the door enveloped in flames. Quickly reaching a large rug and calling O. W. Kaylor who happened to be near, they succeeded in smothering the flames. Other help soon arrived and everything possible was done to ease her suffering until Dr. S. S. Holtz arrived and administered medical treatment. Although Mrs. Darling is in a serious condition her many friends are hoping for her recovery.

Mrs. Darling's daughters, Mrs. J. E. Hiders and Mrs. M. Williams are at the bedside of their mother.

Court Reverses Judgment In Favor People National Bank

The Peoples National Bank was the winner last week in a long pending court case that has caused much comment in this vicinity. The case in full is given as follows:

"Attorney L. E. Beam, has just received word from Arthur B. Musmann, clerk of the U. S. circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati, advising him that the circuit court of appeals had reversed the finding of the district of Ohio, in the case of the Peoples National Bank of Plymouth, against S. A. Foltz, trustee, remanding the case to the district court at Cleveland, directing that court to dismiss the trustee's petition.

"This matter has been in the courts for a number of years. In 1924 Dessie Willett negotiated a loan with the Federal Land Bank on a farm she owned near Plymouth and the money from this Federal Farm loan was distributed by the Peoples National Bank, a part of it going to pay some notes the Peoples National Bank had for collection and a part going to pay notes that Dessie Willett then owed the bank.

"A short time thereafter Dessie Willett was adjudicated a bankrupt and Sidney A. Foltz of Mansfield was appointed trustee in bankruptcy. The trustee liquidated the assets of the estate and then, as trustee, brought action against the Peoples National Bank of Plymouth, to recover from the bank $3214, with interest which he claimed had been paid by the bank on the notes which it held for collection and on the notes held by it and that such payments were preferred and voidable.

"The case was tried in the U. S. District court at Cleveland on Oct. 6, 1926 before Judge Paul Jones, a jury having been waived and on November 6, 1926 Judge Paul Jones rendered an opinion making a finding in favor of Foltz, trustee, and against the Peoples National Bank of Plymouth, in amount of $2903.27.

"Attorney Beam, who represented the Peoples National Bank of Plymouth, in the trial at Cleveland, took exceptions to the finding of the court and prosecuted a writ of error at Cincinnati and the case was tried at Cincinnati, on January 6th, 1928 before Judges, Dennison, Moorman and Knappen. Mr. Beam appearing for the Peoples National Bank and T. A. Gruber appearing for the trustee, with John P. Kramer appearing as a brief in support of the contention of the trustee.

"The court took the case under advisement and yesterday rendered an opinion reversing the finding of the district court and remanding the case to the district court at Cleveland with direction to dismiss the trustee's petition at his costs."

CORN BORER MACHINERY
IS BEING RECONDITIONED

In the sheds of the United States army department at Camp Perry, Ohio, there are stored and ready for action 2,800 units of machinery used last year in the corn borer control work, and ready for action again this spring. The depreciation on tractors, plows, trucks, motor cars, stubble beaters and other machines has been less than ten per cent since they were purchased. It was estimated by the engineers. During the winter every unit has been thoroughly overhauled and put into first class condition for use this spring. Tractors were not only overhauled, but their cylinders were filled with oil, plows were greased to prevent rust, trucks were laced up. Under the charge of D. A. Milligan, fewer than forty men have been working

Fire Destroys
Bevier Home

Isaac Bevier Heavy Loser Friday Morning

The Isaac Bevier farm home southwest of Plymouth was burned down Friday morning, the fire being discovered about twenty minutes after 2 o'clock. Mr. Bevier was living alone in the house, his daughter having moved out about two weeks ago.

When Mr. Bevier first discovered the fire it was near the chimney and evidently caught from that source. Mr. Bevier first busied himself carrying out his furniture and then had to walk some distance to a neighbors to arouse them and have them telephone for help.

When the neighbors arrived the fire had gained great headway and it was impossible to save the house. Bucket lines were formed however and water was thrown on the barn and adjoining buildings so that the farm house was the only building destroyed. An adjoining building caught fire several times but the neighbors kept the bucket brigade working and the flames were soon extinguished again.

Tonight

The first performance of "Pickles," the High School opera, will be presented at Hamilton Hall, and from indications it will be the best opera ever produced in Plymouth. Those taking part in the play are to be commended for the effort they have put forth in the way of practice and hard work to make the play a success.

"Pickles" is a play that will receive your approval and you will not regret attending the performance.

The plaintiff averred that the Buick was one the wrong side of the road and that it was not turned to the right in time to avoid the collision.

Mathematicians and physicists generally agree that there are a small number of problems in their field which must eternally baffle solution. To square a circle is one perpetual motion another. We may be presumptuous in questioning these savants, but we must respectfully call attention to the status of the prohibition bureau. Again it is announced that a shakeup is under way in the forces which will put more teeth in the eighteenth amendment—our army of prohibition sleuths has been shaking ever since it came into existence. . . . Timidly, we ask, doesn't the key to perpetual motion lie there?

A noted German says America is governed by petitioners. Now we know what is meant by "invisible government."

It will be a long time if ever, before the public gets over the sublime farce of the Remus trial in Ohio. A jury laboring under a complete misapprehension of facts, found that George Remus was insane when he shot and killed his wife who was on her way to the district court. The trial judge, against the recommendation of the jury and over the protest of the defendant, sent Remus to an insane asylum. Now he is ordered released by another court on a writ of habeas corpus. As he steps out, free as the air, he is arrested. He announces his life will be devoted to fighting the prohibitory liquor law. Much of it was spent in violating the law, for which he was sent to prison, and then pardoned, to become a murderer. Very little real inspiration can be gained from contemplating the Remus case. It does show, most luminously, how the law can be twisted, as well as what strange things a trial jury sometimes will do. And as yet, the jury in this case has been not before a sanity commission.

Broadcasting stations naturally try to make their customers believe that radio advertising pays. Probably that is the reason for the "blessome appeals" to write to the advertisers directly or in care of the station to which you are listening. No doubt a concern furnishing a good musical program with a minimum of advertisements, perhaps confined to occasional mention of a trade name, can gain something of publicity and good will. And possibly a radio advertiser overdoing the baloney business, or patting nothing but talk on the air may not only draw from the listeners who chance to listen.

There was a time when we could drop into the barbershop of any town and get political information in picturesque language that one could form a concise opinion of the outcome of any election. But the bobbed hair invasion has dispensed with the barbers of information and now we have instead of barbershops "Tonsorial Shoppes."

Lindbergh says he has nothing to say about a rumored trip across the Pacific. That's about as much as he had to say about his trip across the Atlantic.

A wife in Connecticut sued her husband for damages sustained while riding with him in his car. On the stand, naturally, the husband admitted that he hoped his wife would be given a verdict against him and the insurance company from whom he took his liability policy. The judge, however, halted proceedings and rendered a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The 1927 statistics of Canada show that country bought one gallon of American whisky. There is nothing, however, in the death of figures which show that anybody drank it.

The hen that laid the golden egg had nothing on the "chick" that received a platinum ring from the "old rooster."

Many congressmen were converted to aviation appropriations by Lindbergh during his short trips in the air, demonstrating that he is an eloquent lobbyist. But the question is how far a congressman may feel that he is bound after he comes down to terra firma, after making pledges up in the air.

In the event of anything so extraordinarily foolish as another World War, the mortality among the fighting seas would be very small compared with the destruction of innocent victims.

WHAT PRICE HIGHER PRICE, EMPTY BINS?

Ohio Level Higher Since February 15, But Farmers Buy Instead of Selling Grain for Feed.

Good prices for farm products mean little to farmers who have none of those products to dispose of. Therefore, the fact that farm prices in Ohio rose steadily from February 15th to March 15th, is less significant to the farm operators, than the low feed supplies on hand due to poor crops last year, and the poor prospects for a crop of wheat this year, it is pointed out by the rural economics department of The Ohio State University.

Largely because of higher prices received for grain, the level of Ohio farm prices rose from February 15th to March 15th, from 141 per cent of the pre-war prices, to 144 per cent. Wheat, corn, and oats advanced, respectively, from $1.33, 84 cents per bushel and 52 cents per bushel in February, to $1.45, 95 cents and 56 cents in March.

But feeding requirements on Ohio farms have practically exhausted the supplies of these grains in this state, and many sections of Ohio which normally sell grain at this season, are buying feed this spring to see them through.

Lower prices for milk and eggs prevailed in the period noted. Hog prices were the same in March as in February. On the other hand, milk cows were selling in March at a higher price than at any date since the spring of 1926 and horses at a higher price than at any date since the spring of 1921.

Secalum will be open only on Sunday nights for dancing only until the official opening on Decoration Day when all the rides and new attractions will be open for the usual holiday crowds.

MIX, ON LOCATION, VISITS OWN RANCH

Tom Mix, ace of Western stars, is owner of one of the largest ranches in Arizona on the picturesque Hassayampa river. The ranch covers 10,000 acres. Seven thousand head of cattle and many fine horses have this beautiful spot as their haven.

During the filming of exteriors for his new production, "Tumbling River," Friday and Saturday, April 13th and 14th at the Temple Theatre, Willard, O., Tom visited his spacious domain. Mix is primarily a son of the "great out-of-doors," but due to his photoplay activities, find little time to spend on his ranch.

Location shots were taken near Prescott and he was prepared to spend several days riding hard on his immense cattle possessions.

With Tom in this Fox Films production are Dorothy Dwan, William Conklin, Wallace MacDonald, Stella Essex, Elmo Billings, Edward Peil, Sr., Buster Gardner and Harry Gripp.

SPITE PLAYS BIG PART IN STORY OF "THE BLUE DANUBE"

Leatrice Jay Has Most Dramatic Role in Her Latest Production

Is a woman's spite strong enough to make her marry a hunchback when she believes the man she loves has deserted her?

In a fit of revenge, the heroine in "The Blue Danube," Leatrice Jay's new DeMille studio production for Pathe directed by Paul Sloane, gives herself in marriage to a malformed peasant because she believes her sweetheart has basely trifled with her affections!

Although madly in love with the beautiful peasant girl, portrayed by Leatrice Jay in this colorful story of life on the shores of the Austrian Danube, the hunchback is a horrible creature and his vengeful mind is as distorted as his misshapen body.

Joseph Schildkrant is cast as the hunchback in this original story by John Farrow, based on Strauss's waltz, "The Blue Danube." Nils Asther plays the leading man's role opposite Miss Jay, and Sena Owen, May Robson, Frank Reicher and Albert Gran enact outstanding parts. Paul Sloane collaborated with Harry Carr on the continuity of this remarkable screen story. The picture is said to be tensely dramatic, thrilling and appealing and there is a fine admixture of comedy.

"The Blue Danube" will be shown at the Shelby Opera House Sunday, April 15th.

M. A. Beck Home Again

After spending the winter in California, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Beck arrived home Saturday and are being given a warm welcome by their many friends.

Mr. Beck states that the climate in California is wonderful, and he is very enthusiastic about it, but he says he's glad to get back to Ohio. Conditions in the Golden Gate state, says Mr. Beck, aren't just what they should be, as many of the people are without work. However, both Mr. and Mrs. Beck thoroughly enjoyed their stay in the west, and also visits from many former friends while there.

FLYER HURT NEAR AKRON

Joseph Esch of Akron who conducts a flying school in that city and who last year operated a plane on the Plymouth-Shiloh road, was injured Friday evening in an airplane crash. A number of local people went up in his plane while here and will recall him.

The following article was taken from the Plate Dealer:

AKRON, O., April 6.—Joseph Esch, 49, of 289 W. Center Street, is in People's Hospital here, following an airplane crash near Turkeyfoot Lake tonight.

He received a broken leg and body bruises when the plane fell in a swamp. Residents near the lake rescued him. The plane was wrecked.

Esch was the only person in the plane. He operates a flying field south of the city and is believed to have fallen in a monoplane of his own construction.

Who's Who of the Hoover Delegates at Large

Mrs. Hugh Clark

Almost from the moment women were permitted to vote, Mrs. Hugh Clark, Steubenville, candidate for Hoover delegate at large, has been active as a state Republican party leader having been prominently identified in 1920 with the presidential as well as state campaign as a speaker.

Mrs. Clark is the mother of two sons who fought over seas. She has been president of the American Legion Auxiliary for two years and is an active member of the Women's Relief Corps, Order of Eastern Star, Women's club of Steubenville, Business and Professional Women's club, Steubenville; president of the eastern district, Ohio State Federation of Women's clubs, and during the war was president of the Mothers' Club of Jefferson county.

Former Norwalkian Dead

Walter Barnes died Saturday at Tulsa, Okla., after a brief illness with pneumonia. Mr. Barnes was born in Greenview in 1856 and also made Norwalk his home for a number of years. He was well known throughout Huron county. He was successful as a banker and hotel operator in several cities of the country.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Norwalk.

INCREASE UP FASTER THAN PRICE LEVELS

Sixty Franklin county, Ohio, farmers have increased their labor incomes 35.6 per cent in the six years 1922 to 1927, while the average farm prices were increasing 15.7 per cent. This advance is shown in a summary of the accounts of 47 Franklin county farms, which has been made by I. S. Hoddinn, county agent, and J. C. Neff of the rural economics department of the Ohio State University.

The owners of the five farms studied, have kept their accounts throughout the six years, and the same farms have been kept in this list.

Read the Want Ads

In 1922 the average labor income for each farm was $225 for the year. In 1923, it was $262; in 1924 it was $235; in 1925 it was $1,728; in 1926, it was $1,646, and in 1927 it was $1,919. At the same time the price index for farm products, based upon the period 1910 to 1914 as 100, had been as follows: In 1922, 127; in 1923, 144; in 1924, 133; in 1925, 159; in 1926, 165; in 1927, 147.

Since the labor income and the farm price relation is not constant, it is obvious that better farm management has been responsible for much of the increase in income. In 1925-1926 index of farm prices increased 25 per cent over that of the preceding year, but the labor income showed a rise of more than 134 per cent. In 1927, although farm prices dropped 5 per cent below those of 1926, the labor income showed 16.3 per cent.

"Every farm has some weak points and some strong points," says the summary. "A higher labor income means making the good points better and correcting or eliminating the weak points." The complete farm accounts revealed the weak and the strong points to the five operators.

THE FIRE

It was the third period in the morning when everybody was studying very hard, not thinking of fire when the fire bell rang, and the pupils did not think that it was a real fire so they poked along. When about half of them were out, the fire escapes fell over and the hallways were in flames and they could not get out.

Five minutes later the fire department came and started to shoot water on the fire. They put ladders up to the windows but the ladder would burn as fast as they would put them up. Some of the kids climbed down the stream of frozen water because it froze in large icicles. There was no body hurt but the school house was a total wreck. This story is too good to be true.

Dear Mr. Bredson:
I have been asked to recommend Kenneth Myers for the position of bat boy on the St. Louis Cardinals baseball team, since I have been in a position to watch him through his school years.

I can say that he knows his baseball from one end of the bat to the other; he has a full line of jokes to cheer up the players when they have fallen asleep; he can substitute any day for foot ball chaser.

He uses very good English—sometimes. He wants to break in the big league so give him a chance.

Yours very, very, sincerely

Who's Who of the Hoover Delegates at Large

Theodore E. Burton

One of the first American statesmen to rally to the Hoover presidential candidacy was Congressman Theodore E. Burton, Cleveland, who in 1916 was himself seriously considered a potential presidential candidate.

Congressman Burton's recent debate with Congressman Brand, which was generally conceded by the press to have been very decidedly in Burton's favor, together with the congressman's speech at Cleveland, have placed Burton in the limelight as an outstanding leader in the Hoover campaign.

Burton during his entire political career always has been identified as an old-line Republican. He is a candidate for Hoover delegate at large.

Things WORTH KNOWING

Tall Cedars

Hiram, King of Tyre, was the greatest lumberman of ancient times. The tall cedars which he furnished King Solomon for his great Temple at Jerusalem were "felled" in the Forests of Lebanon by fourscore thousand "hewers," who we would describe as lumberjacks today in our part of the world.

On account of their beauty, stateliness, and strength, poets and painters specialized heavily on cedars, and the Scriptures utilize these trees to symbolize power, prosperity, and longevity.

History has brought cedar down through the ages with an untarnished record. In Leviticus, cedar is noticed for the cleansing of leprosy; it is known to have entered into the mys-

Welcome Easter Pilgrims

The Garden of Gethsemane, Jerusalem, showing one of its great olive trees, so old that it is said it was known to Jesus. Near East Relief orphans will act as guides to all Jerusalem's points of interest during the International Missionary Council now being held there.

American waris in the Holy Lands have grasped the opportunity offered by the International Missionary Council, now convening in Jerusalem, to present their thanks to America for the care that has been given to them during the years since the war.

In a prettily phrased message, given in person to Dr. Samuel McGrew Cavett, general secretary of the Federal Council of Churches in America, who is one of the 200 delegates attending the conference, the children express the hope that "we may continue to walk in the footsteps of Christ as we have been taught to do by our great parent, America." This part of the message no doubt was stimulated by a feature of the conference, which is a pilgrimage by the delegates to Calvary, following in the footsteps of Christ in his tragic Easter journey along the Via Dolorosa, or as nearly so as modern Jerusalem will permit.

These orphans of the Holy Lands, for whom Near East Relief has been caring so tenderly, many of whom have graduated from its orphanages and vocational training schools into some form of self-support, have as a background an antiquity steeped in Christianity and as a playground the gardens, the fields that have grown sacred to Christians the

VAUGHN DE LEATH

Vaughn De Leath Prefers Not to Make Public Appearances

New York City.—Vaughn De Leath, pioneer radio girl who has broadcasted nine years, is often approached by concert managers who wish to take her on tour but she has consistently refused to accept public appearance engagements, as she wishes to be known simply as a voice.

"Besides I am so used to singing to my world audience that I really don't know how it would feel to appear on the concert stage, knowing that I was only singing to the thousand or so persons in the auditorium," the original radio girl declares.

"It is the vastness of radio that gets me, and I can sing ten times better into the microphone than I can in my own parlor. Of course phonograph recording is also singing to the whole world. When I first began to broadcast I was often not clearly heard, but people are so enthusiastic over this new toy that they didn't mind."

ous to hear anything. Now the public is most fastidious and a singer must be absolutely certain of her program and the clarity of her voice.

"At the present moment I would say that the waltz ballad is the most popular song on the radio, though preferences go in cycles. During the summer 'hot music' was in the ascendency. 'A Shady Tree' by Walter Donaldson, which follows his 'At Sundown' and 'My Blue Heaven' is the most liked song on the air. Both words and music bring to mind a picture of spring and on cold winter nights, this has a great appeal."

From Europe, Africa and Asia, this pioneer radio headliner receives fan letters. In addition to a secretary, Miss De Leath has often had to call in the aid of an interpreter to read her mail. There have been bulky official looking letters bearing the crest of an African potentate, quaint long strips of praise on Chinese stationery, square sturdy envelopes from English country towns and thousands of letters of appreciation from American fans.

F. D. GUNSAULLUS WRITES LETTER

In a letter to friends F. D. Gunsaulus gives a very interesting story of Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Gunsaulus have been spending the winter in St. Petersburg for several years past and they have seen the ups and downs of this noted state. The letter in part follows:

Dear Friends:
We are both having cause to thank the good Lord for great improvement we expect to soon be able to have a clear record and to enjoy our fine June like (Ohio) weather for a few weeks yet before returning North.

Many more people reached here about the time you people left St. Petersburg. It became more as formerly. Many are here yet the many are touring the state, prior to starting north.

Mrs. G. rides a little nearly every day now and is getting back her strength somewhat.

We had a very good maid in New York state school teacher) and think of it, only $5.00 per week. I did not fail when she named the price but that is evidence I was remis in duty or I would have done.

We are glad to find you defying conditions and places in Florida in a way putting our little city to no disadvantage compared with the beaches Miami, Palm Beach, Daytona and the other competing cities of the state, and wish you may "linger longer" next trip to get the bloom and floral intoxication which carries to the peak of complimentary effervescence, delights one to an... which but for the overpowering aroma of the blossoms of the orange, the jasmine, the hyacinth and millions of other "posies and roses" would hang the undertaker's wreath on many a tourist's auto door and a mournful smile on that sagacious gentleman's cleanly shaven physiognomy.

You really should have remained for a few days yet. Very soon the Oleanders, whole streets of them, will be blooming in great profusion—millions of them. I'm not jeopardizing my eternal happiness by that extravagant expression. So beautiful, some of the streets are sure to resemble on both sides—some all white, others all crimson and others still alternating their colors in towers of fascination and bewitching glory.

Such splendor and magnificence only bewilders the active business man at first, but they are sure to result in the ratio of his age to the evening of life. As the shadows lengthen the perspective changes. I think sometimes such changed perspective comes to the elderly man a clearer vision of things and thoughts which lead on to greater contentment and a deepening hope, a more lively desire for light, and solution of the great problem that probably will never come. But the pursuit of which will lay peace and comfort upon the altar of the merciful Judge to be inserted out agreeably as right thinking will have prepared recipients to grasp the great truths and profit by them.

I'm minded of Mr. LaDow remarking the other day, "Death terrors minimize with advancing years." And so true it is. Due, I am sure to the broadened vision resulting from long experience—the taming of selfish urges and mellowing of ambitions of power and pride into easy indulgence of comfort and meditation as man lingers complacently and buries his thoughts far into the vastness of space and the hypothesis of eternal life. The weary halting sensation of human existence abundantly rewards him who sincerely registers all worldly calls, to contemplate her marvelous beauties and benedictic glories. Life's afternoon for the weary old man fades into gentle night and brings rest—her peace of offering—quiet rest. And the moon and the stars stand still as sleep, not death, reposes in the fragrance halo and hush of the eternalities.

I've been under the weather considerable of late and can hardly do anything. Writing with a pen is about the hardest thing I do. Tho I have a good Remington I cannot see well enough with my present glasses to enable me to write on it. When I go home I will have my lenses changed, when I hope, can do better.

The Oleanders are blooming fast now and they are very beautiful and numerous. Tourists are leaving by the hundreds.

Your Old Friend,
F. D. Gunsaulus

TWO MILLION TREES INTO OHIO WOODLAND

Spring Planting of Forest Seedlings Under Way—100 Demonstrations Located in Twenty-four Counties.

Ohio probably will be two million trees better off by the time the spring planting or seedling forest trees is completed this spring, in the opinion of F. W. Dean, extension forester for the state. Planting of the new forest trees is well under way at the present time, Dean reports. Nearly a million of these trees have been distributed or will be distributed through the county agents and the agricultural extension service of the Ohio State University. These trees will go into 100 demonstration plantings which are distributed in twenty-four counties of the state. Most of these plantings have been visited and suggestions for their improvement made, during the past year, by the extension forester and the county agents.

In addition to the 100 plantings mentioned, this year will see the establishment of seventy-five new plantings by members of the 4-H forestry clubs which are a recent development of club work among Ohio boys and girls.

Ohio, according to Dean, ranks third among all the states in the number of trees which have been set out in connection with reforestation work. This is not the first year that the two million mark for young trees in spring planting, has been passed. New York

State and Pennsylvania outrank Ohio in the volume of reforestation work which is under way, as measured by the number of seedling forest trees which are set out each year.

Millions of Model T Fords are still in active service

FOR nearly twenty years, the Model T Ford led the motor industry and it still is used by more people than any other automobile. More than eight million Model T Fords are in active service today—an indication of their sturdy worth reliability and economy.

Because of the tremendous investment which people have in these cars and because so many of them will be driven for two, three, and even five more years, the Ford Motor Company will continue to make replacement parts until, as Henry Ford himself says, "the last Model T is off the road."

For the Ford Motor Company has always believed that its full duty consists not only in making a good automobile at a low price, but also in keeping it running efficiently for you as long as possible at a minimum of expense.

No matter where you live, therefore, you can still buy Model T Ford parts with the same assurance as formerly, knowing that they will give you the kind of service you have a right to expect, and at the same time protect the money you have invested in your car.

All Ford replacement parts, as you may know, are made of the same materials and in the same way as those from which your car was originally assembled, and are low in price because of the established Ford policy.

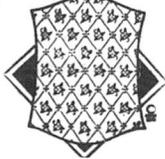

So that you may get the greatest use from your Model T Ford over the longest period of time, we suggest that you take the car to the nearest Ford dealer and have him estimate on the cost of any replacement parts which may be necessary. You may find that a very small expenditure will maintain the value of your car and will be the means of giving you thousands of miles of additional service.
