HEAVY RAINS RELIEVE FIRE

A steady downpour of rain the forepart of this week is said to have relieved the serious condition of the fire in the New Haven marsh that had raged the latter part of last week.

The rain has soaked the high weeds and underbrush so that they will not burn so readily, but it is said to be likely that the muck soil underneath is still burning, and probably will continue to burn until ousted by winter snows.

Saturday afternoon the muck became ignited and soon it was a blazing inferno extending a mile and a half in length and sweeping towards the village of Celeryville but a quarter of a mile away to the east. Residents of the village declared Saturday afternoon that they felt there was no immediate danger, although it was possible that the blaze would sweep over the village. Special water pumping apparatus which is installed in the muck lands and ditches, which have been dug to prevent, if possible, a further spreading of the flames, residents said will keep the blazing soil under control.

For a time Saturday afternoon it was claimed that the flames were leaping fifty feet in the air, aided by the winds that in some places are fully fifteen feet high. The line of fire extended north and south.

This season of the year always holds the greatest fear for the residents of the marsh land. Dead vegetation, added to dry weather is almost certain to mean that the muck will become ignited. Always the greatest precaution is taken to keep a fire from getting started, especially at this season of the year, but in spite of all care that is taken it seems that nothing will prevent it.

At one place in the marsh a 4000-foot ditch has been dug for the purpose of keeping back the flames and with the hopes of confining them to a small area. It is near this ditch that the present fire broke out. A similar fire broke out at this spot several years ago.

PLYMOUTH MAN IN WILLARD ROBBERY

A. H. Clark of this place, was the attendant on duty at the Standard Oil Filling Station at Willard when it was held up by a robber at about 8:45 o'clock on Tuesday night of last week.

Clark, was ordered at the point of a revolver to open the cash drawer. The thief made way with the $32.27 which was in the drawer.

Immediately after the robbery Clark notified the Willard police, who scoured the town but could find no trace of the thief. It was believed that the car which he was driving went east.

This is the first gasoline filling station robbery that has occurred in Willard.

Everything is in readiness for the big Halloween masquerade, parade and general celebration sponsored by the local Lions Club on the public square at Plymouth next Thursday night, October 31st, starting at 7:30. Also for the dance, at a later hour in Hamilton Hall.

The Halloween celebration committee, which had been selected by the Lions Club, and made up of J. E. The reward for their efforts and the efforts of the club as a whole will come next Thursday night when, weather conditions permitting, Plymouth is certain to experience the largest crowd of witches, goblins, clowns and what not in its history.

Dusky men of the town have declared liberally towards prizes for this event. It can be said that every business house has joined in this. Following is a list of the prizes that will be given:

A big feature of the occasion will be the home talent band, which will furnish music for the parade and for the entire evening.

As stated the big time starts at 7:30. Everyone is urged to come and join in the fun—have a good time and win one of the prizes.

During the latter part of the evening there will be a masquerade dance in Hamilton Hall. This phase of the evening's entertainment is also sponsored by the Lions Club. Chas. Dr. S. S. Holts Has Rounded Out 53 Years of Practice

A half century and more spent in one profession is a long time. Probable few attain such a distinction as that. To spend all of that time in one vicinity makes it a still greater distinction.

There is a man in this community who has attained both. That is Dr. S. S. Holts, who is known in every household in the community.

Dr. Holts lives until the 17th day of next January he will have been practicing medicine continually in the same community for a period of fifty-three years. True, all of that time has not been in Plymouth, but the years he was not in Plymouth he was located in Shiloh which can be considered the same community.

It was on January 17th, 1877, that Dr. Holts first began the work of his chosen profession. He located in Plymouth. After remaining in this town for four years he moved to Shiloh, a few miles away. A score of years he remained at Shiloh. It should be borne in mind now that he had already completed nearly a quarter of a century in the profession. No doubt then he was well advanced in middle life. Many perhaps would have considered retiring. However, we have stated that he returned to Plymouth. That was twenty-two years ago this fall. He has continued in the work during those nearly three decades. All of that time he was located in the same building where his office is at the present time, except for two or three months after he moved, when his office was at his residence.

That is speaking of the venerable man as a doctor. If we want to go can go back further in so far as time spent in the community is concerned, Dr. Holts has lived in the community since he was two years old. He was born in Pennsylvania and came here at the age of five. He lived on a farm six miles from Plymouth until he attained the age when he was to go to college. He first entered a medical school at Chicago. It has been so long ago that Dr. Holts could not recall of hand just what was the name of the school, and, he added, that it is no longer in existence. He later entered Pultney School of Medicine at Cincinnati. That school has also passed out of existence.

He then returned to Plymouth and started his chosen profession, and continued in it until now nearly two score and thirteen years have passed.

That is a long time to have spent at one place. Certainly the Doctor was a man who was given to talking about himself he could tell many interesting things that has come under his personal observation during that time.

Dr. Holts, however, is a man who works much and he does not idle. During the years that have flown by he may be wondered just what has been his reward. Probably not large as far as money goes, because country physicians seldom get rich. Undoubtedly Dr. Holts, during the fifty-three years has given time beyond measure to his patients and to his family when at the time he realized there was little if any hope of financial remuneration.

There is a reward though that is greater than the receiving of a stated fee, and that is the satisfaction that one is knowing how much, that is worthwhile. There must come an enjoyment that cannot be described when it is known that one has been the means of returning a life that has gone to the brink of death. The tears of gratitude of the family best measure a few dollars fee.

The work of Dr. Holts, like that of all country physicians, is a varied one. There is the hurried call in the dead of night, the long trips through the worst of country roads and trips must be made no matter what the weather. Usually of course, the trip has not been in vain and the loved one is brought back from the long journey and the words come "he will live." True: there is sometimes the inevitable "there is no hope." Those must be the hours that make a physician.

Dr. Holts has been with us fifty-three years. It is long, but we hope it will be much longer. May we express the hope for at least another quarter of a century? The Doctor is not so far advanced in years but what that is possible, and we know the legion of friends will join with us in that hope.

Shiloh Woman Dies After Long Illness

Mrs. John Swanger, a well known and highly respected citizen of Shiloh died at her home in that village last Thursday night at 11 o'clock following a lingering illness.

Funeral services were held at the late home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. E. B. McCormick, pastor of the Plymouth and Shiloh Methodist churches. Burial was made in Mt. Hope cemetery in Shiloh.

Mrs. Swanger was born in Shelby on September 23rd, 1869, and at the time of death was aged 60 years, and 24 days. She had been a life long resident of this community.

She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Merle Baker and Mrs. Harold McCormick of Shelby, and Miss Madeline Swanger, who resides at home; one Glenn Swanger of Shiloh and one sister, Mrs. Nettie Sonner of West Unity.

MEAT MARKET NOW IN NEW LOCATION

The Rockman meat market is now in its new location a few doors to the east of its former location where it was known as the Bachrach market.

The managers of the business place after J. W. and W. C. Hough, father and son, and formerly of Willard. They began their new work last Thursday. The forepart of this week the equipment was moved to the new location without interruption of business. This is the building that was recently vacated by Hatch's Shoe Store.

Some improvements will be made in this building, among them being the moving of the large front window out to the edge of the sidewalk, as is the case of the meat store room.

The building in which the meat market was formerly located will soon be occupied by the A. & P. Store.

The Plymouth Oil Co. now have a car of new imported Apollo kerosene writing Apollon Inquire at Plymouth Oil Co. Telephone 121.

WILL BUILD LARGE BRIDGE OVER RIVER

A large concrete bridge will soon be constructed over the Vermilion river at Clarkfield Hollow. This is a state and federal aid project.

County Surveyor C. T. Williams, of Huron County, and his staff have supervised the work for the improvement. When completed the bridge will be an imposing structure and will be one of the largest in the county. The entire length will be 124 feet and there will be three beam spans 42 feet long. The driveway will be 20 feet wide and there will be a sidewalk 24 feet wide on each side. Two center piers are provided for.

FINE PROGRAM GIVEN AT MEET

The Plymouth W. C. T. U. met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Florence Brock as guest.

Mrs. Ray Long, Willard, former Huron County President, Mrs. McNeill, president of Huron County W. C. T. U. and Mrs. R. K. Williams, Willard, were guests of the union, as also were Mrs. Fidler and Mrs. Clara Siler of Plymouth.

Mrs. Ada Shepherd had charge of the devotional period and the program topic, "Harmful Drugs" was in charge of Mrs. V. J. Gleason.

Mrs. Elmer Stotts gave a paper on "Drugs and Drug Drinks" and some of the most helpful things in this paper were as follows: "Because of the enslaving power of habit forming drugs like opium, morphine, heroin, cocaine, etc., they cause a great deal of crime and misery." "Bromides are used in many patent medicines. We wish it might be written on the box, 'Let patent medicines alone! Practically all of them owe their sale to some drug that harms or liquor that gives a kick.'"

The use of aspirin is alarmingly on the increase. It contains some very harmful ingredients and should be used only by physicians order.

"The use of coca-cola is also alarmingly on the increase. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, an authority on food drinks says, 'I believe that the coca-cola habit is one of the most dangerous and insidious habits in existence to-day.'"

Dr. Dowling, Commissioner of Health for the State of Louisiana, after extensive investigation reports that "coca-cola may be ranked with cigarettes as one of the greatest menaces of the day to our boys and girls."

In the "Medical Temperance Talk Sheet," used by Mrs. Florence Brock, possibly the most important item was that which told us that there are now twenty-one states which make it unlawful for physicians to prescribe liquor for medicine and never a country to have resistered that it interferes with the success of any doctor's practice.

Mrs. Rank, Mrs. Price and Mrs. Jessie Phillips sang a very inspiring selection and Superintendent R. R. Miller explained the three mill levy which will be voted on at the coming election.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. J. W. Page, with Mrs. J. L. Judson in charge of the program. "Alcohol—Its Effects."

WEATHER DOES HALT WORK ON NEW BUILDING

Work at the new high school building on the north edge of town progresses in spite of the rainy weather of the forepart of the week. The work is far enough along so that the present time that weather conditions do not interfere to any great extent.

This is fortunate in view of the fact that there will, of course, be considerable rainy and cold weather during the coming weeks.

This week the workmen are installing the sub-floor in the auditorium. The roof has not been entirely completed as yet, but it was well along the middle of this week. The windows will be put in within a few days, and also the work of plastering will soon start. When the plastering is finished the floor will be laid.

No recent information has been given out as to when the building can be occupied, but it can be expected that what was stated two weeks ago still holds good. That is the building will be completed in time to hold school in it after the Christmas vacation.

MUCH INTEREST AT P-T SESSION

A real live meeting of the Plymouth Parent-Teachers Association was held at the school building last Thursday night. There was an excellent attendance, and Superintendent R. R. Miller, states that there was more interest shown than at any meeting since he has been at the head of the local schools.

The feature of the evening was the Question Box. This brought out a number of very worthwhile ideas as each question was discussed. The only trouble was the fact that there was not long enough time to go over all the questions. However, the advance were left in the box and, it is understood, will be asked and discussed at the November meeting.

The question of the P. T. A. sponsoring a home talent band was discussed following a report made by Superintendent Miller. It was decided that the organization should get behind the idea and a committee to have full charge was appointed. The names of this committee and further details are given elsewhere in this issue.

The meeting Thursday night opened with the singing of "America The Beautiful." The sixth grade gave a short program featuring fire prevention. A short time was spent in the learning of new songs.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday night, November 21st. All who are interested in the schools are urged to be present.

The idea of a band for Plymouth got away to an auspicious official start at the regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association last Thursday night. A committee to have charge of the band and the entire responsibility of directing its organization was appointed by the president of the P. T. A., Mrs. Harold Jeffrey.

This committee is made up of the following: Rev. A. M. Himes, Supt. Miller, Mrs. William Trimmer, Mrs. W. E. Teale and Mrs. Fred Phillips.

The committee will meet in the near future at which time an instructor for the band will be hired, and other necessary details worked out.

There are about twenty-five boys in the community who have indicated that they will join the band organization. Some of them have instruments at the present time and the others have stated that they will secure instruments. The most commendable thing of all is the interest and ambition shown. It is thought likely that the regular meeting night of the band will be Thursday.

On Monday night a group, who are able to play instruments, met at the school building for practice purposes, in preparation for the practice program to be furnished music for the Halloween celebration here next Thursday night. There were about twenty in this group. They will meet again on this Thursday night. All of these will not be members of the permanent organization but practice only in now, it is understood, to help out for the Halloween celebration.

Rushing Work

Work on the new addition at the plant of the Fate-Roach-Health Co. is progressing rapidly and there is every indication that it will be completed before bad weather sets in.

The roof has been completed and by Tuesday afternoon the most of the window glass and been installed. New machinery has been ordered and will be installed as soon as the building has been completed.

The new building is needed at the factory in order to take care of increasing order for gasoline locomotives. The Plymouth locomotive is becoming more popular and in greater demand, and especially is this true in the export trade. Almost every week one or more units are shipped to foreign countries.

Mr. Hackett will move his family the first of the month from the Woodford property on Sandusky Street to the Heath property, recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Alaney.

NORWALK WILL VOTE ON SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT

At the general election November 5th, electors in Norwalk will decide the question as to whether $475,000 in bonds will be issued for the establishment of a sewage disposal plant in that city, on order from the state department of health.

It is understood that $475,000 is the estimated cost of the project but that sum will not be spent if the work can be carried out for less money.

That this sewage disposal plant is much needed for the welfare of Norwalk is indicated by the fact that the state department of health does not issue orders that are unreasonable. The state department has called attention to the fact that the city's bonded debt is unusually low and that the city will be able to swing the project and still be much better off financially than many other cities in the state of equal size.

FIRE SWEEPER THROUGH LAKESIDE
A fire, said to have been caused by an over heated oil stove in one of the cottages, swept through the winter colony at Lakeside early Sunday morning destroying twenty-seven cottages, the Methodist Episcopal church, the printing office of the Peninsula News and slightly damaging the new million dollar Methodist auditorium. The damage is estimated to be in excess of $150,000.

The fire fighting apparatus at Lakeside proved to be insufficient to combat the blaze and fire departments from Sandusky, Port Clinton and Fremont were summoned. The blaze was fanned by a stiff breeze and it was only with difficulty that it was finally brought under control.

Scottie Lawson, in whose cottage the fire started, was severely burned when he made a futile attempt to out-gate the blaze.

Most of the cottages were unoccupied at the time.

PRESIDENT PASSES THROUGH WILLARD

President Herbert Hoover passed through Willard over the E. & O. railroad Monday morning enroute to Dearborn, Michigan, to take part in the 50th anniversary of the invention of the electric light by Thomas A. Edison and to do honor to the great inventor.

The special presidential train pulled into Willard at 7:15 and departed at 5:25. The stop was made, of course, to change engines and crews on the special train. No one got a glimpse of the nation's chief executive, as at that hour of the morning he and the entire official party were asleep.

DEATH TAKES WELL KNOWN PIANO MAN

Jacob T. Kall, aged 53, a noted piano maker of Norwalk, died at his home in that city last Wednesday. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. George Thompson of Norwalk. His wife preceded him in death eighteen years ago.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the home, with Rev. Louis B. Bradrick, pastor of the Methodist church at Norwalk, officiating. Burial was made in Riverside cemetery at Monroeville.

The deceased was known as the dean of piano makers of Huron county, and was one of the best known men in that exacting trade in the entire country. He was identified with piano companies at Monroeville for twenty years, and for twenty-seven years was a case maker at the Norwalk piano plant.

Odd Bars of Corn

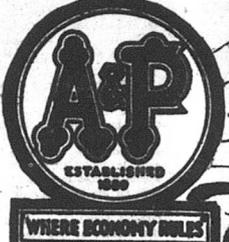

L. P. Hale brought into the office some good examples of corn that grew at his place. One is an ear of Japanese hullless pop corn. Instead of having a sharp point on each kernel, as has all other pop corn, this is perfectly smooth. Another feature is the different color kernels on one ear. Some are deep yellow, others light yellow and still others are white.

He brought in an ear of the ordinary pop corn but the interesting part of this is the fact that some of the kernels have started to open up. Perhaps the warm sun started to "pop" them in the field.

Another is an ear of Early Indiana field corn. This is also looking corn. The kernels have a very pronounced white cap.

SUNDAY GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Phillips, son Herbert, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Phillips and Mrs. Emma Rank were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McCards of near Mt. Vernon.

Here's Pro and Con of the Classification Amendment

At the general election this coming November 5th the voters of the state of Ohio will be called upon to decide by the ballot whether they desire the same system of so-called uniform taxation that has existed for three-quarters of a century or whether they want the system of classification.

To many it may seem that this is just another amendment and perhaps will give it little thought, and when election day rolls around will either not vote at all on this particular issue or, not understanding it, will vote as the case in the past. Propositions that are not understood, and there have been many of them, have been turned down for the sole reason that voters not knowing anything about a certain proposition and not caring to find out, will vote no by force of habit.

This particular proposition should not go down to defeat for this reason, however. This is not necessarily an argument to vote for the proposition, but it is simply an argument for a better understanding of the amendment and as a result, a more intelligent vote. If you blindly vote against this amendment it is very possible that you are voting against something that you really want to be a part of the law of the state.

In this article it is hoped to give a short discussion of the amendment both pro and con. After you have read this and have read all you can find both ways and then cast an intelligent vote, but decide for yourself just why you are for classification or just why you are against it.

In regard to the pro argument: The propaganda, noise, publicity, backing, and truth to tell, most of the argument seems to be on the side of those who are for the amendment. Reams upon reams of publicity are being sent out in favor of the amendments. Columns without number in its favor are appearing in the press. A dozen or more organizations are behind the movement, among them being: Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Ohio Building Association League, Ohio State Grange, Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards, Ohio Life Underwriters Association, Ohio Bankers Association, Ohio Newspaper Association, Ohio Manufacturers Association, Ohio State Council of Real Estate Merchants, Ohio Chamber of Commerce, and Ohio Tax Association. It is said to be the first time in the history of the state that these associations are working together for a proposition. These associations say, briefly, that the amendments provide a modern tax system which will enable the legislature to end double taxation—give home rule in taxation, limit taxes on homes, land and buildings; enable Ohio farms and industries to compete advantageously with those of other states, and allow Ohio money to be used honestly in Ohio.

They further claim that it will end the so-called uniform taxation law which has been in existence since 1851. They point out that the uniform law was passed at a time when land and tangible personal property represented the major part of Ohio's wealth. The uniform rule, they claim, operated successfully until intangible personal property, such as stocks, bonds, mortgages, and credits of various sorts, began to be a very important part of the state's wealth.

This intangible property increased in importance in the state and at the same time decreased in the amount of tax which it pays. Today, real estate represents 30 per cent of the state's wealth but pays 75 per cent of the taxes. Intangible personal property pays but 7 per cent of the taxes. This amendment, it is claimed, if passed, will enable the legislature to form a new, just and equitable tax system. It is not claimed that it authorizes any new forms of taxation, nor does it change the exemptions which are in force under the present constitution. It proponents claim that it will correct some of the abuses in effect under our present so-called Uniform Rule system.

One of the best things that will be brought about it is claimed if the amendment passes is that double taxation will end. By that is meant where a piece of real estate has a mortgage it will not be necessary to pay full taxes on the real estate and at the same time on the mortgage. Another is that intangible property will bear its fair share of taxation for the reason that the tax rate will not be so high as to cause owners of this class of property to hide it from the tax duplicate.

Proponents of the amendment point out the number of states that already have a classification amendment and how successful it is in those states. There is little organized effort on the part of those who would defeat the amendment. Probably it is felt that it will be defeated since the people have a habit of voting no. As to organizations that are against the amendment the only one that is known now is the Ohio State Association of Township Trustees and Clerks. The argument that is brought out against its adoption may be briefly summed up as follows: Classification is class legislation, since it forces one man's dollar to bear a greater burden of taxation than his neighbor's. It takes away the power of the local taxing authorities. It places the burden on taxation on the farmer and the city home owner and in general on the owner of visible property. It will raise rents for it will increase taxes and the renter pays the tax. This amendment cannot make men honest and therefore will not cause the dishonest owner of intangible property to list his property for taxes. And, it is condemned in many of the states which have it.

It will be noted that in many of the arguments for and against there is a direct clash. This will undoubtedly be the hardest part for the average voter to understand.

Here in brief is what the amendment says: No property taxed according to value, shall be so taxed in excess of one and one-half per cent of its true value in money for all state and local purposes, but laws may be passed authorizing additional taxes to be levied outside of such limitations, either when approved by at least a majority of the electors of the taxing district voting on such proposition, or when provided for by the charter of a municipal corporation. Land and improvements thereon shall be taxed by uniform rule according to value.

Frankly it would seem that a tax law made 78 years ago would hardly do for modern conditions, but the question is: Is this proposed change just what is for the best? Its proponents do not claim it is perfect but say that it is far ahead of anything that has been suggested before.

One of the big arguments of the opponents is: Let well enough alone. Thing over what you want; vote intelligently on November 5th:

A Question Confronts Us.

The nation has experienced ten years of prohibition. Whether it has been a success or a failure, or whether there is a constant improvement shown in respect for the law or whether it is just the opposite, will depend entirely upon the viewpoint of the individual.

Undoubtedly the majority of the people throughout the nation are for prohibition as it stands, particularly if it could be enforced, and these people would unquestionably vote for its continuance if they had the opportunity. Especially are the people in the rural communities, such as our own citizenry, for prohibition.

Granting all this, however, there must occasionally come to the minds of all thinking people a question. That is, what will it all lead to? To those people it is a living, burning issue and they know it. Frankly, they would like to see prohibition be successful, but they wonder if it can be made successful through the present methods being used. The leaders of the nations are thinking along this same line. Even, it will be recalled, President Hoover at one time termed it a noble experiment. There must have been some doubt in his mind if it was a settled question. If there had been no doubt, he would not have termed it an experiment.

There are a large class of people who think the solution to the problem is modification. To the majority of these modificationists are just plain "wags." Perhaps so, because the only thing that can ever be obtained if there be a change in the present prohibition law, is merely modification. To even entertain such a thought that this nation would ever go back to the way it was before prohibition is foolish in the extreme. The day of the wide open selling of liquor is gone never to return.

These modificationists then represent the back bone of the forces that oppose the Prohibition law and are the cause of our present trouble. The law should be modified to permit the sale of lighter alcoholic beverages and thereby gain real temperance and have a law that can be enforced. Even the most ardent dry, if he is willing to give it thought, must concede that there is a point to this argument. Many feel that to have obtained real prohibition there should have been a more gradual change. Had that been done, it is felt, that within two or three generations there would have been actual prohibition with little or no cost of enforcement and certainly no blood shed over its attainment.

Frankly, we are for prohibition. Our hope is that it may be successful along the present line, but we wonder, along with millions of other good American citizens, if it can be.

We know and believe that there will be a general agreement, that the prohibition question is the most vital domestic question that has confronted this nation since the question of negro slavery. Every school boy knows what that question finally led to and we wonder if it is possible that this question may lead to the same thing before it can be solved. Certainly there are zealots on both sides who would be willing to go into armed conflict, civil war, indeed, to gain their point. The majority will say that prohibition could not lead to civil war. Perhaps not, at least we hope not and probably the way it stands at present, it could not. But, it should not be forgotten that it is not the question of but a few years before there was a resort to arms. It was more than a century ago that this question, at times ten years before finally there came the realization that it could never be settled in the legislative halls, or argument pro and con, but must be settled on the battle field.

Therefore then, what about this prohibition question? What will the next ten or twenty years bring forth? It is time for every citizen who loves his country to think of it is possible that his children or grandchildren will settle the question in a way that might make us shudder could we look ahead into the future.

Certainly it is a question that cannot be passed by with an indifferent shrug of the shoulders, it calls for thought now, and it may call for more than thought some time in the future.

The Future of the Small Town

An optimistic note is sounded in regard to the future of the small town by the Manufacturer and Industrial News Bureau. This is in the expansion of electricity.

This great energy that has revolutionized the world is giving every town an opportunity to become a city. In past years great industrial concerns were forced to locate in the vicinity of the necessity of readily available power. However, now, by the development of electric power and its transmission to even the most remote locality at a comparatively low rate, every village and town becomes a potential city.

There is certain advantages that is offered by the small town that can never be offered by the large centers of population, and manufacturers are quick to notice these advantages. The small town has the advantage of unlimited space, reliable American labor that is contented, pleasant working and living conditions that in the great cities lack. In this added to plentiful and cheap power it can make an appeal that cannot be resisted. This includes practically all types of industries.

However, it is well worth here to say that there are certain things that a town must have before it can become attractive for possible industrial plants. It must have a broad and progressive minded citizenry, it must be a healthy locality and with a good water supply.

Granting that a town has these and the real will behind it to really want to know it stands every chance of some day being a large and thriving community.

As this Manufacturing and Industrial News Bureau states, "It is safe to say that many of the great industrial localities of the future will be towns that today are little more than spots on the map."

While Plymouth comes, of course, into the class of localities known as small towns, yet this town is considerably different than the average place that receives that name. In the first place we have an industrial plant that employs several hundred people, and accordingly we are already in the industrial class and need not entirely look to what the future may have in store for us as a community. It is well, however, to give some thought to the future. In the first place we must resolve to hold what we have. Our present big industrial plant is making rapid strides forward and at the present time gives every indication of being ranked among the very largest industries in either Huron or Richland county. Perhaps this is an optimistic note, many will say too optimistic, but we cannot feel that way. The Plymouth locomotive is a leader; it is becoming a greater favorite with the trade as year succeeds year. This means that the plant must grow to take care of the increasing demand. That the plant is growing is testified by the fact that new additions are constantly being added. The growth is steady, and not as the result of any particular boom that is likely to pass away as quickly as it came. That is why we think that some day there will rival in size the steel mill at Shelby or the larger industries in Mansfield.

It is hardly necessary to say that sorry, indeed, would be Plymouth if it were not for the Pate-Root-Health Co. If it were suddenly to be moved from this town we would return back to a mere cross road hamlet, looking regretfully back to the past and wistfully into the future. That is the condition of too many towns today. It is a condition that will never be known to Plymouth so long as we have this big and growing industry.

Lake Shore Must Erect Crossing Signals in Year

The Lake Shore Electric Co. has received orders from the State Utilities Commission, to erect automatic flasher signals at all of its grade crossings in Huron county. The order also includes Sandusky, Ottawa and Erie Counties.

The company has been given one year in which to complete the work. This is the type of grade crossing protection that is fast coming into use throughout the country, and in many cases have taken the place of watchmen, gates, etc. An example of this is shown at both Main Street railroad crossings in Shelby. Formerly these were protected by gates that were operated by a watchman. Railroad men point out that the flashers are far safer than gates. They state that motorists have been known to drive through gates and even run down watchmen but, it is claimed that there is no case on record where the flasher signals have been disregarded.

According to a report received from the State Director of Publicity, the State Utilities Commission has requested all railroads in the state to erect these flasher signals at all of their grade crossings. Practically every large railroad in the state, and many of the smaller roads, have agreed to comply with these wishes.

These companies which have not positively agreed have indicated that they will consider the proposition. The latter group includes the Pennsylvania railroad.

Included in the group that have positively agreed are the New York Central Lines, Baltimore and Ohio and the Wheeling and Lake Erie.

The drive to force installation of adequate signal systems on all grade crossings was started early in September by Governor Myers V. Cooper and the commission. The drive followed a report to the governor on the constantly increasing number of crossing deaths and serious accidents.

Investigation has shown that only 25 out of 1127 electric crossings in the state, and 1746 out of 7769 steam crossings, are adequately protected.

Many Activities Occur In Delphi Community

The Poverty social was a real social event Friday night. A splendid musical and literary program was rendered. The banquet was appreciated to the fullest. Some of the old timers created much merriment. Harry Silliman wore a pair of high topped leather boots, formerly worn by his grandfather.

The Huff family put on a playlet that brought forth vociferous applause. The social duty by the Gleason sisters Mrs. Gertrude Maynard and Mrs. Corinne Stuckey were loudly applauded and encored. They told the writer they did not hear it. Miss Ruth Schoeff in violin solo, struck some wonderful tones in her difficult selection. Our mind reverted to the charming tones of L. Z. and Ole Blum and others made their selections famous on the violin with music lovers. Carol Mitchell of Greenwich with his wife came over from Greenwich and carried away one of the prizes. We do not know the conditions of the award—unless it be for his good looks. About sixty were present.

Miss Myra Paine, since she has passed up all marriage offers, we can announce she is 76 years old, traveling our highways on foot, going from five to twelve miles a day, selling subscriptions for several of our leading magazines. She seems to be determined to have the best of reading matter in all of our homes—she is a noble characterized woman, a good friend of the writer and an enemy to no one. We bespeak for Miss Paine a liberal patronage for she is worthy.

The personalitarily sale of the farm administrator last Saturday afternoon of the late J. S. Lewis was snappy and lovely. Sam Reed bought the top buggy for $14.00; L. B. Sibbett the black mare for $54.00; Rev. Wolcott a yearling heifer, $35.00; G. W. Tooker the three year old Guernsey cow, $150. Grover Payne occupied the block and our venerable friend Frank H. Long formerly of New Haven recorded the events.

Rev. M. E. Williams of Delphi thru the courtesy of the pastor Rev. Earl Henderson delivered the sermon for the Delphi audience last Sunday. Rev. Williams for the present is a pharmacist in Willard. He is an ordained preacher of the U. B. Church, but at this time has not taken regular work. He is a fine orator with a pleasing personality and a diction that is varied and copious. With his present work he has Sunday forenoons and evenings to himself and could give some time as a supply preacher.

The first quarterly meeting of the Earl Henderson; Local Preacher—Harold Bond; Delegate to Lay and Electorate Conference, Cambridge, G. W. J. Wilkinson; Alternate—Oleta Young Mitchell; Recording Steward—G. S. Catlin.

Mrs. Sarah Knight of Plymouth is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clara Wilkinson. Miss Helen Gleason was on a good will trip to Columbus Sunday. Miss Gleason is a teacher in New Haven schools. Gertrude Silliman and other college mates of Oberlin spent last Saturday and Sunday with friends in Athens, O. This is probably another good will tour. Tom H. Sibbett has added the Carol Mitchell coons to his group. He is selling and shipping every few days as well as buying. They do not talk a dollar or so for coon to Tom but they are way up in figures.

Mrs. Catlin will spend a week or so with her daughter and sisters in Mansfield.

Kent McFarlan and son built a milk house for the Sixby's, south of Plymouth and spent the rest of the week painting roofs at home.

Robert H. Simmons of Plymouth has been appointed administrator of the Harry Guss estate. George Schoeff will care for matters at the farm until after the appraisement and sale.

SETTLE BUS RAGEDY CASES OUT OF COURT

Four personal injury cases against the Greystone Bus Lines and Lake Shore Electric Co., outgrowths of the terrible crossing disaster near Bellevue last January 22nd, have been settled out of court, according to information received here. In no case was the amount of the settlement made public.

The plaintiffs in the four cases were: Merrill Long, Eleanor Houghtby; William Houghtby and Russell Mack.

Mack, it will be recalled, had been returned a verdict of about $5,000 last week against the bus company. Now that a settlement has been reached in his case, he agreed to withdraw a motion he had made for a new trial.

When the long case was settled the trial had progressed for a day and a half. Court had been adjourned to enable those involved in the litigation to discuss a settlement.

CLEVELAND LAWYER BECOMES LARGE LAND OWNER

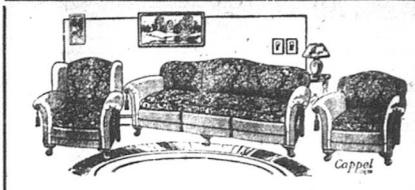

Homer Johnson, of Cleveland, one of the most famous attorneys in the country, and a native of New London, has become one of the largest land owners in Huron county, according to records at the court house at Norwalk.

Recent acquisitions has brought his total acreage to well above one thousand, it is understood. Deeds filed at the court house during the past week show that his Cleveland attorney had purchased forty-one acres from Mabel Walker, 300 acres from Elmer E. and Ida E. Townsend, and 95 acres from Mary J. and Elmer T. Sprague. All this land is located in New London township.

TWENTIETH CENTURY. CIRCLE MEETS

The Twentieth Century Circle enjoyed their annual Halloween frolic at the home of Mrs. C. S. Walker, on Monday evening, October 21st. In spite of inclement weather ghosts and goblins were very much in evidence. The guests arrayed in grotesque costumes, were welcomed in a very hospitable manner. The house was beautifully decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. It was a perfect setting for a perfect Halloween frolic. Twenty-three members and one guest Mrs. Brown, of Cleveland, were present. The following program was enjoyed: "The Goblins Will Catch You"—Mrs. Alberta Hoffman; "Tam O'Shanter"—Mrs. Beck; "Mischief and Mysteries"—Mrs. Deringer. Roll call was responded to by giving well known superstitions which caused much merriment. Then followed a delightful social hour and contests were well illustrated. A most delightful lunch suggestive of Halloween, was then served by the hostess Mrs. Walker.

70th ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED BY A & P FOOD STORES. L. M. Keener, local manager, tells of remarkable growth of chain grocery system since 1859. This week marks the seventieth anniversary of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. Seventy years ago this system of stores, the oldest and largest of all chain systems, had its inception in New York City in a single small shop that specialized in teas and coffees—today more than 15,000 A & P stores serve cities, towns and villages in thirty-four states as well as in Canada. In celebration of this anniversary, Plymouth A & P stores are holding this week their 70th Anniversary Sale. Mr. Keener the Superintendent in charge of the local A & P food store, tells a fascinating story about his company. "Most people think of A & P as just a vast number of stores all over the country," he said, "without further thought about the complex and intricate organization necessary to run those stores, to buy foods for them, to bake bread, to can salmon, to roast coffee, to ship and truck all those foods to thousands of stores. ... and to do all this on so large a scale that A & P stores can serve 5,000,000 customers each day." "Every child knows what 'mass production' is, knows that a great factory can produce automobiles or tires or steel in huge quantities at a far lower cost than a small shop. But few realize that 'mass distribution,' which is exactly the same mass principle applied to the costly work of bringing merchandise to every community so that people can see it and buy it, results in even greater savings to the public." Mr. Keener also told of many activities of the company. To purchase coffee, the company maintains thirty coffee offices in South America, which ship direct to A & P in this country. A & P has become the largest coffee merchant in the world, selling more than one-tenth of all the coffee consumed in America. Thirty modern A & P bakeries supply between a million and a half and two million loaves of bread every day. The company is the largest butter dealer in the world—A & P's own butter exports purchase from the famous middle western dairy lands 150,000,000 pounds of butter a year. On the salmon coast of Alaska A & P operates six canneries that pack fish for the coast salmons within a twelve hours after it leaves the water. A billion eggs are sold each year by A & P stores. One-seventh of all the tea consumed in the United States is distributed to A & P's millions of customers. ... most of it obtained from A & P's agents at the big tea auctions in Calcutta, India and Colombo, Ceylon. Foods of all kinds are obtained from the best source and are routed by the quickest, most efficient, most economical method known to A & P stores in thousands of communities. This seventy year development is a far cry from the original solitary A & P store on Vesey, New York, in 1859. To celebrate the event of the 70th anniversary, local as well as all other A & P stores have announced an Anniversary Sale to last all of this week. SANDUSKY PAPERS ARE MERGED. An announcement of considerable interest in newspaper circles and of more than passing interest to the general public was the consolidation of the two Sandusky newspapers and the appointment of R. C. Snyder, well known newspaper man of Norwalk, as manager of the new company. The deal was closed last week. The Sandusky Register bought out the Sandusky Star Journal. The former is a morning paper and the latter is an evening publication. Both papers will be continued. The Register will also continue as Republican and the Star Journal as Democratic. R. C. Snyder, publisher of the Norwalk Reflector-Herald, as stated, is the president and general manager of the new newspaper company. He will also be editor of the Register. It is understood that he will continue his residence in Norwalk. The Reflector-Herald, Norwalk daily, is now in charge of Dudley A. White, who has been business manager of the paper for the past several years.

Dr. Mente Is Dead. Rev. G. R. Mente, for many years pastor of the Shiloh Methodist church, but who some time ago retired because of poor health, died at his home in Shiloh on Wednesday. He was prominent in the work of Masonic bodies and as a minister was known throughout the state. Tentative funeral arrangements were made known by the family late Wednesday night. Services will be held Saturday afternoon at Shiloh with the Knight Templars of Norwalk and the Scottish Rite Dalley of Toledo in charge. It was stated at the home that the definite time of the funeral could not be given. However, Saturday afternoon has been set for the services unless some unforeseen delay makes it necessary to hold them on Sunday afternoon.

First Snow. The first snow of the season fell here just before noon Wednesday and judging by the unsettled condition, it seems likely that winter will set in at once. The continuous rains of the past three days and the temperature dropping to a low level makes us realize that Old Man Winter is here with us.
