Country Schools Enjoy Thanksgiving Program

Mr. A. E. Willett, director of public in the Plymouth Township Public Schools, desires to state through the reporter that the six teachers in the various schools in the township, helped very materially in making the Thanksgiving service given at the Presbyterian Church, last Tuesday evening, November 26th, a big success. The church was packed with parents and patrons from the six country schools. The audience fully enjoyed the entire program. The children rendered their parts well and the teachers deserve much credit for their fine work.

The pupils were arranged on six rows of chairs in the Sunday School room of the church, facing the auditorium. At the signal given by the teacher of the school the group marched up and took its place on the platform and rendered the part assigned it and marched off the platform, when another group took its place, until the six groups had rendered the parts given them. About one hundred and twenty pupils took part.

It was a real Thanksgiving program. What is the best? Whose can be found? Will has most richly imparted its spiritual substance not only to the children but also to their parents and to all people? Imagination is the soul's visualizing power, and as such it often pictures desirable conditions, happier life, more joy and a total, seemingly impossible in circumstances we have to endure.

These country school children, in the parts they rendered, showed to all that adults are but children of a larger growth. Their hearts still throb with hope, their eyes often radiate expectancy. Provided, they make their imaginations and longings incentives to duty, they can frame a true ideal of life which transforms it. It cannot be accomplished without self-discipline, humility and self-sacrifice. But the best of the best is in a sense self-operating. It generates the courage and the constancy it demands.

The first school to take part was Marsh-Run with Mrs. Kelly as teacher. This school furnished three recitations and one song. The second school was the Tenth school with Mrs. Brown as teacher. This school rendered three selections and a song. The third school was the Kuhn school with Mrs. Moore as teacher. Three selections, a song and playlet—Real Thanksgiving was rendered by this school. The Green school, with Derry Cramer as teacher, gave three selections and sang a song. From the North School, with Mrs. Connel as teacher, came a group of pupils who rendered a patriotic selection, made up of short recitations, and a patriotic song accompanied by the school. The Trauger's School with Mrs. McCullough as teacher, gave a playlet, "The Three Pumpkins." This school also gave two recitations and sang a song.

There was a song and chorus, given by the six schools together. The program closed with the singing of America, and the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. J. W. Miller, the pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

LIONS WILL HAVE STUNT NIGHT DEC. 17

The next meeting of the local Lions Club will be held on Tuesday evening, December 17th, at the school building. All members are urged to be present at this meeting. There will be no speaker at that time but will be a stunt night. According to present plans that will be one of the most interesting meetings of the year.

The Lions met on Tuesday evening of this week. The regular business of the club was transacted and also some back business was cleared up. An official report was made on the Halloween celebration that was held the latter part of October. In this the Lions broke even. As was stated at the time that was all that was expected as it was not intended as a money making venture.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Curran and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Curran were visitors in Plymouth over Thanksgiving.

LOCAL GIRL IN AUTO COLLISION

Miss Helen Rowatt of this place was in an automobile accident in Shelby by last Wednesday evening when the Ford Coupe which she was driving was struck by a Roop Coupe driven by James Zellers of Shelby.

The accident occurred at the corner of North Gamble street and Smiley avenue. Zellers was coming in from Shelby and attempted to make a left turn on East Smiley avenue. Miss Rowatt was driving north, and the car driven by Zellers turned across in front of her. A crash was unavoidable and both cars went over the curb on the northeast corner of the square. Zellers assumed all the responsibility of the crash and agreed to take care of all damages on the Rowatt car.

ELECTION LAWS ARE CHANGED

Completely reworded election laws providing for sweeping changes, will go into effect in the state of Ohio on January 1st. It will do away with the old system that has been in effect since the primary law was adopted. The greater part of this new law, since it effects registration, is of greater interest to cities of 16,000 or over.

However, the one provision that of combining the presidential and state primaries on the second Tuesday in May of presidential years, is of interest to everyone. According to this in 1932 there will be no August primary, but will be combined with the primary that chooses presidential delegates and will be held in May.

The principal features of the new law which was passed by the last session of the state legislature are: Provision for permanent registration in cities of more than 16,000 population; much easier method of recount, since it is no longer necessary for a candidate to prove prima facie evidence of fraud; A candidate of five or more electors, under the new law, may secure a recount by posting a bond of $10 for each precinct, the money to be refunded if error of more than three percent is found.

Voting machines are optional by initiative with any political subdivision.

Residential and state primaries are combined on the second Tuesday in May in presidential years.

Registration books are to be discarded, and in index filing card system will be adopted in their stead.

One more general registration will be required by referendum in November, 1930. After that date voters attaining the age of 21 years may register any day in the year, with the exception of a period of twenty days preceding an election, or ten days following it.

The responsibility of keeping a check on the registration cards will fall up on the police department, and policemen will be required to make a check of all residents of the city and to report to the election board six days prior to an election any changes which have occurred.

Under the new election code, clerks are required to report to the election board marriages they perform, and to file the names of all women over twenty-one years of age who have changed their names.

The city health commissioner must file one card each month with the board the names of any persons over twenty-one years old who have died, and the election board office will be open the year around, instead of only nine months as heretofore. The handling of the finances of elections is taken from the hands of city auditors and placed in the hands of county auditors, they will pay all costs and deduct the amount from the next tax settlement.

BELIEVE COUNTY RED CROSS WILL REACH QUOTA

At noon Wednesday the Richland County Red Cross drive had reached a total membership of 6,000. Reports have not been heard from several towns and villages it is reported and for that reason officials of the organization at county headquarters expressed the belief that the quota of 6,000 would be reached.

DAMAGE DONE AT NEW SCHOOL

The unexpected snow weather that swept down on Plymouth the latter part of last week caused some damage at the new school building in the north part of town, and which is under process of construction. Lamenting and unfortunate as this is it is not nearly so bad as was at first reported around town. The entire damage amount to $100,000.00 on the plaster in various parts of the building. This was due entirely to the fact that the plaster was new and it was not warm enough in the building.

Whatever loss there is will, of course, be taken care of by the contractors and will not cost the local district anything. This is a relief of fact since the building has not as yet been turned over to the local board for their approval, and of course this damage to the plaster will be repaired before the building will be acceptable to local school officials.

There is one thing, however, that may come as a result of this comparatively slight damage to the plaster, and that is it may delay the completion of the building so that it cannot be occupied on schedule time, which was to be soon after the first of the year.

It would seem if anyone is at fault for the damage that was done it would be the contractors that are installing the heating equipment since they should have been ready for the weather. However, in justice to them it should be stated that no one foresaw such severe weather for the time of year as was experienced the latter part of last week. Had it been later on in the winter they would, of course, have been prepared for it.

According to wild rumors that make headway through the town the damage was so bad that the entire interior was entirely ruined, large pieces of plaster was dropping off and it would be necessary to postpone the opening of school until next September. An investigation, however, revealed that there was comparatively little damage and what there is must be made good by the contractors at no expense to the district.

Willett-Bouffard Nuptials

SHILOH—Of interest to their many friends will be the announcement of the wedding of Miss Gladys Willett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Willett of South Walnut street, Shiloh, to Lloyd J. Bouffard of East Cleveland.

The marriage was solemnized at high noon Thanksgiving Day at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. E. R. McCroom officiated, using the ring ceremony.

Preceding the service, Mrs. W. R. Willett sang, "At Dawning," and Loehgrin's wedding march was played as a violin solo by Miss Winifred Black, accompanied by her mother.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a pencil blue crepe with tulle trimming. She carried a bouquet of pink and cream roses. Miss Imogene Smith of Berea was maid of honor and wore a brown crepe.

Her bouquet consisted of dark red roses, Miss Imogene Smith, of Berea, a little flower girl was dressed in dark red velvet with cream trimming and carried a basket of yellow baby chrysanthemums. Mr. Bouffard was attended by Harry Kirk of Cleveland.

Miss Willett has been a teacher in the Berea schools for several years, and in her home town she has many friends that join in wishing for both a happy, prosperous life. Mr. Bouffard is a chemist for the Forest City Testing Co., of Cleveland. He has his office in Detroit and they left immediately after the wedding for their future home. The high esteem of this couple was evidenced by the many beautiful and useful presents received by them.

The out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Bouffard and families of Mrs. Winstead of East Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daugherty, Harry Kirk and Kenneth Fleigler of Cleveland; Miss Imogene Smith and George Wiles of Berea; Miss Ada Godey of Lakewood; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Willett and daughter of Olmstead Falls.

DEFINITE PLANS FOR LIBRARY

The Plymouth public library will move into the north room of the Connie Bevier home on Plymouth street just south of the square the first of January, according to an announcement made by library officials the forepart of this week.

As was stated a few weeks ago the present quarters on Sandusky street just north of the square were considered too small. With that in mind the ladies who have charge of the directing of the library have been considering for the past several weeks the advisability of moving. Two things entered into this: First, there was the matter of finances, and second there was the problem of procuring a suitable room.

In regard to raising the necessary money it is planned to solicit all individuals and all organizations and clubs in the town for donations. Also Library Brochure has been given this evening in the K. of P. Hall. This will start at eight o'clock. Anyone who wishes to play bridge, five hundred or euchre is invited to come. The admission price is five cents. This money will be used for paying the running expenses of the library.

The question of securing a suitable room called for much careful thought on the part of the library board. There were two or three empty store buildings about town that were considered. Finally it was decided to rent a room of Miss Bevier's. This room in which the library will be located after the first of the year has its own private entrance and is in every way very suitable for library purposes.

The ladies who make up the Board have devised a considerable amount of their time in the past in keeping the library going and it is their intention to keep it going in the future and in fact to make it bigger and better than before, now that they will soon be in the new location. However, they realize that they cannot do this alone and for that reason they ask the cooperation of all. Especially at this time of year an appeal goes out to donate money. Any amount from five cents on up will be acceptable.

The Plymouth library is affiliated with the Richland County library and secures a considerable amount of help from that headquarters at Mansfield in the way of securing books. They can also get books from the state traveling library at Columbus. The Library Board is composed of the following: Miss Sam Backbeach, president; Mrs. George Herkshire, vice president; Mrs. Harold Jeffrey, librarian; Mrs. Jean Seville, secretary; Mrs. P. H. Root, treasurer; Mrs. George Eastman, Mrs. Pearl Elder and Mrs. Ruth Anderson.

Chicken Supper

The annual chicken supper andazaar given by the Friendship Class of the M. E. Church will be held tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 6th, in the K. of P. Hall. It will begin promptly at five o'clock and continue until all are served.

An appetizing menu consisting of the following has been prepared: Chicken, Mashed Potatoes, Biscuit and Gravy, Cabbage, Shaw, Carrots and Peas, Jelly, Pickles, Rolls, Pumpkin Pie. Price 50c. coffee.

The bazaar with a splendid array of fancy goods, aprons, and many useful articles suitable for Christmas presents will be found here. Home-made candy will also be for sale. The bazaar will open at three o'clock. Come one—Come all.

LIBRARY BRIDGE BENEFIT TONIGHT

WHEN—Tonight. WHERE—K. of P. Hall. WHAT—Library Bridge Benefit. TIME—8:00 o'clock. Everybody is urged to come. Admission 50 cents. The money is used for the local library.

It is not strictly a bridge party but anything you want to play. Come and be on time. Miss Henrietta Kreuger of Ohio University spent Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Felks and family.

Coldest November Weather in Years Is Recorded Here

What was officially reported to have been the coldest November weather in many years swept across the country the latter part of last week, bringing deaths and untold suffering to millions of people, who, quite naturally, were unprepared for the zero and even sub-zero temperatures.

From a change began Wednesday night with a sudden snow flurry that soon changed the earth to white. The mercury started to drop and an arctic wind swept out of the northwest. Through out Thursday, which by the way was the coldest Thanksgiving in three or four decades, it continued colder. The same was true Friday and early Saturday morning the mercury even in official thermometers dropped below the zero mark.

Thanksgiving seemed more like Christmas with the snow and cold instead of the customary mud and possibly sunshine. While the forepart of the week the temperature had risen to some extent it still remained at the point where as the "old timer" would say "it's pretty snug weather." Certainly if the weather was to continue as cold throughout what is the usual duration of winter it would be a "long and cold winter."

AUTO PLATES ARE NOW ON SALE HERE

Plymouth's series of license plates for the coming year 1930 will start at 274-401. That is for passenger cars. The truck plates start at T153-651.

These are the plates that are on sale at Paul Russell's Garage east of the square. Mr. Russell stated Wednesday morning that he has 500 of the passenger plates. Accordingly they run from the above number to 275-290, here are 100 of the truck plates, the last number being T153-750.

Mr. Russell makes a special request at this time that auto owners come in early to get their plates. During the last week of the year there is always a big rush with several hundred want their plates all at the same time. If these could be handled through the coming four weeks instead of all being crowded into one week it would be more satisfactory all around.

Now, honestly folks there is any real reason why you should wait until the last day to get something that you can just as well get right now. It is only practicing the golden rule. Then you will find it more satisfactory to yourself. You may suddenly find this you want to go away over New Years and wish to leave two or three days before the end of the year. You rush down to Russell's and want your plates right away quick, but then may be a couple score more that have the same thing in mind and you may have to wait two or three hours. Then you decide that you have made a mistake by waiting. The answer is, get them now.

Remember to bring your bill of sale along. See that it is properly recorded. If you have purchased a new car since the first of the year see that you have made the necessary transfer. If all those things are just as they should be and you get the plates now you should have them within a few minutes.

The plates can be put on the machine in place of the 1929 plates on December 21st. They must be put on by January 1st, so do not attempt to drive on the highways on New Years Day unless you have the new maroon and white tags.

Auto plates went on sale all over the state of Ohio on December 1st.

New Member of School Board to Selected Tuesday

At the regular meeting of the board of education of the Plymouth School District, which will be held next Tuesday evening, a successor to J. E. Nimmons, an member of the board will be selected.

Also, at that time, a new president of the body will be chosen. Since Mr. Nimmons was president of the board his resignation necessitates the selecting of a new presiding officer as well as a fifth member.

At the special meeting of the board held on Wednesday evening of last week the resignation of Mr. Nimmons was read and accepted.

State Inspector of Public Records Miss Mary J. Haupt, met with the board at this meeting last week. She had recently gone over the books and finances of the district and was ready to give her report.

According to a statement made by Miss Haupt the district is in the best shape financially of any district which she has visited after a bond issue had been made and a building program carried out. She finds that there is sufficient funds to complete the new building and to equip it. She did point out however, that since after the first of January the district will not have the one mill levy, which expires on that date, there is indication that towards the end of the present school year there will be a shortage of funds necessary to pay running expenses. She points out that this may reach as much as $1800.00.

She highly commended G. W. Pickens, board members and clerk of the district, and the other members of the board on the excellent condition of the records. She carefully checked over every resolution that had been passed in connection with the bond issue and found everything in perfect condition. She praised the board for their economy and for their business method of handling the school affairs.

Miss Haupt is recognized as one of the best examiners in the state. When she goes over a set of books and put the stamp of approval on them they are correct.

In so far as the financial help for the district is concerned, that is still in the hands of the state. That matter is settled so far as the local board is concerned. That there will be help received is felt certain as other wise it would mean in future years a shortening of the school term.

148 JOIN RED CROSS

The local Lions Club has completed the Red Cross drive in Plymouth and E. E. Balduf, president of the organization, reported Wednesday afternoon that the total membership had reached 148.

He stated that when this report was turned in to the headquarters of the Richland County chapter of the Red Cross at Mansfield they considered this very good for a town the size of Plymouth.

The total money received was $148.75. Mr. Balduf stated that he expected this to be somewhat higher as at least one more donation was expected. The 75 cents of the above amount represents a donation made to the Red Cross and the remainder was for membership at $1.00 each.

As was stated last week one-half of the membership fees remain with the counter chapter, while the other half goes to the national headquarters. All donations remain with the county.

The Discovery and Development of Rubber

By JESSE E. LaDOW
Secretary Mansfield Tire and Rubber Company

The latex is gathered by the labor-process is quite like smoking hams in one—in Malaya mostly by Indian the United States, and like that act tamils and Chinese coolies (names as a great preservative. The smok-given laborers in that section—and ing is continued for from seven to ten taken to the plantation mill nearby days, the longer the better. In a tank cart hauled by oxen, After having been removed from the which are about one-half the size of smokehouse, the sheets are packed in American barines, before it is two cases by Chinese women who before hours old, and there captured and the World war got the magnificent strained as we strain milk. Into square enameled vessels similar to our milk crocks, which hold about six quarts. In the bottom of these vessels there has been poured a few inches of water made slightly acid by a small portion of acetic acid. This causes the latex to coagulate, or the rubber to rise to the top like cream on fresh milk, which is taken off and bungs C. I. F. (cost, insurance and freight) together in a spongy coat a couple of inches thick and a dozen inches square, which is at once passed to a common clothes wringer, such as our American laundries use, and passed through its rubber rolls to squeeze sheets of wringers for length of rolls and the sheet of latex is run through each, until it is flat. The size of the sheets is about 28x30 inches, packed in boxes that come to the American rubber factories. When fresh, these sheets are as white and pure looking as milk. They are then hung up to dry a day or two, and they become dark in color. They are then placed in a drying smokehouse where they are smoked in a tenead acid smoke from the slow-burning of husks of the cocconut and other oils which create an acid smoke. This process cures as well as disinfects and preserves, as in that sub-tropical country the mercury almost daily reaches to above 140 degrees F. in the sun, so that most materials of any dampness are subject to putrefaction. The smokehouse

Y-u-la) in Mexico and some of the trees of the northern part of South America, which require cutting down in order to obtain the latex. This is like killing the cow to obtain the milk. Besides, the quality of Guayule rubber is inferior and not used where good quality rubber is required; or is the price on the market more than one-half of that which Para rubber commands. Other trees than Hevea do not yield as much rubber per year, which is less advantageous and the quality is not on the average as good. The Castillo, Ceara, Ficus and others have not proven to be the reliable standbys that the Hevea Para has proven to be.

We, here in America, in the temperate zone, raise a small rubber tree in our hothouses. It is botanically called the Ficus Elastica (pronounced Fecus.) This tree is a native of Java where the Javanese produce several thousand tons of rubber annually from it. It is uncertain of yield but the quality is good. It is fast giving way in Java to the Hevea tree.

The several states or provinces of Malaya which comprise the entire peninsula have been found to contain the best yielding rubber land yet discovered. Some of the states there are superior to others in yield. Selangor, Kedah, and others there, are among the best rubber producing states in the world. The rainfall per annum averages better than one hundred and twenty inches. Here Hevea yields an average of three pounds per annum on trees six years old. An average of one hundred trees are planted to the acre. The most vigorous physically are tapped every morning and the sap or latex flows for about twenty minutes.

We come to the single object and that is in the production of rubber. We see that all rubber comes from latex. All latex which is pure and clean is "first latex." Then many different commercial names of rubber arise from its preparation. Most users of rubber and its manufacturers rely generally on first smoked sheets as superior to all.

The quantity of rubber now produced annually in South America, its original home or habitat, is in the ratio of thirty thousand tons to nearly six hundred thousand tons of cultivated rubber, of which the South American tree is the direct parent. Strange to note that the cultivated rubbers, and especially Hevea, in its native heat in Brazil does not thrive nor yield in comparison with that cultivated in its adopted countries of Ceylon and Malaya, or of Java and Sumatra.

Americans own or control in the rubber producing regions of the Far East, rubber plantations that yield in the ratio of but one pound in twenty pounds of the total world production of rubber. But the United States consumes fourteen pounds of every twenty pounds of the world production and consumption is steadily appreciated. It is argued that this condition is a weak place in the United States Government, as reliance wholly upon foreign powers for so necessary a commodity would be dangerous in time of possible (not probable) war with the powers whose lands and colonies produce this commodity. During the late war Germany was in exactly this plight and condition, which proved a great handicap and inconvenience to that government.

The Philippine Islands came under the jurisdiction of the United States as an inevitable result of the Spanish-American war, since which time they have been developed as rapidly as possible, as well as educated by America, all free of charge, and to their great and lasting benefit. It has been argued by some members of Congress at Washington, that this has been a large expense to the American government, and by other Congressmen that these island possessions about break even in supporting themselves, with trade balances much in favor of America, and that it would be unavailing to turn them loose exposed to unscrupulous and inclined nations of the world equipped with navies and armies of which the Philippines have neither.

It becomes of greater interest to Americans that these Philippines have sufficient territory, if cultivated to Hevea rubber, to produce the present supply of the world's requirements, which aggregates at present over six hundred thousand tons of rubber annually. The island of Mindanao, the Sulu group and some others, come liberally within nature's rubber producing zone with ample rainfall and proper soil to produce rubber. There is no experiment about it, as there are numerous small rubber plantations producing there now. These islands have the outlet for ocean freight and access of approach.

But they have not attracted American capital nor capital from other parts of the world for rubber cultivation. The one great obstacle in the path of rubber progress in the Philippines is a basic constitutional law that no person or corporation can own to exceed 2500 acres of land. The average rubber production per acre, as we have seen, is about 300 pounds, which would mean but 750,000 pounds per year from 2500 acres. The large American rubber factories use up to a million pounds per week. The 2500 acre limitation could not yield enough rubber in a year to supply one large American factory for a single week. This conclusion is inevitable.

The Philippine politicians appear to persuade the people there not to vote to change this limitation land law by liberalizing it, on the ground that if it remains as it is, the United States government will be the more liable to relinquish its protectorate and thereby it would be turned over to these politicians. By this action millions of dollars that Americans and others may have invested in these islands in rubber have been diverted to other places. For instance, H. S. Firestone and his organization are investing in and developing Liberia, Africa. The United States Rubber Company, of New York, has also invested upwards of twenty million dollars in Sumatra, and has organized the largest and finest equipped single rubber plantation in the world. The Goodyear Company has also followed suit there.

When this basic law was written by William Howard Taft, the first governor of the Philippines after the Spanish-American war, it became his duty to write for these island people a constitution and reconstruct a plan of their future government. He inserted this limitation of land law without any possible knowledge or even suspicion of the future demand and development of rubber or that there was latent in the Philippines that was suited by nature to produce rubber. His object apparently was to protect the island government from land monopoly, such as prevailed on the Pacific coast in California where there a few land millionaires seemed to own many thousands of acres which they refused to sell and thus retarded the development progress of that section, besides depriving hundreds of thousands from making a business livelihood there.

Some years ago a few Americans in the Hawaiian Islands became enthusiastic that rubber could be produced there in commercial quantities. They selected the southern-most island and prepared and planted 1200 acres to Hevea rubber trees imported from Malaya. The trees grew and appeared to thrive but refused to yield any latex. The trees shed their leaves, becoming deciduous in habit which was contrary to their conduct in South America or Malaya. Their development and beauty was equal to that of their habitat. When in Hawaii we examined the trees and talked with some of the promoters of the project who had lost their investment, and we all came to the same conclusion, that rubber must be produced where nature intended it should be produced, and that is within a radius of 750 miles on the north or south side of the equator. This southern-most island of the Hawaiian group was fully 1200 miles north of the equator.

Query: Can Thomas A. Edison or Henry Ford propagate and grow rubber in Florida or anywhere in the United States of America, with certainty? A reasonable answer is that they can if they can grow oranges profitably north of Florida. Nature has provided climate and soil for her different products. For rubber she provides a strip of this earth about fifteen or sixteen hundred miles in width in a belt around the whole earth about seven hundred to eight hundred miles on either side north and south of the equator, with heat up to 150 degrees F. in seasons of the year, and with rainfall of not less than one hundred twenty-five inches annually, which raises and produces rubber trees. It is the habitat for rubber and man cannot change nature.

WOULD HAVE SECRET VOTE OF CONGRESS

Contending that congressmen are publicly dry, but in private life very much "wet," it is suggested that a secret vote be taken on the legalizing of light wine and beer.

Those who make the suggestion claim that congressmen dare not in a public vote favor such a measure because it would mean their political death, but claim that if a secret vote were taken it would reveal the true feeling of all and that the national legislature would show "wet" by a substantial majority.

However, it is also claimed that everyone in Washington knows that congress would continue to vote dry whether it would be in public or secret ballot. It is admitted that there might be some difference in the totals. That much would be interesting. That there is a considerable number of congressmen who are apparently very ardent drys but who drink intoxicating liquor in private life is undoubtedly true. Many of them have been elected from dry rural districts and know that they must vote dry. Some vote dry because they feel that it is the wishes of the people who sent them to congress. They feel that a representative vote should merely reflect the wishes of the people and should not be his own personal thoughts. These people though undoubtedly thought that they were electing a man who wants to see the country remain dry and not one who is wet at heart but votes dry because he fears the people back home.

YOUNG GIRL GIVEN DIVORCE

A matrimonial venture between a girl of 15 and a youth of 19 which followed a courtship of five months ended in Probate court in Mansfield, Monday morning with a shabby girl being granted a decree from her husband.

Opal Boncutter alleged that her husband, Serge Boncutter to whom she was married in Mansfield, October 31, 1928, maintained an attitude of nagging and would often quarrel over trivial matters.

She stated he spent nearly all of his money on fishing tackle and things for his pleasure, but would give her very little funds with which to maintain a household and support herself.

Mrs. Boncutter told Probate Judge Charles L. McCallan that her husband, during the time when she was compelled to work, would attempt to entice women into his home during her absence.

Mrs. Boncutter was granted a decree in the case which was uncontested. She was restored to her maiden name of Opal Briggs. Attorney C. P. Creedman was counsel for the plaintiff.

HIGHWAY DIVISION NOW LOCATED IN NORWALK

On Monday of this week the state highway department started to move equipment from the Milan division headquarters to the new department recently established in Norwalk.

Among other equipment that was moved were twenty-five motor trucks. These were taken to the Moshonian Garage building on Chatham street, the building that was recently rented as a headquarters for the new division.

Previous to this time Erie and Huron county were in one division with headquarters at Milan. The state highway department, however, thought best to have each county separate. The Huron county division will employ between sixty and sixty-five men throughout the winter, it is stated, and during the summer months many more men will be put on the pay roll.

GOES A RABBIT HUNTING WITH HIS PAJAMAS ON

Beryl Miller, one of the genial owners of the Brown and Miller Hardware Store at this place, likes to hunt rabbits. He will confess it is one of his weaknesses.

He particularly likes to get out into the woods early knowing that is the best time if one is to remember the old saying "the early bird catches the worm."

All that bristles to mind a story that told about Beryl at the very start of the hunting season the past month. Wanting to get the customary early start he hopped out of bed even before the sun had started his usual daily journey. It will be recalled that it was a somewhat snappy morning with the mercury hanging somewhere around the freezing point and the air heavily frosted laden. At that moment Beryl was torn between two conflicting desires. One was to go forth in search of the cotton tails and the other was to go back to bed and wait until a more reasonable hour when it would perhaps be much warmer. Suddenly he decided to compromise. He would retain the warmth of the sweet night's sleep and get rabbits just the same. Accordingly, he left his slippers on and donned his clothes on over the top. Thus protected against the blighting breezes he stepped forth into the open air. Once afield he gave himself a mental vote of approval for his foresight, and in the long run, he reflected, he was well paid.

It was not learned if he brought home the usual law's limit of rabbits, but anyhow that's the story and that's that.

Recent out-of-town guests entertained in the home of Mrs. D. Hanick included Mr. and Mrs. M. Roesch, Willard, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Collins and daughter Barbara of Canton, Mrs. Nellie Randall, Mrs. Ida Hooser and daughter Mary of Shelby, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bauer and children Mary Joyce and A. G. Jr. of Elyria.

State Library Books

The North School, Plymouth Twp., Mrs. McConnell, teacher, has just received a consignment of traveling Library books from the Ohio State Library. The collection, a very valuable one, consists of fiction, history, travel, biography, science and many other subjects.

Governor Myers Y. Cooper, who restored the Ohio State Library believes that the people in the state who want to read these books should have them. While the books just received are intended primarily for the use of the school, both Governor Cooper and Librarian George Elliott McCormick will be pleased to have any one in the community read them that desires to do so.

If readers of this paper do not find what they want in this collection write to the Ohio State Library, State Circulation Department. This department maintains a direct mail service and lends books for a period of one month.

The only expense is the postage both ways. This is a splendid service and we hope our community will make use of it.

Mrs. Lucretia Howell and Mrs. Helen Stevenson of U. Sandusky spent Thanksgiving and the week-end with friends at Pittsburg and Beaver Falls, Pa.

Extend Helping Hand to Marshland People

The Christmas spirit has taken hold of the people of Plymouth in the way they are giving wholeheartedly to the people living in the marsh land west of the village.

There are a number of these families in that section that scarcely have the necessities of life and especially does this seem true of the children. Due to a lack of proper clothing a number of them have been unable to attend school.

For that reason there has been concerted action by organizations, merchants and residents of the town during this week.

On Tuesday the Friendship class of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. S. S. Holtz for a sewing bee to make the material that had been given into clothing for those children.

Especially commendable was the assistance of The Holder Co., which gave a large amount of material and the Lippus Dry Goods Store who also gave material. A number of the residents of the town also gave clothing. Wednesday afternoon a committee composed of Mrs. East Anderson, Mrs.

Thurman Ford, Mrs. Fred Phillips and Mrs. S. S. Holtz from the Friendship class, delivered the clothing to the people that need it so badly in the marsh land.

Out at New Haven the class in the school at that place taught by Miss Jessie Cole made up a box of necessities and this was also taken to the needy people.

This helping hand to people who most need it comes at just the right time. A number of these people even in warm weather have scarcely enough with which to keep body and soul together, and as winter sets in it is only natural to suppose that the suffering becomes more acute. The greater number of these people are very willing to send their children to school but because of a lack of the bare necessities in the way of clothing they are unable to do so. For that reason these generous gifts from people who are in more fortunate circumstances are welcomed.

it will unfold perfectly. If one day it is not looked after and an insect which will harm it is allowed to enter into its bud, it will not be perfect. Our own lives should be as carefully guarded so that when we have our full growth we will also be perfect.

Mr. Johns then took a few minutes and explained to us how to address letters and packages so there will not be so many lost. So many people fail to place the return address upon the letter or package, and if the person to whom the letter or package is addressed moves away, the article cannot be returned and goes to the dead letter office.

GIRLS BASKETBALL
Last Tuesday, November 26th, the girls went to Weller to try to repeat their victory which they had gained on Ontario, but meeting a team composed of many of last years "county champs" they were outclassed and so lost by a 27-16 score. The girls seemed to have an off night and could not get started making baskets until the second half, and by that time Weller was holding a comfortable 16-11 lead, which could not be overcome. Pugh with points led the Plymouth scoring, followed by Becker with 5, Miller, of Weller, took high scoring honors with 19 points.

BOYS BASKETBALL
P. H. S. boys journeyed to Weller last Tuesday night and after seeing the girls defeated, vowed revenge.

Although outdist by every man, they played hard and consistently to outscore Weller 25-18. Profiting by new plays and being shown their weaknesses by Coach Jenkins, they played exceedingly fine basketball and so outclassed the Weller "huskies." Every one of the starting five scored at least two points, showing there are no stars but all are working together. This means real teamwork.

ATTEND GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Elmsel of this place attended the Golden Wedding Anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Brandt at Norwalk last Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Elmsel is a daughter of the Brandts.

The event took place at Lockwood Chapel, Norwalk, and was attended by the four children and twelve grandchildren, and their families.

The chapel was beautifully decorated with hugh baskets of golden chrysanthemums. There were five tables, one for the wedding guests of fifty years ago, one for the family, one for the relatives, one for the near friends. The tables were set with a color scheme of gold and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Brandt renewed their marriage vows, and just before this Mrs. James Young, a daughter, sang "O Promise Me" with her sister Mrs. Elmsel at the piano.

During the banquet which followed a number of the guests made appropriate remarks for the occasion.

The afternoon was spent in witnessing four reels of interesting and first hand pictures taken by Arthur Brandt on his recent trip to Moscow, Russia, where he went on extensive engineering business for the Russian government. One reel showed pictures taken from the air on his trip from Moscow back to Paris.

TO ENJOY WINTER IN SOUTH

Mrs. Mary Drennan and her sister Mrs. Corrine Armstrong of Gallon were in Chicago for over Thanksgiving.

After a short visit, they expect to go to Greenville, S. C. to spend the winter months.

Mrs. W. J. Geer with whom Mrs. Drennan resides, plans to leave January 9th for Forta Rica where she will spend the winter months with her cousin, Miss Addie Brinkerhoff of Mansfield.

The above parties are well known in Plymouth and a host of friends here wish for them an enjoyable winter.

FAMILY DINNER AT WEAVER HOME

A family dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Weaver on Thanksgiving Day. This is the day when all the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren come back to the old home, each bringing their baskets of good things. All this together made a real dinner, the main dishes being chicken, duck and oysters. The mince and pumpkin pie made by Grandma Weaver should not be overlooked, however. A large 12 by 16 inch white and pink cake was the center piece of the table. This was made by Victor Weaver of New London.

It was a happy day for all present and at evening time the hope was expressed that they would all meet again a year later.

PROPERTY SOLD

The property belonging to the estate of the late Laura Elmsel on Poplar Street was sold Tuesday to Mrs. Hoffmann of Boughtownville.

PUPILS PUSH THE CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE

As was announced last week Plymouth's quota of Red Cross Christmas Seals are in the hands of the local school authorities and are being distributed through the pupils.

A group of local Girl Scouts has volunteered to canvas the business district of the town. This work was done the middle of this week. Aside from the business district it is hoped that it will not be necessary to make a further canvas of the town, but that the people will give their orders for stamps to the pupils, who will then deliver them.

It is hoped that this work can be completed at an early date so that a report can be made to county headquarters. Prompt response on the part of all will make this possible.

HUNTING DEER IN PENNA.

A. E. DeVore and E. Markley left Plymouth Saturday evening for a hunting trip to Mifflin, Pennsylvania. At that place they will join Mr. and Mrs. John Bradford, former owners of the Home Restaurant at this place.

Deer is the game they are after. They are said to be fairly plentiful in that mountain section of the Keystone state. The Plymouth people hope to return home with some of the big game.

Mrs. Ira Haladel, formerly of Plymouth who underwent an operation at the Shelby hospital, was removed to her home in Boughtownville on Tuesday in Miller's Invalid Coach.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mills and Wade Lebold visited their mother, Mrs. Pauline Lebold, Thanksgiving.

FOUR CARS IN SMASH-UP

An automobile collision occurred near the Lyme school on the Norwalk Bellevue road last Wednesday afternoon which was remarkable because of the fact that a model A Ford, a Deuce, an Overland and an Essex, figured in the accident. No one was seriously hurt.

The Ford car, while being driven past the Essex sideswiped that machine but proceeded on, the driver continuing on his way. The other machines were badly wrecked and the parts of the Overland and the Deuce are said to have been spread out on a plane, as if the sides of a card board box had been broken apart and spread out evenly with the bottom. The wheels of the Overland, were also badly damaged or ruined. A hunter and his dog were in the Essex car and a man and his wife and a baby were in one of the other machines. It was at first reported a woman had been killed but this was not the case.

ESCAPE FROM BURNING HOUSE IN NIGHT CLOTHES

A fire in the basement of the home in which they were rooming at Valparaiso, Indiana, caused a Shelby girl, Miss Margaret Barkdull, and girl friend to make a hurried and thrilling escape through a second story window.

Miss Barkdull is a student at the Western Union Managers Training School. The fire, caused by defective wiring in the basement, broke out in the night and before it was discovered the entire first floor of the dwelling was ablaze. The girls were forced to leave the room in their night clothes. They dropped from the window onto a porch roof and from there to the ground. They then made their way to an apartment next door where they were given shelter for the night. The girls were alone in the house at the time of the fire.

And, now, with Christmas just a few days off, you'll find our store full of ideas.

They chose as the heroine of the evening Francis Parkison Keyes a noted writer and traveler. The three ladies read selections of a letter she had written a friend about the hymns which had meant something big and definite in her life.

The hymns as they occurred were sung by the members of the circle and were: "Silent Night", "A Mighty Fortress is Our God", "All Hail the Power of Jesus name", "Onward Christian Soldier", "The Son of God Goes Forth to War", "In the Cross of Christ I Glory", "O Little Town of Bethlehem", Mrs. Seville sang, "The King of Love" as a solo. Mrs. Willett joining her in the chorus.

Motocycle Victim Dies at Hospital

Richard E. Smith, of Canton, student at the Tri-State Normal school at Angola, Indiana, died in the Shelby hospital following injuries received when he fell from a motorcycle Monday evening, November 25th on the New Haven-Willard road.

Smith, a young man, was found by passing motorists, who notified the Willard police. The injured man was taken to the Shelby hospital.

It is reported that this was the third motorcycle fatality in Huron county this year. All the victims were non-residents of the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Close and family visited Mr. and Mrs. O. W. McKinley at Adrian, Michigan, Thanksgiving.

Telephone Companies In Court Fight

A controversy between two independent rural and village telephone companies of Huron county has been carried into the common pleas court at Norwalk for settlement. The Greenwicks Farmers Telephone Co. is the plaintiff and asks the courts to force H. J. Parratt, one of the defendants to cease taking service from the Clinton Airline Telephone Co. at Fitchville, the other defendant.

Encroachment of territory is set forth by the plaintiff company. Parratt lives on the Township line road between Ripley and Fairfield township. Since July 1st, this year, he had been served by the plaintiff company but at that time, he switched over to the Fitchville concern.

In its petition, the plaintiff corporation begs the court to issue an injunction against both defendants. The plaintiff company serves patrons in Greenwicks, in the following townships, Greenwich, Ripley, Fairfield and Fitchville and also territory in northern Richland county.

The defendant corporation is located at Fitchville. Its name, no doubt, was taken from the ill-fated Clinton Air Line organization that failed to carry out a steam railway trunkline project after most of the grading had been done. At Fitchville, the embankments thrown up for the proposed Clinton air line, are still very much in evidence, and this suit tends to give emphasis to the fact that the name of the railway project failure still lives.

The plaintiff takes the stand that under the state public utilities commission regulations, Parratt has no right to receive service from the Fitchville telephone system.

Willard Y. M. C. A. Will Open Soon After Jan. 1st

The new addition to the Y. M. C. A. building at Willard is to be opened with a public reception soon after January 1st, 1930.

The new portion of the building will accommodate 40 additional beds, increasing the dormitory capacity of the Y. M. to 139 beds. The first floor of the new addition will be used as an assembly room with seating space for 150 people. Laundry equipment to be placed in the new basement is expected to cost $2,000 and it will take care of all laundry work for the building.

The present building was opened to the public on May 11th, 1906 and during the first year it gave sleeping quarters to 13,244 men. An addition was built in 1917 to take care of its increasing business. But with a membership of 665 men and a registration of 28,645 men during the year of 1928, the building was again inadequate and the present addition was made necessary.

Since Willard's Y. M. C. A. is a mecca for railroad men, its trade is more transient than in Y. M. C. A. buildings in most other towns. It caters to men largely in the hotel fashion in addition to giving them educational and religious advantages. For their entertainment the Y. M. C. A. maintains its own pool and billiard tables, chess, checkers, dominoes and indoor golf and a new radio has been purchased.

R. H. Jenkins, the present secretary has been in his position at the Willard for twenty years and he has been active in both the work of his own organization and in community service. The Y. M. C. A. inaugurated the children's playgrounds which is open each summer in the adjoining park with a director in charge. The organization also sponsors the "Tri-Angle" for high school boys and the Triangle Club for the younger group.

LUCILE PUGH IN C. PEACE CONTEST

This Sunday evening, December 8, the Richland County Peace of Peace (declamation) contest will be held at the Park Avenue Baptist church in Mansfield. The program will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Lucile Pugh, student in the Plymouth high school will be this community's entrant in the contest. It will be recalled that Miss Pugh won the local contest which was held at the Lutheran church here a few weeks ago, and which entitled her to enter the county event.

The winner of this county contest will be awarded a silver medal and the right to enter the Congressional District contest which will be held at a later date.

Besides Miss Pugh there will be entrants representing the Ontario Community church, the Central Methodist and the Congregational churches of Mansfield.

The Park Avenue Baptist church will provide neutral ground for the contestants since there is no one entered from that church. This church building was completed a few months ago and is one of the finest buildings in Mansfield. The congregation has shown an excellent spirit in offering it for the contest.

DIES WHILE DRIVING CAR

Mrs. Marsh Wolcott, aged 50, of near Boughtonville, died suddenly in Greenwicks Saturday, while behind the steering wheel of her automobile. Death was caused by a sudden attack of apoplexy.

Mrs. Wolcott had made a shopping trip to Greenwicks. About 3:30 she got into her machine intending to return to her home. She started the machine but almost at once the attack seized her. Before she was able to stop the car it had bumped into another standing along the street.

A man standing nearby noticed that Mrs. Wolcott was slumped over the wheel of her car. He opened the door of the car and he with others carried her to the village rest room but a physician stated that she had died almost instantly.

Mrs. Wolcott is survived only by her husband. The body was removed to the late home and funeral services were held there Monday.

Gas Co. to Spend Big Sum in 1930

Expenditures of more than $2,000,000 are provided for by the 1930 budgets of the Ohio Fuel Gas Company and its associated companies in Columbus, Toledo and Springfield. This total is evidence of the company's purpose to carry on development work on the same large scale as during 1929. Expansion contracts will require an amount in excess of $7,000,000 during the coming year, according to Raymond Gross, President of the Ohio Fuel Gas Company and of its associated companies. This sum will be used for extensions, improvements, new drilling and main line building programs of the companies, he explains. It does not include any budgets that may later be necessary, subject to authorizing action of city officials of Columbus and Toledo for providing a mixed gas supply.

Over $15,000,000 is called for by the operating budgets of the companies which likewise are increased over 1929. These budgets provide for payrolls, rentals, royalties and purchase of gas from producers not associated with the Ohio Fuel Gas Company. Expenditures between the associated companies affiliated with the Columbus Gas and Electric Company, of which the Ohio Fuel Gas Company is a subsidiary, are not included in the budget totals given.

Mr. Gross stated that the aggregate of more than $22,000,000 represented the expenditures which would be disbursed in the local operating territories and which would influence local business and employment conditions. It is indicative of the fact, he said, that the gas companies will continue their development programs in the same aggressive way as during the last year.

Co-operation In Road Building

As a pledge to cooperate with President Hoover and Governor Myers Y. Cooper in stimulating the better class of highway construction, nearly a thousand city and county officials of north-central Ohio have joined in a handsomely illustrated and bound message of co-operation which was delivered to Governor Cooper Tuesday.

The book is embossed on the front page with a striking likeness of Abraham Lincoln and has the emblem of the Ohio highway.

Each page is printed in color, with the emblem of the national road. The message of co-operation comes from counties and cities and villages along the Lincoln highway and includes Van Wert, Delphos, Gomer, Beavertown, Cairo, Findlay, Upper Sandusky, Bucyrus, Crestline, Mansfield, Hayesville, Jeromeside, Jefferson, Wooster, Massillon, Canton, East Canton, East Rochester, Lisbon and East Liverpool.

In each community, the mayor, bank presidents, auto club, newspapers, service clubs, every city official, Chamber of Commerce, and other organizations of importance of civic note have autographed the message to the governor.

He counties participating in the message are Paulding, Allen, Van Wert, Hancock, Wyandot, Crawford, Richland, Ashland, Wayne, Stark, and Columbus.

A similar signal system will be installed on the same road just east of Monroeville.

SANTA CLAUS WAS AT LOCAL STORE

Santa Claus was at the Brown and Miller Hardware Store at this place Saturday afternoon and evening. The youngsters were there, about five hundred of them and a lot of others were there and everybody had a good time. Santa Claus made two visits to the store, one at 2 o'clock and one at 7 o'clock. Both times the children gathered in by hundreds, all wanting to see the "kind old gentleman, to get what he had for them and to leave a letter telling what they wanted on Christmas morning.

A number of these letters are being printed in the Advertiser this week.

ACCEPTS AGENCY FOR ELECTRIC RANGE

A. W. Moser, of the Moser Hardware Store at Shiloh, has accepted the agency of the L. & H. Electric Ranges for this vicinity.

Mr. Moser plans a demonstration of these ranges next week at his store. He extends an invitation to the general public to be present at this demonstration.

The L. & H. Electric ranges have two burners and oven, and, it is understood, they can be operated at an average cost of seven cents an hour. When all things are taken into consideration this can be considered very economical operation.

Cooling by electricity will in the future be very general, and for that reason the Moser Hardware Store has taken the agency for the L. & H. range. It is in accordance with their principle of keeping their stores up to date for the convenience of their customers.

NO TRAFFIC LIGHT FOR ATTICA

The village of Attica finds itself in rather a difficult situation.
The village is forbidden to erect a traffic light because according to law this cannot be done on a Federal highway in towns of less than 5,000 inhabitants.

Attica is on the Benjamin Franklin highway, a Federal road. It was proposed to erect a flashing signal at the intersection of the road with the Columbus pike in the main part of the village.
