SOME THOUGHTS ON THE FARM PROBLEMS

What is wrong with American agriculture today? Has the American farmer a real or fancied grievance? If real, what is the remedy, and how shall it be applied?

Of Congress, springing forth its full armor like Minerva from the head of Jove? And meantime, can the General Assembly now meeting at our own State capital's anything to help?

That this problem really exists is the one fact beyond controversy or dispute however contrived. No matter concerning the solution. Since 1921, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, the American farmer has been selling his farm products at prices ranging from 118 to 140, as compared with the price level of 100 prevailing in 1910.

And during that same period from 1921 to 1928, he has been buying the commodities that he needs at an average price of 160, as compared with the price level of 100 in the year 1910.

In other words, the farmer's dollar bought only 75 cents worth of goods in 1921, and even today his dollar will only buy 87 cents worth of goods. Hence the undeniable fact that there is an agricultural problem. No group of men can continue paying their obligations over a long period of time when they are losing 13 cents on every dollar's worth.

The Burden of Farm Taxes But granting that this is a national problem, and one best left to Congress for solution, can we here in Ohio do anything to improve the farmer's position as a producer?

Can we reduce farm taxes? Many a farm in Ohio is today on the duplicate list at a price which would never bring in the market. As a matter of fact, the farmer is now paying taxes on the basis of 245, as compared with the tax level of 100 in the year 1910. How many Ohio farms are worth 2-1/2 times their value in 1919?

Besides paying his share of the gasoline and license tax, the farmer is taxed for local road improvements. Moreover, in the past he has been assessed to help build the network of State highways, in which Ohio takes just first prize. But since 87 per cent of the traffic on these main highways originates in the cities, shall Ohio pride in having placed this additional load on the back of a man already struggling under his own burden?

"No more assessments on farms in order to build State roads" is the pledge of our new Governor; and this long-delayed measure of justice will doubtless be enacted into law by the General Assembly.

Unfortunately that pledge will not reimburse the farmers for assessments which they have already paid. It will merely assure them that other farmers shall not suffer a like injustice.

What the Green Law Promised Meaningful that above an oral promise made to the rural communities in the year 1923, embodied in House Bill 10 is popularly called the Green Law?

This measure takes its name from the Honorable Director of Agriculture, Perry E. Green. "An act to afford relief to townships," so runs its title, "by creating a system of county roads and providing for State aid in the construction thereof."

Perry Green had the vision of a network of county roads extending through every section of the country, enabling the farmer to reach his markets, bringing to the countryside the material benefits which only a modern system of transportation and communication can provide.

A farmer himself, this far-sighted legislator secured the passage from the State of Ohio for a minimum appropriation of $1000 per annum for each township, to aid in the construction of its rural roads.

Rural Road - Forgotten A splendid vision, but not forward-looking law. Had the appropriations been made - a minimum of $1,000,000 - there would not be 40,000 miles of mud roads in Ohio today.

Man So Nervous Feels His Stomach Jump "I got so nervous my stomach felt like it was jumping. Vinol entirely relieved the trouble. I feel better than in years." - C. D. Dicker Vinol is a compound of iron, phosphates, cod liver petroleum, etc. The very BEST bottle makes you sleep better and have a BIG appetite. Nervous, easily tired people are surprised how QUICK the Vinol works. It acts, etc. give new life and pep. Vinol tastes delicious. Karl F. Weber, druggist.

RUSSELL & REYNOLDS EASY PAYMENTS GLADLY ARRANGED

today. In the six years since this law was passed, the State of Ohio should have contributed a total of $3,400,000 toward their improvement.

Unfortunately after passing the law, the appropriations were dispensed with. Except for the meager sum of $350,000 per annum doled out during the years 1925-26, the rural roads were not visible to the legislative eye.

What will the present General Assembly do about the farmer's roads? More empty promises, or some real help?

If you are interested, why not ask your Representative or Senator about it? While awaiting farm relief from Washington, D. C. how about a little action in Columbus, Ohio?

SCHOOL NEWS The pupils are enjoying the Good News Corner, which has been in use for a few weeks now. Each child has a day on which he contributes something toward the Good News Corner.

We are glad to see Mary Ellen Cook, Mary Bourman and Mildred Buckingham back at school again after an absence of a few weeks. The children are preparing a portfolio to be sent to a school in Honolulu. It will contain their writing, arithmetic and language papers and art work.

The fourth grade pupils are quite amused over the idea that their letters to their Honolulu friends were sent by air mail. Some people are always bragging about their ancestors having come here in the Mayflower. Why? What's so nothing folks? We have a man right here in Plymouth who came here in an ice-boat. Good Bye!

The Parson's Column

The first individuals the babe learns to distinguish are Mother and Father, brothers and sisters, and any others who make up the immediate home circle. How marvelously simple then was the manner of God's fullest revelation of Himself. "As the angel said unto Mary, the Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the high one shall overshadow thee; therefore also that holy thing which shall be born of thee shall be called the Son of God." (Luke I, 35.) The Messiah coming into the world by birth into the simple bosom of a Galilean peasant. Thus God put his seal upon the home as the cradle of all religious power.

Amidst the simple homelife of the Nazareth carpenter the son of God grew up, but the virgin mother watching in wonderment no doubt spoke oft of the heavenly father. Joseph never forgetting that vision of the days of his betrothal home, fostered in the lad, who played and worked best times about the carpenter shop a sense of the divine origin of life and God's purpose therein. Small wonder, when the age of twelve he made his first journey to the temple at Jerusalem for the feast, that he should enter into the full meaning thereof unhesitatingly. Small wonder that there he felt at home with the spiritually learned, for indeed he was in his father's house. There was not the unusualness about his response to his mothers remembrance, at the end of the two days search, as we some times think, "Why didst thou not tell me about my father's business?" Had not all of the home influences he had known fostered such a concept of God?

When in later years he began that wonderful ministry of teaching and revelation he began by speaking of God not only as my father but "Our Father." It is the basic Christian conception of God, and there is no place that it can be so naturally and impressively imparted to the mind of the child as in the home. Parents if you will consider it your greatest duty and highest privilege to teach that boy and girl of yours that there is a God who loves them as you do only infinitely more; you will have given to that child an influence which will follow it all of its days. Such an influence will provide the possibilities of many of the tragedies that might befall its way. The individual is best on every hand with temptations to which he does not yield because the knowledge of such conduct would grieve the parents' hearts. On the other he believes his parents will never know. However if from babyhood he is taught to think of God in the terms of loving parenthood, the God who knows all things even the thoughts of our hearts, how many times the possibility of grieving the "Heavenly Father's" heart will restrain from evil you will never know.

Not long ago I heard a little tad of three years about forth, in a fit of anger, a string of oaths in the name of God, which made my blood run cold. I learned afterwards that his parents laughed about it and thought it cute. It will not be unusual if that babe grows up with no respect for God or man. Only a miracle can save him from a life of lawlessness. He is not being taught to respect the God whose first law is loving reverence. I plead with you parents; so live and teach your child that to him God is a loving Father.

OBITUARY

MARIAN HEATH KRUEGER
June 9, 1886—February 8, 1929
Marian Heath Krueger, wife of Everett H. Krueger and mother of Everett H. Jr., nine, and Margaret Anne, six, entered rest on Friday afternoon, February eighth at her home, 16520 South Woodland Road, Cleveland, O.

Knowledge of her passing was received with genuine sadness and a sense of irreplaceable loss in Shaker Heights, Cleveland. Marian Krueger was an active worker in the Cleveland Girls' Scout Council and also in the interests of the Shaker schools. She was the president of the Malvera Parents' Club and her graciousness of manner and sweetness of disposition, her gentleness and courtesy won for her a host of friends. She greatly valued her friendships and had a rare capacity for making friends. She was a devoted wife and mother and always was the perfect hostess. Her gracefulness of personality giving to her home the true spirit of hospitality. Poise and tact under all circumstances and order in living was observed by her with almost religious fervor. Her things and her great love of beauty influenced all those whose lives she touched.

Aside from her husband and children, Mrs. Krueger is survived by her father, Charles E. Heath and a brother, Earl W. Heath, both of Plymouth, O., her former home where she was laid to rest beside her mother.

Funeral services were conducted at Plymouth Church in Shaker Heights where she was an active member.

At the regular session of the Masonic Lodge on Monday evening about fifty partook of a sumptuous dinner served in the dining room by the ladies of the Eastern Star. After the banquet work was done in the E. A. Degree upon one candidate. This being the night for annual inspection, District Lecturer Wilson of Shelby, accompanied by several brethren of that town, gave a very interesting talk on the needs of present day masonry. After remarks by visiting brethren, Rev. Monte called special attention to the struggles in Italy by the Masonic fraternity, after which the Lodge closed in due and ancient form. It was quite interesting to listen to Rev. McElroon deliver the charge to the candidate.

SCHOOL NEWS

BASKETBALL
Academy Shiloh and Plymouth split on a fifty-fifty basis last Friday evening in their basketball game at Plymouth. A capacity house witnessed the evenly matched teams. Perhaps the most exciting as well as the most talked about was the girls game the final score which was 18-19 giving Plymouth girls the victory by one. The game was evenly matched and at no time did either team have much of a lead. The final basket which clinched the game for Plymouth was won in the last minute of play.

The boys game however was not so exciting for the Shiloh quiet took the lead and retained it throughout the game. However the Plymouth boys offered considerable opposition and on several occasions the Shiloh boys went on dangerous ground. The boys score was 29-27.

THE ANNELA

The Seniors are working hard on their annual project. The Seniors want to publish an annual but can do so only with the support of the alumni and patrons of the community. It takes considerable money to finance such a project and this can only be obtained through subscriptions and advertising. Subscriptions are coming in good, but if you have not been solicited call the school office and give us your name. The Seniors will do the rest. Or perhaps you know of some alumni who might want an annual. Let us know about it. Our goal is 150 annuals.

The annual will be a 75 page book containing pictures of the Seniors and faculty, underclassmen, orchestra and other groups. The price of the annual is $1.00. The Seniors plan to make the book represent truly the spirit of S. H. S. as well as convey to you as true a picture of our school.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there is no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or give pain or griping. Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or matter. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and women should keep a bottle on hand. Every drugstore has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine."

How to Raise Poultry

By Dr. L. D. LeGant, V. S., St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. LeGant is a graduate of the Ohio Veterinary College, 1897. He has a long experience in the practice of poultry and stock raising. He is a member of the National Poultry and Stock Raising Association, National Poultry and Stock Raising Association, National Poultry and Stock Raising Association.

LAYERS OR LIARS?
Scientific Culling Out of Drones the Key to Real Poultry Profits, Says Dr. L. D. LeGant, V. S., of St. Louis, Mo.

"Chicken, is you laying or is you lyin'?" exclaimed Rastus as his one-hen poultry flock burst forth into loud exclamations of alleged performance. That's an old joke, it's true, but it suggests with graphic good humor one of the basic principles of success in poultry raising. Any poultryman who persistently eliminates the liars from his flock will increase his profits from the flock to an almost unbelievable degree. The value of a regular, scientific culling out of drones from a poultry flock is vividly illustrated in the results of a survey conducted not long ago by the College of Agriculture of the University of Illinois and their farm advisors. Five acres of profit on 264 flocks averaging 161 hens each was 86 cents per hen, but the average on the best two-thirds was $2.8 per hen. Of course, not all of the least productive one-third deserved to be eliminated, but there certainly may have been an astonishingly large number that were getting food and attending without giving an adequate return on what it cost to keep them. Culling out and marketing such hens can only result in a decrease in expense account and a vastly increased average profit for each hen remaining.

The laying hen has a large, moist, distended crop. The crop of the non-layer is small, hard and puckered. The back of the good layer will be long and broad all the way out to the poor layer, it will be narrow near the tail. On either side of the vent may be felt the points of the pelvic, pubic, pin or lay bones. In the good layer these bones are thin, straight and flexible. In the poor layer they are curved, thick, with layers of fat and rigid. The measurement of these bones is taken at the terminal or extreme end and includes also the skin, fat and gristle over them. If the spread between the pelvic bones is two fingers or less, the hen is probably not laying. If it is two fingers or more, it generally indicates that she is laying.

To accommodate the extra food a good laying hen must not limit the expansion of the laying organs, the rear of the keel bone of the good layer will be at a greater distance from the pelvic bones than it will be in the poor layer. This shows abdominal capacity, which is very important and measured by the number of fingers that can be placed between the keel bone and the pelvic bones. With smaller breeds like Leghorns, a spread of three or more fingers indicates laying condition. With larger breeds, the spread should be four fingers or more. Other things being equal, a long bodied fowl measuring three fingers is equal to a short bodied fowl measuring four.

Absence of yellow color around the vent and whitish or pinkish color of the skin indicates that the hen is laying. If we also find a bluish eye ring, white beak and feet and she has been laying for some time. I have discussed in as great detail as space permits, some of the more important points by which to be guided in culling. (Further information will be gladly given to anyone writing to me in care of this newspaper.) Do not depend on any one factor in judging your hens, but form an opinion based on all-considered together. Cull carefully, persistently and relentlessly, and before long you will have a flock of real live-day layers. It takes time and patience, to be sure, but the reward is well worthy of the effort.

Less than 10 per cent of 3115 Ohio farmers interviewed, reported that they have had unsatisfactory results with fertilizer on their farms.

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Medical authorities state that nearly all cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burping, gas, bloating, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Pharmanol is a wonderful relieving agent in all cases of stomach and bowel trouble. Pharmanol comes in handy tablet form and is not unpleasant to take. Positively does not contain any habit-forming drugs and may be used by young and old. Entire satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

NOTICE
Dr. Searle's office will be open from 9-11 a. m. and from 5-8 evenings until further notice.
For more than a quarter of a century, more thoughtful people have sought the Norwalk Vault. It solves their problem of the protection of the dead. From town to city and city to State, from one end of the United States to the other, the use of Norwalk Vault has spread. Many leading funeral directors make it the foundation of every funeral, for its assurance of eternal protection adds to the meaning of all other tributes. Waterproof, airtight, the Norwalk Vault protects against vermin and vandals. Seal into a single solid piece of masonry.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
 Sunday, February 17th, 1929
 SELP expression is a necessity of the Being of God. He is the great artist, flaming out His thoughts of Beauty. He is the divine Musician, causing the laws of nature to be the strings of the harp, while from His hand there drops the lyric note of creative skill. In manifold ways He speaks, now in the still small voice, again in the tumult of the storm.

"MANIFOLD VOICES" will be the theme for next Sunday, 11 a. m. This will be the first of a series of messages each Sunday leading up to the Easter Service. Those who do not attend elsewhere are cordially invited to attend these services. The Junior Choir will sing.

Sunday evening course. The school in Christian Education meets at 5 p. m. Each class continues one hour. The last class closes its service at 8 p. m.

DON'T Break Your Back! Ruin Your Temper! Spoil Your Harness!

Don't break your back trying to oil your harness—don't ruin your temper—don't fight your wife over trying to oil the harness in the house—bring it to us where we are well equipped for this work.

The worst of it is, if you don't bring it to us now in all probability you won't bring it to us at all—you will only get half or a third of the wear from your harness to which you are entitled.

Our method is simple and easy. By dipping it in our modern harness oiler the Neatline oil reaches every part of the harness. None gets too little oil. It is oiled on both sides and in every little joint and crevice. Every pore is full.

It's the best method of oiling your harness—and your time is worth far more than the small cost.

This oil reaches every part of the harness. This way it is THOROUGHLY oiled.

$1.50 per Set for Oiling

See Our Line of New Harness Before You Buy

We are better prepared than ever to sell you guaranteed harness. Our prices can beat those of the mail-order house, and the quality and workmanship is considered the best. See the new Latigo-tanned leather proof harness—All hardware is rust-resisting
