WORK ON NEW SCHOOL

Plymouth's new high school building is in the north end of town is rapidly nearing completion.

The main building contract will be completed by November 1st, according to a statement made by T. R. Brownlee, superintendent of construction.

Mr. Brownlee states that the entire building will be under roof by the end of two weeks.

The floors in the basement especially constructed for the installing of the large furnaces have been laid.

As was stated above the delay in the arrival of steel material held up the work.

Mr. Brownlee has had a force of from 25 men at work since the contract was started.

The Heston Construction Co. has the general contract for the building.

When the school building is finally completed it will be an educational plant for which the town will be proud.

The police were at the scene in a few minutes. Fagis accompanied the officers to the hall where he made arrangements to pay the damage he caused.

All girl Scouts and all girls over 12 years of age are invited to meet at the Scout house on Monday, September 23rd.

Bachrach Bros. Retire; Other Changes Noted

A business deal was closed recently in Plymouth whereby one of the oldest if not the very oldest business houses in the town will be discontinuing.

The Bachrach meat market has been established and known for miles around. In that time it witnessed the changing of Plymouth from a country trading post into a thriving industrial village.

Mr. Ruckman, the purchaser of the equipment, upon being interviewed Tuesday afternoon stated that he did not expect to go into the retail meat business.

It is in asking Bachrach what they expect to do now that they were going out of business, Sol Bachrach stated Monday afternoon that he and also his brother Maurice and wife expected to go to Florida.

During the time that Bachrach's have been in business they have been in Plymouth during the 65 years.

The first meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association for this school will be held tonight at the school house.

Considerable excitement prevailed in the neighborhood of North Fairfield early Sunday morning when the tank house on the Wilbur farm, a mile and a half west of town, was completely destroyed by fire.

THINGS THAT WE NEVER HAPPEN

THREE PEOPLE IN PLANE MISHAP AT WILLARD SUNDAY

Willard Blake, small son of R. C. Blake of Willard, sustained a broken leg, Foster Lane, the pilot, and Mr. Blake, one of the owners of the Willard airport, suffered bruises and scratches in an accident just in front of the landing field at the Willard airport Sunday afternoon.

The two planes of the pilot, the other piloted by Loyola Hook, also one of the owners of the airport, had been in the air for trial flights and had started for the landing field together.

It can be seen that all this will mean considerable moving during the next six weeks or more.

NORWALK GIRL IS VICTIM OF WRECK

Irene Ackerman, 18 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ackerman of Norwalk, was killed about 10:30 p. m. Sunday night in an automobile accident on the Norwalk-Sandusky road.

With her at the time were three companions all of whom were injured. They are: Alden Heston 18, Clayton Bell 17, and Kathryn Ackerman 17.

Sunday evening the four had attended a picture at the theatre in Sandusky. They were returning to Norwalk when the accident occurred.

The impact threw Bell and Kathryn Ackerman to the highway. Mrs. Ackerman turned completely over and then Heston and Irene Ackerman were thrown out.

Late reports from the hospital indicate that the other three members of the party were seriously injured.

WORLD WAR VET DIES AT NORWALK

Charles V. Mack of Norwalk, and veteran of the battle of the Argonne in the striding days of 1918, died at his home in that city at 4 a. m. last Friday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Peterson opened Monday afternoon at the Clear House a visit with Miss Genevieve Blair.

Glenn Hartman, who is to be the manager of the Clear House, has a system located in the Ringer home in Shelby, on Marvin avenue, is well known in the vicinity.

Charles Mack started his military career in 1912 when he joined C. O. of Norwalk as a private.

During the World War he was with the Berea Co. of the 14th Infantry.

Recently he was made captain of C. O. of the National Guard company of his home city.

Charles Mack was known as a good soldier. He early won the respect and confidence of all his comrades.

RUSHING WORK ON PLANT ADDITION

The new machine shop at the plant of the Fate-Roost-Heath Co. at this place is going up rapidly, and if weather conditions permit the building will be ready to occupy within the next 30 or 40 days.

Mr. Heath added that the Company has placed orders for new and up-to-date machinery for their new building and this will be installed immediately after the building is completed.

This new building which is in process of construction is entirely of steel and brick. The steel frame work is practically all completed.

It is expected that the roof will be completed by the middle of next week.

That production at the plant of the Fate-Roost-Heath Co. is indicated by the fact the fore part of the week an order was received for delivery of two new passenger driven locomotives.

Within the past few days orders have been placed by the company with the Westinghouse Electric Co. for the electric equipment for the construction of two 7600 volt electric locomotives.

W. C. T. U. IN 43RD CONVENTION

The 43rd Annual Convention of the Huron County Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held in the Universalist church at Norwalk, next Wednesday.

The county convention to be held at the country home of Mrs. M. A. Morris of Youngstown, Ohio, on Friday and Saturday, will be the principal speaker.

A ladies quartet of Plymouth will furnish music in the afternoon.

Mrs. Ray Long is president of the County W. C. T. U. Other officers are: Mrs. M. A. Morris, secretary; Mrs. M. C. VanAlstine, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Hildred Brouhard, recording secretary; Mrs. Mabel Higgins, treasurer.

SQUARREL SEASON OPENED

Today the squarrel season opened Monday with many hunters were in the woods early hoping to get that limit of squarrels for the season.

MANY PROBLEMS PRESENTED IN FILMING NOTED DRAMA

Director Scores Triumph in Screening

"Last of Mrs. Cheney" When Sidney Franklin undertook to direct the all-talking version of "The Last of Mrs. Cheney," a Norma Shearer starring picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which will be at the Temple Theatre Sunday, he began one of the most difficult assignments ever placed in the hands of any one man. To begin with, Franklin had to assemble a cast of players capable of delivering the swiftest and most intriguingly sophisticated dialogue ever penned by Frederick Lonsdale, noted British playwright. And every player had to speak lines convincingly, British enough to give credence to the characterizations.

More than that, Franklin had on his hands, as a background of motivation for this speedy dialogue, a plot almost devoid of action, a fundamental need in the making of almost of sound films, although the story packed a genuine wallop in dramatic interest.

JOHNSON COMES SOON WITH "SAY IT WITH SONGS"

At Castamba Theatre Shelby Sunday Monday and Tuesday is the opening date for "Al Jolson's supreme Vitaphone singing picture success, 'Say It With Songs' in which he is supported by his world-famous little pal, Davey Lee."

Jolson's new picture begins in a broadcasting station. As Joe Lane, a popular radio entertainer, and song writer, Jolson has a number of opportunities to sing—as only Jolson can sing—and his audiences are going to be thankful for the whirlwind, singing opening of "Say It With Songs," and for the gallop of melody that sweep it to its climax.

"That Jolson is a master of pathos, as well as comedy was conclusively proved by 'The Jazz Singer' and 'The Singing Fool' and Warner knew that the whole range of human emotions would be included in it. In selecting a story for the famous star they knew that the public demands above all else, whatever the story, that Jolson sing—and sing and sing again."

"Say It With Songs" is an altogether different type of a story from Jolson's two previous pictures but it has an even more universal appeal. It deals with a father's love and sacrifice for his boy—and the boy of course is Davey Lee—every father's son. Jolson started his new picture the most enthusiastic member of the crew and cast and he so continued to the end. He likes to work and he is almost wholly without temperaments or nerves. It is he sometimes hard to please it is because he aims at perfection.

Cooperative Marketing Is On the Increase

During August Richland County Farmers marketed eight decks of live stock, according to a report made by Yanda Clever, Richland County Manager of the Ohio Live Stock Cooperative Association. This live stock totaled 109,020 pounds and was valued at $16,403.

In the state as a whole there was an increase of 45 percent over August last year. This brings the total increase for the first eight months of 1929 to 24.52 per cent. This despite the fact that there was ten per cent less live stock produced for market.

FLOWER SHOW AT BUCYRUS

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week the annual Autumn Flower Show, sponsored by the Crawford County Federation of Women's Clubs, will be held in Bucyrus. The show will be staged in the Y. M. C. A. Building in that city.

Every gardener in Crawford County has been invited to display his choicest specimens and there will be out-of-town displays from a number of cities. In addition the Consolidated

Schools of the county have been asked to participate and a competitive event for these schools has been arranged. For the past three years with the exception of this year, Bucyrus has had June Flower Shows, which have been largely attended by out-of-town people.

Mrs. Paul F. Frank of Crestline is president of the Crawford County Federation, and Miss Gwena Woodruff of Bucyrus, is president of that city Federation. The latter is also chairman of a general committee in charge of the Flower Show.

There is no safer investment than money spent in draining fertile soil on which crops suffer from too much moisture.

Six Months Record

The first six months of this year the Cleveland Producers, a farmer's live stock selling agency, gained 78.75% in the volume of truck stock sold, as compared with the same time last year.

Truck receipts at the yards for the same period increased 25.7%. Good selling service made this record.

SAVE?

Why not spend it while you have it? The answers are to be found in the personal histories of the folk who succeed and those who fail. Monied men almost without exception have built the nucleus of their fortunes by steadily feeding a savings account. And it's a safe bet that Mr. Down-and-outer isn't the sort who saved when he was earning. Yes, save!

Red Top Steel Fence Posts

Temporary Fences Save Time, Labor and Money

THEY cut labor costs by letting the stock do much of the harvesting. They turn into money much forage so often allowed to go to waste, enable you to rotate stock and hogs over different fields and maintain fertility. Live stock as well as hogs salvage much grain left in the field.

For instance—dividing either permanent or temporary pastures, hogging off part of your corn, turning in on legume crops—all these practices are profitable and all can be followed through using a few stretches of temporary fence here and there on the farm.

Temporary fences can be quickly erected on Red Top Steel Posts. With a Red Top Driver these drive easily through hardest soil at the rate of 200 to 300 a day. And after using them for temporary fences they can be withdrawn and used in your permanent fence line—makes your fence post dollar do double duty.

Come in and let us show you the advantages of the Red Top Post that make it the most dependable and economical post for you to use for all purposes.

And There Was No Escape

Suppose you were in a room where there were hundreds of VERMILION and there was no place for you to get away. You would just have to wait until you were attacked and fell. YOUR BLOOD running from the WOUNDS that means life to you. This is the position your hens are in. Every night the good Red Mites swarm on them and the faithful hens cannot get away. You are trying to get eggs but the feed only keeps the mites alive as long as the hens live. We have Wooster Perch Paint that is guaranteed for a year and Wooster Louse Death that will absolutely keep your poultry house free of mites if you will follow our directions and you can do it with little work.

CRAWFORD COUNTY FAIR

The Crawford County Fair which will be held next week promises to be one of the best.

The Secretary says that all available space has been taken and the prospects for one of the best live stock exhibits is very good.

Jack Champion and his Fair Attractions will furnish the night program which is one of the best aggregations on the road and they will not fail to please you. Mildred Couch and her Rosebud Ladies' Band of Minneapolis, Minn. will furnish the music each afternoon and evening.

The evening program will close with the "Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes" in fireworks which comes very highly recommended.

The Crawford County Fair will be a good place to meet your friends and a fine place for good wholesome entertainment and education.

NO FEVER IN NORWALK

There is no undulant fever in Norwalk, according to advices handed the public by Dr. F. Istow of the board of health. Undulant fever is said to be a disease similar to Typhoid fever and comes from drinking goats milk.

Mrs. A. G. Fisher in that city had been suffering with a mild attack of Typhoid and it was at first believed to be Undulant fever. Health officers says that there is no ground for alarm over the rare disease since it is not contagious, but merely holds its victim in long duration.

COMFORT STATION AT NORWALK

A new city-county Comfort Station will be constructed in the Huron County court house at Norwalk. The county commissioners at a meeting held last week agreed with the city council of Norwalk to install this public convenience. It is understood it will be constructed during the coming winter and will be ready in the spring.

The commissioners will furnish the room and make the entrance, while the city is to install the fixtures and furnish the lights. The county will also furnish the heat.

The rooms to be used are in the basement directly south of the county school superintendents office.

WARDEN ISSUES WARNING

Asking that law observance be made, and sounding a warning for those who failed to abide by the rules, County Dog Warden Albert Gray announced Monday morning that he was preparing for the busy hunting season.

"Many hunters are either ignorant of the law, or they completely disregard it, but they cannot hunt with a dog on a man's farm without a permit," Gray said. "In the past many of the farmers have complained that dogs were running restrained over their property during the hunting season, and as a result property and stock damages were sustained."

The dog warden went on to say the loss of sheep and cattle has been unusually heavy lately, and stringent measures will have to be used to curb this loss. Farmers are being told to shoot stray dogs on their property if they appear to be sheep-killers. It is the only way that these dogs can be exterminated, he said.

This warning is to protect the hunter as much as the farmer, Gray explained. When hunting dogs are turned loose over a farmer's property, and he is unaware of their use he will naturally take measures to protect it.

"If there is anyone that does not understand the law, or wishes to find out any information about it I shall be glad to give it to them," Gray concluded.

TALKS BEFORE LIONS CLUB

W. C. Kramer, in his talk to members of the Lions Club at their meeting Tuesday evening, pointed out the needs of education and told why education should come first in the hearts and minds of citizens of the county.

Mr. Kramer illustrated how our lives are divided into four groups: Mental, physical, social and religious, and he quoted authority on saying that we needed more of the spiritual life to-day than all else. With the many new inventions and the many new tasks that are being performed by electricity and mechanical contrivances, it is said that in the course of a few years the average man would work only four hours a day, and demand compensation enough to support an average family. This, Mr. Kramer said, makes it more necessary that we educate the young minds of the country in order that they may adapt themselves to the oncoming change in the manner of living.

Mr. Kramer, for a number of years, Superintendent of Willard schools, is now connected with the Mansfield schools, and is well known in the state. His talk here was one of the best ever given before the club, and it will be long remembered.

The club voted to appoint a committee to formulate plans for a Halloween celebration the last of October, and it was made known that the business men and public would be asked to join in this affair. More about this will be given next week.

69 ACCIDENTS IN HURON COUNTY

There were 69 accidents during the month of July in Huron County, according to statistics compiled by the Division of Safety and Hygiene of the Industrial Commission of Ohio.

Of this total number one resulted fatally, two resulted in permanent disability, 11 caused over seven days loss of time, 14, seven days or less time and 32 no loss of time but required medical attention. The total number of days lost because of accidents was 15,329.

Supt. Thomas P. Keegan of the division has set aside October as the second "No Accidents" month for 1929. Industrial employers and workers are asked to make a special effort to prevent all accidents during that month. The first "No accident" month was April. The excellent results secured at that time leads officials to believe that these "No Accidents" months are of great value in stimulating safety.

Fire At Olena

Six fires in the past three years has been the experience of the little village of Olena. The latest was the blaze a few nights ago which destroyed Lone Pine Inn, a dwelling house owned by Mrs. Edith Holmes, who came to the village some time ago to conduct a 2-nding station and restaurant.

Defective wiring is believed to have caused the fire. Nearly all furniture on the first floor was removed by neighbors, but the furnishings on the second floor were all destroyed with the house. The loss is covered with insurance. It is stated.

CHAMBERLAIN—PIATT

A quiet wedding ceremony was performed in the Lutheran Church on Wednesday morning, September 18th, when Mr. Samuel Chamberlain and Miss Grace Platt of Lucas became man and wife. Constitution Week

This is Constitution Week. It is a time set apart in commemoration of the adoption of what is the supreme law of our nation.
It was on September 17th, 1787, just 142 years ago, that the original document was ratified by a convention of the states, and was declared to be in effect on the first Wednesday in March, 1789.

Since then there has been some changes and additions thereto. This was in the form of amendments, and in all nineteen such amendments have been made.

The Constitution of the American Republic together with the Declaration of Independence, are considered the Magna Charta of American Freedom. Certainly they are two of the most memorable documents that have ever been written. One should care to be independent, the other gave us laws that endure until this day.

It is asked that every citizen sometime this week read the Constitution. Better still read the Constitution and the Declaration. You will probably find certain things in them, especially in the former that will surprise you. At the same time, may we suggest that Constitution Week is a good time to ponder over all laws. (Do not try to read them all in one week, though.) There has been a considerable amount of law making in the past. Probably this is due to the fact that there are so many laws to break, and not that American people are lawless. Then again it may be due to the very fact that the American people are independent and mildly resent certain laws that are not just to their fancy.

All in all, we believe that Constitution Week is a good idea. If at this time we will read the important document and ponder for a time over it perhaps we will have a greater realization of just what it means to be an American citizen. A thinking person will realize that in spite of all its faults and perhaps shortcomings, it is by far the best government that has yet been conceived by the human race. "It has often been said that one does not realize just what it means to be able to say, "I am an American Citizen," until one travels in foreign countries. Certainly it is the greatest heritage that a man can have but strange as it may seem few realize it. Perhaps, though, it is not so strange. The American people are inclined, to take the really worth while things for granted. They accept them as a matter of course and that is the way it is with their citizenship.

Let us do our part to make this Constitution Week really accomplish something. Let us resolve that it will make us better citizens. A good way to attain that end is by resolving to observe the law. Our ancestors have given us something and let us endeavor to pass it on to our descendants the same as we received it, or perhaps a little better. If we do we will have been good citizens and our children will be proud to say, "I am an American."

A New Day for Rural Education

This is a day and age of better and more progressive school facilities for the young people in the villages and rural districts of the state of Ohio. However, it was not always so. But a few years ago, in fact it is still readily remembered by all adults, the rule in the rural sections was the one room school buildings and in many villages the three or four room buildings that had been constructed two or three generations before and had already outlived its usefulness.

There came a time then when far sighted men in the agricultural communities realized that if they were to give their children the same advantage in education as was enjoyed by the youth of the cities it would be necessary to follow the lead of their brethren in the urban centers. Centralization and consolidation was the answer. Naturally it was impossible to group the homes together as was the case in cities so another system must be followed.

Using the village, which for years had been a center of community activities in practically all things except education, as a starting point, and grouping with it the territory within a radius of perhaps three or four miles in all directions the consolidated districts were formed. Within the village itself attended the same as in city schools. Those in the rural parts were to be brought to the central building in auto trucks or horse drawn vehicles. Thus was builded the present day system of rural education.

That it is a vast improvement over the old method no one now stops to question. Formerly the child of the farm stopped school when he had completed the grade work. In rare cases indeed was it possible for him to continue on to the high school work. Now that is no longer the case. The child of the farm who often times continues on to higher education, as a matter of course. Further, this consolidation groups the children into schools of two or three hundred, or perhaps more, and makes possible a more concerted action. It engenders a school and community spirit that is praiseworthy. A wider acquaintanceship is gained, and as a natural result the mind is broadened. Perhaps best of all is the fact that better equipped men and women are employed to instruct the youth than could possibly be obtained under the old plan.

It has been during the past twelve years that the greatest impetus has been found in the consolidation of the rural sections and, as a consequence, the elimination of the one room building. During that time there has been an average elimination of one one-room building per day in the state. In spite of this, however, it is learned from John J. Clifton, state director of education, that there are still about 4,700, one room buildings in Ohio. But few counties in the state have completely eliminated them, and strange as it may seem the majority of the counties still have from 50 to 100 of these structures. However, they are fast disappearing. In the last year alone 500 were abandoned, and from all indications it will be only a matter of a few years until the last has been removed from the landscape, in so far as a place of instruction is concerned.

When it is remembered that it has been only in the last two decades that anything has been done in the way of improving the advantages in the way of education for rural children, it can be readily seen that enormous strides have been made. Certainly the work that has been accomplished is a credit to the intelligence of the people in the rural districts. We know of nothing that compares with it in progress and high attainment.

Shelby Boy Hit By Automobile

George Peters, eight year old son of Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Peters of Shelby, sustained a fractured hip while playing in an alley near his home Saturday afternoon. An automobile driven by Roy Peters passed through the alley. He then reversed the machine with the intention of backing into his barn which is located on the alley. The little boy was playing directly back of the machine and was knocked down and while the wheels did not touch him the car backed over him and he was caught on the front end.

He was carried to the office of Dr. E. L. Price where he was given medical attention. He was later taken to the Shelby hospital where an X-ray was taken, showing that his hip was fractured.

Rev. Peters was absent from the city at the time, as he was attending the conference of the Methodist church at Cambridge.

HEAVY DOCKET IN RICHLAND COURT

The fall term of common pleas court for Richland County got underway in Mansfield Monday morning with a total of 232 cases on the docket. Judge James W. Galbraith and members of the bar association assembled in the court room for the purpose of calling the docket. The Judge announced that the actual trial of cases will be started next Monday morning, with civil cases first assigned for trial.

During the morning session 216 cases were called from the docket and the attorneys involved in each case designated whether or not they were to be tried or passed. In some motions were made and ruled upon as called. In others leave was granted to amend file additional pleadings.

Twenty names were taken from the jury wheel of Richland county men and women. They will assemble in the court room next Monday and from that number the jury will be selected.

Charles A. McKinley, a court clerk, explained that it is customary in drawing a civil jury to take twenty names from the wheel which he said made up a panel which was usually sufficient to last through the term. Sheriff R. A. Schad will draw with a summons, and in the meantime Clerk McKinley will make up a list of assignments for the first up a list of assignments for the first week.

It is expected that a new grand jury will be summoned by Monday, October 6th, and that its first work can start on that date. It is expected that the work will have progressed to such an extent by that time that the grand jury can get started.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney James V. Mill intimated during the session Monday morning that a variety of work is to come before the probing body and that when criminal court opens several weeks will be required to do the assignments for the first week.

One case that is certain to create a wide interest is the case of the state vs. Edward C. McGaw, star evidence lawyer of the state probation department. McGaw, it will be recalled, was indicted by the last grand jury with shooting with intent to wound. The indictment was returned after McGaw, while engaged in a dry raid on the afternoon of April 20th, shot Frank Pileggi at the latter's restaurant in Mansfield. Pileggi was confined in the hospital so long it was impossible to reach the case and it was continued over until the fall term.

McGaw is at liberty under $5,000 bond. The court closed at noon Monday. Judge Galbraith stated that the usual Saturday morning work will open this week. For a number of years Saturday morning has been set aside for the hearing of uncontested divorce cases and other minor matters which can be presented without much time being required. Equity work will be started in about a month.

And How!

The doctor had been out all night and returned home for breakfast, just as anything has been done in the way of improving the advantages in the way of education for rural children, it can be readily seen that enormous strides have been made. Certainly the work that has been accomplished is a credit to the intelligence of the people in the rural districts. We know of nothing that compares with it in progress and high attainment.

HEAVY LUNCH PAID IS NOT SURE SIGN

School Children May Be Badly Fed Although Eating Heartily.

Sending John and Mary off to school with heavy lunch boxes doesn't mean that they won't suffer from under-nourishment, now that almost one-third of the food they eat is being eaten at school during the noon recess. Malnutrition is not always caused by lack of food. Often the type of food which the child needs is hot packed in the tin, or the conditions under which the lunch is eaten are such that the child does not derive the greatest possible benefit from the food, point out specialists in nutrition at the Ohio State University.

Hurried eating is one condition which decreases the value of the food consumed. Eating at irregular intervals and lack of a hot dish at noon to arouse appetite and stimulate digestion, are others.

Boards of education find that the problem of undernourishment has an economic side. Undernourished children are slower in their educational progress than well fed children, and remain longer in the same grades and in the same schools.

Reports to the University specialists show that serving one hot dish at noon has led to improved physical condition and better scholarship in schools where it has been tried.

A bulletin entitled "The School Lunch," prepared by the nutrition specialists of the University, gives suggestions for the lunch carried from home, and for the serving of a hot dish at the school house at noon.

Experiments have proved that in Ohio, chickens can be kept in confinement throughout their lives, without restricting their growth or egg production.

Standardization of farm buildings, for purposes of economy in construction, is being made the subject of a survey by the United States Department of Agriculture.

No sound colder to the ear of man than the first handful of earth upon wooden box or metal vault. That tragedy of burial is averted with a Norwalk Vault. Body by Fisher

During 1928, a large public utilities corporation operated 996 automobiles of 33 different makes. And according to its own accurately recorded cost figures, its Pontiac cost one cent less per mile to operate than any other low-priced six in the field at that time. Yet even that great record of economy is being surpassed by the Pontiac Big Six because of a number of refinements and advancements which this latest Pontiac includes.
