SLEET STORM DOES DAMAGE

Plymouth was put in a glass cage for sixty hours. Whether for exhibition or not, we don't know. The museum in which the glass cage was located was the Great Lakes territory.

And not an ordinary cage was used, with only four sides, but one that had various forms, widths and lengths. The error of the middle west came Thursday morning covering everything with a thin coating of ice and the sleet storm continued until late Thursday night.

Trees were weighed down with the heavy load which encased each branch in transparent ice. Towards evening limbs began to crack and crash to the ground endangering pedestrians and traffic. Each crash sounded like a huge china cabinet being broken up. Light and telephone wires Friday morning were in fancy loops and curves hanging low over the streets, or else laying broken on the walks. Several live wires were reported.

Buildings were transparently gowned until Saturday, their sides as smooth as polished wood.

Each street light was decorated with hanging crystals, and machines carried a fringe of icicles which refused to melt. Roads and sidewalks were almost put out of use because of the treacherous covering.

Looking down Plymouth street from the Square, trees formed a long line of glittering weeping willows, so bowed were they. The effect was almost supernatural. The scene looked like a creation of glass, the ice covered roofs reflecting in the sun, the branches of the trees shining, and the low shrubs and bushes covered with diamonds.

For two nights there were no street lights, and when walking down the middle of the road, for fear of falling branches, one seemed to be walking through a nest of machine guns, the wind making the twigs crackle and click.

Each blade of grass stuck up like a glass lead pencil, breaking off even with the ground when touched (that was a good time to mow the grass).

But though Plymouth was beautiful, the damage done more than balanced the scenic effect.

Citizens worried, ate and slept by candle light; some of the more fortunate had lamps or lanterns. Many homes were without light the second night. Because of the damage done to telephone wires and poles, some homes were put in complete isolation. Towns could not be reached long-distance on Saturday, and even the road connections were bad, all trains and buses being late.

Social events were being held in both the Presbyterian and Methodist Church Thursday evening, and were interrupted by the failure of the electricity.

Orchards were practically ruined on some farms, and all trees were injured in some way, a number splitting in half.

The grip of the sleet storm is hard and unmerciful, and is feared more than the electric storms of the middle states, as the destruction is so heavy and general. The last bad storm was in March of 1928.

SHELBY TO HAVE NEW RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT

A new residential district planned in the southeastern part of Shelby became a reality when Attorney F. C. Long, director of law, took the final legal steps Tuesday to add a 20-acre lot to the corporate limits of the city.

A petition was presented to the board of Highland county commissioners requesting a hearing on the proposal.

With the proposed addition approved, the ground plot, which includes a portion of the Seltzer Memorial park, will be added to the city of Shelby.

In November, the name "Idlewood" was passed by Shelby city council. The allotment will be in 160 divisions.

The district is near the Mansfield-Shelby Road, bordering the present corporation line on the west and the Glauwood Drive on the east. It is triangular.

After the 60-day period allowed by law, a hearing will be held by the county commissioners and the proposal will either be approved or rejected.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

This little corner has been dedicated to the telling of some funny thing that happened in Plymouth a long time ago, or recently.

We need help to make this a snappy corner, so write down what you remember of some joke played on a Plymouthite or visitor, include the names and date if you remember, and the re-telling may bring a smile or two to those who remember it, and then maybe it was funny enough to still be funny now.

If it does not have to be a joke planned and perpetrated on some innocent victim, for maybe the funniest laugh was from an ordinary every-day happening.

It is a so?

Route 18 to Be Widened at Norwalk

The improvement and widening of Route 18 from Medina to Norwalk will be made in the near future.

The construction will begin east of the Norwalk city water works and continue to the concrete pavement west of Clarkfield Hollow.

The present road is brick, and is ten feet wide except for a short 16 foot strip. The final width will be 20 ft.

Contractor A. J. Baltes at the same time is widening road eastward to the Lorain-co. line from Snyder's Corners.

The improvements will add greatly to the traffic carried by this road, and the importance of the highway will be increased.

Route 18 will be of regulation width after the construction.

MRS. A. KOHLMAYER NORWALK DIED THURSDAY

Mrs. Anna Kohlmeyer, aged 60, of Norwalk, died at her home on Milan Avenue last Thursday.

Six daughters survive her, Leona and Odessa, at home, Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Wm. W. Myers, at Norwalk, Mrs. E. Myer and Mr. L. Baker, of Bellevue. Four brothers, three sisters and nine grandchildren are yet living.

The husband died two and a half years ago.

Services were held Sunday afternoon from the home, Rev. W. H. Shields officiating. Interment was made in Woodlawn.

Mrs. Kohlmeyer was born in Belfast, Ireland in 1869, coming to the U. S. in 1871. She was married in 1892 in Milan.

Road Completed at Triple Crossing

The deadly triple crossing near Bellevue, where so many lives have been wiped out by train, trolley car and bus accidents, is now abandoned by highway travel and the cut-off road thrown open to traffic.

The Bellevue cut-off road leads the traffic past the crossing and besides increasing the safety, it is a shorter route to and from Bellevue.

No announcement has yet been made concerning the use of the abandoned old route. Traffic may still follow No. 20, but through traffic will be routed over the new road.

Flashing lights at the Wheeling and Lake Erie, New York Central and L. S. E. are used.

NEW HAVEN TO OPEN $17,000 AUDITORIUM

A $17,000 auditorium is expected to be completed in the Spring semester, in connection with the New Haven Centralized school.

A modern and completely equipped gymnasium is included in the plans for the auditorium.

Construction exercises will probably be held in the new structure. Formerly they were conducted in the local church.

The building will be erected beside the present school building.

WEDNESDAY'S GAME EXCITING

BOYS' GAME

When the teams lined up on the floor Wednesday night, Lexington men were given the edge because of size. In the heat of the game, however, Plymouth forged ahead and came out with a victory of 16-4.

Lexington's points were made in the first half, one field goal being tipped into the net from a jump.

The twelve points P. H. S. scored in the second half have a long tale behind them, and were run up less easily than would be supposed. Both teams literally went up in the air during the first half, getting in some unusually high and good jumps, both on the tip-off and on jump balls. Snyder and Ross put a high number of inches between the floor and their feet several times.

The Lexington boys went through the home defense in the first period making themselves two points ahead, but they were marked by wild shots. Myers got in one spectacular shot with one hand.

D. Bachrach slipped in the third quarter and was stretched out for a short time, but continued the game. Ross dropped in a long shot, and at the fourth quarter Plymouth was ahead.

During the last quarter, however, the game came to a crisis when the Lexington men began arguing both verbally and actively. Unnecessary fouls were made and, not all being caught by referee Sutton, Attica, the lookers were inclined to take sides with the players, stopping the game.

A floor riot was timely prevented. One Lexington boy was put out on personals, substitutions were made by both teams, and the game continued with interest at high pitch.

Derrenberger, Lexington was knocked out, but recovered, in the last quarter.

Snyder 3, D. Bachrach 4, J. Bachrach 2, Myers 1, Ross 2, Hal 1.

GIRLS' GAME

The girls' game was marked by confusion and bunching, though Plymouth was out of the way, showed some teamwork that added up the score.

The home team did a good bit of pivoting which always goes over good. In all, though the girls have slumped in their game, they were organized better than Lexington.

An unusual pass was made during the game, beginning under the visitor's basket—A. V. Snyder to Snyder to Becker to Anderson—a sister being on either end of the play.

ReMaley, Lexington, after roiling the ball around the basket three times before scoring two, suffered an ankle sprain and was taken out.

Pugh totaled 9 points during the game. Becker 2, Anderson 2, Ross 1, Moore 2.

STELLA MOORE TAKEN TO COURT

Stella Moore, 17, of Plymouth was taken to the juvenile court in Mansfield Tuesday after confessing to the shooting of an unknown man from whom she had accepted a ride at 5:30 Tuesday morning.

According to the girl's story, she was returning to her room in Shelby after a date that lasted until 5:30 Tuesday morning. She accepted a ride across the town but before reaching Banker Hill, on East Main street road the driver discovered that the car needed gas. They returned to the Trich filling station on Mansfield avenue which was not opened. Miss Moore states that the man drove to the rear of the garage and attempted to assault her.

She escaped from the car and, as the man followed her, drew a revolver and fired at him. Whether the girl was seriously injured or not is not known. She jumped into the machine with a yell, and started to Mansfield.

The girl remained in a car parked near until Sam Vansadale, the proprietor, opened the station. Going in she threw the gun down on the table, started to leave, but a man, and waited until police called for her.

At the station she appeared under the influence of a drug. The revolver was the property of Eddie Chan, restaurant owner, for whom Miss Moore worked.

Celeryville Man Dies Wednesday

Report has been made of the death of E. Harssema, who passed away on Wednesday night at 10:00 o'clock at home in Celeryville.

The deceased had been ill for some time, but a severe case of double pneumonia was responsible for the death.

Game Ends When Lights Fall at P. H. S.

Perhaps it is just as well the lights did go out at the new school building Saturday night when Plymouth struggled with New Washington in the first meet of the two.

The early defeat was covered up, and further defeat, which was assured, prevented.

The girls' game had been completed with 18-0, and the boys' game ended shortly after the bell period in the team's favor.

In the first game, the score at the half stood at 7-3, after which Plymouth brought the low up with a spurt of good play to almost a tie, but failed to play consistently after that. The team members made fouls, could as fast as the referee, Becker, could call them in the foul's book. Pugh being it often enough to total 5.

Both teams neglected to observe the rules of politeness and almost started a free for all. Becker, Plymouth, was put off the floor by the referee.

Dutchtown girls showed better work in the first game. The three Musketeers that depends on Plymouth—Becker, Anderson and Pugh, played well, but did not reach their usual game.

Team work in the visiting boys' team was especially marked. Plymouth took a decided slump in every way, and must pick up speed, teamwork and accuracy if the tournament is going to mean something.

Some of the boys took shots at the basket by aid of a flashlight after the lights went out and made almost as many as during the game.

A post season game will be played with Dutchtown providing neither team is champion in the respective leagues.

It isn't the most pleasant job in the world to have to write this kind of a report, and we are hoping that we don't get a chance to again, after the Madison game, there, next Friday night.

USE A BLOTTER

The Wife, "Henry, what has swallowed the ink, what shall I do?" Professor, "Write with pencil, my dear."

LAUGHING GAS

New 23rd Psalm

The Ford is my auto I shall not want, I make him me to lie down in muddy roads, it leadeth me into trouble, it draweth on my purse, I go into the paths of debt for its sake. Yea, though I understand my Ford perfectly, I fear much evil lest the radius rods or the axle might break. It hath a blowout in the presence of mine enemies, I annoy the tire with a patch, the radiator boileth over. Surely this will not follow me all the days of my life, or I shall dwell in the house of poverty forever.

MORAL—Equip your Ford with one of the improved new cuckoo clocks, when the car reaches a speed of 25 miles an hour, the bird will come out and sing. "Nearer my God to Thee," and at 40 miles an hour, "Lord I am Coming Home."

Phillips Credited Work After Sleet Storm

A word of thanks and praise can be given the electrician of Plymouth village, Mr. Ed Phillips, for his work during and after the recent sleet resulting from the sleet storm.

Other companies refused to work with the ice-covered wires but the most of Plymouth was able to have lights on Friday. A wire snapped Friday night, but on Saturday, an evening, electricity was on. The trouble Saturday night was from out-of-town. Repair work was continued night and day, and by Monday morning, Plymouth was back at normal.

Mr. Phillips, while clearing the wires from obstructing branches, etc., was struck in the left eye and severely injured. The blood vessels were torn, and the sight was impaired for a time. However, Phillips returned to his work immediately.

George Mittenbuehr, Paul Mervin, and Herbert Phillips assisted in the repair work.

NORWALK MAN LOSSES FINGER ON FIRE ESCAPE

Harry Pfeiffer, Norwalk youth, suffered the loss of a finger Wednesday while descending the fire escape in the rear of the Huron County Bank Building.

As the young man started to fall, the little finger of his right hand caught between two pieces of converging iron and was completely jerked off.

Pfeiffer suffered no pain. When asked by a companion if his finger was hurt, he replied, "Hurt, nothing. Look at my finger hanging up there!"

Desolation Left in Wake of Sleet Storm

Marsh road reached the bottom of the bridge, Monday that leads across the stream between Plymouth and Shelby.

Though by Tuesday the water had receded to some extent the fields far a considerable distance on either side of the stream were bare, the appearance of the storage for a dam.

To the north, the trees and clumps of bushes appeared to shoot up from a wide expanse of water. The broken limbs and branches added to the sense of desolation, and the place could almost have been called "No Man's Land."

Shelby was hit much harder by the recent sleet storm than was Plymouth. North Gambie was practically impassable Sunday and Monday morning until a way was cleared for machines. The trees lining the various streets and avenues were badly torn and broken. The electric current was not dependable even Tuesday, though linemen were at work constantly.

Mansfield was damaged more by the rising water and rain than by the sleet, while Norwalk suffered less damage than Plymouth.

WILLARD—The Pioneer Rubber Company mailed dividend checks to holders of preferred stock representing the first quarterly dividend to be paid by the company on this stock since 1923. The dividend represents a quarterly payment on an annual 7 per cent dividend for more than $300,000 worth of preferred shares. No dividend has been declared on any common stock. J. C. Gibson, general manager of the company, states that the dividend represents less than half of the gross earnings of the company during the year but that during the past several years the company has seen fit to reserve its earnings as a surplus rather than send it out as dividends. The annual meeting of the company's officers on January 21st, and this officers for 1930 will be elected at this time.

A DUBIOUS CURE FOR CRIME IS SUGGESTED

A move has been started to pass a law regulating interstate shipments of fire-arms. According to the proponents of the law, a pistol is of no possible use as a weapon of defense to the law-abiding citizen because of the element of surprise. This is a highly dubious statement as there are many cases—such as a prowler heard in a house or a robber holding up a train—where the armed citizen is not taken by surprise. But even taking it at its face value, is it a valid argument against ownership of guns by law-abiding citizens? What of the psychological advantage accruing to criminals who know that the law-abiding citizen is unarmed, and hence, even if he is warned ahead of time, cannot defend himself? That of the more important phase of the problem, constitutional rights? In several great cities stringent anti-pistol laws are in effect. Has crime

NORWALK COUNCILMEN LAUGH WHEN ORDINANCE IS MIXED
Through a mistake in the wording of an ordinance concerning dairy herd control. According to the intention of the council the idea was that all milk used in Norwalk should be from tubercular free cows. However, the sentence read, if interpreted to the word and letter, that milk be obtained from cows owned by tubercular test-od owners. A joke, we acknowledge, but there may be more truth in the mistake than we give credit for.

The gods of sport were slightly cheated of their homage on last Saturday nite. Although the girls' game was fought to the bitter end, the boys' contest had barely passed the half-time period. This break in the affray was due entirely to the goddess of lights, who has a decided lack of consideration for the god of sports.

The girls' game proved to be simply a series of fouls, although in our opinion, the New Washington lassies were the more superior fighters. It is also a conceded fact that the feminine sextette of old P. H. S. misses enough free throws to win any old game. Well girls, let's brush up on free throws. Hey?

How to Reduce Varicose Veins

Rob Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way

Many people have become impatient because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first-class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic sores and ulcers are often entirely healed and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded.

Willard made a great splash into the Little Big Seven League last Friday, and came out all wet, as a score of 28-13 will truthfully bear us out.

The Ex-Hill casters came at Ontario on last Thursday nite was postponed. This however, failed to discourage the lads for they've scheduled another contest with the Dutchowners on next Friday. Kindly forgive, but we don't wish to hazard a reputation by any prediction of what has you. Of course being loyal to our home team, and all that sort of thing, ya' know, we do boost them on with lusty cheers.

Will Rogers-PICKS A STORY FOR THIS SPOT

THERE was a big lawsuit over a Scotchman's estate not very long ago, and they had a terrible time finding something for the lawyers to disagree about, so that the lawyers could fight in court and make their clients think they were earning their fees. Both sides admitted that the man was dead and that his will said so and so about who was to get the dough. So they found out they could get up a fight over whether this Scotchman died suddenly or not. One side claimed that the poor fellow died right sudden, so that he didn't have time to make a change in his will that he intended to make. They were trying to prove it.

They put a fellow on the witness stand that had been the Scotchman's financial adviser.

"You say he died sudden?"

"Awful sudden"

"What makes you think so?"

"Well, I know it. Nobody saw him die, and it was a week before the body was found, but there was evidence that Sandy went out mighty quick."

"What evidence?"

"Well, for one thing, there was a letter he had got that day that he's supposed to have died, and the stamp on it happened to be uncancelled. The uncancelled stamp was still on the envelope on Sandy's desk. We all know that if Sandy had had even ten minutes of warning he would of wrote a letter to somebody to make use of that stamp."

PRICE OF COFFEE TAKES ANOTHER SHARP DROP
A. & P. Stores Again Cut Price of Pound From Retail Coffee Prices

Coffee bids fair to elbow all other commodities out of the limelight insofar as repeated price reductions are concerned. And with each price reduction the smile of the housewife broadens. For coffee is one of the food items to be reckoned with when the manager of the household makes up her weekly food budget.

The latest cut in coffee is put into effect by the A. & P. Food Stores and the prices announced show a reduction of 4c a pound from previous prices. These new low prices apply to three nationally known brands—Eight O'Clock brand, Red Circle brand and Boker. These three coffees are now selling in A. & P. stores at prices 25 percent less than the regular prices of two or three months ago.

Announcements by the A. & P. Food Stores point out that the continued decline in the prices of coffee at wholesale provided the opportunity for the present sharp retail price reductions now effective.

The fact that the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, a nationwide system of chain food stores, 15,000 in number, has promptly followed the decline in the wholesale prices of coffee with equivalent retail reductions would seem to refute the idea held by many observers that large organizations move slowly when it comes to passing on to the public services made possible by lower commodity prices.

NUMBER OF ARREST IN NORWALK DECREASES

There was a decrease of 205 arrests in 1929 in Norwalk as reported by Police Chief, F. R. Remington. A feature of the report was the decrease in the number of arrests for intoxication. In 1928 there were 64 arrests, which were cut to 23 in 1929. Though the users of canned heat were classed as lodgers in 1929, the police now arrest many who would have gone free before the days of prohibition. Most of the men arrested for drunkenness are well up in years, and are believed to have acquired the alcoholic habit before the dry regime. Those motorists who did not berate the officer making the arrest on a traffic charge, were given a much lighter fine, and some let off entirely. Red traffic lights may have had something to do with the decrease in the traffic arrests. In 1929 there were 885 compared with 1050 in 1928.

WELLINGTON SCHOOL ENTERED AND ROBBED

Thieves broke into the Wellington school house Tuesday night of last week by forcing a window in the third grade room. Three dollars in money was taken, but the damage done to the property is considerable. Several of the rooms were ransacked, and the desks and books left in tatters. Much time was lost in straightening the confusion out. A panel of the door leading to the superintendent's office was pried off the hinges and a number of desks broken open. The large safe in the office was not touched. The robbery apparently occurred late at night, as Supt. Shields worked late in his office.

PLYMOUTH'S NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

The new school building will be initiated Monday morning by the classes of Junior and Senior High.

When the bell rings for the nine o'clock classes a dream of high school people, held ever since the writer can remember, will be realized.

Plymouth has needed a school house for a great many years. The overcrowded condition of the old building, was evident when the portable additions were made, and it seems that the best move then would have been the construction of a new school.

Then, too, the equipment needed for courses in science, physical education, and all recitations in fact, could not be installed because of the cramped and unsuitable rooms. Classes have even been held in the condemned gym, a third story which has long been useless and a burden.

The location of the building was unsuitable in itself. Much time has been lost in classes postponed until rumbling trains have passed.

The old building may have been satisfactory as a high school in the past, but conditions change and these changes should be met. But the new era in thought arrived. The school bond issue was carried by its backers, and a new building awaits its future occupants.

A real school building—suitable for the preparation of our youth for further education, or for a start in wide world of today; suitable for the conducting of classes in the most effective way; and suitable for the recreation needed by the students of P. H. S.

"ISN'T THIS TERRIBLE WEATHER"

There is one sentence that should be eliminated from the languages of the world. It is entirely ineffective, it is extremely boring, it is an acknowledged filler, it is applied without discrimination to all conditions.

"Isn't this terrible weather?"

When the sun shines for more than three days at a time, or if it brings the thermometer up one degree in the afternoon the first person you meet says, "Isn't this terrible weather?" The sun keeps right on blistering, you label that person's intelligence, and you know that they will say the same thing to the next passerby.

If there is rain, whether needed or not, the first pedestrian with an umbrella questions, "Isn't this terrible weather?" There are just as many mud puddles after that remark, as existed before, perhaps more.

After a heavy snowstorm you pass a muffled figure wielding a snow shovel that remarks, "Isn't this terrible weather?" Maybe they are inclined to add various personal ideas to the subject. However, they continue cleaning the walks.

Isn't this terrible weather? G-r-r-r-r. This is grand weather. This climate is perfect. The weather couldn't suit better.

When it rains, think of the ducks. When the sun shines think of the crops. When it snows, think of the sleds just aching to be tried out.

Above all, 'ain't nature grand?"

Temple Bailey's latest novel is "Wild Wind." The last novel run in serial form was "Burning Beauty." Probably the next will be "Tempestuous Tilly." And we always thought Temple Bailey was a writer of sweet, lady-like tales.

With the marriage of a Princess of Belgium, and a Prince of Italy, the old faith in fairy tales is beginning to revive. I imagine England is watching this affair with much envy, and wondering why the Prince of Wales does not get busy and focus the eyes of the world on the Isle kingdom.

FORMER BRAKEMAN ARRESTED IN WILLARD, FOR THEFT

Police arrested at Willard, Thursday, George D. Adams, 29, a former New Castle-dweller, brakeman on a charge of grand larceny. A plea of not guilty was made, and as the bond could not be furnished Adams was taken to jail. A grip found in his room was discovered to be the missing property of Mrs. W. J. Vermilya, North Parkfield, which was taken from her car on Myrtle-ave. last week.

Mrs. Vermilya's check book was found in a yard near Adam's rooming house. Besides other articles found in this room, Willard police uncovered a bottle of liquor and a 25 revolver.

Other complaints and thefts may be traced to Adams.

Country Column

NOTES BY A COUNTRY EDITOR
TIT FOR TAT

A variation of the "trade-at-home" doctrine, advocated by community newspapers, in season and out, has been in evidence in the Food and Dairy Division of the Department of Agriculture at Columbus, which has been receiving demands that something be done.

The slump in cream prices and an overplus of storage butter, has become cause for consternation in dairy circles. And what do you think Chief O. J. Bailey and other experts say is the trouble? Why, thousands of cream producers have been selling their cream and using oleomargarine on their own tables. In the country, mind you! And the loss of this element of butter users has made it impossible for city consumption to keep up. See the point?

PRACTICAL CONSERVATION

Shelter for game birds to take the place of the rail fence can easily be provided by farmers and sportsmen during the severe winter weather according to J. W. Thompson, Conservative Commissioner of Ohio.

One of the best shelters can be made by heaping brush around a stump and covering the brush with straw, grass or foliage. A shelter like this will be warm for the birds and will always permit them to reach the bare ground to get grit for their crops, as it prevents the snow from covering the ground inside the shelter. As the snow piles up around the shelter on the outside it will form a warm house for the birds. Shelters built in fence corners or in any suitable place will help to conserve game birds during the winter.

Such shelter also provides refuge from hawks, owls and wing vermin. Nature will help protect the birds from ground vermin.

Ring neck pheasants put out by the Division of Conservation of the Ohio Department of Agriculture cost the Division about $3.50 each and Hungarian partridges cost $12 per pair, paid for with hunters' license money. "They are, therefore, well worth protection and help," declares Mr. Thompson.

KEEPING DOWN BOVINE T. B.

The annual report of the Division of Animal Industry, to Director Perry L. Green of the Ohio Department of Agriculture, gives figures on the major activity—that of eradication of bovine tuberculosis.

Incidentally Dr. C. McCandless, chief of the Division reports that it has been established within the past few weeks, through divisional investigation that tuberculosis can be transmitted from man to beast as readily as vice versa. This is a fact that has been overlooked in scientific calculations heretofore, Dr. McCandless declares.

Ohio counties now accredited and recognized as Modified Tuberculosis Free Accredited Areas total 47. This accreditation may be divided as follows: During 1925 five counties were accredited; 1926, two; 1927, nine; 1928, fifteen, two being reaccredited; 1929, sixteen accredited, three reaccredited.

Of 13,664 flocks of poultry inspected for T. B. consisting of 1,564,716 individuals only 301 were found to be tuberculous.

NOVEMBER IS STAR MONTH

A million and a half pounds more live stock was marketed through the cooperative live stock associations in Ohio during November than during any other month of the year, says a report from the Ohio Live Stock Co-operative Association. Shipments of the month totaled 17,431,000 pounds valued at $1,628,216.11, making a total of $14,880,000 for the eleven months of this year.

This compares with $12,952,000 marketed for the full year in 1928 and since some species declined in population as much as ten percent marketing officials declare that the volume moving cooperatively in 1929 represents a much higher percentage of the total live stock population than it did in 1928. During November 67,199 hogs, 2,173 cattle, 5,627 calves and 16,888 sheep were shipped cooperatively.

Richland county farmers marketed 12 hogs valued at $12,404 according to O. D. Fair, manager of the county association. There were 197 farmers included in these shipments.

MANAGEMENT DECIDED FOR NEW HOSPITAL

The new council at Willard adopted the resolution providing for the management of the new hospital that has recently been erected, and for the appointment of the commission to operate it, at their first meeting.

The old council had not passed the resolution, though it had been brought up twice, because of the fact that its standing, the new council was not bound in any way by the old.

According to the terms of the resolution, the mayor is to appoint, with the approval of the council, a committee of seven, known as the Board of Hospital Trustees, directly responsible to the council.

It has been suggested, that as all action is directed by the council, the Board might be omitted, but the idea was not accepted.

As yet, there are no funds to begin the operation of the hospital when it is completed around the first of March.

DETAILS GIVEN ABOUT THE REHEARSE BOX

Well folks, now we are putting it right up to you to send in your stories about some really humorous things that have happened right here in Plymouth.

Just write it as you remember it and drop it in our mail box, and remember to put in the names of the present, or former Plymouthites, that were in on the joke or incident, and the date of your remembrance.

If you happened to be the victim in one of these little stories we hope to print, just remember it is all for fun and we don't want you to be offended.

We are not going to print the name of the one who contributes the story, that is our secret, but it wouldn't be wise to print something we receive without a name signed to it, so let your letters come now, let's go! Surely several of our present residents can recall some little story about the breeze from the fly's wings blowing in the end of the new incandescent lamps to make them light up, the tune from the cuspidors, and the old watering trough in the square, and incidents in the life of our police and fire departments.

The telling of the funny happenings will not be in the nature of ridicule of those who have passed on to their just reward, and no doubt those whose happenings will be printed here would enjoy the retelling more than we, who are now keeping up the job they left, namely, keeping Plymouth progressing for posterity.
