PLYMOUTH POPULATION IS RECORDED AT 1374

The population of Plymouth in 1924 or just four more than in 1920. When the census reports were made public here, returns on only the Huron county part of the town were given. The report on the other part of Plymouth, which is in Rich county, was delayed for some reason and this accounts for the belated report on the population.

Unnecessary Signal Lights Condemned

Delay Caused By Red Lights Is Loss In Time And Money

The driving public of the country is strenuously voicing its objections to being delayed by red lights at intersections that have little or no cross traffic. The loss of time and money is also a tremendous factor.

Surveys, made by nationally known traffic authorities at hundreds of intersections, show a loss of thousands of dollars annually caused by needless delay and congestion at arbitrarily timed traffic signals.

These signals, erected by boroughs and townships along the state highways have been more of a hindrance than a help. The original intention of signal lights was to protect busy intersections where there was heavy traffic on the cross streets as well as on the thoroughfares.

But many signals were erected at intersections where traffic conditions did not warrant their installation. This led to so much needless delay that state highway departments were forced to interfere.

Massachusetts, Connecticut, Ohio, California and Pennsylvania are eliminating many of the needless traffic lights upon the state highway. Pennsylvania alone has condemned 400 signals.

Many of the towns and villages affected by this new ruling are protesting the condemnation of those signals, but the weight of public sentiment is against them and will continue to be against them as long as they operate signals which delay traffic unnecessarily.

IMPROVEMENT CROP PROSPECT

Government Report For October 1 On Ohio Crops Is Encouraging To Farmers of State

Conditions throughout Ohio show considerable improvement since September 1. Pastures have more than doubled the condition reported last month. Precipitation was about normal and well distributed throughout the month thereby permitting good progress in fall seeding and in the harvesting of corn and tobacco. Tobacco prospects have made a marked improvement especially in the Miami valley.

The forecast of the Ohio corn crop on October 1 was 78,948,000 bushels compared with 128,407,000 bushels last year and the forecast of last year's crop was 122,495,000 bushels. The indicated yield this month of 24.5 bushels per acre is a slight increase over last month but is far below normal and the lowest reported since 1893.

Hay production at 2,546,000 tons is only about one-half of last year's crop and far below the five-year average of 4,298,000 tons.

Potato prospects of 7,666,000 bushels on October 1, are somewhat better than last month but considerably below the five-year average of 11,155,000 bushels and 374,000 bushels in September were of some benefit to the last crop but came too late to help the early potatoes.

The tobacco crop on October 1 is estimated at 46,899,000 pounds compared with 35,891,000 pounds a month ago and 37,175,000 the five-year average. Tobacco areas were lower because of the seriousness of the drought earlier in the season.

Sugar beets, as well as other late crops received benefit from September rains. The crop is estimated at 275,000 tons compared with the five-year average of 274,000 tons.

Apples promise a larger crop than was indicated last month—the late varieties receiving benefit from September precipitation. The October 1 estimate of 2,800,000 bushels is only about one-third of the five-year average of 7,808,000 bushels.

The peach forecast is 312,000 bushels this year compared with 494,000 bushels last year. Grapes show an improvement of from 23,109 tons estimated last month to an indicated production of 24,500 tons this month.

RICHLAND FARMER GROWS BUMPER POTATO CROP

By raising 655 bushels, and eight pounds of potatoes on an acre of ground, William Campbell, manager of the Maxwell farms, owned by Held Carpenter, won for himself the title of "potato king" of Richland county.

According to the report made at the office of County Agricultural Agent John R. Gilkey, Campbell is thus far potato king of the state. The ground was surveyed by representatives of the agricultural department of Ohio State University making a tour for members of the Ohio 400 bushel club. Campbell's record is the highest yet scored in Ohio. Aaron Lockhart, State record holder of last year, totalled 538 and 15 for an average acre this year.

JEREW CONTRACTS TO PAY CAR DAMAGES

Delmer Jerew, driver of the truck that forced Deryl Stark into the ditch on the Shelby road last Tuesday night, signed a written contract in Mayor Derr's court to pay a portion of the damages each month until the entire amount was paid.

The big sedan was practically a complete wreck. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pearson, hitch-hiking companions of Jerew, were excused from court Thursday, and ordered from town by Mayor Derr. They continued to Cleveland.

Mrs. Jerew and a brother of the defendant were present when the case was brought before the mayor. Stark turned into the ditch after side-swiping a parked Ford truck in the middle of the road, without lights.

Rev. Clyde Pugh, of Shelby, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Pugh of Plymouth, was one of the featured speakers at the Huron Baptist Association meetings held at North Fairfeld last week.

ANOTHER CINDERELLA STORY

The old Cinderella story never having lost any of its appeal, these news items about stenographers who marry millionaires' sons are always interesting. This is especially so in the case of Miss Minerva Arson of New Haven, Conn., who is to marry John J. Raszkob, Jr., son of the very wealthy chairman of the Democratic national committee.

What makes it especially interesting is the fact that the elder Raszkob is not running true to form in matters of this kind. Tradition requires the rich fathers in such cases to cut his son with a shilling, or something, indignant because the lad is refusing to marry some other millionaire's daughter. But Mr. Raszkob is not doing this; instead he is reported to be settling $2,000,000 on the young couple, effective the day they marry.

There seems to be nothing left, accordingly, but for all of us to wish them lots of happiness.

A NAVY IN PEACE-TIME

The uses to which a navy is put in peace-time are rather odd when you stop to think about it.

Built for the sole purpose of destroying lives and property, warships have a way of turning themselves into humanitarian enterprises whenever—as is usually the case—there are no wars going on.

What happened recently at Santo Domingo is a case in point.

A hurricane hit the capital city, killed three or four thousand people and wrecked most of the houses.

Immediately a Dutch gunboat proceeded up from Paramaribo under forced draft to give what relief it could.

An American destroyer slid out of Hampton Roads and shot down with a load of medical supplies, while other American warships brought sailors and marines and doctors to the scene as fast as they could.

A British cruiser dropped into the harbor a few days later and landed marines to help in the task of keeping order, preventing looting and serving the homeless and hungry.

Now the interesting part about all of this is that jobs of this sort aren't unusual for the navy. They're right in its line of duty. Any peace-time year finds dozens of similar jobs falling to the lot of warships all over the world.

A yacht carrying a pleasure party from Europe to America goes astray, and an $8,000,000 cruiser drops everything and puts in weeks searching for it.

An airplane comes down in mid-ocean, and fighting ships of all descriptions converge on the spot to see if they cannot save a life or two.

An earthquake hits Japan and every warship in the orient stands by to render aid if possible.

At this moment, six American gunboats are conducting a sporadic war in China against bands of roving brigands—not because this country has the slightest desire to mix unduly in Chinese affairs or grab any land or protect any commercial sharks, but simply as a measure of protection for some unlucky individuals who can't get out of the way.

And so it goes. Built for destruction, warships have a way of paying for themselves many times over in work that is the exact opposite of destruction.

Measured by the amount of fighting it has done in the last decade, the American navy, like most other navies, has been a dud. But measured by the service it has rendered to humanity it has been a good investment.

Navies are useful in peace as well as in war. Fighting is far from being their sole excuse for existence.

WISE FLYERS WHO TURN BACK

It is tough to have to turn back after flying 1,000 miles over an ocean. But it adds enormously to the longevity of continent-to-continent hoppers to know when to retrace and to have the strength of mind to do it. So the world will commend the judgment as well as the pluck of Harold Bromley and Harold Gatty who are back where they started from in Japan. A Pacific fog wins the first round in their battle to hop the western ocean.

Airmen, especially ocean flyers, have a high percentage of daring. Else they would not smilingly stake their lives against the weather. They hate to run even the remote risk of being called quitters. They are often ready to take a too slim chance. That may be why so many have flown away and never come back. Their daring bested their judgment.

So one is glad to learn that the two Harolds turned back. Bromley has had three rebuffs in his attempt to fly the Pacific. His persistence is splendid and his judgment tempers his daring. He'll make it yet. It will be recalled that Dieudonne Coste knew when to turn back. He also is still alive and has attained his objective.—Plain Dealer

AUTO COST PER MILE IS LOWERED BY DEPARTMENT

The Ohio Department of Agriculture has been keeping tabs on the cost of automobile transportation for the past year. The check up system shows an average cost of 2 1/2c per mile for passenger cars and 4 1/2c for trucks, or a general average of 3c per mile, a saving of 2c per mile over former years.

As there were 25,847 miles traveled last month by department operatives; the saving for the one month is $1, $13.84. Identification cards for drivers and cars preventing purchase of gas for other cars are being used in place of coupon books, as in the past.

TOMATOES HAVE BUMPER CROP DESPITE DROUGHT

We read and hear so much about bumper crops this season, that it is surprising to find one crop at least which is above the average. Reference is made in this connection to the canner tomato crop which is proving to be not only a large crop, but of exceptionally high quality, according to the Ohio Division of Markets, of the Department of Agriculture.

It has been a good season in which to start the inspection work with canner tomatoes. It is much more pleasing not only to the grower, but to the canner and inspector, to have the tomatoes grade out a large rather than a small percentage, of No. 1 tomatoes.

As a rule, the percentage of No. 1 tomatoes has been high this season, and as the season advanced, the quality has improved. One of the reasons for the improvement is that the farmers have learned how to pick the tomatoes to enable them to secure a larger percentage of No. 1, and a small percentage of No. 2's and 3's.

Order shippers buy from the west by U. B. grade rather than by descriptive, suggests the United States Department of Agriculture.

Hough avers that the gas company was negligent when it failed to have the gas turned off in the street where the paving work was being done.

Chapel Service

The week of October 5 to 11 being Fire Prevention week, and in order to emphasize the fact to the students, Mr. Marvin, the fire-chief of this town, was asked to speak in chapel, but it was impossible for him to be there.

The seventh grade pupils presented a play entitled, "Fire's Allib". The characters were as follows:

- Economist—The speaker at any meeting—Bonnie Root.
Cigarette—The accused—Charles Grodin.
Match—Cigarette's accomplice—Frederick Mills.
Fire—A hanger-on—Payllis Clark.
Mr. Average Citizen—The cause of it all—Dayton Cramer.
Miss Carolinas—Mr. A. Citizen's fiancée—Helen Eisend.

The student body and faculty were well impressed with the ability shown by the seventh grade class, in presenting the play.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

There are several ways to show your school spirit. One way is respect for the teachers and fellow students. The second basis is a knocker. Another way is loyalty. What is loyalty? Faithfulness, Duty, Trust. Are you loyal to your school? Why do you go to school? Because you have to or because you want to make something out of yourself? The one who goes because he wants to make something out of himself, is the one who will succeed. If you set your mind on your school work you can not help but make good grades. Just because you get a low grade in a certain subject is no reason to give up then and there. Ask a teacher. That's what he's for. Remember: A winner never knocks and a knocker never wins.

NATURE'S MASTERPIECE

All around me were huge clusters of brilliant orange bitersweet with bright yellow leaves forming a frame for one of Nature's masterpieces. As I stood there I remembered of hearing Miss Davis remark that bitersweet did not grow in the south where she lives and that she and her mother love it. Just to think that those people and many others had never seen this picture of Nature.

"As I gathered great clumps and sprays of it for Miss Davis, I wondered if all of us appreciated, as she did, the beauty of the clinging vine seen often by the roadside."

Mary Ruth Stittler.

Mary Jane: "I heard that you said one of my kisses speaks volumes."
Correl S.: "Yes, but I'm afraid you're a circulating library."

HYDRA

Thomas DeWitt Biology
The hydra is a minute fresh-water polyp, living in the streams and under-side of submerged leaves. The body is a club or vase-shaped sac, the mouth at the upper end surrounded by a crown of five to eight long tentacles armed with lasso or netting cells buried in the skin. The hydra feeds on minute crustacea, etc., which with the arms of the hydra, thus being attracted by the creature into its stomach. The body is very retractile, and the hydra can slowly move from one place to another, by detaching the end of the body. The sexual cells are during the reproduction season, developed in the skin appearing as circular swellings, one (male) just below the tentacles, the other mass corresponding to the ovary of higher animals, farther down the body. The hydra is famous from its power of regenerating parts of its body. Tremblay, in 1774, experimented upon this animal; he cut them in two, also in slices, and found that each bit became a new hydra, finally he turned one inside out, the stomach-lining becoming the skin, this experiment having recently been successfully repeated. This is due to the power of disorganization, the several organs of the body, there being no distinct nervous, or circulating system, the hydra being the most generalized member of its class, except the protohydra, which has no tentacles.

TRACK NEWS

The Plymouth boys were defeated by Mansfield by a small score. The State meet is at Columbus, November the 15th. The race starts in the morning. In the afternoon as guests of Ohio State the boys will see the Pitt Panthers and Ohio State. Well boys isn't that something to look forward to and train for?

MANUAL TRAINING

The manual training room has two new articles both of which were bought by Mr. Wolf. They are very useful to this room. One of them is a blow-torch which comes in handy. The other is a clock in which many students look at each day. I think Mr. Wolf should be rewarded for his kindness by the greater interest the boys can give him because of the purchase of these two things.

LAWS OF CONDUCT AT P.H.S.

Our laws are divided into two parts, Regulations and Prohibitions. Among the Regulations: Boys are required to be punctual at school.

To scrape their feet on the scraper and wipe them on every mat they pass over on their way to the hall. To hang their hats, caps, coats, etc., on the hooks appropriated to them by loops prepared for the purpose.

To bow gracefully and respectfully on entering and leaving the hall and any recitation room when a teacher is present.

To make no unnecessary noise within the walls of the building.

To keep their persons, clothes and shoes clean.

Among the Prohibitions: Boys are forbidden to buy or sell, borrow or lend, give, take or exchange anything except fruit or other eatables without permission.

To read any book in class except such as contains the reading lesson. To have in his possession in school any book without the teacher's knowledge. The above rules were in force at English and early American schools at an early date.

WISE CRACKS

Said the hen as she kicked the porcelain egg out of her nest. "They can't make a brick-layer out of me."
Did you ever hear of a Scotchman who wore his shoe-soles so long that he could feel the eagle on a dollar bill when he stepped on one.

Hurr! They have found a use for this marble top on some men's bald heads. Since the day of the skyscraper, the bald heads below can be used as ball boards.

Zella: "That's all right, dear, it doesn't show."

Ben S.: "How did you happen to marry Doty?"
Jim B.: "Well, it's just like this—she had the props that kept my line from falling me."

POEM

Mr. Derr
A man who believes that if you laugh
The whole wide world laughs with you.
And if you give the best you have
The best will come back to you.

He honors and loves his fellow men.
He leads them down a pathway.
That is paved with all that's right
In the just laws of today.

He has a family who depends on him.
He disappoints them not.
May he go to the best beyond
When he has finished his lot.

Even Worse: "No, she took home a fur coat from the store she worked in."

Frosh: "That girl's a life saver!"
Sopb: "What do you mean?"
Frosh: "She's so sweet she takes my breath away."

THE METRIC SYSTEM

After the pupil passes the seventh grade he becomes familiar with the metric system and has to use it throughout his scholastic career. This means then that he has to work with two systems which would be something like a person using two languages, only more confusing.

We should be prosecuted for the way we are treating the youth today in this matter. The best way to remedy this injustice would be to change to the metric system entirely.

There are many other arguments for changing. All of the countries, except England and the U. S. are using this system in every way. The U. S. is using it in many fields for instance we find it used by scientists, many factories, many hospitals, the jewel industry, the optical industry, the radio industry, athletic events in the Olympic games and the Notetary system. The United States adopted the metric weights and measures.

Legal by act of Congress in 1866. Adopted for medical work in Navy Dept. 1878.

Adopted for medical work of Navy Dept. 1894.

Basis for electrical measurement 1894.

Adopted by U. S. public health service 1902.

Use to be continued in the Philippine Islands 1909.

Recognized and established in Porto Rico 1913.

The U. S. also: Belongs to International Bureau of Weights and Measures.

Custodian world standard meter and kilogram.

Belongs to Internal Postal Union, rates based on metric.

Belongs to Institute of Agriculture, worldwide crop quotations given in metric.

Employs metric measures in Air Service regulations.

Employs metric measures in Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Belongs to a loss when changing from the metric to English as is necessary if both are to be used in the world. The metric system would get rid of fractions which is a hindrance in problems. Measurements can be made closer and smaller in the Metric system. No people who have started his work in the metric system today.

The National Congress of Parent Teacher Associations declare with authority that there would be a saving of $800,000,000 to the United States in education if metric units were used exclusively. There are 900,000,000 people using the metric system today.

There is no definite relation between the inch, foot and yard like there is between the millimeter, centimeter, decimeter and meter. Our system goes back to the days of Kings for its basis which has no logic back of it for the modern mind. The inch equals 3 barley-corns round and dry "from the middle of the ear." Our foot is supposed to be the length of an English king's foot. You can see how indefinite this is when you know how king's feet and barley-corn grains vary.

Any one interested in the adoption of Metric system can cooperate with the Metric Association, 156 Fifth Ave., New York City.

2. Give talks to schools and clubs regarding the advance of Metric system.

3. Write letters to newspapers and articles for magazines.

4. In Ohio write to your Congressman, John C. Cable.

5. Use metric system whenever feasible.

6. Get your local organization behind this movement.

This surely would be a step toward World Peace!

First: "I married my wife in order to reform, but she turned out to be a bigger reform than I did."

Second: "What do you mean?"

First: "Well, when I married her she weighed 118 pounds, and she was slim and shapely. Now she weighs 300 pounds and takes the shape of a tub when she sits down."

Squid: "Pa, give me some money. Father: "Why do you want some money, son?"

Squid: "Well, s'pose a robber was to hold me up and say, 'your money or your life, and I hadn't any.'"

Dick M. (to pop, who is Math Prof.): "Just what is a kite?"

Pop: "Nothing divided by two."

John H. G.: "I have a girl who is both fool proof and time proof."

Tom D.: "How come?"

John H.: "I tried all the old tricks with her and she never gave in."

Doris H.: "What makes a door bell and an old maid so much alike?"

Jana B.: "Because both require so many answers."

State Office Building Becomes Reality

Contract Let for New Edifice, Which Will Save State Approximately $140,000 in Annual Office Rentals—Will Cost $1,000,000 Less Than Estimate—C. Governor Cooper Commended.

How Ohio's New State Office Building Will Look

OHIO'S needed state office building, planned and discussed through preceding administrations for almost 45 years, at last is about to be a reality. Upon its completion, approximately $140,000 in annual office rentals will be saved to the state and vast inconvenience to the people, due to the wide separation of state offices in Columbus, will be ended.

The actual contract for this long discussed project was brought about by the practical business man and builder, who has shown that he knows how to get things done in government as well as in private business, Governor Myers V. Cooper.

Ever since Judson Hartman, a Governor there has been continued agitation for such an office building. Recently the Legislature has made appropriations, but the money at that time could never be reached nor the building started. When Governor Cooper came into office, he found state offices scattered all over the Capital City, many of them in firetraps, dangerous alike to public records and the employees of the state.

Governor Cooper asked the General Assembly to provide an appropriation of $6,000,000 with which to buy land and build the structure, and the work has gone steadily forward until now has been possible to let such a contract as will give Ohio an office building worthy of the state, at a cost of approximately $1,000,000 less than the most optimistic estimate.

Work on the construction, which is to begin promptly, will provide employment for 1000 men per day for more than a year.

The building, which will house all the elective offices of the state, will be erected in the heart of Columbus, with a short distance of the State Capitol. It will face the Scioto River and be 34 stories in height.

The Commission appointed by Governor Cooper to have charge of the planning and erecting of the building is composed of five outstanding men of the State, as follows: Col. Cermi A. Thompson of Cleveland, Warner P. Simpson of Columbus, Elmer S. Landes of Wooster, William F. Wiley of Cincinnati, and William F. Green of Coonshoctor, Charles D. Simeval of Steubenville is Secretary of the Commission.

From all over Ohio commendations have come to Governor Cooper upon the splendid way in which the project has been handled, giving to the state a building of the highest class, easily accessible, and at a cost far under the expectations of anyone.

VERMILLION EAGLE IS KILLED BY "HUNTER"

The second mate of the Vermillion eagle has been shot, and was forecasted if his "murderer" be found. People in the vicinity are much worried and aroused over the "tragedy" as expressed by Dr. Francis H. Herrick, of the biology department of Western Reserve University, Cleveland.

The eagles have gained fame as the "Herrick eagles," as Herrick has made a study of the habits of the national birds, that have made their home near Vermillion.

The mother eagle is now left alone after a summer spent in raising two small eaglets. The first mate of the female eagle was shot about five years ago.

ADVERTISING SLOGANS ON POSTAGE STAMPS SHOULD BE REPRESENTATIVE CELLETS

If ever you receive a letter bearing a stamp inscribed with some slogan like "Eventually why not more?" or "Four out of five have it", credit the phenomenon to Representative Emanuel Celler of New York.

It is Mr. Celler's idea that the Post Office Department can eliminate its deficit by selling space on postage stamps for advertising purposes. The New Yorker explains that he does not advocate, but only suggests this money-making scheme. France, Germany and New Zealand sell the marginal space on their stamps to private concerns, and that Bavaria, and Italy have doubted the size and sold the additional space.

The United States has used the stencil employed to cancel stamps for slogans, and stamps have been used to call attention to various expositions. It is a good idea for resourcefulness, but haven't we enough advertisements staring at us in street cars, screaming at us over the radio, and greeting us at every road-end, without encouraging them on friendly epistles?

PRESIDENT'S DESCENDANTS TO HOLD REUNION IN '32

Among the features of the year-long George Washington Bicentennial program in 1932 are plans to hold in Washington a reunion of the families and descendants of all former presidents of the U. S.

Legislators of all other countries will also be invited as guests of the Federal Government to aid in paying honor to the memory of the Father of our Country. The bicentennial celebration is not confined to this city, but the national capital will be the stage where the features of the program will be enacted.

The U. S. S. Constitution—Old Ironsides—which is being restored at Boston, will be placed on exhibition in Washington that year, and the music of Washington's time will be reproduced. The underlying idea of the celebration is "to bring the man and times of George Washington back again, so that we of today—especially the children who all take our places in the arena of the nation, will understand what Washington did and means to this nation."

W. C. T. U. Held Interesting Meeting With Mrs. Stotts

Twenty-seven members and friends of the W. C. T. U. gathered at the home of Mrs. Elmer Stotts last Friday afternoon for the regular monthly meeting of Plymouth W. C. T. U.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Ray Long, former Huron county president, and Mrs. R. Williams, the newly elected county president for the coming year. Mrs. Taylor Beelman and Mrs. Landis, all of Willard.

In speaking of the Plymouth ladies Mrs. Williams urged that they stress the medal contest work among the children and the use of the noon-day prayer. Mrs. Jason Murlin and Mrs. O. M. Peoples have expressed their willingness to take charge of the contest work for Plymouth W. C. T. U.
The speaker of the afternoon, Rev. Mr. Sittler, told the women present that they could look to him to assist them in every possible way. He further said, in explaining the cause of so many youth being sent to reformatories that "people cannot be at ease while such conditions exist. We are amazing the world with our crime."
"There are three institutions," said Rev. Sittler, "that produce character: The Home, the School and the Church. Home is the first unit of society. If the individual fails to function in the home, he fails in society. Go back in to your homes and realize you can hang out something no other can give. Somehow we have lost the true conception of life."
"School is an extension of the Home. A school that is not training in character fails to function properly. The most effective teaching is by personality. Almost every criminal starts his criminal career in truancy from school. If the school is not operating, perhaps the cause is the home. The school must be training place for moral character."
Rev. Sittler in speaking of the church said, "The church ought to be linked up with the Home. The bombardment of material things is so strong that youth cannot withstand it. We should begin again in Home, School and Church to recreate character."
The white ribbon quartette furnished musical selections which were appropriate for the occasion and much enjoyed.

Rev. J. W. Miller and Rev. O. M. Peoples who were also present entered into the discussion of the work for the next few weeks. Surely no one present could think the christian forces of the community are asleep at this critical time and it is to be hoped the cause of Mercy will not have to be pronounced on Plymouth.

The next regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held with Mrs. J. L. Judson, Nov. 21. But a special business session will be held in the Sunday school room of the Methodist church, Friday, Oct. 17, at 2:30 p. m. All members are urged to be present.

INJUNCTION SUIT AGAINST USE OF GEORGIA MARBLE ADVANCED TO OCTOBER 13

The injunction suit which seeks to prevent the construction of the state office building by the use of Georgia marble, is advanced for hearing to October 13, 1930 by Common Pleas Judge Holmes on the motion of Attorney General Bettman.

The Attorney General pointed out that every day's delay at this stage of the undertaking results in the loss of thousands of dollars to Ohio, since the state is not only paying rent for various offices for State Departments, but no return is being received on the site, virtually all of which has already been acquired.

In addition, the necessity is stressed for the early commencement of the work as a relief to present labor conditions.

Movement of Hay Reported Sluggish

Although hay production on Ohio farms this year averages 11.6 tons less a farm than in 1929, Ohio farmers, like their neighbors in other states, are not creating a boom in western hay markets by rushing orders west for hay. In spite of the 10 million ton national hay shortage, movement of hay eastward is not going forward rapidly at present prices, according to word received by C. R. Arnold, rural economist for the Ohio State University. The tendency, Arnold reports, to hold off from the purchase of high priced hays and substitute for them.

This information coincides with a survey recently conducted by the drought committee of the agricultural extension service of the university, of which Arnold is chairman. This survey of 3942 farms indicated a hay shortage a farm of 11.6 tons, compared with the yields of last year, but the farmers also expressed intentions to buy only 2.6 tons of hay to tide them over the winter.

Arnold quotes from the report of the bureau of agricultural economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, to support the reports from western markets: "Hay markets were somewhat irregular during the week ending September 27. Offerings continued irregular during the week ending September 27. Offerings continued light and demand moderate at most points. Clover, alfalfa, and prairie hays were showing some preference over timothy at several of the leading markets."

DISHONESTY IS COSTLY

Honesty has an economic value. Business can be conducted with an honest person so quickly, and satisfactorily that no sensible man will waste his time with a crook if he can help it.

If dishonesty could be eliminated from the world, the savings could be tremendous. To detect and circumvent the small percentage of crooks a costly system has been established which is a terrific drain on the purses of the honest people. Honest people not only pay for the winnings of the crooks, but they also pay for the complicated machinery that has been constructed to circumvent them.

Honesty is among the greatest of labor-savers. Every merchant knows that a dozen dishonest customers will consume more of his time and thought than a hundred honest ones. In our own state of Ohio the guards and watchmen of private property comprise a small army. In the fruit district just north of us they follow the example of the barbarians and hire men with loaded guns to patrol their orchards.

Every device to prevent dishonesty is a waste, viewed in an economic sense, because if the ideal of universal honesty existed thousands of men could be placed in productive employment and millions of dollars now invested in preventive systems do they manage to survive. This is the reason why honesty is perhaps the most highly regarded of all qualities in the empire of business.

Those who have but little to do with the dollar-and-cents side of people often wonder why business men are hard-boiled. The wonder is that they are so tolerant. Not only are they victims of downright dishonesty but by overlooking violators do they manage to survive. This is the reason why honesty is perhaps the most highly regarded of all qualities in the empire of business.

If any one is really needy let him ask in a honest way and I will try to see that he or she is taken care of in the proper way.
Don W. Eiseler.
