HOPKIN'S HEALTH CAUSES INQUIRY

University Writes Greenwich Man To Find Secret of Good Health.

In the March 20 edition of the Advertiser, a story was published concerning Charles Hopkins, an aged citizen of Greenwich, who celebrated his birthday recently.

Hopkins recently received a letter from the Johns Hopkins University located in Baltimore, Maryland, congratulating him on his activity despite his advanced age, and asking how he maintained his health. The communication is given below:

Mr. Charles Hopkins, Greenwich, Ohio.

My dear Mr. Hopkins: There recently came to my attention a newspaper article regarding your great age. It is a rare and altogether remarkable thing for anyone to attain such an age as yours and enjoy the excellent health and degree of activity which you do. It is truly a matter to be proud of.

In this institute we are making a study, from many different points of view, of the factors and influences which make for long life. What every one would like to know is how they can conduct their lives so as to have the best chance of living to such an advanced age as to that which you have attained.

It has occurred to me that you might be willing, in order to aid these investigations, to give me some information about yourself, your home life and your family. I assure you that if you are willing to do this, you will be in a real sense, helping to advance scientific knowledge and also helping other people to know how to live. To this end I am enclosing a blank form printed on blue paper which I should like you to fill out to the best of your knowledge and ability regarding the facts called for. If, for any reason at all you are yourself unable to write out the answers to the questions on the blank, I shall esteem it a great favor if you will get someone in your household to do this on the basis of the information which you furnish them.

There is also enclosed an addressed stamped envelope for the return of the blank to me. If you feel like giving it, I shall be extremely grateful for any other information which occurs to you as pertinent, beyond that called for on the blank and shall be glad to have a letter from you of this sort. You will, of course, fully understand that any information you give me will be regarded as entirely confidential. In any use to which it is put for purposes of report or publication, your name will not in any way be connected with the information you give me, unless you specifically so request.

If you cannot give ALL the information called for on the blank, please give us as much as you can. I shall be grateful for any information whatever, but of course, you will understand that the more completely the blank is filled out the more useful it will be.

It has occurred to me that possibly you have a recent snapshot of yourself, preferably a full-length picture of which you would be willing to spare me a copy. I should like to have your picture for my records, and if you will send me one with the date that it was taken, or age at the time indicated thereon, I shall be very grateful. Trusting that I may have your cooperation in this matter.

Faithfully yours,
Raymond Pearl, Director.

GOOD BYE SENIORS

Good bye Seniors, dear Seniors, good bye.
The inevitable hour is drawing nigh,
You will step from this life of youthful play
And seek the fortune that awaits you today.

This life has fitted you for what ere may come,
You have sipped of the wine and tasted the crumb,
You will tread all of life's old pathways
In the coming nights, and coming days.

You will enter a business most fitted to you
And we will hope that you conquer it thru and thru;
That your life will be only fun
In after years, when your work is done.

No matter the width of land, ocean and sea
That separates you from me;
I ne'er shall forget your beaming faces,
Your laughing ways, and fine mannered graces.

The years will go flying fast,
You will dream of school days—a golden past;
You will pluck from your head a silver hair,
You will sigh and say, "I've not a care."

Your eyesight may weaken and the blue may fade,
But you would not care to make a trade,
You'll hear the school bells' one last call,
You'll all your dreams of early life

To remember, the joy, the sorrows and the strife.

Evening shadows gently fall,
You'll hear the school bells' one last call.

Good bye Seniors, dear Seniors,

B. & O. GLEE CLUB TAKES BOW TO MIKE

The initial radio broadcast for the B. & O. Singers Club, of Willard, was made Monday evening of this week over WJW, Mansfield. Many Plymouth riders picked up the program and a number of fine reports have been turned in concerning the selections given.

The group sang first at the banquet of the Foreman's Club, Mansfield, held at the Elk's home, about 200 guests being present. Broadcasting began from the station at 8 o'clock and continued until 8:45 p. m.

The program, with the exception of a piano solo, presented by the pianist, Miss Leora Drinkwater, of Willard, was composed of chorus work which included the following selections: Neapolitan Nights, Kentucky Babe, Forgotten, Cotton Dolly.

Hail the Baltimore and Ohio.

The last named piece is known as the theme song of the organization. The entire club of thirty members was served to a delicious banquet following their broadcast.

H. E. Balfus, of Columbus, formerly of Plymouth, is the director of the club. Other members from Plymouth are Harley Kendig, and Weldon Cornell.

Many telegrams and requests were received at the station but the time did not allow further broadcasting.

Arrangements are being made for future broadcasting from WJW and also from WAU, in Columbus.

Every graduating senior has been active in school life, and has proved a credit to P. H. S. As many are interested in these young people who are forging ahead in life, a short sketch of the high school life of each can be given.

PLYMOUTH TRUCK HAS HEAD-ON COLLISION

Robert Blackford escaped injury Saturday morning when his Reo stock truck figured in a head-on collision occurring on the Boughtonville-Deighl road. The driver of the second machine, Carl Blackert, suffered a dislocation of his arm.

The Blackert car was a complete wreck and the Plymouth truck was more than badly damaged. It is almost a miracle that no life was lost in the accident.

Walter Grimmer was headed for Boughtonville and was accompanied by Levi Bachrach.

listed in the basketball squad in 1928-29.

Vance Snyder, who entered the class only last fall, participated in basketball track, has served as Orrhian literary president, class vice president, and has participated in glee club work.

BACCALAUREATE WAS IMPRESSIVE

Rev. A. M. Himes, Pastor of the Lutheran Church Gives Principal Address.

The Baccalaureate service at the Presbyterian church, last Sunday evening was well attended. The program was well-balanced and harmonized throughout with the occasion. The Presbyterian Choir under the leadership of Mrs. Luther Peters rendered excellent music. The solo work by Mrs. Beryl Miller was very pleasing. The High School Glee Club, directed by Miss Fenner, sang two choice numbers.

Rev. J. W. Miller, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, delivered the message to the graduating class. The baccalaureate sermon was of a practical nature, dealing with the subject of What the Church contributes to Education.

SEVEN GRADUATE FROM NEW HAVEN

Dean of Wittenberg College Speaks at Commencement of New Haven Seniors.

New Haven high school graduated seven seniors into the school of experience last Thursday at commencement exercises at which Dr. Ross Miller spoke.

Dr. Miller, dean of Wittenberg College of Springfield, Ohio, threw the challenge "Rebel!" to the seven graduates. The theme of the address urged that youth should rebel at the present conditions, principally the conditions in the metropolitan areas. His talk was divided into two parts: first, it, second, dare—again there is nothing wrong about daring if one has an aim in view.

Music was furnished by the New Haven orchestra, under the direction of Ruth Rosenberry, of Shelby. Superintendent F. L. Black states that there will be about ten in the class of 1931.

The four girls of the graduating class are planning to enter Ashland College and prepare for a career in teaching. The class is as follows: Marguerite Duffy, who plans to enter Ashland this fall.

Harriet Babcock, who is entering Ashland for the summer term.

Pauline Fox, who has applied for the summer term at Ashland.

Emma Hole, who will enter Ashland with her two other classmates.

Robert Lewis, Delmar Kennard, Henry Chapman.

And here is luck, and pluck, to the class of New Haven, 1931.

The First National Bank should be commended upon this installation for the protection of its bank employees.

Long ago the Hebrew poet sang, "I was glad when they said unto me let us go into the house of the Lord." "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path." At ten a. m. next Sunday, in the Bible School, we will learn more about that Word.

There will be no preaching service, on account of the Memorial service at the Lutheran Church.

At 7:30 p. m. the Young People's League will meet. Subject—"Young People and Patriotism."

A number from the Presbyterian Church, including a part of the choir went to Mansfield on last Thursday evening to hear the Dayton Westminster choir sing. This choir was founded in 1920, by Dr. John Finley Williamson, who has been its director since its organization. Only men and women are chosen who have consecrated their lives to the service of the church through the ministry of music. Every choir member has had three years of training, four hours a day for three years in the Choir School. A large number of the singers have been choir directors. The choir tours America every year in the interests of better music. Last year this choir toured Europe, singing in London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna and other noted places. There are sixty voices in the choir, and they use neither instrument nor books in their singing.

The Neues Weiner Tagblatt of Vienna, May 4, 1929, said: The humming choruses with ascending soprano solos are beautiful, like a pool over which the moon is shining. They decrease the tone to a fading whisper. Tones are sung as if by magic. The artistry of interpretation is something wonderful.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Commencement exercises of the class of 1930 graduating from the Shiloh High School, will be held on Friday evening in the school auditorium.

The class is composed of Frances Clinker, Thelma Bradrick, Joseph Au, Richard Ruckman, Raymond Wells, James Gundrum, Robert Ruckman, Albert Seaman.

This class is rather unusual in that there are six boys and but two girls. The usual rule for a graduating class, with no reflections on the mental capacity of the stronger sex, is that the boys are outnumbered two to one by the girls who have finished the 12 years.

What life holds in the future for these eight graduates cannot be told. But may the best come to them, and may they learn to put the best into life. However, the motto that has been taken expresses the idea in different words, "Tint your own sky." The class colors are green and white, and the flower is the pink tea rose. Superintendent Paul H. Weaver was the adviser.

In 1926, the first year of high school life, there were ten members in the class. Officers of the Senior class are—President, Robert Ruckman; Sec'y. Treas., Raymond Wells.

Raymond Wells is the salutatorian for 1930.

SATURDAY EVENING ENTERTAINMENT

The business men of Shiloh have sponsored the Saturday evening entertainment for many years. Usually it has consisted of music, but, as a band was not available this year, they conceived the idea of having a picture-entertainment. These shows will be given on East and West Main street, two Saturday evenings in succession for each side.

The first show was given last Saturday evening, and they will continue until further announcement.

These shows are under the supervision of P. H. Rainey, manager of the Zela Motion Picture attraction of Bloomsdale.

TEACHERS ARE HIRED

Teachers for Adario high school and for the rural schools were employed at a meeting of the board of education of Butler township Friday night. The board voted to discontinue temporarily the Patterson school because of the small enrollment.

The teachers employed for the high school are C. O. Rutherford superintendent, Charles Kirkwood principal and Elizabeth Black mathematics and English.

The teachers for the grade schools are Lester Fair, Murray school, Otis Tucker, Adario, Louminah Stottsburg, Lone Elm and Golda Kelley, Beech Grove school.

THE TRUE CONDITION OF ALBERT SEAMAN

Three weeks ago in these columns the accident received by Albert Seaman was reported. The statement was made that Mr. Seaman was removed to the General Hospital in Mansfield for treatment, and that he suffered the loss of his left eye. That statement is correct, notwithstanding the report given in the News and placed on the front page of the Advertiser. Mr. Seaman underwent an operation, and the left eye was removed. We are glad to report that Mr. Seaman was able to be brought home Friday afternoon, that he attended the baccalaureate services Sunday evening at the M. E. church, and that he will be able to take his part in the commencement exercises.

The doctor reports Mr. Seaman improving exceptionally well, and also in a reduced and weakened condition is slowly regaining strength.

Mr. Seaman is popular with his class and schoolmates, and also has many friends who vied with one another in acts of kindness, during his suffering, which this young man fully appreciated.

ALUMNI BANQUET

Alumni banquet will be held Saturday evening, May 24 at the school auditorium.

Miss Leola Hamman has charge of the program and Mrs. Clarence Forsythe has charge of the banquet.

SCHOOL NOTES

Commencement exercises of the class of 1930 will be held Friday evening in the school auditorium. The class is composed of Joseph Au, Richard Ruckman, Robert Ruckman, Albert Seaman, Raymond Wells, James Gundrum, Francis Clinker and Thelma Bradrick.

The admission will be the same as in previous years.

The 1930 school annual "The Periscope" will be ready Friday evening for distribution. It is an 84 page book edited by the seniors.

Those who have not subscribed for a copy of "The Periscope," can get one Friday evening upon the payment of one dollar.

The baccalaureate services were well attended and Rev. McBroom gave an impressive sermon. The music was furnished by the school choruses.

The class made their first appearance in their official gray caps and gowns.

Raymond Wells, the salutatorian of the class of 1930, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Mansfield General hospital, has recovered sufficiently to take his place in the commencement exercises.

ADA GEDNEY WILL RETIRE

Miss Ada Gedney, principal of Madison school, Lakewood, is regarding the commencement season dubiously this year. When the boys and girls come for their last report cards on June 13 Miss Gedney will walk out of the life of teaching which has held her for 44 years.

Twenty-six years ago next fall she came to Cleveland "to live a fuller life" and teach at Central school (now Grant school). To reach the school building on the site now occupied by the Lakewood Chamber of Commerce, Miss Gedney had to walk up a soggy sawdust path, and she wondered, "Why did I leave Mansfield to come here?"

She has never regretted the move since. Seventeen years ago she was made principal of the school she is now leaving.

"Your untiring energy and your loyalty to the school system," the board of education said in a note to her this week, "have made a contribution to this community which we acknowledge with appreciation."

For six years she taught in Shiloh and then became principal of the school in Shelby, O., where she remained eleven years. Always seeking the "fuller life," she left Shelby for the larger city of Mansfield. Then she came to Lakewood.

Watching Lakewood grow from a city of 5,600 inhabitants and having some part in its development has been enjoyable experience to the pleasant, gray-haired school mistress.

The twenty teachers at Madison school read the following paragraph, among others, from Miss Gedney this week:

"School work with children is too sacred a thing for me to continue if I could not endure the physical strain and give you the service which I should."

When after children have come and gone for 44 years, she can seek for her "fuller life" in travel and still say: "Teaching is a delightful occupation. I would rather earn my living by teaching than in any other way."

Miss Gedney is a sister of Mrs. P. L. Willett and Mrs. Bertha Frits of this place, with whom she frequently visits.

WINNIE LIGHTNER SELECTS OWN SONGS FOR COMEDY

Winnie Lightner, the dynamic comedienne and star of "Hold Everything," whose voice and humorous antics have endeared her to the theatrious public, states emphatically and with her customary verve that she thinks Joe Burke and Al Dubin are the only song writers for her. They wrote the musical score of the screen hit, "Gold Diggers of Broadway," in which Winnie Lightner also sang several songs. They have so accurately learned the essence of Winnie Lightner's delightful personality that the songs they write for her seem to be a part of her.

More than fifty songs were submitted to Miss Lightner before she found the two that she felt were the style of songs her audience expects of her. She sings these in "Hold Everything," the musical comedy success of the stage which has been adapted to the screen and will play at the Castamba Theatre on May 27-28-29. It was Joe Burke and Al Dubin who wrote the songs which Miss Lightner chose. They are "Isn't This a Cockey World" and "Physically Fit."

Winnie Lightner says that these two songs are the most tuneful, humorous songs it has been her pleasure to sing since her advent to the screen. The same composers wrote those famous songs, "TipToe Through the Tulips" and "Painting the Clouds With Sunshine," two numbers that were among the outstanding hits of 1929.

LAYING FLOCKS SHOULD BE CULLED REGULARLY

The culling of the laying flock has been talked about, and written about, and practiced so much that it has been over done. Many good birds have been sold. Many poor pullets have been kept over so that the poultry houses would be filled for winter. So much has been said about culling that many farmers and poultrymen think it is a very complicated thing and only for experts to practice. I hope that it may be able to simplify this business.

One course, culling should be practiced from the time the chick is hatched, every day until all the pullets are eventually sold as hens. Many poultry raisers have been taught that one culling a year is enough. Every laying flock should be culled in the spring when the price of eggs is low and the price of fowls is high. There are always some undesirable birds to be sold at this time. As soon as the hatching season is over the males should be sold. This saves feed and unfertile eggs are best for the market.

It is best to cull often and to start as early in the summer as the egg production begins to drop off. Culling the heavy breeds is easy if done right. As soon as the broody hens begin to show up in the spring, begin to sell them. With the breeds such as the Rocks, Reds and Wyandottes keep up culling in this manner until two-thirds of the flock is sold. Keep the other third over the second year. There is a belief among some people that a broody hen is not good to eat. Keep this in mind. Nature has built up this bird's system so that she might set for three weeks with little to eat. The first time a hen goes broody she is in the best condition there is to sell. This system of culling. Broody hens are good eating. Some say that the fever makes them unfit for eating purposes. A broody hen's temperature is subnormal.

Culling the Leachon flock is nearly as easy. As soon as the production begins to drop off in the spring, start culling. One night every two weeks, or oftener, go over the flock while they are on the roost. Remove all birds with a dry, shrunken, rough comb and put them in a crate. The next morning look them over carefully. They will be the birds that have stopped laying. Sell them. Continue this until half the laying flock is sold. Keep the other half over the next winter.

There are several reasons for early culling. It saves feed, the hens sell at a higher price, and it makes room for the early hatched pullets. Hand in hand with early culling goes careful feeding as a means of making money from the laying flock.

Careful feeding means dry laying mash before the birds at all times, lots of feeding space, lots of green feed, not too much scratch grain. Feed scratch once each day. Starting in May the birds should be fed about 12 pounds of scratch per hundred each day. Each month reduce this 2 pounds per hundred per day. A moist laying mash mixed with milk will produce more eggs than any one thing. Give the birds all they will clean up in 15 minutes each day.

Culling is easy, if it is thoroughly understood.

GRADE TEACHERS FURNISH REST ROOM FROM PROCEEDS

SHILOH MERCHANTS GIVE SATURDAY NIGHT SHOWS

Shiloh merchants, for the benefit of their patrons, are sponsoring a moving picture show, under the supervision of P. F. H. Rainey, manager, of the Zela Motion picture attractions of Bloomdale.

The shows are given on Main street, the location being moved every third Saturday from the east to the west, vice versa, side of town. The first presentation was made last Saturday, and the entertainment will be continued for some time.

In previous years a band has been secured, but as it was impossible to find one for the coming summer, the suggestion of a picture show was made.

SPORT BAROMETER

P. H. S. high tracksters made a snappy showing down at the District meet last Saturday. The boys chalked up twenty-two points and placed third as a team.

Whit Brizes, half-mile hope, of the red and white, under-trainer, ranked in second in his event, while Jim Sheppard laid claim to a couple of third places in the high and low hurdles.

And so another successful track season comes to an end. By the way, by placing third, the lads are able to step into fast company down at Columbus.

238 HURON-CO. FARMS ABANDONED IN 10 YEARS

During the last 10 years Huron county has grown by 1,227. As the records now stand, the population is 23,551. The county is primarily a farming district, so that a like gain is quite favorable.

Fred Whittier, under-trainer, ranked in second in his event, while Jim Sheppard laid claim to a couple of third places in the high and low hurdles.

And so another successful track season comes to an end. By the way, by placing third, the lads are able to step into fast company down at Columbus.

Sport Shavings

By Barber.

The Pilgrim tracksters led by Capt. June Bachrach has chalked up an enviable record for 1930. The lads were scheduled for four dual meets, they copped three and were lacking in only a few points of knocking off the other. Now if that isn't hot-toy-toy, oh, I'll try growing cotton up around the north pole.

P. H. S. cinder-trampers met and defeated Mansfield Reserves, Norwalk St. Paul and Attica. They gave some tough going, but the rail-rollers finally won the decision.

Folk d'ye realize that we have in our midst, as a Roman sport-scribe might term it, a most feet-footster. The same being the modest but none the less sensation White Briggs, better known as the "Big Stone and Gravel Man" from West Broadway.

Behave several of the fellows, no wonder Whit can run, look at his source of inspiration. But since curiosity once put a cat completely out of business, we shall not endeavor to discover the Big Bug.

But getting back to our former line of confused chatter, this Briggs lad has left in his dust half-milers from such schools as Ashland, Mansfield, Shelby and Norwalk. Pat's not to be weak of Willard and Attica. Now if that isn't bringing the bacon, I'll endeavor to make my future resting place on the business end of a tack.

While we are harping on individual stars we'd like to sing a few praises about Harry Long, sometimes called "Squirt" but known to this column as Rabbit Long, because of this Long hops to make ourselves quite clear, Harry has been broad jumping like no person's affairs, and whereas, his leaps lack a few feet of the world's champion's mark, they are near enough to place well up in any nest, as he has proven on several occasions.

Tubby Webber, the Vagabond Gob, is not satisfied with his success as a ditsch burier. Several weeks ago he was seen stinking up Johnny Rizzo, but we jump to the conclusion that the Gob thinks the Cleveland Baker-Boy is just a lotta sour dough, and if he (Tubby) ever meets up with him (Rizzo), he'll not only be sour dough, but he'll be all smashed up, in other words Rizzo will be a well fattened hunka dough.

So tonight we are considering sending in a challenge to Mr. Rizzo for the Vagabond Gob.

It doesn't matter whether the match is to be ping-pong, golf or polo. Tubby says as long as Rizzo is a dub at tennis the challenge should be either a game of chess or poker.

Coch's Jenkins thought he'd see if this young Briggs boy could run or if he was merely foolin'. So one Saturday they took a little jaunt over to Mansfield, where the Tigers were entertaining Akron, East. Well Young Briggs was entered in the mile and half mile. Now to make a short story even shorter, all this lad did was to place second in the mile, and cop of the half mile. How's that for stepping out in fast company?

NEIGHBORS WHO READ THIS PAPER—READ THIS!
The following timely article was read in the Willard paper, and should be read by many readers of the Advertiser:
We get many complaints against the habit of borrowing papers where people would rather trouble their friends and neighbors than to read their own paper. The cost is less than 5c a week. It's cheaper than running to your neighbors and pestering him.
The tale runs that this man's little son was sent to the neighbor's house to borrow a paper and in his haste he ran over a $4.00 stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His cries reached the father who ran to his assistance and falling to notice a barbed wire fence, ran into it breaking it down, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy, and ruining a $4.00 pair of pants. The cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got into the corn field and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket the wife ran upset a four-gallon churn of rich cream into a basket of kittens drowning them. In the hurry, she lost a $7.50 set of teeth. The baby left alone, crawled through the cream into the parlor, ruining a brand new $20 carpet.
