FIND HAWK'S NEST ON MOTHER EARTH

An incident which is believed "unusual" was the discovery of a hawk's nest on the ground in the 25th pasture in the east part of the village. Messrs. Bill Ellis and John Beelman saw a hawk and Ellis shot the bird. The man also discovered the nest with five small hawks in it. Of course, they were destroyed, for a hawk does no one.

If any of our readers have ever heard of a similar incident let us know, for we believe that this is very unusual, the finding of a hawk's nest on the ground.

Initial Concert Given By Local Talent is Reported A Complete Success.

Plymouth welcomed and acclaimed the home town band last Saturday night. Though the evening was far from warm, and the weatherman decidedly antagonistic, many pleasant friends of the community braved the showers to applaud the initial work of the band leader, Harry Dawson, and his players.

Every town has its institutions and interests, which are explained and exhibited to visitors and newcomers. Has there ever been a guest in Plymouth who was not escorted down town on Saturday night to hear the band play? When away from home did you not ever feel like packing up for a week end and coming back to hear the Saturday night band?

More Rumors About Big Ape

The ape for which hundreds of Norwalk residents have been searching for is still at large, and most every day new reports come into town concerning its whereabouts. The animal has been seen in the western part of the city and various stories have come to light. However, the search goes on in vain.

It was reported to Police Chief F. R. Remington that some sort of wild creature, possibly the ape, had slept in a straw stack at the farm of Herndon Knoll, just south of the new water works. The chief investigated the reports but could develop no clue. It is said that a peculiar-looking creature had been seen at the base of the hay stack.

When the first stories of the loose ape were circulated and excitement was running high, that it was reported that a young man or a youth who is mentally defective had escaped from his home near Berlin Heights. It was first thought that this might explain the ape story, but it is stated that the young man wandered only a few miles from his home and did not go to the water works.

Monday night a nine year old Norwalk girl became hysterical when she thought she saw an ape in the yard of her home. Despite the fact that no ape reports had been made for several days interest in the affair continued to run at high pitch.

During past week rumors have been searching at night for the brute, and everyone in the vicinity has been keeping close watch on for appearance of the animal. It is said that the ape lives mostly on birds, cats, rabbits, and other small animals. So far no damage has been done to livestock on any of the nearby Norwalk farms.

Rev. E. B. McBroom in giving a talk on "The Value of the Christian Home in the Community" said that perhaps the most important thing which used to be common in the Christian home, the family altar, has almost disappeared today, and that it was the daily prayer period in the home which helped most to create the strong Christian environment in the community, and which sent the boys and girls out from the home stronger and better prepared to resist the temptations of public life.

The president, Mrs. J. H. Baltzell, then made a few remarks before presenting the gift of the union to Mrs. Hester, a splendid picture of Frances Willard. Mrs. Baltzell reminded the ladies that the little bow of white ribbon bound together perhaps the largest body of Christian women in the world, and that they could not speak the language of the women of all the fifty-two countries where the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is carried on, the bow of white ribbon would tell any of them what you stood for.

"Now," continued, Mrs. Baltzell, "there is a token by which those coming into the home of a W. C. T. U. woman will know at once what kind of a home it is, and, it is this token which we are presenting to Mrs. Hester today," and called upon Mrs. Russell Scott to bring the picture of Frances Willard. Mrs. Hester was so overcome that she bowed her head on the picture and wept.

Mrs. Georgia Boardman and Mrs. Ada Shepherd, assisted by Mrs. Russell Scott and Mrs. Wm. Caldwell then served cooling refreshments and a social hour was spent.

The next regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. Dan Clark, West Broad St., Friday afternoon, June 20th. Mrs. Boardman in charge of the program. Mrs. L. Z. Davis will have the devotions. This will be "Flower Mission Day" at which time flowers will be sent to the sick and shut-ins of the community.

The 15 per cent increased acreage in potatoes in the South, due to unfavorable weather and low yields, will not greatly influence the price to be received for Ohio potatoes this summer.

In spite of a one-third larger consumption in May, the prices of eggs and poultry meat are as low as they have been for a number of years.

"Modern Fairies" Is Theme of Service

Children Give Beautiful Story At Children's Day Exercise.

Modern Fairies, the Children's Day services at the Presbyterian church, was well rendered to a large audience on last Sunday evening.

In every human soul there is something that demands the upward look. Oliver Wendell Holmes, once said, "There is a little plant growing in the garden of my soul that needs to be watered once each week." The artist Turner found that his color sense became faded, and so he kept a ruby and a sapphire, beside him on his easel that he might bring his tired optic nerve and faded color sense back up to the standard and up to his perfect ideal. In an age when life is hauling and pulling us from one situation to another, we need the "little child in the midst" to give us the true perspective of life. The little children, from the Bible School, as modern fairies, gave a true perspective of living—that is, obedience to the simple, worthwhile things in life.

Even little "Mischief" was sorry for his innocent pranks, when a little mother called him a "little lad" instead of "Mischief" and offered to take him to her own home. He was willing to obey and went with her with a merry heart. Again the truth was brought home that the cradle is the only gate to futurity. The institutions of our country are held by adults simply as trustees, for future generations. For the older folks, a lesson to remember was easily seen in the playlet of "Modern Fairies" that lesson was "not to grow weary by the way, but watch for the light of a brighter day."

Withering and dying leaves on shrubs, first appearing in early June, are probably due to winter injury.

Sun suits made of loosely woven fabrics, so that the sun's rays can reach the body of the child through the spaces between the yarns, are most efficient.

THE BAND CONCERTS

The concert given by Plymouth's home talent band last Saturday evening proved that "it can be done." We are glad that the business men and members of the band got their heads together, and we are confident that before the season is over that we shall be more than proud of the organization.

A band is a wonderful training for a beginner, and such a musical organization often gives the younger folks a hunch that they "would like to become musical," and hence as the years go by who knows but what one of our youngsters will become a second Sousa. So let's support the concert in our conversation and criticism to such an extent as to make the situation feel that they want to become a member of some band or orchestra.

"REFUSES TO ANSWER"

The Washington branch of the Woman's Organization for Prohibition Reform finds Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch unresponsive on the question of repeal. The Ohioan is one of thirteen members of the Upper House who, according to the questioners, refused to answer their questionnaire. His colleague, Mr. Fess, it appears was not interviewed.

It is, of course, Mr. McCulloch's right to refuse to answer any or all questionnaires. In fact, we suspect that in this querying age office holders often have their patience tried by the efforts of interested groups demanding their opinion as to this or that policy, important or otherwise.

However, and doubt seriously whether the junior Ohioan will be able to get through the 1930 campaign "refusing to answer" the question as to his attitude toward repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. It is an issue certain to bulk large in the senatorial campaign, and Mr. McCulloch's constituents are entitled to know exactly where he stands on this as on other important questions of public policy.

The senator may have the best of reasons for refusal to answer the Washington women. The situation will be wholly different when it comes time for Ohio to ask him the same question.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ARE WE GOING TO CONTINUE?

When the manufacturers of the large trucks, the storage and transfer warehouses put their heads together to scheme around and infringe upon the rights of the people, they certainly did a fine job and a good one, too.

We often wonder just how the people of Ohio will continue to stand for their system of good roads to be continually torn to pieces by the heavy loads, loads that would do credit to a steam locomotive, that go over our roads day after day.

It is not only road destruction, but it is getting to a point where there is no pleasure in driving on our main thoroughfares for the trucks are so numerous until motorists feel unsafe in trying to pass so many of them.

But as long as the caravan travels mostly at night, just so long the people will sleep. We hope though that some day they will share the burden of the taxpayer and made to come across with just a little more to help maintain "their right-of-way."

If the railroads would do their part they would educate the manufacturer and the jobber that the most economical way to ship is by rail.

of Respect

"Our lives are rivers, gliding through To that unthoughted, boundless sea— The silent tomb."—Oscar Tyron.

In memory of Brother Oscar Tyron, who died June 6, 1930:

"Leaves have their time to fall, and flowers to wither, at the north wind's cold blast, but thou, oh Death! hath all seasons for thine own." Once again a brother Mason, having completed the designs written for him on life's treasure board, has passed through the portals of Eternity and entered the Grand Lodge of the New Jerusalem, and hath received, as his reward, the white stone with the new name written thereon.

AND WHEREAS The all-wise and merciful Master of the universe has called from labor to refreshment our beloved and respected brother, AND WHEREAS He having been a true and faithful brother of our beloved Order, therefore be it RESOLVED, That Richard Lodge No. 261, F. & A. Huron County Court News

While no jury cases have been assigned for the summer period, Judge Irving Carpenter, next month, may decide to bring Robert Weidinger to trial.

The defendant was indicted some time ago, on the charge of burglary in Memorial Hospital, where the defendant lay with a bullet wound inflicted by the police while he was trying to evade arrest on April 12. Weidinger has been in the county jail a couple of weeks, and is reported much improved in condition.

Find Abandoned Car.
Deputy Sheriffs Tom Paak and Joe Stierzer Friday took over a Nash car which had been abandoned on Route 20. The license plates were issued from Montpelier and officials of that city called in Fremont Saturday to claim the machine which was stolen several days ago.

Supplies Stolen.
Wilson Stewart, an employe of the Herbrand Co., returned to the sheriff's department early Saturday that seven gallons of gas, a new battery and a new tire, were stolen from his car, which was parked in front of the Herbrand restaurant while Stewart was here Friday night. The thief is known, officials say, and a warrant for his arrest will be issued unless the articles are returned.

Return Family.
County commissioners Saturday decided to return a Mrs. Burrell and her four children, colored residents of Fremont, to her home in Tennessee.

Common Pleas Notes.
Gerwin and Klotz plaintiffs in a suit against Harry S. and Garce Carlinco, filed an appeal suit in common pleas court Saturday seeking a judgment of $202.76 with interest at 6 percent from April 24, 1930. The money is said to be due the plaintiffs for materials sold to the defendants. Another appeal petition was filed by Cable Piano Co. against E. B. Thatcher of Gibsonburg seeking the sum of $52.28 alleged to be due to the piano company at delinquent payments on a piano sold to the defendants. The suit was carried up from the court of Mayor Harold E. Wichman of Gibsonburg.

Pleads Guilty.
Harold McGilten of Fremont pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery before Justice T. H. Buchanan and was fined $15 and costs. McGilten made arrangements to pay the fine. A warrant for his arrest was sworn out by J. C. King who alleged that McGilten struck him following an argument over payment for parts of an automobile. Deputy Sheriff Tom Paak attempted to locate McGilten several days ago to serve the warrant, but failed to locate him. McGilten Thursday voluntarily gave himself over to Paak.

REPORTS FROM COLLEGE ON STUDENT DRINKING
Direct from National W. C. T. U., Evanston, Ill., to president of local W. C. T. U., Mrs. J. H. Baltzell. The W. C. T. U. wrote to the leading college presidents asking them their opinion of the recent charges that drinking conditions are bad at colleges and received overwhelming assurance that student sobriety is the rule and that college conditions are thoroughly safe.

At the time this statement is made 246 college presidents have replied. Of these, 140 say there is less drinking than before prohibition; 44 say there is no drinking at their colleges; 46 say that there is not now and never was any but the most casual drinking among their students and that it is out of line with their college custom and tradition; 6 say there is no distinct change as to drinking since prohibition; 7 say conditions are bad and only 3 say that there is more drinking than there was before prohibition.

Almost every state university president declares there is less drinking than ever; and the great majority of testimony from the colleges with strong moral and church background is reassuring to the most exacting parents. From the few colleges which admit there is student drinking the presidents who replied to the W. C. T. U. questionnaire indicate that there is less drinking than there was prior to prohibition.

Blame for student drinking is placed squarely on the shoulders of parents and the older generation by several of the best known college presidents. Out of 246 letters from college presidents not more than three indicate that students drink because of prohibition.

Rotate The Poultry
By Prof. W. B. Krueck
Diseases and parasites are one of the big problems of the poultryman. Soil sanitation can do much to eliminate these problems.

Rotating the hens and chicks on the farm is just as essential as rotating the crops. Most farmers have found crop rotation profitable but the hens have continued to inhabit the same soil year after year.

Poultry rotation means fencing and controlling the hens and chicks on the farm. Many farmers who object to his and the expense of fencing, but they will find that controlling the hens and controlling the feeding will mean more profit from the flock and better quality eggs for the market.

Before building any lot a definite plan should be adopted in order that satisfactory arrangement may be obtained when finished. In some cases the farm garden may be placed in the rotation scheme. The garden cultivation will be good for the hens and the hens will be good for the garden provided they are placed in the garden a year before the garden takes possession of that plot.

If a plan can be devised where at least three lots are available and whereby the hens will never be on the same soil more than once every three years the rotation will be much more successful in fighting disease and pests.

NOTES

By a Country Editor
Agricultural and Conservation Interests in the Ohio Department of Agriculture.

NEW REPORT ISSUED

The semi-annual report of the Ohio Division of Pests and Fertilizers, J. M. Odaffer, chief, for the last half of 1929, is now ready for the public. Those interested in feed stuffs, commercial fertilizers and agricultural lime and limestones, can secure these books free on request to the Department of Agriculture, Ohio-Hartman Building, Columbus.

HELPFUL HINTS
Chief Odaffer says that dealers in feeds and fertilizers should assure themselves that goods they handle are licensed, and thus relieve themselves of responsibility under the laws.

He also advises that various articles for analysis be sent to his division before writing—and this includes feed suspected of having an ill effect on poultry and animals, which happens very seldom.

Send samples of soil for analysis to the Soils Department, and insects to Entomology Department, Ohio State University, Columbus.

For information about poultry, to the Division of Poultry Husbandry, Ohio State University, or your county agent or Smith-Hughes teacher.

PHEASANT DAMAGE (?)
A few reports have drifted in to

The Conservation Division of damage done to newly planted corn in northern sections of the state. In this connection a game protector reported that a pheasant recently killed by an auto was examined and was found to have eaten nothing but cut worms. "In many instances these birds, feeding in corn fields, investigate the roots and stalks of young corn and, while doing some little damage, prove of valuable assistance to the farmer in removing worms and insect life that would in a short time ruin a large portion of a corn crop," declares a Conservation official.

FAIR RULING
Attorney General Gilbert Bettman recently ruled that, in counties having a county agricultural society that owns the fair grounds, the county commissioners may improve their fair grounds by installing lighting equipment or contribute a portion of the cost of such installation, if the commissioners believe such action is for the best interests of the county.

Bettman held, also, that funds appropriated by a board of county commissioners for the benefit of a county agricultural society are in the control of the county commissioners and should be spent by the county and not appropriated in a lump sum for the benefit of such society. The society, according to the attorney general, should not be permitted to use and distribute the funds as the society saw fit.

LANDS HUGE FISH
T. G. Patterson of Richmondale, landed a 54 1/2 pound shovel-head catfish from the Scioto river just below Richmondale recently, the largest fish taken from the stream this year and one of the largest taken in the region in recent years.

OHIO TREES GO EAST
Forty-four elm trees, each about 10 inches in diameter, were shipped from Geauga county to the manufacturing district of Potters Brees, Maryland, near Baltimore, where they will provide shade and beauty in a factory district. The trees made the journey from Chardon to the east on flat railroad cars 50 feet long.

Eighteen men, under the supervision of G. S. Williamson, of a tree service company of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., extracted the trees. The equipment for the work alone cost more than $2,000.

This work led to what is believed a new record in railroading. For when the trees were ready to be transported to Maryland, and loaded aboard the cars, it was discovered that wood, in its original state, was unlisted in railroad tariff books. It is believed that this is the first time in the history of modern transportation that trees have been shipped.

So favorable do eastern manufacturers regard the experiment with Geauga county elms, that they are planning to remove 300 more of them for similar purposes.
