VOTERS TO FACE COUNTY PRIMARY

Democrats Active in Richland County, While Republicans Head Huron List

Voters of Plymouth are once more faced with the problem of electing the right man at the county primaries on August 12. As the town is divided by the county lines, candidates for both Huron and Richland county offices will be voted on in Plymouth.

The Democratic party appears to be much more active in Richland as they have four nomination disputes to settle at the polls, while the Republicans have but one. The only G. O. P. man running for the same office are candidates for the position of county treasurer.

For Richland county the dispute of highest interest will probably be that between Judge J. W. Galbraith, and Atty. Charles H. Huston, both Democrats, for nomination as non-partisan candidate for Common Pleas court judgeship. The contest between John Hink (R) and Frank Cavé (D), present representatives for the general assembly, scheduled for the election in November, promises to be close and more than lively.

The candidates in Huron county for congress, Joe E. Baird (R), and W. L. Felsinger (D), will have no competition at the primaries. For the office of sheriff, both Democrats and Republicans have three candidates. The contest is waiting with interest the outcome of the G. O. P. race, as the present sheriff, H. D. Smith, and ex-sheriff E. F. Gregory will face the voters.

The Huron contestants in the field for congress is mainly a test of it; we saw Jerry Lema, Baird, and a new known Dr. and Judge Felsinger running.

NO. 61 MAY BE STATE HIGHWAY

Wald Sends Request to State Highway Board Members For 3C's Connection

SANDUSKY, June 19.—Impetus was given Wednesday to the movement to establish a new state highway from Sandusky south through Norwalk and Shelby to the Three C's highway near Centerville, when the Ohio Lake Erie Island District Association petitioned the State Highway Advisory Committee to include this route in its designation of new state highways for 1931.

Simultaneously, petitions were placed in circulation in Erie, Knox, Morrow, Huron and Richland counties asking the commissioners of the five counties to officially request the state to include the new route in the state highway system.

"New roads are added to the state highway system, not to exceed 200 miles per year, by the Highway Advisory Committee," said Attorney Frank H. Ward, Sandusky, counsel for Ohio Lake Erie Island District Association. "The schedule for this year has been filled, but the committee will meet in December to consider projects for 1931."

"A survey shows that only thirty-eight and three-tenths miles of road will have to be built, of which 2.75 miles is in Knox county, 24.65 miles in Morrow county, and 26.65 miles in Richland county. The counties, however, are required to furnish a 40-foot right of way for the road, and

SLOT MACHINES SEIZED BY COUNTY SHERIFF

Twenty alleged illicit slot machines operating in Huron county were seized last week by Sheriff Harry D. Smith and his department. The machines were taken to the county jail from the establishments where they were found.

Most of them were taken from gasoline stations or stands along route 20 outside of corporations, and the majority were worked on a strictly cash basis. A few were built to give gum or mint candy in exchange.

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM EXCHANGE NEWSPAPERS

Bechtel fined the culprit $100 and costs, and added a sentence of 30 days in the county jail. He was deprived of his driving license for six months.

Last Friday is the only Friday of the entire year that landed on the 13th of the month. Supposedly persons will not be required to worry until 1931, now that this Friday the 13th is past.

If you are bothered by mosquitoes, perhaps it is because you are wearing blue. According to reports from Paris, the insects are attracted to blue and repulsed by yellow. French entomologists made the discovery.

A feeble lamb two months old belonging to J. W. Snyder, of near Xenon, Ohio, died after blood poisoning developed. Being protected by 80 cc. of Mrs. Snyder's small patent serum for its protection. A specimen from the neck became subnormal and the poisoning developed.

OHIO HEROES POPULAR IN SCHOOL OF THE AIR

A number of talks by B. A. Aughlin, and L. W. Reese, concerning the famous war heroes who served in the State of Ohio met with enthusiastic response during the past school year.

KELLER RITES HELD TUESDAY

Plymouth Resident For Twenty Years Dies Saturday In Shelby.

Death called another citizen, when E. M. Keller, at the age of 78 years passed away Saturday morning at the home of a daughter, Mrs. J. Sehringer, in Shelby. Until a few months ago the deceased had resided with his daughter, Mollie Kelly, on the West Road near Plymouth.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Sehringer residence in Shelby.

Emanuel M. Keller, for the past 20 years a resident of Plymouth, died suddenly at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Sehringer in Shelby, June 14, 1930.

Mr. Keller was born in Auburn township, July 6, 1845. He was united in marriage Jan. 7, 1869, to Caroline Willford, who preceded him to the better after in 1919. To this union were born six children, two sons and four daughters, all of whom are still living.

About 20 years ago a small farm was purchased near the western limits of Plymouth where Mrs. Keller resided until 1919. To this union were born six children, two sons and four daughters, all of whom are still living.

Mr. Keller was a member of the Good Will Methodist church in Auburn, later his membership was transferred to the M. E. church in New Washington. ## HIMES TENDERS RESIGNATION

Will Move to Cambridge August First; Served Five Years As Local Pastor

A great surprise swept over the Lutheran congregation here Sunday when Rev. A. M. Himes tendered his resignation as pastor of the local pulpit to accept a similar position at Cambridge, Ohio. The resignation will become effective August first.

Rev. Himes and family moved to Plymouth five years ago last February from Lucas, and during their stay in town they have won for themselves many close friends. The talents of the Himes family have been a great asset to the town's activities, and the community at large will miss the presence.

Rev. Himes has unusual talent for leadership, especially among the younger people, and as director of the Lutheran Boys' Camp which is conducted each year at Camp Lubeca, has become known throughout the state.

The announcement Sunday morning was received with genuine regret for it has been many years since any pastor of the Lutheran church won the admiration of church members and townsmen alike.

Rev. Himes is extending Rev. Himes and his family congratulations on securing the church at Cambridge for the opportunities there are much greater than those of our local church.

No word was given out as to who would succeed Rev. Himes, but it was made known that there were several pastors under consideration.

JOHN E. REED RESIGNS POSITION

John E. Reed, instructor in Natural Science and Junior High Physical Education, has tendered his resignation to the Board of Education and has been accepted. Mr. Jason Marlin has been named his successor.

HAWK'S NEST ON GROUND IN VAN WERT COUNTY

A second report of a hawk's nest being found on the ground was brought into the Advertiser office Saturday night by R. L. Arnold, of near Plymouth, who noticed the article concerning William Ellis' find in the issue of last week.

A nest was found on the property of Oscar Bollhaug in Van Wert county, Ohio, near Van Wert, in a wheat field. A number of young birds were found and the old bird was detected descending to the nest. The incident occurred about 12 years ago.

The resolution passed at the request of County Treasurer John J. Charles sets the final day for tax payments at July 29th, which is a month's extension period.

Tax receipts at the present time fall short of the collections over: the corresponding period of last year. Property owners are urged to pay their assessments at the earliest possible time in order to avoid the rush which is generally experienced during the last few days of the collection period.

Taxes for Richland county are payable at the office of E. K. Trauger.

ROUTE 17 NAMED AFTER FRANKLIN

Road From Greenview West to Willard Is Part of Ben Franklin Highway.

NORWALK, June 19.—Route No. 17, which in Huron county extends from Greenview Center westward to a point just south of Willard, is now officially known as the Benjamin Franklin highway.

The name was given by Robert N. Wald, state highway commissioner on the request of the Ohio Benjamin Franklin Highway Association. This road extends eastward to Akron and westward to Tiffin and points further west.

This action was taken, John R. Williamson, of Findlay, promotion director of the highway association was informed, while commissioners of counties along the route were joining in a petition for adoption of the name. Commissioners of Van Wert, Putnam, Hancock, Huron, Seneca, Ashland, and Medina-co. have signed the petition and boards of Summitt, Mahoning and Portage-co. will be asked to sign.

Surveys for widening 15 miles in Seneca-co and for six miles of improvement in Hancock-co are being completed, Mr. Williamson said. It is probable, he declared, that contracts for this work will be awarded this year, although it is not expected that the projects will be completed. Other counties are also advancing work on the highway.

After a week's illness which was caused by an acute attack of nose-bleed, Chas. G. Miller, local furniture dealer, is again able to be out, to the delight of his many friends and acquaintances. A LOSS TO THE COMMUNITY

We regret very much to read of the resignation of Rev. A. M. Himes as pastor of the local Lutheran church. Rev. Himes has been with us the past four years and during the family's stay with us they have won for themselves a treasured position in our community life. As pastor of the local church Rev. Himes has filled the pulpit with the utmost satisfaction. He has led the way for better attendance, and a more devoted spiritual life. He has taken an unusual interest in our school and civic affairs as well as the musical circle of Plymouth, and other than the church it will be these channels that will miss him most.

We know that we speak the words of the community when we wish Rev. Himes and his family the best of luck and success in their new home at Cambridge, O. And we know that the community into which they are about to move will be benefited through their influence and true Christian traits. And so again we have to say "Au Revoir" to the ones whose friendship we cherish.

WHAT ABOUT THE COUNTY LINE

The Advertiser is informed that a certain stretch of the county line road, just off Mill street, is in very bad condition. The certain piece of road leads up a hill near the quarry and the rugged stones and deep ruts make it almost impassable to those who use it. From what we know about road building, it seems that a suitable ditch for drainage and a load of stone would put this strip in shape.

GOOD WORK, GENTLEMEN

Council certainly should receive a little praise for the work ordered done on our city's "by-streets." Five carloads of crushed stone were ordered for the improvement and so far four have been used. This will make quite a difference this winter when these streets almost become impassable.

Well, we guess the farmers will be the goat for another year. With the passage of the tariff wheat dropped below the dollar sign, as well as other commodities. And look what the stocks are doing. Guess it must be a reprisal from Wall Street.

The Russians are becoming modern in their warfare. At least Uncle Sam thinks so, for the Glen Martin company of Baltimore was asked to cancel over two millions in contracts for airships.

TOO FAST, WE AMERICANS

William Feather, who edits a house organ for a nationally known firm, and who, we believe, to be one of the most outstanding writers of this day, brings to us in a little sketch of life of which is so typical of "we Americans." And so we pass on to our readers the following:

"One of the common denominators of failure is haste to attain results.

"Most of us are too impatient. This fault, by the way, is peculiarly American. In England, at forty-five, a man is considered young and rising, whereas we regard forty-five—before we reach it—as old age. Sixty, in England, is considered the prime of life, the time for the best thinking and the best work.

"A young man, fresh from school, goes into business or into a profession. His usefulness is sadly limited by inexperience and un sound judgment. He does not realize that experience and judgment must be gained by the slow process of doing.

"So he quits his job, and tries himself out in another house. His restlessness leads to dissatisfaction with the new position. He again moves on, and becomes an interchangeable cog, and never the frame of a machine.

"With less haste this young man could lay a firmer foundation. I am one, who believes that ability will reveal itself and express itself under any circumstances, if given a reasonable amount of time. Every going business, small though it may be, contains the germ of a bigger business. Every job, no matter how insignificant, is the seed from which a better job can be grown, provided only that time is reckoned as a factor.

"The magazine advertisements, showing pictures of well-groomed young men giving whiskered directors the low-down on the company's sales strategy undoubtedly stimulate many to apply themselves more vigorously to their jobs. Others, however, are led to think that the reason the board of directors doesn't ask them for advice is not their own fault, but the fault of some condition over which they have no control. Indignation rises and fills their minds.

"Better that they concede they are not made of the same stuff as Alexander the Great, who at thirty had conquered the world, and having made his concession, they settle down to the conquest of themselves and their little corner.

"If this philosophy sounds depressing, I plead that it is practical. Further, it is safe. And finally, it is sure."

An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.

In addition to important triumphs in Germany, France and Italy, the Ford won six out of seven leading places in a contest in Finland, first and second in the Rafaela races in Argentina, first and second in the

By rigorous rule nature paints the apple blossom; never varying her formula, she lends spice and tang to peach and pear. In the intellectual realm, also, in proportion as men have not themselves under rule and compulsion, have they gone towards spontaneity of genius. Burns is a lyric poet, but David is the child of creative genius. "Morning and noon and night do I pray." For system holds the spirit in the future. "The Heroic in Modern Life" will be the theme for next Sunday, 11 a. m. Bible School, 10 a. m. The Young People's League, 7:30 p. m.

THANK YOU
Just a little line or two Of thanks to all my friends, Who came to see and sent me lines During my recent (meads),

There's always one time in a life When a friend can really be true And that is when someone is sick, And is sad, and lonesome and blue.

The days were long—the pains were there But I did not mind a bit. 'Cause I always looked forward For a friend to come and by my bedside sit.

I only hope that I Can repay your home soon.

But may it be for a birthday—same, Or even a honeymoon.

Story of Fire Here Given by Resident

Something with a tang of mystery is always interesting. Last week we asked for any information regarding a fire in 1846 which apparently caused some comment in Plymouth among our citizens of that time. A notice was found by Emerson Dickson in a box of old receipts and papers belonging at one time to his grandmother, of a package lost at the scene of a fire, and reward offered for return of same.

The following was sent to Dickson in response to his query:

George Hanick was eleven years old in 1846.

Among his reminiscences which has been handed down to his family is as follows:

On the southeast corner of the square which is now the Plymouth Hardware Co., stood a frame building occupied by Lyman E. Strong, who ran a boarding house.

A young man by the name of Sam Robison came to town from Sandusky to run the elevator which spanned the railroad tracks. The railroad track had not been laid at this time. The elevator stood north of the present railroad bridge. Robison boarded with Strong in the little frame building. In the middle of the night a fire broke out. Sam Robison had $200.00 in gold under his pillow. In his excitement and fright he threw the bag containing the money out the window thinking after he got his clothes on he could go out and pick it up.

There were several "on lookers" at the fire before Robison got down stairs. Robison never recovered the money but the suspicion was, as the story goes, that one of the onlookers afterwards made extensive improvements to his little building which now stands on the Public Square and is a flourishing business place. The boarding house was rebuilt and occupied by Spencer and Wright who were dry goods merchants. The second building burned, and in 1870 the present brick block was built.

Hanck Sisters, for their mother. We wish to thank Ms. Hanick, Miss Grace Hanick, Miss Daisy Hanick, and Mr. Dickson for their interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hatch and daughter Doris, motored to Bucyrus Sunday and called on relatives. Miss Doris remained to spend this week.

100 CHILDREN'S BOOKS ON LIBRARY SHELVES

During the summer the child of school age should find plenty of time to read, and to assist him in correct and beneficial reading the local public library has secured a set of 100 children's books.

These books are used as supplementary reading material in the Mansfield schools during the school term, and are loaned to the County Library for use during the summer months.

Why not have your child take advantage of them?

A number of books by Roy Chapman Andrews have been received for the readers that enjoy his works. "Tourist's Adventure" and "Edge of the Jungle" are also on the shelves. These books by William Beebe were ordered on request.

Lord Dunsany is also represented by a number of his books.

Mr. and Mrs. John Heister before leaving Plymouth, presented the Library with a number of volumes, "Camille" being among them.

CONDITIONS RETURN TO NORMAL AT REFORMATORY

Conditions in the reformatory at Mansfield are returning to normal again after the excitement and restlessness caused by the tragic fire at the Ohio Penitentiary, Columbus.

On Thursday a near-riot was quelled in the dining hall where about 2,000 prisoners engaged in raising a disturbance after entering for their evening meal. Guards were forced to use physical restraint and though no serious injury resulted, several inmates were struck.

All available police were summoned to prevent any further outbreak. Superintendent C. Jenkins arranged extra guards on Friday. As the convicts transferred from the Ohio penitentiary eat at a different time, only the reformatory prisoners were concerned in the riot.

WILLARD RESIDENTS IN MANSFIELD ROAD ACCIDENT

Two Willard women were slightly injured on the Mansfield-Shelby road last week when the machine in which they were riding was struck by a heavy Nash.

A Ford roadster, driven by Ralph Kuntz, of Willard, in which Mrs. Earl C. Kimmel, and her daughter, Alma, were riding, was hit by Oscar Fronts who turned to the main highway from a side road. The Ford was turned over and slid about 150 feet. Both victims were taken to the Shelby Hospital where they were given medical treatment for the cuts and bruises suffered.

SHIP BUILT BY SHELBY MAN CRASHES ON TRIAL

An experimental airplane constructed by Roy Pieter, of Shelby, crashed after Max J. Zimmerman, also of Shelby, had raised the ship about 100 feet from the Bourgeois airport on the Mansfield-Shelby road.

The ship was tall heavy and settled on its landing gear careening and damaging the landing gear and propeller. Some changes will be made and the ship tried out again in the near future.

HULDAH DAVIS IMPROVES

WILLARD TO LOSE IF SHOPS LEAVE TOWN

WILLARD—Willard would experience almost a ruinous loss to the growth and financial stability of the community if the B. O. shops are moved from this place to Akron.
Willard has been fearing the removal of the shops through the pending merger of railroads which would affect the B. & O.
The company employs 1225 people from this terminal expending a monthly pay roll of $150,000 much of which is spent with Willard stores.
The value of the new railroad property here is $3,389,000 and taxes paid last year were $18,850.
Although reports say the lines may move the local shops to Tiffin, Garrett, Ind., or other places, local business people believe that the merger would mean the strengthening of Willard at a terminal point.
It is also believed that the company would not have recently increased the size of the Y. M. C. A. here one-third of its former size if high officials did not know that more men rather than fewer would run into this terminal.

Slack freight business on the B. & O. is offset somewhat by extra heavy passenger business and many extra trains have been run in the past week and regular trains are reported to carry more than the usual number of passengers. Although there has been depression in business, the B. & O. lines have not been as hard hit as some of the other roads.

BELLEVEUE CUT-OFF MAY CAUSE FILING OF CLAIMS

Asserting that damages amounting to $25,000 are caused by the abandonment of the part of Road No. 29, east of Bellevue, which has been proposed, claims were submitted to the state highway department. About 40 people alleged that the cut-off will decrease the value of property or shut down trade.
The Standard Oil Company presented a claim of $100,000, stating that sales of its products had been decreased as a result of the cut-off road. The smallest claim amount to $1,000.
It is proposed by the state to close the old road at the triple crossing and give an outlet to the cut-off routes by the way of the Prairie road. This action has been considered for years, but no definite move was taken until 19 persons were killed in a bus accident in January of last year.
If traffic is allowed to use the triple crossing, the N. Y. C. and W. and L. Steam and the L. S. E. systems will refuse to pay the $5,500 each corporation had agreed to pay to cover the cost of improvement. Prosecutor E. G. Martin, Norwalk, served as representative of the county and state.

HOW TO GROW YOLLS

FINE EARLY PULLETS
By J. H. Bowdler.
Pullets that are fully matured and have sufficient body weight to stand the strain of continual high egg production throughout the winter months, when egg prices are relatively high, is the thing all poultrymen most desire.
To secure this the selection of the stock is one of the first important steps. Every breed has a strain developed for this purpose. Prof. T. C. Charles at the New Hampshire State University says that he had bred three different strains of Rhode Island Reds last year and grew them under the same conditions. One strain matured at 155 days while the other two strains were one month and two months later in maturing, respectively.
The next important thing is to have them hatched early in the spring as they will grow faster and mature quicker, comparatively, if they are hatched in March rather than in May. During the summer months the young chickens will not grow as fast because they seek the shelter more, consequently they do not eat as much and do not develop at the same rate.
Next the chicks should have an all mash mixture containing both the animal and vegetable types of protein from many different sources. All mash starter should have about 17 per cent protein to best satisfy the chicks' food requirements. This should be fed about six weeks then all mash grower that contains a little less protein should be given the birds for the next six weeks.
During the entire life of the pullets they should be given enough hoppers and water troughs to allow all the birds to eat and drink at all times. Seven feet of hopper space for every 100 chicks or 10-14 feet for every 100 pullets is recommended.
Pullets should be grown on a summer range with a plentiful supply of green feed in quarters that are not crowded, to insure early pullets. It is also advisable to furnish shade during the hot summer months so that the pullets can keep cool at all times. Birds should be taught to roost early and care exercised to see that enough roosting space is allowed for each pullet, also that they go to roost and not bunch on the floor at night.
