FALL FESTIVAL BEING PLANNED

Merchants and Advertiser Plan For Big Three-Day Event On September 25-26-27

Harvest—what a world of wonders is suggested! Fall, the maturity of the year when everything has reached its zenith, offers to all the wages of the yearly labor. Even the colors representative of Fall are not tints but rich, flaming shades, flaming red, intense blue, rich brown.

Autumn is the time of year for the blood to tingle with adventure, for the frost mornings, for the work of the crop, for the spilling of the burrs of the chestnuts—and for Fall festivals.

Plymouth is in the fore with all its enterprising communities as her merchants prepare for the best Fall Festival ever planned. The dates set are September 25-26-27. Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week. One of those red-letter days at Plymouth business men will make special offerings for this big event.

The "home-town paper" is planning to cooperate to the fullest extent to make the Fall Festival a success, and will issue extra copies so that all of Plymouth, Greenwich, Shiloh, Bough-townville, Tiro, North Fairfield, New Haven, Willard, Celeryville and all the surrounding rural communities will be served. One of the best and biggest papers in the history of the Advertiser will be published.

Fall exhibits, Fall styles, Fall announcements—proof that this season of the year is the time of increased activity, and of renewed vigor.

Why not help make Plymouth's Fall Festival a big success.

Massa Will Die in Electric Chair On Jan. 2 For Murder

On January 2—Fred J. Massa, Mansfield's "no-no-well" will give his life in the electric chair in part payment for the life of Ralph Wilcox, 29-year old Galion gas station attendant.

Judge J. Walter Wright, of Crawford county common pleas court pronounced sentence Saturday morning, Massa has been taken to the penitentiary at Columbus where he will await execution.

Motion for a new trial asked by Atty. Edward J. Moyers, of Bucyrus, was over-ruled.

No comment was made on the sentence by the convicted man, who received his sentence. He immediately asked for a cigar. Before leaving for Columbus, Massa sent a sealed note to his mother in Mansfield.

Kenneth McCarthy, of Mansfield, the second of the trio of murderers, went on trial Monday morning, before Judge Wright. McCarthy is known as the "brains" of the group, and has confessed to a long series of obnoxious crimes.

On September 23rd, Earl Sites will go on trial. Judge Wright increased the time between sentence and execution slightly over the 100 days required by law in Ohio, because of the Christmas season.

Mrs. John Postema Passes Away Sunday

Mrs. Jacoba Workman Postema, 74, of Celeryville, passed away from this life Sunday afternoon at the Willard Municipal Hospital.

She had been in failing health for some time, and was taken to the hospital for observation and treatment on Sunday morning when her condition became quite serious.

Mrs. Postema was born in Groen-Zand, Netherlands, on July 20th, 1856, and came to this country at the age of sixteen and was married to John Postema on February 11th, 1875 in Grand Rapids, Mich. They came to Celeryville in 1905 and have since made their home there.

To mourn her loss is left the husband, John Postema, 71 children, 21 grandchildren, and one great-grandchild. Her passing will also be mourned by the many friends which she has made during the span of her life. The eleven children are: Mrs. Chris Laarman, Marion, Mich.; Mrs. Geo. Carmelle, Marlinton, Mich.; Mrs. Clarence Harwood, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Mrs. Corveth Ricefeld, Mrs. Eiko Cok, Mrs. Jacob Wiers, Mrs. Wm. Dykstra and Harry, Sam, Tom and Miss Ruby, all of Celeryville.

She was a life-long member of the Christian Reformed Church and was always a faithful mother, hard working, and loved by all those who knew her.

In February of this year, on the anniversary of her marriage day, the entire family returned to the Celeryville home. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 from the Christian Reformed church with Rev. F. Struyk officiating. Burial was in a New Haven cemetery.

TENTATIVE JURORS NAMED FOR TRIAL OF MCCARTHY

The eleven tentative jurors selected for the Kenneth McCarthy murder trial include: Mrs. Estella Beal, Bucyrus; A. H. Struach, Crestline; J. F. Guntner, Chatham; Harvey Cole, Tiro; George F. Donnell, Bucyrus; Charles C. Stephan, Tiro; Daniel Keiser, Sulphur Springs; Leander Shellhorn, Sycamore; Mrs. Clara Miller, Chatfield; Robert Lamb, Bucyrus; and John L. Secrist, Bucyrus.

According to officials only eight names remained in the special venire drawn by officials after the original panel had been exhausted yesterday afternoon.

Prosecutor Sears and Atty. Cobb were free in their use of peremptory challenges. Each side exercised five tentative jurors by that method. So far no witness has been subpoenaed. No line of defense has been announced for the man known as the "brains" behind the murder of Ralph Wilcox, Galion gas station attendant.

Chicken dinners every Wednesday and Sunday—and what chicken—enjoyed at Bradford's Restaurant.

REV. L. SITTLER DENIES CHARGE

Inmate's Recant of Statement Is Evidently Plan of Stalling For Time

Compete denial of any interest in a plan to bring about the removal of Superintendent T. C. Jenkins from the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield, has been made by the ex-chaplain, Rev. L. A. Sittler, present pastor of the local Evangelical Lutheran church.

The recanting of a statement made by a prisoner, who previously testified as witness to a liquor transaction between a fellow inmate and the son of the superintendent was recently made public and is directly answered by the statement of Rev. Sittler: "Hodge, it is plain to anyone who understands the psychology of a prisoner before the Board of Clemency, changed his statement because by agreement with the superintendent he would enhance the chances of parole. The prisoner before the board is concerned only about his liberty, and sometimes will sacrifice his own honor and respect for the sake of gaining his point."

It is logical to suppose that Hodge's recanting is correct, since the pressure of intimidation was used against him to my knowledge. Least of all were there any privileges or inducements by way of a bribe offered. One question is pertinent: What could I hope to gain by bribing or even inducing a prisoner to make an untrue statement?"

In a statement several weeks ago, the Rev. Mr. Sittler charged that an investigation and firing was needed at the Reformatory. His charge was reinforced by statements made by former disciplinarian W. A. McFadden, R. J. Keagy, ex-printing plant foreman, Richard Wilson, an inmate who was found intoxicated, and Hodge.

Rev. Sittler continues, "To be open charged by a prisoner with the serious charge of bribery in what I believe an effort to influence the prisoner to make incriminating statements con-

Milo Hartz Passes Away at Shelby

Funeral services for Milo Wilham Hartz, 70-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hartz of Shelby were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sutter Funeral Home in Shelby with burial made in Greenlawn cemetery, Plymouth, O.

Milo went home from school sick on Wednesday and was taken to Shelby Memorial Hospital Friday where an operation for obstruction of the bowels was performed but early Saturday morning he passed away. Last November he underwent an operation for appendicitis and seems he had not regained his former health.

Besides his parents, he is survived by one brother, Wayne, 7 years old, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Hale of Plymouth, his Grandmother Hartz of Shelby, besides a number of other relatives. One sister preceded him in death some years ago.

Milo is well known here having visited his grandparents on numerous occasions. He was also born in Plymouth, moving with his family about seven years ago. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones.

Condition of Lud Considered Serious

The condition of Frederick Buzzard, 12, is considered very critical at the Mansfield General Hospital where he has been confined since Thursday. The accident occurred near the Trust street bridge when the boy was struck by an auto driven by a Mr. Meade of Mansfield, near noon.

The driver, according to eye witnesses, cannot be held for the tragedy as the boy jumped from the running board of another car directly into the path of Meade's machine. It is thought that the car struck him before he fell to the ground.

Immediate medical aid was given by Dr. George Seard. Examination at the hospital revealed three bad skull fractures, an injury to the wrist, and under-ruled internal injuries. The lad is conscious only intermittently, but little hope is held for complete recovery.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Buzzard of Carey, Ohio, but resides with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Buzzard on Mills street and attends the local school.

OLD COVERED BRIDGE TO BE REPLACED BY ONE OF MODERN PATTERNS

The new bridge to span the Clearfork in the Belleville-Butler highway is under discussion, and decision will be reached shortly, according to County Engineer A. L. Allen.

The old wooden structure which was demolished recently by the weight of a truck which was too much for the antique planks, will be replaced by a construction of modern type.

The county official conferred with State Division Engineer Anderson of Ashland, who will discuss the proposition with State Director Wade at Columbus. It is hoped that the bridge will be completed this fall, and that the location will be slightly changed so as to eliminate a too sharp curve which existed with the old covered bridge.

The type of construction and material is not fully decided as yet.

C. E. Convention in Germany Reported at Wooster Conference

Those who attended the Wooster Presbytery Young People's conference at Wooster last Friday were Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Miller, William Wacker, James Coe, Rev. Trol, Freddie Keeler, Richard Majors, Harold Miller, Iden Jackson, Lois Miller, Lois Teal, Helen Dick, and Rhea Kendrick.

Among the interesting things at the conference, was a report of the Christian Endeavor convention at Berlin, Germany, in July. Miss Helen Craig of Mansfield gave the report. She said that eighteen thousand delegates were present. Six hundred delegates were from the United States. Upon arrival in Germany, the American delegates were given American flags, which they kept concealed until they arrived at the convention hall. German flags were also given the American delegates.

The Americans unconsciously wrapped the American flag around the German flag. As the Americans passed groups of Germans from time to time, it was noticed that the Germans were in tears. It was learned later that the Germans were overjoyed because the Americans showed as much warm friendship by wrapping the American flag around the German flag.

Miss Craig further stated that every where the Americans were greeted with bands playing the German hymn, "A Mighty Fortress is Our God." In the convention hall eighteen thousand people prayed the Lord's Prayer in twenty four different languages. There were sixty-three languages spoken at the convention. It was like another Pentecost.

At the close of the convention, a great circle was formed, and all joined hands and sang, "Blessed Be The Tie That Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love," and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." Miss Craig stated that in all that vast assembly of eighteen thousand young people and their leaders, there was not a dry eye. Every one was in tears, so overcome with emotion, because of the friendship manifested between people that only a dozen years ago, were at war with each other.

BELLEVUE-MANSFIELD BRANCH OF HIGHWAY TO BE DEDICATED SEPT. 26

The Belleville-Mansfield branch of the Sherman highway will be dedicated Friday night, September 26th, at Belleville, if plans being made by the Sherman Highway association are carried out.

The date is made twice as important by the fact that the 26th is the second day of the Belleville homecoming.

Gov. Myers Cooper will be invited to attend the meeting and officially dedicate that section of the highway, which marks the first state road across Ohio.

STATE FAIR DID WELL DESPITE CONDITIONS

The drought and alleged depression did not seriously affect attendance at the Ohio State Fair this year according to official reports.

The total attendance for the week this year was 21,368 short of the 1929 figures. Total receipts from all sources ran about $30,000 less than in 1929, the banner year in Fair history.

Director Green and other fair officials are well pleased with the attendance and receipts this year. Both attribute a lot of credit to the newspaper of the state for the outcome.

CONTRACT GIVEN FIRM FOR ELECTION EQUIPMENT

The Columbus Blank Book Co. of Columbus, was awarded the contract for the furnishing of all books, tally sheets and other necessary equipment for the November election, at a meeting of the county board of elections held Friday evening.

The printing will cost $719, this being the lowest of three bids submitted. Other bidders were The Johnson-Watson Co., Dayton, $754.50, and the Printing Co., Columbus, $774.50.

The election board also fixed 7:30 o'clock, the evening of Sept. 26th, as the time, and the Probate court room as the place, for a meeting at which registrars of each voting precinct will attend and receive instructions.

P. H. S. TOTALS 156 STUDENTS

Second Successful Week Ends Tomorrow Under Direction of Supr. R. R. Miller

The increased drawing power of the new high school building on Sandusky street and the attraction of the new systems and organizations of the school have served to increase the attendance to quite an extent.

A total of 156 is recorded for the 14-31 terms of Junior and senior high, with a division of 81 boys and 75 girls. Twenty more students made application for education this fall than reported one year ago.

The seventh grade lists the greatest number with 16 boys and 22 girls, totaling 38. Eighth grade, 14 boys and 6 girls; Freshman class, 14 boys and 16 girls; Sophomore class, 13 boys and 8 girls; Junior class, 13 boys and 11 girls; Senior class, 11 boys and 12 girls.

The Senior class promises to be the largest class to graduate from Plymouth High School, surpassing all other classes by a distinct margin.

The first week of school was more than successful, the regular work being picked up immediately, no delays being made in organizing for the year. Plans made by Superintendent R. R. Miller and his assistants worked out quite smoothly, and with the exception of ordering a few more textbooks to meet the increased demand, no change of system or work was necessary. Co-operation between instructor and pupil is fine.

The first chapel service of the year was conducted Wednesday morning, by Rev. L. A. Sittler, pastor of the local Lutheran church, who presented a splendid talk to the students.

Many activities are planned for the fall and early winter, among them being the production of "That's That" a musical comedy staged by John B. Rogers company.

School Problems for Traffic Study

Authorities Should Stress Teaching of Highway Safety in All Schools.

Now that schools are open for the fall term, the teaching of public safety, too much stress cannot be laid upon the responsibility of school authorities to train and instruct pupils in accident prevention.

Modern traffic conditions have created a new problem that highway and school authorities must face, and they should point out to the children the dangers of the highways and how to avoid them. Pupils should be taught how and when to cross streets and highways. They should be warned not to play on the highways, to walk on the highways only when necessary, and to walk on the left side facing traffic.

Another good safety rule for school children is to walk in solid groups, and not in a scattered formation. One of the best safety measures, where a school is close to a trunk highway or other busy thoroughfares, is to have them taken across by a policeman, or an employee of the school.

The use of a flag or stop sign to be held in the hand by the officer or person using the group across is recommended. The use of a portable "stop" or "slow" sign, set on the highway, has not proven satisfactory, it is found. They are effective only if removed after the children have crossed the road.

The state department believes that school signs should be uniform, and should be carried in two to three. One is the standard school warning sign, permanently placed on the right hand. This sign calls attention to the hazard, but does not compel drivers to slow down. The other is the sign held in the hand while children are crossing.

LIGHT GRADE OF TAR TO LAY HIGHWAY DUST

An experiment being watched with much interest is that of applying a light grade of tar on State Route No. 70, several miles east of Troy in Miami County, as a dust preventative.

Application has been made to several miles of road and so far seems a success. A light grade of tar is used which will lay the dust and will not form a crust on the surface of the road.

WHEN BIG SHOTS RULE

In the northern part of Ohio there is a very exclusive little village of some 27 inhabitants, nearly all of whom are millionaires. This village, like all others, has its own government; but this village is unique in that all of its elected officials are rich business men. The mayor, the councilmen and so on are, in their private lives, high-pressure executives accustomed to large affairs, enamored of efficiency and bred to the orderly conduct of things.

As a result, one would expect this village to have a city hall fairly reeking with good government.

However, a state examiner recently looked into affairs and reported sadly that such was not the case. He intimated that somehow these titans of the business world had found the task of running their own village a bit too much for them. The council had not met as often as it should, the mayor had failed to sign documents he should have signed, certain needed ordinances had failed of passage through oversight and village funds had been spent without proper authority.

There was nothing improper, of course; no graft, no padded payrolls or anything of that kind. There was just a bit of governmental slovenliness, that was all. The village fathers were dozing at their posts.

This is highly unimportant, of course, but it is rather interesting, and if one tried hard enough one probably could draw some sort of moral out of it.

Every so often someone advances the idea that our city, state and national governments would become, overnight, all that they ought to be if only their various posts could be manned by real business men. The business man has a passion for efficiency and accuracy. He likes to see every subordinate do a full day's work and he lives to see every dollar in expenditures bring back a dollar's worth of results. These wholly desirable things are not always visible in governmental affairs; hence, it is argued the remedy is to fill the big jobs with business men and let them hop to it.

Perhaps it would work beautifully; but there are valid grounds for being skeptical. Executive talents that can be exercised admirably in a private office tend to go under a blight when they are transferred to a city hall or a state house. The Ohio village mentioned above is a case in point.

As a matter of fact—to leave this diminutive village out of it—the defects we observe in government are generally the defects that are inherent in democracy itself. All along the line, we get just the kind of government we deserve. Giving the jobs to the big shots of the business world will never help so long as we stick to our old habit of sitting on the sidelines and letting governmental organizations run themselves.

WHAT PUZZLES EUROPE

If you ever wonder why Europeans tend to look upon Americans as a strange and incomprehensible people, you might give a little attention to the recent dispatches concerning Mr. Jack (Legs) Diamond.

Legs Diamond is a New York racketeer, rapidly gaining a Manhattan reputation as a sort of small-scale Capone. Not long ago, thirsting for the broadening effects of travel, he sailed for Europe.

His liner got to England and the British authorities, forewarned as to his antecedents, refused to let him in.

Thereupon he went to Belgium. The Belgian police met him at the dock, trotted to the German frontier and turned him loose—possibly as a belated reprisal for the indignity of 1914.

In no time at all the Germans arrested him. Having been tipped off that he was a director of various criminal enterprises and a highly dangerous man, they immediately wired New York and announced that they were holding him; would New York please send and get him?

The surprise came when New York replied that it didn't want him. In a broad sense, of course, that was understandable; but New York meant that it had no criminal charges ready to place against him, had no cell yawning for him and, on the whole, had no reason to deprive him of his liberty.

This was the sort of thing that the Europeans found themselves unable to assimilate.

Here was a notorious "bad man" on the loose. England, Belgium and Germany, in rapid succession, gave him short shift, and the Germans thoughtfully and tactfully arrested him so that his home town could deal with him as he deserved; and then the home town announced that it wasn't interested! It had him down in its list as a racketeer, but it couldn't do anything about it. As far as New York was concerned he was free as the air, and he could come home any time he wanted to.

It is hardly surprising if Europe finds this a bit thick. In Europe they have different ways of dealing with crooks and high-binders. They do not give them the freedom of the city until such time as they obligingly commit murders under the eyes of the mayor. Politicians do not befriended them. The law and the courts do not throw out protecting technicalities to shelter them. The criminal is harried and hounded—and, as a result, does not thrive. Our way is different. Here we make national figures out of them. We call them "kings of the underworld," or some such flamboyant title, and leave them strictly alone. We revel in accounts of their misdeeds but we do not dream of punishing them. And they flourish, consequently as the green bay tree.

POTATO PROSPECTS IN UNITED STATES WILL TOTAL LESS THAN 1929

Potato production now seems likely to total less than 340,000,000 bushels which would be nearly 6 per cent smaller than the light production of 350,000,000 bushels last year, 14 per cent below the 5-year average crop from 1924 to 1928 and only about 6 per cent larger than the very short crop of 321,000,000 bushels in 1925.

The prospective 1930 crop represents a per capita supply of 2.75 bushels which is slightly less than the lowest amount previously recorded—2.75 in 1925 and 2.83 in 1914. The per capita production last year was about 2.91 and in 1928, 3.80 bushels.

The spread of the drought into the more northerly States and the tending effect of the extreme temperatures during July and August are accountable for the 9 per cent decline in production prospects since August 1. The average yield now expected, for the country as a whole is 97.4 bushels, compared with 106.7 last year and 109.0, the average for the period 1919 to 1928. The 1930 yield, based on conditions reported on September 1, is the lowest since 1921.

Decline in crop prospects was particularly sharp in the more important late shipping States in the eastern part of the country, particularly in Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania. Some of the loss was foreseen early in August but with the continued lack of beneficial rains, earlier indications of the reduction to be expected were surpassed. While the effect of heat and insufficient moisture are responsible for the loss in most of the States, in Maine the decline in crop prospects is due to excessive rains resulting in extensive blight and serious root damage. From later reports, it is anticipated that further losses will be sustained in this important northeastern source of supply. Adequate rains, on the other hand, can cause material improvement in the prospects in the States where the crop has suffered a setback from heat and drought. Prospects continue good in New Jersey and in most of the important shipping States, particularly Idaho and Colorado.

 Health check to be made for physical education.
 The following letter is directed to the parents of the children of the Cass township schools:
 Cass Township Public Schools, Shiloh, Ohio, Sept. 15, 1930.
 Dear Parents:
 We solicit your assistance, and hope to be of service to you.
 According to section 7721-1 of the General Code, of Ohio, "All pupils in the elementary and secondary schools of the state shall receive as part of their instruction, such physical education, as may be prescribed by the director of education, and the physical education provided shall occupy not less than 10 minutes per school week."
 To protect your child, yourself and the school as it carries forward this required program, a physical examination is necessary. This may be cared for in two ways:
 1. For those parents who prefer not to desire the certificate of examination, same may be made by your family physician, and a certificate of same filed with the school for record.
 2. For those who may feel that such an examination should be cared for by the state in meeting this requirement, the examination may be and is made by a representative of the county commission of health as is provided by section 7721-2 of the code of Ohio. In order that we may be entirely fair to all who are concerned with this matter, we shall ask that if you desire to have the examination conducted by your own physician, that you do so at once or so that the certificate may be presented to the school on or before Sept. 24.
 After that date all pupils who have not been examined, and a certificate presented, will be examined under the direction of the Department of Health for the school.
 In case the parent wishes to be in attendance at the examination of the child, notice will be given, if possible, of the day the doctor and nurse will be at the school building.
 Either the certificate issued by the family physician or the Department of Health will be accepted as a preliminary examination for participation in the interscholastic games in the high school, no other will be required, but parental consent for such participation is required before the child becomes a member of such a squad.
 Should you have inquiry to make in this matter, please call Shiloh, 109, and we shall be glad to make arrangements for conferences on the matter.
 Very sincerely yours,
 (Signed) Paul H. Weaver,
 Superintendent of Schools.

SPORT SHAVINGS

By Barber
Now that "Happy School Days" are here again, we are naturally wondering how our local institution of knowledge stands as per the Sport Situation. —And Then—

Cross country will be featured as the major fall sport. Cross country as run by high schools, is over course of two and one-half miles, the team or teams scoring the lowest number of points being the winner. The scoring is based on the way that the men finish, the first man is counted one point, the second two, etc. The coach may enter as many men as he chooses, but as a rule only the first six are scored. —And Then—

Plymouth Hi has a number of dual meets, and in November they go to the state meet at Columbus, where they will see Ohio State's football machines in action.

A Brief Sketch Of a New Home

What is more inviting than the hearth-fire of a new home? Nothing possibly could be. At 29 North street stands a new home, the first that Plymouth has builded for a long time.

The new residence of Mr. and Mrs. Stacy Brown and family is of old Dutch Colonial style, with some modernizations, and stands well back on a terraced lawn that will be green.

The house itself is ivory with a shingled roof of deft blue and sage green coated next spring. The cement-floored porch, with no railing, extends across the entire front of the house, with the door opening on the right side.

A storm door protects the heavy main door. The latch is of cast brass, and patterned after an antique model found in northern old New England. All wood work in the small vestibule, living room and dining

SELECTION OF HEIFER CALVES FOR PRODUCTION CONSIDERED IMPORTANT

By PROF. WALTER B. KREUCK

It has taken many hours of labor to build some of the substantial buildings of every community. Did you ever realize how quickly you can destroy the efforts that were exerted in building these buildings?

A few sticks of dynamite in each one of these large buildings can destroy them in a very few seconds. The recent dairy situation may be dynamite to a great many dairy herds unless the dairyman himself has full faith in his industry.

It takes about three years to build a dairy cow and bring her into production. The present dairy situation can be materially changed in a period of three years and the "in-and-out" may find himself scrambling for good dairy stock at that time. The wise dairyman is still continuing to save his good heifer calves.

Many folks may be asking themselves whether there is really going to be a demand for these calves. We know that the present situation will have a tendency to eliminate the inefficient cow. As people are learning the value of milk and its products for human food, the demand for dairy products should continue to increase.

There are still thousands of boys and girls in every large city in the United States who are not obtaining the amount of dairy products which they should have. With more educational work to carry the message of the value of dairy production for human food, it should soon create a demand for replacing the "boarder" cows that will be eliminated and by the time that the present calves are grown to production age they will undoubtedly find plenty of demand.

Even during the rather low prices in dairy marketing, the real efficient cow in the herd has still made a little profit for the feeder. There will always be a demand for this efficient type of cow and it would be absolutely wrong to market the heifer calves from this type of cow. We are quite confident that there will be a real demand for them by the time they are grown and ready for production.

Furthermore, the recent dairy situation should arouse and inspire all dairy extension agencies toward exerting greater efforts to place before the public more effectively the true value of their products from a nutritional standpoint.

With the proper concentration of efforts and the large consuming centers, the consumption of dairy products can still be improved materially over present conditions.

CANNING SEASON IS ON AT OHIO PENITENTIARY

Vegetables and melons have been sent in by the cart load to the Ohio Penitentiary from the prison farms and as a result the prisoners have been faring very well in spite of the drought.

They have been served roasting ears, tomatoes, beans, peas, beets and new potatoes. Inmates are busy canning for other state institutions. A great deal of fruit was also garnered from the prison farms. The tin shop has been working overtime to take care of the canning industry and as a result menus at numerous state institutions will be greatly benefited.

Here it is—25¢ plate lunch special at Bradford's Restaurant.

PURCHASED FARM

Oran W. Lake of Plymouth township purchased the White farm west of Shelby from the heirs of the White estate thru F. J. Holtz.

SIDEWALKS DISCUSSED FOR IMPORTANT TRUNK HIGHWAYS AND ROADS

Sidewalks for important trunk highways are being studied by the American society of Municipal Improvements. Some States are already experimenting.

There can be no disputing the desirability of such walks, says a highway bulletin. They would save lives of pedestrians especially at night. And they would also ease the nerve strains that goes with driving, also this benefit doubtless. "It is partly nullified by the refusal of the "pedestrian thumbers" to stay on the walks.

But granting their desirability, are sidewalks as necessary as the completion, with all possible speed, of highway paving programs? Should money surely needed for the roads themselves be diverted to sidewalk building? To put it another way, should these improvements be financed out of state road funds, or should they be optional with and paid by the communities they serve? The just method would be to have them paid for locally, inasmuch as the foot traffic is almost entirely local. A start might be made with the construction of narrow and inexpensive walks, well back on the highway shoulders, on stretches of road entering villages and in the vicinity of rural schools.

ELIMINATION ASSURED FOR RAILWAY CROSSINGS IN 1930 ROAD PROGRAM

The elimination of dangerous railway crossings in Mansfield and in other districts of Richland County, was discussed and acted upon at a conference with city and county officials and State highway director, Robert N. Wadd, at Columbus, as a part of the 1931 road program.

County Engineer A. L. Allen, and Mansfield's city service-safety director, A. D. Rowlands state that the prospects for immediate action on projects under discussion for years are good. The crossing of the Baltimore and Ohio tracks on the West, Fourth street road by means of an over-pass is an assured fact.

It will be necessary for county commissioners and the Mansfield city council to adopt new resolutions asking for state aid on the proposed elimination, but all officials feel quite sure that all resolutions will be successful. The act is necessary because of the grade crossing elimination laws enacted by the general assembly about two years ago, making the former application for state aid invalid.

Cost of the overpass will be divided by state, federal government, railroad, county and city as follows:

The B. & O. R. R., 65 per cent of that portion of the work which passes over the railroad right of way; state 25 per cent of total cost, county, 12 1/2 per cent and city 12 1/2 per cent.

The matter of eliminating the Pennsylvania railroad crossing on the same road just east of Crestline was also touched upon at the conference and applications for state aid on this project will probably be presented at the same time the other one is filed. This is only a preliminary move however to place the matter before the state and no attempt will be made to push this matter until the B. & O. project is definitely under way.

STATE SCHOOL FOR DEAF ENROLLS 520 STUDENTS

deaf or partially deaf and are taught how to earn a living, and in main, taught the same general things that boys and girls who are not handicapped by being deaf.

Some new courses offered by Dr. Jones are chemistry, commercial photography, hair dressing, and auto spraying. There is also 50 per cent increase in printing projects. Dr. Jones this September begins his 37th year of service in this school where boys and girls who are residents of the state are educated and boarded free.

IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED GREENWICH TWP. ROADS

"Caught Short" Hilarious Comedy

If you won or if you lost on the last "bull market" in Wall street, you will find laughs in a very timely comedy which opens Sunday at the Temple Theatre, for three days' run. It is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Caught Short," and it costs Mrs. Dressler and Polly Moran under the direction of Chuck Brainer, the director of the "Hollywood Revue of 1929."

"Caught Short" is, to express it very simply, the short and very amusing adventures of a pair of boarding house landlords in the finger-burning business of buying and selling stocks on margin. What the adept Marie and the uproarious Polly can do with such a situation can be imagined by the friends of this famous pair of comedians. The love interest of the story is capably furnished by Anita Page.

and Charles Morton, and scollent characterizations of typical "boarders" are furnished by T. Roy Barnes, Herbert Prior and Edward Dillon. Nanci Price is Polly's younger daughter.

THREE TELEPHONE CO'S. ARE NAMED IN SUIT

In an injunction suit filed by the Chase National bank of New York in the Federal district court, Cleveland, against telephone companies in Shelby, Bucyrus and Mespotama, the sum of $6,376,000 is involved.

The companies are operated by the Utilities Service Co. of Ohio. The petitions were filed separately against the concerns and ask that they be prevented from paying any dividends on stocks held in them by the Utilities Service Co. and that the Utilities Service Co. be restrained from selling any of its stock in the companies in question.

Brightening up the home

Rejuvenate Discarded Furniture

WHAT'S in your attic or in your basement storeroom? Have you explored lately in search of old furniture which can be miraculously transformed by refinishing, easily done at home? Certainly one of the most romantic adventures of homemaking is to find a neglected chair, chest of drawers or table, and make it over into a lovely possession. Nor does it have to be a rare antique! Perhaps it's merely grandmother's quaint old rocker or a discarded bureau. But if it has graceful, simple lines and nice wood surfaces it will be worth rejuvenating.

When the furniture has an unattractive, stained or varnished finish that hides the real beauty of the wood, use a liquid paint remover. Then scrape off the old finish with the aid of a putty-knife, steel wool and fine sandpaper.

After you uncover the bare wood its graining and texture may be as promising that you will want to give it a natural finish. Cleanse it with benzine or alcohol, add a coating of clear varnish and then apply a light coat of paste wax and polish. The wax brings out all the natural sheen and fine rich coloring and a final waxing insures that readily is dust and prevents water and heat stains and marks. For subsequent polishing use liquid wax.

Maybe you will prefer to give the furniture a new varnished finish, and you may even choose a different wood stain than was used originally. A final waxing insures a lovely smooth surface. Of course your wood may be in such good condition that it will need no more elaborate treatment than a thorough cleaning and waxing.

Don't underestimate the possibilities of any old furniture just because its condition is discouraging. Even such humble articles as old milk hutchers from dairies have been changed into really delightful bookcases and cabinets. Every one now knows the value of Early American furniture, but the scores of Victorian pieces are beginning to be eagerly sought. Scramble under your attic eaves, and know the joy of discovering and re-creating treasures!

Plymouthites who enjoyed Sunday at Plymouth Shores, were Dr. Gaskill and wife and son, Mr. and Mrs. John Root and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller and daughter.

Postmaster Enjoys First Trip by Air

A flight in a trimotored passenger plane, and the opportunity of seeing the world's only mail boat which transfers mail while in motion, were among the many experiences listed by local Postmaster William Johns while at the national convention held at Detroit.

The Convention of the National Association of Postmasters was held from Wednesday until Saturday of last week, with headquarters at the Hotel Statler, Detroit. Postmaster General Walter Brown, Toledo, was present, and was accompanied by the Second, Third and Fourth Assistants. There were addresses and discussions all pertaining to the postoffice service. About 500 were in attendance. A banquet was given at the Statler Thursday evening, and was one of the "best I have ever" according to Johns. Talks by the Postmaster General and the Fourth assistant were featured. Elgar A. Guest was also on the program following the dinner, and the President of the Chamber of Commerce.

A four-hour boat ride was given all those attending the convention from Detroit up to Lake St. Clair and back, and the only boat in the world transferring mail while in motion both delivered and picked up mail from the convention steamer.

A visit to Ford's plant was made, where Fords were seen being assembled. A trip was then made to the plant where the all-metal planes are made.

Johns left Detroit near sundown by plane, and declares the trip one of the most enjoyable ever. However, the biggest impression made while in the air was the highway traffic with the glowing headlights which could be seen after dark. One stop was made at Toledo, before the final landing at Cleveland. For once a passenger actually acknowledges that he received a "thrill" from the plane ride. "Not the going up so much," stated Johns, "but the coming down, when everything seems to drop from beneath you."

Ripley Center

Mrs. Rannion, of New Washington, spent a few days last week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clyde Young.

School Notes
The staff of teachers in our school this term are as follows:
Seventh and eighth grades and principalship, Murray Hunter

Fifth and sixth grades, Lois Gumbert.

Third and fourth grades, Helen Smith

First and second, Pearl Smith.

School opened on Monday last week with an enrollment of one hundred and six. The number has diminished, however, to one hundred and five, by the withdrawal of Clessan Brown, who is going to make his future home with his sister in Crestline.

Mr. Ballard, assistant county superintendent of schools called at our school on Wednesday of last week.

Eather Harrington, of the sixth grade, was confined to her home part of last week with tonsillitis. She is able to be back at school this week.

Mrs. Gladys Hawkins visited the third and fourth grades Friday afternoon.

Miss Sackett, of North Fairfield, who again is supervisor of our music classes, will be at our building Friday of each week. She is also organizing instrumental classes and will conduct orchestral work soon.

A plan has been adopted for the children from all four rooms to assemble for fifteen minutes each Monday morning for joint and special numbers. This week we were entertained by a piano solo by Clara Belle Outran, a recitation by Eunice Cole and a piano solo by Ruth Caranahan, all of Mr. Hunter's grades.

Next Monday morning children from Mrs. Gumbert's grade will furnish the special numbers.

trary to his better judgment, is of sufficient gravity, at least, to warrant a public reply.

"Richard Wilson, the inmate who was found intoxicated definitely named the source of his supply of liquor. Hodge, the other inmate who witnessed the liquor transaction, volunteered to Mrs. Sittler and myself a corroboration of Wilson's statement."

"The latter inmate came to Mrs. Sittler and myself for advice about his attitude toward the denials of Wilson's statements that were made. Both of us advised him to tell the absolute truth and what was known to him to be fact. He felt that he owed a frank confession as a duty to himself and the other inmates, as also the officers of the institution."

Referring to the charge of ousting Jenkins, "Never once did any word pass between Mr. Garver, Mr. McFadden and myself relative to the ousting of Jenkins. I was interested only that this issue should not be side-stepped as had been done in another instance. The prisoner's charges are purely a defense reaction from his original statement which he now states is a lie, to make it appear that his present statement is the whole truth."

"The questions published as being those that were addressed to Hodge, which are so framed to be answered by a simple 'Yes' were not asked. It is also true that the word 'bribery' did not in any way come into the interview between the reporter and the inmate in question is bold misrepresentation and open defamation of character to be resorted to in the effort to make a case for themselves."

"The charge of force and threat on the part of Mr. McFadden and Mr. Garver is positively inconsistent with the characters of those men as known to the public. My attitude is that of my former statements and again insistence is made that investigation of an unbiased sort will bring substantiation of the abuses in vogue at the reformatory."

Both McFadden, and Assistant Superintendent Garver, were named in the charge by Hodge as in the plot against Jenkins. The inmate in his second statement is claimed to have said that he was bribed into confessing that Eldon Jenkins, son of the superintendent furnished Hodge and Wilson with whiskey.

"In the final analysis it will be quite clear that the recant of the prisoner is a stall for time," Rev. Sittler stated yesterday.

YOUNG LAMB STOLEN AND BUTCHERED BY ROADWAY

The pelt of a yearling lamb, with head attached, was found on a road east of Olens by Emory Rounds who reported the incident to authorities. The carcass had been neatly butchered and taken away, evidently to round out the winter's meat supply, by some miscreant who will suffer if caught.

No one in the neighborhood identified the animal, though one farmer reported misting several sheep. It is thought the lamb was stolen from a flock some miles away and then killed and butchered by the side of the road.
