

GRADUATION IS OVER FOR 1940

SENIORS OF '40 AND 1970 RECEIVE DIPLOMAS AFTER DR. WRIGHT SPEAKS.

Graduates and audience are unanimous in their opinion that Dr. L. Wright, president of Baldwin-Wallace College, who addressed the filled auditorium on Friday evening, is one of the finest speakers that Plymouth has been fortunate enough to hear in many a year. Dr. Wright held the attention of all the tithe time that he held the floor after his introduction by Supt. E. L. Bailey. If the graduating class of 1940 will remember the words he gave for their meditation and guidance they will be better than average citizens.

The musical prelude to the commencement procession was conducted by Byron Griest and then pages escorted Miss Eva White and Mrs. Nora Wyandt and their attendants, Mrs. Emeline Simmons and Miss Madeleine Smith, to the front of the auditorium. This was an important night for these two sweet girl graduates of 87 and 89 years.

After partaking of a delicious chicken dinner served by the Delphi Church, members of the Plymouth High School Alumni turned with interest to the program which humor has promised would be most entertaining. The dinner of cocktail, chicken, peas, salad, rice, rolls, refreshments, iced cream cake and coffee had put everyone in a very good humor. Rev. Wolf gave the invocation.

President James Root cordially welcomed the new group of 1940 graduates and the Senior response was given by Robert Moore. The program was then taken in charge by Toastmistress Ethel Hankamer of North Fairfield.

Mrs. M. Myers read the "In Memoriam" for members of 1882-1892, and Minnie Hunt, of Shelby gave a short talk. A quartet then honored the 50-year class of 1890. Gladys Fetters, Mrs. Helen Sans, Rev. Wm. Byron Griest singing, Attorney F. Smith of Columbus, and Sidney Judson of Akron contributed brief but interesting comments.

Mrs. Mary Fath, Herbert of Mansfield and Mrs. Doris Gooding of Plymouth, presented musical solos on the harp and accordion respectively.

A debate of much weighty matter was conducted on the subject "Resolved: that the calendar should have thirteen months to the year instead of twelve," and George Herzhiser of Plymouth, Helen Myers Keiser of Cleveland and Julia Blevins, one who married McDowell, on the pros and cons.

Then to complete a fine evening there was dancing on the auditorium floor for the active, with the Shredler orchestra of Shelby, playing, while the wanted to remain set on the sidelines and talked about bygone days and plans for the future.

We truly believe that interest in the Alumni is growing so plan right now to be on hand next year and enjoy the annual banquet and welcome for the graduates. Officers for the past year have served faithfully, President, James Root, vice-president, Dorothy Spensler, secretary, Madeleine Smith, treasurer, Emeline Simmons. And special thanks for cooperation is to be given to Alward Pickens, Gertrude Majors and Florence Danner, Ida Fleming and Hazel Cramer for they have worked willingly to make this year's affair a success.

Returned Home
Stacy C. Brown who recently underwent an operation for gonorrhea at Willard Municipal Hospital returned to his home in Plymouth Saturday. His condition is much improved.

NEWS FROM SYNOD

The Synod of the states United Lutheran churches announces that Cincinnati will be host to the convention in May 1941 with the First Lutheran church as the place of meeting. Rev. Wolf and James Root attended the 1940 Synod meeting, last week in Youngstown, where Rev. M. St. St. former Plymouth pastor was host. Dr. Joseph Sittler is Synod president.

One of the very worthwhile resolutions which were adopted was: "Resolved, that the board register its protest against motion pictures, radio broadcasts, and news releases as are designated to stir up national or racial hatreds; and that on the other hand urge pastors and teachers to seek by positive biblical instruction to inoculate into the minds and hearts of their people Christian ideals of peace and brotherhood through Christ in these ominous times."

OBSERVES 73rd MEMORIAL DAY

On Thursday people of the United States observed their dead in the seventy-third annual observance of Memorial Day. According to H. E. Eawine, WOSU Farm Night historian, one reason for the selection of May 30 as the date for the observance is that this was the date which the last Union volunteer soldier of the Civil War was "mustered out."

UNUSUAL WRECK DEMOLISHES CAR

AUTO IN WHICH MRS. ALMA WILLIAMS WAS LONE OCCUPANT, LEAVES HIGHWAY; CAUSE UNKNOWN.

Mrs. Alma Williams, wife of Pat Williams, High Street, is in the Willard Municipal hospital recovering from a fractured left leg and other lacerations and bruises as a result of an automobile wreck. Mrs. Williams, driving a DeSoto sedan, left Plymouth around 1 p. m. for an appointment with a Monroeville physician. About one-half mile north of the Baltimore & Ohio crossing on the car left the pavement and for more than 100 feet it traveled at almost a 90 degree angle, in a "roadside fill." Mrs. Williams' driver of the machine, "froze" to the throttle and wheel and it was only when the machine struck a culvert which was protected by a row of logs, did the automobile come to a stop.

The engine is damaged, raised the front seat, catching the driver and fracturing her leg. She was thrown against the windshield. The entire front end of the car was completely demolished. The machine itself is a total loss, but is covered by insurance.

Those who witnessed the wrecked car after it was towed into Dinger's garage, think it remarkable that a driver to go through such a wreck and come out alive.

Immediately after the mishap Mrs. Williams was removed to the Willard hospital, and late reports from there indicate that she suffered no internal injuries. She was brought to her home here Wednesday morning.

DAILY VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

PLAN TO SEND YOUR CHILDREN TO THIS FINE SCHOOL.

Daily Vacation Bible School will open at 8:45 this coming Monday morning, June 3 at the Lutheran Church. The Methodist, Lutheran and Presbyterian Churches are cooperating to make this a helpful and successful series of combined Sunday Bible School sessions.

The Bible School this year will offer more than the school of last summer. A Kindergarten class, for youngsters under six years of age, is included in the schedule. In addition handwork and work classes are being introduced.

Young People, you can count on a lot of fun, fine Bible training and fellowship with others your own age. You will have an opportunity to sing and play and at the same time enjoy some fine worship services together. PLAN to be present on time on the first day.

An outline of a morning program is as follows: 8:45-9:00—Opening period and roll call. 9:00-9:30—First class study period. 9:30-10:00—Second class study period.

The opening date will be Monday morning, June 3rd, and the classes will be held on Friday, June 21st. On the closing day last year an evening program was given by the School. Adults plan to attend this program this year—but first, plan to send your children to this three-week Bible School.

MRS. W. NILES PASSES AWAY AT FAMILY HOME SATURDAY; WAS WELL KNOWN HERE.

The many townfolks in Plymouth who had become acquainted during the past several years with Mrs. Maud Rouse Niles were saddened to hear of her death which occurred late Saturday afternoon at her home east of Marion in Morrow county.

Though she had suffered from a long illness for the last two years, both friends and relatives hoped that she would soon improve and be able to resume the active life which she had been accustomed to lead. Mrs. Niles has visited many times here at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bert Rule, and she has also in the past entertained many Plymouth friends in her home. It is with regret that we hear of her passing.

On Tuesday she was laid to rest in the beautiful Forest Glen Memorial Park at Marion where the green grass swards is broken only by lovely flowers, trees and bushes and the bronze tablets carrying the name of loved ones. Chimes from the stone chapel add to the beauty of the place and it is indeed a peaceful park to leave those to whom you had said goodbye for a time.

Services for Mrs. Niles were conducted Tuesday at the home and at the Denmark Methodist church. Rev. McWilliams of Edison was in charge.

She is survived by her husband, W. Niles, a daughter, Mrs. Bert Rule, one son, Clifford, of Marion, and four grandsons; two sons and four grandsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Niles were formerly superintendent and matron of the Marion County Children's Home. Mrs. Niles was a member of the Denmark Methodist church, the Betsy Ross Auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, of Marion. She was born in Hardin county, West Virginia, and spent her early years in the present home in Ohio.

Free Acts Here Saturday Night

FIRST OF SERIES OF OUT-DOOR ENTERTAINMENTS TO INCLUDE AMATEUR ACTS.

Everything is in readiness for a grand old time in Plymouth Saturday night, June 1, when amateurs from New Washington, Shiloh, North Fairfield and Attesa will present a varied program of fun, frolic and music. Plymouth series.

One of the outstanding features that will make this attraction very entertaining is the installation of a loudspeaker system by E. A. Robertson, who is in charge of the programs this summer. Two microphones will be used on the stage, and loud speakers have been placed at strategic locations on the Square, thus assuring everyone good reception of the entire program.

Plan now to come to Plymouth and enjoy this evening's free entertainment, which is sponsored by local merchants.

FREDERICK "PAT" CHAPPELL, just "blowed in" after spending the winter in Florida. Pat says the southern crops are away being due to the excessive heavy weather. Oats, which are usually being cut this season of the year, are just now heading, and there is a shortage of produce of all kinds. The extremely cold weather this winter in the south will give the natives something to talk about for years, so states Chappell.

NEWS BREVITIES

THOSE PRESENT AT THE Plymouth graduation exercises and who enjoyed the fine address by Dr. L. Wright, President of Baldwin-Wallace College, will be interested in knowing that he will again speak Friday evening at the commencement of Shelby High School in the auditorium.

MAYBE IF PLYMOUTH OFFICIALS would take to fingerprinting all the tramps, or transients, who infest the town, there wouldn't be so many knocking at the back doors (I had three rap at my door in one day recently).

Willard, who had a great many hoochies seeking lodging at the town jail, got the habit of fingerprinting all callers, and tracing the history of quite a few from the files in Washington. As a great many of the men are just plain shiftless and often have criminal records, they pass the idea of coming around and getting their fingers inked up again.

IT HAS BEEN IN PRINT before but because it is timely we here again warn farmers about the poisonous burdock or cocklebur that causes fatal illness for livestock. The first two long narrow leaves of the cocklebur are deadly poison and the late spring has caused much trouble for farmers. Later when the commonly recognized broad leaves appear the plant is harmless, though the seeds are also poisonous.

THE MAN WHO FOR FORTY years has made a quilt for each boy and girl graduating from the Butler T. R. School, has passed on to his reward and his quilting days are over. George Keefe accomplished this unbelievable task each year until this spring, when he became ill and died at the home of his daughter.

WMAN MANSFIELD, ON Friday afternoons is presenting a series of Miracles and Melodies, at 1:45 o'clock. Hear how the Miracle baby of China was saved from bandits, and about the sequel to Mutiny on the Bounty, and the reformation of a famous safe-cracker.

OFFICERS OF THE 17th CONGRESSIONAL district postmasters' association were re-elected for another year at their Sunday meeting—Fred Lawler, of Mt. Vernon, president, and Claude Swourine, Plymouth, vice president. The meeting convened in Mansfield.

KEITH GOODING WAS SCHEDULED to furnish luncheon at the formal opening supper-dance on Wednesday night at the Norwalk Country Club.

IF IT ISN'T ANSWERED in the meeting on Hitlerism, Win. is one subject to be discussed at O. S. U. alumni college on June 6-7.

OHIO FARMERS WILL SEE A field of corn growing right on the state fair grounds this year. It is going to be an unusual field of corn because it will contain every important variety of Ohio hybrids, which have already been planted.

ONE ROOSEVELT IS FOR Taft—Alice Roosevelt Longworth says in a recent publication "I am for Bob Taft because I do not yearn for the man who is always on his toes, raising his voice, "raring" to go here, there, anywhere. I want one whose feet will be firmly on the ground and whose mind will be finding solutions for the national problems rather than in becoming the shining hero."

BAKE SALE sponsored by the members of St. Joseph's Church will be held at the Library on Saturday, June 8, 1940 from 11:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. A good variety of home-made bake goods will be on hand. Your patronage will be appreciated. M30-June 10.

ALPHAS GIVE HISTORY OF THEIR CLASS

(Held Over From Last Week)

Thirty years ago in the month of May, a Sunday School Class was organized at the Lutheran Church. The first organized class in the village of Plymouth, and they took the name of 'Alpha' meaning 'first'.

Some few weeks ago some one conceived the bright idea of a get-together with good food in commemoration of this event. Old members and new members put their shoulders to the wheel, with the result that the lights shone just a little brighter than usual on the evening of May 21st in the annex of the Lutheran church, as friends gathered for an evening of fellowship.

Fifty-one members and four guests sat down to tables prettily decorated with the class colors, red and white. Red tulips predominated, with bridal wreath and white lilies. Reposing at the right of Mrs. Jennie Hills, President of the class, was a beautiful birthday cake, flanked by lighted red candles, and inscribed "Alpha 30th"; a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Bailey. The menu, should you care to know: Fruit cocktail, scalloped potatoes, baked ham, meat loaf, vegetable (a variety), molded salad, buttered rolls, coffee and the whole topped off with ice cream and cake. And did the guests do justice to that food? They did.

The President in welcoming the guests, stressed the importance of friendship and fellowship, and the entire group sang lustily, 'Blest be the Tie That Binds'.

Mrs. Gaskill as mistress of ceremonies was well chosen. As a charter member she has watched the growth of the class and had a part in all the class activities, and its accomplishments. She led in the singing of 'America the Beautiful'.

Mr. Griest played two piano solos: 'Hungarian Dance by Brahms' and 'Little White Donkey, by Ibert.' He accompanied Mr. Moist who sang 'My Song of Paradise' by Brown, and 'Trade Winds, by Keel and Macville. These young men compliment each other and we would have been glad to have listened to more of their music.

At this time Jessie Trauger entered the picture as historian, on which she calls it "just reminiscing." She gave the early history of the class, its organization with thirty-five charter members, under the pastorate of Rev. Heibert in May, 1910. Its object: the study of the Bible. Its motto: Loyalty. The first officers—

Pres. Roeliff Wilson, now of Oxford; Vice Pres. Bess Root Kreuger, Sandusky; Secretary—Jessie Trauger, Plymouth; Treasurer—Eldon Nimmons, Plymouth.

Mrs. Heibert and Miss Felton, a High School teacher mothered this child until a permanent mother could be secured, and Mrs. E. E. Weatherly now of Mansfield assumed that responsibility and remained teacher and advisor during her stay in Plymouth. It was originally a mixed class of young people, but one by one the boys dropped out. Cause? Too many women. A Sewing Circle was organized, and out of this grew the present Alpha Guild, which constitutes the social side of the class. In time the Alpha annexed the Unity Class, a class of older Sunday School members, and only last winter they absorbed the Men's Bible Class with their teacher, E. L. Bailey, and once again it is a mixed class, Mr. Bailey presiding. The records show in the courses of 30 years a possible $4000 has been acquired thru bazaars, suppers, plays and etc., and dispensed to the various needs of the church and parsonage. Hard wood floors, lighting fixtures, and altar furniture are some small evidence of their untiring efforts. A hundred handed out here and a hundred there seems to be as nothing to this class. The original charter signed by the thirty-five charter members hangs in the Sunday School room. To the best of our knowledge, only six of these original members have passed on to their reward. Grace Willett, Jeanette Gebert, Adora Wilson, Elizabeth Mittenbuhler, Mary Shutt Swanger and Mrs. Heibert. Ten charter members answered to roll call. Cornelia Bevier Johns, Nellie Bevier Smith, Lura Powers Webber, Louella Wyandt, Wilson, Mabel Smith Stewart, Mary Erwin Trimmer, Lena Shutt Derringer, Laura Wilson Gaskill, Grace Earnest and Jessie Trauger and each was presented with a boutonniere of lilies of the valley and a red rose, the class colors.

A letter was read from Rev. Wolf who was regretfully detained at Youngstown. Also Reo Hiff Wilson, Mrs. Weatherly, Bess Kreuger and Miss Nyberg former teacher. A letter arrived from a charter member of Cleveland Harold, or "Pete" Sykes, as he is more commonly known, but too late to be read at the party. All of these letters congratulated the Alphas on their long years of service and assured them they would be with them in spirit although not in person.

Mrs. Ida Fenner who only recently resigned from the teaching of the class, owing to ill health, responded in her usual pleasing manner. A grand table setting and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Eva Smith, a loyal member of the acquired Unity Class, recalled the early efforts of the young people to organize a class. How their enthusiasm carried them through ice and sleet and snow to be on hand at their class meetings and in their places at Sunday School.

The class came in for just a little ribbing at the hands of E. L. Bailey, the present teacher. The amount of money having been inquired by the class sort of intrigued him and he spoke 'feeling' of the possibility of a 'touch'. The men he said will not interfere in the management of the affairs of the class, but will be putty, 'just putty' in the women's hands. In closing he presented the birthday cake to Mrs. Hills, who after much yard stick measuring and calculation, cut it in at least fifty-five pieces, so each one could share in its richness.

The singing of the theme song brought to a close a long-to-be-remembered evening of reminiscing. It brushed away the cobwebs and turned back the pages of memory just thirty years.

We can truly say that the efforts of the committees in charge were rewarded with success. Much credit is due Mrs. Voisard and Mrs. Bartholomew for their untiring efforts in our behalf. Only one who has been through the mill can realize what it takes to accomplish such results. A very special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Bailey for the lovely cake.

Classes may come and classes may go, but may the Alphas go on forever. And, (we quote) the hope of the future is the record of the past.

MUSIC PUPILS GIVE RECITAL

STUDENTS OF R. BYRON GRIEST SHOW FINE PROGRESS FOR YEAR'S WORK.

(Held Over From Last Week) Students of R. Byron Griest, local music supervisor, were presented in concert Friday evening, May 17, at the high school auditorium. A varied program which showed the progress of students from first grade to that of advanced students taking private lessons was featured. Demonstrations by third, fourth, fifth, and sixth grade piano classes pointed out to the audience the methods being used in the local schools in piano instruction. Students in voice and trumpet were also presented.

The group as a whole are to be commended on the splendid progress made during the year. Without exception each number indicated hours spent in practice by the individual students. Many of whom had never before played publicly.

Undoubtedly the musical highlight of the program was the playing of "Passepied" by Moszkowski and Danse Macabre" by Saint-Saens. The program was directed by Mr. Harold Markin and Mr. Griest. The splendid interpretation of these two selections was applauded by the audience, which attained by the time pianists, who have played such a short time together. Congratulations are in order for Mr. Griest whose able instruction was so manifest in the progress evidenced by his pupils Friday night.

"I HAVE TO LEAVE NOW MONDAY. I'M GOING TO SEE A MODEL HOME TONIGHT."

"SEE IF SHE CAN GET A FUND FOR THE MISTER MERLIN WILL YOU?"

Your home's not a model of modern convenience... if it's without that essential of up-to-date efficiency—a TELEPHONE. A servant by day, a guardian by night, your phone gives 24-hour service at slight cost.

ASTRO-AID DEPARTMENT

Conducted by "Gemini"

If you have a problem on your mind, write to "Gemini." In care of this newspaper, clearly outlining it. Include your birthday, present age, year, hour and place born. (Mention nearest known moment of birth whether A. M. or P. M., and if born in small town, name nearest large city.) You will receive an answer, based on your individual horoscopic data, through this column. Include a pseudonym so that you may identify your answer—if you don't wish your name to appear.

"Phoebe"—You ask about business, travel and love... During the present year, business conditions should improve. Opportunity for advancement would come your way. You may desire to make a change, but if your present occupation is ordinarily satisfactory to you, remain with it. Try to work yourself up into executive capacities—you can, if you have not already done so. New friends will be made during the year. Yes, travel will be made, too; and a journey abroad, if it took place, would certainly fit right into your current horoscopic set-up... And a definite opportunity for many will come your way before the end of the year. This is shown by the progressed position of your life-ruler, Mars, in Libra, sign of partnerships, moving up to a sextile ("opportunity" aspect) angle to your natal Venus—the ruler of the House of Money. As your Venus is positioned in the 8th House (long journeys), you will very possibly meet your prospective mate on a journey, or at a distance; so travel, by all means... Other fortunate aspects prevail, too, so make the best of the year.

"Hans"—You ask if it would be profitable to dispose of a piece of real estate... You have a good sense of values; and are able to drive a bargain. Jupiter throws a trine ("luck" angle) to your natal Venus in the 1st (personal) House during the period between May 1 and May 15th. If you act during this period, the chances are that the deal will go over satisfactorily. Your natal map indicates danger (more or less throughout life) of fraud, misrepresentation and loss through Others—so see that everything is according to "Hoyle's." Possibly, however, you've learned your lesson in this direction long before now. In selling, always demand a fair price and refuse to allow yourself to be imposed upon.

"Bee"—You ask—"Have I met The Man?" A question to conjure with! At your age, 20, it is greatly to be desired; that is, assuming you to be single at this instance. Your natal map indicates that your marriage will be a bit delayed, so bide your time. Your mate will probably be older than you—certainly older in his ways. It is possible that you marry a man in your neighborhood, from your own home town; so watch your local Romeo carefully! During the period June 1940—June 1941, inspirational changes will take place in your personality. A mystical, enthusiastic, poetic period. If you have artistic or musical yearnings, try to bring out the best in yourself during the coming months. You will develop a more dramatic outlook on things, and will feel yourself increasingly more in tune with the harmonic played by your Muses. Marriage should take place within a couple of years, and... there's plenty of time!

H. M. C. S.—It is difficult to give specific answers to your queries, for you sent no time of day; and particularly in reference to locality advice. However, your map made from the day and year of your birth shows that you progressed Sun is moving over your natal Jupiter in Libra (sign of the Partner). This suggests that the year should be fortunate for both yourself and the mate. Also two other minor fortunate aspects indicate that there will be opportunities for growth, worthwhile improvement in your affairs, so make the best of the year. There may be a newcomer to the family. Plans begun now should undergo gratifying expansion.

"Couple"—You ask, with the inquisitiveness peculiar to your so-called sign, Gemini, about the health, children to be had and how many, your lucky day and number, and—of all things—if you'll be lucky in fishing this year! However, as you had Pisces the Fishes ascending at your birth, you doubtless do care for fishing and marine pleasures... Your natu shows indication of some danger and difficulty through childbirth, despite the fact that it shows you to be fruitful and desirous of children. You won't have a great deal of children, apparently. As the Moon rules your House of Children and throws a fortunate angle to Uranus, planes of astrology and progressive methods, you should have your offspring born to the astrological clock; in fact, "planned babies." By following the advice of a competent astrologer, you may be made during some of the negative testimonies centering around your natal House of Children. You will become interested, in time, in astrology, gemstones, and progressive thought generally.

As to health, your Sun and Moon being in favorable major angle to each other shows that you have a strong dynamic constitution, a control of the impulses and appetites is at your disposal. Learn to reserve your nervous energies instead of allowing them to fritter away. Your stomach is one major weak-point; so take care of the essential vitamins and minerals in your diet, cut down on sweets, pastries, and hard-to-digest stuff which you love so well, and eat more vegetables and fruits. The lungs and intestinal area also show up as being sensitive. Jupiter in your House of Money is an index to excellent money-making ability—wealth can be amassed through your own efforts. Legacy thru a parent is possible. The summer-fall period is fairly fortunate for you, promising added pleasures, new friends, etc., but you are to experience a period beginning around late winter and lasting through the first half or so of next year which is not so favorable. It indicates the danger of domestic disharmony, worry in connection with the partner, and the possibility of accident. If you have no fire insurance on your home, it would pay well to take out some. Mars-Sun afflictions such as you will have during the period mentioned are very "fiery" in nature.

"J. P. Jeep"—You possess executive abilities, are ambitious to climb, but will find that "big" positions are well-thigh all your resources and patience. Friction is met with partners and co-workers. You will be much more at ease if pursuing work of an artistic, theatrical or musical nature. Teaching may be in your line. Possibly interior decoration appeals to you. Avoid work where there's too much strident ambition, competition and responsibility.

"Bee"—You ask—"Have I met The Man?" A question to conjure with! At your age, 20, it is greatly to be desired; that is, assuming you to be single at this instance. Your natal map indicates that your marriage will be a bit delayed, so bide your time. Your mate will probably be older than you—certainly older in his ways. It is possible that you marry a man in your neighborhood, from your own home town; so watch your local Romeo carefully! During the period June 1940—June 1941, inspirational changes will take place in your personality. A mystical, enthusiastic, poetic period. If you have artistic or musical yearnings, try to bring out the best in yourself during the coming months. You will develop a more dramatic outlook on things, and will feel yourself increasingly more in tune with the harmonic played by your Muses. Marriage should take place within a couple of years, and... there's plenty of time!

H. M. C. S.—It is difficult to give specific answers to your queries, for you sent no time of day; and particularly in reference to locality advice. However, your map made from the day and year

"I HAVE TO LEAVE NOW MONDAY. I'M GOING TO SEE A MODEL HOME TONIGHT."

"SEE IF SHE CAN GET A FUND FOR THE MISTER MERLIN WILL YOU?"

Your home's not a model of modern convenience... if it's without that essential of up-to-date efficiency—a TELEPHONE. A servant by day, a guardian by night, your phone gives 24-hour service at slight cost.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank my friends, the Voters of Huron County, who by their splendid support at the Primaries, made my nomination possible.

Wendell Willkie Likely to Be "Dark Horse" for Republicans

Momentum is Making Fast Gains in Favor of Former President of Commonwealth & Southern For Nomination.

Up until a few weeks ago the average citizen did not know who Wendell Willkie really was. It was not until a comparatively short time ago that Willkie ever appeared in the spotlight, even though he has been one of the nation's "big business groups," president of Commonwealth & Southern, a utility serving the southeast and middle west. As a steel worker, farm helper, teacher and lawyer Willkie has gained a vast knowledge of the average American through his early contacts. As a shrewd business man he knows what business and industry needs to make a complete and full recovery. He knows finance and its effects upon the nation in industry and economic life. If you want to know Willkie, read this story and then you'll say: "He's the man for President."

Seven years ago the New Deal's T. V. A. invaded one of the properties of the Commonwealth & Southern Corporation, a utility organization which was able under sound management to establish a record for low rates—lower even than most public rates, even where those rates result in a loss—and the highest per customer use of electricity of any major utility. The capital structure and structure which made all this possible was developed by Commonwealth & Southern's engineers working with Wendell Willkie, the corporation's president.

With the T. V. A. invasion, Wendell Willkie went to battle with the New Deal. He had no particular quarrel with the government's interest in the power business, because even before the New Deal came along Wendell Willkie had insisted that utilities, being a public service, should be subject to government regulation; and long before the government turned its attention to the regulation of utilities companies, Willkie had reorganized Commonwealth's board of directors, abolished the office of chairman which he described as useless, simplified its capital structure and converted a loss to a profit.

Personally, Mr. Willkie did not believe and does not believe in government ownership; but believes it is the people who should decide. Accordingly he decided to put the case of T. V. A. vs. Commonwealth & Southern up to the people. The basis of his fight with T. V. A. was that it was attempting to run his company out of business without paying a fair and just price. In this fight Willkie had much opposition. He was opposed of course by the New Deal. He was also opposed by many who felt that openly attacking the New Deal was "dangerous business." He was opposed by Wall Street. But none of this made the slightest difference. Mr. Willkie is indeed a man of a just and noble character; he makes up his mind what is right, and then fights for that right against any and all opposition. So far, the right as he has seen it has turned out most decidedly to be the right of the greatest number of people, and even those who oppose him in the heat of battle are often the first to hail his victories.

It was the T. V. A. fight that brought Wendell Willkie to the attention of the general public. Here was a man who was openly fighting the New Deal at a time when its popularity was at its height. Here was a man stamped with the mark "utilities magnate," which was generally thought to make him automatically the enemy of all liberal people, and particularly of all forgotten men. Yet, because he was fighting a just fight, and fighting it honestly, none of this opposition and hatred materialized. He took a cause which the New Deal had made the most unpopular, and he won and gained for it the sympathy and interest of many of the New Deal's most ardent supporters among the general public. Even the forgotten men themselves became so interested that they forgot or neglected or did not wish to hurt such epithets as forgotten men are popularly supposed to hurt at big business.

During this time there was much talk about Wendell Willkie as a potential presidential candidate in 1940; but Mr. Willkie paid little attention. He was a business man interested primarily in running his business, and in setting forth certain principles through which he could conduct his business more efficiently and with what he sincerely believed would prove greater benefit to the American people. By his actions he did not discourage the presidential talk. His unusual executive and administrative ability had attracted national attention, and thousands of business men over the country were saying that the nation needs a man like Wendell and graduated from Terre Haute State Teachers' College. She studied law, was admitted to the bar and with her husband formed the law firm of Willkie & Willkie.

Wendell Willkie was born in the frame house at Elwood on February 19, 1892. He attended public schools and entered Indiana University, paying his own way. He worked during summer vacations making steel, raising sugar cane, farming in Iowa, following the harvest in California as a migratory worker, selling things from door to door, frying eggs in a hot-dog wagon.

After receiving his Bachelor's degree in 1918, Mr. Willkie tried teaching history in Coffeyville, Kansas, became homeseick, and returned to Indiana University, from which he received his law degree in 1921. He was given an honorary degree in 1938.

The first day the United States entered the World War, Wendell Willkie enlisted. He was assigned to an officers' school, then specialized, then sent to Harvard for specialized training under French Army officers. Later he served overseas as a captain in the 325th Central Postal Directory, and then as a lieutenant in the 325th Central Postal Directory. After the war he took delight in defending court-martialed soldiers, using his canny, democratic wit to make stuffed-shirt officers look foolish on the witness stand.

Back in the United States he decided to go into politics, and was offered a nomination for congress. But on the advice of an old friend, Frank C. Dailey, Indianapolis lawyer, he turned down the offer and went to work in the legal department of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company at Akron, Ohio. After a year with them, Willkie was invited to join a local Akron law firm, Nesbitt, Mather & Willkie. During his years in Akron he led many civic fights, and helped to destroy the political power of the Ku Klux Klan in the city. One of his clients was the Northern Ohio Traction & Light Co., a part of the Commonwealth Power Corp., of which B. C. Cobb was the head. The Willkie habit of winning cases attracted Mr. Cobb, who was persuaded Elwood's bright young man to migrate to New York, to help assemble the properties that formed the Commonwealth and Southern System. Mr. Willkie succeeded him as president.

The Willkie home life is simple. They have never owned an automobile and still use a car. He never misses an appointment—and his dress. He likes to read and has earned considerable attention from his writing. There is one son, Phil, a student at Princeton. He is a business manager of the Daily Princetonian, and was recently voted by his classmates as the student most likely to succeed.

Outside of Directorates in his own companies he serves on but three other Boards, that of the First National Bank, The Town Hall, and is President and Director of The Economic Club of New York.

Willkie today is perhaps the Nation's Number 1 business man—but his friends often say that he has never really left the office at Elwood, Indiana, which he shared with his father and mother after receiving his law degree from Indiana University. He has carried the simplicity and homeliness of his home into the complex problems of American industry and the hectic committee rooms of Washington.

TELL HITLER THIS!
Dr. Charles M. Sheldon, octogenarian, author and preacher, believes war fever sets in at 40.

The veteran pacifist—he wrote "His Steps," which sold 21,000,000 copies but paid him only a few hundred dollars—has put down his newest anti-war idea in a play, "All Over Forty."

"It's very simple," he explains. "In my play, at the outbreak of war only men over 40 are mobilized into the army. Before any fighting can begin, many are sick and exhausted so there can be no war. There would never be war if the minimum mobilization age was forty."

"The old men start wars. They want the young men to fight them. Let the old men do the fighting, too."

We feel we owe an apology to Frank Spangler of whose dating and bravery we told you last week. It seems that he has been accused since then of every act imaginable, and we simply cannot tell the truth of the matter without some comment. The truth is this: it was the corner of Fourth and Walnut, and not the corner of Fourth and Mulberry, Mansfield, Ohio.

George Herahiser wore such a look of abject misery Monday, that we commented upon it and asked if he were feeling all right. "Oh, I'm feeling fine," said George. "I just haven't got my face fixed around to look like it yet, that's all. In fact, I've got the world by the tail—but I can't swing it."

Somewhat, it seems to be a vicious circle. When we look at one of our Silver King Tractors standing in the sun with its aluminum paint gleaming, it seems to be the most beautiful thing on wheels. We wish we had the foresight and talent to design such a wonderful unit. But dwelling on this for a while shows us that all our fuss do play a part in the building of this tractor. One department cannot function independently of the others. One department may be complete in itself, but it is nothing if not tied with the other departments. We all work towards the same goal. We can't work for ourselves alone, for in doing our particular job as well as we can in order to help ourselves, we are helping our neighbor to do his work as it passes on to his hands, and so on up the line. And when we have finished—it's a perfect job. In helping ourselves, we have helped the company, and the company supplies us with work. Around, around she goes, and where she stops—nobody knows!

We found this paragraph in the American Exporter, and are passing it along to you hoping it will make you feel as fortunate as we did in reading it. "While business men in Belgium and the Netherlands are fighting for their lives, being hunted down perhaps, suffering every horror that war lords can devise, we, no more deserving than they, just lucky, can go on about our business."

Do you suppose it is possible to harness the energy expanding by a nagging woman?

We hate to appear to be dragging Frank Spangler into the limelight, but while he was walking through the locomotive assembly room the other day, Charles Moore, a top locomotive, whistled and called, "Hey, Kid!" Frank looked at disdaintfully and answered, "Call me Frank." "That's all right," said Charles, "You can call me Chuck."

Not to create a scandal or anything, but did you know Bud Stewart has a real friend? The stenographers call her Esmeralda, and she is such a likeable personality. She used to make herself right at home in the stenographic room, and the girls used to chip in to buy her chocolate milk each morning. She finally deserted the girls and adopted Bud as her true friend. Now she sleeps beside his boring mill and waits patiently from five until seven. We are told that just as soon as the whistle blows, she runs madly from wherever she is to await Bud's arrival. Oh, we almost forgot to mention that Esmeralda is a kitten.

Last Wednesday, May 22, was Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Buzard's twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Congratulations, both of you, and may there be many more of them.

Since congratulations are in order, let's wish Happy Birthday to Madeleine Smith who celebrated her birthday last week. We were rather startled to be standing by her switchboard when a congratulatory card came. She opened it, unfolded it and shook it furiously, but nothing fell out. We wonder who sent it and what she expected!

Frank Weck should be in a position to put on a strawberry festival next year. He told me that he set out 1600 plants Saturday afternoon, and we DO HOPE he has a nice crop of berries.

George Kirtley has returned from a business trip to Chicago and Roy Johnson is back from Boston.

We wonder if, when Christmas comes around, Bruce McQuinn and Whitney Briggs merely hand out their presents instead of wrapping them. Surely, we couldn't blame them remembering all the wrapping of parcels with which they struggle during the course of each day. Wrapping, weighing, sawing, pounding, shipping. But they do a grand job of it all—especially this season, for our records show a greater percentage of shipments than for previous years. The marvel of it all is that they show perpetual good humor and always have a smile for us when we go out to bother them.

GO WEST, YOUNG MAN

Elsworth Ford heads west to help ourselves, we are helping our neighbor to do his work as it passes on to his hands, and so on up the line. And when we have finished—it's a perfect job. In helping ourselves, we have helped the company, and the company supplies us with work. Around, around she goes, and where she stops—nobody knows!

MRS. W. ROWE HOSTESS TO MISSIONARY

On Friday afternoon a group of the W. H. M. S. society of the M. E. Church gathered at the home of Mrs. W. Rowe on Sandusky Street for the May meeting. Mrs. Frank Gleason had as her devotions Scripture reading, and then led in prayer.

Mrs. H. Wintermute opened the business meeting and the secretary's and treasurer's reports were read. The yearly pledge was reported paid in full. Members are asked to remember to turn in their sales tax stamps for the Society.

Plans for Mother and Daughter Banquet were brought up and the committees read for announcement. Dinner committee—Mesdames P. W. Thomas, E. E. Markley, H. Postal, H. Knight, W. McKadden and Bert Ford; program committee, Mesdames H. Wintermute, F. Pitzon and W. Ring. After dinner committee, Mesdames Ophia Brown, W. Rowe, Ira Ross, Mary Fleck, J. B. Derr, Bernice Morrow, and Jessie Cole.

Committee meetings should be called soon to complete plans for the affair as much interest has been shown this year in the banquet and program.

The date has been set for Friday evening, June 28th, and Mrs. Anna Poland will have the devotions.

For the May program the ladies were divided into groups and each given a subject for which to find scripture in Bible verses. A question box on mission and Bible study was passed, each person answering as best they could to the query. In this way we found "how much or little we know about the Bible and the work we help support."

Every church member that is asked to assist in any way with the June Banquet is urged to cooperate as it is such a worth-while unit in the year's work.

METHODISTS TO AID WAR SUFFERERS

By action of the General Conference of the Methodist Church recent held at Atlantic City, June 2nd is to be observed by the Methodist Churches in America as a day of fasting and prayer for the war sufferers in various stricken countries. It is suggested that each family deprive themselves of the noon meal and give the amount which this would cost to a fund to be administered for relief of those who are suffering in war stricken countries. It may seem a long time between breakfast and evening lunch on Sunday but we should think of those who are forced to miss many meals, ever so hungry and suffering for want of food, shelter, and medical care. Along with the self-denial offering it is hoped that Christians everywhere will offer prayer for the relief of suffering.
