

RICHLAND CO. FAIR TO OPEN WED JULY 31

Called the best fair Richland county has ever staged, the county's 72nd annual agricultural and industrial exposition will throw its doors open next Wednesday, July 31, in Mansfield, for a run through the following Saturday night.

Harness racing has been cancelled this year because of a lack of patronage. Top-notch race programs given by the fair in other years, but in its place the fair board has arranged one of the most spectacular programs ever offered by a county fair anywhere in Ohio.

Some of the highlights offered during the four-day program are the following:

Dick Rogers' all-American Maniacs, an automobile race and thrill show; a sensational balloon ascension in which a girl is fired from a cannon attached to a gas bag at 3,000 feet in the air. This act will be given on three afternoons of the fair. The EXB rodeo and circus acts, the Pine Ridge Review; Sham Battles by Mansfield's Ohio National Guardsmen, Battery D; American Legion Drum Corps drill; Cleveland Troop A, mounted policemen giving a show in novel and trick riding; the Boone County Jam-boree doing a regular WLW radio broadcast directly from the fair-ground stage; Egyptian Follies including a spectacular act called "Hitler's Doom."

Other attractions during the week include the second annual tug-of-war contest between man-pulling teams from all of Richland county townships; women's hog calling or husband calling contest; pony races; mule races and an unprecedented draft horse show.

Another feature of the fair will be the inauguration of the Junior Olympics, an athletic event in which all Richland county boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 15 can compete or be spectators. These will be held on Friday and Saturday mornings. Cash prizes will be given the winners.

In the afternoons of these two days children will be admitted to the grandstand shows for 10 cents. Picnic space will be on the fair-ground for those bringing their lunches.

BREAKS LEG, BUT WILL BE AGAIN

The irresistible Grace Edwards of Wellington isn't going to let anything like a leg fracture keep her from becoming a bicyclist.

Mrs. Edwards received the fracture when she ditched her bike and was thrown to the sidewalk at the corner of Benton and Magyar streets Saturday.

Today at the Faus clinic in Wellington, where she will be laid up for repairs for four or five weeks, Mrs. Edwards asserts that as soon as the cast is taken from her leg she will have another try at bicycling.

Mrs. Edwards is the twin sister of Mrs. Mace Edwards, formerly of Plymouth, and a freemason from her father's lodge.

The wheat was of good quality and was "combined" wheat, which tested 13 1-2 per cent moisture and weighed 48 pounds to the bushel. It is Grade No. 2 and was marketed at 70c.

With continued good warm weather, the crop will be better than average with some exceptional good yields. A large part of the crop for thrashing has already been cut and shocked, and before the close of the week a great deal of the combining will be done, when the first real movement to market the grain will begin.

MANY ATTEND SHOP PUTTING

Through the generous hospitality of The Fate-Root-Heath Co. and cooperation of their employees and Plymouth business men, the F-R-H—Plymouth Day picnic held at Chippewa Lake park last Friday, drew a record crowd.

The weather was ideal, and the many free attractions afforded pleasure all day long for both old and young. A ball game, contests and various events gave additional entertainment.

Practically every business firm in Plymouth was closed, and those few who remained at home say: "Plymouth was really a dead place."

Local business men made a contribution of $21 for the fund, and the local union contributed $25. This money was used to help defray the cost of the ice cream, coffee and orangeade.

SOMERLOTT GETS 10-DAY INJUNCTION

In a hearing before Judge Martin at Norwalk Tuesday, Wayne Somerlott, through his attorneys, Young & Young of Norwalk, was granted a 10-day injunction against the Village of Plymouth.

The injunction was granted that the Board of Public Affairs be restrained from cutting off the light and water service of Wayne's Restaurant. The litigation was brought about as a result of the Board of Public Affairs trying to clean-up old and delinquent accounts, and shortages, caused by former clerk A. F. Marvin.

Somerlott states the village claims he owes them $458.00 for light and water, and this he denies.

The court issued an order to Somerlott, granting him 10 days' time to post bond of $458.00 to the case bond.

Those going to Norwalk Tuesday to appear at the hearing were Messrs. Neal Shepherd, Walter Dawson and Willard Wirth, members of the Board; Mayor W. M. Johns, Village Solicitor W. S. Kimball and Wayne Somerlott.

ENRAGED BULL ATTACKS HORSE

Escaping from a pasture on the Ross Young farm, north of Plymouth, an enraged bull attacked a team of horses, causing the death of one of the animals. It was when the hired hand, employed on the Baxter farm, was driving the team, hooked to two mowing machines, from one farm to another that the bull made the attack, which happened shortly before 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. The scene of the attack was in the vicinity of the Greenbush road, east of Guinea Corners.

Realizing the danger resultant from the attack, the driver of the team stated that after the one horse had been gored, that it was necessary to rush the team almost a mile to the Baxter-Ford farm for safety. During the race, the bull trailed the entire distance, and it was only when the team entered the barnyard that the bull let up, being attracted by a cow.

Dr. Babcock, local veterinarian, was summoned to give aid to the injured horse, but it was found necessary to shoot it. The team was an exceptionally fine one, and it is regretted that such drastic action was necessary.

The bull is owned by Sam Bach and Son, who settled for the horse.

GOV. BRICKER TO GIVE TALK AT CHIPPEWA

What promises to be one of the biggest outings in the history of Chippewa Lake park, in Medina county, will be the Governor's Citizenship Day rally and tent to be staged Wednesday, Aug. 7.

HOME PARK IS GAINING IN POPULARITY

Seeking relief from the sweltering July weather, Plymouth's new park has been the mecca the past several weeks for many local picnics, family suppers, and an ideal spot to "cool off" and rest.

Situated far enough off the main highway, visitors to the park are not bothered with traffic or dust. Those who have taken advantage of it find it one of the beauty spots of the county. With its many beautiful trees, the park is shady practically the entire day, so that all spots are "choice."

At present there are four large tables, three fireplaces and plenty of parking space. The playground equipment consists of seesaws, sandpits, swings, outdoor gymnasium and slides. A sloping knoll forms an ideal arena overlooking the baseball diamond where the men usually try their skill.

The only disadvantage at present is the lack of water, but the park committee is doing a splendid job of planning and equipping the park with the very best that can be obtained with the funds on hand. Water assurance, and hand-door toilets are also on the improvement program. Other projects include the erecting of a covered shelter, with the possibility of a building evening to make skating rink on reserved nights.

Messrs. E. B. Curpen, James Root and E. Beryl Miller are on the committee and together with Ott Kincaid motored to Shelby and Ashland Tuesday evening to look over parks and equipments in those towns. Returning home they are more than pleased over the general outline of the home park site, and its possibilities for its beautification. Just "give 'em time," and they'll prove what can be done with Plymouth's new park — with your cooperation, of course.

A number of large gray squirrels are making the park their home at present and could be easily tamed, if not frightened or harmed. One of the most outstanding things of the State capitol's grounds at Columbus are the many squirrels which inhabit it. With a little encouragement, and food, perhaps our park could be made as interesting to these little fellows as the State capitol's grounds are to those who enjoy wild life instead of destroying it.

THE CUCIDA OR 17-YEAR LO-C is due for a short lived visit to this summer. It is one of the earth's truly astonishing forms of insect life. Promptly every seven years it quite suddenly emerges in large numbers and for a few days or weeks the air is filled with the shrill song of the amorous males while the females may inflict at least some damage to shrubs, shade trees, orchards, and forest by sipping the tender bark of twigs to insert their eggs. ## She Thought She Couldn't Afford Gas Service

A small rate increase had become effective in one of our cities and the press had carried news of it. A little old lady came into our office shortly afterward and said that, as much as she liked gas as a fuel, she could not afford it at the new rate. Inquiry revealed that she lived in a suburb where distribution costs were greater. She had been paying a rate higher than the new one all along! Then we showed her what it would cost to do her cooking and water heating with other fuels. At two or three times the rate she was paying, gas would continue as her best bargain. She thanked us for the explanation and went away pleased. Do you consider your gas bill in the light of what the service would cost using other fuels? Even if you paid the national average rate of 7 1/2 cents per 1000 cubic feet, you still would find YOUR GAS CENT IS WELL SPENT.

F. S. A. LOANS AVAILABLE TO ALL TENANTS

Huron county wheat growers who keep within their wheat allotment in 1940 AAA farm program will be eligible for wheat loans amounting to 74 cents a bushel for Grade 2 wheat, Robert E. Finlay, AAA chairman of Huron county, announces.

With a loan rate amounting to 74 cents a bushel and 1940 conservation and parity payments of 19 cents a bushel added, local wheat growers are assured, on the average, of a return of at least 83 cents a bushel at the farm, regardless of market price, the chairman explained.

Loans on wheat stored in approved warehouses mature in 8 months or on April 30, 1941, whichever is earlier. Loans on farm stored wheat will mature 10 months from their respective dates.

The chairman notified farmers that all loans will be made subject to call on demand, at which time producers may pay off the loan plus interest, or deliver the wheat to the Commodity Credit Corporation. It is not anticipated that it will be necessary to call any loans before the maturity date, he declared, but in view of unsettled world conditions, the Corporation has placed the loans on a demand basis to keep the program in a flexible condition.

Many local farmers took advantage of the 1939 wheat loan program, he said. The expiration date of the 1939 loan was April 30, and on that date all loans had been liquidated at a profit at market prices far above the loan rate.

"The success of the wheat loan program is one of the outstanding achievements of the Ever-Normal Granary program during 1939," the chairman commented. "It assured consumers of adequate supplies of wheat and at the same time, the program protected American wheat growers from the effects of demoralized world markets."

The loan rate available in Huron county for all grades of 1940 wheat are as follows:

Grade No. 1, 75¢; Grade No. 2, 74¢; Grade No. 3, 72¢; Grade No. 4, 69¢, and Grade No. 5, 63¢.

Eighteen friends of Julia "Pinkie" Dawson gathered Tuesday afternoon for a general party in observance of her 9th birthday anniversary at her parents' home, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dawson.

The hours between 3 and 5 were devoted to games, contests and of course, the opening of many packages her little guests had brought.

A lovely lunch with appointments in pink and white, with a beautiful cake decorated in the same color scheme delighted the little folks at the close of the games.

Finds Many Interesting Spots In Travel Thru Old State of Kentucky

Editor's Note: This is the third and final series of articles written by Jesse E. LaDow of Mansfield, of his trip to the Mammoth Cave, as well as other interesting points in Kentucky.

Starting on our return to Ohio we find the Abraham Lincoln National Park on our way which is north of Cave City, also Hodgenville, a village of over a thousand population adjacent. We then turn east a ways to Springfield, a town almost the exact size of Plymouth, where the old court house is located that contains the record of the marriage of Thomas Lincoln and Nancy Hanks, parents of the late immortal Abraham Lincoln. Three or four miles north of Springfield is the old Lincoln homestead country monument, containing only a few houses and other points pertaining to the early lives of Thomas Lincoln and Nancy Hanks.

West of Fairview, a village of four hundred people, is where Jefferson Davis was born, a place we did not visit, but were told it has a replica of the log cabin in which he was born and where a memorial obelisk 350 feet high stands, commemorating his memory. At Barrdstown, a beautiful town about the size of Plymouth, to the northwest is located a state park named "My Old Kentucky Home" which contains "Federal Hill," the famous old house which was the subject and inspiration of Stehens Collins Foster's song "My Old Kentucky Home." The home was built in the eighteenth century and contains original furnishings. A small entrance fee is exacted here, and worth it.

We go on our way headed northward to Franklin, which is and has been the capital of Kentucky for a century and a quarter. In the cemetery here was interred the mortal remains of Daniel Boone, as well as of many distinguished deceased of the time. Liberty Hall here was designed by Thomas Jefferson afterwards third President of the United States. A small fee is charged here for entrance and inspection. Coming into Hodgenville from the south there is the "Abraham Lincoln National Park" about three miles distant, which contains a splendid granite memorial and replica of the little log cabin in which Lincoln was born.

We have covered in brief several subjects distinctly characteristic of Kentucky, but have not mentioned one of its chief industries, namely, tobacco. The great tobacco public auctions are held in large warehouses at such centers as Lexington, Frankfort and other advantageous points where prospective bidders have a chance to inspect the proposed offerings in advance of the day of the auction. Crude rubber auctions are conducted in the same general way in Singapore and the Far East, some of which I have attended. We can be excused for mentioning more than mentioning the whiskey distillery interests which have thrived here from long before slavery times to the present. These interests were interrupted a brief time by prohibition laws and which laws seemed to have worked to the benefit of the poorer people and which prohibition laws were repealed and whiskey brokers are held in the influence of the Roosevelt regime. A saloon can now be started and operated on nearly any corner in a town (as it is in Ohio.) "Saloon" is the old-fashioned name of pre-Rooseveltian times. They are now called by the euphonious names of clubs, cocktail lounges, tap rooms, beer parlors, restaurants, taverns, etc., but all tend to the same finish, namely, to destroy the morals of patrons by excesses as well as destroying their industry—if any they have. At the time prohibition was voted out the promise was expressly made that the old-fashioned saloon would never return. Now, the same disease returns disguised under another name and much more virulent.

The fine grade of whiskey made here in Kentucky developed the famous beverage, "mint julep," dearly beloved by Kentucky sportsmen and many others throughout the country's broad and warm the cockles of the heart and soul, led to the saying of "Southern hospitality." In this area of Frankfort and Lexington is the center of the world famous blue grass region, which is the best grass food for horses, and as a consequence fine and fast race horses have been developed. The nationally known aces are annually held at Louisville.

We stopped at Bowling Green, a nice educational town, more than a third larger in size than Norwalk, Ohio, and as far from the cave as Plymouth is from Norwalk. Bowling Green has one of the leading state colleges of Kentucky and within its classic shades we learn that our own Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Thomas, editors and publishers of The Advertiser, spent the first two years of their young married life, he employed on the leading newspaper, Park City Daily News, she having been in clerical employment of the college. In the atmosphere of this educational town of high rank I am persuaded to quote:

"Poetic fields encompass me around
And still I seem to tread on classic ground."
Having remained in Kentucky a time longer than originally planned to write these observations in my several letters expressive of my impressions and with the hopes that our readers have been entertained, if not slightly enlightened, I am ready to say:

"Adieu or Adios" (as the equivalent word is in Mexico.

PONY RUNS INTO CAR; NO INJURY TO BOY RIDER

William Kaysting, 13, of Akron, who is visiting this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ballis Kennedy of the North Street road, can count himself a lucky boy and relate a most thrilling experience when he returns to his home.

William has been having the time of his life this week on the farm, and seldom having a chance to ride a pony, was delighted when he had the opportunity to ride "Roxie," a pony on the farm. barback across the yard to the pasture on the opposite side of the road. But "Roxie" had other plans and seeming to know she had a "greenie" on her back, refused to obey, making a dash across the road.

Elton Robertson, owner of the Factory Radio Shop, was driving into Plymouth in his Plymouth sedan, at the time, which was about 5:30 o'clock, Tuesday evening, and "Roxie" smashed into the car. William was thrown clear off the pony and across the top of the car onto the road, receiving only minor injuries. The car window was broken and both doors on the left side of the machine were damaged. "Roxie" fared the worst, the handle of the car door making a huge gash in her neck and a smaller cut about a half inch from the jugular vein, requiring twelve stitches.
