

VOTERS TO ELECT NEW VILLAGE OFFICIALS AT ELECTION TUESDAY

Next Tuesday, Nov. 4th, is election day, and as there are two candidates for Mayor; opposition for Treasurer, and an extra candidate for council, there is no doubt but what the race will draw out a large number of voters.

Support Those Who Cooperate

Each week when you read The Advertiser, it is possible you overlook those who are responsible for it. With this in mind, we, as publishers, ask you to support the firm listed below, who are regular advertisers in our columns, and who make it possible for the continuance of The Advertiser.

When you buy, you will be showing a great favor, in making your purchases at those stores who advertise. And, remember, each week, to look over the ads... read them thoroughly, and print by trading at the stores that advertise. Our regular advertisers are:

- The Plymouth Theatre, Brown & Miller Hardware, J. B. Derr and Harry Vandervort, Webber's Drug Store, Clover Leaf Farm, Shutt's Grocery, Kroger's, Wm. Hough, Jerry's Market, The Black & Gold, Rule Clothing Store, Plymouth Grain Elevator, Harold Ross (Sohio Station), Ford Repair Shop.

James Rhine, present village clerk, has no opposition. L. Z. Davis, who has been acting as Treasurer for the past several months, will have opposition in the coming election. Mrs. Clay Hulbert having announced her candidacy for this office, also.

On the ticket for council, Messrs. E. C. Markley, H. V. Ruckman, Joe Schindler, P. Peters, W. C. Dawson and Otto L. Kinsel filed their petition as a group, headed by J. B. Derr, candidate for mayor. A. D. Points, who failed to make up his mind in time to get his name printed on the ballot, is joining that local voters elect him - councilman on a "write-in" ticket. This is the first time in many years an office-seeker has asked that his name be written in on any ballot at an election.

Candidates who are asking for election to the Board of Public Affairs are: B. R. Scott, H. O. Dowd and W. S. Shephard. Shephard is the only one on the present Board of Public Affairs or Council, asking to be retained in office.

In the race of the school board there are no new candidates, but three present incumbents of the board, Dr. Hannum, T. R. Ford and J. F. Root are on the ticket for reelection. Messrs. George Hershiser and Roy Johnson have two more years to serve.

On the ticket for village clerk, as constable of Plymouth township on a "write-in" ticket. For the first time in more than ten years Plymouth is presenting a candidate for a county or township office. Joe Hodges, who has resided in Plymouth for the past five years, is seeking nomination as a Trustee of New Haven Township. Hodges has served the village school board as clerk, and has been a member of the village council. He is well qualified for the office, and there is little doubt but what Plymouth will throw its entire support to Hodges, but it will be necessary for him to carry a large number of Willard votes in order to be elected.

In the line-up for New Haven Township trustees are: Walter Noble, Chas. Wyandt, John Feichtner and Joe Hodges. There are two to be elected, but Noble and Feichtner are present incumbents. Chas. Willoughby, the present member of the trustees, carries over for another two years.

Plymouth Township Trustees In the race for Plymouth Township trustees are George W. (Bill) Harris, George Cheesman, and Virgil Baird, who are now in office. O. L. Dick and S. F. Stein are also seeking places on the board. This race promises to be keenly contested, as all candidates are well-known and well-liked in their respective communities.

The old-timers say this is an "off-year" election, and that the "farm vote" won't come out as they would in a regular state election, and this angle is worrying a few of the candidates. However, it is said, that if election day is a rainy one, the farmers will come out and vote.

In this day and age, we should exercise our right to vote at any election, and in doing so we are able to maintain our democratic form of government. More than ever before, we should exercise our right to vote, and exercise our knowledge and ability in selecting the best man for the office.

Come out and vote next Tuesday, Nov. 4th. PLYMOUTH GRANGE MEETING Plymouth Grange will meet at the Fourth School on Friday evening, Nov. 7th, to give the first and second degree work. It is requested that all members be present. Meeting will start at eight o'clock.

Methodist Prepare Anniversary Booklet

As a part of the 125th Anniversary plans of the Methodist Church an anniversary booklet has been prepared. This is the only printed record available of the church's growth of the church. It contains much interesting history which will be a value to any who are interested in the church in future years. There are pictures, of the congregation taken this summer, also of the church and parsonage, the pastor, district superintendent and bishop. Another item of interest is the record of the pastors who have served the church during its existence. Copies may be secured from Messrs. Jessie Cole, Mrs. Robert Lewis or from the Advertiser. Out of town people seeing this notice may secure a copy by sending 50c in stamps to the office, or the pastor, Rev. H. T. Wintermute.

ANNIVERSARY IS GREAT SUCCESS

Methodist Church is Mecca For Large Crowds at All Services

The outstanding event of the three-day program commemorating the 125th anniversary of the local Methodist church was the pageant presented Saturday evening. Portraying the early history of Plymouth and the part the church played in its growth, the pageant was based on facts and history taken from church records and characters were those of actual personages. The play was written by Rev. H. T. Wintermute, and directed by Mrs. Wintermute. Costumes and properties were in charge of Mrs. Donald Dunham and Mrs. Earl McQuate. Many valuable relics and heirlooms were loaned and gave that "long ago" setting so necessary to a pageant of this nature.

The play opened as a present day scene, with a grandmother talking to her little granddaughter as the child asks questions about the early days in Plymouth. The grandmother refers the child to the great-grandmother for answers to her questions. Mrs. George Hershiser takes the cast as grandmother, Susanne Farrar as the granddaughter and Mrs. Elmer Markley, the great-grandmother and reader of the pageant.

The episodes include the organization of a Methodist class of the first class meeting, the coming of the Circuit rider, many actual statements and incidents regarding the building of the present church, a typical meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society and a challenge for the future.

THURSDAY EVENING Thursday evening over a hundred members and guests sat down to a bounteous dinner with J. B. Derr acting as toastmaster for the program. The guest speaker was Rev. Corwin of Mansfield while other numbers were messages from the Presbyterians, Lutheran churches, groups singing and solo.

SUNDAY SERVICES Rev. Karl P. Meister, district superintendent, gave the Sunday morning message at the Church is the Church, while the afternoon services were arranged as a homecoming for past ministers, old friends and members of the church. Rev. J. C. Campbell, Cleveland, Rev. C. F. Mott, Grafton, Rev. F. (Continued on Page Eight)

EVERYTHING SET FOR THE BIG HALLOWEEN PARTY FRIDAY EVE.

According to the program for Friday night, Plymouth's Halloween party will be a big success. There is to be a masked parade; prizes for the various costumes; and the different types of people that wear them; prizes for various farm produce, etc., as well as a contest of old time fiddlers. One of the events that will attract most everyone will be the masked parade which will form at 8 o'clock and march through the city streets. It's going to be the funniest, most entertaining affair ever held here.

Another feature is the FREE CIDER. All you have to do is bring your own milk. The committee for the Halloween party has obtained barrels of the finest apple cider you ever tasted, and you'll enjoy a couple of glasses. After the parade, a BIG FREE

URGE HALF-MILL LEVY PASSAGE IN HURON CO.

Dr. W. W. Lawrence, health Commissioner of Huron county, urged the Huron county board of residents of Huron county, live in the north end of town to vote for the half-million levy at the fall election to combat tuberculosis. In Huron county, at the present time, tuberculosis is being used to aid tuberculars, and is one of a very few counties in this section of the state that has not established a special "war chest" to battle the disease. It was pointed out that so far as known there are 31 active cases of tuberculosis in the county now and lacking means of segregating and treating these cases, it will take but a few years for the number to soar over the hundred mark.

Up to 1939 money for this purpose was available through the county commissioners but the past two years no money was allocated and consequently the work is at a standstill.

The levy will be presented on Nov. 4th to the voters and if passed, will remain in effect for two years only, and all funds received will be used in the care of tubercular patients and in preventing spread of tuberculosis. It was emphasized that not one cent of the proceeds of the levy will be used for administrative purposes.

Huron county is well up on the list for accredited cattle and the tubercular free herd, shouldn't the county as a whole, do as much for its fellowmen? The answer is up to the voters, Nov. 4th.

FILE SUITS

CHILDREN FILE TWO SUITS IN DEATH OF FATHER.

Two suits, claiming $11,505.50 for the death of William D. Echeberry, Republic livestock and wool buyer, have been filed in common pleas court, Tiffin, by his daughter, Mrs. Louise E. Dungan as administratrix of his estate. Both suits were filed against Lloyd Rhoad of Bloomington, an outgrowth of an automobile collision April 18, last, on State Route 19, south of the Republic cooperation limits.

Mrs. Dungan says her father was injured when a car in which he was riding as a passenger and a car driven by Rhoad collided. She charges Rhoad with negligence in that he asks $1,505.50 for which $1,000 is claimed for suffering of Mr. Echeberry prior to his death April 22, 1935 for medicine and $400 for funeral expenses.

In the other suit, $10,000 is claimed in behalf of the next of kin, Frederick, Robert and John, sons and Mrs. Dungan, daughter. Mr. Robert Echeberry is of Plymouth.

Around the Square

(By Phineas Whittlesed) THE USUAL "BLUE MONDAY" weather prevailed in Plymouth, and there was a tinge of winter in the air. We've been busy fixing up for the first snow and the long siege that follows.

YEP, THE POLITICAL POT IS beginning to boil but under the circumstances it's not so very much steam, for there is very little opposition among local office-seekers. Township trustee candidates are warming up their campaign for the day. They were from Plymouth and New Haven township.

FOUND "DOC" AND MRS. Searle's packing up Sunday night, ready to depart for the sunny climes of Florida early Monday morning. They will be located at 2318 Manatee Ave., Bradenton, Fla., for the winter.

MRS. WILBUR DEWITT Accompanied the Searles on their trip south. She will spend a short time with her daughter Luella at Tampa. Mrs. DeWitt has certainly earned her short vacation.

WE REGRET TO REPORT THAT the condition of Harry Knight isn't considered so good as this writing. Harry's been in the insurance game here for many years, and his presence around the Square is missed.

SAID AN "EARLY GOOD MORNING" and "goodbye" to Mrs. H. F. Root and her son Bob, who also left Monday by motor for Miami, Fla. Mrs. Root is planning on spending the winter at Miami, where Bob will enter the Embury-Riddle Aviation School.

JUDGING FROM THE WEEK'S news the English are taking vacation while Hitler is taking Russia.

MY PHOTOGRAPHIC COLLEAGUE, Tom Root, son of M. and Mrs. P. H. Root, expects to leave today for Miami also. Tom will enter the Embury-Riddle school, and will make his home with Mr. H. F. Root and Bob. So Plymouth will be well represented throughout the state of Florida during the winter season.

AFTER SENDING ALL THIS business south I think the State of Florida should send the Village a carload of Oranges or a bucket of sand.

THE 125th ANNIVERSARY OF the Methodist Church brought back to Plymouth several former residents and members. On Sunday, Rev. J. C. Campbell, former pastor, and Mrs. Campbell came to Plymouth for the day. They were given a cordial welcome, and it was a real pleasure to have them with us again.

ABOUT THE BIGGEST SURPRISE of the week occurred on Sunday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Thornburn S. Davis and children arrived unexpectedly. Mr. Davis is a former superintendent, and is now a Superintendent of the Cleveland Heights High School, which has 8600 students enrolled.

THERE IS NO QUESTION BUT what both Mr. and Mrs. Davis hold dear, their memories of Plymouth, for they visited several landmarks; their former residence, and numerous friends. In the short time here they paid visits to Mrs. Georgia Shaffer, Dr. Mrs. G. J. Searle, Emeline Simmons, Kenneth Myers, Wayne Somerlott and others. It was indeed a pleasure to have them with us again, and say, it has been a real thrill to "show off" our park. Folks, you should hear what the out-of-towners say about this spot.

SUPT. DAVIS WILL BE BEST remembered by Bill Caldwell of Pontiac, "Pinky" Becker of Flint, Mich.; Ben Colyer of Akron; Donald Akers of Plymouth, Kenneth Myers, and a score of others, who were youngsters at the time Davis served in Plymouth's school, and they all agree he was "right"

Two of the nation's most attractive feminine singers will be featured in the RCA Victor Dance Caravan, which arrives in the Cleveland Public Auditorium on Wednesday evening, November 5th, for a five days engagement. Pictured above are Connie Haines featured vocalist with Tommy Dorsey, and Ann Perry the new 18-year old discovery of Shep Fields.

Connie and Ann will be appearing ever night with their respective bands, which will play for continuous dancing every evening from 8:30 P. M. until 1 A. M. Dorsey and Fields will be set up on bandstands, opposite each other, in the center of the hall, surrounded by giant palm trees and tropical foliage reminiscent of the South American night club. On the stage, will be a giant waterfall with real water constantly flowing against spectacular lighting effects.

In addition to Connie Haines, Dorsey, "that sentimental gentleman of swing" will feature his trombone playing, along with other, in the center of the hall, surging Frank Sintura, Buddy Rich, Ziggy Elman and the Pied Pipers. Fields, bring his all-new orchestra without any brass instruments will introduce Pat Foy and the Fields saxophone choir along with Ann Perry.

Case Dismissed

The last legal barrier was removed Saturday making possible the administration of the estimated $350,000 estate of the late Bishop William Montgomery Brown of Bucyrus, whose estate has been involved in litigation for four years.

Dismissed in probate court Saturday, a motion to reopen the estate of the wife of the late Bishop left the way clear to proceed with administration. In a jury verdict rendered in common pleas court Friday in an action contesting the validity of Brown's will, the document was declared valid and the judgment was certified to probate court for execution.

The will provided for $10,000 to be set aside for a suitable mausoleum for the bishop and his deceased wife and provided for other legacies including $5,000 to be paid out of a trust fund set by the bishop's wife for promotion of the Communist party. Bishop Brown is an uncle of Mrs. Lillian Voisard of Plymouth.

Sportsmen's Meeting

The Huron County meeting for hearing proposals for any changes in the fishing laws for 1942 will be held at District Headquarters at 20 E. Elm St., Norwalk at 8 p. m. Nov. 5th.

All organizations as well as Conservation Leagues and sportsmen who do not belong to any clubs are urged to be present at this meeting. Questionnaires will be given out and later they will be tabulated in order to get a general idea of what the wishes of the sportsmen are. These questionnaires may also be obtained from county game protector Joe Walker of Greenwich.

Warning To Trappers

The new law on trapping this year provides that all traps used except those used on bona fide fur farms must be marked with the owners name and address, either stamped on the traps or on a metal tag securely attached to traps.

All traps set or placed without such identification will be subject to confiscation.

Navy Makes Drive For Enlistments

According to Secretary of the Navy, Frank Knox, an advertising campaign for naval enlistments will be conducted in Ohio and Illinois. These two states have been selected by the United States Navy as "test" states in the campaign to secure enlistments.

In a letter from Mr. Knox, it is stated that the Navy has never lacked for volunteers, but due to the rapidity in the completion of the two-ocean Navy, men are needed in all branches to outfit the ships.

Within a few days The Advertiser will have much information concerning the opportunities afforded young men who join the Navy. We ask every young man, who is physically fit, and who wants to make a future for himself, to consider seriously the enlistment as a naval recruit.

The Navy today, as always, offers the best opportunity to gain knowledge and experience, and a permanent place in which to earn a comfortable livelihood. You can make no mistake when you join up with Uncle Sam's first line of defense.

CROW HUNTING

Now is the season of the year when crows flock together to fly further south for the winter than their summer nesting grounds and many hunters renew the ever popular sport of crow-hunting. Several inquiries have been received by the Ohio Division of Conservation as to whether or not a license is needed to hunt crows. The answer is a decided "yes." A license is required to hunt any bird or animal, whether it is on the game list or not.

There were seventeen members present and one guest, Mrs. Bessie Barber. Mrs. Wirth was unable to be present. Mrs. Mary Fleck had charge of the Devotional period. The business meeting was in charge of the President, Mrs. Fleck. A letter was read by the secretary from Roy Farnsworth, who is located at Camp Shelby.

A letter was also read by Miss Jessie Cole from a school for colored boys at Laurensburg, North Carolina. This school had a disastrous fire the day after the fall semester opened, and although the actual damage to the buildings was covered with insurance, the boys lost all their scanty possessions. The class voted to send $5.00 to this worthy cause.

After a pleasant social evening the class adjourned to meet in November at the home of Mrs. Sadie Ford with Mrs. Fox and Miss Jessie Cole assisting.

HOSPITAL PLAN ENDORSED HERE

MANY PLYMOUTH CITIZENS SUBSCRIBE TO HOSPITAL INSURANCE.

So far twenty-eight Plymouth citizens (not including Fate-Root-Heath Company employees) have subscribed to the "Blue Cross" hospital insurance plan which is a community service, non-profit insurance plan now being used throughout the United States.

However, not only the twenty-eight subscribers will benefit from the plan, but also the husband or wife and all children in the family between the ages of one and eighteen. As a result there are nearly seventy citizens at present who will have their hospital bills paid should the need arise.

Below are the names of those persons who have subscribed to date: Mrs. Charles Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hendricks, Mrs. Josie Bachrach, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Thornhill and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. McQuate and family, Mr. and Mrs. Earl McQuate and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis, Mrs. Mable McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Blanchard, Miss Caroline Bachrach, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Somerlott and family, Muriel Vinson, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hampton and family, Mrs. Josephine Jerome Ratcliffe, Mr. and Mrs. George Lippert, Mr. and Mrs. Don Einsel, Jr. and family, Mr. and Mrs. Stacy Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Meier and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Ford and family, Mr. Mahlon Nimmons, Mr. and Mrs. Elden Nimmons, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lofland, Mr. Gene Cornell, Mr. George Mamber, Earl Cashman, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cashman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Knight, Mr. George Henry Watts.

It is, of course impossible for the members of the committee to get in touch with every citizen in Plymouth, but if any person is interested a member of the committee will be very happy to explain the plan to him or her. The committee consists of Earl McQuate, Stacy Brown and James Root.

The Fate-Root-Heath Company is now using the plan having over two-hundred subscribers with nearly eight-hundred receiving benefits from it. Already twenty-five employees or members of their families have had their hospital bills paid.

The Civic Club wants to impress the fact that this plan is a non-profit insurance plan with neither the Civic Club nor any member in it receiving one cent for any insurance sold, but it is only through such a group as the Civic Club that a person can subscribe to the plan. This plan is endorsed by the Mansfield, Shelby, Willard, and Lodi hospitals in this vicinity.

A LETTER ON THE TWO-MILL LEVY

Dear Parents,

We are anxious to have you out at the polls this year because there is an issue concerning the schools to be voted upon in which you, as parents, are vitally interested. This issue is the 2-mill levy for the support of the schools. We hope the following facts may impress upon you the importance of BEING AT THE POLLS, Tuesday, Nov. 4, and voting "Yes" on this issue.

1. Your schools have been barely able to maintain their present standards WITH the two mill levy. Without it these standards must be lowered.

2. Do you realize that the state sets the maximum number of pupils under one teacher at 30? In the Cass Village Schools the SMALLEST enrollment in the Vocational Building Open For Inspection At The Next P. T. A.

Last Spring Mr. Joseph and Mr. Nesbitt attended a meeting of school men at Ashland. It was at this meeting he received information on how Shiloh may get a new vocational building through the aid of the National Youth Administration.

This building has materialized and will be opened for inspection on Monday evening, Nov. 3 after the Parent-Teachers meeting.

The National Youth Administration made funds available of $5,520.00 for labor. The Board of Education purchased the materials. The money for materials will come from the surplus in the bond and interest funds. The money in the bond and interest funds cannot be used for general operation.

Mr. Howard F. Myers, architect, was the general contractor. The labor was taken from the Shiloh community, made up of boys between the ages of 16-21 years.

The boys that worked on this project were: Jay Moser, Dewey Ruckman, Robert Alfrey, Ralph Willett, Delmar Nesbitt, Paul Clark, George Adams, Kenneth Sisinger, Lester Ramey, Gerald Bush, William Kepple, Donald Dawson, Junior Brown, Neal Garrett, Eugene Rulless, Dale Troxell and Joe Witche.

The timekeepers were Doris Reynolds, Janice Moser and Ann Krasna.

The skilled laborers were: Dalton McDougall, steam-fitter, John Piffner, electrician; Martin Williams, bricklayer, Creston Haines, roofer and plumber, Melvin Howard, plasterer.

This building will be a great asset to the community. The new equipment will enable the boys to learn all forms of wood-working, electric welding, forging and metal working.

We invite you to inspect the building next Monday evening at which time each new tool will be demonstrated.

So you're all ears to learn more about our class play, "Henpecked Hero." Ted Slocum is that handsome football coach that we told you about last week. He is an athlete. He is about twenty-seven and full of fun. This part is portrayed by Junior James.

A close friend of Helen Hallmark is Doris Darlett, a college senior about nineteen. She is very grade school is 44, the LARGEST. No teacher can possibly give adequate instruction to this number of children. Unless the 2-mill levy passes this overworked condition cannot be improved in the next year as the enrollment is increasing rather than decreasing.

Several of the largest taxpayers in the school district have been contacted and have declared their willingness to support this measure. Even those who have no children in the schools see the need of keeping up the high standards of our schools. Are you as parents willing to see them lowered?

4. A 2-mill levy means only 20 cents on each $100.00 of your tax evaluation. Where could you get more for your money?

lively and peppy. She is really in love with Bud Cedman but will not admit it. This part is portrayed by Jane Stiving.

Bud Cedman is also a college senior about nineteen. He is very lively but loves to act. He isn't so keen about acting when Ted asks him to pose as a countess. He finally does, persuade by Ted, who tells him that he will be near Doris. This character part is portrayed by Junior Brown.

This very exciting play, for there is never a dull moment, is to be presented November 26, 1941. Plan now to attend.

LATIN CLUB

During a conversation in Latin II class the other day, some one made an unusual suggestion of playing Latin. A few of us had never played anagrams before, but we were eager to learn all about it. We progressed all right until we started to draw too many of the same letters. We enjoyed the games very much though and hope to play this game again soon. At our next meeting we shall discuss our Latin Magazine, which we received on last Friday.

LETTERS FROM BOYS IN CAMP

Another of our Plymouth boys, Ray Dawson, is located at Fort Crockett, Texas. In a letter to his mother, Mrs. E. E. Dawson, he describes "the recent hurricane which swept the south. He is all finding out that the "army moves on its stomach" for he is one of the army cooks and just recently has received his private first class and 3rd class special. This entitles him to a raise in salary and considerable more responsibility which he evidently enjoys.

Excerpts taken from the letter are as follows:

"The Hurricane was an exciting experience. The day was dark and the wind blew storm warnings were being announced over all local stations, as to the direction and speed barometer readings; at that time the hurricane was 150 miles or more out at sea, heading our way. Monday a. m. we were given orders to pack everything in preparation for leaving the tent area. After dinner a friend and I started for the show in town, but when we arrived the stores were wearing up their display windows and the people were starting to become excited, so we "hiked" back to camp. The men were already carrying their coats, bedding, clothes, foot lockers, bags, etc., into the mess hall. Next we took all the tents down and boarded up the windows with the board walks.

At 4 o'clock p. m. we ate hamburger and cold supper, a big fat major came in and had a hamburger with us. That was one time that a major didn't seem any better than a private. Soon after the hamburgers we "dined" with full packs and marched to the permanent barracks of the 20th C. A. (about 4 blocks). These barracks are built to withstand shell fire, so we felt safe. We had to sleep on the cement floors except the cooks. The men felt that we should have what few beds there were. The men were fed pretty good all the time but after the storm the men had no appetites like woodmen and we had a problem on our hands. I was cooking without butter, eggs, milk or bacon.

The men didn't seem to be scared at any time. The wind was so strong it blew the rain right in the cracks of the windows. The barracks were only 300 yards from the Gulf, and we all kind of kept an eye on that "angry sea." The tide was 5 feet above normal and in 1915 a high tidal wave swept over the walls and flooded the city."

A typical meal as prepared by Ray and his staff is baked pork chops, buttered English peas, mashed potatoes, brown gravy, lettuce and pineapple salad, fruit cocktail, hot rolls, butter, mayonnaise and lemonade. Ray makes all the rolls without any baking equipment.

Through an error the men were fed on 57 cents a day for a while but upon discovery the rate was reduced to 37 cents to make up and later placed on their allotment of 46 cents per man per day.

A large number of recruits have reached their 28th birthday in this group and expect to soon go back to civilian life. On his days off he usually visits some historical spots, such as The Alamo, built in 1718, San Antonio, Texas, built swimming in the Gulf and looks forward to the weekly arrival of the Advertiser and letters from home.

SIGN CONTRACTS FOR OUT - DOOR MOVIES

With the free out-door movies in Plymouth and other nearby towns closed for the season, Ed Ramsey announces that plans for the 1942 season are already in the making.

Mr. Ramsey, owner of the Plymouth Theatre and the out-door movie trucks and trailers states that so far he has signed up twelve weekly performances. During the past season fifteen shows were put on weekly.

That the towns and villages really enjoy this type of entertainment is shown by the fact that the following have signed up again: Seville, West Salem, Tiffin, Shreve, Applecreek, New Washington, North Park, Mansfield and Plymouth. Mr. Ramsey has been operating in these towns from two to nine years and in several of them twice a week.

HISTORY OF THE ADVERTISER, YOUR LOCAL PAPER, AS TOLD BY JESSE E. LADOW OF MANSFIELD

Editor's Note:

We are greatly indebted to Mr. Jesse E. LaDow of Mansfield, a native of Plymouth, for the following interesting account of the Plymouth Advertiser, your local newspaper. He has spent a great deal of time and study in looking up these facts and we hope this article will prove as interesting to the many readers of the Advertiser as we have found it. It is the first complete history we have ever had the privilege of reading of Plymouth's only newspaper.

Acknowledgment is made to Mr. Charles Van Tassel of Bowling Green, Ohio, publisher and historian; author of 'Book of Ohio,' 'Great American Historical Classics,' 'Story of the Maumee Valleyland and Sandusky Region,' 'Great Events of History' and other publications. For the exception and his efforts have given me in arranging this article.—J. E. L.

By Jesse E. LaDow

It is a trustworthy fact, a tradition, that one David Ross Locke, born in the old country, crossed roads town of Vesta, Boone-co, New York, still in existence and in population less than 200 people, was the honorable founder of the Plymouth Advertiser, and he christened it as such. He did not attempt so bold a venture alone but was joined by one James G. Robinson as a partner. This was in the year of Grace, 1852.

His basic preparation for this and other ventures to follow later on was that his hardheaded father Nathaniel, had apprenticed him out for a seven year term to the publisher of a newspaper called the Democracy, published in Cortland, N. Y., a neighboring county-seat town in the southern part of New York, bordering the state of Pennsylvania, when David was ten years of age. Here David worked attentively until the end of his term, and when he was seventeen he was a journeyman printer fully equipped and educated in the school of experience and hard knocks, and started for the 'west' and in due course at Plymouth, Ohio, from Pittsburgh, where they had been reporters on a newspaper a short time.

He and Robinson kindred spirits, one at impoverished as the others, pooled their small means and through a deal for an old used printing press—a kind of a printing outfit—and with it started the paper; did the editing, wrote the copy, set it in type and ran off the edition by hand. They got things going.

The whole community was at that time in a state of financial distress as they were. After about two years of attentive hardwork, and struggle, they sold the paper as a going concern for $1,000, the proceeds of which was divided between them. This was their first big successful venture. Then at that time David felt financially able to venture again, though in a different direction, and he married the 'Beauty of Plymouth,' Miss Martha Bodine, a fine splendid character and a member of a pioneer family, married by Rev. J. M. Hayes, Congregational minister, March 7, 1855. That new partnership proved successful as she was a good wife and helpmate, and in time became the mother of three sons.

A little later on in the year of 1856, after mentally surveying and weighing the territory in northwestern Ohio, for a place to alight on again, he chose Bucyrus, not far from his original place (Plymouth). At this time attention was attracted to him by literary men prior to, and during the civil war period. In 1856 he founded the Bucyrus Journal, but in the meantime he was identified in Mansfield with the Herald and in Bellefontaine with the Republican, and then during the first part of the Civil War he became editor and proprietor of the Findlay Jeffersonian (now nonexistent).

While in Plymouth it is said the landlord from whom he rented approached him and told him he was sorry but he would have to raise his rent and he rejoined that he was glad he could do it as he couldn't raise it. He is reported once upon a time as saying that if there is any grade of poverty from which there is no further descent that editing a paper in a small country town must be of that grade, and I was well down on the end of it, too, when running the Jeffersonian at Findlay, I set my own type, carried the print paper on a truck from storage, worked off the weekly edition on an old run-down hand press and wrote or scissored out of the exchanges everything the sheet contained.

Farmers Adopt Certain Resolutions at Ashland Meeting Last Thursday

Approximately 2500 farmers were present last Thursday night at the Ohio Marketing Quota Protest Association meeting held in Ashland. With 150 state and county offices from 25 member counties present, the following conclusions were reached:

1. That no farmer should pay the wheat penalty, except by a certified check, and then write on the face of the check "Paid under protest." Keep the cancelled check for evidence.
2. That the farmers who do not have to sell or give their wheat should give a bond, and they should write on the face of the bond with pen and ink, so that it cannot be erased, these words: "Given under protest."
3. That those farmers who feel that the law is so plainly unconstitutional on its face, that it is no law at all, and who refuse to pay the penalty or give bond, not attempt to sell the wheat or dispose of it surreptitiously; if they wish to feed it to their livestock, do so openly and knowingly; above board, so that the world may know that they refused to be regimented and that they intend to resist the abuses of the government, acting under an unconstitutional law.
4. The farmers should continue to hold mass meetings and let the bureaucrats at Washington know that there is a "God in Israel".

5. That this vicious law (The Wheat Penalty Act) must be fought in the Courts and in Congress, and if necessary that the Constitution must be rewritten, so that Mr. Wickard can understand it.
6. But under NO CIRCUMSTANCES should anyone attempt to dispose of this wheat in a secret manner. The farmers of this nation do not have to stoop to subterfuge to get justice, if they stick and work together.
There will be a Richland county meeting next Tuesday night at the Bellville high school auditorium at 8 o'clock. All farmers are invited to attend.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Plymouth Advertiser has kindly extended to me this opportunity to announce to the voters of Plymouth my candidacy for the office of Mayor, and I hope that in this way you as a voter may become better acquainted with me and learn of my qualification for that office.
I am a native of Ohio and was graduated from the Hamilton High School (Vinton county) in the year 1916. The fifth-born of nine children, it was necessary to work whenever and wherever a job could be found and thus from the age of 10 to 18 years I worked at many different occupations. On a farm, a coal mine, moulder's shanty, in timber, drove a team, railroad section hand, brick yards, etc. I carried a hod and many other jobs too numerous to list here. These items are mentioned to assure you that the problems of the working man are well understood by the writer.
After graduation I was employed in the accounting department of the Dayton Power & Light Co. In the summer of 1917 enlisted at Ft. Thomas, Ky., in the U. S. Marine Corps, where I served (Aug. 3, 1917 to July 1, 1919) nearly two years, 18 months of which was overseas. I have been active in veterans' affairs since November, 1919.
I have had night school training and many years of general business administration, accounting and personnel work and was employed in the general accounting department of the Telephone Co., in Cleveland for 12 years. In the year 1928 while employed by the Telephone Co. I was elected as a member of the council in Fairview Village, a suburb of Cleveland.
I was married in Plymouth in the year 1920 and have two children. We are all active members of the local Presbyterian church. We have moved to Plymouth our home for the past five years. I trust this brief outline of my career will convince you that I am worthy and well qualified to perform the duties of Mayor and that I seek the office earnestly. I do believe that the people of our village are capable of governing themselves honestly and efficiently.

My petition was personally filed as an independent candidate and I have made no promise to any person or group of persons. Only under these circumstances do I desire to be elected as Mayor of Plymouth.
Very truly yours,
Harry A. Vandervoort.

IN MEMORIAM

CAROLINE FISHER—Mother of Bertha Muma.
In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, who passed away 10 years ago on November 6, 1931:
"God calls to his fold a few each year,
Ten years back you were chosen my dear,
He took you away to his happy land
And taught you to watch with a guiding hand.
Although your presence is not in sight,
We know you watch us and lead us right,
How we miss you dear mother of ours,
As we know you taught us the right and that
The way of the Cross leads hope.

Anniversary

A. Hinman, Lakeside, all former partners returned to greet old friends and deliver short messages. Messages from absent members and friends were read by Mrs. Thurman Ford.
One of the highlights of the afternoon program was the presentation of Miss Eva White of Elyria, by E. E. Markley the only living member who can recall the building of the present brick structure seventy-five years ago. She has been a most faithful member of the Methodist church for about three quarters of a century, a record few people can equal. Since most of Miss White's life has been spent in Plymouth she still feels and thinks of Plymouth as her home, although at present she makes her home in Elyria. Special tribute was paid Miss White who very charmingly responded with a short talk. While here she was entertained in the home of Mrs. Henry Cole and Miss Jessie Cole.
Open house at the parsonage try led immediately following the afternoon services for visiting with former members and friends. A vote of thanks is extended to all those who helped and assisted in any way to make the anniversary such a success.

Around the Square
there's with the discipline, which probably did them all a lot of good.
WE'RE GETTING 'OFF THE SQUARE' when we say that these farmers who think the A. A. is unjust should pity the little business man along about the first of the year. There are rumblings in Washington that indicate we're going to be "boos-tied" more than ever. And it's three long years before another election.
AND SPEAKING OF FINANCE. It's going to take a lot more than inflation to balance the budget—or do we have one?

IN A WAY I'M ALWAYS GLAD to see the first frost—to kill the pesky flies. And yet I hate to see the Fall flowers wilt, especially those in the yards of L. E. Major and E. K. Trauger. They, along with many other gardens in Plymouth, have been exceptionally beautiful this season.
HARRY SHUTT SAYS HE'S BEGINNING to "feel at home" in his new location on the southeast corner of the Square. It was a big job, moving the grocery stock, but Harry and his helpers did it in a quiet way. As a result, Shutt's Grocery is progressing along very nicely.
THERE'S A CERTAIN ENCHANTMENT in the manner Gertrude Cornell braids her hair... the big surprise of the week is that of the Greenwich lad who possessed the ability to make Gerry Ramsey promise... Franks which mean work—children marking up auto windshields and windows, for Halloween.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK: Straight is the way and narrow is the path, but it's darn hard to keep on it when the village gossipers get through with you.
