ENGINEER HIRED TO DRAW UP PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS ON NEW PLANT; TOTAL COST TO BE APPROXIMATE $85,000.

At the regular monthly meeting of the village council held Tuesday night, an ordinance was passed authorizing the mayor and clerk to enter into a contract with A. J. Simon and Associates to draw up detailed plans and specifications for a municipal light and power plant.

This action was prompted after many months' study by the council in regard to a municipal plant. In order to get the view point of electric consumers in Plymouth on this subject has been in circulation for several weeks and this was presented to council Tuesday evening with 300 signers favoring a municipal-owned plant.

The discussion of a municipal plant for Plymouth began several months ago when the Ohio Power company offered the village a lower rate if the village would sign a ten-year contract. The fact that the mayor and council did not feel that this was the proper time to sign up for ten years, the subject gained more momentum. As a result, various towns which own and operate municipal plants were visited and in every instance they have found to be a paying proposition, and with even lower rates than what Plymouth users are now paying.

The action of the council in beginning proceedings on the municipal project is the result of many surveys and much thought on the subject. The mayor and council feel that they are doing what the majority of the people of Plymouth wish—to own their own plant and to get a lower rate in the course of the year.

In no way does the construction of a new light plant increase local taxes. The plant is to be built and all equipment furnished by the sale of mortgage revenue bonds, and these bonds do not in any manner, have any effect on local taxes.

While the estimated cost of the plant completely equipped is set at $85,000, it is easily understood that this itself is an estimate, that it will approach a figure of $100,000 over a period of years. If a ten-year contract with the Ohio Power Co. is signed, at the present rate of power, it is estimated that Plymouth electric consumers will have paid out in the ten-year period, around $182,000.

It will approximately be two or three weeks before the consulting engineers can get plans and specifications completed, but it is the intention of the council to start proceedings as quickly as possible so that construction of the plant can be completed by late fall. The plant will no doubt be constructed on the property which is now housing the old light plant just south of Burtisfield avenue.

Marshal Goes On Vacation

Last Thursday, Marshal Otis Moore turned over his badge and credentials to Henry Fackler of the police committee, and told Fackler that he was "taking a vacation."

The action of Moore, who has been town marshal for several years, was prompted by a recent ordinance passed by the village council governing the time and number of hours that the village marshal must serve. The ordinance which was passed by the council and became effective on March 29, states that the marshal must start his patrol duty at one o'clock in the afternoon, and must stay on duty until one a. m. the following day. In other words, the marshal is expected to be on duty 12 hours out of 24 and be subject to call at all times. The pay is $50.00 per month.

Otis Moore, up until a few months ago, acted as street commissioner and marshal. He gave up the street job and accepted a job in the foundry at the Fats Foot-Heath plant. He has been acting as marshal after working hours, and was on duty up until around midnight.

Neckwear Gives Fresh, Sparkling Charm to Spring Suits, Coats

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

FOR a fashion-right approach to chic and charm for your Easter costume, try the lacy, crisp-white neckwear way. It will work like magic. The new jabots and animated cascades of sheer white, the smart detachable lace-trimmed and befrilled yokes, likewise the huge immaculately white sailor collars that stress the new low-cut, deep-throated lines are performing miracles in adding "the touch that tells."

You will find the neckwear quest for fashion is dramatizing the theme. Versatile lingerie touches will carry your costume to dizzy heights of allure. There's the big news in the revival of frilly jabots this season, and history is also repeating itself in the animated white fluttery cascades, the frock or jacketed tulle right into spring. The sheer organdie and Val lace jabot which cascades from a tiny turnover organdie collar (pictured above to the left in the group illustrated) is warranted to give springlike froth and freshness to any Easter costume. The jabot is attached to an organdie vestice, so it stays anchored and serves as a blouse.

A magic panel in embroidered organdie and lace (shown above to the right) may be depended upon to perform magic on any dress, be it print or plain, smart navy, unerring black or a delectable pastel shade. A clip attachment under the bow adjusts to any neckline. Clip it on to your newest frock and presto! it will sparkle with lacy loveliness. Colored embroidery, especially cross stitch and petit point, is an important spring 1941 message for neckwear. The collar and cuff set below to the right in the group is one of the charming new versions. Rambler roses are embroidered on lines in red and black cross stitch.

You will be seeing quantities of this type of embroidery as the season advances, for petit point, especially, is being featured on handkerchiefs, handbags, and in fact, quite generally throughout the mode. All dressed up and ready to go stepping in the Easter parade is the smartly clad maiden in the panel portrait to the left. For that fresh-out-of-band-box look, Evelyn Alden, American designer, has created a youthful redingote (redingote are "tops" this spring) with a crisp lingerie bib attached to the neckline of the dress beneath. Be sure to wear a fruit-laden hat with this ensemble, for fruit trimmings are tremendously important.

A new trend, and one that is rich with possibilities, is the wide use of pleated white lingerie frillings in unique and dramatic ways. You can buy these pleatings by the yard at neckwear counters. Newly arrived navy or black suits and dresses are finished off at throat and wrist with generous ruffings done in the dandified Regency period manner. You can give your bolero frock or suit a fresh spring uplift by sewing in a white ruff that extends down the front edges of your bolero or even all the way round if you prefer. As most fashion-alert women are aware, the newest dresses are styled with yokes this spring. For a final swank accent, follow the outline of the yoke of your frock or your bolero with crisp white lingerie pleating. Many best shops are featuring this very new idea. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Patriotic Emblems

Patriotic emblems are proving an endless source of inspiration for decorative motifs in costume design. Flags, stars, eagles, nautical insignia seen in bright embroidery or in glittering colorful jewels. They lend enchantment to new fashions in endless ways. Here you see a stunning white rayon high-turban and matching scarf. This treatment is inexpensive, and at the same time is good looking and decidedly practical.

Thoroughly American in color and design, these decorative pieces give wardrobe that pro-America look!

Low-Cut Necklines Tell

New Fashion Story There is a new movement in necklines that will be a dominating trend in dress fashions and dresses from now on. The collar opening continues down to form a low deep slender point. Some dresses have an extra little feminine device to wear on less formal occasions. The deep-throated effect is extremely flattering. To wear at the low point, stunning jewelry clips are being especially designed. These will tell a fascinating new fashion story.

Deep Pleated Flounces

Popular on Navy Coats There is a very smart new-type coat being shown which is particularly striking in navy. The body line is fashioned after the fitted princess lines, to which a knee depth pleated flounce of the self fabric is seamed. You can get stunning costume suits that have these long coats, worn over a matching one-piece dress.

Enchanting Blouses

The new blouses are simply enchanting. They are frilled, tucked and lace-trimmed in fascinating profusion. Their femininity froth is distractingly pretty. On the Easter parade they will appear in endless procession, adding winsomeness to the legions of navy suits and caped costume ensembles.

Pale Coats, Pale Furs

Delicate coats are taking into themselves fur trimmings in delicate tones to match. Easter frocks of pale are this.

PERFECT for slim, young figures, this flaring frock has a tiny corselet waistline, and bodice gathers to round you out a bit. With the bolero, it serves as a "little suit" for street wear. Make this of gay silk prints, or flat crepe, plain or with lots of braid in bright contrast.

NEW YORK—When he made his first million at the age of 30, Bernard M. Baruch said he would indulge himself from then on by being a voracious reader of the news.

Each day in the news brings some new demand that the tall, pleasant, snow-haired Mr. Baruch, surely our elder statesman of the business world, should at that of today, be given a free hand, in the courtroom, or perhaps the wheel-house, to steer our emergency defense campaign.

As to this business of being a speculator, Mr. Baruch says, "I make no apology, but business is business. The word comes from the Latin word 'specular', meaning to observe. I observe."

Like all seasoned speculators, he never allows his mind or runs a temperature or inclines to high blood pressure, although he is 70. He keeps it by his own system of callisthenics, pragmatically arrived at, like his financial operations.

As head of the War Industries board, he toiled the 20-mile team of labor, industry, raw-materials and government, deftly charming a narrow defile and hazardous pass, and a large section of his public would like to see him again in the driver's seat.

Naturally a skeptic as to the speculators, he and his associates, he has stood at few, if any false dawns. He was a prophet of doom for the Daves' era of speculation. In 1929 he predicted that it would be scrapped within two years. "A demand may be morally reasonable as a business proposition," he said.

As a foe of paternalism in business and a staunch states' rights Democrat, he has insisted that a means must be found to mobilize the nation's resources.

His early definition of his attitude as that of a diagnostician might have done a symbolic identification with his distinguished father, Dr. Elmer Baruch of South Carolina, a widely known surgeon and health authority.

For the last few years he has been calmly, but with a keen eye, watching the rise and fall of the Roosevelt administration. Returning from Europe in 1937, he said, "Europe is hopeless." In January, 1939, he offered to supply troops on his lands for the German army.

THIS reporter, on occasional trips to Washington, has had occasion to meet some of the best-hated hitters there are the least published. Here today is the amiable Harold M. Gray, in charge of the new defense drive, which will start May 1.

WHEN Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, acquired the services of Joe Medwick last year he assumed, along with everyone else in Brooklyn, that Medwick would mean the National League pennant.

The Dodgers—and Dodger fans—have been waiting since 1920 for a pennant. That year they were top of the league circuit but dropped the World series to the Cleveland Indians.

Now, 21 years later, the Dodgers think they're pennant bound. Few people in the senior circuit but Medwick didn't win the pennant for the Dodgers in 1940.

LONDON, ENGLAND.—This pretty London girl is wearing the new uniform of the British postwomen. They used to wear skirts but the government has sanctioned trousers if the women prefer to wear them.

NAZIS: Spread Sub Zone

A spreading of the submarine-active zone to include Iceland and a considerable portion of the North Atlantic westward toward the shores of the United States is another sensational announcement that caused watchers on the "when shall we get it" front anxious moments.

They started making maps of the 42-degree line of longitude, and showed how close it is to the American neutrality zone area. It did not touch yet, but was coming perilously close.

It meant that if American naval vessels took up the conveying of aid-to-Britain ships to the end of the neutrality zone they would be within a very few miles (as oceans are reckoned) of the lines where they might expect action from German submarines.

One news analyst, after a tour of western plant factories, reported that heavy bombers, at the rate of four a day, were being flown across the continent and thence to Britain under the lease-and-bill, and that still more of these were being delivered to the army, but that it was thought a good portion of these were going overseas as well.

There was little danger to this type of shipment except from adverse weather and mechanical failures over the ocean. But Americans were concerned over what was going to happen to American shipping and to foreign bottoms carrying aid to Britain.

The British, losing heavily at sea, were issuing a request to the Norwegian government to turn over to them about 100 vessels of the American and Latin-American waters, so that they could be added to the transatlantic trade.

First ship to leave this country for Iceland following the announcement of the additional blockade zone was the freighter Godotas from New York. The New York-Berlyn line was started after the German invasion of Denmark cut Iceland off from her parent country.

Three small freighters and three small passenger steamships now operate in the North Atlantic. Whether they will continue or not remained to be seen.

DEFENSE: 42 Billions With the passage of the $7,000,000,000 bill implementing the British aid bill by a vote of 61 to 9, total amounts allotted in one way or another for national defense or British and democratic aid now Europe reached the staggering total of 42 billions of dollars.

Most of the floor debate (seven hours) on the seven billion bill was spent by the members of the House of Representatives of why they had voted against British aid and now were switching to vote for the bill giving the bill the funds President Roosevelt asked.

OPM, the Office of Production Management, furnished the figures. The direct government outlays, including the seven billion, reached the total of $39,100,000,000. In addition came British orders of more than three billions, bringing the grand total to past the forty-two billion mark.

Of these huge sums not more than 3 1/2 billion actually have been spent. But in enormous part the whole has been contracted for, and factories the length and the breadth of the land were being built or were "hooking up" to carry out the contracts.

In fact, of the 42 billions, OPM says that nearly 30 billions already have been appropriated for the war effort, and that the billions represents the budget allowance for 1942.

FOOD: Becomes an Issue Almost coincidental with recent news that America would send food to unoccupied France for distribution under the watchful eyes of the American Red Cross, who were supposed to see that none of it got into the hands of the enemy, there came word that this distribution already had begun, and that the Red Cross workers were satisfied that all of it was going to French men, women and children.

Pro-Axis Yugoslavia Rule Overthrown As 'Boy King' Peter Assumes Throne; Mediation Board Acts to End Strikes in Industries Delaying U. S. Defense

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

The American flag flies from a police car overturned by workers during the strike of workers at the "parent" plant of the Bethlehem Steel company. (See below: Strikes)

YUGOSLAVIA: Coup

Joining the Axis powers by the government of Yugoslavia was one thing. Getting the people to swallow this action was another.

The sign-up, following periods of governmental collapse and revivification, was the signal for demonstrations over the entire country, created and given its autonomy after World War I by the Treaty of Versailles.

Serbs, Croats joined in the outburst, and there were parades through Belgrade with young fellows carrying what American and British flags they could find, vocally and loudly criticizing the government for failing the public in its hour of need.

Then, two days after the signing of the pact came the dramatic report of a coup d'etat by which the army overthrew the evident pro-axis government of Regent Prince Paul.

King Peter II, not yet 18 years old, assumed the throne and a government was sworn in which was pledged to defend Yugoslavia's independence. The nation's army was immediately massed and dispatched to battle stations along the country frontiers.

Britain and Greece hailed these reports as "great news" and Adolf Hitler immediately issued a statement of the new government as to their attitude toward the pact the two countries had signed but 48 hours earlier.

But from Bulgaria came reports that the Nazis were not waiting for a reply to Hitler's demand. German forces in that country reportedly began a swift movement toward the Yugoslav frontier.

General sentiment in Serbia, Belgrade and elsewhere was that the installing of a pro-British and pro-Greek government in Yugoslavia would precipitate a general Balkan war.

As the war fever rose steadily in Yugoslavia and as the people cheered the new regime that had its army lined up in defiance of the Axis, the one-story Balkans took the spotlight of World War II. No matter what the outcome Yugoslavia had at least tendered a serious diversion to the timetable of Adolf Hitler.

Defeating Yugoslavia would be no simple task, many military experts predicted. It was assumed that the great northern plains of the nation would have to be abandoned as they would offer easy going for the swiftly moving mechanized Nazi legions.

Real battle would come, it seemed, in the mountain terrain of central and southern sections of the country. Yugoslavia has a comparatively good army, and is considered the best of the small Balkan nations. It numbers 1,200,000 men.

The U. S. reaction to the new government in the tiny Balkan nation was immediately favorable. The state department assured Yugoslavia that it would assist that nation in resisting any aggression.

STRIKES: And Night-Sticks The resumption of work at the Harvill plant, bottleneck of Pacific plane building, provided no respite for Uncle Sam's headaches in production spasms, for Washington frankly was expectant of strikes in 12 more vital plants in the country.

No. 1 was not long in coming, for the main plant of the Bethlehem Steel company, in Bethlehem, Pa., was next. The big plant was busy and town that the public was con-

Considerably inclined to blame labor leaders rather than management for the enormous increase in strikes. The present strike held in its grip more than a billion in men orders, including a large percentage for home defense. Police nightsticks clubbed the strikers into submission at the outset, permitting non-strikers entrance through picket lines, but it was evident that this was only the start of a widespread labor movement to fish for higher wages through the moment of public necessity.

Chief lack of sympathy with this attitude was seen in the ranks of relatives and friends of those taken in the selective service. These lads, most of them working for $21 a month and food and clothing in Uncle Sam's uniform, were being ordered to labor striking for increases from 50 to 75 cents an hour as at the Harvill plant.

There were letters home, and parents and friends joined enthusiastically in the protest. Many congressmen and senators reported receiving such letters and telegrams. They showed public sentiment almost unanimous against such strikes, and blaming largely the labor leaders rather than the plant owners.

The new national mediation board, headed by Dr. Dykstra, just moved to it from selective service, seemed to have the settlement of the case as the first pitched into its lap, and what it would do with this situation chafed public attention from the outset.

This board moved swiftly in the Mills-Chalmers strike at Milwaukee which has been holding up much defense rearmament. It ordered the company to surrender to the union, and Congressmen immediately showed public sentiment almost unanimous against such strikes, and blaming largely the labor leaders rather than the plant owners.

Chief public indignation over the strikes was directed at C. I. O. organization, with Congressman Dies claiming that the labor troubles could be traced directly to "Reds." This also was the public focus after William Green, head of the A. F. of L. organizations, disclaimed any anti-defense attempts, and proved it by sending his men through C. I. O. picket lines in one instance.

WILKIE: Keeps Hand In Wendell Willkie, avowedly keeping his eye on the next presidential race, was shown in Toronto as the public by making a personal goodwill tour of Canada.

He was greeted with wild enthusiasm in Toronto and in Montreal, his method of promotion. Well, I put it up to you, now. I put it up to the business men of America to prove it. I think they can. If they don't, they could, I could not believe in liberty."

Remarks were cheered to the echo. In Montreal, the next day, he was shown in Toronto as the public by making a personal goodwill tour of Canada.

INVITE THEM ALL—AND HAVE BAKED POTATOES (See Recipes Below)

- LET'S SERVE POTATOES
- Guests are coming for dinner. You have your meat and vegetables, and you have planned your dessert. You have potatoes on hand. But have you decided how you're going to prepare them?
- I'll wager you haven't. It's an oft-repeated story in kitchens from Washington to Florida, Maine to California. Because the POTATO is such an old standby, you perhaps wait 'til the last minute to decide its preparation. Then it's too late to try "something different."
- Don't treat the potato as though it were the Cinderella of the vegetable kingdom. Remember, it responds well to careful treatment. While it is usually considered to have a bland flavor, proper cooking will bring out its subtleties.
- Although there are only three basic ways of cooking potatoes—baking, boiling or frying them in their raw form—there are innumerable new and different things to do with this vegetable.
- I wonder if you have ever tried frankfurter- or sausage-stuffed potato, potato croquettes, pancake potatoes, Idaho Suzettes or potato doughnuts?
- If not, resolve to use these recipes. I guarantee they'll help you "get the most out of your potatoes!"

the unbeaten eggs and sugar; mix well. Stir in the sifted dry ingredients; mix until smooth. Place mixture on a floured board; roll to 1/4 inch thick, cut into rounds with a floured doughnut cutter. Cook in deep, hot fat (370 degrees F.) until golden brown. Drain on soft paper. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Idaho Suzettes.

- 6 medium-sized Idaho potatoes
- 1/2 cup hot milk
- 2 tablespoons melted fat
- 6 tablespoons buttered crumbs
- 1 tablespoon grated cheese
- 6 eggs
- Salt and pepper

Select medium-sized or large potatoes; scrub and bake at 450 degrees F. until each is soft when you pick it up and squeeze with a cloth. When done, remove a piece of skin from the side with a sharp knife to make it boat shaped, or cut large potatoes in two, lengthwise. Scoop out the inside, being careful not to break the shell. Mash the pulp thoroughly, or put it through a ricer. Add butter, salt and milk and beat well. Pile the mixture lightly back into the shells. Roll the shell to the top and make a depression in the center of each potato. Break an egg into each depression, season with salt and pepper and sprinkle with buttered crumbs that have been combined with grated cheese. Bake in a slow oven (250-350 degrees F.) long enough to set the egg and brown lightly—for 10 to 15 minutes.

Belgian Baked Potatoes.

Wash and peel potatoes and cut into eighths lengthwise. Dry between towels. Dip potatoes in melted shortening and lay in a shallow pan, being sure that they do not overlap. Bake in a quick oven (400 degrees F.) until brown on top. Turn carefully and continue baking until they resemble french-fried potatoes. Baste them with more shortening during baking, if necessary. When done, sprinkle with salt and serve piping hot.

Franconia Potatoes.

Use uniform medium potatoes. Pare and parboil 10 minutes. Drain, place around roast, and bake 40 minutes, or until soft, turning often and basting with fat in pan so that they will be brown.

Old-Fashioned Scalloped Potatoes.

- 4 large potatoes, pared
- 1 small onion, thinly sliced
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper
- 1 1/2 tablespoons flour
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1/4 cup milk

Cut potatoes in 1/2-inch slices. Place potatoes and onions in buttered baking dish, sprinkling each layer with salt and pepper and flour, and dotting with butter. Add milk and onion. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 2 hours, or until potatoes are tender, uncovering them during the last 30 minutes of baking. Serve 4.

Lyonnaise Potatoes.

- 4 teaspoons butter or bacon fat
- 2 onions, sliced
- 3 cups cooked potatoes
- Salt and pepper
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley

Heat the fat in a frying pan and cook the onions in it a few minutes. Add the potatoes and cook slowly, stirring occasionally until all sides of the potatoes are golden brown. Season with salt and pepper. Press fat with knife and shake over low fire until brown on bottom. Turn like an omelet. Serve on a hot platter with finely chopped parsley sprinkled over the top. (Classified by Western Newspaper Union.)

LYNN SAYS:

Baking potatoes is perhaps the most healthful method of preparing them, because steam escapes from them and results in a moist product. No valuable minerals are lost, and, if the skin is also eaten with the contents, all benefits of the potato are realized.

If you are not quite ready to serve your potatoes when they are ready to come out of the oven, cover them with a towel so that moisture will be absorbed, and at the same time warmth will be retained.

Sweet potatoes bake in less time than white potatoes.

It is important to retain vitamin C in potatoes, as well as in all vegetables. In order to do this, store them in a cool place; peel just before cooking; cook whole, if possible; have the water boiling rapidly before plunging them in; use a small amount of cooking water; cook only until tender.

Five Men Proved Ready to Profit by Judge's Advice

A judge was pointing out that a witness was not necessarily to be regarded as untruthful because he reiterated a previous statement.

"For instance," he said, "when I entered this court today I could have sworn that I had my watch in my pocket. But then I remembered I had left it in the bathroom at home."

When the judge got home that night his wife said "Why all this bother about your watch—sending five men for it?"

"Good Heavens!" said the judge; "I never sent anyone! What did you do?"

"I gave it to the first one who came; he knew just where it was."
