Greetings from Honolulu arrived this week for Mrs. L. C. Brothers who lives west of here, from her son Bob, whose battalion is the first U. S. selectees to arrive on the island. The letter we are publishing for our readers, came in a highly decorated envelope with the words: "Greetings from Honolulu." Mrs. Bob depicted in gold, the palm trees, the boats and last but not least, the famous Hula Girl of Hawaii. We also noted that the letter came by air mail and the cost was 20c for postage. At the time the letter was sent Bob's address was Pvt. Robert W. Brothers, 19th Battery 1st Bn. 89th Coast Artillery, Schofield Barracks, T. H.

Dear Mother and family: Well, I am a long ways from Ohio. I have seen some of the best country in the U. S. and the most glorious island in the world. I will start at Fort Eustace and tell you what I have seen. We left Virginia Tuesday morning the 2nd of July. The first stop we made was at Fort Wayne, Ind., so I got to see all of the mountains in the east. Then we went to Chicago and got in at the biggest stock yards in the

Grandsons of Luke Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Willett Share In High Scholarship Honors at Canton

Pictures of Theodore A. Wagner, Jr., and Willett Wagner, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Wagner, of Canton, recently appeared in the Canton Repository, a daily newspaper in that city. They are grandsons of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Willett of Plymouth and in years past have visited Plymouth on numerous occasions.

Because they both have such outstanding records and the family so well know here, we are reprinting the article taken from the Canton paper:

High scholastic honors have come to two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Wagner of 832 Shorb Ave., N. W. Theodore A. Wagner, Jr., 18, has been admitted to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis in competitive examination from the naval reserve and Willett Wagner, Jr., has been awarded a tuition scholarship in Harvard university also in competitive examination.

Theodore graduated from McKinley High school last year and immediately enlisted in the naval reserve. He took preparatory work at Randles School in Washington, D. C., and a member of the naval reserve, took the special competitive examination for naval academy entrance, winning a place high among the first half of the 100 appointees from the reserve. He reported in Annapolis July 10 to begin his naval academy training.

Willett graduated from McKinley last year at the age of 15 and took postgraduate work there this year fitting himself for the Harvard examinations. As a result of his high standing in these tests he has been notified that he has been granted a year's tuition scholarship. This is customarily renewed from year to year for students who make the proper grades.

Two other brothers also have obtained outstanding records. Walter, twin brother of Willett, graduated from McKinley this week after specializing in chemistry and has taken a position in the Canton Refining Co. where he has worked during vacations the last two years. He plans to work a year and then enter engineering school. John, the youngest son, is 14 and in his high school class. He is customarily renewed from year to year for students who make the proper grades.

Aluminum Drive Concluded Here

Village Gives Hundreds of Items; Taken To Mansfield For Disposal

A surprisingly large amount of aluminum for defense purposes was gathered here last Friday by the Boy Scouts. Housewives cooperated by having ready any old pots and pans they were willing to donate and the solicitation was completed by 9 o'clock.

The first team to report at the Advertiser with completed assignment was Wayne Ross, and Ray Martin who solicited North, and Partner streets and all side streets adjoining. Other teams soon followed and before noon the town truck had made the rounds and picked up all articles placed at curbs by the Scouts. The entire load was placed in front of the post office and later removed by a truck from Mansfield.

The aluminum is sorted, melted into ingots and later is used for defense work. Postmaster Claude Souwink treated the boys with a cold soft drink upon completion of their work.

Don W. Eisele, Jr., as head of the Scouts is grateful for the fine cooperation shown and thanks all who assisted in any way. Scouts who helped in this campaign were Wayne Ross, Ray Martin, Byron Ream, Billy Derr, Dick Ross, Eldon Burkett, James Fetters, Eldon Sourwine, James Crockett, Billy Miller, Gordon Deaholts, Jaques, Scott Bunker and Gerald Scott.

Group Fails To Elect Minister

At the congregational meeting of the Lutheran church held on Sunday morning after the regular service, the Rev. W. Gilbert Wise failed to secure the necessary two-thirds majority of the votes cast as required by the constitution of the church and therefore failed in the election as pastor of the local congregation.

Due to an oversight in the understanding of the constitution it was first announced that Rev. Wise had been elected because he had secured a majority of the votes cast. After the discovery of the two-thirds limitation of the constitution by action of the church council he was declared not to be elected.

It is now necessary for the congregation to seek another prospect for the local pulpit.

Isn't This Weather Awful

When things get out of control, as usual, it is the main topic of conversation. And didn't the weather man get out of control and go on a spree over the week-end and Sunday?

Everybody could think of a thing except the weather. Such greetings as "How's the weather suit you?" or "Is it hot enough for you?" were so common you knew exactly what was going to be said before it was said.

Househunting Situation Presents Many Difficulties Here And Other Cities

Househunting seems to have become one of the favorite pastimes of American people, since the National Defense operations head the list of industries. One has to wonder where they all lived before the "boom" started for even farmhouses are at a premium.

Plymouth could use a few more homes very advantageously but the demand here is mild to what it is in some neighboring cities and towns.

New Trespassing Law Effective July 30th

The penalty for trespassing will be increased under a new law that became effective July 30th, 1941. Heretofore the only penalty for trespassing was a fine of from $1.00 to $5.00. Under the new law a person guilty of trespassing can be fined as much as $50 or imprisoned as long as 30 days or both.

The Woman Buys

The female of the species is wealthier than the male. Women in the United States control 70 per cent of all private wealth, and they spend more than a thousand dollars every second. They buy 90 per cent of all food, 95 per cent of all furniture, 75 per cent of all clothing. They even purchase 62 per cent of all men's ties. But as a leading woman's educator points out, "they own the money, they spend the money, and yet they never learn much about money." Since money is so clearly the woman's responsibility, declares James Madison Wood, president of Stephens College, "she must be educated for the job."

Househunting Situation Presents Many Difficulties Here And Other Cities

Wherever the government has or is building new plants, houses are snapped up before the last tenant moves out, rents are out of sight and trailer towns spring up like mushrooms.

In a letter this week from Mrs. Theodore Wagner of Canton, she cites examples of how rents are soaring. The house in which they have been living was sold and the new owner wishes to convert it into a duplex to take advantage of the housing shortage. In the meantime the $30.00 a month rent was raised to $35.00; the next month it jumped to $45; July 1st was raised to $55 and now is being advertised for the mere trifling of $75. The Wagners were very fortunate in finding another house recently purchased by a friend for an investment.

He spoke at an 8 o'clock meeting Thursday evening at New Haven. Recommendations from folks in his own community rated him as an outspoken dirt farmer with honest convictions and no way contented with groups seeking to make political hay in the protest measure.

Highlights of his speech included the following facts:

THE OTHER DAY WE SAW A

man and woman—husband and wife—come out of a store. The woman was carrying a hoe. The man was carrying a fishing pole. We imagine there is happiness in that family. Every wife should insist on her husband fishing while she takes care of the garden. Love is what makes happiness, says the Altoona Tribune. Hum, I thought they were talking about fishing.

Even the post office department could not survive if it had competition such as the average business has to meet. There is even a law that prohibits competition with the post office.

Your candidate for the Navy was being examined by a board of admirals. One of the "intelligence" questions fired at him was: "What kind of animals eat grass?" "Animals!" gasped the candidate. "Good Lord, I thought you said 'admiral!'!"

DON'T SWEAR

Sweating has never been found good for one's finger or liver complaint. It won't insure against sewing machine agents nor any of the ills which beset agents or which beset people during life. There is no occasion for swearing, except possibly, in a printing office, where it has been found useful, it is said, in reading proof and often an indispensable necessity in the printing business. And then it has been known to assist the editor materially in looking over the paper after it has been printed. Otherwise it is a very foolish and wicked habit.

Prolong Life of Linens: Sheets, tablecloths, napkins and similar household linens which are washed and ironed regularly each week can be given longer life if they are folded and pressed differently from time to time. Fabrics tend to wear thin if they are always folded in the same way. Instead of always folding into halves, quarters, etc., fold out a variety so that the creases will not come in the same places for several successive washings.

New Motor Truck Laws Go into Effect Early in August

Driving practices in Ohio will be materially affected by two recently enacted state laws when these acts become operative on August 6 and August 13.

Hal G. Sours, director, Ohio Department of Highways, is authority for the statement that "the highway department hopes to carry out the provisions of the new laws with a minimum of inconvenience to the motoring public and for that reason asks the cooperation of everyone in making them effective."

One act which becomes operative August 6 gives to the director of highways the same rights and duties which by law heretofore have been conferred only upon county officials—the posting of warning signs at all bridges which may be considered by the department as unsafe for the support of the vehicle loads now permitted on the state system of roads.

The other act which becomes operative August 13—and this measure is considered of the utmost importance to fleet owners and heavy haulers generally—fixes the total weight permitted on a vehicle or combination of vehicles.

Director Sours informing Gov. John W. Bricker of the Department of Highways plans for familiarizing the motoring public with the provisions of the two acts, said: "There are several thousand old bridges on the state system of highways which are not strong enough to safely support the heavy modern vehicles which travel the highways day and night."

Unless additional funds are made available for new bridge construction it will be many years before all of these inadequate structures are replaced. Meanwhile these bridges should be identified by warning signs to inform the motoring public of the capacity for which the structures are considered safe. The purpose is to protect the public, including those who transport heavy loads, and to conserve the motorist's investment in the old structures."

In this law penalties are set up for transporting over a bridge of highways in excess of that for which the structure is posted, and the director of highways is authorized to collect for any damage done to a bridge by the transportation of an excessive load.

Much engineering work will be involved in the accurate determination of the safe capacity of all bridges, W. S. Hindman, chief engineer of the highway department's bureau of bridges, told Director Sours. It may take several years to obtain all the information required on all bridges but the work will be expedited as rapidly as possible, he added.

The weight limit law is of the "formula" type and introduces in Ohio the principle of load distribution which will permit heavier loads in case of proper load distribution with a resultant lesser stress than heretofore in pavements and bridges, particularly the latter, Director Sours pointed out.

Provision is made so that the farther apart axles are placed the greater the load permitted on each axle, but the maximum load in any case to be permitted on a single axle will be nine tons, as under the present law. A loading scheme is provided closely in harmony with the loadings assumed in modern bridge design and gives assurance of proper future collaboration between bridge designers, truck and trailer manufacturers and hauler.

New rules in the act will apply to all equipment acquired after next January 1. Equipment in use before that date may be operated under either the old or new limitations, but operation under the old law will not be permitted after August 13, 1947. This is intended to permit a reasonable period of depreciation for equipment already acquired.

The load control provisions of the act follow:

- 1 Maximum load on any axle shall not exceed 18,000 pounds. (This is the same as in the present law).
- 2 Maximum Total load on any two consecutive axles shall not exceed 18,000 pounds, plus an additional 1,500 pounds for each foot of spacing between the axles.
- 3 Maximum total load on any group of three or more axles shall not exceed 30,000 pounds plus an additional 750 pounds for each foot of spacing between extreme axles of the group under consideration.

The new provisions will reduce the carrying capacity of some of the equipment now in use, Director Sours said, and for that reason provision has been made for the operation of this equipment under either the new or old law, but not to exceed a period of six months.

Fifteen or more states are operating under laws similar to this one, Director Sours said, and all recent legislation enacted by other states has been of this type.

"This law provides a rational means of operating modern motor vehicle equipment at greater efficiency without imposing additional hardships on the Ohio system of highways," Mr. Sours said.

INDUSTRY DEMANDING BIRTH CERTIFICATES

Many industries and other employers now demanding that their employees show birth certificates or other documents which show the name and place of birth of the worker.

In some cases workers have shortened or "Americanized" their names, and have used these assumed names in obtaining social security cards, especially during the early days of operation of the social security program. In these cases, the name on the social security card does not correspond with that on the birth certificate.

In such cases, workers may obtain new social security cards bearing their true names, according to Edward S. Broughton, manager of the Mansfield field office of the Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance. But, in all cases, a duplicate number, and not a number which is different from that first issued, should be obtained. Applicants should request duplicate numbers in such cases, he said.

These change of name cases are handled through the Mansfield social security office for all workers in the counties of Morrow, Knox, Ashland, Crawford and Richland. There is no charge for this service or for the duplicate cards.

Expenses of the National Committee for the celebration of the President's Birthday were $136,996.61, or 6.1 per cent of the total net amount raised.

A SLIGHT CASE OF CONFUSION

It is no novelty, to be sure, to find various departments of government working at cross purposes. But political thinking on the subject of the automobile industry's place in defense offers a particularly interesting current example in this line.

It was only about a year ago that the federal tax on gasoline was raised 50 per cent to meet defense needs. Now a further jump of 65 per cent is being debated.

Meanwhile, an Administration spokesman is talking in terms of "gasless Sundays" and other measures to cut down the use of automobiles. Proposals are also advanced to cut down the production of cars even more drastically than originally planned, and to place a tax on the sale of each new and second-hand car—the latter a "deterrent" tax, aimed more at cutting down purchases than at raising revenues.

It may be naive in this period of "Alice in Wonderland" economics to invoke simple rules of mathematics and logic. But it is hard to see how the government proposes to raise higher revenues by raising tax rates and then greatly curtailing the operations that are being taxed. In other words, you can't take the cake and then expect to have it given to you, too!

TRIBUTE TO ADVERTISING

"It is not an orthodox concept but I would like to see established more widely in the public mind the fact that advertising basically is a vital part of our economy equally important with designing, engineering, production."

That is the tribute not of an advertising representative but of a representative of industry and one of the largest advertisers in the world. Paul Garrett, Vice President and Director of Public Relations, General Motors Corporation, goes on to say:

"Look back not many years ago to a time when we had no automobiles, no radios, no electric household appliances, no refrigerators, no moving pictures, no plastics, no wireless communication, no telephones, no air-conditioning, no rayon, no incandescent lamps, no canned foods, no bathtubs, no air travel and no streamliners."

"Who will say that these conveniences have come to be necessities of the American life solely because we learned earlier than the rest of the world the art of mass production? Of what value would mass production have been without mass consumption? And how could we have stimulated mass consumption with our mass merchandising?"

It is fortunate, as Mr. Garrett says, that not enough people have understood that in our great mass designing, mass engineering, mass producing, mass consuming economy, the mass advertising of the product has been an integral part of the formula.

BONDS ARE A GOOD BUY

The Government needs money and that's the reason why special bonds and stamps have been placed on the market. But the Treasury Department seems to be more enthusiastic over the bond program than the American public because sales of these National Defense Securities are below expectations. If you don't help the Government out on bonds that will pay you interest on your investment you are quite sure to "pay through the nose" in higher taxes. So, there is more than one way to figure out that bonds are a good buy.

THE PLYMOUTH ADVERTISER

It was quite an adventure when they made the first dress straws out of heavy Mackinaw braid, woven by Michigan Indians and sewed in the shape of the popular beaver hats.

1877
The derby became the popular year round hat, so they tried the shape in straw.

1890
The first so-called "Collegiate Clothes" brought this narrow brim and fancy band as companion.

1895
The flat top was adopted from the dress hat of the British navy tars—hence the term "sailors" and "sailors."

1890
This shape was popular in the English schools, where it was a uniform at the regatta and other summer holidays.

1900
For a time, in the early 1900's, they couldn't make a straw hat that was as comfortable.

Only in recent seasons have they succeeded in making straw hats in lightweight, ventilated, flexible materials that are truly the essence of summer comfort.

GULF AND WEST COAST IS CENTER OF CADET TRAINING

Reasons why most Army Aviation Cadets from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia train under the sunny skies of Texas and California were revealed today at Fifth Corps Area Headquarters, Fort Hayes, Ohio.

Youths from all over the nation are sent to these centers because they are most suitable for training purposes, it was disclosed.

Army Air Force officials give these reasons for the training of Fifth Corps Area youths so far from home. First, when the 30,000 pilots a year program started there were many air bases and schools already established in Texas and California to provide a nucleus for the training. Randolph and Kelly Fields in Texas were well known before the expansion. These western states with New Mexico and Arizona have plenty of room for more large level fields.

Another reason for the centralization of training in western states is the climate. The dry, warm atmosphere of Texas and Southern California, as well as New Mexico and Arizona makes it possible for trainees to go aloft almost every day. That is important in the crammed 30-week cadet schedule. Rain and fog, always a hazard to airmen, are almost unknown in these states.

Of the west coast states Texas and California claim the majority of air bases and schools with Arizona and New Mexico vying for second. So Army Aviation Cadets will continue to trek westward to sunny skies in the future as they have in the past.

FAMOUS OHIO BATTLEFIELDS

An Ohio Fort Protects Colonial Armies

FORT LAURENS—1778
 A barrel of rancid meat and a barrel of hardtack saved the lives of a small garrison of an Ohio fort built during the Revolution to prevent lightning attacks of British and Indian forces from the western wilderness on the struggling American armies.

With the completion of Fort Laurens, Colonel John Gibson and his 150 troops had not long to wait to find that though stationed in the remote forests, they were a part of the great struggle.

The Indians and English were enraged at this audacious thrust into the West, which threatened their hold on a strategic Ohio.

It was on a cold December day that the gate of the one-acre outpost closed behind 15 men who were starting on a long, difficult journey back to the East. No sooner had they left the shelter of the stockade than they were attacked by ambushed Indians. Thirteen returned safely but the bodies of two men lay in the snow.

When Simon Girty's white renegade, took a hand. He persuaded the English at Detroit to send a war party of 200 Wyandots and Mingos against isolated Fort Laurens.

Early on the morning of February 23, 1778, seventeen soldiers, following a daily routine, left the Fort to bring in wood which had been cut the previous fall. There was no hint of danger until from behind trees and underbrush the painted warriors rushed to cut off their retreat to the Fort. The short, sharp battle ended as quickly as it began, with the death or capture of every soldier.

Then the siege began. Provisions in the Fort were low. Daily rations were reduced to a quarter of a pound of sour dough and the same of rancid meat.

But the soldiers were not the only sufferers. Game was scarce and the besiegers, too, were on short rations. Finally forced by hunger, they offered to lift the siege if Colonel Gibson would give them a barrel each of flour and meat.

There was no hesitation on Colonel Gibson's part and the speed with which he accepted the offer, probably convinced the Indians that the hungry garrison had an ample store. At any rate, the Indians left as suddenly as they had appeared.

In the summer a relief party of 500 arrived from Fort Pitt and Fort Laurens was abandoned—100 remote to be properly defended.

Short as was Fort Laurens' chapter in the story for the control of Ohio, it was nevertheless important.

Tenant Purchase Program In Huron County For 1941-42

Tenants and farm labor families in Huron county who want to be considered for the Bankhead-Jones-Tenant-Purchase loan should file their applications immediately at the office of the Farm Security Administration in the basement of the post office in Norwalk. "Applications which are received first will be given first consideration," advises William B. Murray, County Rural Rehabilitation Supervisor.

A county tenant purchase committee has been set up to handle applications and to make recommendations to the Farm Security Administration. This committee consists of Mr. Valentine Tidwell, North Fairfield; C. Fred Albright, Willard; and Mrs. Gaynell Horner of Monroeville.

"Any renter or farm labor family which cannot get the necessary credit elsewhere is eligible to apply for a tenant-purchase loan," stated Mr. Murray. "The loans are payable over a 40-year period at 3 per cent interest. They provide for purchase of the farm plus repair and alteration of buildings and land development where necessary."

He explained that it will be necessary for the applicant to locate the farm to be purchased, which must be of a "family type" capable of being operated without help other than the members of the family, except during short peak labor periods, such as the threshing or corn-picking seasons. In addition to choosing a farm, the family must work out a sound farm and home management plan.

Mr. Murray and the county Home Management Supervisor, Mrs. Marian Gump, will cooperate with families obtaining loans and help them work out these management plans.

No loan will be considered unless the farm can be purchased at a price corresponding to its ability to produce, provide an adequate income for the family, and "pay for itself" over the loan period.

Must Report Wages, S. S. Numbers

It is necessary to report the wages and social security account numbers of all temporary workers on jobs covered by old-age and survivors insurance, according to Edward S. Broughton, Manager of the Mansfield social security office.

"We advise all employers, in paying their taxes for the second quarter of 1941 before the end of July, to include the name and social security account number of all temporary workers—even though earnings of the latter may be small. A tax return cannot be considered complete until all names and numbers have been given. It is advisable to obtain the account number when a new worker takes a job and to include it in the report of wages which are taxable under the Social Security Act."

"The age of the employee is not considered in paying social security taxes. Boys and girls who have not reached voting age are covered while working during the vacation season, just the same as older employees who are hired on a year-round basis."

INFANT BURIED

Funeral services were held Thursday for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Higgins, who died Wednesday afternoon at the Mansfield General Hospital.

Blessing services were held at St. Peter's Catholic church and burial was made in Mansfield Catholic cemetery. The infant is survived by his parents, and maternal and paternal grand parents.

Mrs. Higgins is the former Sylvia Turson of Plymouth.

Change of Residence

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Day have rented the west half of the Dawson property on West High st., recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Donerwirth. The property has recently undergone extensive repairs including a new bath, papering and painting.

COST OF WEDDING TO INCREASE $11 5 TESTS APPROVED

Added to the high cost of living will, after August 18, be the high cost of getting married.

The cost of the license will be raised from $1 to $2 and the average cost of physical examination and test is expected to be $5 per applicant.

Which means that any couple securing a marriage license on Aug. 17 would pay only $1, while a couple getting a license on or after Aug. 18 will have to pay $12.

State Health Director R. H. Markwith has announced that 33 Ohio laboratories have been certified to handle serological tests required of every marriage applicant after the new anti-syphilis law goes into effect.

He said that five types of tests had been approved—Eagle, Hinton, Kahn, Kline and Kolmer. An applicant for a marriage license, when the new law becomes effective, must be examined by a physician who will take a blood sample and forward it to an approved laboratory for the serological test.

A marriage license will be granted only if the physicians certify that both parties do not have syphilis in a communicable stage.

Markwith said he had received a number of requests from irate women who were protesting that the legal costs of marriage under the law would be too high.

MAN BEHIND PLOW ON OHIO FARM VITAL TO U. S. DEFENSE

COLUMBUS, O.—Ohio farmers realize that soil fertility is as vital to the defense of America as fighter planes, anti-aircraft batteries and naval strength, an agricultural bulletin points out.

"The man behind the plow is as important as the man behind the gun," the bulletin declares. "The farmer's importance lies just as much in defending his soil against the forces of depletion and exploitation as it does in producing food. "Ohio soils have been tilled continuously for more than a century. The reserve of virgin fertility stored in them by nature during the thousands of years before the advent of farming is being rapidly exhausted. Only by replacing these plant foods with commercial fertilizers can the soil's supply of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash be restored."

Kroger Store To Help Move Bumper Crop of Peaches

To help growers sell a record peach crop of six-and-a-half million bushels, Kroger stores throughout the middle-west and south will put on a series of intensive promotions during the July-through-September marketing season, according to Albert H. Morrill, president of the Kroger company.

Mr. Morrill pointed out that this year's peach crop is the largest in 10 years and 12 million bushels in excess of the 30-year average. This situation necessitates increased consumption if the grower is to receive a fair return, he said.

At the request of growers and grower organizations, Kroger and other chain food stores have volunteered to stage a Producer-Consumer promotion to aid in marketing the peach crop. Other retailers have joined the movement and the federal government has approved a campaign to stimulate home canning as a national defense measure.

The firm's buyers already are making carlot purchases from peach growers in the southern states, and will move into the producing areas of the north and middle-west later. Mr. Morrill said.

CARDS GO TO 200 FORMER LAMP WORKS EMPLOYEES, REUNION AUGUST 10

Cards have been sent to some 200 employees of the old Lamp Works Company, Shelby, in preparation for the reunion of the group to be held August 10 at Seltzer park.

The cards are going as far west as California where one will arrive at the home of Mrs. Cora Ward in Los Angeles.

Others are going to Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Warren and other Ohio communities while a number of the cards are going to former employees that now live in surrounding states.

Mrs. B. V. Hollenbaugh, reunion secretary, mailed out the cards.

DISAPPOINTED!

Dr. Janet MacFarland of Whittier, California, enroute to the east stopped in Plymouth Saturday afternoon for a few minutes in the hope of looking up a few friends of twenty-five years ago.

Dr. MacFarland left with her family from Plymouth in 1918 and this is her first return visit. While just a youngster she distinctly remembered Miss Florence Danner and Mrs. J. W. Miller, wife of Rev. Miller. She was quite disappointed in learning that Miss Danner was touring her state and that Mrs. Miller has passed away so she went up to the old grade school building and was again disappointed to find it being torn down.

Dr. MacFarland has been the head of the Psychiatrist Clinic of Fullerton College, Whittier, California, for the past eight years.

Dr. Fowler, Former Shiloh Resident, Gets Fine Publicity Story (Shiloh Correspondent)

In the Battle Creek Enquirer and News of Sunday, June 29, is a picture of Dr. Sherman Fowler and a lengthy article of over three columns relating to the life of Dr. Fowler.

The paper was received by Mrs. H. S. Marling. Dr. Fowler was named after her husband, the late Sherman Marling, who was a nephew of Charles Fowler.

Dr. Fowler and father, Charles, were often visitors of relatives at this place. Excerpts from the letter: "Doc", who is only 76, has never retired and is still pulling teeth at North Muskegon, Mich. He opens his office at 8:00 and works until 5 p. m. and likes it. He is straight as a ramrod, enjoys good health and has patients enough to keep him busy six days a week.

He has practiced dentistry 53 years and in all that time has missed only four meetings of the State Society.

Battle Creek, where he was resident for a number of years, knew him best as a drill master. He could make the home boys in to drill teams that won prizes from Boston to San Francisco. His first contact with anything military came when as a boy, 15, he accompanied his father on a visit to Richland county, Ohio, and ran into a railroad strike in Toledo. When the train pulled out it passed through a lane of state troops, smartly dressed, with guns polished and bayonets fixed. It created an impression he never forgot and that attitude he organized a "company" at the district school—and how he did drill the boys! He was a great drill master for the K. of P. and the Elks, leading them to victory at a number of the country's largest cities.

Always military at heart, Dr. Fowler had to turn down his first opportunity to lead a Michigan national guard outfit, during the Spanish-American war. Mrs. Fowler was then an invalid with a nurse and doctor always close at hand and Sherman knew he could not go to war. But he mustered and drilled a company of 110 men, took them to Island —Lake and turned them over to Gov. Plagies, then returned home almost broken hearted.

When Battle Creek had a Co. A. Engineers with Dr. Fowler, captain, the doctor was called to Lansing to appear before the committee and state his fitness for the commission. Fred Green, later governor, said "You're a dentist, aren't you? What is there a doubt dentistry that fits you to be a captain of engineers?" "Sir, I am a 'bridge builder,'" replied Fowler. He easily passed the examination and was commissioned.

In June 1917, at the time of the world war he was called to the University of Michigan of which he was a graduate to take a specification in war dentistry, with full military instructions from regular army officers. He signed up for the course. He was to leave on Monday, but on Sunday evening when he and Mrs. Fowler returned from a drive "long distance" called to notify him that Washington had no regular army dentist office to send and Fowler would have to be instructed or instead of student.

For two weeks he drilled the poor "dents" as soldiers and even when he goes to a dental convention he runs into one of the men he drilled, who says, "I like you, Fowler, but I remember the time I wished you'd fall and break your neck!" He accepted a position as 1st Lieutenant of Dental Corps, at Camp Custer and served at the base hospital. In Feb. 1918 he became a major and chief of the dental services of the army. He was also military instructor for the other officers assigned there. On three occasions he took first place at "field day" contests with his dental team and second place with his medical team, competing with thousands of men who did "nothing but drill" every day while his men were all dentists and surgeons who made drilling merely a side issue.

If his country again became involved in war, "Doc" would undoubtedly show up at the recruit training camp as he did in 1917 and defy the army to turn him down. For 20 years he was marshall of the day for nearly all the parades staged in Battle Creek including the one when Col. Theodore Roosevelt opened his "Bull Moose" campaign.

Quoting Sperm, "I rode the black stallion of Mumford's, best parade horse I ever saw. When we approached the reviewing stand the horse was on his hind feet but keeping perfect time with the band. Roosevelt arose from his seat and said: 'See that horse!' He said no attention to the rider. Later at a Post Tavern luncheon I sat at the left of 'Ted-" dy", and he wanted to talk about the horse. He pounded my hand until I could hardly breathe, but always in praise of the horse, not my riding. When he asked for the breeding I knew it and replied: "Hamburton's." "I knew it!" he almost shouted. He was a wonderful personality."

Fowler saw the parade on Memorial Day of this year.

About 200 in the entire line with a high school band, well uniformed, playing well, with a major and several 'majorettes' all out of step.

He was watching out of his window and could not resist, but stuck his head out of the window and hollered: "Heip! Heip! Heip! But they were still out of step when they turned the corner.

Sperm was always a stickler for precision, and discipline. He has all the nationally acquired diamond medals proclaiming him the best drill master in competition that he wants.

He has quite a number of first and second cousins in town and the community here, and the story of his life from the time he worked for his father on the farm through all his achievements, is an incentive for any youth to make good if they want to.

Miss Dorothy Randolph, Toledo, has been entered a contract to teach in Plymouth high school. Miss Randolph will take the place vacated by Miss Faulkner. She will make her home with the McBeth's during the coming school year.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bailey were in Columbus Monday attending the funeral of Mrs. Dr. Zuck. Mrs. Zuck is mother-in-law of Mrs. Bailey's sister.

WILL REMAIN HERE
Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Rump and family who had expected to leave Plymouth August 1st for Martins Ferry, Ohio, will remain here. Mr. Rump is a draftsman at the Fate-Roach Co.

FIRST SELECTEES

gies and Hollywood country the very beautiful. Saturday morning at 11:00 we went in to San Francisco. We were just exactly one hour in the Golden Gate. Then they hurried us right into the boat, which was the U. S. St. Mihel, A. T. I hope if I live a long time I never get into a lousier place than that boat. The ocean was calm, all except the third day out. I can say that I was not sea sick at all. Then we saw land. It was the Leper Island. About 9 hours after this I saw the island Oahu and the great beach, Waikahi, that you read a lot about. Then we entered Pearl harbor, which is a great sight. The fleet was just going out on maneuvers. There were a lot of gun boats going passed. I can say the most beautiful sight I have ever seen was the docking of the St. Mihel. They had an Army band and a Hawaiian band to greet us. I suppose about 3000 people of all nationalities. When we marched down the gang plank the bands really played.

We are the first bunch of selectees to come into the island. Here is where you get more homesick than I ever thought one person could get. We got into a little train in Honolulu and pulled out for Schofield Zanacks and this is one swell place. We are now a member of the best trained force of the United States. Three days after I got here I had two teeth pulled which wasn't so nice. I would have written before but they wouldn't let us because of quarantine. I spent last night with Inez, Sam's little brother. He is in the first infantary.

Write as soon as you can.
With love, Bob
