

Old Tin Cans Are Valuable To War Effort

Tin, at the present, is the most precious of all metals. This is true, especially in the United States, where we have a surplus of gold we want—but no tin. This is the metal that has in the past few years received a lot of kidding. "If it weren't for American tin, the country would go hungry, etc." But today, it's no joke. Tin is very vital, and is becoming more so each day.

The kitchen is America's only tin mine. It is our only source of supply until we can get shipping to bring in ore from Bolivia and the Belgian Congo, to our only tin mill in the U. S., located in Texas. That is just another reason why, and the more the reason why, we should go into our kitchen and save every tin can.

Now, the housewives in Plymouth and vicinity might ask the question: "Why did we wait so long before we started to save the cans?" The answer is very simple. Our machinery in the U. S. was not set up for detinning the cans, but how the mills are ready to do it. We have announced tin can drives for many of the states. It means that the American housewife can supply our needs for several months if they will cooperate by saving tin cans.

Here is one important thing to remember. In saving your tin can, always wash or rinse it out so that all food particles disappear out of both ends, and wash the can flat. By doing this you will increase the shipping capacity of tin cans; step up production at the detinning plant over 50 per cent; and, most important, SPEED is what is needed in getting TIN. Just that little extra effort on your part counts much in getting the tin out of the cans. The production of war materials is in New York City the salvaging of tin cans totaled one thousand tons a month—cans that were cleaned, both ends taken out and mashed. Then it was suggested that the people in that city save the old cans without cleaning and cutting. The tonnage jumped to one thousand tons a WEEK. So this gives a clear picture of how the public remains indifferent to the war effort. How much better and quicker it would have been to have those one thousand tons of tin cans in condition to handle rapidly and satisfactorily at the detinning plant.

You do not have to worry about WHEN, WHERE and WHO will collect the old cans. The city is starting a campaign to Clean, cut and mash—pile them in an old cart. They will keep until collected.

The important thing is to save the cans. Collections dates will be announced later, and you may be assured, that as a housewife, every can you save will mean that you're doing your part to victory. And from the outlook it's going to take the effort of every American housewife to put this thing over!

INJURIES FATAL

Suffering a skull fracture when he was struck by a passing railroad car as he crossed a railroad track at the B. & O. yards at Willard, Edwin R. Ferguson, 21, of Plymouth, a fireman died early Friday in Willard Municipal hospital.

Young Ferguson had been employed in Willard about a year and had lived in Plymouth a short time. He was a native of Adrian, Mich.

Fellow workers in the railroad yards said Ferguson apparently leaped far out of the window to see ahead when he was struck from behind. He was injured about noon Wednesday. He was taken to the hospital, where he died. He was survived by his widow, Ruth, and a son less than two years old. The body was returned to Michigan for funeral services and burial.

ULTIMATE DEFEAT

Gas Rationing is Postponed

OPA SETS DATE OF REGISTRATION, PENDING FURTHER INSTRUCTIONS

Registration of Plymouth Area motorists for gasoline rationing to have been held this week at the Plymouth high school has been postponed indefinitely awaiting further instructions, E. L. Bailey, superintendent of the local schools, stated Wednesday.

The office of Price Administration Tuesday considered postponing national gasoline rationing until the early part of December, while Oil Co-ordinator Ickes warned that the present four gallon value of ration coupons in the east may have to be reduced.

Originally, gasoline was scheduled to be rationed nation-wide beginning Nov. 22, as part of the government's rubber conservation program.

It was learned that the delay in printing the millions of ration books and application forms, and their slow distribution to local rationing boards, may result in the postponement.

OPA regional directors already have been authorized to defer the date for beginning registration of motorists from November 12-14 to November 18-20, because of lack of forms in some areas.

Regional officials were urged, however, to proceed with registration on the scheduled dates in cases where the necessary application forms and books are available. If a postponement is ordered, it will be very brief, extending not later than the early part of next month.

LOCAL BARBERSHOPS PUT UP THEIR PRICES

Old man High Cost of Living has made barber prices in Plymouth take a jump. Local barbershops this week announce a small increase in price of haircuts. An advertisement in the issue gives full details of the increase.

The increase announced by the three shops, is the first made in Plymouth for many years. And yet barbershop prices here are much lower than in neighboring cities. It was pointed out by the operators that the rise in the cost of living and a general trend upwards in the barber supply line, has forced them to take this action.

REMOVED HOME

Mr. Frank Pitzer and daughter were removed Sunday from the Shelby Memorial hospital to their home on West Broadway.

WHEAT PENALTY CONSTITUTIONAL

SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN UNANIMOUS DECISION IN TEST CASE

The supreme court Monday unanimously held constitutional the penalty of 49 cents a bushel for marketing over-quota wheat of the 1941 crop.

The decision was based upon appeal of Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard from a decision of a three-judge federal court, which enjoined collection of the penalty in a suit brought by Roscoe C. Filburn, Montgomery county, Ohio farmer. Justice Jackson delivered the opinion.

The 49-cent penalty was applied under an act of congress of December 26, 1941, which amended the AAA law. The penalty at that time was increased from 15 cents a bushel.

The penalty aroused widespread opposition among farmers who had been practicing ready for harvest before the farm wheat marketing quota became effective.

Wayne Gebert 'The Panstrel' Writes Home To Be Given On Sunday Night

PARENTS RECEIVE WORD AFTER LONG SILENCE OF SON IN SW PACIFIC

With the exception of a cablegram announcing his safe arrival, news of Wayne Gebert for months had been heard from Wayne Gebert. However, the family has, in an indirect way, heard that he (Wayne) was getting along well, and would write at the first opportunity.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gebert, state the long-looked-for letter arrived last week and a few excerpts are taken from it, which will be interesting to his many friends in Plymouth and vicinity. The letter is dated Oct. 23, postmarked Oct. 30, and arrived in Plymouth, Nov. 5. Considering that the distance is several thousand miles away—some where in the Southwest Pacific, the letter reached Plymouth in an extremely short lapse of time.

Wayne says the living conditions are not so much different from those experienced in the camps in the U. S. A. The tropics seem to agree with the boys and they are all in the pink of condition—just waiting to take a crack at those "good bellies," if it has to come. The home town paper is catching up with him, four hawther arrived at one time, two another, quite recently, together with two letters from home written in July. The Advertiser is really enjoyed by the boys in camp, and otherwise, says Wayne.

The island on which they are stationed is inhabited by black-skinned people. The chief crop is sugar cane, also there is an abundance of lemons, pineapples, coconuts and bananas. A few grubs and tarawa in to complete the picture.

"I see Carl Spenseller only occasionally when they have outdoor picture shows at his organization. However, we often talk when I am on the telephone and switchboard. Carl says he is kept pretty busy and hears often from home. Recently he read over the phone a long letter from Will Boardman, who really took care of us boys when we were in San Francisco. He has now planned a trip for us through the California Redwoods when we return to our own country. I will be anxious to get home, but I guess a week more or less will not make much difference after being away from home as long as I have been. What do you say?"

Yesterday a sergeant and I dug a well behind our tent. The sides are walled up with two fifty-three gallon gasoline drums. Both ends of the drums are chiseled out like dad's incinerator in the backyard. We stood one on top of the other, the top sticking up about three inches above the surface of the ground. This arrangement stands about two-thirds full of water almost all of the time. This is our only close fresh water supply, and serves the purposes well enough for washing, but not for drinking.

Seeing that my candle is getting low, I will crawl under my net before the mosquitoes carry me away.

Yours,
Pfc. Wayne M. Gebert. 35001441

Members of the Live Wire Sunday School class of the Methodist church, New Haven will hold their annual chicken supper on Tuesday, Nov. 17th at the New Haven auditorium. Serving begins at 5:30 and continues until 8 p. m. Price for adults is 55c and children 35c.

A NEW SON

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Harrod of Trux street are the parents of a son born Saturday morning at the Shelby Memorial hospital.

CALLED TO SERVICE

Arnold Munn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Munn of West High St. will be one of the group which leaves that city for service on November 17th. Before his induction into the army, he expects to visit his parents at West High St. His sister, Mrs. Coats Brown of Knoxville, Tenn., and son will also be guests of her parents this week.

On Sunday night, November 15th, at 8:00 p. m., a new dramatization called THE PANSTREL will be presented at the Methodist church, Plymouth.

The word Panstrel is coined from the two words, panel and minstrel. The play is very entertaining and has some of the qualifications of a panel discussion. There will appear in the cast 23 characters all of them local, with the exception of the three men from Columbus, who take the leading parts. Mr. S. P. McNaught is the Master of Ceremonies and his two famous guests, Think and Drink. Some of you may remember in the old time minstrel shows, the two men were named Hink and Dink.

Drink takes the wet side of the argument and Think stands up for the dry side. These two men frequently get into quite an argument during the play and while there are some surprises for the audience, they will, at the same time, get some very valuable information concerning the liquor traffic.

War is at hand and you will want to hear what the leaders from Columbus have to say concerning the new front being formed by the dry forces.

The characters taking part in the drama are: Rev. Bethel, Rev. E. R. Haines, Prof. Derr, Mrs. Helen Sams, James Cunningham, Miss Muriel Walker, Mr. Earl McQuate, Mr. Harry Vanderfort, Mr. Willard Ross and Mr. Elmer Markley, also S. P. McNaught, H. B. Pilchard and E. R. Buchwalter of Columbus. No admission will be charged. Everybody welcome.

Rites Held At Shelby Church

AGNES ARMBRUSTER DIES IN CLEVELAND FOLLOWING SHORT ILLNESS.

Agnes Mary Armbruster, 35, former Plymouth resident, died at her home in Cleveland Saturday afternoon after a week's illness. The remains were removed to the Barkdull funeral home in Shelby and services were held at 9 a. m. Tuesday at the Most Pure Heart of Mary Catholic Church. Rev. Michael A. McFadden officiated and interment was made in the parish cemetery.

Before taking up her residence in Cleveland, Miss Armbruster resided with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Armbruster of the New Haven road. She was one of the most talented young women in the community. As an artist she was very well skilled in the reproduction of pictures, official and trial subjects. A number of Plymouth people had their portraits painted by Miss Armbruster. She had made excellent drawings for the Fate-Root-Health Co., and other example of her work was the pen and ink drawing of the Lutheran church, which was used on the cover of the Centennial Book a couple of years ago.

Her talent as an artist was a natural gift; she required very little training to master the technique which she naturally takes a lifetime. Her ability and technique was recognized by many in her profession as being outstanding. Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Armbruster, one brother, Richard; one sister, Estelle Walker, and three nephews, Michael, Rodney and David Walker of the vicinity of Shelby.

SHILOH NEWS

BIGGER AND BETTER POLITICS

Now that the election is all over, let us hope that politics can at last be side-tracked for the duration of the war. By side-tracking politics, we are speaking of the kind of politics whereby a man in office puts his party ambitions ahead of the interests of his country. There is a broader kind of politics which we don't want to see put aside. That is the kind which influences a man in office to keep in close touch with the people he represents and to speak for them. Most men in office do only a half-way job of this. They merely keep in touch with the members of the party who elected them and do not attempt to represent the people who voted for their opponents. By asking our representatives to forget politics, we actually mean that they should be better politicians—that they should think of all of the people in their state and their nation, and not just those people who put them in office. From now on, particularly in Congress, it is necessary for the Democrats to realize that they also represent Republicans and for the Republicans to realize they also represent Democrats. Our recent elections were held to determine which man would represent all of the people of the state—not which party would be represented in Washington.

NEW RULES FOR BOMBS

For the third time in six months, air raid wardens and others trained to deal with incendiary bombs are getting revised instructions. Now a completely new set of rules are being released. But for this new revision, instead of blaming anyone in Washington, we must confine the blame to someone in Germany. The new rules are being released because the Germans are using a new type of bomb which can't be handled in the same way as the old-type incendiary. Defense workers, who become impatient over constant changes, should instead be thankful that someone in our national defense organization is checking up on these things. Without any experience with actual bombs to go by, it is comforting to know that our preparations are being kept up-to-date and that, if raids ever do come, surprise methods are likely to have been anticipated.

WAR FIRE INSURANCE

Your fire insurance isn't any good if your home, or your property, or your car is burned as a result of bombings or of enemy attack in any form. We don't anticipate that any homes in this town are going to be damaged by enemy attack, but the main purpose of insurance is to guard against any unexpected eventuality of the future. Most of us know there is very little chance of our homes burning even under normal conditions, but we have fire insurance because it is an economical way of preventing loss just in case we should be unfortunate enough to have a fire. Since the chances of damage by enemy attack are remote, a new type of insurance to cover that possible loss is priced accordingly. This new insurance is being backed by the United States government through what is called the War Damage Corporation. Arrangements to add this protection to regular insurance can be made through any fire insurance company or broker—at a standard price set by the government which, in many cases, is as little as 10 cents per $100 of insurance.

It's a good thing to think about now—for if there actually was an enemy attack the rates would probably go sky high or such insurance might be called off altogether.

JAIL FOR BUNDESTS

Every time we hear of a member of a German-American Bund not being in jail, it worries us. In joining a Bund, each member pledges to subject all other interests to the requirements of the Bund, those requirements being concerned with the spread of National Socialism in America and loyalty to Hitler and the German Reich. Many of the Bund members are American citizens—and that has made it difficult for the government to do anything about them. But finally the department of justice has come to the obvious conclusion that, by remaining loyal to Germany first, those who were naturalized took their oath of allegiance to the United States fraudulently. As a result of that decision a nation-wide program has been initiated to revoke the naturalization of all former leaders and officials of the German-American Bund whose citizenship was obtained by false representation. They will then become alien enemies and interned for the duration of the war. When this program has been completed we will all be able to sleep more restfully.

Shiloh School News

HOME EC. NEWS

The first year Home Ec. class has been making wonderful cookies—both ginger and white. We have also made custards and floating islands which we think are very good.

The second year class has been sewing for the American Red Cross. They are making cotton slips for eight year old girls.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC NEWS

Last Tuesday the gym girls met for "military style" gymnastics. Miss West led us through a routine which was very enjoyable. However, the next morning every one was suffering a form of lumbago, arthritis and rheumatism.

The following Friday volleyball was played by Jerlean Lykins and Marilyn Van Wagner were chosen new captains. Two games were played with Jerlean's team winning with a score of 21 to 14.

SEVENTH GRADE NEWS

The seventh grade are done with our first-aid text books and took our final exam last Monday. All of us liked First-Aid. Now we will go into our study of health as well as we did First-Aid.

In the First-Aid also we made F. A. kits. Miss West told us what to put in them. The articles were as follows: aromatic spirits of ammonia, suction cup, tape, knife, gauze, cotton, needle, tweezers, iodine and alcohol. Those which have been made so far are very nice.

In Geography we divided up and took a notebook on which we will make the notebook on. We are coming along fine, with the help of Miss Guild.

CHAPEL

The Chapel program for Monday, November 9, was as follows: Two numbers by the band—Mutual and Perfect.

Group singing—"How Can I Leave This" and "Star Spangled Banner".

Devotions—Edwin Briner. Address—Rev. Haines from the Methodist church. Number by the band—El Capitan.

Rev Haines' talk was very interesting. He pointed out the reasons why we should be willing to give all we have to help God and others.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council committee on shows has picked out a number of first-class movies which will be shown at the school. The student body will be given a chance to say which of the group they prefer to have shown.

It is entirely up to the pupils whether more than one will be shown. If enough money is brought in to pay for the shows, we will have them more often. The price will be 10c for high school students and 5c for grade school pupils. This is your chance to tell us whether or not you want the shows in your school. If you want the shows to continue bring in your dimes and nickels.

Let's make it one hundred per cent.

The Sophomores had a class party last Friday evening. They went for a hay ride in the early evening and then went to the home of Mabel Malone for refreshments.

JUNIOR CLASS NEWS

Friday the 13th! Yes, another one of "those" days. But this time we're going to laugh at old man "superstition" and change his mind. Because Friday night the Junior class is presenting "Relax Albertus". Even the title defies the date Relax! Yes, relax. After you've had a hard day at your job you'll be glad to come to the school auditorium and really relax for a couple of hours, watching and listening to the cast of "Relax Albertus".

The tickets are on sale now! If you want to get your tickets before Friday night any member of the Junior class will be glad to remedy your needs.

Don't forget our sales tax stamp collection. We appreciate your help and hope you will keep it up. We're very glad to get any amount, whether it be one or one hundred.

As you know we're also selling candy at the noon hour and will sell it at our basketball games. We are very pleased with our sales and hope to see them improved still more.

Please keep in mind our dance. Tell your friends about it also. We're expecting each and every one of you. Keep in mind the date and mark the 21st of Nov. in your date book as filed.

Don't forget "Relax Albertus", NOVEMBER 13, 1942 at 8:00 p. m. at the school auditorium.

SENIORS HAVE A PARTY

The members of the Senior class enjoyed a class party held at the home of Mary Brook last Friday night. Some very interesting games and contests were held and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present. Refreshments were served later in the evening.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank Mrs. Brook and Mary for their cooperation in making this party such a success.

SNOOPER!!!

Flash! Another romance! Dick Clark and Doris Miller. You can tell by the look in their eyes.

And did you hear about the Moran who cut off his fingers so he could write shorthand? Sounds like Jane Stiving, doesn't it? In play practice the other day Dorothy Seaman and Duane Young her "millionaire aspirin". Do you mean to say he's that big of a headcase?

We wonder why Chuck Young blushes so very much every time Jeanette Forquer hands him a little piece of paper, well folded! It couldn't be a note, could it, Chuck? It seems that Betty Rose's new theme song is "Somebody Else is Taking My Place?"; Is that somebody Dorothy Deibert? She and Paul seem to like the same seat on the bus.

In case any of you are wondering who the young man was who drove around Shiloh with a lost wheel on his face, I'll tell you. It was Tommy Phillips from New Haven. Garry was away over the week-end, remember?

In answer to Miss Richard's question as to who was the most attentive audience, Richard Nelson replied "The one that wasn't there!"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We are happy to print the very interesting letter received from Mrs. Huldah Davis Frush, who writes: "People like Richard Nelson to join her husband there. She tells of her trip through the Old South, and promises at an early date to give us some of the high spots in and around New Orleans —P.W.T."

October 27, '42.

Dear Friends: A trip from Ohio to New Orleans, La., is like a story book fairy tale. Only seeing is believing. However, I'm going to try and give you some idea of our neighboring countryside.

No immediate change through Ohio, Indiana and Illinois can be noticed until one rides into Kentucky, near the Tennessee border line. From here on through the states of Tennessee, Mississippi and so on into Louisiana, an entirely different and new world unfolds before one's vision.

Somewhat of a barren wasteland is beautified by a mirage of colorful wild flowers, palms and bushes. Predominating is a yellow bloom which grows in bush formation and covers acres and acres of land. Here, too, are seen the coming signs of Fall in the autumn shades of red, gold and brown. There is much swampland and this is the garden of an unusual reed, which I surmise is a palm or some other tropical. Also here thrives many cat tails. The palm is a tall dry stalk at the top of which grows a fan-shaped light tan feathery appendage. A very large tree, the Awakening Saturday morning I saw my first cottonfield, somewhere in Tennessee. This, mere words cannot justly describe. One or two miles away I stopped and stretched the white downy crop. I was touched with the beauty of it all. They were picking as we rode farther into the heart of Tennessee and agades there was no labor people here as old white-haired ladies down thru the intervening years to pickaninies in scant diapers, were all there to assist each other, and by a strap over his shoulder, or fastened to his waist, a long sack that trailed the ground behind him. It is in these that they place the cotton as they pick it. As we stopped from time to time, there would be bales of the cargo strewn along the station platform, packed and ready for shipment. These, if one can rely on a woman's estimate, are now approximately one foot in depth, six feet in length and four feet wide. The quality of wrapping looked from a distance as though it might be equal to the best fish netting. Cotton appears to be the only white and clean article in these States.

Most of the stacks, and I mean stacks, are made of large "the leaning tower". There are no cellars and each place is built upon stilts or wooden blocks. Hills seem to make no impression upon these people and in their slipshod way they erect their homes on the same angle as the hill itself with one end no higher than the other in actual measurements. One wonders how they manage to live in the high places unless they do have the forethought to level the floors. The land about these places is bare and void of grass, weeds or any other thing. Everything is just plain dirt. These are mostly the homes of the less fortunate of both the colored and white race.

In complete contrast occasionally there comes a plantation of the Southern plantation. These are what authors write about and not without reason. They are stupendous! On all sides roll green, well-kept landscaped grounds. In the midst rests the traditional huge white colonial house with historic pillars extending from ground to roof. Each plantation presents a stable white, one and a half dimension. Adjoining the stable are pasturelands where one can see fine horses grazing. This is the true South in all its aristocratic elegance and beauty.

There seems to be very little farming done. Once in a great many miles one chances upon a lone corn field. However, these are a far cry from the northern farmer's pride and joy. They look as though the seed had been sown to the four winds and blown away to other far corners. We saw one potato patch—this was green. Perhaps the soil will not yield good crops—this I do not know. People here do as little as required to merely exist.

Mississippi is wooded territory and all along the way we saw many piles of logs stacked high. Fuel for the winter months, perhaps?

The towns must be centuries old. The stores are frame buildings, dilapidated and in dire need of repair. Boards walk like the streets. The business districts all face the railroad tracks and at train time people of all descriptions, colors and denominations line the streets and stand in waiting for the big event of the hour. This then, my friends, is a tour of the Southern states, herein named by me. I leave you at the New Orleans city limits. Later, perhaps, I can give you a Northerner's (and proud of my Yankee state) viewpoint of the South. Until then—things up! We'll all be home some day.

Huldah Davis Frush.

A TRUE STORY
An original theme by Ruth Ann Burger of Canton, and a niece of Mrs. P. H. Root and Miss Pearl Root, is the Panstel. The interest locale and its characters are based on well known young people. Ruth spent a year in the Plymouth schools and has many friends here. She is now a Sophomore at Lehman High at Canton.

"BETTE AND PAUL"
Bette is twenty-one years old and a bride of ten months. Paul her husband, is two years her senior. He works for Uncle Sam, and is a graduate Glider Pilot. He ferried a glider from Ohio to a town in Arkansas, where he is now stationed, for a time, as an instructor.

On a recent occasion of a few hours' leave from his post, he hurried home for a brief visit. As he was very tired from a strenuous routine beforehand, Bette was going to see that he slept "til the last minute before starting back, tiptoeing around, so as not to disturb him. Paul, who was in the room, heard her, and through an oversight was not informed of her intention, became uneasy that he would be late, and suddenly called loudly,

"Paul, you'll be late. No wonder we haven't started a second front." Paul yawningly said, "Dad, I've been blamed for a lot of things but never before for a second front not having been opened." Well, he got back O. K. Bette remained behind but hoping she would be able to join her husband bond sooner or later. Her dream came true and they are now keeping house in a tiny southern town with little or no conveniences; but they are very happy and more than glad to give up comfort and luxury for happiness. Bette writes it is strictly primitive, and it's lots of fun. They did a washing for the first time in their lives, heating the water in tubs in the yard over a wood fire and carrying it in pails. They made their own washing racks. On yest'ery landlady has a seven-year-old, red headed daughter who became fascinated with Paul as he amused her with slight-of-hand tricks and would be glad to follow him wherever he went. She had so much confidence in him that she consented to let him pull a tooth, which he did by the method of string and

Advertiser Offers New Magazines

Good reading is instructive as well as entertaining. And with gas rationing, which will curtail our activities, the majority of us will be forced to remain at home during the long winter months. So don't you think it would be a nice move to fill up your magazine rack with interesting reading material?

The Advertiser is pleased to offer for the past several years The Advertiser has conducted a house-to-house campaign for renewals and also for magazine subscriptions. However, present circumstances force the discontinuance of the campaign, but you can stop in at The Advertiser office, or send through the mail, your order for the local paper and your choice of magazines.

In this issue you will find elsewhere an advertisement showing the various combination subscriptions available. You may also be subscribing to The Advertiser. If you are now receiving the local paper, you will find an interesting offer for renewing your subscription. But if over, check your expiration date on the little yellow label, and if you are interested in the magazine offer, it would be a good idea to subscribe before the holiday rush.

Everywhere, office held is curtailed and it is possible this year it may take a little longer than usual to have your magazines renewed. But a renewal, and in that case plenty of time will be given before its expiration, if ordered now.

Under a recent ruling by the post office, no magazines or newspapers can be sent to any in the armed forces unless shipment is made direct from the publishers. Therefore, a desirable gift to the boys overseas, will be a copy of The Advertiser each week—all for only $1.00.

QUOTAS TO BE SET ON FARM TOOLS

The recent War Production Board order which froze all new farm machinery and equipment except repair parts will remain in effect until a permanent rationing order is drawn up, it was announced here today by Robert E. Finlay, chairman of the Huron County Farm Machinery Rationing Committee.

Production of new farm machinery and equipment for 1943 will be restricted by the War Production Board to 70 per cent of the 1940-41 average production, while the output or repair parts has been set at 130 per cent of the 1940 average.

In order to obtain the most effective use of this limited amount of new equipment, state and county farm machinery quotas will be established by the Department of Agriculture and the U. S. D. A. War Board. It was pointed out that these quotas will be used as a basis for the permanent machinery rationing order.

When the quota system is established, the County Farm Machinery Rationing Committee will issue rationing certificates to eligible purchasers. Until the new program goes into effect, however, emergency needs for new equipment will be handled by the County Farm Machinery Committee, under the State U. S. D. A. War Board, and Fred S. Dalace, special war board assistant to Secretary of Agriculture, C. R. Wickard.

The freeze order, which was effective October 1943, covers two main types of farm machinery. In the first group are most of the heavier labor saving machinery which is important as a result of the present shortage. None of the 144 items listed in this group may be sold or transferred.

Group 2 includes certain miscellaneous items requiring less than 100 horsepower. The order will stop transfer of these items by distributors or manufacturers, but dealers may sell for farm use any articles in this group which they have in stock.

The WPB order is intended to help the war effort by diverting steel into channels where it will most effectively assist the United Nations in their program. It is estimated that approximately 500,000 tons of steel and other critical materials will be released for direct war uses as a result of restricted production schedule.

Public Invited To Attend New Haven P. T. A. Meeting

Conservation of tires, rationing of gas and other national emergencies will decide the fate of many community projects. Several communities will be knit closer while other projects will just naturally die out.

Down at New Haven the PTA meeting program is one of the outstanding events. Whether or not it will continue as a monthly affair is not known, but tomorrow night, the November meeting will be held.

A special program has been announced in charge of the committee, Mrs. John Lanier, Mrs. Rolla Van Wagner and Mrs. Garret Walters. The program includes pictures and musical numbers which already been announced. This week, it was decided to add two more attractions. Two declamations from a script by Peace Corps instead of a single event, Roger Wise will deliver "My Brother's Keeper," and Beth Clark will recite "The Belts are Telling."

A record-breaking crowd is expected.

Public Must Cooperate On Mail Delivery To Insure Its Delivery

The post office department now is starting the most gigantic task in its history—the movement of a deluge of Christmas parcels, cards and letters while maintaining the regular flow of millions of pieces of mail daily to and from our armed forces all over the world.

Indications are that the volume of Christmas mail will be the largest on record. Already in September, latest month for which the figures are available, retail sales had reached a level second only to the record of over a million in December, 1941, according to the Department of Commerce. And all sales are rising. Such heavy purchases always presage heavy mailings.

If thousands of our soldiers, sailors, marines and civilian friends are not to be disappointed at Christmas time, the public must cooperate by mailing earlier than ever before and by addressing letters and parcels properly. The best efforts of the Post Office Department alone cannot be enough, in view of war time difficulties faced by the postal system. The public must assist.

About 25,000 experienced postmen already have been taken by the war services. Arrangements are under way to add thousands of temporary personnel to postal staffs, but this man power is hard to find and is inexperienced. Facilities of railroads and air lines are heavily taxed by movements of huge quantities of war materials and supplies. It is, therefore, almost impossible to obtain. Winter weather, hampering transportation, is beginning.

The free-mailing granted members of the armed forces has raised their mailings some 30 per cent, it is estimated. Expansion of those forces also is adding rapidly to the postal burden.

The deadline to address and post for mailing gifts to Army and Navy personnel overseas with assurance that the parcels will arrive by Christmas. The New York post office reports that in October, 350,000 such parcels were handled daily in that office alone.

The Post Office Department is making every effort to avoid such a terrific jam as it faces in the under similar conditions, during the first World War. It can succeed if those efforts—and avoid many heartaches for its patrons—if the public will cooperate by mailing early.

CHILDREN PARADE ON ARMISTICE DAY

While Plymouth stores remained open and the local factory kept all wheels turning, Plymouth was not entirely without a program on Armistice Day. Westwood and the headlines telling of the American action in North Africa the over-running of France by German troops. It was significant that a program given at the local school—for it is history in the making.

Sponsored by the Esther Bricker Tent, D. of U. V. Shelby and the American Legion Auxiliary of Plymouth, together with the cooperation of the Legion boys, mothers of boys in service, Supt. E. L. Bailey and school children, a parade headed by the school band marched up Sandusky street, thru the Square and returned by way of Portner street to the school where a splendid program was given.

Col. F. S. Keane of Norwalk was the main speaker, and his talk was thoroughly enjoyed, not only by the school children, but a representative audience of those who had gathered for the occasion.

HOME ON FURLOUGH Corp. and Mrs. Carl A. Fox of Jackson, Miss. is spending ten days' furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fox. Sunday is remaining for a longer visit.

BURR KNAUS TAKES OVER INDIANA FARM

Friends in Plymouth will be interested in learning that Burr Knaus, former operator of the Ludlow Farm, west of Plymouth, has accepted a position as manager of the Wabash Valley Farms, near Sullivan, Indiana.

Last Spring Mr. Knaus took charge of a farm near Berea, but a few weeks ago he received a most generous offer from the Wabash farms, and he accepted. He and Mrs. Knaus will move to their new home December 1st.

The Wabash Farms is operated on a large scale. Composed of several hundred acres of rich valley soil, the farm is very productive. The farm totals an average income of from $75,000 to $85,000 per year.

It is ideal for producing hybrid seed corn, production of turkeys, and some 50 acres are excellent for truck farming.

The farm has a capacity of 750 western beef cattle, 250 fat hogs and other livestock. The owners of Wabash Farms extended the generous offer to Mr. Knaus because of his wide knowledge of farming and his ability to produce.

Friends in Plymouth extend the best of luck to Mr. and Mrs. Knaus in their new home, and wish for their continued success.

ICE FOLLIES COMING TO CLEVELAND SOON

Announcement that the "Ice Follies of 1943" will move into the Cleveland Arena for a week's stand, November 22 thru 29, under the sponsorship of the Cuyahoga County Council of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, marks the high spot in the fall entertainment season for all Northern Ohio.

Each year sees the new "Ice Follies" surpass everything that has gone before. The current ice show, seventh in the series, is virtually an astronomical spectacle with a star-studded cast which will include many new faces along with the favorites of the past. Among the stars, those who are new since the Ice Follies appeared here a year ago are Betty Atkinson, the "biorgie blitz" of the ice skating world; Sarah McCarby, the striking brunette who brings with her a Canadian and North American Women's Senior Figure Skating Championship; Johnny Kinney, a new comers addition; and Bobby Blake, presenting something entirely new in figure skating technique.

Old favorites of long standing still hold the spotlight on the ice surface. Shipstad Johnson, who has won a new twist to their own inimitable style. Roy Shipstad, Heinie Brock, Frick and Frack, the Galbraith Brothers, the McKellan Brothers, Mac Ross and a dozen others all offer new routines geared to the exceptionally fast tempo of the current edition.

Tickets for the "Ice Follies of 1943" are now available from the Cleveland Arena, 3700 Euclid, at $1.35, $1.85 and $2.20, tax included. Mrs. Marguerite St. Clair has resigned her position at the Kroger store and is expected one at the Shelby Auto-Cool Co.

Poultry Auction To Hold Annual Meeting

The second annual meeting of the North Central Egg and Poultry Cooperative will be held on Thursday evening, Nov. 19, at the New Washington High school auditorium, at 8 o'clock. In addition to the regular business meeting of the association there will be a tour of the new auction building which is now located at New Washington.

E. J. Bishop, who is president of the North Central Egg and Poultry Cooperative and a prominent New Washington poultryman, cordially invites all members of the association and others, to attend this meeting.

TRANSFERRED

Neil R. Gebert whose last address was presumably somewhere in India, has again been moved. We note from his latest address that he has been advanced to Sergeant.

In an extremely short letter received by his parents, he states the weather conditions have changed from a hot, dry climate with wind to damp, still air with rain. However, the conditions are improving. The monsoon season will soon be over and traveling by foot will be easier. They are getting a lot to eat and plenty of tea to drink and he is beginning to like it. He even likes the bamboo huts. One can only guess where he is stationed.

Infant Dies

John Linwood Giller, three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frazier Giller of Galion and a former resident of Plymouth, died Sunday, Nov. 8, at the Mansfield General hospital.

Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Sutter funeral home with Dr. D. Bruce Young, pastor of the First Lutheran church, officiating. Burial was made in the Oakland cemetery.

ANOTHER DOCTOR SENT TO WILLARD; SECOND EXPECTED

Dr. E. D. Kackley, of Adena, will come to Willard Nov. 15 to open an office formerly occupied by Dr. L. H. Whisler.

Dr. Kackley will come to Willard on advice of the state professional board. A number of Willard organizations and individuals had written to the board requesting additional physicians.

With Dr. Whisler having retired from practice because of illness and three other physicians of the hospital staff now serving in the army, Willard was left with but two physicians for an area that numbers 5,000 persons.

Another doctor from Newcomerstown is expected to open an office here late this month.

CHAPTER V STENOGRAPHS

Gary Tallman, a young petroleum engineer on his way to a job in Mexico, signed up for a ride by Mona Lee Mason. They have an accident, and Gary is seriously injured.

The Kimbals arrived, Oliver very jaunty in a new spring suit and Grace with all her curls in place and her eyebrows arched to look like the latest Hollywood sensation.

Adelaide slipped out and clutched at Gary in the hall. "Oh, dear! I've killed Oliver! And I wanted him to live!"

"I suppose so," she sighed. "Go on in, Gary—keep Oliver from ruining everything you can."

But Oliver had already taken command of the situation, abetted and prompted by Grace. He was advancing arguments against wild-acting an oil well, diluting upon the advantages of a new well, and for once Gary found himself agreeing with Oliver.

"Of course he's right," Grace put in. "You better know the business anyway, he ought to. He's worked at it ever since he left school."

Adelaide edged Gary into a corner as the family trooped into the "big room." "He knows more than I do," she snapped.

"I agreed with him because he happens to be right," Gary said quickly.

"What?" Harvey lifted his voice so that Maria jumped. "You're not going! I hired you. You found this town wasn't what I needed for my way, not in summer."

"I never said a word in my letter. Adelaide must have written that. How do you know you did not write your never do."

"Well, I did write that line or two," Harvey admitted. "I had to send him a check and I told him you was figuring on starting drilling."

"You spoil everybody, Mother. You got me spoiled, and then you spoiled Harvey. He forgot about it. He had to get ready to go to Austin to get his drilling permit so he wouldn't miss shooting orders all over the house."

"Look here, Gary—you know about this drilling business, are you ought to know a good rig when you see it. You take Adelaide's car and she can go along and drive, and you go over east and hunt me up at Good creek to get a well down."

"You get the outfit we need, and I'll see about the water. You ought to know a good thing when you see it. You take Adelaide's car and she can go along and drive, and you go over east and hunt me up at Good creek to get a well down."

"There she is," he said. "There's your oil." "Gary," she said. "You like Adelaide pretty well, don't you?"

"I haven't seen a piece of washed-out land. There—" he threw a few crumpled bills on the table. "lies my money."

"You need another shirt, Gary. You buy one tomorrow. And don't you give up. Adelaide's little crazy right now—it's the thought of all this money. She'll calm down pretty soon."

Harvey came in late and tossed a telegram into Mona Lee's lap. She looked brightly at the card and held it with her fingers.

"Oh, mercy!" she gasped when she read it. "And how are you? How'd Harvey—? That's the way, Harvey. They think you're made of money."

"I never said a word in my letter. Adelaide must have written that. How do you know you did not write your never do."

"Well, I did write that line or two," Harvey admitted. "I had to send him a check and I told him you was figuring on starting drilling."

LETTERS from the BOYS IN SERVICE

Just a few introductory lines to our readers at home, and to all the boys who receive The Advertiser. Below you'll find a few lines from some of the boys in service. To the parents in and near Plymouth, let us state that if you receive an interesting letter from your boy or friend, let us know. Perhaps we can re-write it in such a manner that it will prove interesting to others.

Now for the letters: Camp Bowie, Tex. Sunday, Nov. 1, '42

Dear Editor: Receive the paper every week and enjoy reading it very much. As you and you are having freezing weather, we hardly realize it is November and Fall for we still have warm weather in Texas.

Received the rating for 5th Class Corporal Technician. Sincerely yours, Cpl Norman Thumm, Btry B, 2nd F A Obsn Bn., Camp Bowie, Texas.

Dear Corporal: We've been thinking of you might find things about you indirectly. Keep up the good work, and congratulations.

Oct. 9, 1942 Hawaiian Islands. Dear Tommy: Have a little time to myself so will write you a few lines. Have it some of the boys of the service. It's a mighty good way to keep in touch with them.

I'm still looking for a native girl that looks like Betty Grable. The climate here is wonderful. I couldn't ask for nicer weather. I'd like to hunt up Bro Brothers, Vincent Lybarger and Tony Fenner while I'm here, but they are on a different island.

The trip over was uneventful except that it was darn hot. My address has been changed again. It is now: Corp. Charles W. Rhine, 35004294, Co. L, 160th Inf. APO 960, Care Post Master, San Francisco, Calif.

Well, I must close for this time. Sincerely yours, Charles Rhine.

My dear Charles: I'm really surprised at you! Looking for a girl that looks like Betty Grable! What's the matter with the vitamins in those pineapples and coconuts here? Here in the States any girl can eat anything—from breakfast food to drinking grape juice, and become a glamour girl. It is very evident that you haven't gone to the shore and hollered "Yoo hoo." For this would not only bring out a couple of grass skirts, but it would also put you in touch with Bill Feller, Tony, Vincent, or even Bill DeWitt. Try it!

P. S. Can't you buy any pictures over there? I don't mean pineapple trees, either—Tommy.

Dear Tommy: Sure enjoy getting the news from the old home town and thanking you very much for it. I will write you a letter later, telling you about Missouri.

Pvt. Frederick Mills, Flight E, 356 T S S (SP) U S Army Air Forces Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

Thanks, Fred. Don't forget the letter, and since Nov. 3rd, it may be a good idea to tell us about those Missouri mules and send a couple of pictures along. Some people forgot how they look—T. England.

Oct. 17, 1942 Dear Tommy: After hearing of the arrangements that were made I was only too sorry that you people back home failed to hear me broadcast. And since it is obvious that a number of you were interested I should like to write a few lines in regards to it.

The broadcast was arranged by the American Eagle Club of London. There were approximately 100 participants. Each was interviewed by Gene Raymond, formerly of Hollywood, now serving in the U. S. Army Air Corps. Questions varied as to their most interesting experiences, places of interest and so on. Then at the completion of interview each person was permitted to say a few words if he so desired. Naturally, my message was for my family and all my friends back home. Believe me, Tommy, it was all very thrilling. However, I was a little bit disappointed that consequently I can't exactly recall
