

Tips To Autoists Who Need More Than 4 Gallons of Gas

Registration for gas rationing blanks is being conducted today and tomorrow at the Plymouth High school between the hours of 5 and 10 p. m. It began yesterday and applicants are asked to observe the hours.

Autoists who expect to apply for supplemental rations to enable them to drive to and from work should make plans now to share rides with others needing transportation to their jobs, according to an announcement by the Huron County War Price and Rationing Board.

"Car sharing has been made an integral part of the mileage rationing program because it is the most effective means of providing essential transportation on a minimum amount of rubber." The announcement reads. "To get more than the basic A ration a car owner must form a car-sharing club to carry at least three other persons to and from work, or prove that he cannot do so."

The ration board suggested that car owners get together with employees at the plant or office. If two or more cars are to be used in the club, members may divide up the use of those cars to suit their convenience. Supplemental rations will then be issued on each vehicle for mileage to meet its obligations.

The club must be formed before the application for a supplemental ration is submitted to the board. In fact, signatures of all members must appear on the application, and applicants must certify that they will carry through their part in the car club agreement.

Supplemental applications are not to be presented registrars at school houses on November 18, 19 or 20. These registrars will be authorized to issue only the basic ration books to car owners, passenger car owners, and D for motorcyclists.

However, vehicle operators who feel they will need more mileage than the basic book will provide, may ask the registrar for a supplemental application. This is to be filled out later and sent to a local War Price and rationing board. The basic books will provide mileage for 240 miles a month. If the person to whom the ration is issued intends to use his car for driving to work, or in connection with his work, he will be expected to consider 150 miles a month of his ration available for such driving. The remaining 90 miles a month may be reserved for essential family travel such as for children, or for sick persons to the doctor, etc.

Applicants for supplemental rations will first need to prove that they need more than the 150 miles of occupational driving in the A book. Secondly, they will need to show that they have formed a car club. If they do not form such a club they must prove they cannot do so, and that the alternative means of transportation is inadequate.

"All applicants for a supplemental ration will use the same form," the board pointed out. The board will decide whether the ration granted or should be in the form of a "B" or a "C" book. The "B" book in addition to the "A" book.

"OLDSTERS" GET REPRIEVE

A 30-day postponement has been granted to men 45 or older who are under orders to report for induction into the army, and those turning 45 no longer will be inducted, said state selective service headquarters.

BURIED HERE

Services at the grave were held Wednesday at 1 o'clock for Mrs. Ella DeWitt Simonson, 70, who was brought to Plymouth for burial. The deceased died Sunday at her home in Willoughby, Ohio, and has a number of relatives in this vicinity.

provides for a maximum of 470 miles of occupational driving a month. Mileage for more than 470 miles a month requires a C book. But only drivers performing service regarded as essential to the war effort or the public welfare will be eligible for "C" rations.

FRIDAY, THE 13TH BRINGS PROMOTION TO JOHN FACKLER

Friday, the thirteenth, wasn't an unlucky day for John Fackler, who is in the Tank Destroyer Command of the Army at Camp Hood, Texas, for it was on the Thirteenth that Fackler received his commission as second lieutenant.

Entering the service on Feb. 11, 1942, Fackler started right at the bottom, and through his untiring efforts he has rapidly gained recognition by his ability and determination to make a good soldier, thus receiving his commission as a reward.

Fackler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Fackler, and was employed at the Fate-Root-Health Company prior to entering the service. He is a graduate of Plymouth High school. He arrived here Saturday to spend a ten-day furlough with his wife in Willard, and the folks in Plymouth. His many friends wish for him continued success, and congratulate him on his promotion.

ONE MAIL DELIVERY IN TOWN ON THANKSGIVING

The mail will go through as usual next Thursday, Thanksgiving Day. Postmaster Claude Sourwine states that the usual Saturday rules will be observed on the holiday—that is, one delivery in town, window open for half holiday, and casing the mail, but NO rural deliveries.

Garden of Eat'n To Open Friday

An announcement of much local interest is made this week by Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Evans, operators of the Garden of Eat'n on U. S. Route 224 at New Haven, that they will be open for business on Friday, Nov. 20.

The Garden of Eat'n has been a year in the making—planning, hard work, and delays caused by material shortages. But it is one of the most modern taverns in this section of the state. The interior is attractively arranged, being finished in plain knotty pine.

The latest in equipment adorns the counters and serving stands, with walls lights appropriately placed for best effects. The ventilation for summer and winter is the latest word. The dining room has a capacity of 70 people, and is arranged so that it is convenient to serve capacity crowds.

For their opening day of Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Points state that the menu will feature turkey, chicken, rabbit and fish, supplemented with tasty and appetizing side dishes.

In appreciation of the many courtesies extended them and for the splendid cooperation of all who helped in making The Garden of Eat'n a place of pleasure, Mr. and Mrs. Points extend their sincere thanks, especially to Mr. Joe Crispin, who is responsible for all the woodwork and cabinet.

All dairy products used are secured from the Square Deal Dairy of Willard.

Open house will prevail all this week and you are invited to inspect the Garden of Eat'n.

HOME ON FURLOUGH

Mr. and Mrs. Werthe Reed of Bell street and Mrs. Wm. Searfield were Saturday evening guests in the home of Mrs. Luce Williamson, where they met Ralph Carroll, who is stationed at Detroit and was home on a 30-hour furlough.

Greenwich Man Dies In Florida

C. E. DEVOE PASSES AWAY AT ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. MONDAY MORNING

C. E. Devoe, 80, of Greenwich, but a former Plymouth resident, died in St. Petersburg, Fla., suddenly Monday afternoon. Although in ill health for the past several years, Mr. Devoe had been spending the winters in Florida. The change in climate was a great aid to him and his health, and his death Monday was unexpected by members of the family. Mr. Devoe had just arrived in the Florida metropolis on Wednesday of last week, where he expected to spend the winter months.

Floyd Devoe, a son, who resides in Willard, went to St. Petersburg to look after arrangements. The remains will be interred in Greenwood cemetery here. Funeral services are as yet incomplete.

The deceased was well known in Plymouth, being born and reared southwest of here. He was well-known in this vicinity and held the good will and respect of all who knew him. He served his community, having been elected as a commissioner of Huron county several years ago.

Surviving are the wife, two daughters, Mrs. Verne Stout of Rittman, Ohio, Mrs. F. H. Landefeld, Plymouth, Ohio, Route 1, two sons, Floyd of Willard, and Fred of Longmont, Colo.

PAUL H. ROOT PILOTS GLIDER

The paper of Berry Field, published at Knoxville, Tenn., carried the following article which will be of interest in Plymouth. Staff Sergeant Paul H. Root, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Root of Plymouth street and has been interested in aviation and gliders for some time, and is now realizing his ambition:

"First cargo glider to come to Berry Field was landed Monday afternoon. The glider, piloted by Staff Sergeant P. H. Root and Staff Sergeant A. G. Bellman of Stout Field, Indianapolis, Ind., left from a mid-west point and was towed the entire distance by Captain Osburn E. Taylor. The glider will be towed to another base where it will be used to train glider pilots. This type glider can be used to carry cargo and troops behind enemy lines. The tow rope, which is several hundred feet long, is made of nylon, covered from discarded women's hose."

THANKSGIVING TO BE OBSERVED HERE WITH UNION CHURCH SERVICES

Union Thanksgiving services in Plymouth will be observed next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the Lutheran church. Rev. H. L. Bethel of the Presbyterian church will deliver the sermon and Rev. Everett Haines of the Methodist church will conduct the devotions. Special music is being arranged by the Lutheran church.

The church should be filled with worshippers "giving thanks unto the Lord," with prayers in their hearts and on their lips for the final victory in this war-ravaged world. Can they count on you?

CHAS. DICK ENLISTS IN MARINE SERVICE

Charles Dick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dick of West Broadway, took his oath as a member of the Merchant Marine at Cleveland last Friday morning. Mr. Dick has been employed at the Cleveland Pneumatic Tool Co. in Cleveland, for the past thirteen months in the tool grinding department.

Charles graduated from the local high school, class of '37, and prior to going to Cleveland, he was employed at the plant of The Fate-Root-Health Co. He is at home awaiting his call, which may give him a move or so here before entering the service.

Best of luck and good wishes go with Dick in his new work with the merchant marine, and there is no doubt but what he'll prove to be a "worthy old salt."

METHODISTS HONOR BOYS IN SERVICE

At the conclusion of an Armistice Day service in the Methodist Church Sunday morning at the usual hour of worship, special tribute was paid to the boys now in the various branches of service for their country.

Heading the list was Capt. Elmer Parsel besides whose name a gold star appeared. Capt. Parsel lost his life last April while on duty in Italy.

RECEIVES RECOGNITION

Pvt. Claire Foraker, who recently enjoyed a furlough from Ft. Bragg, N. C., writes home this week that he has been promoted to Private, First Class, and that out on the rifle range he was second high in his company.

Around the Square

(By Phineas Whittlesseed)

I DON'T think Prof. Henderson need worry about rationing of meats, especially these parts. Who's buy and pay for ten pounds of beef or pork, counting four to a family?

AH! AH! DON'T forget to register this week-end for that 4-gallons of gas. Wished they'd make up their minds down in our capital. Anyway, we're not building up any hopes!

IT TAKES AN OLD VIRGINIAN to talk back to the boys in Washington. See by the papers where Senator Byrd says the government is giving protection to too many young men from service in the fighting units. To this we all agree.

WITH THE WAR spirit prevailing there's a lot of the boys in and around Plymouth that are itching to get the "feet of a gun" in their hands. And tomorrow's the opening day for pheasants! Too bad the birds can't transform into a Heinie or Yellow-Belly so the fellers could really make the shots count!

"I AIN'T SEEN A TEXAS RANGER YET," says John Fackler, who has been down that way for a few months. "But I've seen some swell riding at a rodeo at Austin, Texas. They really love their horses down in that country." John asked me a question the other day "what's a gun?" I gave him an answer. He says: "Why did they name such a place as Camp SWIFT, Texas? I don't see anybody move around?" Perhaps you can give him the answer.

CAN YOU imagine Bill DeWitt writing home to his mother and asking her if she'd care if he became "engaged"? Who was the fellow that wrote from Honolulu that he didn't find any girls over in Hawaii that looked like Veronica Lake?

ROSS VANBUSKIRK, and Frank Cross were talking over hunting season in Laseh's Barbershop Tuesday afternoon. That man VanBuskirk can really tell some tall ones. But he says they're the honest truth.

FROM the way our local boys are receiving promotions in the various services, Plymouth will have a first-class war effort. We are proud of all of them, and the whole town extends best wishes to those receiving recent promotions.

"STINKY" DAVIS, who was on his way home for a furlough, stopped over in Columbus for a few minutes. He thought he recognized a home town girl, one of the Pickens' twins, but he failed to speak up, saying: "There were two more 11Fs around for me to take a chance." Sure enough, it was Betty Pickens whom he saw.

JIMMY CUNNINGHAM, substitute mail carrier, purchased a new bicycle the great deal, simple and pastier for all concerned to sell the tires in advance of registration, the board pointed out.

All excess tires, even scrap tires, must be disposed of under the Government's idle-tire-purchase plan, the local office of the Railway Express Agency will collect all serviceable tires, and leave a receipt. The Government will send a check later covering the price of the tire or tires. Tires beyond repair should be disposed of through a local scrap dealer or salvage committee.

IN COLUMBUS FOR EXAMS

JOIN THE NAVY

Men between the ages of 17 and 50, living in this area, see your bicycle the next week, the first to be issued in Plymouth since the bicycles were frozen by government order. He has built himself a "bike-trailer," and it serves very well for Uncle Sam's purposes, and gas rationing won't bother him a bit.

Men under selective service can still enlist in the Navy active duty. They have received their induction notice.

Don't wait to be called. JOIN YOUR NAVY NOW!

Too Many Tires; No Gas Books

Huron county autoists who fail to dispose of at once any tires they own in excess of the permissible five per car face the inconvenience of a delay in getting their mileage rations, the Huron county War Price and Rationing Board warned today.

"Passenger car owners showing on their applications that they still own more than the five tires per car will not be issued basic mileage ration books when they register at school houses on Nov. 18-19-20, the board announced. They will be told they must get rid of those tires first."

"Unless they dispose of those tires before the registration period ends, they will have to go to the local rationing board. They must wait, however, until after rationing actually begins. Because of the work to be done in connection with issuing all other types of mileage rations, rationing boards will be unable to consider applications for basic rations until Nov. 24, unless an applicant shows some good reason why he shouldn't be made to wait that long."

"When he does apply he will have to present proof that he has disposed of the excess tires he reported on his application form."

A receipt showing that he has turned them over to the Railway Express Agency will be acceptable as such proof. Or the applicant may show that he has turned in unserviceable tires for scrap.

"But it's a great deal simpler and pastier for all concerned to sell the tires in advance of registration, the board pointed out.

'WIN THE WAR' PARTY

Election time is the big test for anyone who purports to be able to measure public opinion.

In 1932, the Literary Digest magazine, which took a stray vote among millions of people before the presidential election of that year, predicted that Franklin D. Roosevelt would lose by a big margin. When Roosevelt won by a landslide, the Literary Digest was unable to live down its inaccurate prediction and finally went out of business.

That same year Dr. George Gallup, head of the American Institute of Public Opinion, used a new method of measuring what would happen at the election. By interviewing less than one per cent of the number of people contacted by the Literary Digest, he accurately predicted Roosevelt's election.

In other elections that followed, Dr. Gallup continued to get the right answer. He has continued to improve his technique throughout the years, and in the election this month he established a new record.

In the New York state election for governor, where over 4,000,000 voters were involved, he predicted that Dewey would get 53 per cent of the votes. When the returns were in, Dewey actually got 52.6 per cent. Dr. Gallup's prediction was off by less than one-half of one per cent!

From now on there is no question but that the Gallup poll will be considered something to be reckoned with by even the most skeptical.

ELECTION FORECASTING

The line-up for the new senate and the new house of representatives, which goes into office the first of the year, shows that the northern states have gone back to their former Republican status and the southern states continue to be Democratic.

CHAPTER VI SYNOPSIS

Gary Tallman, a young petroleum engineer on his way to a job in Mexico, gets as far as Texas, where he is given a ride by Mona Lee Mason. They have an accident, and Gary is seriously injured. Mona Lee takes him to her home. Before he has recovered sufficiently to leave, Gary finds evidence of the man on the Mason ranch. Grace and Mason, Mona Lee's husband, Harvey described him to Oliver Hickey, his son-in-law, whose business includes taking care of the Gary and Adelaide Mason are trying to get a crew to put down a well.

"Now we have to look for a well that's just been finished," Gary said, "where there's an outfit standing waiting to be moved. And then, after we get an outfit, we have to persuade them to move twenty miles or more on to a wildcat job, and that will be a selling job, too, for mostly they don't like wildcats very much."

"How you tell a well that's finished?"

"Under's one over there. See that dark spot on it, just under the derrick and all the machinery still standing? Well, it's a well that's been drilled. The Christmas tree's set up—so I know it's finished."

"You don't see any Christmas tree. You're crazy, Gary."

"See that contraption of pipe and wheels and stuff sticking up out of the hole? That's the Christmas tree. It's a rickety trailer was parked under the derrick, and the man who has his hand on his middle age, with his hat dragged down over his eyes and a snarl while he curled up in a ball, and he was in a sleep. He sprang awake and came charging, yapping, as they approached, and the man set up."

"Know who owns this drilling outfit?"

"How I know? Myrna Starr owns it. Go up yonder, to Jim Hickey. Up in that shanty that's down there, it's just under that machine shop, towards the stripper. Jim's a good driller—good as because Mona Lee told me."

Jim Hickey talked glibly and eagerly. He would, so he promised, get a well down quicker and cheaper than any other man around.

Adelaide sat patiently on the running board of an old car while Gary and the toolbars Jim prowled around a yard full of concrete machinery. Then Gary came back and said, "Let's go. His stuff is old. He hasn't got the money to have it overhauled. We'll look somewhere else."

He folded the grimy paper on which Jim Hickey had estimated his drilling costs, and put it in his pocket. He turned to go, but then went upstairs to his room to write letters—to all men that he knew, asking for a job.

He had finished the third epistle when he heard Mona Lee coming to the stairs. She stopped outside his door and said, "I thought you'd gone to bed. Gary, would you go over to Grace's place with me. She telephoned—and it's late, and Harvey doesn't like it if I drive alone at night."

Gary got up quickly. "Of course. Is someone sick?"

Mona Lee hesitated, looked worried and unhappy. "No, I guess it's just one of Oliver's sprees. Gary was crying, and she said she had to talk to me and Oliver had her car in town, so I told her I'd come."

They locked all the doors and left the key in the asparagus-fern box for Adelaide, and Gary held the door open for her. She backed the car out of the garage.

The Kimball house was a new, small, two-car garage, and it came around to her seat, getting in beside him without a word. Gary did not interest himself in the silences. He listened till they were almost back at the ranch. Then Mona Lee slowed down. Gary saw her draw a slow breath and sighed patiently.

"When they're little," she said, "you keep thinking that your troubles will be over with them, and you end up and stop getting all kinds of things and falling out of trees and having diseases and stuff."

"I lighted door opened and she disappeared inside, so Gary leaned back and snapped buttons and tried to interest himself in the dance band, and then in a news broadcast.

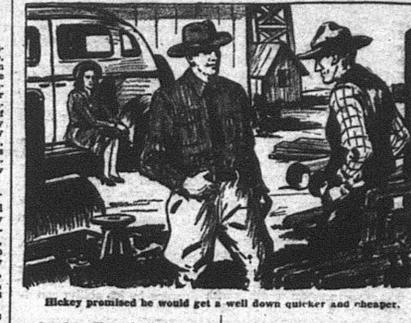

And then that door opened and Mona Lee came out and came around to her seat, getting in beside him without a word. Gary did not interest himself in the silences. He listened till they were almost back at the ranch. Then Mona Lee slowed down. Gary saw her draw a slow breath and sighed patiently.

and tonsils and all that. And then they grow up and you think now maybe you can relax a little—and then it's the same thing, except that now the things that happen to them are worse. Grace and Oliver have had some sort of a fight—and she says it's about her father's oil well, but she doesn't dare tell me what it is. And Oliver's gone off and never even said good-bye."

"Gary said, 'Too bad to worry you like this, and then not tell you what it's all about, so you can help.'"

"It's a gamble anyway, and just talking about it hasn't been good for any of us. Harvey Junior paying two thousand dollars for a case—and his own letting him die, it Adelaide making all kinds of crazy plans as if her father were a millionaire once already."

"They'll settle down," Gary tried to be comforting. "I wouldn't worry too long."

Harvey Mason went off to Austin, looking strange and dressed up in a suit. He had a look about him that said he was good for any of us. Harvey Junior paying two thousand dollars for a case—and his own letting him die, it Adelaide making all kinds of crazy plans as if her father were a millionaire once already."

"If you're going to be an oil man you'd better look like one," stated Mona Lee firmly, "and not like some old cow waddy. I suppose you'd like to wear a couple of six-guns on your belt, and that you'd wear his boots or his cow man's hat."

"Wouldn't be such a bad idea. When I get turned loose among all those politicians, grimey lawyers, you keep Gary on the job, now, getting that equipment lined up."

"You wish I had a lot of good hard money to give you, but you're too polite to say."

"No, it wasn't. I was thinking about Adelaide's Junior, and she added, 'I was hoping we wouldn't ever be sorry about any of this.'"

"You haven't done your part unless you raise them to have sense enough to take care of money after you make it," said Mona Lee tersely.

"Well, that's partly your job, Mother. You could get busy on Adelaide, for a start. Buying three hats—when the cat's away but one at a time!"

"How many hats have you got, pray tell, your big one hanging on every hook in the house—and every last one of them costing thirty dollars or more."

"I'm out in the weather. I need 'em. Addie buys a whole herd of hats, and she's leaving 'em around bareheaded. That's another thing—the way she bats that car around."

"Oh, for goodness' sake, Harvey, go on to Austin! And I'll bet you drive seventeen miles an hour every inch of the way."

"You see—I told you—I don't get any experience, every time I try to make these kids do right, you get some kind of a comeback about me."

"That's because you're the biggest kid on this place." Mona Lee pushed him out of the room.

As dusk Gary and Adelaide returned from another trip over into the oil-land, and Mona Lee noted how sober Gary's face was. He handed her a sheet of papers. "Will you take them away carefully, Mrs. Mason, till Mr. Mason comes back."

Mona Lee looked at the figures. "My gracious, Gary, does an oil well cost as much as that? That's more than the money I made in a year!"

"Think how much hell it makes when we get oil," Mother, Adelaide said.

"He gets oil," Gary added. "Still, I guess they're not so marked Adelaide coldly. 'But I can't blame any oil man for having his own little secret strategy.'" way they have to live, Mother—even the ones that have fairly nice houses and most of them don't. They have little, dreadful places, stuck around under derricks. . . ."

"That's where we'll be stuck I suppose, right? Adelaide."

"Adelaide, Maria baked a cake. Why don't you telephone Marshall for some ice cream, and tell me if the young people ask them out?"

"Oh, Mother, what would they do after they got here? We couldn't dance—all our records are so old and worn."

"Well, go get some new ones."

"All right, darling. I'll go and get some records—and I might as well get some ice cream, too. I'd better telephone the bunch first."

"Bring Grace back with you," Mona Lee instructed her. "She's all alone and sort of upset—Oliver's gone to Corpus Christi."

"I should think she would be upset, living with that drip! Do you want to go alone?" she asked Gary.

"Thanks, no. I'd better clean up a minute." He went upstairs.

"He's all nervous, just because I asked him why he didn't get a job in a bank or some place."

Adelaide glared after his departing back, and then she said, "I'll be damned, that's a lot of money."

Dinner was a hurried meal on the breakfast table, with Adelaide stiff and abstracted and Mona Lee fidgeting but never giving a single direction to Maria.

Grace, who had come out with Adelaide, ate a lettuce sandwich and half a grapefruit and insisted on coffee without cream or sugar.

"When Mona Lee and Adelaide had gone to Grace, Grace sat sipping her coffee."

"So Father's going ahead with his wildcat project, and that's all right. 'I've tried to persuade him against it,' Gary said, 'but with all his money, he's no use. I suppose you've worried it, but he you are quite young—I'd feel better about it if he would get an experienced man.'"

Gary got up and lighted a cigarette. "I know you haven't much confidence in me, Mrs. Kimball, but I do know it."

"Oh, undoubtedly. But working on a rising crew—you know that, don't you?—isn't a lot of preparation for a big oil venture like this. So you gave up on me, didn't you?"

"I had to, or appear definitely ungrateful. It isn't a happy situation for me, but I have to do it. I suppose you would have for my self. However, I'm in it—we are all in it, because there's nothing to be had but carry on."

He bowed himself out as gracefully as he could, but he no use twiggling and anger tasted like copper on his tongue. He was thankful when he saw Lee's face, but he was not so sure about it.

Harvey Mason came back, very jubilant, with his drilling permit in his pocket.

"Had to fangle some of those guys," he admitted. "Railroad Commission thinks there are too many wells down south. I got around 'em."

Miss Lillian Hoffman Becomes Bride of Roy Shaffer in California

Mrs. Edith Hoffman announces the wedding of her daughter, Lillian Hoffman, to Roy Shaffer, 1st Class Seaman.

The ceremony took place on Nov. 8th at 6 p. m. in the First Lutheran church at Vallejo, Cal., with Rev. Victor An End, officiating. Mr. and Mrs. M. Rudick of Christwood were the attendants.

They were honored with a dinner given by Mrs. V. Hahit of Vallejo at the Casa de Hotel, which also included their friends.

The bride wore a brown check suit with gold accessories and carried a bouquet of gold-colored mums.

Mrs. Shaffer will remain in California until her husband returns to active duties, and then she will return to Plymouth and resume work in her beauty shop.

Both are graduates of Shiloh High school and are estimable young people. The bride has always been popular in her home town, sweet and industrious, and the best wishes of her friends are given them a life of success and happiness.

Well Known Young Couple Exchange Vows in Dayton, Nov. 11th

Miss Kathleen James became the bride of Ellsworth James Daup on Wednesday, Nov. 11, at 2 o'clock. The wedding took place at the parsonage of the First Presbyterian church in Dayton, and the single ring service was read by the pastor, Rev. James Thomas.

They were attended by the bride's sister Marjorie and the bridegroom's brother, Harold Daup.

The bride was dressed in dense blue with accessories to match and she wore a corsage of pink rose buds. Miss Marjorie James wore a pink dress and her corsage was Tailsman roses.

A reception was held on Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred James and thirty members of the immediate family were present.

Both these young people are graduates of the Shiloh school.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Daup and is at the Great Lakes Naval Training school. He left Sunday evening for that place.

The bride is an employee of the Shelby Sales Book company, and will continue with her work.

These young people are popular and happy and starting their lives together with the best of wishes from hosts of friends.

Boyce Hamman Nuptials Performed Monday Evening

Miss Mary Jane Boyce and Jesse Wayne Hamman were united in marriage Monday evening. The ceremony took place in the Christian church at Shenandoah. The pastor, Rev. Turner Holt, officiated, using the double ring service of the church.

They were attended by the bride's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Roethlisberger. A few relatives were present to witness the service.

The bride and her sister wore street length dresses, and the bride wore a corsage of white roses and pompons, and Mrs. Roethlisberger's corsage was of orchid colored pompons.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roethlisberger.

The bride is a graduate of Adario high school and is employed by the Gas Company in Shelby.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Shiloh high, and previous to his entrance into the army, was welding instructor in the Mansfield schools, and received a rating upon entering Great Lakes Naval Training School.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Boyce and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hamman.

Congratulations and best wishes are extended the young couple.

Called To The Army

Bird Season Opens Friday

Fall hunting opens in Ohio on Friday, Nov. 20 on Pheasants, Hungarian partridge, quail, grouse and raccoon. Trapping season on mink, muskrat, opossum, skunk and raccoon also begins on that date. Red fox season in southern Ohio also opens on that date—northern Ohio there is no closed season on foxes.

Ohio hunters will find one of the best game crops in years awaiting them according to recent observations made by field men of the Ohio Division of Conservation and Natural Resources. And they will find more than 165,000 acres of public hunting lands, controlled by the Conservation Division, open to them free.

More than 87,000 pheasants have been released by the Conservation Division this year, the largest release ever made in Ohio. Commissioner Don Waters urged sportsmen to take common sense safety precautions while hunting and also urged them to be real sportsmen, to ask permission of the farmer before hunting on his land and to so conduct themselves that they might be welcome guests on that land.

"Be careful. Be courteous this hunting season." That's the plea of the Ohio Division of Conservation, hoping that its slogan of "Hunt Safely—Return Safely" will mean a great reduction in hunting accidents and fatalities this year.

NOTICE TO HUNTERS

The American Legion of Plymouth is making arrangements for an Honor Roll to be erected prominently in the village. Of course, such an honor roll will require funds for its erection. The Legion will either have to dig down into its own treasury, or collect the necessary cash by other means.

With the opening of the hunting season tomorrow, Nov. 20, all brass eagles are asked to be sold brass eagles of their shells and take them to the Brown & Miller hardware store. After the season is over, the brass which is vital metal in these war times will be sold as salvage and the proceeds will be turned over to the local Legion Post to go towards the erection of Plymouth's honor roll.

Card of Thanks

My sincere thanks to each and every member of the Plymouth Order of Mechanics who so kindly remembered me recently with assistance. It was gratefully appreciated.

Local Store To Go On "Cash"

The many changes caused by the war, mainly the transportation and the possible rationing of additional food items, is forcing the Clover Farm Store to make a change in its policy.

Changed over a few months ago to a "self-serve" market, the store has enjoyed a good patronage, but says Mr. A. P. Cornell, proprietor: "We find that the retailer who pays cash to the wholesaler gets a little more preference in the shipping of merchandise and this is why it is necessary that we change over to a cash basis."

Mr. Cornell pointed out that his store is trying to give the best of service along with high quality merchandise at the very lowest prices. "To continue this policy," says Mr. Cornell, "we must have cash with which to operate. And so on December 1st our store will be on a strictly cash basis. I trust that my patrons will understand why this action is being taken, and I am sure they do."

The government has insisted a cash policy for wholesalers, and in this, their action reflects on the retailer.

LUCKY FRIDAY THE 13TH

On Friday morning, believe it or not, the 13th of November, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McQuown and son Kenneth had the thrilling experience of talking to their son Norman from Honolulu.

The call came through about 3:30 a. m. Both parties had been told what they would dare to say (as the call had to be made thru strict censorship). The main item that came from the conversation was that he (Norman) had just been promoted to Sergeant and wanted them to be the first to know. You can just bet that it made them mighty proud parents, too!

Their other son Nelson is an Aviation Cadet and has already completed 60 hours of flying and is being transferred on to San Angelo, Texas for more training in his course.

ON THE NEWS FRONT

Women From Towns Helping Rural Americans Fight 'Battle for Food'

"Send us reinforcements!" That's the call 1943 will bring to urban housewives from farm women who are holding the line on the food production front.

During the hard year ahead, one of every four homemakers must find her station on the farm, in the factory or office, according to the testimony of man power experts.

And already in thousands of the nation's villages and cities, farm women are quietly at work recruiting town women to help fight the Battle for Food.

For instance, Hastings, Minn., housewives who answered an appeal from a farm woman for apple pickers, not only helped to save a good crop, but are organizing a reserve labor corps this winter to meet next year's inevitable farm labor shortage.

Some of them are taking vocational agriculture classes. Others are being taught how to operate farm equipment by local machinery dealers. Still others are preparing to work in farm homes to release farm women for outdoor chores.

"Many farmers have been skeptical about the value of 'city women' on farm jobs. Some are still. But the ice is cracking. For instance, Fred W. Peaslee of Guildhall, Vt., the largest potato grower in his state. More than half his pickers this year were local housewives. They worked in his fields day after day to save Peaslee's 31,000-bushel crop. One woman picked up 180 bushels of spuds in a single day, 1,700 in three weeks. You try it, mister.

In Kokomo, Ind., tomatoes were ripening faster than canners could handle them. Housewives joined with men and children to help sort, pack and can tomatoes. And an important war crop was saved.

Down South, it's the same story. Out West, ditto. Throughout the country housewives have laid a pattern for doing a job that will be much bigger in 1943 than it was this year.

From community to community the pattern varies. And in some places much organization work remains to be done to meet next year's greater crisis. But local Offices of Civilian Defense, county department of agriculture war boards, YWCA's, U. S. employment service offices, Parent-Teacher associations, chambers of commerce and other civic organizations are facing up to the job.

It's a big job. To meet all our farm man power needs in 1943, we would have to recruit about 1 1/2 million more full-time farm workers than there are in sight, according to the department of agriculture. "American housewives' efforts to help fill the gap are blows at Hitler's heart."

RECEIVES PRIZE

Mrs. Wm. Rowe received a prize check of $3.00 for the week of Nov. 1-7, in connection with the Community Survey Advertising covering the contest, being conducted by the Mansfield News-Journal.

BURNED TO DEATH

George Preto, Jr., four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Preto of Bluffton, was burned to death Monday evening when fire completely destroyed an unoccupied outbuilding near the home.

While details were not available, it is presumed that George and his young playmate, Gene Lynn Bracey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bracey, were playing about the deserted building and in some manner set it afire. Both children were burned beyond recognition.

Funeral services for the Preto youngster were held Tuesday afternoon in Akron and burial was made in that city. He is survived by his parents and three sisters.

About ten years ago the Preto family resided on Portner street and Mr. Preto was an employee of the A. C. & Y. railroad. There are a great many here who will remember the family and regret to learn of the tragedy.

DEADLINE NEAR

The deadline for the payment of the special tax imposed on all amusement and music machines operated by the insertion of a coin, token or similar object, is November 30. The tax is at the rate of $10 per year on each device and is payable by the person maintaining the machine for use or permitting its use on the premises.

The tax became effective Nov. 1, 1942 and is required to be paid not later than November 30, 1942. For the period from Nov. 1, 1942, through June 30, 1943 the tax per device will be $6.67, which is at the rate of 83 1-2c per month.

Applications for special tax stamps should be obtained from Francis Beams, Collector of Internal Revenue, Toledo, Ohio, so that the return may be filed and the tax paid on or before the last day of the month of Nov. 1942, or on or before the last day of the month in which the device is first placed in use.

ALPHA CLASS HOLDS BIRTHDAY PARTY

Twenty-five members were present Tuesday evening when the Alpha Guild held their birthday party at the Lutheran church. Following the devotions and business meeting, roll call was responded to by members having birthdays from May to December, dropping their "pennies" in the "teapot."

As the group were being seated at the tables, those not having birthdays, sang, "Happy Birthday to You." Those having birthdays were seated at a "U" shaped table decorated with individual cakes on which was a lighted candle, a pop-corn cake centerpiece and bouquets of bronze tans. Each one wore a paper cap and the favors were "turkeys." The remainder of the group sat at the foot of the "U" table.

The president returned thanks and Mrs. Bruce Myers read a birthday poem. A beautiful popcorn cake was presented Miss May Page for guessing the nearest amount of "birthday money."

The hostesses, Mrs. Bartholomew, Mrs. Felchner and Mrs. Fortney served a delicious lunch. Miss Virginia Fenner gave a reading on "Thanksgiving." Mrs. B. Myers gave the story of "Abide With Me," and a prayer for our soldier boys.

The next meeting will be Dec. 1st with a Christmas exchange and party. Hostesses, Mrs. L. P. Derringer, Mrs. Louis Gebert and Mrs. Alberta Hoffman.

FRIENDSHIP CLASS MEETING

The members of the Friendship Class of the Methodist church were very pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Florence Brokaw Tuesday evening, Nov. 17. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Bessie Barber and Miss Mollie Keller. There were twenty-three members present.

Mrs. Markley was the leader for the devotional period, choosing as her subject, "Light." The beautiful candle-light service, in which all joined, was very effective, symbolizing the coming of light into a darkened world. Mrs. Haines led the music for the service. Mrs. Fleck, the president, connected the business meeting. After the routine business was disposed of it was decided to send copies of the devotional booklet, "The Upper Room," to all soldiers of our local church. Next Sunday being missionary Sunday, Mrs. Bernice Morrow was appointed to give a short talk at Sunday school. The calendars for the coming year were distributed.

Mrs. Downend and Mrs. Orpha Brown were the entertainment committee for the evening. Mrs. Downend presented a reading, "The Landing of the Pilgrims." Two contests were much enjoyed by the guests, Miss Cole and Mrs. Haines being the winners.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses at beautifully appointed tables.

The next meeting will be the Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Markley, with Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Ruckman and Mrs. McFadden, assisting.

NIECE MARRIED

Mrs. Bertha Mumea of Bell street has received word of the marriage of her niece, Miss Betty Mumea to Leonard Lovally, seaman third class, U. S. Coast Guard. The marriage was performed Thursday morning in the rectory of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Roseville a few hours after the bridegroom arrived from his Coast Guard base at Manhattan Beach, N. Y. They left Thursday afternoon for the East to make their home.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Mumea* of Roseville and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Lovally of Erin township.

SOLDIER HONORED

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Garrett entertained with a six o'clock dinner at their home Monday evening, honoring Pvt. Chester Garrett, who was home from Fort Belvoir, Va.

Twenty-seven guests were present including his mother, brothers sisters and friends, who all motored to Willard later in the evening to see him off.

D. OF U. V. INITIATE SIX NEW MEMBERS

The Daughters of Union Veterans held their regular meeting on Thursday, Nov. 12, in the Junior Order Hall in Shelby with Mansfield Tent as their guests for this occasion.

Besides the regular meeting a class of six were initiated into the Order after which a program consisting of musical numbers was presented by Mrs. Jessie Phillips, Mrs. Ida Kreider, Mrs. Doris Gooding and Mrs. Olive Weaver. Refreshments were then served to a large attendance.

The class initiated into the Order were Mrs. Ethel Rose, Mrs. Hildon Sheesman of Shelby, Mrs. Eleanor Carahan, Mrs. Marguerite St. Clair, Miss Helen Brothers and Mrs. Edith Stevens of Plymouth.

Other members attending from here were Mrs. Mabel McFadden, Mrs. Harriett Robinson, Mrs. Hazel Cramer, Mrs. Jessie Phillips, Mrs. Doris Gooding, Mrs. Eva Keller, Zanette Briggs, Anna Mae Steele and Florence Danner.

OBSERVES WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hough was celebrated at their home on Sunday, Nov. 8th.

A dinner was served at noon which was attended by relatives. In the evening open house was held for friends and neighbors. The affairs were nicely planned by Mrs. Hough's mother, Mrs. Lucretia Hatch, as a surprise to the honored couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Hough were the recipients of many lovely gifts and a silver offering. A very pleasant day and evening was spent by all in this hospitable home.

Relatives attending the dinner from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hough, Mrs. Frances Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Miller and Mrs. George Hough of Willard, Mrs. Ethel Hannel of Havana, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hannel and children of Norwalk.

ENTERTAINS PINOCCHIO CLUB

Mrs. Donald Fetters was hostess Thursday evening to members of her Pinocchio Club. Two tables enjoyed the game with Mrs. Clair Starkey being a guest for the evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Lois Taylor and Mrs. Lucille Briggs.

NONPAREIL CLASS MEETING

Boys in Uncle Sam's service belonging to the Methodist church were remembered with cards on Monday evening when the Nonpareil Class met for their regular meeting. Names were drawn from a large bowl with instructions to not only send a card, but to enclose a note with it.

The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Willard Ross and Mrs. Ralph Ream with the group gathering at the home of the former.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Jack Lowrey, who also presided over the business session.

The class voted to hold a planned pot-luck supper for their December meeting, made their year's pledge and various reports given. Concluding a program of contests, the hostesses served very nice refreshments.

Mrs. Carl Fox of Jackson, Miss., was a guest of the class.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED

Although Saturday, the 14th was the birthday anniversary of Mrs. S. Trauger, the family observed it at her home with a chicken dinner on Sunday. Children and grandchildren present for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trauger and son Ronald, Mrs. Lucille Trauger, son Billy, and daughter Sandra, and Mrs. Jack R. Weller of Cuyahoga Falls.

BIRTHDAY CLUB ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Josie Bachrach reserved a special table Friday evening at the Presbyterian church when the ladies from that church served a Swiss steak supper. The months of the year were carried out in table decorations and some very beautiful and unique centerpieces were used. Mrs. Bachrach whose natal day falls in November reserved that table, which was tastefully carried out in fall colors and a centerpiece of gourds, corn and other harvest grain used.

The supper was served at 6:15 and prior to that time the members of the Birthday club played bridge at the home of Mrs. Bachrach with prizes won by Mrs. Sam Bachrach, Mrs. P. H. Root and guest prize to Mrs. J. E. Nimmons. The club remembered Mrs. Bachrach with a gift.

DINNER GUESTS

Above map gives the general picture of developments in North Africa following the launching of the second front by American troops. Large arrows indicate the route taken by the U. S. invasion forces moving into the French possessions. Establishing bridgeheads at various points over a several hundred mile front these forces moved in toward Libya and the Axis army under the command of General Erwin Rommel. Two weeks before the British forces had started their successful drive westward out of Egypt. Possibility that these two armies should meet and annihilate Rommel's troops is one possibility of future developments in Africa.

Confession To Damage In Frank Cemetery Is Made To Sheriff

Recent developments have revealed that Melvin Biglin, Floyd Albright and Daniel Rabold, now awaiting appearance before the Crawford county grand jury to answer to an arson charge on damages perpetrated on the early morning of Oct. 30, are not guilty of the destruction of grave markers and tombstones in the Frank cemetery, two miles east of the Shelby Settlement, originally blamed to them Frank Robinson Richland county Sheriff disclosed last week.

Damage to the cemetery had been committed the evening previous to the burning of the straw stack in the same neighborhood and of the storage building in Crawford county, the sheriff reveals, by five youths who have confessed to the act. Charges have not been filed with authorities against these young men, who have promised to make right the damages.

State Highway Director Asks Hunters Not To 'Shoot Up' The Signs

Ohio's army of hunters today was urged by Hal G. Sours, director of Department of Highways, not to deface road signs by using them as shotgun targets.

Director Sours said there are many reasons why it would be unpractical to deface the signs—the highway department cannot obtain metal for replacements, the signs are warnings to motorists, the new Victory 35-mile signs are aiding the war effort, and, finally, it is against a state law to deface any road sign in any manner.

It is Director Sours' belief, he said, "that hunters thoughtlessly use the signs as targets and not because of any intent to be destructive." He asks that the hunters "help Governor Bricker's all-out for Victory effort by not defacing the signs."

WHERE DO I GO FORM HERE AND WHY?

"Where do I go from here and why?" asks little Miss Mystery. The children's court has answered by sending the little wail to a home where she'll have exposure care. Read of her unhappy plight and what is being done to make up her past neglect, as told by Irmis Johnson in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Sunday Chicago Herald-American.

Plymouth Cadet Goes To Basic Field

Coleman Flying School, Ltd., Coleman, Texas, Nov. 19, 1942—Having graduated from this primary flying school, Aviation Cadet Floyd N. McQuown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McQuown of Maple street, has completed the first and probably the most difficult part of his flight training preliminary to being awarded the coveted wings of the Army Air Corps.

Cadet McQuown now moves to a basic flying school where he will learn to handle faster and more powerful ships preparing him for the final phase of his training in an advanced flying school. Typical of the Army Air Forces' newest wartime training program, Coleman Flying School, Ltd. is turning out an ever increasing number of fighting air men.

CERTIFICATES NECESSARY FOR WAR NECESSITY

Operators of trucks, buses and taxis must have their certificates of war necessity before applying to the local War Price Rationing Board for their mileage rations, according to an announcement by the Huron county rationing board issued today.

"The certificates of war necessity, issued by the Office of Defense Transportation, form the basis for our issuance of transport rations for these commercial vehicles," the statement continues "When the applicants come to the Board they must bring with them these certificates, together with properly executed application for a mileage ration."

Each war necessity certificate states the number of miles the vehicle for which the certificate is issued will be allowed to travel during a three-month period. The certificate also states the number of gallons of gasoline needed to cover this mileage. The O. P. A. Rationing Board will determine the amount of Transport Rations to be issued for the vehicle on the basis of mileage allowed on the certificate. In no case is the Board permitted to allow more gasoline than is stipulated on the certificate. In the eastern gasoline-rationed area the transport (T) rations take the place of the service (S) rations. All outstanding "S" coupons will become invalid at 12:01 a. m. November 21. The "T" books will be tailored to the allowable mileage by tearing out coupons.

Gas IS VITAL TO WAR INDUSTRY —USE IT WISELY AT HOME Planes, tanks, ships, guns and thousands of other materials of war depend upon gas in their manufacture. This greatly increased demand for gas on the industrial front makes it important that this vital fuel be used wisely at home. Here are a few tips which will help you save gas. ON YOUR RANGE, don't 'hurry' your top burner cooling. Gas is fast and flexible. Keep the flame to fit the vessel and food to be cooked. Fast burners in proper adjustment. ON YOUR REFRIGERATOR, the position of the temperature control should depend on the refrigerator load. With an ordinary load, turn the pointer midway between coldest and least cold position. Defrost regularly, at least once a week. IN YOUR HOT WATER SYSTEM, check your hot water faucets to see that they do not leak. On manual controlled hot water heaters, it is wasteful to leave the burner turned up longer than necessary. THE OHIO FUEL Gas Company

DALE CARNEGIE Author of 'How to Win Friends and Influence People' HOW YOU CAN BE HAPPY H. G. Wells, the famous English author, was asked to give the four greatest needs of the human race, and here are those he selected: Happiness, Health, Love, Money. In this war-racked world happiness is what millions upon millions want. Nothing, except peace itself, is so desired. The question is:—How can we get a modicum of happiness when we pick up the papers and read about lives being blasted out? Well, we can, even in war times! Ralph Waldo Emerson, American philosopher, told us how 75 years ago. The principle he laid down is just as true now as when he first proclaimed it: "Happiness is a perfume you cannot pour on others without getting a few drops on yourself." Superb! It contains the very bedrock of happiness—forget yourself; do things for others. Dr. Henry C. Link, director of the Psychological Service Center, New York, had a woman come to him for help. She was miserably unhappy. She came to him twice she planned suicide. The moment arrived she lacked the courage to go through with it. Questioning her he found she had money, splendid health, and a successful husband of whom she was proud. Yet she was unhappy. Dr. Link studied her case, then almost made her think him crazy by telling her she was to go on the East Side of New York and teach a class of foreign-born English. "Teach foreign-born? That's ideal!" She refused. But when he asked her for a better suggestion, she could supply none. "Then try mine," he insisted. She went with mistrust and resentment, and could hardly force herself to go through the first session. The next day it was a little less difficult. Little by little she became interested in her work and in the people. She was doing something for others. She was ceasing to think about herself. One of the adults in the class wanted to visit his brother in Harrisburg. He hadn't seen him since they had come to America in the steerage. So she began to plan how this could be done. She raised the money, and went to the train with him herself. She became so interested in her work that she got a friend of hers to teach a class, too. One day she said, "When I look back I am amazed at how unhappy I was a year ago, and how happy I am today!"
