

COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED

An executive committee of Plymouth's Defense Council was organized last Friday night under direction of Mayor J. B. Derr, who stated that the purpose of the executive committee was to make the necessary purchases of defense equipment and to dispose of all routine business matters coming under the home defense program.

Those appointed on the executive committee are as follows: J. B. Derr, chairman; P. W. Thomas, vice chairman; James Rhine, clerk; L. Z. Davis, treasurer; Philip Moore, J. E. Nimmson, and Don Einsel, Jr., finance committee. Under the state law, all defense money received from the federal, state and county funds, will have to be handled through the executive committee. The Home Defense program has received $33 from the sale of scrap material through the Boy Scouts; $115 from Huron county, and Richland county is expected to send in approximately $225.

Quite a number of items will have to be purchased immediately for the fire and air wardens, and police departments of the defense organization. All orders placed by the home defense committee will have to be approved by the State Council at Columbus.

The purchase of an air alarm siren is being considered and it is very likely that the installation will be made within the next few weeks. Plymouth is considered as being in a very vital and strategic area and state officials are anxious that the community take very seriously every effort put forth by the defense council in preparing the community to handle any emergency which might arise.

The executive committee will meet every second and fourth Friday of the month.

Shelby Youth Fined After Car Collided With Wrecked Auto

Robert Moore, 18, Shelby, was fined $15 and costs in Sandusky municipal court Tuesday after he pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge, filed by state highway patrolmen of the Norwalk outpost.

Moore's car, the patrol said, collided with a wrecked car at Berlin Heights's Sunday night. The first auto, driven by Gordon Harville, Norwalk, was wrecked when a cow strayed from pasture and was struck by the vehicle.

Three youths riding with Moore were injured, one suffering from a fractured shoulder.

Moore's car tore down 40 feet of fence and struck a utility pole after striking the vehicle.

The wrecked car was towed in to Shelby by Lauble Motor Sales, and it was parked at Plymouth for a short time Tuesday afternoon.

About the best news we can bring to Plymouth and the community is that Plymouth will once more have its FREE outdoor movies.

This announcement was made Wednesday by Manager Edward Ramsey of the Plymouth Theater, who states that he has purchased enough land on the east and north sides of his theatre to accommodate the large crowds for the free show. Ramsey said he expects to have the big tract of land ready for the free show by next Wednesday night, if the weather permits, and no delays are experienced in the grading of the ground.

J. A. Richards of Willard has been awarded the contract of excavating and grading, and he will have his equipment on the job today or tomorrow.

Plymouth has been forced to go without its free shows on Wednesday nights due to an injunction which prohibited the partially obstructing streets leading into the Square.

The business men have supported Mr. Ramsey and his free shows, and they realize now more than ever that the large crowds attracted to Plymouth on Wednesday nights are very valuable to their trade.

It is very gratifying to know that Mr. Ramsey has the confidence and determination to make the free shows again possible, and the entire community wishes him success in his efforts to make Plymouth a live wire trading center.

SECURING CARDS IS BIG PROBLEM

What do you know about the sugar rationing program? All we know is that several housewives are up in the air after going to Shelby and Willard, spending a half day, and then failed to get sugar; having to return the next day. And in Willard, and other communities, there has been disapproval in having to stand for hours in order to secure a sugar card.

The State Defense Council is unable to help in the situation, due to the fact that the state is not rationing any foodstuffs and that the only solution to this source would be illegal.

The federal government has failed to make any provision of the sugar rationing program, other than to give help of those who have the time.

Under a concerted drive to save rubber and gasoline, we are forced to use cars to travel extra miles to get sugar, and to carry the cans and conserve fruits and vegetables, and which we are told are so vital in our effort to win the war by keeping the food baskets filled.

The subject of securing ration cards for canning sugar has been thoroughly discussed before the executive committee of the defense council and the village council. It was the opinion of these two groups that it would be an imposition to ask some one locally to handle the registration without compensation. No money is available from any legal source, and the only solution to properly handle it is through a fee system.

Would you, as a citizen, be willing to contribute, say 25c, to avoid making a trip to Shelby or Willard, to secure your canning sugar? If so, fill in the ballot on the front page and send it to the Advertiser office. We are interested only to the extent of trying to work out a plan to help the citizens in the community; save your tires, gasoline, and your time. If there is enough interest shown in this plan, then the Mayor will appoint some one to handle all the necessary details in Plymouth, and the one appointed will receive the fee as his or her pay.

There isn't sufficient reaction to the idea of charging a small fee for handling the sugar cards, then it will be strictly up to each individual to look out for himself. Mark your ballot and vote early if you favor this plan.

HONOR ROLL AT LOCAL PLANT

Here's a picture of the Honor Roll recently erected at the plant of the Fate-Root-Heath Co. The honor roll bears the names of all men who were employed by the firm, and who have entered the services of the country. The names on the honor roll are as follows: Edward Babcock, Ross Brooks, Neal Busard, Joe Catty, Bud Clark, Jimmy Clise, Richard Coe, Al Dossin, Bill Fellows, Bob Fidler, Harry Foster, Bob Hunter, Nelson McQuown, Norman McQuown, Clinton Moore, Howard Moulton, Eugene Phillips, Harold Pralipp, Bob Rhine, Paul Root, Roy Shaffer, Ben Smith, Carl Sponseller, Bud Van Wagner, and John Vanderhill.

George Porter and Elmer Parcel will be added to the list, as well as all other men who enter the service from time to time. Patsy Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Moore of West; High street, is calling attention to the list of names on the honor roll.

COUNCIL HAS A BUSY SESSION

At the mid-month meeting of the village council several matters were given attention, and the session proved a busy one for the mayor and members. With Mayor Derr presiding and all councilmen present, the parking problem and the marking of parking space on the Square was given consideration.

A second reading of a resolution calling for a rebate of $150 on a sewer assessment against the Plymouth village school board, was recorded. The assessment is against the property recently acquired by the school board, and which adjoins the high school site.

With the exception of one dissenting vote the entire council gave the authority necessary to Mayor Derr to sign the bond which is necessary before the injunction case between Ray Dinger and the Village of Plymouth can be filed in the Court of Appeals. The injunction was made permanent in a recent decision of the common pleas court in Norwalk, and is very broad in its scope.

Council also passed an ordinance which increases the salary of the cemetery sexton from $1,000 per year to $1200 per year. Laurence Ruff was appointed sexton at a recent meeting of the cemetery board, and he has already assumed his new duties. George BeVier, who has been in charge of the burial grounds for a long number of years, will assist Mr. Ruff this summer, and the two will attempt to classify all the records of the cemetery in regards to burial plots, etc.

EXTENDS U.S.O. DRIVE TO JULY 1

PLYMOUTH CANVASSERS TO HAVE MORE TIME TO COMPLETE TASK.

Richland County's United Service Organization has extended its war fund campaign for $22,000 until July 1, unless the goal is reached before that time.

Originally scheduled to end on Monday, the campaign will be continued to give workers time to complete their canvass. George H. Smith, U. S. O. president, said:

The amount raised so far represents only a partial report, according to Mrs. John H. Pierce, solicitation chairman, as at least one third of the 600 workers scattered throughout the county have still to report.

Mrs. Stacy C. Brown, local chairman, states a total of $115,000 turned in so far, exclusive of the Fate-Root-Heath company, and a number of solicitors who have been unable as yet to complete their assignment.

Workers in the village include Frank Weck, Square; Mrs. Louis Gebert, Mrs. Mabel McFadden, Mrs. H. H. Fackler, Mrs. Dave Serafield, and Mrs. Charles Look-abard.

COLE RITES ARE HELD MONDAY

WELL KNOWN WOMAN DIES AT AGE OF 86; BURIAL IN GREENLAWN.

Friends, neighbors and relatives gathered Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Methodist church to pay final tribute to Mrs. Isabella Cole, well-known and beloved woman, who passed away last Friday.

Rev. H. T. Wintermute, pastor, officiated and burial was made in Greenlawn cemetery with arrangements in charge of the Miller-McQuate funeral home.

Isabella Gray Cole was born in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, Nov. 4, 1855. The call of opportunity in America challenged her young life and she came to this country in 1866 at the age of 13. She had those girlhood qualities which endeared her to the new friends she found here. She was one who sought the better things of life and who always clung to these higher ideals.

She was united in marriage on Feb. 13, 1877 to Henry Cole, who with two sons, Charles and Edward, preceded her in death. She leaves two daughters, Miss Jessie Cole of Plymouth, Miss Margaret Cole of Pittsburgh, Pa., and two sons, Dr. Arch E. Cole of Louisville, Ky., and Clarence V. Cole of Akron, Ohio; also nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren, who will remember her as a beautiful Christian character, and a devoted and loving mother.

When quite young she dedicated her life to the service of God and united with the church. She remained faithful and loyal to this sacred pledge and was a regular worker and worshipper in the church as long as health permitted. She was also interested in all the activities of the home, the community and the nation. Age did not dim her interest in the affairs of life and her keen mind and genial spirit were inspiring to all who knew her.

On the morning of June 12, 1942, the door to the abundant life beyond the confines of earth opened, and her spirit slipped away to its eternal home. Family and friends, neighbors and acquaintances all are blessed by her memory and she can truly say that we believe she has heard her Master say, "Well done, good and faithful servant; enter thou into the joy of the Lord."

And Death itself, to her was but the wider opening to the door That had been opening, more and more.

Through all her life, and ne'er was shut— And never shall be shut. She left The door ajar for you and me; And looking after her, we see The glory shining through the rift.

RUBBER DRIVE IS UNDER WAY

The drive for scrap rubber got off to a good start Monday when local citizens began turning in all kinds of rubber articles to local gas stations. Operators of service stations state that much interest is being shown in digging up old rubber, and it is predicted that several hundred pounds will be salvaged here within the next few days.

Many Plymouth car owners are removing the rubber mat from the rear of their cars, and articles being turned in. There are also many rubber household articles being turned in.

Don Einsel is chairman of the salvage committee, and you cannot find it convenient to bring in your old rubber, notify him and he will make arrangements to call for it.

Education Lacking

More than four hundred thousand Americans have been rejected by the Army because of illiteracy and Dr. John W. Studebaker of the U. S. Office of Education, estimates that 250,000 of these men were physically fit.

Thus, it appears that illiteracy has cost the nation some fifteen divisions and that the burden of defending the country as well as doing much heavier on the shoulders of the literate.

We are also a bit surprised at figures from the 1940 census which reveal that out of a population of 74,775,836 persons of 25 years or older, 10,104,612 persons had completed only four years of public schooling. Startling indeed is the revelation that 2,780,833 had not gone to school at all.

Of the persons who had not passed the fourth grade 4,200,000 are native-born whites, 1,700,000 are Negroes. The State of New York led with 1,020,197 persons who had not completed four years in school.

MEN OVER MILITARY AGE TO GET OCCUPATIONAL QUESTIONNAIRE

With the mailing this month of occupational questionnaires to the thousands of residents in the State who are over military age, Local Boards in Ohio will speed to completion the State's inventory of manpower or war production, Col. C. W. Goble, State Director of Selective Service, announced today.

"These occupational questionnaires which will guide the War Manpower Commission, in cooperation with the Selective Service System, for the mobilization of workers for war industries, already have been sent to the men who registered on Feb. 16, 1942, in the third registration. Local Boards are winding up a similar inventory of registrants of the first and second registrations who have not been inducted into the armed forces. Beginning this month, the Director said, the men between 45 and 65 years of age, who registered on April 27, 1942, will be receiving their occupational questionnaires.

The nation will have pressing need, by late autumn, for around 10,500,000 additional war workers, Director Goble said. It is from the men beyond military age, he pointed out, that the War Manpower Commission expects to obtain most of the male recruits for this work. However, he asserted, many war workers also will be obtained from classes deferred for physical defects as many men who are unfit for military service are well qualified for civilian activities.

Pittenger, who was active in Grange work and is serving as state treasurer of the Ohio organization of United Commercial Travelers, refers to himself as a "dirt farmer."

WOMEN TRAINED FOR WAR WORK
Richard and Huron county farm women who want to get in on the work of winning the war with a short period of intensive training now have several special courses of study available at Ohio State University.

Latest of these new curricula arranged especially for women are the nine months' courses in accounting and business administration. They are open to women in college to those who have graduated earlier, and to mature individuals not now in school, who have had at least a year of college training and contributory business experience.

These curricula are made up of regular university courses and the usual fees apply.

The accounting and business administration course now announced by the commerce college follows the earlier announcement by the arts college of a similar nine months' plan for training of women in engineering aspects of industry.

According to Ohio State faculty members, the university has set up the special courses in response to thousands of calls for women from war industry. Women are needed to replace men who have been drafted and also to release other men for positions of greater responsibility in expanding war production.

"This war," according to President Howard L. Bevis of Ohio State, "has shown once more the ability of women to make a great contribution to victory. With short periods of training such as Ohio State is now offering women are now filling positions of which they were not thought capable a few months ago."

By Dann O. Taber
A slash of $21,000,000 a year would be taken from state, county, township and municipal treasuries if gas rationing comes to Ohio on the Eastern plan.

Until all the shifts are known and post war problems are defined maybe a surplus in the state treasury such as Ohio has will be a handy gadget to have around.

Conservation of civilian transportation so our domestic economy and haulage war workers will not be interrupted for the duration is a headline subject. It's just as patriotic to fall in line and save those tires by hauling your neighbor as it is to perform your wartime duties. It's one job we old men can carry out without bothering our lumbar.

But safety rules should be observed in swapping rides is a caution issued this week by Hal G. Sours, director of highways. The warning includes, "no overloading," "keep vision clear," and "no other junctions. In other words do your part but be doubly careful in driving."

Defense operations—victory effort has taken possession of all state departments in Ohio and state employees are pitching in with everything they have to keep abreast of an overload of work. Nowhere is the drive more intensified than in the Ohio Department of Highways. Upon call of Gov. John W. Bricker the entire personnel is being trained for wartime functions without interrupting regular duties.

Equipment has been readied for ambulance service, demolition, road clearance, evacuation and a wide variety of other purposes.

A valient service is being rendered—war time effort by the state highway patrol, enforcement branch of the state highway department.

Always undermanned even the addition of 100 patrolmen during the last year has not entirely solved the problem for the men who patrol our 18,000 miles of state highways.

Practically every branch of federal government, it seems, is calling upon them for services in addition to the guarding of plants, training of pilot officers, development of an American Legion auxiliary policing group and a lot more other activities.

The patrol knots where to get what to do in every emergency in the state whether its to protect essential pipe lines or whatever the task may be.

One bit of benefit from the war is that traffic accidents and deaths are declining with the fall of traffic. Referring to the decreases as a "bit" is rather inhuman as each life saved means a great deal to some family.

We are greatly pleased at the vast number of motorists voluntarily complying with Governor Bricker's request to drive 40 miles an hour. State laws do not permit a legal enforcement so it's up to motorists to comply without enforcement.

There's always some who think their own puny problems are so important they do not want to get in line and of course there are others who don't understand but the great majority of motorists see their duty and do it.

Voluntary enlistments in the armed forces from the highway department have reached a total of 470. This includes engineers badly needed for front line and construction duty and men and women in every walk of life. While the large total causes serious inconvenience in adjustments of highway effort it is a grand example of the American spirit again staking the world contents and an example of how bountifully we are responding to whip the Hun-Japs.

The bureau of traffic and safety of the highway department is already ready to issue a manual for bicycle riders. Under the leadership of Harry E. Neal, chief engineer of the group, this bureau is always on the alert.

Noting the rapid increases in the number of bicycle riders this new publication encourages and gives the rider the proper use of the bicycle. Copies are free, just address a post card to the Bureau of Traffic and Safety, State Office Building, Columbus, Ohio, and your request will be filled promptly. Every youngster of school age should be required to obey the safety regulations.

Few motorists, if any, have been found to have real reasons why they should exceed the voluntary 40-mile an hour speed limit. A recent road test was made by the state highway department during which motorists were stopped and questioned, found no real reasons for going faster than 40 mph.

You don't save much time by speeding the test also proved. All it means is an earlier start and some planning and you will be surprised how much more of the beautiful scenery you will see and enjoy. Even if you travel on the same route day in and day out you can still learn new things. Try it and see.

Ohio's development and Publicity Commission is urging vacations in Ohio this year. Why give Canada, Michigan, the East, all of our touring money? We have so much to offer the few of our long residents know very little about it. This is a grand opportunity to take time out and become acquainted with the greatest state in the union. Let's make the Buckeye State for Buckeyes a reality.

Now that filling time for candidates is passed it looks as if the fall elections will see few new faces. With the attention of the voters focused on international affairs and the ending of war effort they are not going to be too eager with much political horseplay this year.

Milk Helps Meet Sugar Shortage

Columbus—If you're wanting more sugar, try a glass of milk! That's the suggestion of Ohio State University's department of dairy technology as one solution of the sugar rationing problem.

Every quart of milk you drink gives you one-tenth pound of sugar.

The sugar in milk lactose, isn't as sweet as the usual sucrose variety found in cane and beet, but it produces just as much energy. Long proclaimed for its food quality, milk may now be called on to fill the gap created by the rationing not only of sugar, but also tea and coffee, say the Ohio State faculty members.

RULINGS HANDED DOWN BY OHIO ATTORNEY GENERAL HERBERT

The violation for failure to stop before entering a main highway occurs on a side road and not on a main road, Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert ruled this week in an opinion to Nicholas F. Nolan, Montgomery county prosecutor.

Township constables prohibited from making traffic arrests for violations on the state highways, may arrest drivers who fail to stop upon entering a main state highway, unless the side road is also a state route, Mr. Herbert said.

Township trustees may not increase or diminish the salary of the township clerk during his term of office, Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert said this week in an opinion to the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices.

Efforts to change the salary of the clerk would violate Article 2, Section 20, State Constitution, prohibiting changing the compensation of public officers. The constitution provision would not, however, prevent trustees from setting the salary of the clerk where no salary had been previously provided for the office.

Persons who own land on both sides of the road are not required to have a truck license to operate the truck back and forth across the road, Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert said this week in an opinion to Clyde W. Wallace, Registrar, Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

The motor vehicle license tax is assessed for the privilege of operating the vehicle upon the highway. Authority for the tax is that the state has power to exact reasonable compensation for special facilities afforded for special privileges granted.

In this case a coal company, which used trucks to haul coal over a private road on one side of the highway to a dumping chute on the other side of the state route was not operating a motor vehicle on the highway but merely crossing the highway at right angles, Mr. Herbert said. Further, the license law is a taxing statute and must be strictly construed in favor of the taxpayer and against the state, the opinion added.

Despite many new burdens imposed upon it by America's entry into the war, the attorney general's office has been able to fully execute its regular functions. Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert announced in filing petitions for reinstatement to the office which he has held for the past three and one-half years.

"No one is more aware than myself of the fact that this is a war year, having been privileged to be in the combat forces of the United States in the last war, it is my hope to be permitted to continue serving my state and nation during this war to the best of my present abilities.

Since early in 1940 we have been collaborating with representatives of many other states, together with federal officials, in the development of enabling legislation in order to facilitate the program of cooperation between federal and state governments," Mr. Herbert said.

In its normal function, the office rendered more than 1,500 formal opinions, collected over $1,700,000 in claims for the state and reduced the amount of pending litigation. "Everyone is being called upon now to do much more than ever before, and the response is most assuring," Mr. Herbert said.

COMPLETE SOIL SURVEY OF ALL LAND IN HURON

The soil survey of Huron county will be completed during 1942. The field party, consisting of Robert Wildermuth of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Grant A. Mickelson of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, will be working in the central and southwestern part of the county, in Peru, Norwich, Greenfield, Richmond and New Haven. These men are examining the soil on each farm, and are preparing a soil map of the county showing the exact location of each kind of soil. Aerial photographs are being used as base maps on which to indicate the location of the various soil types. The slope of the land, also the present extent of soil erosion is being shown on the map.

When completed, the soil map will give a rather exact picture of the soil and land use conditions in the county. This information will prove of great assistance in connection with the program of land use planning for soil conservation.

Copies of the soil survey maps and reports for a number of Ohio counties are available free of charge through the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster, Ohio.

Center Left—Next to appear would be this crash truck sent from the nearest county garage. It is equipped with fire extinguisher, picks and shovels and other equipment to fight fires, give first aid, rope off emergency areas, etc.

Center Right—When evacuation becomes necessary the highway department is ready to carry evacuees in trucks like these which are easily converted.

SAYS ADVERTISING IS NEEDED IN NATION'S "VICTORY DRIVE"

COLUMBUS — Advertising by both business firms and government is necessary to the winning of the war, in the opinion of Dr. Kenneth Dameron, professor of advertising at Ohio State University.

In time of peace, he says, advertising has been helpful both to the businessman and the consumer and has served a real "educative service." He asserts that it serves the same purpose in war.

According to Dr. Dameron, one of the "gigantic problems" in this time of price regulation, and other restrictive measures is "educating the consumer as to how she can best function in an economy marked by price restrictions and rationing."

Such education, the Ohio State man says, must reach "the masses." He adds that this is a job for advertising and the advertising man.

"Government itself may advertise the program, but it is more important that the advertising of individual concerns be geared to this consumer education movement.

"There isn't a segment of the program of educating the consumer to function effectively under conditions of price regulations and rationing which could not be utilized in advertising copy. It is one thing to give information; it is quite another to make information persuasive and effective. Advertising excels in this," Dr. Dameron says.

"We have long since learned that as a nation in war we cannot rely on government edicts and war time orders to insure the acceptance and understanding of the many necessary regulations.

"Advertising must explain the problem of rationing goods to the public and thus insure a voluntary cooperation of the customer in making the rationing program a success. The advertiser must assume part of the job of overcoming ignorance and unpredictable prejudices which might arise from adverse consumer mass opinion."

Library To Sponsor Reading Circle

A Robin Hood Reading Circle for children, especially in the 7th and 8th grades, is being sponsored by the Plymouth Public Library. The course consists of reading seven books, of their own choice, for seven weeks and at the conclusion will be awarded a certificate from the Library. Those who have fully complied with the rules will enjoy a picnic at the Mary Fata Park.

The Reading Circle begins next week, and already a number of children have signed up. Miss Jessie Trauger will gladly assist any child in choosing a book, and also explain any details not understood by them.

Vacation time is an especially good time for the child to take an interest in the library. Books are plentiful, children in these particular grades are not employed except home chores and gives them an opportunity to become acquainted for their future reference work in high school. See that your child signs up for this course.
