BREAK GROUND TODAY FOR NEW ADDITION AT HIGH SCHOOL; TO BE FINISHED IN TIME FOR FALL TERM

Plymouth school patrons should keep their fingers crossed for unless something unforeseen happens congested school rooms at Plymouth will be a thing of the past.

At 9:30 this morning, Supt. E. L. Bailey expects to break the ground for an addition at the high school building. The plans for the addition were drawn up and included in Plymouth's school building program, along with the construction of the new grade school last year, but due to war conditions they were banned.

Approval has been given by all government agencies after much effort on the part of the Board of Education, The Fate-Roof-Heath Company and Mr. Jack Houghton, who spent much time in Washington, to prove that Plymouth had a justified claim in getting some relief from an over-

CANNING SUGAR NOW AVAILABLE

The rationing of sugar for fall canning is under way in Huron county.

Certain registered grocers in Huron county has a supply of application blanks and the housewife is urged to obtain a blank from her own grocer, which she may take home and carefully answer all the questions on the blank.

The application should be mailed to the Huron County War Price and Rationing Board, 113 Whittlesley Ave., Newark, Ohio.

A certificate for the necessary canning will be mailed to the housewife.

The housewife should be sure to sign the application along the face (application and certification).

It will simplify matters if the housewife lists the same people as part of her household as she listed when making original application for canning sugar.

All applications received between July 25 and August 10 will be given prompt consideration. The canning sugar program will be closed with the close of business on August 10th.

crowded school. Two of the main factors were cited by the Board of Education in its effort to secure permission were that the Fate-Roof-Heath Company is on a war time production schedule, and that most of the materials required were on hand.

Supt. E. L. Bailey stated in an interview that he expected the new addition to be completed by Sept. 15, and that it would require every kind of cooperation locally to get it finished on time. No announcement was made as to the opening of the school term here, but it may be that the opening will be delayed a few weeks in order to finish the building, make schedules, and arrange for classes.

President of the Board of Education, Roy Johnson, was highly elated over the fact that Plymouth had been enabled to get permission from Washington to start construction of the workshop room, and he and board members are well pleased over the results of the work of all those who assisted in getting the improvement program approved.

Mr. Johnson, speaking in behalf of the board, stated that since the new school building program was started, they have done everything possible to see it through even before the war, it was a task to get the necessary approval from the governing agencies, and since Pearl Harbor, the Board had given up the idea of a new building, but has worked untiringly to figure something out to relieve the congested situation in the schools here.

The new annex will be constructed by local labor and will pass the approval of the state health department to satisfy standards and other conditions. The structure will cost approximately $5,000.

REPORTED KILLED; RETURNS FOR VISIT WITH HIS PARENTS

Corp. Waldemar Hanson, 22, who resided in Plymouth on West Broadway several years ago before the family left for Roseville, Ohio, gave his parents quite a turn Thursday when he walked in the home as alive and robust as an army corporal could be.

Most surprised was the youth's father, who attended his son's funeral March 19th at Vincennes, Indiana.

Young Hanson was reported murdered in March and the army said his body was battered so badly that identification was almost impossible. A special investigation was sent to Vincennes from Washington to investigate the death.

The youth was unable to account for reports on his death. He was on furlough at the time of the murder and was delayed in reporting back to camp. He was a visitor in Plymouth about this time visiting with his parents several days and was guest in the A. F. Cornell home.

Miss Thelma Hough has accepted a position in the office of Carl Shaffer & Co., wholesale dealers in Mansfield.

The tragedy occurred at 9:45 a. m. It was witnessed by Mrs. R. L. Corvick, who was waiting for the train to pass. She said the retired grocer apparently failed to see the flashing lights, or hear the train's whistle.

A group of young folks from this vicinity had motored to the Lakes on Sunday evening and were returning home about 1:30 Monday morning when a tire blew out, causing Dan Kirkpatrick, driver of the car, to lose control. He left the road near the Burdge home on the New Haven Road and strike a large tree. The car, belonging to Norris Kirkpatrick, father of Donna Hoffman, was completely demolished.

Other members of the quintet were Jeannette Eichelbarger of the County Line Road, who had minor injuries and several teeth knocked out, and Emma Hoffman of Shiloh, sister of the injured girl. All were badly shaken up and received minor injuries, and how they escaped death is not clear.

Mrs. Edith Hoffman of Shiloh was summoned by phone and took the group to the Willard hospital for observation and treatment. John Hoffman suffered severe facial cuts as a large gash in her neck as well as a deep cut on the leg. Junior Marvin lost a great deal of blood and possibly internal injuries. ## REGULATION "W" GETS AMENDED

In recognition of the urgent necessity for the conservation of fuel because of the current difficulties in transportation, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System has adopted, effective July 27, 1942, Amendment No. 6 to Regulation "W" relating to consumer credit. Amendment No. 7, also effective July 27, provides relief from the restrictions of the regulation in case of flood disaster.

Amendment No. 6 removes the restrictions of the regulation from the extension of credit to finance the conversion of heating equipment from one type of fuel to another, such as the adaptation of furnaces now burning oil to the use of coal in those parts of the country where the supply of oil next winter will not be adequate for existing equipment.

The amendment also removes restrictions on credit to finance the installation of storm doors, storm windows, weather stripping, and insulation which effect an overall saving in fuel consumption.

The adoption of the amendment by the Board is intended to facilitate early action on the part of home-owners so that as much as possible of the necessary work may be completed before the heavy season for such work arrives and before growing wartime pressure on transportation and other facilities become more acute.

Amendment No. 7 removes the restrictions of the regulation from credit to finance repairs and replacements of real or personal property damaged or lost as a result of floods or other disasters.

Luckily she was not injured in the fall, but the beans weren't served at the picnic.

Washday

by Lynn Chambers

Save Washing Time: So many new demands are being made on your time these days, it is wise to make the best possible use of each minute. One way is in how you use your washing machine. For instance, long washing is not necessarily good washing, and it wastes time. Soap undergoes a chemical change after it has been used a little while, and "break down" and the soil is actually deposited again on the fabric. Then it is practically impossible to get the articles clean. Only individual experimentation can show how short to keep the washing of each load, and yet be thorough. Tests have revealed one woman taking only a half the time of another to wash a practically identical washing, yet doing it better. Twenty-minute soaking hastens washing by loosening soil. Then remove water by wringing the articles into the first washer full of sudsy water of the right temperature.

Garden—Fresh Vegetables Bring Health to Your Table

Summer Salads

Salads with summertime meals form a perfect alliance bringing your family precious pep-giving minerals and vitamins. Vitamins A, B, and C are well represented in crisp celery, golden skinned carrots, rye checked tomatoes, green glowing cucumbers and lettuce. Dress them up with a light liquid salad oil blended with seasonings to bring out the hidden flavoring of the vegetables, and you have a perfect warm weather meal.

"Tossed Garden Salad"

Wash and drain dry your favorite crisp greens—such as lettuce, romaine, watercress and/or a combination of two or more may be used. Cut or break into pieces and combine with portions of diced celery, cucumber, green pepper, radishes and minced onion. Chill thoroughly. Then place in a salad bowl; add Basic French Dressing and bits of tomato. Toss lightly until well blended. This type of salad may also be served with just an oil and vinegar combination as a dressing.

Basic French Dressing.

(Makes 1/2 cup)
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon sugar
 1/2 teaspoon paprika
 Dash white pepper
 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 1/2 cup mild salad oil
 1/4 cup elder vinegar

Combine first five ingredients in a jar and blend well. Add vinegar, cover and shake; add oil and shake again thoroughly. Just before using, shake again. Or simply mix ingredients together in a bowl and beat with mixer until well blended.

Leftover meats and vegetables served daintily in lettuce cups make tempting main dishes for lunch or supper. Have a hot soup, potato chips, a bread and butter sandwich and fresh fruit to serve with salad. The next three salads are perfect as a main course.

Veal Salad, Summer Style.

(Serves 6)
 2 cups cold veal, sliced
 1 cup sliced beans or celery or both
 6 hard-cooked eggs
 Salt and pepper
 4 tablespoons salad oil
 1 1/2 tablespoons vinegar
 3 tomatoes
 Mayonnaise
 Worcestershire and parsley

Chop eggs coarsely, combine with veal, oil, vinegar, salt and pepper. Let stand 30 minutes. Add mayonnaise to moisten. Arrange salad in a mound and garnish.

Jellied Green Pea Salad.

(Serves 6)
 1 tablespoon gelatin
 1/2 cup cold water
 1/2 cup pea liquor

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LINDQUIST, D.D., of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago (Published by Western Newspaper Union)

Lesson for August 2

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts set and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

ABRAHAM: A PIONEER IN FAITH
LESSON TEXT—Genesis 11:1-9; Hebrews 11:8-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Fear not, Abram: I am thy shield, and thy exceeding great reward.—Genesis 15:1.

Without faith it is impossible to please God (Heb. 11:6). The opposite is also true, namely, that faith always pleases God. As we read the Bible and consider Christian experience, it is evident that God is constantly longing to show Himself strong in behalf of them who believe Him (11 Chron. 16:9). Abraham was not the first man to walk by faith. Before him came such men as Abel, with his acceptable sacrifice; Enoch, with his walk pleasing to God; Noah, who believed and obeyed; and others.

But Abraham was nonetheless a pioneer of faith. He had many other noble characteristics, and was a man of such distinction that his memory is venerated by Jews and Mohammedans as well as Christians. Yet his real claim to an outstanding place in history is that by faith he responded to God's sovereign act in choosing him to begin a new nation, to be His chosen people.

We note two important points about faith:

I. Faith Makes Demands.
 In the very nature of things, faith calls for action consistent with belief. "Faith without works is dead" (James 2:20), that is, not a real faith at all. In Abraham's life (and in our life) faith calls for:

1. Separation (Gen. 12:1). "Get thee out" was God's command to Abraham. To accomplish His divine purpose God had to bring him out of the heathendom of his father, and start anew. It is His command to His followers today.
2. Obedience (Gen. 12:4; Heb. 11:8, 9).
3. "Abram departed, as the Lord had spoken" (v. 4). He didn't know where he was going, but he did know who had called him, and he went, as the Lord knew God, and obeys Him without hesitation and without reservation.
4. Obedience is a virtue that needs to be revived, in the home, in school, in society, and especially in our relation to God, for there surely should be no disobedient children for the family of God. He merits and expects obedience.
5. Trust (Gen. 12:7-9; Heb. 11:10).

An assured reliance on the Word of God is a part of faith. God made a promise to Abraham. He accepted it, and wondrously, there was no questioning, no bargaining, but simple trust in God's word. In fact, there was anticipation of even greater things to come (Gen. 11:10).

We need men of vision and that means we need men who by faith can see the unseen, who can see the city which has foundations as yet in the midst of destruction and disorder. "In God We Trust" must be more than a motto on our coins if America is to survive.

II. Faith Brings Results.
 The world wants to know if a thing works before accepting and approving it. Well, faith really does work. It brings:

1. Blessing (Gen. 12:2, 3). God is always on the giving hand. "I will bless" was His word to Abraham, not only for Abraham himself and for the great nation of which he was to be the father, but to "all the families of the earth" (v. 3).
2. How gloriously that promise was fulfilled in the coming of Christ our Redeemer, who also was a "son of Abraham" (Matt. 1:1).
3. Protection (Gen. 12:3). "I will curse him that curseth thee." That promise to Abraham is still binding and valid. God is not through with Israel. The nations and persons who have vented their hatred upon the children of Abraham need to take notice.

We need to be reminded that God's protecting care is just as sure over us who bear His name. We too are "safe in Jehovah's keeping," even when it is perhaps the darkest hour in the history of the world. Faith in God brings to us the protection of His almighty hand.

4. Fulfillment of Promise (Heb. 11:11, 12).
5. The entire promise to Abraham hinged on the birth of a son, something which was, humbly speaking, beyond all possibility. But because Sara, joining Abraham in believing God, "judged him faithful who had promised," it came to pass.
6. "With God all things are possible" (Matt. 19:26). He delights in doing the impossible in response to the faith of His children. Apart from that fact we might be tempted to be despondent, but "with God" we say again, "All things are possible."

VACATIONS NEEDED

A new item some weeks ago spoke of a convention of tourist agencies. There was a general feeling that there was no use trying to push the tourist trade during the war as the minds of the people would not be on holidays, travel, or vacations.

One member, however, pointed out that there was never a time when a vacation was needed more by all.

Dr. Barton works that at this time. The British call the "vacation" throughs, which is the name given to the holiday granted soldiers. As a matter of fact, a great many are now working directly or indirectly on war work and need the vacation or holiday which has been shown to help health and morale and increase output of work in the long run.

As to just what vacation one should take, the individual knows best because, after all, to get away from the routine of work at, or away from home, to get a real change is the important factor in getting the most out of a vacation.

Doing what you want to do is another large factor in getting the most out of your vacation. The fact that after waiting for months you are now able to do what you have planned to do, gives a vacation a flying start in enjoyment.

Unfortunately, before some can go on a vacation, they have a great amount of work to do and are physically so that by the time they are to go they are completely exhausted. For them to rush off and do what they most want to do—hike, dance, play strenuous games like tennis—is a great mistake with body and mind so tired.

As pointed out before, the word vacation means to vacate, to leave your present surroundings amid different circumstances.

In planning to get the most out of a vacation, I have previously suggested that it is best to rest the first two days of your vacation to get over the tiredness due to getting ready to go. Then, when rested, you can indulge in the swimming, boating, dancing, walking, climbing you had planned. Then, before you return to work or business, spend the last day or two the same as the first two days—resting and loafing.

Preserving The Hearing

As we think of the great number of hard of hearing individuals who are now wearing satisfactory hearing aids we are led to think that we have reached the point where all the hard of hearing accept this condition and are willing to wear hearing aids. But this is not so.

Dr. C. C. Bunch, Northwestern university school of speech, in an article on the conservation or preservation of hearing in the Journal of the American Medical Association says:

"Recently an employer was asked what his reaction was to someone asked permission to test the hearing of his employees. He replied that he preferred to let sleeping dogs lie. A local newspaper was asked if he would invite some members of his union to come to the laboratory for hearing tests. No charge was to be made and the results were to be confidential. None appeared for the tests."

Why do employers and employees avoid these tests? Employers are afraid that additional legal regulations and questions of compensation will arise. Employees are afraid that it will bring about loss of employment. It is likely that most of us, whether we were employers or employees would do just as this employer and employee did.

However, just a little thought should convince all of us that as most cases of hard of hearing are not in an advanced condition but still have considerable hearing ability, the common sense thing to do would be to find out how much hearing was lost, what was causing the loss, what could be done to prevent further loss and what could be done in the way of treatment or a hearing aid to bring the hearing up to or near up to normal.

Dr. Bunch recounts the measures being used in factories, tunnels, airplanes and other places and occupations, to preserve, not restore, the hearing. One of the simple methods used to preserve hearing by shutting out noise is use of absorbent cotton ear plugs, covered with vaseline.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—What is the cause and cure for callouses?

A.—Cause of calluses is improperly fitting shoes. Treatment is to soften top layers in one-half ounce of baking soda to a gallon of water. Pare off with a safety razor, but not too close. Then paint on salicylic acid in form of colloid ointment or plaster. Ask your doctor to advise you as salicylic acid may cause trouble if applied to healthy tissue.

Bumper Crop Of Rabbits And Pheasants Expected

A bumper crop of rabbits and pheasants is predicted this fall by game protectors of the Ohio Division of Conservation and Natural Resources.

From all points of the state come reports that both birds and bunnies are producing young in numbers not even approached last year which was regarded as unusually good. Conditions this year have been unusually favorable, which accounts for the increase in the game crop.

The Ohio Division of Conservation and Natural Resources has been engaged in a campaign to increase the pheasant population. The outstanding instance of this is the cooperative pheasant-rearing program undertaken with the sportsmanlike attitude of most hunters that plenty of adult birds were left after the 1941 season closed.

Sportsmen clubs and farm youth organizations raised these four-week-old pheasants and their aid in increasing Ohio's pheasant crop is considerable.

Spent by no means moderate and there were several periods during which the birds would have suffered greatly had it not been for the extensive winter-feeding program undertaken by clubs and the Conservation Division. Such feeding with emphasis on patch-planting served to bring the birds through the winter in good shape and that has been reflected in big hatches this Spring.

There was an unusual large stock of rabbits left after the 1941 hunting season, and this season's abundance of young rabbits can be seen in most parts of the state.

Huron County Tax Bills To Go In Mails Aug. 1

Huron County Treasurer, H. B. Collier, announced tax bills will be mailed about August 1 and will be paid for payment without penalty has been extended to September 10, 1942.

Continued effort is being made to collect delinquent taxes and anyone in arrears will receive a letter, stating that anyone in arrears for a year, same will be published, and any one in arrears for four years, a law provides for foreclosure by the sheriff.

It is not the desire of the officials to be unreasonably or unfair in their duty to collect taxes. However, it is a duty to make an arduous effort to get in some of the thousands of dollars now owing the county, which also effects every town and taxing district.

STATIONERY FOR V-LETTERS HERE

Letter-sheets on which the Victory mail can be written to men in foreign service with the Army and Navy are ready for distribution at the Plymouth post office, Claude E. Sourwine, postmaster, announced today.

The sheets are for letters that will be photographed on small film and then reproduced at the point of address.

Received Saturday, the letter-sheets must be secured free of charge at the stamp window of the post office. No more than three sheets may be given to any one patron at one time or in one day. Scourwine stated, because the supply is small.

The Victory letter-sheet is for the use of families writing to men in the armed forces serving with the continental United States.

Photographed, Reproduced

It will be transported to the ports of debarkation for three to four days, at six cents per airmail and the address must include the rank or rating of the addressee, the unit to which he is attached and the APO or naval address, whichever he prefers, which he mails.

No enclosure may be included in the Victory letter. If the sheet is not large enough for the complete letter past must be written on one Victory letter-sheet and the remainder on another.

The Victory letter-sheet is a letter and envelope all in one. The letter is micro-filmed and the original is kept until the addressee has received the reproduction.

At the destination, the negative will be printed, and enlarged and a "picture" copy of the letter sent to the soldier or sailor.

Designed to reduce postal bulk and weight, V-mail makes it possible to ship 150,000 letters in the same space 87,500 ordinary letters could go.

Using V-mail, 150,000 messages can be sent abroad in 22 sacks, instead of 37 required for that number of other letters. This saves precious space in convoys or in bomber ferry planes, and more mail can be carried according to the government bulletin on V-mail received here.

150,000 Letters To A Bag

If there are V-mail stations or similar facilities available at destination, the V-mail letters will be micro-filmed, effecting a reduction to approximately 3.15 per cent of their original volume and weight. As a result of this operation, 150,000 V-mail letters, after filming, will weigh 45 pounds and occupy space of one sack of mail.

The film will then be sent by its destination by fast surface vessel, plane ferry, or by transportation operations combining the use of both, depending upon the location distance and transportation facilities available to that destination.

The original of each V-Mail letter so filmed will be retained by the military authorities until it has been ascertained that the film has reached the destination. After the film has reached its destination the original V-Mail letters so filmed will be destroyed by the military authorities. If the film fails to arrive at destination, the V-Mail station will refilm the letters and dispatch another film to the military. The filmed letters are given all possible assurance of reaching destination, notwithstanding transportation hazards.

The destination will receive V-Mail station will reproduce by photography and enlarge the individual messages on the film, enclose each in a specially designed War-Navy Department V-mail penalty window envelope, and make individual delivery to the addressee in the usual manner. The addressee will receive a photograph approximately 4 by 5 1/4 inches of the actual message as written by the sender.

FORMER PLYMOUTH DANCING TEACHER DIES IN DETROIT

(From Detroit Newspaper)
The old dancing master is gone and that made blue Monday blue indeed. They buried Elmer L. Kirkpatrick Monday afternoon. He was 67 years old, had taught dancing for nearly 50 years, 30 of them in Detroit. For 14 years he was the dancing master at the Ingleside Club and he composed the Ingleside Waltz, dedicated to the club. It's included in Henry Ford's book of old time dances. The waltz is also taught in the public schools and recreation centers. He was dancing master at the Detroit Yacht Club for a long period. And he belonged to the Dancing Masters of America and helped to organize the Michigan Dancing Masters Association.

Since 1938 he taught social and square dancing to thousands at the Hobby Centers conducted by the Department of Parks and Recreation, while he was teaching for the WPA Leadership Project. Mr. Kirkpatrick was responsible for bringing early American dances to a lot of folk who had no idea they would ever like to do them. He would get a group started at the Hobby Center and many spectators would gather. Some they would be absorbed in the group and return week after week to learn more of the old time dances. He not only taught the figures, but also the etiquette of formal ball room dancing, when these were as important as knowing the steps. Old and Middle Aged and Young America will miss the dancing master! Approximately 35 years ago Mr. Kirkpatrick was the dancing

START REVISION OF COUNTY MAPS

With county road and bridge construction virtually at a stand still because of the government restrictions on the use of materials, members of Richland County Engineer Howard Sward's staff has started to revise sectional maps of all the townships in the county.

Maps now in use were made in 1916 and have not been revised, according to Randall Barrett, deputy engineer. Photographs taken from airplanes will be used in correcting the maps as to property lines and topography. The work will be done at the engineer's office and it is expected to require nearly a year.

PROPERTY SOLD

Clarence Barnes of the County Line road has purchased the Hanick property on West Broadway and will take possession at an early date.

It's your MONEY!

Now, with war-time taxes which are bound to soar, capable administration of tax payers' money is more sorely needed than ever before. It's your money public officials spend.

Richland County is entirely free from debt, is operating with in its income.

Will you cast your vote for the man whose honesty, courage, and proven ability to conserve your money has helped in a large measure to make this possible.

AS A CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

At The Coming Primary Election I Wish to Make the Following Statements.

In my former term as a member of the General Assembly I was in attendance at every roll call but one and then was absent only because of attending to a matter of one of my constituents.

I was chairman of the Committee on Organization of State Government and was complimented by the Speaker on my work as head of this important committee. I was also a member of the Conservation Committee, one of the very important committees of the Assembly.

I never knowingly voted contrary to the interests of a majority of the people of Huron County.

I sponsored and secured the passage of the Fire Protection Bill and the Credit Union Bill, both of which are being advantageously used in Huron as well as in other counties.

While serving as your Representative I have willingly gone, many times, to the various state departments on matters of interest to people of the county.

If nominated and elected I shall expect to attend all sessions regularly as in the past and use my best endeavors for all the people of Huron County. I have appreciated your support in the past and believe that I merit it again.

L. A. LAWRENCE

To the Voters of Huron County:

Entering the last six months of my two year term as State Representative, I am now seeking renomination at the August 11th, Republican Primary. MAY I MENTION FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION, A FEW QUALIFICATIONS FOR A SECOND TERM?

A WIDE ACQUAINTANCE with the members of the House and Senate, gained through my activities on the floor of the House and before Senate Committees.

A GROWING KNOWLEDGE of both Federal and State Agencies, acquired by being an active member of three important committees, especially, the Committee on Organization of State Government.

A BETTER UNDERSTANDING of the needs and difficulties of the farmer, of Industry and of Labor, obtained from your letters and by personal interviews.

A GLADLY GIVEN ASSISTANCE to my constituents in matters vital to their individual welfare, but requiring State attention. Trusting that my activities as a member of the Assembly have met with your approval, I solicit your continued support.

SINCERELY YOURS, Representative Frank H. Peirce

FIRST AID TO THE AILING HOUSE

by Roger B. Whitman

Roger B. Whitman—WNU Features.
WINTER USE OF SUMMER CABINS REQUIRES RECONSTRUCTION

IT OFTEN happens that there is need for doing something to summer cabins to make them possible for winter occupancy. Whether or not this is possible depends on construction, of course; on the tightness of the walls and roof. With log cabins there should be little difficulty, for the heavy walls when tightly chinked give good protection against winter cold. The first step should be the closing of openings by which outside air could enter, including the fitting of storm windows and doors. If necessary, the inside of the roof should be sheathed; if not with boards, at least with two layers of heavy building paper or roofing felt, nailed over the rafters. As cabins are usually built on posts and are open underneath, the insulation of the floor is important. One method is to cover the floor with heavy building paper to make it proof against drafts and to lay a new floor on top. Another is to cover the under side of the floor with insulating material in blanket form, and with moisture-proof protection. Many kinds of this material can be had in sizes that will fit between the floor beams, and that can be easily put on, if there is space enough under the cabin for working. A third method is to stretch chicken wire between the posts as a support for a bank of earth to keep out winter winds. In winterizing a summer cabin the two important points are to check the entrance of cold air and the escape of warm air. The extent to which this can be done depends, of course, on the original construction and also on the ingenuity of the owner.

Cleaning a Gas Range

Question: What is the best method for removing soot, grease and drippings from the burners and surfaces of a gas range?

Answer: This is a question that has been troubling home owners for years, and has finally reached the point where many gas companies are paying attention to it. Some of the larger companies now have an arrangement by which they will undertake the cleaning and conditioning of a gas range at a charge that depends on the amount of work to be done. Cleaning crusted burners involves boiling them in a strong solution of washing soda and water, and at best is a messy job. The first move should be to ask the gas company whether it is prepared to give such service. If it is not, it will, at least, instruct the home owner on the best methods.

Darkened Stone Fireplace

Question: I have a carved Bedford stone fireplace which has become quite dark gray. Freshing does not help. How can I lighten up the stone without whitewashing it?

Answer: Try scrubbing with a paste made of scouring powder and a little water, to which add some household ammonia. Or rub with a carborundum block. Rinse thoroughly afterward. If this does not clean the stone, the next thing to do would be to have a stonemason do the job.

Attic Ventilation

Question: Can sweating in the attic of an insulated house be remedied by putting a louvre between the roof and the ceiling?

Answer: The best offset for sweating is ventilation; but for best results in an attic, there should be louvres at openings at opposite sides, so that cross ventilation will be secured.

Spattered Paint

Question: When our church was redecorated, paint was spattered on one of the lacquered brass vessels. How can it be removed without injuring the lacquer?

Answer: That cannot be done; for anything that would take off the paint will also affect the lacquer. Your best chance is to scrape very gently with a razor blade.

Soot in Pipes

Question: We burn soft coal in our cookstove. Can the pipe be cleared of soot without taking it down?

Answer: Not with any satisfaction. The collection of soot in a stovepipe can be greatly reduced by running it from the stove to the chimney on a continuous slant. Soot will then be as likely to collect as it is in a pipe that in parts is horizontal.

Ink Stains on Rug

Question: How can I remove ink stains from my Chinese rug? I have tried salt, mild soap and water, scrubbing and a cleaner, but the spots remain.

Answer: Skim milk is the usual solvent for ink stains. But some kinds of ink are indelible. For best results, the rug should be sent out for professional cleaning.

Household Hints

A little candied ginger, finely chopped, gives zest to a fruit cocktail, salad or sherbet. It is also good added to whipped cream and used to top puddings. Be careful to use just a little of it, however.

Even pre-heating for short baking jobs wastes heat. Plan to do your baking and oven-cooking at the same time, when possible.

Strained honey, heated and mixed with soft butter and a dash of cinnamon and cloves, gives a delicious flavor to toasted muffins, hot waffles or pancakes.

A stiff wire brush is a great aid in keeping the burners of a gas or electric stove free from crumbs.

A good way to utilize stale bread is to make crisp rusks to eat with butter and cheese. Break up the bread into fairly equal sizes, dip into a little sweetened milk, and bake in a warm oven until dry and crisp.

LETTERS FROM OUR BOYS

Somewhere in the Pacific, July 19, 1942

I received a most welcome copy of your newspaper yesterday. Sure was glad to read about all my friends, and about the happenings back in Plymouth.

I am stationed here in the South Pacific at present. The people on these islands are friendly and not hard to get along with. It's very warm this time of the year down here, but some say it will be warmer next month.

The other day while down on the line I talked with a fellow who was on Capt. Pearsel's bomb-er at one time. He said that Pearsel was a real flyer and a regular officer, too.

I'll be glad to hear from anyone back home who will take the time to sit down and write me. Letters mean a lot to us out here as that is the only way of contacting the mainland.

Well, Tommy, keep the home fires burning and hope all the girls aren't married before I get back home again.

I'll sign my John Hancock to this piece of literature and crawl into my "G. I." tank for a little "bunk fatigue." So long, Tommy. Your friend, Norman.

Pvt. Norman McQuown, 362nd Materiel Squadron A. P. O. 953, Care Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif.

Now, you local girls, you've got an invitation to write, and see what Norman says about the "bunk fatigue." What I don't understand, Norman, is: "What's the matter with those South Sea Island girls? Explain yourself!" Tommy.

In letters to his mother and relatives, Pvt. Wm. Rowe, who is stationed at Camp Lee, Virginia, writes and tells some of the details of Army life.

Dear Folks: It was a nice trip here, the scenery was pretty and I enjoyed riding through the mountains on the train.

I was on work detail today and the officers that gave us our classifications, as to what regiment or what we do, interviewed the new arrivals.

The quartermaster keeps the army moving and keeps it supplied with equipment. We have to move things to the front in the trucks for truck driving.

We had a choice of three different things to pick from. The others were general mechanic and cooking.

It is darn hot here today, (July 19) with the thermometer at 100 degrees in the shade at noon.

Yesterday for retreat we had to dress in our sun tan suits—that is our dress suits, and march in review before the officers.

I went to Sunday school and church this morning. There were around 150 soldiers in church; five were taken in as members.

The chaplain was sure a good speaker and gave a splendid sermon. The benches were made of hard pine, but you did not realize you were sitting on such a hard seat when we became so interested in his talk.

There are fellows here in camp from every state in the Union. I met one fellow that was born in my home town and had been in this country about seventeen years.

The fellows were all mad in this barracks yesterday after inspection. We all tried our best to get the banner for the week for the cleanest barracks. Well, one guy didn't shave the night before and we got a gig for it, which put the whole barrack out for the week.

The land on which the camp is located is about ten miles square. There is around forty thousand soldiers here. The nearest towns are Gettysburg and Hopewell.

The next regiment, north of us, is all negroes. Tell the rest, if they don't get a letter every week not to worry about it.

I am trying to make the rounds on letter writing. Well, so long. As ever, BILL.

MISS EVA WHITE RETURNS TO HOME
Miss Eva White, who has been visiting her nephew, Walter White and family the past five weeks, has returned to Elyria where she makes her home at the Methodist Home for the aged.

Although 87 years of age, Miss White is still a capable "young" woman who enjoys returning to Plymouth and vicinity to visit relatives and friends.

McGregor Suggests More Mail For Boys in Army

Urging the people in his district to write more often and send copies of newspapers to the boys in service, we are glad to print the special message Congressman J. Harry McGregor has sent us:

"The People of my District: Statistics just released show that the boys in the Armed Service of the United States write three letters to every one they receive. I have talked to hundreds of boys in various camps and all of them are anxious to hear even the most uneventful news from home.

"I feel it my duty to urge every boy in the Armed Service of the United States to write as often as possible.

"Nearly 800,000 boys in the Army are 21 years of age or under. The same is true of the Navy, Marine Corps and the Coast Guard. Less than five per cent of the men in the Army of the United States are over 30 years of age.

"In addition to writing, I want to urge relatives of the boys to subscribe to a paper and have it sent to the boys in camp. Upon inquiry, I have just been informed by the office of the Secretary of War that such subscriptions are welcome. Just keep in mind that a newspaper cannot be forwarded if a boy leaves no camp and goes to another. In such a case, just inform the newspaper of the new address and they will be most happy to change it accordingly.

"In the face of danger and uncertainty, boys think of home and want to know that everything is well with their folks and friends. Write every day you can and send at least one newspaper to your boy. Let us resolve that when the boys of the 17th District get someone they will receive from us a letter or paper to read, rather than be compelled to sit down and write a letter home.

"Sincerely yours, J. Harry McGregor, M. C. 17th Ohio District."

B-17 is the flying fortress - pride of the Army Air Forces. Hundreds of parts which go into this fighting monster of the air depend on gas as the heating agent in their manufacturing processes. B-1 is an important vitamin - essential to healthy growth of America's youth. Foods must be properly cooked to preserve B-1 and other vitamins for human nourishment. ### SCOUT NEWS

According to information from troop committee chairman, L. E. Brown, Scouts at Camp McLane last week had one swell time. The boys traveled to and from camp via car and bicycle. Don Ford, troop committeeman in charge of camping activities, furnished transportation for the equipment (and there was plenty of it) by hauling it in his trailer.

Highlight of the week was visitor's night, when over 80 parents and friends attended camp fire period. During camp fire, Robert Eichelberry was taken in as a Tenderfoot Scout. Douglas Willett was surprised by his mother, who brought along a beautiful cake, complete with candles and all the trimmings, to celebrate his 14th birthday. Other parents brought cake, popcorn and cookies, and along with the Willard Dairy ice cream, given by the Plymouth Business Men's association, a full evening was had. Fifteen Boy Scouts and the Scoutmaster Edwin of Troop 14, Milan, Ohio, were also visitors. First aid treatment was given during the camp to Scouts by L. E. Brown (who confidentially complained of the hard, hard ground). Fire building tests was passed by Kenneth Eichelberry. As usual we find Junior (KP) Davis asleep during watch. Held during the day or night was Eiden Burkett, a practicin' on that thar bugle of his'n. And for you women who are trying to economize on food, see Wayne (PeeWee) Ross for his list of menus. BUT don't use the one for butter-scotch puddin'.

Very useful articles were made by various members while in the camp and all the Scouts have a long, long story, if you have the time to listen. Ashes were gathered from Thursday night's camp fire and will be used to initiate first year campers at next summer's camp.

Eiden (Shipie) Sourwine was left holding the bag in two unsuccessful snipe hunts—but give him time.
