

THE WATER TELLS OF BOMB SCARE

The lack of space prevented the publishing last week of this interesting "lap bombing" by Isabelle Cornell, who describes the sensation she experienced during the recent "lap bombing" on the West Coast. The letter is as follows:

Now just what would you do if Plymouth were bombed? That question has been uppermost in the minds of many minds the past month or two. A survey has recently been made in Plymouth by the Air Raid Wardens and each home has been questioned and advised just what to do in case of an air bombing.

We certainly hope it will never come to pass and no doubt the most of us would almost be petrified and forget our wares. Last week Mr. and Mrs. Grover BeVier received a letter from their daughter, Isabel, who has been visiting her husband, Robert Cornell, stationed overseas and who writes vivid description of the recent bombing on the western coast.

We reprint excerpts taken from Isabel's letter as follows:

Dear Mom and Dad: This is about the fourth time today I've started a letter to you and tore it up. I am so nervous I really shouldn't even try to write. I haven't written since Friday and I've so much to tell you.

First of all a Jap sub fired on Seaside and Fort Stevens last night, it was only four or five miles out in the ocean and you can imagine how everyone is feeling around here today. We have heard so many different stories I guess that's why I really am serious damage done.

I didn't get home from the Fort last night till about 11:20 and was just getting ready to go to bed when I heard a very loud noise—just like an explosion. It just kept on and I didn't know what it was. You know how a big gun going off shakes everything. Well, first I had a little noise and then another explosion, one right after another. I went to the window and looked out but didn't see anyone or hear anyone. My first thought was, "if this is an air raid, what will I do?" I just stood still and prayed that whatever it was, it wouldn't hit anything. I'm telling you it was the most awful feeling I ever had in my life. It kept on for about 15 or 20 minutes and finally quit. Finally I went to bed.

When I came down this morning Ann said Bob had called and asked if I was o. k., and if we heard it and knew what it was. Some say the Fort fired back at them and others say that what's wanted that day so they could detect the location of the Fort, so we really don't know the truth.

Bob said when the shots started in, all of them got up hastily. You've seen and heard in shows all about bombs and shots, etc. but when it's that close and the real thing, well, just imagine how you would feel. I don't feel like myself and words can't begin to describe the horror of it and sure hope it doesn't happen again.

Clippings from the evening paper told of the experiences of a great number of people and recounted a woman running down the street in her pajamas. Someone yelled, "Where are you going, Emma?" She yelled back, "I don't know but I ain't staying here."

The newspaper stated there was a panic but naturally everyone was frightened. No witness was discovered who claimed actually to have seen the attacking craft. It was presumed to have been a submarine, although the army did not so state—because one was known to be in the north Pacific waters.

The official Japanese news agency reported that the entire American Pacific coast from Alaska to Mexico was "panic stricken by the latest bombardment" of the Oregon coast. However, a great many citizens interviewed stated that while they were somewhat frightened they were thrilled by the "show."

DRIVE NOW ON FOR OLD RECORDS

If you are in doubt about it—save it! There may be a drive for the very thing you think worthless and about to blow away. This week announcement is made that a drive for old phonograph records is being conducted throughout the nation by the American Legion and Auxiliaries. Whether the records are broken, warped or just an oldie, no longer are of any value makes no difference. The records can be melted down and recast for new records to use to camps all over the nation for the entertainment of our soldier boys.

In Plymouth the Black & Gold Soda Grill has agreed to act as a sub-station for receiving the records. Four roughly estimated that some 37,500,000 records can be obtained throughout the nation.

Shiloh Shaffer's Store will be the receiving station. Mrs. Edith Metcalfe of Mansfield was in Plymouth Tuesday, and arranged meetings with the Martha Jefferson Club at their picnic at the Mary Fate Park, to assist in the drive.

Look over your supply of records and remember to bring them to the Black & Gold on your first trip to town.

CANCER OF THROAT

A surgeon friend of mine showed me a patient, 65 years of age, who had consulted him because of a sore throat and persistent hoarseness.

When examined it was found that he had cancer of the throat and, owing to its location, surgery was inadvisable.

Accordingly, treatment by radium was given for more than two weeks should be investigated.

"Cancer of the larynx is best prevented by avoiding irritation, excessive or faulty use of the voice, inhaling smoke, dust or fumes.

If, then, you or any member of your family has a sore throat or hoarseness that does not respond to ordinary home treatment you should consult your physician.

New Treatment Of Stomach Ulcer

For many years the treatment of peptic ulcer—the stomach ulcer of the small intestine into which stomach empties—has been almost meals taken often and an alkali powder to overcome the excess acid digestive juice of the stomach.

It will come as a surprise to ulcer patients and to many physicians alike to learn that studies of 41 cases has been successfully treated by a different method.

These physicians state that while the present treatment overcorrects the excess acid stomach juices by the use of alkalis has been accepted as the "best" treatment nevertheless the fact that different alkalis are being used from time to time for peptic ulcer treatment shows that alkali treatment is not altogether satisfactory.

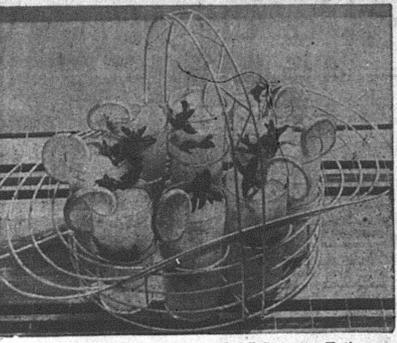

"In their series of cases, seven were suffering from stomach ulcer and 34 from duodenal or intestinal ulcer. X-ray studies were used to show the progress of the treatment.

Cool, Ice-Tinkling Drinks Ward Off Summer Fatigue

(See Recipes Below.)

Sugar-Saving Drinks

When the thermometer's perched on the highest rung of the temperature ladder, do you feel your spirits sagging, your energy running low?

There's a lot more to be said for cool drinks other than their general appearance. Besides providing your system with the vitamin C, in excellent quantity, and A and B in good quantity, the citrus fruits, grapes and lemons, act as alkalis for the system.

Milk and cream are perfect ingredients with fruit juices for cooling drinks. Not only do they contain most of the requisites for a well-balanced diet, but they are easy to take and lend themselves in pleasant combination with other foods.

Your biggest problem with summer drinks will come in trying to save sugar. But don't let this stop you, for you can use fruit juices that have natural sugars.

Try fruit powders, too, using 1 level tablespoon of the fruit powder with 3 teaspoons of honey to 1 glass of water or milk. Fill the glass with shimmering ice chips and you have an excellent thirst quencher in a wink.

Fruit juices used with ice cream and honey are kind to the sugar ration.

"Orange Cooler. (Makes 1½ quarts) 2 cups orange juice ¼ cup lemon juice ¼ cup maraschino cherry juice 1 cup ginger ale 2 tablespoons honey

There's enough to go around freely of: cayenne, red pepper, mustard, paprika, curry, cabs, oregano, chili powder, lid seeds, mustard, cayenne, red pepper, celery seed, onion and garlic salt and powder, bay leaves, marjoram, cardamom, anise and black pepper.

Careful use is indicated for these spices: cinnamon, mace, allspice, white pepper, cloves, nutmeg and ginger.

Canning rubbers, lids, jars, etc. are available in sufficient quantity for this season's produce. An extra ration of sugar for canners will be allowed, amounting to five pounds per person for the year.

ADAM AND EVE: TEMPTATION AND SIN

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 2:1-13, 23, 24. GOLDEN TEXT—"The soul that sinneth, it shall die.—Ezekiel 18:4.

The finished creation of God was "very good," but before long it was marred by sin. Dr. Hart-Davies in his book on Genesis speaks of a brick from the walls of ancient Babylon, now in the British museum.

The first in our lesson the appearance of the serpent who is the subtle emissary of— I. Satan (vr. 1-3).

Man, because he was made in God's image was not a mere automaton, having no moral choice. He was a free being who had to choose between good and evil. Obedience to God was the underlying moral principle of the universe.

II. Sin (vr. 6). Let us be clear that sin is not a necessity, not a natural weakness of the race, but a deliberate choice to transgress the law of God.

III. Shame (vr. 7-10). The shame of a right relationship with God broke the perfection of man's fellowship with man. Innocence was swallowed up in a sense of shame. But the shame is deeper than a sense of nakedness.

IV. Sorrow (vr. 23, 24). Man and his helpmeet, who had begun with such glorious promise in the garden, now had the great sorrow of being driven out by God.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Federal Agents Foil Sabotage Plot With Capture of Nazi Spies in East; German Forces Drive Toward Suez; Germany Opens New Russian Front

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

The long, solid black line shows the course of Nazi Field Marshal Rommel's African army in its drive toward Alexandria and the Suez canal. The dotted line, beginning at a point beyond Tobruk, shows the coastal route toward the canal, which connects the Mediterranean with the Red sea.

SABOTEURS: Major Failure

A dramatic story of attempted Nazi sabotage in the United States was unfolded by FBI agents who rounded up eight master saboteurs trained by Nazi experts and landed by rubber boats from two submarines at Atlantic Beach, Long Island, and Ponte Vedra beach, Fla.

ROMMEL IN EGYPT: Fluid Fighting

In the battle for Egypt, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, director of the Axis drive toward the Suez, at the British eighth army with the full weight of three armored divisions backed by artillery and infantry.

Each of the agents was provided with many types of forged credentials, including social security cards and American service records. Two traveling bags were equipped with secret compartments for money and documents.

OFFICIAL SCORE: In Battle of Midway

Official score of the Midway battle has been announced by the navy department—and the results were more heartening than had been previously supposed.

NEW OFFENSIVE: In Russia

German troops opened a third summer front with a new offensive near Kursk, 230 miles north of Kharkov and 120 miles south of Moscow. The drive was opened by more and more Nazi troops were poured against Russian defenses in the Kharkov and Sevastopol battles.

Damaged were two and probably three battleships, three or more heavy cruisers, one light cruiser and two or three destroyers. The aircraft carrier damaged, a destroyer sunk, and some American planes lost.

Kursk is located on the Moscow-Crimea railroad in an agricultural area just north of the Ukraine. On an almost-straight line with Kharkov and Moscow, it was important for its anti-tank gun works, artillery rubber factory and cartridge plant.

SUGAR RATINGS: May Be Upped

A moderate increase in sugar ratings—possibly half a pound per coupon—has been hinted by officials of the Office of Price Administration.

U. S. POWER: In Europe

One of the most important angles of the 1,000 plane raid by the British Royal Air force on Bremen, Germany submarine and shipbuilding.

SECOND FRONT: And Russian Hopes

Russia's fears that a second front may fail to materialize were allayed by foreign commander V. M. Sholokov who reported complete agreement between Washington and London on a United Nations offensive in the west.

PRODUCTION: Silence Broken

America's strict seal of wartime silence on production of materials for fighting the war was broken by President Roosevelt when he disclosed figures which as he put it, would not give "aid and comfort" to the enemy.

In fact, these production figures would likely have the opposite effect according to most Washington observers, for it was revealed that in May, U. S. factories produced nearly 4,000 planes, 200 tanks, 2,000 artillery and anti-tank guns, 50,000 machine guns and about 30,000 sub-machine guns.

The White House announcement of these figures came at the close of the Churchill-Roosevelt conference and indicated that the strategy of the war had progressed to a point where a definite plan was developing.

CCC: Lease on Life

In a dramatic move, Vice President Henry A. Wallace came to the aid of the Civilian Conservation Corps and with his vote broke a Senate tie to give at least a temporary lease on life to the seemingly doomed CCC.

By a vote of 32 to 32, the senate approved an appropriation of $78,329,400 for CCC financing during the 1943 fiscal year. Previously the house had voted to liquidate the CCC, one of the earliest New Deal ventures.

JAP SETBACK: In China

Linhai, a major Japanese base in the Honan-Shansi border area west of the Peiping-Hankow railway, has been recaptured by Chinese troops, dispatches said. A total of 5,500 Japs were killed in 13 days of combat, the dispatches added.

The capture of Linhai came as good news to Russia. Chinese observers were convinced that the Japanese operations in this north China area were a prelude to a surprise attack on Siberia.

BRIEFS: BLOOD MONEY: Two Czechs

Two Czechs have divided a German reward of 50,000,000 Czech crowns ($500,000) for supplying information which led to the shooting of two men as the assassins of Reinhard Heydrich, Reich hangerman. A Berlin broadcast stated that a liquidated half million crowns was paid to seven Germans and 52 Czechs.

CRITICAL: Back in Ottawa after his Washington conference, Canadian Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King declared to his house of commons that this is one of the "most critical periods" in Canadian history.

COMMAND: Brig. Gen. Claire Chennault, commander of the American Volunteer Group in the Chinese air force, will remain in control of air operations against the Japanese in China after his "Flying Tigers" are inducted into the United States air force.

Farmers Workers United Less-Than-Party Issue

Seven Groups Back President on Continuing Farm Security Administration; Veteran Observers See New Trend.

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

This is what happened. John Lewis, head of the powerful United Mine Workers of America, as you all know, has been trying to organize farm labor. He has made some progress under the so-called District 80 of his union in signing up hands in the dairy industry.

But he has encountered obstacles of all kinds among farmers who are all potential employers and capitalists at heart. If he could only get some really respectable farm organization, or a man connected with some such organization to take up his banner it would help.

Fall down and worship me, my organization will stand behind my District 50 drive and here is a million dollars to play with.

First, James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers union, the largest of the farm groups. This group contains more tenant farmers and fewer farm owners, than the other farm groups. It is a virile, growing outfit.

The religious groups are headed by L. G. Ligutti, executive secretary of the National Catholic Rural Life Association, and Benson Landis of the Federal Council of Churches.

Those who don't know the whole thing better than to realize the farm organizations see only the surface reasons why all the organizations represented by the above names were willing to support the issue mentioned in the petition.

But there may be another reason why Mr. Murray and Mr. Green signed up, and why their one-time colleague, John Lewis, didn't. The story of the part Mr. Lewis didn't play is closely connected with the effort to create a new farm organization which will have the blessing of labor.

BRIEFS: Important in the list of aeronautical equipment in these days of aerial combat in the cold regions high above the earth are the electrically operated instruments which many pilots don when going up to 30,000 or 40,000 feet.

More accidents happen to farm people than to any other class of workers, and in wartime accident rates usually rise sharply. Careless use of the tractor and other farm machinery causes 29 out of every 100 farm accidents.

BRIEFS: by Baukhage

Approximately 5,000,000,000 pounds of farm products had been delivered to representatives of the United Nations for land-lease shipment up to May 1. The United States department of agriculture has reported. Total cost of the 4,671,675,000 pounds bought by the Agricultural Marketing Administration has been delivered at shipping points since the program began in April, 1941, was $331,820,000.

It Took a Woman to Solve This Intricate Code

A piece of paper covered with mystic figures and signs had been discovered on the floor of the aircraft factory. It had been seen to fall from the handbag of a girl worker who had received it from a strange woman in the work entrance. Experts had been called in to decipher the apparent code, but all failed.

A most welcome gift of any pipe-smoker or roll-your-own fan now in our armed forces is a pound of his favorite tobacco. Numerous surveys have shown that tobacco is the No. 1 gift on the service man's list. A favorite with many of our soldiers, sailors, marines, and Coast Guardsmen is Prince Albert, the largest-selling smoking tobacco in the world.

As Collier Sinks in Battle of Atlantic

A naval convoy, escorting U. S. merchant ships on the Atlantic coast, lost one collier to a mine planted by enemy subs, because there was no wake. In picture at left a survivor dries his face after being nearly blinded and choked by the oily waters. However, in war no chances are taken, and depth charges were loosed with the result shown in picture at the right, just in case a sub was lurking around.

New Methods to Speed Up Ship Production

You have seen pictures of big ships, powerful planes and giant guns for Uncle Sam's armed forces. But here is an item that seldom gets into the news, but is just as vital any other sniw of war. It is the cowl ventilator, without which Liberty ships that carry war materials to the battlefronts could not put to sea. A Los Angeles firm, engaged in this work, turns out thousands of cowl funnels. Galvanizing the cowl is one of the most vital parts in the process. Photo (left) shows a huge cowl being given a "bath" in a vat of molten metal. Center: Wrinkles in the ventilator are ironed out by a small hammer. Right: A workman welding the seams of a huge funnel.

Swear to Protect Bombsight

Fledgling bombardiers, about to get their first glimpse of the super-secret U. S. bombsight, repeat after Lieut. Col. On the table is a bombsight to be exposed only after administration of the oath.

'Won't Take It'

FOR GOOD PAINT JOB IST COAT SHOULD BEND TO SURFACE
JOB of painting will not last if the first coat does not bond itself to the surface by penetrating into the pores and hardening there. In working on bare wood, this can be assured by thinning the first coat, so it will penetrate rather than lie only on the surface. Paint makers always issue instructions for the thinning of paint according to the surface. This usually is noted on the label of the can and explained in detail in the instruction sheets.

These instructions should be read and carefully followed. Paint will not hold over a glossy surface, as for instance, over shellac, varnish and gloss paint or enamel. The gloss should always be dulled. This can be done with sandpaper or steel wool, or by washing with a solution of washing soda or other alkaline water, just strong enough to cut into the gloss without damaging the paint film. The first coat of paint is the foundation for the succeeding coats, and if it does not make a good bond with the surface, the results will be peeling and chipping.

It goes without saying that a surface, to be painted must be dry and clean, for obviously paint cannot penetrate pores already filled with water or grease. Temperature is also important, for when chilled to 50 degrees or lower paint thickens and cannot be absorbed easily. The best temperatures for painting are between 50 and 90 degrees.

Paint in Can Dries
 Question: I use a lot of ready-mixed paint. Once opened, you can never really seal the can again, and a scum or crust forms. Tell me of what the scum is composed so I can replace it. I notice the paint appears thicker too.

Answer: Careful drying off of the lid will not distort it. You should work the lid up gradually. Scum is formed by the drying of the turpentine or oil in the paint. This drying of the oils in the paint naturally thickens it. When leftover paint is to be stored for any length of time, pour it into smaller cans, so that the paint will fill the can to the top. This procedure will minimize the formation of scum.

Laying Linoleum
 Question: I wish to use part of our two-car garage for a hobby and game room. The floor is laid directly on the earth, and is four inches thick. There are drain tile under it, and it seems to be dry. Could I cover part of it with linoleum?

Answer: However dry the concrete floor may seem to be, it undoubtedly picks up some moisture from the earth beneath. This would ruin any ordinary form of linoleum. But there is a variety made that is proof against dampness. Any competent linoleum layer should know about it.

Cakes Stick to Griddle
 Question: I bought an electric chaffing-dish with a griddle for pancakes. I was told that if I put olive oil on the griddle and heated it, the cakes would not stick. I did so, but the cakes stick. What should I do?
 Answer: Clean the griddle thoroughly and wipe again with olive oil. It is my guess that you are skipping the butter in the batter. The store where you bought the griddle should be able to give you any further instructions necessary.

Bulging Floor
 Question: The cement apron in front my garage door has bulged and lifted and keeps the door from closing. Will the bulge go down when warmer weather comes? If not, what can be done?

Answer: That is due to the freezing and thawing of the water that collects under the apron. The bulge may go down in warmer weather, but the real remedy is to relay the apron over a bed of cinder, or to provide other drainage.

Darkened Aluminum Pans
 Question: My aluminum saucapans are less than a year old and of excellent quality, but I find that below the water level they have become dark, and no amount of scouring will bring back the original color.

Answer: Try boiling tomatoes in your saucapans for 20 minutes or so. This will brighten them very much. But you must expect aluminum to darken when certain kinds of foods are cooked in it.

Vibrating Burner
 Question: When my oil burner starts after being off for any length of time, it vibrates so it can be felt all through the house. The boiler has been cleaned and new air valves installed. What is the cause?
 Answer: That may be from a loose or worn part. Have the burner overhauled by a competent service man.

Frank Spirk Weds
Bellaire Girl Here On 4th

In a quiet ceremony before the pastor of Mt. Hope Lutheran church on Saturday evening, July 4th, at 8 o'clock, marriage vows were exchanged by Frank Spirk and Mildred Tarbet. Rev. Nevins Stover, pastor of the church, officiated, using the traditional ring service of the church. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Forsythe at whose home they were guests until Sunday evening. The bride wore a powder blue tulle suit with white accents, and she carried a white Bible with an Eastern Star emblem.

Mrs. Forsythe was attired in a green dress with white accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of red rose buds. The decorations of Shasta daisies made a pretty setting for the service.

The bride is a surgical technician in the Bellaire hospital. Mr. Spirk has been supervisor of music in the schools here the past two years, and resigned this spring to enlist in the air corps.
