War Cause of Problems of Celeryville

CROP AND QUALITY OF CELERY GOOD, BUT LABOR AND OTHER SHORTAGES TOUGH ON GROWERS.

With favorable weather right from planting time until harvest, celery growers in Celeryville are experiencing one of the best crops in all history, not alone in celery but all vegetables, including carrots, radishes, onions, head and leaf lettuce.

Jake Holthouse, secretary of the Golden Rule Shippers and Growers' Association, states that at the present time Ohio grown celery is far superior to that of the Michigan celery. "This is due," stated Mr. Holthouse, "to the fact that the three major celery sections of Michigan, namely: Muskegon, Comstock and Kalamazoo have been washed out—too much rain which causes blight. Naturally this effects the celery crop."

"It has been many years," says Mr. Holthouse, "since the celery growers at Celeryville have had such splendid weather, an abundant crop, and a fair price for their produce." However, there are many things to offset the strong prices which have prevailed. Despite the large crop of celery the price of labor has gone up as well as a shortage of help.

"Right now the demand for celery far exceeds the supply," Mr. Holthouse pointed out. "And this year will be one of the shortest seasons we've ever had. In approximately three weeks the harvesting will be over. In previous years Celeryville growers have been able to place in cold storage a large amount of celery which would be placed on the market during the holiday season. But just won't be any celery from this section for the holiday trade."

Several items have become very scarce in the celery industry. One of them is the fuel, rubber and which is used to slip around the bunches of celery, radishes and other produce. The long stalks on celery and carrots can be tied with twine, but when it comes to bunching the radishes, they will probably be sold by the pound.

Baskets in which the celery is shipped are also scarce and the growers are looking for other methods with which to solve the shipping problem.

Celery grown at Celeryville is shipped throughout the state, into Kentucky and West Virginia. Large trucks are used for most of the shipments, but with the present tire situation prevailing, it is likely that the growers will revert to the express shipments of celery to their more distant markets.

There is plenty of fall fertilizer available, but there is an acute shortage of nitrogen. However, truck growers are assured of a large amount of fertilizer for next season, and this problem is also cause of a little worry.

There is a possibility that the acreage will be cut next year due primarily to the labor shortage, and lack of shipping facilities.

Celeryville in the Spring and harvest season offers a beautiful scene to those who like to see green things grow. Hundreds of visitors throughout Ohio and its neighboring states, always make it a point to travel through the celery dunes. Year after year the scene in Celeryville remains the same, but as you possess a new enchantment.

Twenty-three growers make up the association in Celeryville and they cooperate on every problem that comes up in the community in regard to the growing and shipping of celery. And as far as the outcome for next season—like all other farmers—they take a chance

NEW 50x54 FT. ADDITION TO BE COMPLETED IN TIME FOR SCHOOL OPENING.

With construction of the high school annex three weeks ahead of schedule, Plymouth schools will open September 21st. This is two weeks later than the usual opening date, but it will not cause the schools to operate overtime at the end of the term, as the few days' delay in getting started will be made up by cutting short the various vacation periods.

This week workmen are pouring the huge concrete roof on the new annex. This is the first concrete roof construction of this type in Plymouth, and is the result of another way of getting around the lack of steel or metal roofing.

In constructing the concrete roof, it was necessary to erect scaffolding about ten feet apart to support the three-foot long panels of which there are approximately 500, and are to be placed on top of the wooden supports. The pans are to be inverted five inches apart in which reinforced steel will be placed. The concrete will then be poured, forming a V-shape, and the actual weight will support the roof. A large concrete beam will be used only in the center of the building.

While it may be necessary to let the new 50x54 addition stand idle for a week in order to "set" after school opens classes will be formed and studies assigned and school will get on a regular schedule as last year. However, with the new addition put into use it will greatly relieve the congested condition at the high school.

The faculty of the year will be as follows: Esther Hamilton, Florence Danner, Grace Feikes, Harriet Farrar, Agnes McPadden, Martha Bowman, Margaretha Anderson, Ruth Sawyer, James B. Derr, Mary Scofield, Jeannette Hamilton, Marion Manola, and E. L. Bailey, superintendent.

HON. WM. LEMKE OF FARGO, N. D. TO BE SPEAKER OF THE DAY. ALL FARMERS ARE INVITED.

More than one thousand farmers from Erie, Seneca and Richland counties are expected in Plymouth next Sunday, Sept. 6, when they will gather at the Mary Fae Park for an all-entire picnic. A basket dinner will be served at noon. The local Boy Scouts will have refreshment stands at the park during the day.

Band music will be furnished throughout the day by the Ganges Band, and a splendid program has been prepared for the event. Henry Fackler, Richland county chairman of the Ohio Wheat Marketing Quota Protest Association, is in charge of making the arrangements. He states that much interest is being shown by the farmers in the three counties as they expect the picnic to draw the biggest crowd of farmers ever assembled in this vicinity.

The main speaker for the day will be the Honorable Wm. Lemke of Fargo, N. D. Mr. Lemke has been a congressman in Washington for several years, and he is the Republican candidate for re-election in November. He has been a member of the Triple AAA program, and its unfairness to the wheat-producing states.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kennedy of Washington, D. C., will also be on the program. Mr. Kennedy is addressing the farm women, and Mr. Kennedy will have an instructive talk directed to the farmers. Officers of the Ohio Wheat Marketing Quota Protest Association will be in Plymouth for the day. They are as follows: Russell Kilk, Canton, Ohio, president; Gilbert Myers, Castalia, vice president; Walter Cummins, state director; New Haven, and H. R. Rhine of Union County, also state director.

Governor Bricker has been invited to come to Plymouth, and also Attorney General Herbert. Should either of these two distinguished men be unable to attend, another noted speaker within the state will possibly appear on the program.

At a meeting of the Richland county group held Aug. 21, it was voted to make the county organization a permanent one. An election of officers will be held at the September meeting.

The Wheat Marketing Quota Protest Organization came to life when the Triple AAA program went into effect, prohibiting farmers from wheat-growing states from selling their wheat without paying a 48 per bushel penalty. Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas are states in which this organization is becoming prominent.

Farmers in the vicinity of Plymouth and adjoining counties are invited to attend the picnic Sunday, Sept. 6. Bring a basket and have a good time for the day.

Fire Destroys Home Friday

DONNENWIRTH'S RESIDENCE FOUR MILES SOUTH OF PLYMOUTH A TOTAL LOSS.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the seven-room home belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Donnemwirth at 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. The home and all its contents was a complete loss, partially covered by insurance.

Russell Grove passed the house which is located four miles south of Plymouth on the Bucyrus road shortly after five o'clock. The smell of smoke caused him to stop and investigate, but flames had enveloped the home and it was impossible to extinguish any part of the blaze or remove anything from the home.

Mrs. Donnemwirth had left the house at 3:30 with her children, Desmond, David and Shirley, and had gone into Shelby to do some shopping. It was while there she was told of the sad news. Mr. Donnemwirth did not know of his misfortune. He was in Norfolk, Va. Friday on business for the Fate-Root-Heath Co., and was on his way home Friday night. He did not arrive in Shelby until Saturday afternoon, and no word had gotten to him previously to his home. It was a sudden and sad experience for him also when he went home and saw what had occurred.

The entire contents of the house, including washing machine, iron, refrigerator, stove, and all of the clothing went up in the fire. There was some cash in the residence as well as government war bonds. Donnemwirth's diamond ring and Mr. Donnemwirth's watch were some of the valuables that will never be recovered.

For the present the Donnemwirths will reside in Shelby with Mrs. Donnemwirth's mother, Mrs. Gettie Cole.

Proctor Steele, R. D. 1, Crestline, was seriously injured early Sunday morning when a car he was driving ran into a standing freight train at the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing on State Route 98, west of Tiro.

Knocked unconscious by the impact, Steele remained pinned in between the cars. A conductor happened to notice the automobile starting to burn.

Rushing over to the machine, the conductor was able, with help, to get Steele out of the car. He then flagged a passenger train which was going to Mansfield, and put Steele aboard. The injured man was taken to General Hospital and treated for lacerations on the face by Dr. E. J. G. G. The car was a total wreck.

WAR NEWS

There are very few people in this country who really have any idea what is happening in this war.

The "extra" stories in daily newspapers and the "flashes" over the radio, give us one-sentence news stories on events which warrant a bookful of news.

The army and navy consider it necessary to withhold any information which the enemy might not have, but it is hard to understand why the people of this country should not be given the news of things which the enemy must certainly know.

When our troops first attacked the Solomon islands, the Japanese must have known, just as well as our officers, which side was winning and just how great a victory it was, but the one-sentence news stories left all of us in a position only to guess at what actually had happened.

We are all in favor of withholding any information which may be of possible benefit to the enemy, but the intelligent American public is annoyed over efforts to withhold information which is common knowledge to the enemy.

We want to know as much as do the Germans and Japs—not their public but their officers—as to what is going on in this war.

THE MOVIES' WAR JOB

When the first bombs fell on England, the authorities decided immediately to close all places where people congregated in large groups.

But that didn't last long. There was so much public anger, including rioting in front of theaters, that within 72 hours after the movies were ordered closed they were all told to open up again.

Motion pictures have proved to be one of the best nerve sedatives in England. Because production of pictures in England has fallen away off, there is an increasing demand for American movies.

The movies in this country are already offering relief from the news of the war. Let us hope that, for the sake of both the British and ourselves, the movie industry will this year plan the best picture fare they have ever offered—pictures which will act as a strong buffer against war nerves.

NO RATIONING PREVIEWS

What's going to be rationed next? If you hear an answer to that question put it down as an idle rumor unless it comes from an official source.

Until Washington officials are ready to go ahead with rationing another product, the chances are we won't hear anything about it.

But it is true—and this is official—that the Office of Price Administration is working on a "universal rationing book," with various color pages and with different types of coupon numbers, which will fit any rationing program which may be adopted.

The news of the universal book indicates that many things may soon be rationed—but until we hear about them let's refrain from guessing.

ANY TUBES TODAY?

That business of turning in old tooth paste and shaving cream tubes in order to get new ones hasn't worked as well as it should have.

The War Production board expected to get at least 100 tons of tin a month by this method and so far has only averaged 60 tons.

Perhaps one thing they should have told us, and didn't, was that it would help the war program if we turned in extra empty tin tubes, even if we don't want to purchase filled ones.

It would help a lot if each of us would conduct a tube search and turn in all we can find at the drug store. Tin is needed badly—and most of those old tubes contain 98 per cent tin.

ANSWERS:

Commandos Return From Dieppe. Raid

Leaving behind the wreckage of many German military installations and a badly scared German garrison, tough British Commandos and American Rangers returned to their invasion barges to re-embark for their home port in England. The object of the raid was to test the German defenses on the French coast and to gain vital information. Pictured in this photo are members of the raiding party as they returned to their craft, carrying their wounded with them.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C. (VNS)—The question of "balance" in war production—of getting raw materials, parts, production machines and labor all meshing together to turn out the goods which are needed most continues to be the greatest problem in reaching the huge goals which have been set for this year.

An unusually good picture of the national income picture, however, was recently worked out by the Department of commerce and industry. In 1941 about 10 1/2 billion dollars were put in savings, but this cent higher than it was for the same three months of last year. This means that at the end of June the annual income to the people of this country was at a rate of about 17 billion dollars greater than year ago.

"Study of the results," said Mr. Nelson, "reveals that production is uneven in relation to schedules. In some cases July production outstripped the forecasts; in others the forecasts were not approached. Even within certain categories, such as ordnance, we find unequal progress as between various types of equipment. Particularly is it important to keep the production of finished weapons and their component parts in step."

"We must make sure that we produce promptly those most important fighting weapons the services must have; in addition, we must speed up the slow items and slow down the fast ones so that the imbalance which now marks part of the program is brought into adjustment."

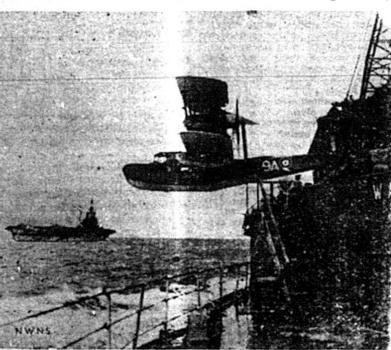

Analyzing the July production, Mr. Nelson said that aircraft production had increased over June, although the production of combat planes was "not up to expectations."

Ordnance production was said to be 28 per cent higher than June production of medium tanks was up 35 per cent, production of light tanks was up 15 per cent, production of naval vessels was up 22 per cent and production of merchant ships up 6 per cent.

"For the next few months," Mr. Nelson warned, "aircraft production is not expected to reach the production planned earlier in the year, due in part to the difficulty of balancing so vast a program. Various efforts are being made to improve this condition, and production in the latter part of the year is expected to show a marked increase."

Getting accurate statistics on production, as well as on the real national income and the change in it through which money is being expended is becoming increasingly difficult. The War Production board naturally doesn't want to inform our enemies as to our actual production, so it releases only figures that are not too revealing.

Veteran Battleship Launches Seaplane

Would Hike Pension Checks For Ohioans

Gov. John W. Bricker has announced that he will ask the legislature at its next session to appropriate sufficient funds to continue a $2.60 increase for each of the state's 139,000 old age pensioners "as long as present prices exist."

Bricker said the appropriation requested would not be "much larger" than usual, because old age pension rolls have not increased.

The governor said that the appropriation, if approved, would continue the average old age pension payment at about $26.85. The present payments average $24.25.

The increase would be the largest since Gov. Martin L. Davey authorized a $10 blanket increase in 1936.

Will Release 1800 Raccoon This Year

The Ohio division of conservation and natural resources will release 1,800 raccoons this year, Commissioner Don Waters announced today. The releasing of coon has already begun in some localities.

All these raccoons are tagged and they are put out at this time, so they can be adjusted to their new homes prior to the squirrel season. It is hoped that squirrel hunters will use caution and not disturb these young coons. The coons being released this year are a healthy and husky bunch.

Raising raccoon at the Milan Coon Farm is a complicated task, Dr. E. D. Marz reports. When the cubs at the farm are about three months old, the mothers are removed from the pens and the job of teaching the young to go for themselves is started. Identification tags are placed on the ears of the youngsters and the pack is sent to what is known as the "hardening field." This is a partially wooded tract on strips of alfalfa, corn, wheat and soy beans have been planted. The idea is to give the kits a chance to learn how to climb trees and to obtain food before they are released throughout the state.

When the cubs are six months old and average about 11 pounds, they are ready for distribution. They are sent to every county in the state to be released by game protectors and sportsmen's clubs. The identification tags on their ears have been placed there so that the Conservation Division might determine where they travel from the point of release. The males do most of the wandering, sometimes as far as nine miles. The females, on the other hand, usually travel little more than a mile.

TAX RATE REDUCED

RICHLAND COUNTY TO BENEFIT WITH LOWER TAXES

With the H. C. of L. soaring upwards, property owners in Richland county portion of the village and in the surrounding territory have had their tax rate reduced. The following statistics have just been released by Norman L. Wolfe, auditor of Richland county, which affect a part of the residents in this community.

The Plymouth Village rate will be $18.80 per thousand as compared with the current rate of $18.00 and the Plymouth township rate will be $12.80 in the Plymouth school district portion and $14.20 in the Shelby school district. This is a reduction of 20c per thousand in both sections.

Shelby will have a rate of $17.20 per thousand as compared with the current rate of $17.40 and the Cass township will remain the same as $12.20, except the portion in Plymouth school district which will be $12.00. Rates for the $12.00 last year. Rates for the sections attending school in Huron county are not yet available. The Richland county budget commission is making every effort to keep local taxes as low as possible and still provide the necessary operating monies for the subdivisions in this county.

ON VACATION

Miss Josephine Willett is enjoying a vacation from her duties in the office of the Shelby Sales Company, Shelby.

IN NORWALK TODAY

Ray F. Williams, Field Supervisor of the Emergency Crop and Seed Loan office on Thursday, Sept. 3rd will be in Norwalk, O. For in the most uncivilized countries there are plenty of people who would like to live orderly lives, but without police and law they are forced to abide by the dictates of the man with the strongest punch.

Religion has always played a major part in encouraging civilized social habits, but it is only that guy with the nightstick, the gun and the blacked-out motorcycle who appear in their rear-view mirror. It would be no time at all before restless drivers would be immediately start driving recklessly as soon as they realized no uniformed man on a motorcycle might appear in their rear-view mirror.

There is no hope that dozens of nations—some loving peace and others willing to destroy everything in sight in an effort to increase their power and possessions—can live together amicably for long without being under the constant watch of an international police force. Just as bank robbers would immediately begin a reign of terror if our police force was disbanded, so would nations like Hitler jump at any opportunity to grab territory and riches if they thought they could get away with it.

NO 'SPECIAL' AID FOR WIVES OF DRAFTED MEN

Wives whose husband soon will be drafted can expect no "special" assistance from the government and must work out their own financial problems, selective service officials announced today.

Married men with dependent wives but no children face induction in early November—"certainly by Christmas"—according to Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national draft director, and officials believe the present rate of expansion will necessitate calling married men with children soon thereafter.

Army and draft officials suggest that dependent wives obtain jobs in war industries—to solve financial problems and to meet the growing demand for armament workers.

TODAY and TOMORROW by DON ROBINSON

POLICEMAN . . . law

Did you ever picture what this world would be like if there weren't any police? I think there are a few rare souls who would continue to live according to the laws of God, but whether there was an enforcement agency or not, but the great majority of us, I fear, would occasionally stray out of the bounds provided for us by legislators.

Probably a lot of us don't know ourselves just how much our law-abiding habits are due to our natural desire to live according to law and how much they are due to our interest in avoiding conflict with the policeman on our tail.

Most of us fit into one of three classes: (1) those who would, if given opportunity, do anything they could get and pay no attention to laws at all; (2) those who would abide only by laws which they consider "right" or "wholesome" and exercise sort of a personal veto or approval of each law on the books; (3) those who would, as policemen, abide by all regulations because their intelligence or conscience would convince them of the social need for such action.

GUARDS . . . private

Probably the first thing that would happen, if we got rid of our city, county and state enforcement agents, would be the immediate disbandment of privately paid police forces.

Imagine what would happen to the banking business if we had no one to prevent robbers from shooting bank tellers and helping themselves to all available money. Naturally, if anything happened to our public police force, the banks would immediately hire their own guards, arm them and order them to shoot if any efforts were made to break into the bank.

Even the pet job which the police now do would soon be taken care of privately if disbanded public.

Take the simple tasks of enforcing speed laws. At first thought it might seem rather pleasant to have no speed law enforcement and decide for ourselves how fast we should drive. But there would be numerous drivers who would immediately start driving recklessly as soon as they realized no uniformed man on a motorcycle might appear in their rear-view mirror.

It would be no time at all before restless drivers would be immediately start driving recklessly as soon as they realized no uniformed man on a motorcycle might appear in their rear-view mirror.

CIVILIZATION . . . jungle

We just couldn't get along in any town in this country without law enforcement agents of some kind. The policeman, when law is broken, what might happen in his absence, actually is the thing that holds civilization together and prevents us from living according to the laws of the jungle.

As soon as the war is over, the nation's police force should all step in to hire a police force capable of enforcing international law throughout the world—a police force strong enough and well enough equipped to force any law-breaking nation to obey the rules or be subject to severe punishment.

The proper kind of an international police force would never have permitted the Hitler gang to organize. After the last war, Germany would have been allowed freedom only on good behavior—just as Al Capone or any other American would be allowed to run a hawker when he is once given freedom after committing a serious offense.

Let us hope, when the war is over, the heads of our nation will insist that it is even more important to keep international gangsters from running wild than to punish our own who park next to fire hydrants, throw papers in the park or trespass in the vicinity of no-trespassing signs.

Around the Square

(By Phineas Whittlesed)

AROUND THE SQUARE . . . WELL, IT'S September and I am in the spot where I started a Victory garden there is a clump of weeds with their heads high above everything else. They don't seem to be pertinent in asking the question: "Who is the victor?"

FROM THE WAY the gardens look, a little scraggly now—summer is about over.

OTT KINSEAL says he'd like to be a newspaperman. I wonder if he thinks all interviews are so interesting? Oh, well, I've often wished I could saw a board straight!

THE LOCAL BARBERS will no doubt grin with sarcasm when they read about the fellow who offered a feller can get a shave and a haircut for 12c. Gentlemen, you will find this statement in a letter written by Neil Gebert. Read it!

BOYS WILL BE BOYS. And I suppose as long as there are pocket knives little boys will experience the pain of a cut finger. At least Denton Steele thinks so. He had a hand saw right handy to prove it, very recent. Denton put up a brace face when the "ole knife" slipped and whacked him right on the knuckle of his right thumb. Well, anyway, Denton says he didn't want to be OK by the time school starts, don't you?

CHARLIE LOOKABAUGH had the darndest excuse for sitting on the park bench in front of the Peoples National Bank Saturday night. Charlie says his wife was going to get a dog license Monday morning if he didn't get a haircut. He didn't want to be seen with a metal tag on his neck, so he got a hair cut. All alone, with a shave and haircut, and dressed like a shiek—all alone. I can't understand it, Charlie!

CUSTOMERS entering Jerry Caywood's market, better known as Jerry's Market, are really amazed at the new display case can do for a place. The store has been attractively re-arranged and is very attractive. Jerry is keeping on his toes, and doing a swell job of satisfying his customers with quality foods at low prices. Congratulations, Jerry, Janice and C. Darling. Oh, yes, Mack included.

BOB LEWIS TOLD me the other day that a friend of his who is in camp, and who has a friend in camp with him from California is very much interested in Plymouth. When Bob's friend received the Advertiser recently, his friend's friend wanted to know "what's new in the Advertiser."

THE BOY SCOUTS are to be complimented on their work, last Saturday when they made house-to-house drive for scrap. It netted a little over a ton—while it didn't get into the Square, it did wind up in the junk yard—and we'll have to thank all those who donated, and to the Scouts.

WE DON'T know the outcome but Richard Myers, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Jake Meyers, left Plymouth early Wednesday a. m. for Detroit, where Richard had a date with a recruiting officer for the new Guard Service. We'll tell you details next week. I'M NOT A woman but I admire pretty clothes. And if a woman visits Hatch Dress Shop this week-end, she'll find herself admiring a beautiful assortment of Suits, Coats and Dresses. They carry all the ear-marks of being the latest things the women wear, but I'm not going to be simple enough to try and describe them. Just stop in and see for yourself.

LEAVE FOR ARMY

Three more well known young men from Plymouth and community were sworn into Uncle Sam's army Wednesday (yesterday) at Toledo and will leave September 16th for Camp Perry.

Donald Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fox of West Broadway; Maurice Huffman, Willard, representative for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company with Plymouth as part of his territory; and Eugene F. Stotts, son of Mrs. George Mitenbaker of the north street road make up the trio. They will take advantage of the 14 day period allowed to permit them to get their personal affairs into shape.

Mrs. Donald Fox and daughter will reside with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Sampson of Plymouth rout for the duration.

Local Scouts Get Honors

ADVANCEMENTS RECEIVED IN MANSFIELD COURT OF HONOR

For the first time in the history of Plymouth scouting the local organization can boast of a Life Scout, the second highest award obtainable.

When the group appeared last Thursday evening before the John W. Applesed Area Court of Honor in Mansfield at the Elks Club, Paul Scott was one of seven to be awarded the Life Badge. To receive this award a Scout must have at least ten merit badges which shall include first aid, athletics, personal health, public health and safety. He must also have been a Star Scout for a period of at least three months.

Thirteen Scouts were awarded Star badges with four from Plymouth qualifying for this honor: Gordon Seasholtz, Bill Derr, Jack Hampton and Warren Wirth. To qualify for Star Scout they must have been first class for at least three months and shall have qualified for any five merit badges.

Other Scouts who were recognized for various activities included Leonard Fenner as Second Class and merit badges were presented the following:

Wayne Ross, personal health, safety, path-finding, first aid; Warren Wirth, first aid, personal health, public health, safety, path finding; Eldon Sourwine, first aid; Paul Scott, cycling, life saving; Gordon Seasholtz, bird study, first aid, cycling, farm-home and its planning, firemanship; Bill Derr, athletics, plumbing; Sid Thomas, public health, civics, printing; Jim Moore, safety, personal health, public health, first aid; Leonard Fenner, first aid; Jack Hampton, public health, plumbing, first aid; Robert Hampton, first aid.

Advancement badges were presented by Louis A. Ott, Clarence Silcott, W. J. Bissman, A. M. Kirkpatrick, M. P. Wolcott and Scoutmaster Floyd Dent. Attorney John Catlett presided as acting chairman.

Plymouth can really be proud of its Scout organization. Under the leadership of Don W. Einsel, Jr., Scoutmaster, Luther Moffet, Assistant Scoutmaster, Luther Brown, troop committee man, and assisted by Jim Root, Don Ford, Phillip Moore, Earl McQuate and George Hershiser, and backed by the Layman of the Methodist church, the Scouts are "really going to town." A boy who lives up to the Scout Code never becomes a "problem" child and these men are doing a real service in the community life of Plymouth. They deserve the cooperation of the entire town.

The Court of Honor ceremony was attended by a splendid group of parents and friends from Plymouth.

THE BALTIMORE AND OHIO'S NEW MAINLINE DIESEL FREIGHT LOCO

The B. & O.'s first mainline Diesel freight locomotive made its initial run from Chicago to Philadelphia with 100 tank cars of oil, Monday, August 31, 1942. This was a record movement of oil in a single long-distance train. The locomotive, first to operate on any eastern railroad, is 5400 horsepower and was built by the Electro-Motive Corporation.

With the dispatch of a solid train of tank cars from Chicago Monday morning, one of the heaviest single through-rail shipments of oil on record started moving over the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad to a distribution depot at Twin Oak, Pa., near Philadelphia.

Heading the train of 5300 gross tons was one of the 5400 H. P. Diesel freight locomotives built by Electro-Motive Corporation for the B. & O. Never before has a Diesel road freight locomotive been operated in regular service on any railroad in the East.

The schedule calls for the movement of the solid train from Chicago to destination without change of locomotive or cars.

HOUSE AND YARD

By Mary E. Dague

By MARY E. DAGUE

Author of Sister Mary's Kitchen.

Fall cleaning is at hand, indoors and out, with busy days ahead. Yards and gardens must be raked, dead plants burned and fallen leaves gathered for the compost pit. Houses must be gone over for minor repairs and screens and porch furniture put away in good order. All tools and equipment must be stored so as to keep them in good condition. Replacements may be hard to get so we must take care of what we have.

When a cleaning house is very critical of the arrangement of the furniture when you return it to the living room, more rearrangement may make for pleasanter living. Every piece should have a definite reason for its placing. Personal habits decide where to put certain pieces of furniture. Easy chairs with foot rests invite one to sit before the fire and make a delightful grouping in front of the fireplace. A comfortable chair near a window is an attractive spot to knit or read in the daytime with a lamp on an elbow table by the chair-arm for light after dark. Chairs grouped with small tables suggest relaxed and pleasant hours of conversation for family and friends. A desk can be placed at a right angle to a window in order to insure good light for correspondence.

If you are fortunate enough to have an asparagus bed don't neglect to give it a heavy top dressing of some stimulant that will insure thick tender stems next spring. As soon as growth is over for the season, the chances of success in transplanting trees and ferns from the woods are the very best. Be sure that you can supply the right natural growing conditions before you take up any plants. Exposure, soil and drainage should approximate the original location.

You can plant bulbs for early spring flowering until the ground freezes but it's a good idea to get the bulbs in the ground just as soon as you receive them. Prepare the soil well in advance of the planting, digging it deep, working it up finely and enriching well with bone meal and wood ashes. Plant daffodils four to six inches deep and eight or ten inches apart. Tulips are planted five to six inches deep and nine to twelve inches apart. Our American grown bulbs are most satisfactory so don't hesitate to use them where they are available.

Show some flower seeds in your bulb beds and borders if you have bare spaces that you can't fill with bulbs. Forget-me-nots, violas and pansies like cool weather and will blossom with daffodils and tulips if sown in the fall.

Ice-Capades of '43 In Cleveland

"Ice-Capades of 1943" the hottest show on ice and the loveliest returns to the Cleveland arena with its sparkling new third edition for performances from Sept. 22 thru October 4, with matinees both Sunday afternoons.

With all new acts, a streamlined ballet of beautiful girls and all-new routines and costumes, "Ice-Capades of 1943" is the most spectacular, gorgeously costumed big-time variety ice revue ever to tour the country. It boasts a company of 100—27 great acts and 48 Ice-Ca-Pets and the Ice-Cadets. There are the women skating champions—beautiful Donna Atwood, Vera Hrubá and Trixie. The star-studded hard-water skating includes: Bobby Specht, Dench & Stewart, Red McCarthy, Jo Jack son, Jr., Phil Taylor, Eric Waite, Jackson and Lynam, Markus and Thomas, Al Surette, and a host of others.

The ice opus fairly bristles with production and variety. There's the very lively "Toys for Sale," the funny Penguin Number, the novel "dancing lesson" and "Ice-Co-Pony" ballet, "Drums on Parade," the Ice-Cadets Waltz and the patriotic and stirring "Dignity for Liberty." Interspersed between all of these fast-moving and entertaining production numbers are specially star routines which range from the daring acrobatics of Red McCarthy to the sensational, almost classical ballet on ice of Donna Atwood, American star.

ABOVE the HULLABALOO

By LYTLE HULL
Music in Wartime

In other days men marched away to war with their pulses beating to the strains of martial music. The people stood on the sidewalks and cheered wildly as the bands played "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" or "Away Down South in Dixie" or later on—"It's a Long Way to Tipperary" and "Over There." But war has gone sour since even the "Over There" days, and the rattle of mechanized equipment has displaced the more stirring blasts of the army band.

Maybe the soldier can stand the change—he has quite a lot of other business to attend to: but it appears that the folks who must stay behind and worry actually require a certain amount of music to keep up their morale. This writer is not sufficiently versed in the science of anatomy to know just exactly what music does to the human body when its owner is worried and troubled, but he does know that it has a noticeably soothing effect upon the mind. Anger, or great excitement, or fear, or supposed "squirrly" adrenaline through the body, and it is this chemical which makes one feel "low" for quite a while after the cause has subsided. Maybe music squirts honey through the system; sugar is rationed.

We have not been in direct communication with Adolf lately but we understand that Germany is "singing" with music; and we can depend upon it that everything which happens in Germany today has a purpose behind it. The reason for this added deluge of music in Germany is "morale." In Russia the ballet, the opera, and the symphonic concerts were "jammed to the rafters" all last winter with the temperature often 70 below zero and the German armies knocking at the doors—or better knocked from the doors—of the Japanese. We don't know what happened—and don't care so long as it was bad.

The British government organized last year the "Commission for the Promotion of Music and Art," and the business of this commission was to get good music into every corner of the British Isles. This is the first time the British government has paid out money for the promotion of music since the days of the Tudors—and this means nearly 400 years. The old Sadler Wells Opera company has created two new companies in order to satisfy the newly developed desire for music in the heretofore unmusical English.

We are not in low with the Germans but that does not prevent us from appreciating their technique in some things. There is the story of a prominent member of the Paris Opera company who was sent for, after a performance, by the German general in command of Paris. It was early last winter when the damp Paris cold was beginning to congeal the marrow in everyone's bones. The general asked the opera singer if the Opera House "back stage" was as comfortable as the members of the company had satisfactory living accommodations. The singer told him that in freeless apartments and that the "back stage" was an icebox. The next day coal arrived for the members and for the Opera House. The German "army of occupation" needed good music, well rendered; and the general saw to it that they got it.

In this country more good music is being played by more good musicians than in any other country in the world. We can't have enough of it in the town, any place. It is good for the soul at any time—it vitamin A-Z for our morale today.

SCOUTS REMEMBER LEADER

MONTHLY MEETING OF UNITED WORKERS

The United Workers of the Presbyterian church held their monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rooks. Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Smith were assistants. There was good attendance and keen interest in the contest for membership which is to continue under the leadership of Mrs. Gladys Vandervoort and Miss Florence Danmer. Raymond Steele had the devotions and stressed the window opening toward Jerusalem.

TUESDAY NIGHT CLUB ENTERTAINED

Miss Madeleine Smith presided as hostess Tuesday evening to her bridge club. Two tables were in play with prizes won by Mrs. Robert Lewis and Mrs. Weldon Cornell. A very nice desert was served as refreshments. In two weeks Mrs. Cornell will entertain the group.

EXCERPTS FROM N. GEBERT'S LETTER; SHAVE-HAIRCUT 12c

Word has at last been received from Nell Gebert, saying that he is no longer stationed at the base "somewhere in India." Nell was inducted into the army from Barborton, Ohio, on April 22, and was sent to Drew Field, Tampa, Fla., for basic training in the aircraft warning service. He left the U. S. A. on May 26th for foreign service, and the first mail from him arrived on August 10. Air mail service is in operation which facilitates the delivery of all mail. The mail that has reached Plymouth has been strictly censored, but we would gather that inasmuch as he has a year for adventure, that he is enjoying himself up to this point.

The crossing was made in a luxury liner which had been converted into an army transport, and when the weather was favorable they enjoyed good music on the tennis deck, as a band, also an orchestra, embarked with them. It may interest you to know that they wore their life belts at all times, as well as leaving their shoes unlaced. The food was very good, being specially prepared by experienced cooks. They bathed and washed their clothes in salt water as best they could, and when they did have access to fresh water, conservation forced them to wash, shave and bathe in one amount of water.

Though zigzagging somewhat, they held true to one general course. The Southern Cross, which is visible in the Southern sky, was seen nearly every night. They saw the dark continent, which was extremely beautiful, three times, but was allowed to land at only one port. (This could have been Capetown.) In all the crossing was without incident, as the weather was favorable.

After arriving at their destination, they received their mail and paid their salaries in rupees and annas, (Indian money.) A rupee is worth 32 and an anna 2c. They can get a shave for two annas and a haircut for four annas, and for the sum of one rupee can get a native to polish their shoes, make their hair and wash their heads three times daily for a period of one week. The laundryman washes their clothes so reasonably that it does not pay to even buy the soap for the wash. The natives that they have seen and heard of are reasonably clean, although they have some dirty ones. The streets of the city are filled with filthy beggars, and if alms is given to them all within sight, form a howling procession behind.

The larger shopkeepers have fixed prices for their goods, but the little merchants must be bargained with, and it is very easy to get the end of the deal. Their clothing is made-to-order shirts and shorts, with pith helmets which must be worn during certain hours of the day. It is possible to see and hear the wind blowing continuously and fine sand finds its way into everything. Their food is very good, but for the present their food as well as firewood is rationed. They have ice cream every Sunday and fruit every meal. He speaks of small bananas and also mangoes. They believe ice cream is made of goat's milk as it has a peculiar taste, but find it very good. They have warned many times to be careful what they eat and also drink, as fever, infection and fevers strike hard and fast and one must be on the alert continuously! Nine ty-five per cent of the population has some form of disease, which makes their native eating places extremely dangerous. Mouth antiseptic is used generously and mess kits are scalded thoroughly after each meal. They can buy plenty of soft drinks at their canteen, which is really a hike from their base. Movies are shown as an inducement to keep the men in camp. Broadway Melodies was one of the recent shows. He still thinks the Aircraft Warning branch of the service the best in the army. This constitutes radio, telephone, telegraph etc. Says, however, that he must brush up on his code and procedure.

His address is: Private Neil Gebert, 3537 1732, 679th Signal Aircraft Warning Reporting Co. Special, APO 1061, Postmaster, New York City.

Carl Sponseller Writes Very Interesting Letter

Carl Sponseller, one of the first local boys to leave for camp, writes to me that he has again arrived—destination unknown. A member of the 37th Division, he has traversed the country, and is now presumably somewhere in the Southwest Pacific. Living in the tents they carried with them, he feels quite lucky that it didn't rain too much, because the ground was so hard it was almost impossible to ditch the tents. He describes the tall grass that is almost as high as corn stalks, but not so large in diameter and from which the boys made a mat to sleep on and a cover for the ground.

Describing a recent hike toward a nearby steep cliff appearing about four miles in the distance, he and his companion started for the top. Several small hills and much tall grass, about three to ten feet high, and many round stones on the hillsides, made slow progress for them. After about two and a half hours they were little more than half way and so tired they returned to camp, not wishing to miss their supper. After all that hiking, Carl still walked two miles to take a bath.

He has had his first taste of papaya (pronounced pap-eye-ya). It is somewhat like a muskmelon and it is supposed to be a mixture of summer squash and muskmelon. It grows on a tree, somewhat like a palm tree and tastes a little like a pawpaw when it is not quite ripe. All in all he is satisfied with the whole situation and has enough to do in advance that he doesn't have time to wonder what to do next.

He is now engaged in the work which he really loves—radio, and has a more or less permanent job. Since writing home he has again been promoted, this time to the rank of sergeant technician. The box from the employees of the FRH company has been received and greatly appreciated, but to date, July 13th, none of the packages mailed from his home have been received by him.

The letter was censored and entire lines referring to any description that might disclose his location were completely deleted from the letter—for instance, he states they raise plenty of X X X, this line was cut out, as was a description of the sunset. His address is as follows: Sgt. Tech. Carl B. Sponseller, 135001425, Hqs. Btry 140, F A Bn., A P O 38, care Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif.

Sunday, August 23, 42 Dear Tommy: Just received your paper and it sure was a welcome sight. I don't miss a word reading them through, and after I read them I pass them on to Foster or "Fluiter" (Lybarger). By the way I saw "Fluiter" yesterday and he looks good. He likes it a lot out here and has got the right kind of ambition to make good. Pehea Oe? (how are you). You are in getting akamai (severe). Hawaiian isn't spoken much any more but the names sure are mean (beautiful) if you say them right. The best word spoken in Aloha, which has a lot of meanings, such as "Hi," "good-bye" or any other pleasant greeting. We had a hula show the other day and the hula dancers with pua (flowers) in their hair, sure do "go to town" in fresh tie-leaf skirts and red mussum (waist). They even put jiggerbugging in the shade. I'd like to tell the boys at the shop mihulo niu (thanks a lot) for the cigarettes. Excuse my spelling and poor writing. Your friend, Bill Fetters.

Doggone, Bill! Between your spelling, poor writing and a couple of very attentive flies, those Hawaiian words almost got me down. I was getting along very nicely reproducing your letter for the Advertiser until I came to the leaf skirts and some kind of a waif. I made a guess at it, and I hope I used a few letters in the right place. Got any picture post cards over there? One of my pals says it's a lot of huey about those sun-tanned tomatoes (quoting Henry Watts on the tomatoes), but I believe he must be on the wrong island. Drop us another line soon, and don't forget the post cards. PWT.

To the Committee of FRH Employees: I received your gift of cigars yesterday. It seems so good to receive something from the back home. You don't realize what it means to us boys in the service. I appreciate your thoughtfulness and extend my sincere thanks.

In this letter I would like to also thank Mrs. Raymond Steele for her kindness in sending me a number of Advertisers. I am looking forward in seeing Vincent Lybarger and hope we will get together when he gets here. Thanking you again for the smokes, I remain, Robert Brothers.

ON THE NEWS FRONT

Significant Changes Observed In Spending by Rural Families

Rural families have made significant changes in their spending for living since 1935-36, the department of agriculture has announced in reporting a Bureau of Home Economics survey that described the situation in 1941 and the first quarter of 1942. In 1941 farm families put more than twice as much into savings as they did in the earlier period. The outlays for living were increased by approximately one-third. Net money incomes of farm families averaged 46 per cent higher in 1941 than in 1935-36. Increased agricultural production and rises in prices paid to farmers for their output moved many farm families from lower to higher income classes and made possible higher total expenditures.

Farm families with money incomes between $500 and $1,000—the model group in 1941—used about 7 per cent of their income for furnishings and 16 per cent for clothing in 1941 as compared with 5 and 12 per cent, respectively in 1935-36. On the other hand, families in this income class spent less for automobile purchases and operation—11 per cent in 1941 as compared with 15 per cent in 1935-36. Despite the increases of recent years, total net incomes of rural families (including single persons) in 1941 and the early months of 1942 were much below those recently reported for urban groups by the U. S. bureau of labor statistics. Although national income from agriculture was approaching a record level in 1941, more than a third of the farm families and almost a quarter of the rural nonfarm families had incomes equal to or below $500 in that year. Even after adding the value of food, housing, fuel and other items obtained without direct money payment, nearly 40 per cent of the rural families had total net incomes of less than $1,000. Only 20 per cent of city groups had incomes equal to or above $1,000.

Both in average amount of income and in distribution of families by size of income, rural nonfarm families as a group are more like farm than urban groups. In 1941, the average incomes (money and nonmoney) amounted to $1,639 for rural nonfarm families, $1,664 for farm, and $2,347 for urban. Of these amounts, $221, $218 and $218, respectively, represented the value of noncash income such as that represented by food and other goods produced at home or received as gift or pay and the value of occupancy of the farm house or of the owned nonfarm home.

To All Users of Heating Stoves:

Have you checked your heating stove to find out whether any repairs or replacements will be needed for the coming winter?

Due to the war production program and the necessity of obtaining priorities for raw material for the manufacture of all civilian products using iron or steel, it now takes from 6 to 10 weeks to obtain repair parts that the manufacturer may not already have made up and in stock.

Therefore, we urge that you act now to avoid possible heatless days for your family—by checking your stove heater immediately and ordering through us any necessary replacements or repair parts.

Delay may be costly. Let us help you determine which parts, if any, are needed, and then let us send your order in to the factory THIS WEEK.

WOMAN IN THE NEWS BY JANET CUPLER. WOMAN of the Week: In Philadelphia, Kan., wife also practices. M. Townsend-Glassen, M. D., is known simply as "Dr. Mary." Her office is a four-room frame house, and she has patients from nine to six. After that her calls may take her 50 miles into the country. Her husband, publisher of a weekly newspaper, goes along to drive the car. The people of Philadelphia are not at all prejudiced against her because she is a woman. They aren't even surprised that she chose to be a doctor. But they are amazed at her ability to carry on her strenuous practice and still find time to teach first aid classes, write a book on home remedies, be a Girl Scout leader, president of the Kansas Medical Women's Medical association, and the mother of two children.

EUROPE AT WAR: According to the Belgrade paper, Novo Vreme, women are forbidden to drive motor cars or ride bicycles without special permission from the German military commander. Ontario was advertised in a Norwegian radio broadcast as being for sale for 40 cents for about 3 1/2 hours. How much of the knowledge that you acquired in school have you worked into your thinking as a ready aid in understanding? My guess as to the average person would be: precious little.

TALENT SCOUT: That break you've been hoping for may come to an unexpected end. Only three years ago Helen O'Connell was singing in a small night club in New York City's Greenwich Village. Someone heard her and promptly told Jimmy Dorsey, the orchestra leader about her. What was that someone? Dorsey's secretary!

CHILD CARE: The Office of Defense Health and Welfare is working on a program for care during the day of the children of women employed in the war effort. Paul V. McNutt of the War Manpower Commission said, in explaining the purposes of the program, that women with children should not be encouraged or compelled to work which would deprive them of essential care. But if such women are employed, he said, adequate care for their children should be provided.

SUNNY SIDE UP: If you are "the girl he left behind," you may be interested in knowing that at least one expert believes that the correct jet at home has everything to do to keep them out of mischief. He is Prof. Ernest W. Burgess, Director of the Psychological and specialist in family relations.

DALE CARNEGIE Author of "How to Win Friends and Influence People"

THEY WOULDN'T MAKE 30 CALLS Recently I talked to one of the largest employers of salesmen in the world. This man tried his hand at door-to-door selling, and succeeded so well that he later trained other men to sell the product he manufactured. He is now worth millions. He hires thousands of salesmen every year—and about half of them fail to make the grade. I asked him why. He said the chief reason was: they wouldn't make 30 calls a day. Naturally that was not the only reason; but he declared it was the chief reason. They loafed; they hung around the office; they wrote letters; they made all kinds of excuses; they refused to force themselves to pound the pavement until they had interviewed thirty prospective customers a day.

I realize that a man might make fifty calls a day and still fail if he didn't have the right attitude, the right price and the ability to meet and deal with people. But let me repeat, this man who hires ten thousand salesmen a year said his biggest problem was to get men who would work hard at interviewing people week after week, month after month, and year after year.

Pugh of Plymouth Route 1.

SERVICES FOR GEORGE DAWSON HELD FRIDAY George H. Dawson, 78, prominent Richmond township farmer, died at the Willard hospital last Wednesday after a three weeks' illness.

He is survived by his widow, Minerva Dawson, two sons, Lee and Delbert, both of Richmond township and four daughters, Mrs. Guy Gurney, Attica; Mrs. Roy Gurney, New Haven; Mrs. Jesse Buncutter, Shelby; Mrs. Laura Hitechew, Tuscon, Ariz., and Miss Alta Dawson, at home. A sister, Mrs. Eliza Channing of Willard, also survives with a half-brother, H. S. Dawson of Norwalk.

Funeral services were held Friday at 2:30 p. m. in the Richmond township United Brethren church. Mr. Dawson was well-known in Plymouth where he had many friends who regret to learn of his passing. Winter and summer he would make his weekly trips here up until the time ill health prevented him from doing so.

He was one of the "old time" farmers. In fact, farming was all he ever knew, and he knew it well, having resided on the same farm all of his life.

At an age when Mr. Dawson had to relinquish some of his duties on the farm, and had gained a place which would afford him a little pleasure in life, he got the most out of the annual Ohio Farmer Tours. He has travelled extensively over the United States, Mexico and Alaska on these special vacation trips, and we have enjoyed many a trip with him by his conversation.

The scores of friends Mr. Dawson made in Plymouth over his long years of visiting here, the sympathy of them all is extended to them in their loss of husband and father.

ye shall all likewise perish," is given for proof. Biblical description of the way invasion will come, condemnation of wine and bribes, among men in high positions and of mixture of wine and music, "the combination of which will demoralize a nation to such an extent that God will not tolerate it," are included among the many quotations. Historical instances are also cited as proof. Rev. Mr. Pugh said that copies of the booklet had been sent to all the Congressmen, and had been used as the basis for a speech in Congress by one representative, who sent him a copy of the Congressional Record with the quoted parts marked.
