Lt. Cecil Burr Killed In Plane Crash Sunday In Nebraska

FIRST PILOT ON B-24 BOMBER KILLED SUNDAY IN NEBRASKA; SERVICES FRIDAY.

Military rites will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 from the Secor funeral home, Willard, for Lt. Cecil Burr of New Haven, who was killed Sunday in a plane crash near Wayne, Nebraska. The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will conduct the services, assisted by the Rev. Hefflinger, pastor of the Lutheran church. Burial will take place in the New Haven cemetery.

Residents of Plymouth and vicinity, only the day before, were rejoicing in the good news that another local boy, Lt. Eugene Phillips, had been located in a prison camp, and no longer "missing" as previously reported, were again cast in gloom and despair as the sad news was relayed to Mrs. Cecil Burr, a bride of less than two weeks, that her husband had been killed. No details of the accident were given, but services will be held without viewing the remains.

Cecil enlisted in the army air forces on August 11, 1942, and received his pre-flight training at San Antonio, Texas. Primary instruction was received at Bruce Field, Ballinger, Texas, and later was given his basic training at Randolph Field, Texas. Upon graduation from the advanced training school at Eagle Pass, Texas, he was commissioned a second lieutenant in April. Since that time he has been located at Boise and Pocatello, Idaho, and more lately at Fairmount Field, Geneva, Nebraska.

Married to the former Ethel Wassal on Sept. 27th while home on furlough, the couple had established residence at New Haven, where the widow now resides. On his recent visit home Lt. Burr stated that he expected to go across within a few weeks and that he had 120 flying hours to get before receiving his transfer.

A native of West Hartland, near Norwalk, Ohio, the family resided on Plymouth street a number of years ago, later moving to New Haven, after the death of Mr. Burr. While in Plymouth, Cecil's father operated a filling station.

Lt. Burr attended both the Plymouth and New Haven schools, and before his enlistment was employed as lathe operator at the Holland-Rieger Co., Sandusky. Besides his widow, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Corwin (Bernice) Osborn, and Miss Georgia Burr, both of Shelby. There are also five half brothers surviving. His parents preceded him in death a number of years ago.

This is Plymouth's second plane accident casualty of World War II. Capt. Elmer Parsel met his death in India in a similar crash.

Because of his genial disposition and pleasing personality young Burr held the admiration and high esteem of everyone in the community, and deepest sympathy is extended the bereaved ones.

Officials report that the entire crew of Burr's plane met death in the accident.

Lt. Phillips Is War Prisoner

PLYMOUTH MAN WAS PREVIOUSLY REPORTED "MISSING IN ACTION."

Just three weeks after being notified by the War Department that the son, Lieut. Eugene Phillips, was missing in action, Mrs. Edd Phillips received word Saturday morning informing her that Lieut. Phillips was being held as a prisoner of war. The information was supplied to the War Department through a report of the International Red Cross.

The message received by Mrs. Phillips is as follows:

Washington, Oct. 8, 1943 Report received through the International Red Cross states your son, 2nd Lieut. Eugene Phillips, is a prisoner of war. Letter of information follows from Provost Marshal.

No details, as yet, have been received, but it is presumed that Lieut. Phillips came down over enemy territory in northern Italy and was captured by the Germans. Lieut. Phillips, a pilot of a P-38 saw much action over North Africa, Sicily and possibly Italy. He has made many missions, and came through them all without a scratch.

News of his "missing in action" was received here with much regret, but the news that came last Saturday morning brought joy—even though he is being held as a prisoner by the Germans.

Fire Raging On the Muck Lands

A fire, which started Monday is sweeping over the vast area of the muck lands west of Plymouth. So far, no material damage has been done to homes or crops, but the fire is gaining such momentum that it was necessary to call out workers of the Huron County Highway department Wednesday night to try and check the fire.

Hundreds of acres of underbrush and grass have been burned off, and with the dry season that has prevailed for the past several weeks the blaze can do considerably damage once it gets a head start.

The main portion of the blaze is burning north of the West Road, and east and south of Celeryville. Reflection of the fire can be seen for many miles in some of the black muck land west of Celeryville, scattered fires are noticeable.

Several years ago a huge forest fire swept over the prairie and much damage was done at that time. However, if high winds do not come up, there is a possibility of the fire burning itself out after consuming the underbrush and grass.

The nature of the soil itself—a black peat—burns incessantly if it becomes ignited.

NOW it can be told . . . the weather reports can come once more be published. And after a long dry spell, it looks as though it might soon for a change.

AND SPEAKING of the weather, turn to John Root's official report and make comparison with what we've been having for the past three weeks with that of last year.

THE BAN on publishing weather reports were lifted this week, which is an indication that fear of large scale enemy attacks on the United States by the enemy is fast fading. Now we can tell—perhaps—when it's going to rain or snow!

FIVE SENATORS who travelled over the war fronts, are making a lot of gossip in Washington these days. Their "talk" has caused them to be declared a "nuisance" by our President!

PLYMOUTH'S free show had its last fling last Wednesday when it was made known by Manager Ed Ramsey that it would be the last of the season. The merchants sponsored the shows for the summer, and we're safe in saying that they have been appreciated.

ON His trip to Niles, Mich., J. E. Nimmons had the pleasure of "lunching" with Sam Nimmons, a former resident. J. E. went up on Sunday by train and returned home Monday. He reports that Sam is getting ready for his trip to Florida, where he will spend the winter.

IT TOOK workers three hours to erect Eugene Petway, 35, Willard railroad worker, from a sand pit in the yards of the Baltimore & Ohio. Petway was buried by his neck in the sand which is used for cleaning locomotives. Fellow workmen had to build a crib around Petway before he could be removed. He suffered no serious injuries. The mishap occurred Wednesday.

A COMMITTEE meets for the second time tonight to make plans for a big Halloween celebration. The movement is headed by Mayor Derr, and complete plans will be made known next week. If there is a public-spirited citizen who wants to donate a gold coin for the event, kindly let it with E. B. Miller, who is treasurer of the committee.

WE'LL let out a secret—there is going to be a street dance, a real parade, and some free act. It's going to be a real thing, and it is being done just for the sake of the youngsters! It's your reward for being a good little boy and girl.

NINE MEN, including four 101st Cavalrymen and one AGF private, have been qualified for aviation cadet training by the Fort Meade aviation cadet examining board, it was announced recently. And friends in Plymouth will be pleased to know that one of those nine men is none other than Pfc James Phillip, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edd Phillips, west of Plymouth, and a brother to Eugene Phillips. Private Phillip is being enlisted in the Military Police work, and is the only one in the group from the police section to pass. He arrived home Wednesday morning for a 10-day furlough before going to a southern camp to begin training.

NEWS OF OUR SERVICE MEN

Parts of two letters of interest from Alvin Garrett which will not show please evident to our community but all the boys in service:

Somewhere in Australia

Dear Mom and Dad: 24, 1943

Well, I've hit the jack pot today. Got 7 letters this morning and 2 yesterday. Four of them were from you mom, so I imagine the mail situation must be up to date now. The other 3 letters had air mail stamps in and I sure can use them, thanks a lot.

Well, Mom, I guess I answered all important questions in those four letters so that will give you the low down on this end. To begin, I had a day off yesterday. Lo, the fellow from Michigan and a guy from California and I took a little trip. There's a little summer resort close to town here, about like Cedar Point in Sandusky, so we rode the ferry over, spent the day and had a swell time. Got back to town about 6 o'clock and had a steak supper, then went to the movies. The steak supper cost 40 cents.

The movies over here are a very interesting experience. It seems to be quite a new thing. They reserved seats and one darn near has to get a ticket the day before if you want a seat. Well, we got into the show at 10 to 7 o'clock and from 7 to 7:15 they showed colored slides. From 7:15 to 7:30, organ music. At 7:30 they played "God Save the King" with a colored slide of the Aussie and British flag and a picture of King George on the screen. Then they played "The Star Spangled Banner" with our flag and pictures of president Roosevelt, Gen. MacArthur and Gen. Halsey on the screen.

Everyone stood of course for both national songs. It sure was nice. Gosh, we sure saw a big show.

First an educational film, then two comics, then one of the shows, then there was 15 minutes music and smoke party. Vendors sold ice cream, candy, etc. Then two different news reels, one a regular world wide and a 20th Century Fox special, an Australian news reel and finally the second show. We got out about 10 o'clock. So you see they make a regular Broadway production out of their movies.

One funny thing to us, you are allowed to smoke during the show. I filled up my pipe, sat back in the seat and sure enjoyed that. So all in all we had a swell time. Don't worry, I am well.

Your son, Alvin

Sept. 26, 1943
Dear Mom and Dad:
Well it's Sunday here and I'm sitting around waiting until it's time for church, so that I'd write you a few lines while I wait. Got another Advertiser yesterday, that makes two up to date. One was a July number, the other August, but there was news in both for me. I saw in one of the letters Paul Root wrote to Tommy and he must be down here someplace close as I noticed his address is the same headquarters as ours, must be in our neck of the woods someplace. Well, Mom, Mrs. Roosevelt visited our camp when she was here, gave a good talk which we all enjoyed very much. I saw Artie Shaw the band leader in town. He has a band in the navy or coast guard and they sure can play. Also saw another horse race, and Dad they start the horses at the far end of the back stretch and run them the opposite way, from the way we do in this State. Had five horses in this race, and they were the finest horses I've ever seen. A running race, no carts like we used to at the fairs. Also saw out tramping the kangaroo in Australia. Well, anyhow it was big. Here's something new for you last night. The Nestle Co., here in Australia have what they call coffee and milk. It's condensed very thick like our chocolate syrup. Comes in a tin can and you mix it with either hot or cold water, and Mom that was the best cup of coffee I've had since I left Shiloh. They seem to have plenty of that on hand. A small can costs one and 20 cents, but I got a big one. That makes two quarts of coffee. Pretty cheap, I guess at that. Don't know if I told you or not, but we bought a washing machine before we left the States, brought it with us to our washing, but such a big job now.

Will close now. You and Dad take things a little easy and don't work too hard. Don't worry about me, I am well. Write.

Your son, Alvin

Alvin asks about his Advertiser in every letter he writes home. He gets home sick for the paper.

A short time ago, William Kopina was at home on a 5-day furlough from the East coast. When he returned he was transferred to the West coast and is getting along nicely.

The family was made happy by William had a furlough the same time and the brothers had a wonderful visit, as they had not been together for a year. Albert is somewhere in North Africa. The Parents heard from him recently and he is feeling fine, but would love to get back soon.

Uncle Sam Asks For More Money To Beat Axis

Goal: Pay for 50% of War Expense Through Taxation

By AL F. JEDLIKA
When Uncle Sam spends approximately 100 billion dollars this year, he will become the greatest single buyer in the history of the world.

To back the attack, he will pour tanks, guns, planes, food, clothing and many other items onto the many global fighting fronts.

When he goes into the nation's markets, Uncle Sam will pay hard dollars for the goods he buys. In one of his pockets he'll have borrowed money, which he will eventually have to repay; in the other pocket, however, he'll have his own money, tax money.

The extent of America's public debt depends upon the amount of taxes raised during the war to pay for war expenditures. The more taxes, the less debt; the less taxes, the greater debt.

Aware of this fact, and also of the fact that there is more money in circulation than there are goods to buy, the government has requested congress to raise an additional 10 billion dollars of new taxes. Coupled with present collections of $3 billion dollars, the new taxes would bring total receipts up to $4 billion dollars, or around half of expenditures.

In all probability, congress will pass some kind of a new tax bill. However, in proceeding cautiously, apparently determined to stand additional taxation.

The problem is not without its complications. For instance, there are those who say that additional tax increases will tend to work hardships on the small income groups. Then, there are those who contend that the new brackets over $5,000 would seriously undermine the middle class. To top it off, it is said that further taxes in the highest brackets would be confiscatory, that is, take away practically all that was made.

Mr. Dent presented Wayne Ross and Eldon Sourwine with their third year star. Scouts held a lively game of Crows and Cranes during the meeting. Plans were made to change the Explorer neckerchief to some other color so that they might be distinguished from the rest of the Troop.

Wayne Ross and Paul Scott were in charge of the meeting. Refreshments were served after the regular session. The Yuca Patrol is in charge of the next meeting, scheduled for Oct. 25th.

Desmond Donnerwith, Donald Smith and Jim Burrer were the winners of the knot tying contest. Knots used were the fisherman's, sheep shank and figure eight.

Our Boys Overseas

To each of you, the Advertiser sends the best wishes of the Season. The fact that your address carries an APO indicates you are somewhere out of the country—at some distant port—on the sea—and perhaps at this writing—in the air. We are primarily writing you at this time, for we are told that foreign mail should be post marked by Oct. 15. Although the home town paper gets the right-of-way, there is a possibility of delay in the coming weeks. We want you to know that the folks back home have been sending the gifts out to you boys, and from the number sent, you should have a realization, the Granges, and a number of individuals have been busy the past week wrapping and addressing the packages. And it is really surprising to find that we anticipate further enjoyment in the months to come, but the best joy of all would be to have you back home with us. I have neglected writing to any of you personally, not because the lack of time forces me to pass up a lot of things I would like to do. But I am taking this method and the time to remember all of you, and to let you know that I am thinking of you in Plymouth, at Christmas time, we will be thinking of you. Things are about the same in Plymouth as when you left. This boy that came home on furlough was a bit disappointed. Perhaps they are, for all of their former buddies are gone, and with every one concerned with winning the war, there isn't much time for fun and games. At any rate, we are always glad to see them home and especially the parents.

It's October now—with chilly evenings, clear crisp nights, and frosty mornings. The corn fields are turning, and before many moons pass the fodder will be stripped, and as usual you'll be able to see the big yellow pumpkins scattered between corn shocks and a big harvest moon shining down—that's Ohio in the Fall.

There's something about Fall, and especially October, that I admire. Although one must admit that Fall is a sad season—melancholy days are being spent in meditation—preparing for Winter. Yet, some of the happiest times of my life occurred in the Fall of the year. Last Thursday as I drove over to Shiloh with The Advertiser, I saw faint touches of color on the Maples, varied hues . . . green, gold, yellow and red . . . within a few more days the woods will be one gorgeous sight, and one which only October can bring.

I had to go out into the country the other day, and it seemed so quiet and peaceful. . . it's hard to believe there is a war going on . . . and if it were not for your absence, bond and scrap drives, we at home could easily discount the fact that there is a war. Of course we see a lot of news reels, and a heck of a lot of pictures, and some of which I think are over done in dramatizing the war. But as for the news reels we do get to see actual glimpses of interesting things concerning the war—that is if you can find any part of war interesting.

The farmers have been busy in this section. The corn crop is off in spots this year, and we've been teamed with early frosts, and some of which has already appeared on the muck, but so far it hasn't done any damage to the average crop. Wheat is being put in (most of it is in), silos are being filled, and if it were not for the harvest, there's always plenty of work on the farm, and it seems to me that the ones on the farms are working harder and longer hours . . . not so much for the money, but to keep up the average production of crops despite a shortage of help and lack of farm equipment.

As for the Square, you find it very dreary here after 9 p. m., except Wednesday and Saturday nights. Plymouth is still a Saturday night town, you know. I look out over the Square today and my eyes settled on the old Hamilton building . . . you remember . . . the Peoples Bank. Unwisely structure a few months ago, the bluish windows, unpainted woodwork, and almost a disgrace to the town. But today you wouldn't recognize it. I don't believe I've ever seen any improvement, that has transpired in the atmosphere of our community as did this one when the Hamilton building got its shining coat of white paint, new windows . . . and the fine front the ban kbuilt. That's one thing you'll notice when you come back.

As for the personnel around the Square, I might add you'll find Ed Curpen repairing watches; J. W. McIntire still at the same old stand, as well as Addie Kinsell and the DeWitts. Since Mack Rogers passed on, Harriett and "Robbie" are running the Shoe Store . . . Lippus is holding out at Rule's Clothing, and Bob Lewis is a Democrat more than ever, especially since the local barbs raised the price of hair cuts and shaves. Then there is Jerry Cayton who operates at the old one stand . . . Clarence Darling helps out between crops, and Jim Fetters is doing a good job behind the counter. One old place is missing . . . that hole in the wall where the old saloons were, where fortunes were made and lost over a cup of black coffee—Wayne's Home Restaurant, John Dick and Cooney will remember this old place well. And hundreds of others, too, for it was at Wayne's we found time to solve the problems of the world, even better than the New Dealers . . . play the horses . . . and what the boys did in the old baseball—those Cleveland Indians—are they the loyal bunch? (They did wind up in third this year!) Well, those are days gone forever . . . but the hill-in-the-wall is still an exciting place, and Genevieve Conger is heading the outfit, with Mrs. Olive Gottfried still doing the home cooking!

As you know, the only man on the Square with a sole is no other than Jake Myers. He's been busy oiling harness, fixing webbs for the combines, and since shoe rationing . . . he's really been busy. Jake still chews his bud and his one pipe where the boys like to visit. Elton Robertson keeps everybody happy (almost) by repairing radios. The jobs he doesn't want he sends 'em over to Donald Feltner, and Dan, on return, sends Robbie some good customers . . . but between the two, we still are able to keep our radios tuned in. Bill-Hough, one of the old-timers around here, has taken on a job at the tube works in Shelby, while the Mrs. is keeping the grocery store on the go—just another case of doubling up and stretching the manpower . . . the Hitching Post is still at Hendricks went to the army and the wife went back to Marysville. Coming up to the Peoples Bank we find John Beelman just about the same . . . although I think he hasn't changed a bit. DeW. Lowell is a trifle. We don't see him around at day break any more—(perhaps we're not getting up so early either.) J. E. (Chub) Nimmons hasn't changed a bit, and Carl Lofland perhaps shows a few gray hairs, but even they add dignity.

C. H. Wharton, one of the new comers, and Dalton McDougal, both plumbers and plumbers, are working on the B. & O., and at his shop in the evening. McDougal would like a day off, but they just won't let him have it. Stella Hatch still holds the kind of sewing apparatus that appeals to women, and she recently opened up another store in Willard. We miss Doris since she left for Norfolk to spend the time with her husband, Tom. DeW. Lowell Keith seems to be doing OK, as well as Gertrude and Weldon Cornell. You've no doubt heard of the famous Smith Bros. Cough Drops. Well, Plymouth can boast of its Smith Sisters. The two of them are working at the Black & Gold—Jeane and Effie Mae—oh, excuse me, it's not Effie Mae it couldn't be, it must be Violet Ray—eve n'that doesn't sound right. Now, I've got it—the famous Smith sisters are Jean and Verma Ray. Is it any wonder you've twisted on my name? At any rate they make excellent chocolate sodas and banana splits—if you bring in your banana!

Tommy Webber is getting a little more reserved and thoughtful, and Mrs. Webber seems to be able to maintain a very pleasing personality. A. D. Points left the Kroger Store and is working at the Parcel Air Depot, along with Bob Echebriber, who managed Crispin's Store here for some time. Harry Shutt is still pushing out groceries. I think he likes delighting in testing me with his salt pork "sow belly" and yellow corn meal. Bill Fortney is still a meeting place—sometimes dry—adn you simply won't recognize the old farm (that's the old Red Front Grocery) owned by A. F. Cornell. Joe Lasch is turning gray, not from worry over any one thing in particular, but mostly because he spends his time sharpening a razor—along the edge of the razor sharp. You old friend Christy Weber hasn't change dumb—still interested in the shape of a cream which he spreads over the customers face while sharpening a razor—will keep the edge of the razor sharp. You old friend Christy Weber hasn't change dumb—still interested in the shape of a cream which he spreads over the customers face while sharpening a razor—will keep the edge of the razor sharp.

The health of the community is still in good hands—Drs. Faust, Hannan and Seiler are doing the making the calls. Doc Searle left Saturday for Florida . . . Tommy Page changed trucks and is becoming a little more talkative . . . McQuinn and Mrs. Louise Miller still tell how to beat a fifty year home with their furniture . . . Willard Wirth, Thurny Ford and Ray Dinninger, short of help all of 'em, try and keep the cars rolling and the tires up.

With winter coming, George BeVier, Fred Schneider and John Gantzborn at the Plymouth Elevator are hauling loads and loads of coal . . . and the two most painful men town, Martin and Misses Frances and Alice Corbett of Keokuk, Iowa.

Miss Yaeklin's early life was spent in New Washington. For a number of years she was employed by the Miller Merchandise Co., and accompanied them when the firm moved to Lakewood. This was her home until 1938 when she came to Plymouth to reside with her nephew.

Surviving are a brother, Peter Yaeklin of New Washington; a nephew, Harry Dick of Plymouth, and four nieces, Mrs. Esther Gilder of Bloomington, Ill., Mrs. Nell Breitenstein and the Misses Frances and Alice Corbett of Keokuk, Iowa.

The window down at Brown & Miller Hardware always attracts attention. They have scores of pictures of you boys, and it is always interesting to look at Bert Miller doesn't hunt for his boys, and he detests the writers more each year, which, in my opinion, is a sign of old age. Stacy Brown is the same old Stacy. He looks after the windows and finds time to tell a story or two. Jim Rhine, as you know, left the hardware store some months ago and is now a clerk in the F-R-H foundry.

This summer, through the graciousness of the business men and the efforts of Ed Ramsey, Plymouth has again enjoyed its outdoor movies. With gas rationing in effect, it was an ideal arrangement for those who worked long hours in the factory and field. Ed sends his best, too!

Well, fellows, I know that I can't mention everyone, and I've probably overlooked a few, but I can say this much, all of us around the Square send you the best wishes of the season—most of it in thoughts alone, but don't think for a minute we're forgetting you.

This about covers all that is the Plymouth you used to know, except down at F-R-H there is still interest in every one of you, especially former employees. The Foundry has been busy, as well as the locomotive division. And I am taking the opportunity to tell you that every letter or card received at the plant goes on the bulletin board. In behalf of the officials, management and employees, I send best wishes!

It's time to sign off, and we hope the Santa Claus brings in the news that Hitler died in Berlin and that Tojo jumped in the Sea . . . and if any of you can find the time drop us a line and let us know how you spent your Christmas.

You already know how we're going to spend it in Plymouth—and in every home where there may be a vacant place at the table it will be our earnest prayer that once more you may be united with your loved ones and friends, and that we may find the happiness and true spirit of life . . . to enjoy fully the meaning of brotherly love.

Bye, bye, so long, and good luck . . . that's my wish for all of you.

AROUND THE SQUARE

TALKING. And hunting we will go! . . . But the fooling—especially if Elmer Markley or Hen Fackler believe what we're going to tell.

The other day a certain Plymouth group went "gutting," and strolling through a pasture on the County Line road, east of Plymouth, one of the women of the group "cutified," remarked: "This, my, what a funny looking cow. I've never seen one like it before." When her male companion turned to look—it wasn't a cow at all—but a deer. It is the first one reported in this section for a number of years!
