

Public Urged To See Huge Army Parade

YOU, Mr. and Mrs. Citizen of Huron County, have a date with "Your Army," Monday, November 1st, at Norwalk. Uncle Sam wants you to join the Army for the day. He wants you to see how your boy, or that boy down the street, is living. He also wants you to know what your Bonds are buying, where your scrap is going, and all the things that "you on the Home Front" are doing to "hurry them back."

Bring the children too. This is a day that no men, woman, or child in Huron County will ever forget.

Reports received here from other cities, where the Military Caravan has stopped, say that as many as 30,000 people a day have witnessed this complete array of Army personnel and equipment, and they emphatically say "Do Not Miss It."

Stay for the Parade. It should be the greatest parade ever held in Norwalk and we all "Love a Parade."

Owing to transportation problems, the local schools will not be dismissed for the occasion.

One of the features of the Army Caravan visit to Norwalk and Huron County on next Monday, Nov. 1st will be the spectacular Parade at 7:00 p. m. in the evening preceding the rally at Whitney Field. Hallowe'en To Be Real Event Here Saturday

EVERYONE SHOULD HAVE A GOOD TIME HERE AT THE HALLOWEEN PARTY.

Yep, it's all free—street parade, street dance and entertainment, or rather the free acts. If you really want to show the youngsters a good time, as well as yourself, come to Plymouth Saturday night for the Hallowe'en party.

In case of inclement weather the party will be held Monday evening.

The masked parade starts at 7:30 and prizes will be offered for the funniest and best dressed couple as well as an individual grown-up. Prizes too, will be given to the youngsters—for the best and funnest couple, and also as an individual. The term "best dressed" means that the costume represents some country, nationally known personage, or a patriotic costume or period. This applies both to the grown-ups as well as the children.

Efforts are being made to secure a well-known vaudeville team and this will assure you of many hearty laughs between the dance intermissions.

Farmers who wish to exhibit a display of six ears of corn, or pumpkins should leave their exhibits at The Riverfront office not later than Saturday noon.

Fall flowers will also be exhibited, and prizes awarded to both, flowers and corn.

Mayer Derr pointed out that as long as the youngsters stay in the bounds of the Public Square, that they will not be molested under the curfew law, but he stated that all children should remain in the Square until they are ready to go home.

The street dance will start on or about 9:30, and special music and a caller has been arranged for this event.

Make it a date, come to Plymouth's Hallowe'en party Saturday night. Eat come prepared to attend a "clean" party for which there will be no boisterousness of any kind allowed.

A charge of $25 was assessed against his father, Pearl West, who agreed to pay same, which will be turned over to Mrs. Sealbath. This is a suspended sentence pending good behavior to the Boys' Industrial School.

The charge was brought by Wm. Johns who used the Sealbath pasture, and the kettles, and for the purpose of watering the cows. Junior Reed, who pleaded not guilty to the charge, will be given a hearing on Nov. 3 in the Juvenile Court in Mansfield.

"Bud" VanWagner Gets Army Medal

Just a year ago yesterday, Oct. 27, 1942, when he was stationed in the Fiji Islands with a field artillery unit, Monroe (Bud) VanWagner rescued two fellow soldiers from drowning. Several of them had gone swimming in the harbor and were caught in a swift under-current and swept out to sea. VanWagner, who was with the group, rescued two of them from drowning, according to a U. S. Army announcement.

Bud evidently didn't give it much thought for he failed to write his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forest VanWagner about the feat he had performed. His father was surprised to learn that he had been awarded a Soldier's Medal for heroism, when the announcement came through.

Bud is a graduate of Plymouth high school and took a prominent part in athletics. His parents now reside on the Shiloh road.

He was with the first contingent of inductees to leave Richland county nearly two years ago. He took his basic training at Camp Shelby, Miss., and in May, 1941, headed overseas with the rest of Ohio's 37th division, which recently took part in some of the fiercest fighting in the Pacific war zone—the capture of the Jap-held base at Munda on New Georgia Island.

He is the second Richland county soldier to receive the citation. The medal was awarded recently to Sgt. Joseph Wedding of Mansfield, who rescued three soldiers at the same time.

Bement and Leo McNeil.

McKown alleges a delivery truck of the Norwalk company got off the road, hit a delivery motor car in charge of Points and caused him to be seriously injured at his home on Route 61 between Plymouth and New Haven, Dec. 3, 1941. Carpenter & Freeman represent the plaintiff and Judge E. S. Miller, the defendant.

Around the Square

(By Phineas Whittlesed)

ARRIVING in Plymouth Tuesday afternoon without funds with which to continue to her destination—Toledo, a woman, claiming Shelby, Ky., as her home sought aid here. According to her story, she reached Mansfield in Toledo, ran out of funds, hitched-hiked to the Parsel Air Supply Depot where she claimed she had acquaintances and later walked into Plymouth, because she failed to locate her friends at the depot. Marshal Hulbert advanced the price of a phone call to her husband in Toledo, who promised to send her money. Hulbert found lodging and food for her, and the funds arrived Wednesday morning so she took the bus to Toledo and Clay took another chew. Who wouldn't after all that!

THAT CURFEW is getting results, and that's just what's desired. Some youngsters have been playing hide-and-seek with the cops for weeks and weren't so lucky—we are told.

DIGESTIVE organs have to be good especially when they're feeding me with all the new and fang-dangled vitamins.

SOME DAY I hope to be rich enough to have a pair of bedroom slippers in every room—they can never be found when wanted.

"BACON" (Royal) Trauger is at home for a couple of days, and we are mighty glad to see him again, as well as a large number of his old friends. Bacon looks good today, and is doing a good job. He's in the navy as an instructor in refrigeration and air conditioning.

IT'S EITHER too wet or too dry—that should be our theme song—too wet for soy beans, and too dry for wheat. Here's hoping we'll hit a happy medium some day!

WITH the exception of a short period, Donald Anderson, who has been with the Advertiser a long number of years left here last Friday. Don went over to Mt. Morris, Ill., with a big publishing house at a very good salary. Coming out of high school into an Advertiser office, Anderson developed into a good all-round country printer, and it's no secret that we're going to miss him, for printers today are as scarce as an old-line Republican. Now that we're all alone, from front to back, give us your cooperation by getting your news in on time.

IT WASN'T exactly a prayer, but I accepted it as such when we were able to secure a few hours' service from a former employee, Daisy Foy Tutchings, who at one time was our typewriter. Back back for a couple of afternoons—and we greatly appreciate her consideration in returning to help us out.

FESTIVAL AT HAZEL GROVE

PLYMOUTH SCHOOL NEWS

Senior Class

Monday evening the Senior Class of Plymouth High once more spent an enjoyable evening. The occasion was at Jane Martin's home where we really let ourselves go (don't we always?) and did everything from jitter-bugging to making the table rise to find out how many of us were going to heaven.

Naturally there were eats, nothing fancy, just good food that was in the groove.

Some of those teachers are pretty good rag cutters, too, by the way. The party broke up at an appropriate time and we all hurried home in the rain, well satisfied with ourselves and the world because we had lots of fun and were definitely icky roo.

Junior Class

On Friday, Oct. 22, 1943, our president called a short notice meeting in which he related that our class would sponsor a dance on the Friday after Armistice Day. The tickets are to go on sale within a week.

Again on Monday, Oct. 25, we held another meeting with Miss Bowman, Mr. Derr, and Mr. Bailey, present. We continued our discussion of the coming Armistice dance of which we are to sponsor.

We hope to have a band, but as yet have not been able to engage one suitable for our purpose. Committees have been appointed to arrange the various activities that will take place and we will have full details for you next week.

On Ration List

Another group of scarce foods is going under rationing Sunday. This time it's jams, jellies, fruit spreads and preserves. Retail sales are frozen this week and these items may not be bought until Sunday, Oct. 31. After that date, you may buy these products with your processed foods stamps—blue X, Y and Z, until Nov. 20 and green A, B and C from Nov. 1 through Dec. 20. This action was taken in order to restore these foods to grocers' shelves and to insure consumers a fair share of the future supply.

In recent weeks these products had been drained to a new low level and it looked as if they would completely disappear from the retail market. The reduction in the civilian supply of butter has greatly increased the demand for fruit spreads. The supply is considered sufficient for rationing to be effective, and consumers are assured that they can now look forward to a good selection of preserves, jams, jellies and fruit butters on their local grocery shelves, regardless of the time of day or week they do their shopping.

Ralph Scott In Physical Work For The Army

Ralph Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Scott of Plymouth, who has been stationed at Fort Knox, Kentucky, has received an unusual distinction. He has been chosen as one of 119 athletes and former physical education instructors, selected from the best in each of the country's nine service common areas to go to Torney General Hospital, Palm Springs, California, for special training to rehabilitate disabled soldiers.

When their school course is completed they will be sent out to teach group exercises and body building to convalescents in hospitals, both in the United States and in combat zones.

Training will start with simple strengthening exercises for men still bedridden, work up through easy game and moderate training for ambulatory cases, and finish off with mass drill and competitive sports to rebuild the will to win in the men who are about ready for return to duty.

Lt. Karl Greenhouse and Lt. John Fitzgerald, are operating the school, under the direction of Capt. Everett C. Hogan, of Co. D, 32nd Battalion. It is the first such school established by the Army.

Severe Training Course

Their training includes jujitsu and commando fighting, taught by Master Sgt. Melvin O'Dell, and commando group exercises, taught by Staff Sgt. J. P. Leverett.

Besides classroom work they hike seven to twelve miles twice a week; spend four hours weekly on the obstacle course; and two to four hours weekly in the commando gymnasium learning judo, tumbling and physical exercises.

A great many well known athletes have been enrolled and Ralph was fortunate in being chosen for this work. Handicapped in school days by a bad heart, Ralph overcame this condition by perseverance and proper exercise and has on several occasions been given recognition by McFadden's publication Physical Culture.

THE FELLOWS OUT ON STRIKE

When you're serving in the June. Your shirt rots on your back. Your shelter is a gunyah. You're living like a black.

Bully beef and biscuits. No sugar in your tea. You haven't any blades to shave. Your face is whisky.

Your news comes by the mulga wires. You hear it all disreputed: You're weary, Oh, so weary. In an Army phras—you're rooted.

The body, it says rest awhile, And let's call it a day; But somehow you keep going. For that's the soldier's way.

You talk about your Lassie, The tucker you would like, How you would swap your possie With those fellows out on strike.

Who growl when things are scarce And say they're badly treated; We look in our tobacco tins And find they are depleted.

"They" growl when liquor's restricted— "We" haven't any beer; "We" wonder how "they" would get on If "they" were over here.

Our holidays are far between, And luxuries unknown; If "they" don't like the job "they" have,

We'll swap theirs with our own. By Larry Kathman 1811th Ord. S.—M. Co. (avn.) Somewhere in Australia

A LETTER

The following letter was written to a minister: Dear Sir:

I'm a sailor and I'll be pulling out in a few hours. But I first I've got something to say. I came into your place this morning lonely as hell, and scared to death about sailing again. I wanted to talk to somebody pretty bad. And there was a girl who said "Hello" to me. She said for me to sit down and not to think about the future. I said may be there would not be any for me. If only a fellow could be sure, I said, that something would come wouldn't be so bad. And she said the queerest thing. She smiled and said "that's easy. Christ is coming through and he's worth dying for." I looked at her and she kept talking as if he was alive and a good pal of hers. I sort of expected him to walk in the door, it was so real. I was only there about ten minutes and I don't know what but her talking to me like that sort of did something to me and I'm not lonely any more, and I'm not scared. It was like she had said, "I want to make you acquainted with my friend Jesus of Nazareth." You ought to get to know each other since he'll be going your way."

I'm nineteen and I never knew before that there was a God like that who would go along with a fellow. It don't matter so much now if my ship goes down and I go down with it, as long as there's a God that no sub can sink and won't ever change from what's right even if the war goes on forever. I wanted to go back and tell that girl thank you; but I didn't want her to think of me as fresh. Maybe you could tell her for me and thank you. Respectfully and gratefully yours A SAILOR

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Just dropped by to tell you, Frank, I had a fine letter from your son, Joe, this morning. Mighty nice of him to take the time to write me. I know how busy they keep the boys. That's a fine camp he's been transferred to up in New England."
"Yes, Catherine and I had a letter this morning, too. Said he was writing you... he's very fond of you, Judge. Catherine is certainly proud of Joe and proud of the great Army he's a part of."
"She has good reason to be, Frank."

Joe is one fine fellow and the Army he's in is the best disciplined, best behaved in our history. Just last night I was reading an article that quoted a report signed by five chaplains in the very camp where Joe is now training. I remember their exact words which were "there is no liquor problem at this Post." And I understand that's true in camp after camp all over the country. And if Catherine would like to see that report, I'll drop it off at the house tomorrow.

MORE TIN CANS NEEDED

Although a lot of women are conscientiously saving all of the tin cans that come into their kitchen, the War Production Board claims that two out of every three cans are still being thrown away. We doubt if the waste in our town is that great, but undoubtedly there are many tin cans used here which never do get turned in.

The government is making a drive to double the collection of tin cans and has set a goal of 400,000,000 cans a month.

It may be difficult for some of us to realize how the few cans we use can be of much use to the war effort. But government statistics show that enough steel is used in the tin cans going into American kitchens to make 22,900 medium tanks or 900 destroyers. In addition, our nation is absolutely dependent on the return of cans for its vitally needed tin supply.

It may be a nuisance to save tin cans and prepare each one for collection, but it is certainly a very small thing to ask of the housewife when it means so much to our war production program.

The government hopes to keep this collection on a voluntary basis rather than require that tin cans be turned in in order to purchase new goods in tin containers. But from now on it will emphasize more than ever that throwing away a tin can is a decidedly unpatriotic act.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

We keep hearing that purchasing power in our nation this year is about 35 billion dollars in excess of the cost of all goods available for purchase. In other words, it should work out this, before the end of the year, we will find there is nothing on store shelves on which we can spend our money.

We can't picture this happening and it probably won't. The chief thing that will keep it from happening is the fact that a large part of that excess purchasing power is being put into war bonds.

But when it is realized that purchases in November and December, because of Christmas shopping, normally amount to one-fourth of our total annual purchases, it does seem apparent that there will be practically no gift items left in stores by December 25.

If there ever was a year when we should take seriously that good advice about doing our Christmas shopping early, this is certainly the year. It is none too early right now to get your Christmas shopping started if you want to have any choice.

However, the one most acceptable gift item for this year will be available right up to Christmas in any quantity desired. The post office assures us that there will be no shortage of war bonds.

WHEN ANSWERING A 'HELP WANTED' AD BE DIFFERENT

Here's a tip on answering "blind want ads." Advertisements that have only a box number for address.

A. C. Straughan, a bookkeeper, had a small-salary job, so he began answering the want ads, but most of them were "blind." For two months, he did not get a single call to come for an interview. He changed the type of letter he was sending. Still no answer.

He knew that hundreds of answers must come in. The thing to do, he reasoned, was to be different, attract attention to himself. The idea of answering by telegram popped into his mind. Why not?

He found an ad for a bookkeeper that appealed to him. Now he would try his idea. This is exactly what he sent to the box at the newspaper office:

"I am a capable and experienced bookkeeper. Am getting $14.50. Will consider anything better." Then added his telephone number.

Two days later he received a reply from the Consumers Oxygen Company of New Orleans. He got the job, and started there three days during which time he had three raises in salary. When he left, it was for a better salary.

A few years ago I ran a blind ad inquiry for a private secretary. I got hundreds of replies. Nine out of ten began as follows: "This letter is in reply to your advertisement under Box 473 in the Sunday Times. I desire to apply for the position." These applicants then went on to state their age and experience.

I never even read their letters. Why? Because I didn't want a secretary who began her letter of application in such an uninteresting, trite way. I wanted as my secretary someone who had initiative, originality, and the ability to understand my requirements. One letter out of the approximately 300 I received was perfect. It read something like this:

"Dear Sir: You will get several hundred answers to this ad. I know you are too busy to wade through all of them. So if you will call me at VAnderson-3-9512, I shall be glad to come over and throw out the worthless ones and place on your desk the few that merit your attention."

I telephoned her immediately. I was too late. She had already secured a position. A girl with her qualities will never be out of a job long—not even in a depression.

The electors of the Plymouth Village School District are asked to cast their ballots on the two mill levy for school operating purposes on next Tuesday. Due to the many problems facing the Board of Education in a financial way, they are asking the public to assist them by giving careful consideration to these problems at hand.

For the past several years it has been a question as to how many of the teachers would return for the next school year due to the low salary schedule. In some years there has been better than a fifty per cent change of teachers. This caused the Board of Education and Superintendent many days of work and nights of meeting in search of competent teachers to fill the vacancies. Sometimes these vacancies were not filled until after school had started.

Other school districts have outbid Plymouth for the services of new and regular teachers. Because of this, many excellent teachers have left our school. This has caused the Plymouth School to be a training school for other districts afar and in our own immediate vicinity.

Industry has taken several from the faculty. Shorter hours and better pay, with living costs no higher than here, have caused many of the instructors to seek more financial security.

It is true that the schools have certain standards to meet. Plymouth has a First Class Charter as granted by the State Department of Education. In order that this may be retained, competent teachers and adequate equipment must be had. The present condition has met that requirement, but recommendations that competent teachers be kept for a longer tenure have been made, as it is for the best interests of the one taught.

Plymouth School District is the only Richland County School District that does not have an extra levy for operating purposes.

Present budget limits the number of teachers and salaries below accepted standards, resulting in teachers seeking better paid positions.

Similarly Plymouth school equipment, including library, requires more than is possible to provide under the present financial set-up.

After taking the Withholding Tax, Retirement Dues, Association Fees, and local community contributions from the teacher's pay check, there is little more than enough left to pay for their keep.

The Two Mill Levy will cost each owner of real estate only twenty cents on each one hundred dollars' evaluation, or two dollars for each thousand dollar evaluation. This levy will be deductible from your income tax.

Unless there be a means provided whereby more pay can be given teachers, one can expect more new teachers another school year, providing such teachers are available.

The Board of Education has been very fortunate in securing a competent faculty this year, owing to the fact that a number of qualified teachers were civic-minded enough to sacrifice a certain amount of financial remuneration in order that Plymouth might have a school that will meet the requirements which we would like to have, accounting largely for the present high quality which may not be available next year.

Patrons, the Board of Education has done all that is possible with a very limited budget, and a much smaller one this year. The Board does not squander the taxpayers' money nor do they desire to cause a hardship on any person. They have done a good job. They are now leaving the matter in your hands and ask that you say by means of the ballot what should be done. They desire that you think the matter over carefully, and should there be any questions regarding this problem, ask those who know and every aid will be given to clarify any question which may puzzle you.

GO TO THE POLLS. VOTE FOR BETTER SCHOOL CONDITIONS BY VOTING "YES" FOR THE TWO MILL LEVY.

TOWN and FARM IN WARTIME

To Provide More Soap
An increase of about 9 percent in the nation's soap supply, without using additional fats and oil, is expected under adjusted soap formulas recently prescribed by the War Food Administration. The formulas call for a larger use of domestic non-fat materials, principally rosin, as a substitute for fats.

Buy Higher Analysis Fertilizers
Farmers purchasing mixed fertilizer can save money at the same time contribute substantially to the war effort by buying higher analysis fertilizers, according to War Food Administration officials. Higher analysis fertilizer will cost more per 100 pounds than those of lower plant food content, but the cost per pound of plant food is lower. To help the fertilizer distribution program, farmers should apply for fertilizer needed for fall and next spring as soon as possible and take delivery of it during the fall and winter months.

Can Still Send Some Gifts
Christmas packages for soldiers overseas which have been returned to the sender because of an improper address still may be mailed, according to the War Department. The original wrapper, bearing the indorsement, "Return To Sender, Insufficient Address," must be submitted with the correctly addressed package to prove that it originally was mailed before the October 15 deadline. Christmas packages also may be mailed to soldiers going overseas between now and Christmas. When the sender presents his package to the post office for mailing he must bring the Change of Address Form containing the APO address to which the package is being sent.

Get Points to Send Food Overseas
Persons who wish to send a package of rationed food overseas may get the necessary points by applying to OPA. Those who wish to have the dealer from whom the food is bought arrange for shipment, may make the purchase without giving up ration stamps, since OPA will replace the point value of the foods the dealer exports. When extra ration points are issued, a copy of the Export Declaration Certificate of Mailing must be turned over to the OPA office which granted the points.

Return Ration Books in Mail
Finders of lost ration books may drop them in the mail without prepaying postage or enclosing them in envelopes, according to OPA. On payment of a post postage-differential charge, the Post Office Department will return the lost book to the person whose name and address appear on the cover. When the addressee cannot be found, the post office will forward the book to the nearest rationing board.

To Produce More Household Goods
Increased production of cast iron skillets, Dutch ovens, and flat irons for household, institution, commercial, and other uses is permitted under a recent revision of WPB Order L-30.

To Collect Old Clothing, Rags
A nation-wide collection campaign for discarded clothing, used fabrics, and rags is being planned to meet heavy industrial and military requirements for wiping cloths, according to WPB. Officials emphasized that they do not want clothes that the owner will wear again or can use. The discarded clothing also will be used for local relief and rehabilitation purposes abroad. Materials collected will be separated and classified for best possible use. It is expected that the collection program will be handled by individual states and communities.

Tire Help for Truck Owners
Truck owners who have tire rationing certificates but are unable to get tires because local quotas are used up and those operators unable to get ration certificates because of depletion of local quotas soon may get help through the Office of Defense Transportation. Instructions on procedure for reporting such cases soon will be issued to the 142 ODT district managers. After cases are reported ODT will clear shortages with the Office of the Rubber Director in an effort to get necessary tires.

Corn Prices Set
Maximum prices for white ear corn are 2 1/2 cents per bushel less than the highest price for any grade of like quality and grade, under a recent OPA ruling. White snapped corn is 3 1/2 cents per bushel less. The Commodity Credit Corporation will continue to pay the corn producer for any advances in the maximum price of corn, through December 31, 1943.

Report on Third War Loan
Final figures for the Third War Loan showed $19,943,000,000 worth of bonds sold, Under Secretary of the Treasury, Daniel W. Bell reported recently. Sales to individuals, the first objective of the drive, exceeded the five billion dollar quota by 377 million dollars.

Extra Ration Points For Some
Persons who reside in remote areas and are unable to obtain their minimum nutritional requirements of fresh milk will be eligible to receive extra ration points to purchase additional amounts of rationed meats, fats, and dairy products, according to OPA.

Use Synthetic Rubber For Elastic Thread
Synthetic rubber may eventually be used in garters, suspenders, foundation garments and underwear. All restrictions on the manufacture of elastic thread made with synthetic rubber have been suspended by WPB until April 1, 1944.

56 Prisoners of War Camps
More than 140,000 prisoners of war are now held in 56 permanent camps in the U. S., the War Department has reported. The ration of Germans to Italians is approximately three to one. In addition to the permanent camps, there are many temporary ones set up to house prisoners in areas with labor shortages. Agricultural work done by prisoners includes harvesting fruit, tomatoes, peanuts, cotton, sugar beets and corn. Only a few prisoners have escaped and every one of them has been recaptured in a few hours.

Thousands of our boys on every battlefield are making the supreme sacrifice so that we will not lose the right to elect to office the men of our choice.

You, too, can help preserve that right by taking an interest in the major political issues of your community, state and nation. It is well to inquire as to the qualifications and the capabilities of the various candidates, then vote for the men you believe will carry out the duties of his office in the most efficient and American-like manner.

None of the candidates whose names appear below have made the statement that they would not seek public office in the village of Plymouth this year. They are willing and anxious to serve and are capable and well qualified for the offices which they seek. Their record as business men, tradesmen and citizens will stand a thorough investigation as to their qualification to serve in public office.

Vote on Election Next Tuesday

VILLAGE TO ELECT LOCAL OFFICIALS AND WILL ALSO VOTE ON LEVY.

Tuesday, Nov. 2, is election day and with it comes a line-up of village officials to be selected by the voters. In the race is J. B. Derr, present mayor, who has Harry Vandervort as his opposition.

It is reported that Mrs. Louis Gobert, who filed for treasurer, withdrew because she accepted a position at the air supply depot.

In the race for township clerk are Carl Carman and Raymond L. Brooks.

For the school board vacancy which is caused by Roy L. Johnson coming off the board the first of January, Marshall Burns and Clarence Vogel are seeking to fill in on the board.

The voters of Plymouth Village School District will be asked to support a two-mill operating levy at the election on Tuesday.

Plymouth is the only school district in Richland county that is operating without additional funds.

There is every reason to believe that the levy will pass for every school patron and citizen is interested in Plymouth having a good school system.

In a statement to the voters the supporters of the levy have endeavored to point out the need of the school levy, and we heartily endorse their proposal.

You might ask the question: "How has the school operated so long without sufficient money, and now it suddenly finds itself short of operating funds?" This can be answered in this manner. For a number of years the income for the school has been gradually decreasing, and in order to meet the deficits, the Board had to cut every corner possible in order to make the money last.

But in the recent years the reduced operating income has been cut so drastically until it is no longer possible to continue on a standard that is fair to the school and the students. It has been necessary to reduce the number of teachers; for present teachers to double up, and for every one concerned, to do all in their power to keep Plymouth a first grade school.

We're not going to give a list of figures in this column for comparison, but better still, if you want positive information on how Plymouth's school is operated, consult the clerk of the board, E. Hodges. He'll show you in black and white, just how much money the Board receives, and how it is spent.

Missionary To Speak At Presbyterian Church On Monday Evening

The people of this community have a special treat in store for them on next Monday evening, Nov. 1st at 7:30 slow time when Mrs. Julia Lake Kellersberger will speak at the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Kellersberger, author of "Congo Crosses" and "God's Ravens" is promotional secretary of the American Mission to Lepers and wife of Eugene R. Kellersberger, M. D. The Mission's general secretary and an authority in the field of leprosy and African sleeping sickness.

"Touching people with leprosy (and by the way, we don't call them lepers any more)," said Mrs.

Kellersberger in a recent interview, "is no such horror as the average American supposes. Indeed, it is hardly even dangerous. Leprosy is contagious, but only very slowly through prolonged and close association. That takes away all the fear with which leprosy patients have been regarded for thousands of years and makes them just people. Ill, of course, and often disfigured or crippled, but people much like ourselves. In fact, often braver and more spirited than we are."

The Kellersbergers have just returned from twenty-four years of missionary work in the Belgian Congo, where they were instrumental in founding many Leper Villages and in erecting 10,000 cures of African sleeping sickness. They planted a pioneer grove of 2,000 Chaulmoogra trees in Africa; the oil of this Chaulmoogra fruit, though not a cure for leprosy, is the best treatment now known.

Mrs. Kellersberger's most recent book, "God's Ravens", mentions above, is an autobiography and the story of Dr. Kellersberger's work. It has just been published by Fleming Revell and Company of New York City. She is widely known for her great platform personality. The subject of her address will be "The Touch of the Untouchables."

Dr. and Mrs. Kellersberger have planned a speaking trip that will include forty American cities, and it is indeed fortunate that Plymouth is in the route of their itinerary and will be able to secure them for this occasion.
