Couple United In Marriage At Pretty Home Wedding

A pretty home wedding took place on Easter Sunday at the home of Mrs. Dessie Willet at 3 p. m.

Her daughter, Miss Ethel Eva Willet became the bride of Mr. George Morgan Ireland.

Rev. Charles V. Ireland of Wooster, brother of the bridegroom was the officiating minister, using the simple ring service of the Methodist church.

Only the immediate families were present. Nuptial music was furnished by the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Elsie Ireland at the organ.

The bride wore a flowered organza gown over white satin, princess style with sweetheart neckline, and long pointed sleeves.

Services on Easter Sunday at both churches were well attended by the home folks and visiting friends and relatives.

At the Methodist church a number of children were baptized and several people were admitted to church membership.

Rev. Haines used white carnations in baptizing, by holding the stem and dipping the flower in the water and then passing the water in that manner to the child.

The Sunday school which has increased in membership, gave a short program which included a vocal duet by Mrs. Harry Kendig and Mrs. George England.

At Mt. Hope Lutheran church several children were admitted to the church.

Rev. Stover announced a memorial from Miss Virginia Fenner and Mrs. Jesse A. Fenner, for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Fenner.

Friends at this place received word of the death of F. H. Miller at his home in Attica, Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Miller, who was 68, had been ill a long time.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Minnie Parsons Miller, one son, Sgt. Frederick Miller of Camp Maxey, Tex., and one daughter, Betty, wife of Rev. Harry B. Griffiths, an army chaplain, stationed at Abilene, Texas.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist church Wednesday afternoon and burial was in the cemetery at that place.

Miss Helen McDougal of Plymouth, niece of the bride, was maid of honor, and she wore a floor length gown of aqua organza, fashioned similar to that of the bride's.

Mrs. Willet was attired in a navy blue dress, trimmed in white and navy blue accessories.

A reception was held after the ceremony for the guests, after which the couple left for a short wedding trip.

Traveling the bride chose a Kelly green suit with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride is a graduate of Shiloh High school and Mansfield General Hospital School of Nursing.

Mr. Ireland is the son of Mrs. Elsie Ireland of Mansfield. He is a graduate of Lexington High school.

He is the arranger of music for Harold Smith's orchestra, now stationed in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Harold Wise of Mansfield acted as best man.

A beautiful basket of flowers was given by the Gilger family in memory of Mrs. Joseph Gilger.

The Sunday school attendance was larger than for a number of years, and the adult division enjoyed an innovation from the regular program.

At the church service they all adjourned to the primary department in the basement to see the work of the children.

A demonstration of the manner of opening, conducting and closing the Sunday school was given by Superintendents, Mrs. W. W. Pittenger, Mrs. Rudy Rader and Mrs. M. O. Butner.

There are forty-nine children enrolled and only one was absent last Sunday.

When at the church service by the adult choir was exceptionally good and appropriate for the day.

THE PROPER APPROACH

In 1893 a panic swooped down on the country like a hawk on a chicken pen. Arthur E. Stilwell was trying to build what is now the Kansas City Southern railway. He needed money: three million dollars.

His only chance for a loan to raise that amount of money was in Holland, but he knew no one in Holland; he had no powerful connections. But if that was where the money was, then that was the place to go. So Arthur E. Stilwell started to Holland to raise three million dollars!

He recalled that once on a sight-seeing trip he had met a Hollander, but for the life of him he could not remember his name. All that he could do was to look up the name of the man who was in the coffee business. He thought that he might recognize the name if he saw it in print, so when he arrived in Holland he went to the coffee exchange and looked at the list of members. There it was! John de Geolijn.

What was to be his next step? Instead of rushing directly to his prospect, he first learned all he could about him. He spent two days doing this. He looked up the name of the boat on which they had met, the name of the captain, and the names of some of the passengers.

On the third day, he presented himself at the Hollander's office. The man was pleased to see him, and to learn that Mr. Stilwell had remembered so much about him.

The next point was the way he approached the one man he knew in Holland. He learned all he could about him before he saw him; he placed the man under obligation to him; gave him responsibility and procured his co-operation in raising the money.

Mr. and Mrs. George England and children were entertained at dinner on Sunday by Miss Marjorie England. The family was joined by Mr. and Mrs. John Gage of Mansfield.

Charles Copland and Mrs. Ethel Lippert of Titus were among relatives from out of town who attended the funeral of W. C. Keath on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Maxwell, son and daughter, and Miss Betty Kendig of Lorain were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Kendig the week-end. Beverly Ann Maxwell remained at the Kendig home for this week.

Miss Arlene Garrett and Arthur Lade of Cleveland visited at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Garrett, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Hord and two sons spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Otis Wright of New London.

Bobbie Mathews of Norwalk visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dick several days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Beaver of Plymouth were callers of Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Pittenger on Sunday and attended the evening services.

An Easter dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Pittenger included all the immediate family, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kochenderfer and son Larry of Adario.

BRIEFS of INTEREST

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Nimmons who have been wintering in Sarasota, Florida, are heading north to their home in Saginaw, Mich. Their Advertiser will follow them this week.

Mrs. Mary Chappell who now enjoys life at Lake Worth, Fla., in renewing her Advertiser writes the weather is fine in the southern city, and looks forward to seeing the Advertiser each week. While a great many changes and newcomers are in town, it is still home to her.

F. C. Graham who has been one of the members of the Advertiser's family for more years than we have edited same, renews his subscription for another year. Mr. Graham's home is in Cove Orchard, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Murlin of East Orange, N. J., are having a change of address this week. Living in furnished rooms since residing in the eastern city, they are moving this week to the home of the Methodist minister in that city to share his ten-room house. Oh me—ten rooms and spring house cleaning just around the corner. Friends will write them at 291 North Grove St., East Orange, N. J.

Renewing her subscription, Mrs. Frederick E. Keeler of Swanton, Ohio, sends a change of address for her sailor husband, and it is listed under the address column.

There are times when we wonder if it is worth the time and effort to keep the Advertiser moving, so we are indebted to Mrs. Marcus Bistline of St. Petersburg, Fla., who encourages us with a splendid letter telling us of the good she gets out of the hometown paper and how much she has enjoyed the letters from Plymouth boys in service. In fact, she hands a big bouquet of orchids to Plymouth boys for she says "I didn't know Plymouth had such grand boys, so polite and grateful, they are wonders, and I hope all will return safely. Thank you, Mrs. Bistline, both for the Advertiser and the Plymouth boys."

"Having learned to read by help of the Advertiser, neither of us can get out of the habit", says Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Spencer Strong of Sandusky and add another year to their subscription.

'S'funny, but the omission or addition of a single word makes quite a difference in addressing mail to boys in service. "Happy George Henry Hank Watts, aka that the word Gadsden, be deleted from his address, as it takes an extra day or two in receiving the Advertiser by being directed to the town instead of the camp. We also learned that officers' mail is sorted separately, so by placing the correct title on papers, it hastens mail. Learn something every day—you'll find Hank's newest address under the usual column.

So many requests have come in for additional copies of April 15th issue of the Advertiser containing the letters of Gene Cornell and Ben Smith, feel we ought to have a return engagement, both of Madame Chiang Kai-shek and "how to take a bath", etc. Sorry we can't supply any more copies but they have all been sold out.

Mrs. Sarah Kranz, formerly of Shiloh, but now in Mansfield, always combines business and pleasure and once a year we find her stopping at the Advertiser for another year's subscription, while enroute to Shiloh to visit friends. Shiloh is still home to her regardless where she lives.

Mrs. Josephine S. Rogers of St. Petersburg, Fla., compliments both boys on their letters in writing the Advertiser this week. Since leaving Plymouth a number of years ago for California, Mrs. Rogers has travelled extensively. She too renews her paper and speaks of attending Easter sunrise services in Hollywood Bowl. People rise as early as 3 a. m. to attend these services and long before the service begins, the place is overflowing.

Tent City in St. Petersburg is being demolished as the Army heads found it wasn't very practical for all under all conditions. The thousands of soldiers are now being transferred to other cities and to the various hotels. Winter visitors are leaving daily for their northern homes altho a few are staying through the summer for fear they will be unable to return in the fall. Mrs. Rogers is also staying for the first time. Prices are exorbitant for food stuffs and several of the restaurants and cafeterias are closing for the summer. For the first time in years Mrs. Rogers is getting her own meals and while still not enjoying eating alone, finds the ways of living must be adjusted to the trend of times.

The band concerts every Wednesday and programs every Tuesday by the soldiers continue to draw wonderful crowds and enclosed the past week's program.

Other old standbys who renewed the past week include William Rummel, Tiro; Wm. Johns, Plymouth; Amanda Plotts, Shiloh; L. R. Simmons, Plymouth route; Dr. C. L. Hannum, Plymouth; Mrs. Rhoert MacMichael, Mansfield and H. Van Zoest, Rfd 2, Willard.

TRANSPORTATION FIGHTS

One of the toughest long-time problems our nation needs to solve is that of transportation. During this war the railroads have been doing a marvelous job. So are the nation's truck operators, the barge lines, the shipping industry and, of course, the aviation transportation lines.

BLACK MARKETS

From now on it is pretty much up to the people whether black markets flourish or are wiped out of existence. The Office of Price Administration has set up adequate machinery for preventing inflation and smothering black markets. Price ceilings have been set for all foods and other products which are sold on the black market.

By LYTLE HULL We Live Longer Today

All the great material inventions of the last hundred years, added together, don't compare in human value to the incidental discoveries of the medical scientists. One hundred years ago we crossed the ocean—when we did cross it in ships, when we crossed the great plains of the West in prairie schooners. When they were powered by mounted oxen, when we plowed with oxen, when our only power was old Dobbin. When we pulled down the shades in the evening by hand, by candle light. Stoves and open fireplaces were the only means we had for keeping the house warm; and what we call "plumbing" was undreamed of.

U.S. FOOD SUPPLIES FOR CIVILIANS

RATIONING CURBS PUBLIC DEMAND FOR FOODSTUFFS

Government to Take 25% Of Total Production.

Civilian food supplies will be smaller this year than was first predicted, but they will approximate the 1933-39 total, with rationing spreading them out over a larger section of the population. The United States department of agriculture made this assertion in a forecast which revised many of its earlier estimates. In the face of the American farmer's record production of all kinds of foodstuffs, the reduced civilian supplies can only be explained by the fact that the army, lend-lease and world relief requirements will take 25% of the total output.

fruits; 7.9 for dry edible beans, and 12.07 for potatoes. Rationing Equalizes Distribution. According to the department of agriculture, the civilian supply of food per capita will be as great or greater than the prewar average, but it will be equally distributed through rationing. As a result of increases in our military and the department said, "the civilian population in 1943 will be more than 1,300,000 smaller than the average civilian population of the 1933-39 period, and the proportion of adult civilian consumers in 1943 will be smaller, but will not affect their health. The OWI warned of an over-all drop of 10 per cent in the nation's 1943 food basket. The figure of 6 per cent depended upon good weather, but a poor crop would favor a weather woe boost this year's crop yields 3 per cent over 1942. The department's agricultural forecasts for an 8 per cent increase. The OWI stated that the army, lend-lease and world relief would take 25 per cent of the total food output in comparison with 12 per cent in 1942 and 4 per cent in 1941. Of the 25 per cent, the armed services will get 18 per cent. For 25 per cent of the total supply of 75 per cent to feed a population of 93 per cent. Because of strict controls, all the farm products, 0.3 per cent; other farm products, 0.3 per cent; fruit and vegetables, 0.2 per cent; livestock and poultry, 0.1 per cent.

SIX INCH SERMON

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

Christ's Charge to Peter. Lesson for May 2: John 21:15-24. Golden Text: John 15:13.

In the lesson we find a significant repetition of numbers—three times—three-fold question, vow of love, and charge to Peter, and all reminding us as they doubtless reminded Peter, of the three-fold denial in the palace of the high priest. That we too have tenderly Jesus rebuked Peter. Recall what took place when Peter, nervous man he is, decided, during the intervals of the Lord's appearances after the resurrection, to return to fishing on Galilee. Several disciples had accompanied him. After the Lord's appearance on the morning and breakfast together, Jesus said to Peter, "Loves thou me more than I love thee?" The Lord charged Peter to serve. First it was "Feed my lambs" and then, "Feed my sheep." Factors and others may learn from this work of today—they too to nurture and guard to strengthen the young. Seemingly a man hearing of his future martyrdom would not have Peter, nervous man he is, decided. But Peter at once asked what should befall John. Jesus indicated that what should befall Peter should not concern Peter. Doubtless Jesus wanted Peter to know the cost of serving the Lord. He wanted the further command to serve—"Follow me."

This is the Army, Mr. Jones, and Your Number Is Up!

Following are answers from the Bureau of Selective Service of the War Manpower Commission to pertinent inquiries concerning the revision of Selective Service classifications which was recently announced.

- Q. What is the main effect of the revision? A. Elimination of dependency deferment for all registrants except those who maintain bona fide homes with children, those whose induction would cause extreme hardship to a wife, child, or parent with whom the maintainer lives, and registrants with dependents who are necessary to and regularly engaged in agriculture. Q. What happens to registrants in Classes III-A and III-B who had been deferred because of collateral dependents or wife and child? A. Local boards, reclassifying them, will consider whether such a registrant is available for induction in the military forces; or, if he is a conscientious objector, for assignment to work of national importance in civilian direction; or whether he should be deferred for occupational reasons, or because induction would cause extreme hardship to dependents. Q. Who are recognized as dependents for classification of registrants in Class III-A? A. Children who were born not later than September 16, 1942. The "imminence of selection" provision has been eliminated, but the rule is continued that dependents acquired on or after December 8, 1941, when war was declared, will not be considered as a basis for deferment. Any child born on or after September 15, 1942, therefore, will be considered as having been conceived on or after December 8, 1941, and therefore will not be considered as a child for determination of military eligibility established that birth was delayed. Q. Are only registrants with children eligible for Class III-B classification? A. No. A registrant is placed in Class III-B if his local board determines that his induction would result in extreme hardship and privation for a child or children with whom he maintains a bona fide family relationship in his home. Q. In determining whether induction would cause hardship or privation to a registrant's dependents does the fact that his wife or other dependents are working have any weight? A. Not necessarily, the local board will consider only whether or not the dependents could work in civilian direction, determining whether they could maintain themselves, if their financial income were limited to the allotment and allowances they would receive when the registrant is inducted into the service. Q. In reclassifying registrants now in Class III-A and Class III-B who have collateral dependents or wives only, will their occupational status be considered? A. Yes. In such reclassifications, local boards are specifically instructed to consider whether the civilian service of the registrant, in accordance with the regulations, is no longer entitled to dependency deferment should be placed in Class II-B because of agricultural occupation, or in Class III-A because of being an essential civilian worker in an activity essential to the support of the war effort. Q. When a man is placed in Class I-A will he be inducted immediately? A. Class I-A means that the registrant is available for induction. Such registrants will be called, in the sequence of their order numbers and, insofar as possible, in the following order: single men with no dependents, single men with collateral dependents, married men with wives only, and finally, with the specified order is issued, men with children. An order to report for induction is mailed to a registrant at least 10 days before the time specified for reporting. Q. What is the draft status of a man 33 years old or over who was inducted into the army but is transferred to the Enlisted Reserve Corps to engage in agriculture or other essential activities? A. He remains in Class I-C, which is for registrants who have been inducted into the armed services, as he is still under the jurisdiction of the war department and subject to recall by the draft board if he fails to engage in civilian work, leaves such work, or his military service is needed. Q. Are any men 33 years old, or over, liable for induction? A. Yes, men in Class IV-H, 38 through 44 years old, are deferred from induction from the military service, if they are otherwise eligible, only because neither the army nor the navy are accepting men more than 37 years old for induction, with the exception of certain needed personnel and a few cases of "conscientious objectors." These registrants are being reclassified in the same manner as the younger registrants to determine the availability of each under the present policy. Men 45 to 65 years old (Class IV-A), were compelled to register on April 27, 1942, but are specifically exempted by law from military service, except in cases of "conscientious objectors," but they cannot be inducted into military service unless Congress amends the law to so provide.

These are busy days in the garden because the planting of the main crops will soon begin and the seedlings will be started. The conscientious gardener will not use "vicinity garden" fertilizer on his lawn. He will use a fertilizer that contains phosphorus and potash. Instead he will concoct fertilizer from bone meal, manure and a little superphosphate. The lawn should be given attention to insure a thick sward. Rake and top dress the lawn with sticks and stones. Fill in low spots and cover with a light topdressing of soil. The purpose of this is to level the lawn and to give it a good topdressing. FATHERS . . . 22,000,000

To millions of families, selective service "arithmetic," which will determine when the head of the family will be given a khaki uniform and a pay check of $50 a month, is being given even closer attention than the mathematical calculations of point rationing.

Under the most recent regulations issued by the selective service administration, fathers will be deferred until all others not in vital war work have been drafted, but according to Paul McNutt, head of the War Manpower commission, that will be just a matter of a few months.

Mr. McNutt estimates that there are 22,000,000 men between the ages of 18 and 38. This includes those already in uniform. He also figures that only 14,000,000 of these men will be found physically, mentally and morally fit. Of that 14,000,000 a total of 3,200,000 will be deferred because of the vital war work they do in industry and on farms. That leaves 10,800,000, which is approximately the number which the government hopes to have in service by the end of the year.

This "arithmetic" is subject to correction, since it may be found that the unit are not as high a percentage as estimated, and it does not include the 20,000 or so young men who become 18 each month, but it seems quite certain that the greater priority will be given to children will be called before the year is over.

CONGRESS . . . confusion

Probably because fathers and mothers constitute by far the largest group of voters in the nation, the house of representatives was almost unanimous in passing a bill to defer fathers until the very end. This bill seems to have little significance, since the selective service administration already had decided to postpone the drafting of men with children as long as possible.

The house bill, however, known as the Kilday bill, does tend to add a little orderliness to the drafting system by requiring that men from various classifications be taken on a state-wide basis and that no fathers in a state be taken until all other eligibles have been inducted. It is quite possible, however, that congressional action on selective service will merely confuse the issue and delay the remaining draft by the War Manpower commission. For the Kilday measure doesn't provide for deferment because of occupation and the job of the manpower group is to protect the output of industry and the army and the extra time supply all the men who are needed for the armed forces.

Since the Manpower commission and the selective service administration seem to be trying to work this complex problem out in a way which will protect the American family as long as possible, congressional revisions would seem to be a handicap rather than a help.

FITNESS . . . 50% rejected

One thing, however, which it might be worth while for congress to investigate are the rules for determining unfitness.

We've all heard of the husky young man who, when turned down because of his teeth, wanted to know if he was supposed to bite the enemy or to shoot him. I know personally of the case of a football star who, after having caught 40 and 50 yard forward passes the season before, was turned down because his eyesight was poor. Other perfectly healthy young men are being rejected by most branches of the service because they are colorblind or because of other minor physical defects.

In many of these cases it is apparent that they might not be able to perform every service which is included in the army and navy curriculum, but there are certainly plenty of jobs in the services which the majority of them could perform adequately.

Mr. McNutt estimated that rejected up to the present range from 43 to 50 per cent of those examined. Health records show that we are probably the best nation in the world, but those figures make it appear that the young men of our country are largely cripples.

The time to do that is NOW. Now, when your dollars can keep the production lines humming. Now, while there are still ten minutes before midnight.

Your country is asking you to lend your dollars in greater amount than ever before. It is asking for 13 billions of dollars extra this month... 13 billions for the weapons of war to make sure that it is our side which dictates the peace.
