

CONG. MCGREGOR TO BE HERE ON SUNDAY FOR WHEAT FARMERS PICNIC; CONG. LEMKE TO SPEAK

Thousands Expected In Plymouth On Sunday, Aug. 15th For Annual Meeting of Wheat Growers; Farm Problems, Policies To Be Discussed

If there is a clear sky on Sunday, every indication points to one of the largest crowds ever assembled in Plymouth, when the Wheat Farmers Picnic convenes at the Mary Fete Park here, for its annual session. The affair has been given much publicity over the entire state, and especially in the northern section.

The program begins at noon when dinner will be served. All are urged to bring well-filled baskets. Music will be furnished by the Ganges Band for the occasion.

McGregor On Program

One of the main features of the program is the appearance of Congressman J. Harry McGregor of the 17th District. Congressman McGregor has been visiting in his home precinct the past few weeks and has been busy "keeping his ears to the ground" making inquiries with the voters, and getting a real slant on how the people at home are thinking. There is every reason to believe that Mr. McGregor will express some of his findings, and that he will have a very interesting talk for his audience.

Woman Congressman Here

Frances Bolton of Cleveland, a congresswoman well known over Ohio, and in Washington, will deliver a short talk. Mrs. Bolton has been in the eye of the political world for a number of years, and she is capable of giving you a fair round-up of what the woman voters may think.

Lemke To Speak

Congressman Wm. Lemke of North Dakota, is no stranger to farmers in this section. He appeared here last year at the picnic, and at that time he held his audience spellbound. Lemke is not a New Deal man, but he has given his untiring support in many ways to unshackle the American Farmer from his troublesome burden of government interference. Mr. Lemke has been appearing at various meetings in the middle west, more recently in Illinois and Indiana. He will have a message that should appeal to every American business man and

According to H. H. Fackler, local chairman of the Ohio Wheat Protest Association, "arrangements are complete to handle the thousands that are expected to attend. Additional tables and seats will be moved into the park, and every step is being taken to make the day an enjoyable one."

Mr. Fackler stated that everyone in Plymouth and vicinity is invited, farmer, business man, industrialist — that he believes the speakers will bring messages of hope and encouragement, and of interest to everyone.

POINTS RESIGNS AS MANAGER OF KROGER STORE

After serving eleven years as manager of the Kroger Store in Plymouth, Ar. D. Points resigned his position this week to accept one as an engineer at the Parsell Air Supply Depot, Shelby.

During his association with the Kroger Store, Mr. Points made many friends who regret to learn he will no longer meet them from behind the counter. The Kroger Store has enjoyed a wide patronage since its establishment here, and the firm as well as Mr. Points is held in high esteem.

In announcing his resignation Mr. Points stated "I wish I could personally thank the many patrons in Plymouth and the rural section, who have given me their splendid support. Without this support the store could not have grown in volume of sales such as it has experienced the past few years. I am conscious of the fact that it is only through the continued support, and friendship of my customers, and the assistance of a manager of the store, and I sincerely appreciate the goodwill and cooperation of everyone."

In the years he has been with Kroger's, Mr. Points has supervised a number of local boys as clerks, a few of them are Bill Root, Coral Scott, Edmund Harry, Dick Hampton, Jerry Caywood, Clifford Gebert, Red and Donnie Betts, Eugene Betts and many others. All of these have gone out into their various lines of work, and all are successful in their individual effort.

Mr. Points, before coming to Plymouth was an engineer on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Incidentally, he will do most of his work at the air depot in the city of Plymouth. Locomotive which he will service there.

Mrs. Ethel Reed, who has been a clerk in the store, has been placed in charge of the Plymouth Kroger Store.

2 WEEKS LEFT IN TAXES REMAIN UNPAID

With the Aug. 20 deadline for paying the second half of 1942 real estate tax bills just two weeks away, Richland county Treasurer Charles Payne said today nearly $400,000 is yet to be collected.

Though collections have slowed up during the past week, Payne said he is still hopeful of 100 per cent collection of the $691,843.70 owed the county in real estate taxes and special assessments.

According to the treasurer, $307,878 has already been collected. He warned property owners that a penalty of an additional 10 per cent will be levied against late taxpayers.

Pfc. Wm. Rowe of Camp Perry was a week-end visitor of his mother, Mrs. Wm. Rowe and family.

PETITION PRESENTED TO COUNCIL ASKS FOR REASON OF NARROWING SIDEWALK ON SOUTHSIDE SQUARE

Public Invited to Attend Council Meeting On Next Tuesday Night; Work of Cutting Off Sidewalk Is Approved by Property Owners, Council

At a special meeting held Tuesday night, the mayor and council received a petition with forty signers, and presented by Harry Vandervoort, requesting that the village officials give some definite reason for taking off six feet of the sidewalk on the southeast side of the public square.

That one property owner requested that the alteration be made; That the matter was discussed at the regular meeting of the village council Tuesday night of the judgment of the street committee to take whatever action it deemed necessary;

That no basic reason for cutting six feet off the walk was given, other than— It might relieve motor vehicle traffic;

That store keepers would not have so much walk to sweep, and snow to shove (the village purchased a snow plow last year); That the old concrete was not a good job;

That the property owners signed up to have the alteration made; And that there was almost $5,000 in the general fund which should be spent (and this is one way to do it).

These were the main reasons brought out by the mayor and council Tuesday night in discussing the subject as a result of the petition handed in by Vandervoort.

The council was advised as to the attitude of the majority of the people in Plymouth on the removal of the walk, that it was a detriment rather than an improvement to the Square. However, it was pointed out, inasmuch as the property owners had signed the petition for the removal of the walk, and that the street committee had acted upon their request, members of the council were firm in their determination to go ahead with the project.

Announces Meeting

Mayor Derr announced that a regular meeting of the council would be held next Tuesday evening at which time the public is invited to voice their opposition. In the meantime, he stated that work would proceed on the project. At the close of the discussion Tuesday night, it was voted to buy concrete sufficient for the job, which would cost about $450. In the meantime, the light poles would be moved back, and should arrangements for pouring the concrete be completed before the meeting Tuesday night, this will also proceed. Mayor Derr, when questioned as to the outcome of the meeting to be held on next Tuesday, emphatically stated, public opinion or not, the work will be completed as planned, as it was the desire of the majority of owners on that side of the street.

While some residents are in favor of the narrowing of the walk, a large number of people have registered opposition, and most of all, they're wanting to know the reason for doing it.

VISITS HUSBAND

BOND SALES ARE HOLDING UP

Fear that the new withholding tax for the first time in July might seriously effect war bond sales in Ohio was dispelled today when the state's total sales for the month were compiled.

July series "E" bond sales in Ohio totaled $43,641,000, an increase of approximately $3,000,000 over the $40,643,000 total rung up by Uncle Sam's cash register in June.

Total sales of series "E" bonds for the fiscal year 1942-43 were $506,146,000 as compared to $190,262,000 for the fiscal year 1941-42.

TAX PAYMENTS REPORTED GOOD

Huron County Treasurer H. B. Collier states that real estate taxes are coming fast for the present collection, which covers taxes for the last half 1942.

Attention is again called to the fact that postage must be included for return of the tax receipt.

Royal Morrow Dies At Elyria Hospital

WATKINS PULLS WILD WEST ACT IN MARSH TOWN

Armrnts Watkins, 28, pulled a wild west thriller of real life Sunday, when he showed up at Stambaugh, a newly-born village in the Willard marsh with a shotgun and his pockets filled with shells. He began to cut loose on houses of the settlement. He fired at "occupied" it and some that "were empty," it states. Deputy Sheriffs Willis Sattig and Harry Broome lost no time in arriving at the scene and in a short time placed Watkins under arrest. Officers report Watkins evidently had been drinking. Justice E. S. Miller of Norwalk imposed a fine of $50 and costs. In default of payment, Watkins remained in the county jail.

ABOUT OUR SOLDIER BOYS

Howard Sloan, corporal technician of Ft. Monmouth, N. Y., was at home on pass a few days. He was lucky to celebrate his birthday at home, Monday. Sunday dinner guests at the Sloan home included Miss Margaret Pittenger of Pavia, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Forsythe and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Daup received a cablegram from their son, Elsworth, who is somewhere across. He told them he arrived safe, not to worry, that he was all right and well.

John Reynolds has returned to the States. John and Elsworth had a happy meeting together in Africa. Elsworth's last letter was written June 5th and received by them July 24. So the cablegram was a relief from anxiety.

Mrs. George England received a message from her son Gordon, saying that he would be home on furlough from Camp Carson, Col. Mrs. England kept the news from her husband, and when Gordon called from Mansfield on Monday morning, Mrs. Gordon thought he was talking to a nephew, who was in the army. But when he said, "So long, Dad," Mr. England was completely surprised. It did not take the England family long to reach Mansfield where they joined Gordon and had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ludwig. He will be at home 10 days.

FARMERS WILL LIMIT ACREAGE IN OHIO WHEAT

PRESENT REGULATIONS LET FARMERS JUDGE WHETHER THIS CEREAL OR OTHER CROPS NEEDED MOST.

Ohio farmers, who have been wondering about wheat acreages this Fall are informed by Elmer F. Kruse, chairman of the state AAA committee, that there will be no farm allotments as in previous years, present legislation does not provide for wheat payments in 1944, no marketing quotas will apply, and no AAA payments will be conditioned upon meeting or planting within wheat goals.

National authorities have suggested that farmers of this nation produce 68,000,000 acres of wheat for 1944 harvest but they also suggest that the wheat be grown on land which is best suited for its production but which is not well adapted for the production of more important war crops.

The Ohio AAA committee believes that farmers in this state should have increased acreages of soybeans, feed grains, vegetables, and potatoes in 1944 and that wheat should be planted in such quantities as is consistent with good farming practices. There will be a goal announced for wheat planting soon, but not much change from last year's goal is expected.

Agronomists at Ohio State University strongly advise that every acre of wheat planted in this state in 1943 receive an application for fertilizer. Increases in normal applications are recommended, and the fertilizer is especially important in a grass, or legume seeding is to be made in the wheat.

U. S. BRINGS SUIT IN INDIANA TO COLLECT WHEAT QUOTA PENALTIES FROM FARMER

The Triple-A is bringing action in the Ft. Wayne, Ind. Federal Court to collect the unpaid penalties of the 1941 wheat crop. What is believed to be the first case of its kind in the United States has been filed against Eugene Hodge of Okland, Ind. Mr. Hodge lives in Steuben county.

I. C. Baltzell, of Rt. 6, Decatur, Ind., has also been notified by the district attorney of the Fort Wayne Federal Court that if he does not meet the alleged wheat marketing quota indebtedness suit will be brought against him.

When Mr. Hodge received notice of the court action, he and his friends took the matter up with the National Farmers Guild. The Guild immediately retained Congressman Wm. Lemke as one of the lawyers in the case. A reply seeking additional information has been filed in the District Court by Kenneth Hubbard, an attorney at Angola, who has been engaged by Mr. Hodge.

Mr. Lemke, in the course of the last several months, has carried a case to the Supreme Court, in which he sought an injunction against the wheat penalty. The Supreme Court, just a few days ago, ruled against Mr. Lemke.

According to Oscar Smith, who is editor of the Farmers Guild News, Mr. Hodge says that he never received a Triple-A benefit check. He avers that in 1940-41, he was called upon to meet a substantial hospital bill and made arrangements with his surgeon to pay it in full when he sold his wheat. At wheat harvest, according to Mr. Hodge, he found himself unable to sell his wheat because of the Triple-A marketing quotas and penalties. He explained the situation to his surgeon, and his surgeon, a livestock raiser, agreed to accept the wheat in full settlement of the bill. This was satisfactory to Mr. Hodge, he says, and the transaction was completed accordingly.

Mr. Hodge has now received notice of the government's intention of collecting the penalty.

In the case of I. C. Baltzell, he says that he has received the following letter from the Department of Justice, Alexander M. Campbell, U. S. attorney Northern District of Indiana, at Ft. Wayne:

"It has come to my attention that you are indebted to the U. S. by reason of penalties incurred by you on your farm marketing excess of wheat for the 1941 crop as established under the wheat marketing quota provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended.

"The excess which you produced was 222 bushels at a penalty of 49c per bushel or $108.78, therefore, you are indebted to the U. S. government to the amount of $108.78.

"It is respectfully requested that you either call at the office or forward certified check or money order payable to the Treasurer of the United States in the amount of $108.78, otherwise, I have been instructed by the Department in Washington to institute suit immediately."

Mr. Baltzell says that what was kept by him all the time until this Spring when he hauled it to market. He says that he made a trip to Indianapolis, and personally saw a Mr. Baker in the AAA office, who told him to haul it to market because there was no penalty attached now, as the Department of Agriculture had removed all restrictions.

Mr. Baltzell says that he never gave bond. In presenting his side of the case, he says that, in the first place, they figured his wheat at 23.6 bushels per acre, where it actually made about 13 bushels an acre by weight when it was sold. This wheat, he says, was combined at the time, so he had no idea how much there was all the time it was kept in his own bins on the farm.

In view of the fact that the National Farmers Guild has been interested in the actions to have the wheat penalty declared unconstitutional, it is expected that Mr. Baltzell will consolidate his case with that of Mr. Hodge, so that the actions will follow the same general line.

The farmers of the Middle West will watch with interest the suits, which are being brought, and especially in view of the fact that there is every indication the AAA will lift crop restrictions the coming year because of the great need of food.

NEWS IS BAD FOR INCOME TAXPAYERS

Just when most everyone thought they had the income tax problem solved the government begins issuing notices to some 15,000,000 income taxpayers that Sept. 15 is the deadline for getting up to date in their payments of federal taxes on this year's income. Big weekly withholdings may seem, they do not represent "paid in full" receipts for many taxpayers. If the taxpayer is single and his income is less than $2,000, or married and his income is less than $3,500, he probably is all square thru the withholding feature.

But one-third of the taxpayers are not all-square and on Sept. 15 they must do something about it. They must file a declaration known as form 1042S and enclose a check for half the amount due to make them current. That will take the place of the third quarterly installment formerly paid on that date. The other half will be due on Dec. 15.

CHRISTMAS MAIL OVERSEAS SHOULD BE SENT BY OCT. 15

The War department has designated September 15 to October 15 as the Christmas mailing period for sending packages to soldiers and sailors overseas.

No written requests from men in service will be required to mail Christmas packages to them during that period. The limit on each package will be 5 pounds. The limit in size will be 15 inches in length and 36 inches in total dimensions, length plus girth.

Only one package will be accepted from an individual or concern. No perishable articles may be sent, and sending of fragile articles will be discouraged.

The War department has pointed out that careful observance of its suggestions will be the only way to insure reasonably prompt service in delivering Christmas packages to servicemen overseas.

WAVES Recruiter To Be In Plymouth

Richard C. Sheets of the U. S. Navy's one man Waves recruiting caravan, will visit Plymouth on August 20 and 21.

Sheets bet he could enlist 100 Waves by September 1st and is conducting his drive in 27 towns in Ohio.

His recruiting tent will be located between the Lutheran parsonage and church, where he will be open from 5 p. m. until 3 p. m. the following day.

Sheets recently completed a tour of naval stations throughout the country. He observed the Waves on active duty and is prepared to give this first hand information on to the girls here.

Girls who meet the following requirements are eligible to join the Waves. Sheets said, and are asked to drop in for a friendly chat when he is here:

- (1) Be between 20-36 years of age, have 2 years of high school or its equivalent and do not have any children under 16 years of age.

CONTRACTOR, 36, TAKEN BY DEATH

James E. Clawson, 36, Tiro contractor, died Tuesday in the Shelby Memorial hospital, following a brief illness.

He was a member of the Tiro school board and the Lutheran church.

Surviving are his widow, Thelma, two sons, Roy and Keith, and a daughter, all at home; his mother, Mrs. Bessie Clawson, a sister, Mrs. Richard Starret, and a brother, Paul all Shelby.

The body was removed to the Bardkull funeral home in Shelby, pending funeral arrangements.

Hunting Digests Ready

Small pamphlets, giving a digest of the new hunting regulations for this fall and winter are now available, according to the Ohio division of conservation and natural resources.

The new hunting licenses, being printed now, and will be distributed to the license agents throughout the state within a short time, according to conservation commissioner Don Waters.

GRAPES ARE HIT

Grape growers who earlier in the season reported that prospects for bumper crop were bright are a little too optimistic now as "black rot" has infested the crop.

Local growers haven't had trouble with this disease for a number of years, but recent high temperatures and mild humidity have brought about a comeback of the pest with a great portion of this year's crop lost as a result according to the county agricultural extension agent.

Mrs. Earl Hankammer and Miss Virginia Cole attended the funeral of her brother, Arthur McPherson at North Fairfield, Friday afternoon.

PICK-POCKET VICTIM

Thomas Thrush, formerly of Plymouth, but now of Mansfield reported to Mansfield police Sunday that his billfold containing $20 was stolen as he was leaving an Erie train at the Union station. Police were given the description of two suspects who left the train in Mansfield and walked south on Diamond street from the depot.

That Week in Washington

Washington, D. C. -- (NWN) -- From now on, practically anything the President says will be interpreted from the viewpoint of its political implications--his relationship to fourth term ambitions.

This was made obvious following the President's recent address to the nation when he outlined what he would recommend be done to help the men in the armed services when they are mustered out. He recommended: (1) mustering-out pay large enough to take care of a soldier's needs for a reasonable time while looking for a job; (2) government-paid education; (3) unemployment insurance; (4) credit under old-age insurance for the time the men were in the service; (5) liberalized medical care for the disabled; (6) pensions for the disabled.

Although the plan seems to have been well accepted by the people, members of congress and spokesmen for groups of anti-New Dealers immediately interpreted this outline as a bid for votes from millions of soldiers and their families and relatives.

Harrison Spangler, chairman of the Republican national committee, expressed the views of most political opponents of the President's when he said:

"The president's proposal is a major report on the war situation, he made a straight-out political speech and would bid for the vote of our soldiers and sailors who are risking their lives for freedom. . . . Every citizen determined to give care of these returning heroes. . . . It will be the nation that does it and not the personal benevolence of the President."

On the other hand, the Republicans, led by Senator Lodge, have been busy in some time to take action to make adequate plans for taking care of the returning soldiers. So the New Dealers feel the present Republican attitude is particularly "sour grapes" because the President got the jump on them in forecasting term ambitions.

But there is little doubt left that the President is considering running for a fourth term and with that being the case, it is only natural that political implications will be seen in all moves he makes from now on. Few people have found much to criticize about the actual plan he presented for taking care of our armed forces, but from the political viewpoint, if the plan is carried out and credited to the President, it cannot help but be a powerful vote-producer.

While the President may have amassed many potential votes by this step, political analysts here figured that he has lost a lot of ground over the widespread publicity given to the OWI broadcast in which the conservative OWI attacked the present government of Italy when peace moves were being made.

This attack brought to light the fact that OWI's foreign branch has been quoting fictitious characters in its broadcasts. It was embarrassing the governments of occupied countries, and has, at least in some places, been interpreted as anti-propaganda for truth. This has raised suspicion on the whole OWI set-up and on the President for permitting such a scheme to go on.

The present investigation of OWI's activities by a congressional committee is expected to light the fire for the public for some time and there will probably be increased fireworks when congress reconvenes. Since the OWI has worked so closely with the President, much has been said for the fallings will fall on his shoulders.

MISS LELIA E. PRESTON BECOMES BRIDE OF CORP. JOHN D. BROWN IN HOME CEREMONY AT CANTON, OHIO

In a quiet home wedding, before a fireplace decorated with two large vases of gladioli and roses in pastel shades, nuptial vows were exchanged by T/Cpl. John D. Brown and Miss Lelia Preston, on Tuesday evening, August 3, at 7:30 p. m. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Hilborn, 300 Raff rd., N. W. Canton, O. The single ring ceremony was read by Rev. Tom B. Homrighausen, pastor of Zion Evangelical Lutheran church, Canton. Proceeding and during the ceremony, several piano selections, including Lohengrin's wedding march were given by Mrs. Homrighausen.

The bride wore a powder blue street length frock with white blue accessories, and her corsage was of pink rose buds and baby breath. She chose as her attendant, her sister, Mrs. Glenn E. Miller of Mansfield, who wore a pale rose street length frock with navy blue accessories, and a corsage of pale orchid larkspur and baby breath. Ralph Brown of Coville, brother of the groom, served as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Hilborn. The table was decorated with a large wedding cake, with white tapers and summer flowers. Later in the evening the couple left for a short wedding trip.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Perry Preston, R. D. Shelby. She is a graduate of Plymouth high school and the Canton Academy of Beauty Culture, and is employed at the Richard's Beauty Shoppe in Canton. Thursday evening, Mrs. J. O. Schreck, Mrs. Robert Schreck and daughter, Phyllis motored to Pittsburg for a picnic supper. They were joined by the Misses Dorothy Schreck, Leona Taylor, Mildred Dowsing of Mansfield and Helen Lyman of Crestline for the picnic.

GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. Grace Dick was hostess to thirteen members and guests of the Plymouth Garden Club Friday evening, Aug. 6, at her home on W. Broadway. Mrs. Bartholomew, the president, directed a short business meeting in which plans for helping with the Victory Show to be held in Mansfield, Sept. 11 and 12th were discussed.

Mrs. Harriet Robinson was the leader for the evening. Her subject was "Trees". Trees of this community, as well as in other sections of the country, were discussed and pictures of the same were displayed.

The roll call was a poem about a tree. The next meeting will be the annual corn roast at the home of Mrs. Chaffield in two weeks.

Worship services at 10:30. The subject for Sunday's sermon is "Be patient", based upon James 5:7-10.

What is patience? Patience is not silence which bears without strength; it is not an inner weakness in which the will is silent because the course is too difficult; patience is not the giving up of the struggle; it is not a resignation; it is not a suffering from day to day. To the contrary, patience is courage which finds new paths through the thorns that beset the way; patience takes the load which God has laid upon the shoulders and does not sink beneath the same but rather lifts it up.

It is encouraging to note that the summer attendance is increasing. "A silent angel passes throughout our earthly land

The First Evangelical Lutheran church is sponsoring an ice cream social to be held Saturday evening, August 21st on the church lawn. A committee is busy to get ready for the social.

Crop Production Hinges on Many Factors

By L. G. ELLIOTT
President, LaSalle Extension University.

The success of the 1943 farm program will be gauged solely upon the single standard of the quantity of farm products which find their way into the designated channels for food consumption and industrial use. At the present time, growing conditions are quite satisfactory with crops estimated at about 10 per cent above the average of recent years. Anticipating this, two factors have influenced this fine showing. Weather conditions improved materially following the excessively wet spring, but this alone would not have resulted in the encouraging output, had it not been for the almost superhuman efforts put forth by American farmers.

Two handicaps which farmers have seen hard to overcome were the shortages of farm help and of machinery and equipment. Employment on farms has dropped almost a quarter of a million since a year ago, and this shortage is going to have its greatest effect upon the harvesting of crops. In many communities, the available labor supply is scarcely large enough to harvest all crops unless the farmer employs this labor. They have had to raise crops more and have increased their output, but this has been at the expense of their own health and that of their families. The increase since a year ago amounts to 10 per cent, with the greatest gains in cattle and hogs. They have increased more rapidly than supplies of feed and have increased the amount of milk for each animal will be lowest in eight years. Heavier marketings of livestock are likely to result. Production of dairy and poultry products has been holding up unusually well, with the greatest gains in cattle and hogs. They have increased more rapidly than supplies of feed and have increased the amount of milk for each animal will be lowest in eight years. Heavier marketings of livestock are likely to result. Production of dairy and poultry products has been holding up unusually well, with the greatest gains in cattle and hogs. Costs, Wages, and Prices Up
Farm costs are steadily rising and have increased 10 to 15 per cent during the last 12 months. Farm wage rates have risen 30 per cent. To meet these added costs, farmers are receiving close to 20 per cent higher prices and they have had larger quantities of products to sell. Total farm income this year will probably break all previous records, and may be as much as 20 per cent higher than last year.

In addition to the physical handicaps of getting the crops

DALE CARNEGIE "How to Win Friends and Influence People"

PLAY UP YOUR GOOD POINTS The following letter from Mrs. R. B. Sterling of Durham, N. C., is entered in the contest on "How to Cure an Inferior Complex."

"I realized early that my singing was far inferior to that of some of my friends. Although I enjoyed playing and singing, I trembled with fear at the thought of an audience.

"One day in college, the teacher of one of our required music courses announced: 'The voice of each of you will be put to a test. Those who pass must teach a song to this group as though teaching to children.' My name was called and my heart pounded like a hammer. Five minutes later I was terrified to learn that I had passed the test.

"Out of my dark cloud a ray of hope broke through. I had often told stories to my groups who showed a great deal of interest. I would use my story telling ability to hide that I was not a Jenny Lind.

"At last the dreaded day arrived. I had worked a song into an original story in such way that the students learned it without realizing whether I was a good singer or not.

"The teacher praised my accomplishment and presented the nightmare of singing to society. I did not want to use the same method the second time.

"Drawing was a hobby I had been keeping in the background. I was soon able to swing lines in rhythm to a milking song, so that I had a cow drawn on the blackboard by the time the song was finished.

"On the day I was to teach it, I sat in the back of an auditorium that I thought was practicing drawing a cow as I silently sang to myself. A voice said 'Very good. Let me see you draw a jardiniere.' I looked around and saw a strange woman. After a quick sketch of the jardiniere, she asked me to draw a stone fireplace. Then she told me she was there to coach the senior play. She explained that the artist who was to paint the scenery was ill. They were planning to engage another, but she wanted me to try for the job by painting small pictures of some of the things that were to materialize later in larger proportions. In two days, I went to work on my first job.

"Since then, I have received a diploma from one of our outstanding art schools. To that teacher I owe this lesson: Play up your good points to the best advantage in the background; add determination, politeness, and faith in yourself."

FDR'S BEWILDERMENT

In his last radio talk, the President said: "I confess that I myself am sometimes bewildered by conflicting statements that I see in the press. One day I read an authoritative statement that we shall win this year, 1943—and the next day comes another statement equally 'authoritative' that the war will still be going on in 1949."

The President could have given plenty of additional examples of this confusion. But it should be remembered that the newspaper reporters do not make up these conflicting statements. They merely do an honest reporting job of telling what those in power in Washington have to say. It is discouraging to the press to have to report one day that gasoline rationing will be relaxed and the next day that it will be tightened. But it is the duty of the press to publish the reports if both come from men who are supposed to be in authority.

POST-WAR IDEAS NEEDED

In Washington, in most of the major cities, and among industrial groups there are countless committees and organizations which are working on the complicated subject of post-war planning. What plan will win out and how the various groups will work together is still a question, but in all the post-war planning there is a notable absence of suggestions coming from farm and rural areas.

When the war is over, the prosperity of the nation may well hinge on the working arrangement that is set up between industry and the farmers, since the government and farmers. If the post-war plans are worked out to give farmers the opportunity to operate at a reasonable profit the possibilities of a major depression will be lessened.

Since farmers, and the small businesses in rural areas, will play such an important part in determining post-war conditions, it is essential that they give more thought than they have given so far to the problem of what they want and what they can reasonably expect after the war.

FARM BOYS AND GIRLS HIGH SPOTS IN HURON CO. FAIR

Norwalk, O. — Farm boys and girls are expected to give their elders a "run for their money" when it comes to attracting interest at the coming Huron County Fair here Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, 2, 3, and 4.

A few years ago, in order to create increased interest in the fair, on the part of farm boys and girls, a special department known as the "Junior Fair" was created. Under the Junior Fair banner were grouped such departments as boys and girls 4-H clubs, FFA or vocational agriculture, vocational economics and juvenile granges. In addition, this year there will be the school department and the boys scouts and girl scouts departments.

Incidentally, 4-H club boys, as well as the FFA boys, may also enter their exhibits in the open classes by paying only a one dollar fee. The 4-H club boys will compete for one of the 15 places as delegates to the boys' and girls club congress at Columbus later in the year.

Delegates to the congress are sponsored by various county farms. The Willard Union Bank, Willard, sponsoring one delegate; the North Fairfield branch and Greenwich branch of the Willard Bank, each sponsoring one delegate; Kent-Bur-Ed Post, Norwalk American Legion Post, sponsoring two delegates; Tony's Bakery, Fremont, five delegates; Huron County Farm Bureau, one delegate; and four Sandagets bank sponsored from 4-H club funds.

Exhibits in the 4-H club department include farm projects; pig raising projects; poultry and egg projects; and sheep projects.

CHAPTER IV Jane, a fashion artist, shares an apartment in London with her WAFF. The night before entering service she walks away from the station and collides with a lieutenant of the RAF. She accepts his invitation to dinner and refuses to leave. Her training finished, Jane is assigned to an airbase where she meets a station. Meeting by accident, he asks her to marry him. She sets his hair pulled some wires to stop to let her see him. She is shocked to see him. She is shocked to see him. She is shocked to see him.

"How do you do?" Iris Stanton smiled brilliantly. "Miss Lambolt is at the station alone to see us, Tips." "Really? You must bring her along to see us, Tips." "Thank you," murmured Jane politely.

Mrs. Stanton turned back again to her desk. "I must stop any longer now. But I'll be seeing you soon. Sunnildans is the name of the place to come in. Come in tomorrow evening for a cocktail." "I'll see, Iris. I'm not certain. I'll give you my card."

She made a little face at him and swept away with a short good-bye. "I don't know what you mean to me. But I'll be seeing you soon. Sunnildans is the name of the place to come in. Come in tomorrow evening for a cocktail." "I'll see, Iris. I'm not certain. I'll give you my card."

CAMPAIGN TO ENLIST 100 WAVES IS ON; PLYMOUTH ASKED TO AID

100 WAVES OR ELSE—Lieutenant Commander Ralph H. Dombey, navy recruiting head in northeastern Ohio, sternly points to the cap Richard C.

A sailor in Cleveland is not content with having "a girl in every port" and is hopeful of getting three or four girls in each of 27 towns in northeastern Ohio.

The reason for this sea-going man's discontent is because "he blabbed when a friend and not a foe was listening."

And he's plenty worried, too, for he has the job of recruiting 100 WAVES—girls serving in the women's naval reserve—by Sept. 1st or eating his sailor cap in the presence of his commanding officer, should he fail.

But how did this situation arise between the sailor, Richard C. Sheets, petty officer, first class, and his boss, Lieutenant Commander, Ralph H. Dombey, head of the Navy Recruiting Station in Cleveland?

Well, one night a while back, as is the custom at the navy recruiting station, the sailors got together after regular hours to discuss the war, the latest rumors dealing with transfers, promotions, et cetera.

When the talk turned to women in military service it was agreed that it really was a job trying to get women to don uniforms.

Sheets disagreed. He contended there was no problem if one went about it in the right way. Then he made his now-famous remark:

"Why, I'd eat my hat if I couldn't get a hundred WAVES in a month!"

Standing inconspicuously near by was Lieutenant Commander Dombey, who overheard the remark and came back with "I'll take you up on that. Let's see you do it!"

So there you are girls, you can really help a sailor in distress.

You girls can be among the 100 WAVES Sheets is out to enlist, for he is going to visit 27 cities in Ohio and Plymouth is one of the towns included in his tour.

Sheets, left, petty officer, first class, will have to eat—as per their bet—if he doesn't enlist 100 Waves by September 1st.

He will be here on Aug. 20. Sheets realized that he has a big job on his hands and has appealed to the American Legion in Plymouth to help him out.

As a result, Frank J. Weck, Commander of Legion Post No. 447 is making arrangements to set up a recruiting tent for Sailors or Sheets when he cruises into town and is also out rounding up prospects for him.

FARMERS DO MOST OF THEIR OWN WORK

Placement of workers from Jamaica, Ala., or other distant points on Ohio farms attracts public attention, but Guy Dowdy, supervisor of the Ohio extension service farm labor program, says that, when all the accounts are totaled up at the end of the crop year, 90 per cent or more of the farm work will have been done by permanent residents of Ohio.

The help given by the imported workmen is appreciated and will be used to the greatest possible extent. However, completing the fall harvests on time will depend upon obtaining help from school children or other residents of nearby towns. Corn harvesting will be the highest problem.

HARVEST SHOW TO BE HELD IN MANSFIELD, O.

Victory Garden Harvest Shows will be held again this year throughout the country. They will come as a logical sequence to the twenty million Victory Gardeners which are at this moment working to improve the food situation. These shows have great war-time value, not only for the purpose stimulating interest in the Victory Garden movement, but also to raise money for the benefit of our armed forces and the emergency needs of their families, as at least 85 per cent of the money raised through ticket sales will go for this purpose.

This year, Richland county is participating in this patriotic movement and will hold a Harvest Show at the Mansfield Armory on Sept. 11-12 in conjunction with the National War Fund, Inc. The necessary funds to finance this show are being raised partly through civic clubs, merchants and industrial plants throughout the county.

The schedule for the show will be off the press soon, and will include a varied list of vegetables and flowers.

The county Victory Garden

Show committee urge every patriotic American to support this movement by entering as many classes as possible.

County Housewives Urged To Increase Daily Fat Salvage
One table-spoonful of waste household fats saved every day by each of Richland county's 20,514 families during the second year of the WFB fat salvage campaign would provide enough glycerin to make 864,672 anti-aircraft shells, it was estimated today by the largest single collector of this vitally-needed war material.
Indications are that nationwide results of the campaign's initial year, ending the first week in July, totalled more than 65,000,000 pounds of household fats, based on OWI reports for the first eleven months. This is one-third of the annual quota for the nation of 200,000,000 pounds.
Ohio is asked by the government to salvage 1,097,000 pounds of fats each month.
