

NEW GAS RULES NOW EFFECTIVE

"New Gasoline regulations will not prevent farmers and others from attending the Huron county fair," said Edgar Tucker, chairman of the mileage panel of the Huron County Rationing Board, today. The new rules became effective at midnight Sunday night, Aug. 15th and all A, B, and C gasoline stamps are now worth 3 gallons instead of four. The motorist who operates on an A Book only has 180 miles a month for his use and there is no restriction on that use. He may accumulate his use two months supply of ration stamps and make a trip as far as 180 miles from home without question.

Holders of B and C ration books are now required to use gasoline from their A Books for 60 miles each month for their business or occupational use and this leaves 120 miles per month for any personal desire. (Formerly B and C motorists had only 90 miles a month for personal use.) In this area there are no restrictions on this personal use. He may accumulate B or C rations may be 120 miles away from home without question if they have saved up their rations for a special trip. The new rules reduce salesmen and agents and all persons who use their cars in course of their non-essential occupations to a total of 600 miles per month—480 for business and 120 for pleasure. When their current rations expire an adjustment will be made on this basis by giving them two B books containing a total of 28 stamps worth 3 gallons each for a three month period.

Employees of essential war plant plants will be able to obtain necessary gasoline to get to and from work provided that they participate in a full share of the plan. These rations are handled through the plant transportation committee established in each essential plant with more than 100 employees. All renewals and adjustments must be made through these plant committees.

Farmers will continue to receive the mileage necessary to operate their farms and harvest their crops. All persons holding the old style B and C stamps that have not expired on August 31, will be required to mail the stamps or bring them to the Board office to be traded for new stamps. The new stamps read "Mileage Ration B or C and the holder must immediately write his license number and state of registration on the face of each stamp. The Huron County Board has been issuing the new type stamps for the past six weeks and a few persons in a recent exchange noticed. Farmers who have 100 gallon bulk coupons must use them before September 1st or come in and exchange them.

NEW BOOTHS AT BLACK & GOLD

One of the most outstanding improvements made in any business place in Plymouth in recent years, was the installation of new booths at the Black & Gold Soda Grill, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Cornell.

The booths consist of a black-top dull finish table, bordered by chrome trimming, with a mirror mounted on the wall-end of the table, partially illuminated by a bank of light.

The seats are of leather, with chrome trimming; a high back, and a wide band of cream coming down through the center.

In beauty, design, and best appearance, the booths are the last word in fixtures. The colors of blue and cream are featured through out, with chrome trimming neatly placed at the proper places.

With the installation of these booths, which have a seating capacity of thirty-two people, the Black & Gold offers a place of comfort and enjoyment when visiting this well-known store.

Both, Mr. and Mrs. Cornell are to be commended for this extensive improvement, and the best of everyone go with them in their effort to give Plymouth an outstanding soda grill.

What's Happening in the Dark?

Souvenirs From Africa, Sent By Ben Smith, Are Received By His Parents

A tea set from North Africa arrived this week for Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Smith, a gift from their son, Ben, who is now in Sicily, but had ordered the set which he had seen made by the natives while still in Africa. It consists of 12 cups, saucers, sugar creamer and teapot, all of brown earthenware with decorations of snakes. There was also an ornamental camel, possibly a palm-holder, with its tongue hanging out—no doubt thirsty from its long trip.

With the exception of one cup, the box arrived in perfect condition. It was packed with straw in a wooden ply box within a matting hand bag. On top of all the packing was a May 13 issue of the Plymouth Advertiser, conclusive proof that the boys do receive some of the home town papers.

On Tuesday of this week another box arrived and its contents consisted of a leather wallet, cigarette holder, hand bag, several Nazi decorations or insignia, post cards from Oran, a pair of German goggles, a pipe and smoke set of polished wood. There was also several rolls of exposed film.

Mrs. Smith is keeping a scrap book of all Ben's letters, pictures and clippings which will give him a complete record of dates, trips, etc., to keep as souvenirs when he returns home.

COMPLAINTS ARE TURNED IN

Two complaints were registered with the village council at its mid-month meeting Tuesday evening. One was a petition with the number of signatures, asking that the local elevator be restrained from allowing the accumulation of corn cobs, which deteriorate, causing a foul odor, and that the dust from the corn sheller be eliminated.

The other complaint was registered by a resident of Trux street, who states that a sewer odor is very prominent. Both complaints were referred to the proper committees.

Increase Salaries
An ordinance was passed and approved increasing the salaries of members of the board of Public Affairs. The increase is set at $5.00 per meeting with not more than 12 meetings held per year. The ordinance becomes effective the first of the year.

Nearing Completion
Work of narrowing the walk on the south side of the Square is well under way. All the excavating is finished, and workmen are busy moving over curbs, laying new water lines, and placing the light poles into their new position.

GRADUATES

SGT. GENE F. CORNELL COMPLETES COURSE IN GUNNERY.
FORT MYERS, Fla.—Sgt. Gene F. Cornell, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Cornell, public square, Plymouth, was graduated Monday from the army air forces' Flexible Gunnery school at Fort Myers, Fla.

Now qualified as an aerial gunner, he will become a member of one of the thousands of bomber crews which will be sent overseas in a few weeks, to battle the Nazis or the Japs somewhere "over there". He will receive his crew training at an operational training field in the United States.

Hundreds of gunners are graduated each week from the school, located near Fort Myers. The course lasts only six weeks and covers everything from BB and skeet shooting to firing from the power-operated turret of a large twin-engine bomber on special missions over the Gulf of Mexico.

Sgt. Cornell entered the Army ten months ago, having been employed at the Clover Farm Store. He is a graduate of the advanced airplane mechanic's school at the Douglas Aircraft factory in Santa Monica, Calif.

MANY ATTEND WHEAT PICNIC

An estimated 3200 were present for the annual Farmers' picnic held Sunday at the Mary Faye Park in Plymouth. Out of this number there were 1,000 noon picnickers who brought their basket lunches.

It was reported that six OPA checkers were on the ground up to noon, checking the licenses of automobiles.

Opening the program was Congressman Frances Bolton of Cleveland, past and present, and pleading for freedom of the farmer from federal meddling. The farmer, she said, must be permitted to manage his own farm since he knows best what it is good for.

J. Harry McGregor, representative from the 17th district, appeared on the program, and he gave a brief outline of the results of his round table discussions held in this district. Congressman McGregor brought out interesting facts and figures the few minutes in which he spoke. Since he had been speaking throughout his district he said he would give the major part of the time to the other speakers.

Opening his speech with a scathing criticism of the Office of Price Administration, William Lemke told in a dramatic way the confusion that government bantam has caused, not only in our civilian life, but the hindrance to the war effort Congressman Lemke, the main speaker, directed his remarks chiefly in protest to administration practices. Inflation, he said, has come about through the abundance of paper money printed and circulated by the federal government, directly in opposition to its supposed policy.

Lemke, while criticizing the administration, offered post war plans which are designed to eliminate government waste and practices.

The Ganges Band was on hand and rendered a program of good music. Boy Scouts served ice cream and refreshments, and the articles were in one section of the word, but deep in the heart of those farmers that were present, it was a solemn affair, dealing with a fight to retain their individual freedom as well as that of their country.

Due to the tremendous task of taking down the speeches in shorthand and transcribing them, it was practically impossible for Mrs. C. M. Loftin, who volunteered to do the job at the last minute, to get them ready in time for this week's edition. However, the speeches will be published in full next week.

Chairman H. H. Fackler wishes to extend his thanks to everyone who assisted in any way in making the meeting a real success.

MUST SUBMIT REPORTS OF ATTENDANCE

The official who makes reports of average daily attendance of pupils in the public schools must submit the attendance reports of pupils who are non-residents of the district and for which no contract for tuition has been made with the school district of residence. This was the subject of this week of Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert, in an opinion to Frederick R. Parker, Williams county prosecutor.

The Director of Education in allocating school foundation funds can not give credit to a school district for attendance of non-residence pupils unless a contract be made with the school district of residence of the parents.

WORKERS AT DEPOT
The Parcel Air Supply Depot continues to draw from Plymouth a large number of women workmen. Those who recently accepted positions are Mrs. Jack Holland, Mrs. Sam Fenners, Mrs. Emerson Shields and Mrs. Ruby Young.

ON TRIP
S/Sgt. Earl Cashman and Sgt. Robert Baker, formerly of Shelby, are on a trip to the Grand Canyon.

Around the Square

(By Phineas Whittegood)

DID YOU start the gas stove in the front room? It's almost like Fall, but today the weather is warming up—much to our satisfaction!

RICHARD HENDRICKS, formerly of the Hitching Post, but now in the Army, was home for a ten-day furlough. Dick found everything in Plymouth quite as usual, but missed the many faces that used to be around the Square. He left Monday for his camp in Camp Polk, La.

WHEN I ASKED LuVier Barber if he was worrying over going to the army this month, he replied: Why should I be—ten million men are in and doing OK, and there's no reason why I can't get along? That's Barber's natural spirit, in fun and work—no worry at no time!

READING The Advertiser by candle light is really something and thousands of miles away from home are in and doing OK, and there's no reason why I can't get along? That's Barber's natural spirit, in fun and work—no worry at no time!

FOUR CARS of wheat have been shipped so far this season by the Plymouth Elevator, in comparison with eight cars for the same period last year. Manager John Ganesh says that wheat is off in quality this year, and that production is lagging behind. Ganzhorn also stated that corn in this section will be about half a crop, which means are almost a complete failure.

PLYMOUTH FRIENDS of the Donald Dunham will be interested in knowing that they are now at Mineral Wells, Texas. Sounds like a health resort, and we hear that Mr. Dunham has announced that he will be back in Plymouth in the fall.

ON A LITTLE SERVICE Station away out on the edge of a western desert there hangs a shingle, bearing the strange legend: "Don't ask us for information. If we knew anything we wouldn't be here."

SCRAP COLLECTION
Don Ensel, local Scoutmaster, announced that he will be starting collection of old paper, iron, tin cans, old grease, etc., on Thursday, August 26.

It has been some time since the Boy Scouts have made a house to house canvass and you are urged to cooperate in the forthcoming drive by having all scrap ready for pick-up.

Because a number of the boys are working in war plants, it is very likely that the drive will run into the early evening hours. A definite program is being set up for the boys on a trip to the Grand Canyon.

NO SECRETS

Dear Bill and Gang:

Just writing a little verse to let you know we're all well. Can't write a thing, the censor's to blame.

Just say that I'm well and sign my name.

Can't tell where we sail from, Can't mention the date. And can't even number the meals that I "ate".

Can't say where we're going, don't know where we'll land, Couldn't inform you if met by a band.

Can't mention weather, can't say if there's rain.

All military secrets must remain. Can't have a flashlight to guide me at night.

Can't smoke cigarettes except out of sight.

Can't keep a diary for such a sin.

Can't keep the envelopes your letters come in.

Can't say for sure, just what I can write, so here we'll land, I'll call this a letter, and close with "Good Night".

Yours,
"Al Mincin."

Children's Care Problem. — Greatest of the modern confronting the nation with the employment of women is that involving the care of children. Many mothers at work. In this, the problem is not so much one of providing for their education in school hours, playmates or shows can take up much of the young child's time, but the big problem is a social one, that of what influence will haphazard care have on the children in these formative years?

The problem, of course, has affected the women themselves the most; and it is for them generally who are exercising the utmost common sense in their solution of this difficulty as they fill the present emergency manpower gap.

Women Forge Weapons For Nation's Army

Over 15 Million Help Keep U. S. 'Arsenal of Democracy'

To the American women has fallen the task of beating our ploughshares into swords!

From the ranks of the one-time weaker sex have risen the "Rosie-the-Riveters" who have picked up in industry where the men entering the service left off, and are aiding in maintaining this country's record production program.

Recently, the war manpower commission estimated that over 15 million women were working, with 14 million in non-agricultural occupations. With a full utilization of the reserve of women, more than 17 million are expected to be employed by the end of the year.

In themselves, the figures tell the story of women's inestimable importance to the war effort. Without the volume of their employment, it becomes easy to see how impossible it would have been for the government to build up an army of the present size and at the same time remain the "arsenal of democracy."

In getting into industry in such huge numbers, women have taken on all kinds of work. Recent statistics show that during a one-year period employment of women increased 69 per cent in industry; 184 per cent in aircraft; 62 per cent in chemicals and allied industries; 50 per cent in electrical machinery; 36 per cent in iron and steel, and 164 per cent in shipbuilding and repair.

Take Hard Jobs.

In taking jobs in these industries, women have not shied from traditionally "fit" occupations, but on the other hand, have undertaken some of the hardest tasks. Mechanical equipment has relieved much of the burden of some of these tasks, but they still require exertion and have been looked upon strictly as men's jobs.

Take the shipyards, for instance. Here, 48 hours a week is common, and in some sections, women have been putting in as many as 50 hours.

The work is strenuous and dirty. All women wear safety helmets, goggles and high, heavy shoes with safety toes and low heels. Under their helmets, the women must wear some device for holding back stray locks. In cold weather, burners and welders don leather overalls and jackets to protect them from sparks.

Comparing with this kind of work in strenuousness is the labor being undertaken by some women in the railroad industry. Some have been spading and swinging heavy hammers along the right-of-ways fixing rail beds, work formerly reserved for the toughest and strongest behemoths. Others are doing less exhaustive chores, but nevertheless chores once done by men alone such as cleaning the exterior of coaches, etc.

In many plants, women have been operating gigantic cranes, which pick up heavy bars and sheets and swing them along the production line. Although inventive developments have reduced the operations of these machines almost to a matter of pressing a button, their management by women was unheard of before the war.

In many of the industries, most popular use of women has been for inspection or testing. Not only is the machinery for these occupations suitable for operation by women, but they also possess the extreme patience required.

Cover Many Fields.

Women are working in other fields besides industry to fill the gaping manpower holes. In Baltimore, Md., for instance, women are street cleaning; in Waterloo, Iowa, they are collecting garbage, and in Los Angeles, men were solely employed in street cleaning. Hereafter, however, they were so employed because they were stiffer manual labor and a well-grounded business knowledge.

Because of the manpower shortage, bus and streetcar lines are gradually being taken over by women. In San Francisco, Toledo, New Orleans, Charleston, Detroit and Cleveland large numbers of women are operating buses and streetcars. A large permiting women to operate buses and streetcars is the policy adopted by the St. Petersburg, Fla., civil service commission, and 21 operators are already certified for the position.

In New York city 27 women were employed recently for the first time as signmakers for the city's rapid transit system. Another 100 employ women entirely on their streets, even doing the manual work of Paul and Minneapolis already by six women pushing streetcars.

Dallas lost 128 motorized and wartime rationing boosted traffic on the common carriers 56 per cent. Given the same conditions and seniority as men operators, the women have been specially trained to do a man's job in the city's transportation system, the association reported.

This same city will probably join other municipalities with women as police officers. Formerly retired policemen and firemen have been safeguarding children at school intersections, but with the exhaustion of this source of labor, women will be recruited for traffic duty.

Women are now employed in four states and seven cities to repair and police personnel. Asheville, N. C., women handle all traffic at school crossings, and women selected by the Tennessee Valley authority for public safety officers training school will be on duty at its project.

Connecticut and Rhode Island women police have been trained at the New York City Police academy. Their work includes investigation of crimes and arrests involving women and minors, investigations of public places and enforcement of laws to protect morals of women and children, supervision of parolees and taking custody of delinquents and wayward children.

Chicago's Park District police department has used 50 women service guards in the first year at school and church crossings and to direct traffic and guard cars in municipal parking lots. This city also has employed 400 women as florists, gardeners, storekeepers, assistants and serving personnel and laborers for the park district.

Children's Care Problem. — Greatest of the modern confronting the nation with the employment of women is that involving the care of children. Many mothers at work. In this, the problem is not so much one of providing for their education in school hours, playmates or shows can take up much of the young child's time, but the big problem is a social one, that of what influence will haphazard care have on the children in these formative years?

P. H. Root Returns From Trip To Notre Dame, de Laus, Quebec

By P. H. Root

This French Canadian town of 250 population is an interesting and friendly place to visit. It is situated fifty miles north of Buckingham, the nearest railroad and doctor.

It is surrounded by mountains and numerous lakes, which empty into the Lievre river, about 300 feet wide and which passes through the town.

These French people are great drinkers of ale and in the evening gather in the hotel to drink several bottles each, yet you never see anyone drunk. The majority of the French are stout and look undernourished, but a few of them are big fellows. There are very few good looking girls or women. I would vote the barber's wife the best looking blonde in town, but there are few blondes.

You can get a shave for ten cents and a haircut for a quarter, and the barber is a good one, a Mr. St. Denis. Next to the barber's chair is the ice cream cabinet and candy counter. In the rear is a pool table, where you can kill time at 5 cents a game. The country is easy going and what little money they get comes mostly from lumbering, which is in great demand. The poverty is terrible and farming seems a bare existence with many farms abandoned. Many log houses are seen, usually whitewashed. The women are neat and clean. Every home has its flowers, many of them planted in buckets, cans or old range boilers, cut in two.

You get eleven dollars of Canadian money for a U. S. ten dollar bill. Radies are taxed $2.50 a year, but you don't hear them telling you to take Carter's Little Liver Pills, (you take them without being told after living on some of his north west cooking. The eats are fair considering what you pay. Their apple pies are about 5-8 inches thick.

The Lievre river flows past the rear of the hotel and thousands of logs are floated down to Buckingham, where they are ground into pulp for paper. The plumbings in the hotel is atrocious and the French are not much on mechanics. One old bath tub and no warm water connected. Their cemetery is located on top of a hill and the ground is covered with wild strawberries and weeds. Half of the markers are wooden crosses, a few of cast iron and some of 3-8 inch rod. There are ninety-one steps leading up to it and a road at the rear. The cemetery school houses are built with a large wood shed connected to the "Chic Sale", all under one roof. Not a bad idea as it gets 50 degrees below up here.

Attendants for the bride were Miss Jacqueline Weigler, maid of honor, Miss Eleanor and Eloise Piper, bridesmaids, and Mrs. Trago. The bridesmaids wore marquisette over taffeta. The formal dresses had yokes edged in Chantilly lace and the same trimming repeated at the edge of the low waistline and below the elbow sleeves. The bridesmaids were dressed in Empress blue and the maid of honor wore Picardy, completing their ensembles were Juliet type caps edged with Chantilly lace which matched the dresses. They wore double strands of pearls, gifts from the bride.

Ferns and palms formed a pretty background for the two large beauty baskets of gladioli in the pastel shades. Two seven branch candelabra illuminated the scene.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Helen Heston, whose selections were "Liebtraum," "O Promise Me," "Intermezzo," "Indian Love Call," and "Evening Star." The soloist was Miss Wanda Hess, who sang "Because," and "At Dawning." The wedding marches were played by Mrs. Heston.

The bride's flowers were white roses combined with white gladioli and swansonia. Miss Weigler carried a bouquet of Picardy glads, purple asters and swansonia, and the Misses Piper's flowers were Picardy glads, lavender asters and swansonia.

Approaching the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, Miss Ruckman wore a duchesse slipper satin gown of off-white. The very full skirt with its extremely long train was attached to a low waisted bodice. Sheer marquisette formed the yoke with its high round neckline. Lace trimmed the yoke giving an over-shoulder effect, and also trimmed the long tight sleeves which came to points over the hand. She wore a fingertip length illusion veil which was held in place by orange blossoms. Her only jewelry was a pink

Mrs. Ruckman chose a powder blue frock with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. She wore Picardy glads, lavender asters and swansonia. Mrs. Laubscher's dress was of coffee brown with powder blue and brown accessories. Her corsage was of Tallman roses and blue delphinium.

Amid the cheers and best wishes of the Waves on duty in Cleveland, Richard C. Sheets, petty officer, first class, shoves off with sea bag and all, to enlist 100 Waves. Sheets will tour 26 cities throughout northeastern Ohio this month in an attempt to reach his goal or eat his sailor cap if he fails.

NEW RECRUITING OFFICER HERE TOMORROW TO ENLIST WAVES

A 115 pound sailor—a one man recruiting caravan bouncing around the state in a navy station wagon in an attempt to enlist 100 Waves—is hopeful that the girls here will swamp him with applications when he chugs into Plymouth on August 20.

Response from girls in towns visited thus far has made this seagoin man confident that he will attain his goal of 100 Waves by September 1st and that he will not have to eat his sailor cap in the presence of his commanding officer.

A little weary from travel but cheerful because of his good luck so far, this sailor, Richard C. Sheets, petty officer, first class, attached to the Navy Recruiting station in Cleveland, is eager than ever to accomplish his job.

Sheets, you know, made the remark, "Why I'd eat my hat if I couldn't get a hundred WAVES in a month" during an off the record talk with the sailors at the recruiting station.

The catch to this was that his commanding officer, Lieut. Commander Ralph H. Dombey, overheard his remark and challenged him with: "I'll take you up on that! Let's see you do it! And this explains the reason behind Sheet's Wave recruiting mission here.

He will pitch a tent between the Lutheran church and parsonage and use it as his recruiting center. He will be on duty from 9 p. m., Aug. 20 to 3 p. m., Aug. 21.

Preliminary arrangements for his reception have been made by Frank J. Weck, Commander of American Legion Post No. 447, the organization to which Sheets has appealed for help in his recruiting tour.

Sheets said his visit will provide a wonderful opportunity for the girls to learn all about the Waves. Shortly after he made his bet he went out to get some first hand information on what the Waves are doing and just how badly they are needed. He visited the Waves on duty at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station and at the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts in Cleveland.

These visits have fortified his original contention that there is a definite need for women in the service. As a result he is more eager than ever to accomplish his job.

Sheets extends an invitation on to every girl and her friends to drop in to talk to him. Here are the main requirements girls must meet in order to join the Waves—the women's naval reserve: A girl must be between 20-36, have two years of high school or its equivalent and does not have any children under 18.

Sheets, who decided at the outset of his campaign that the small town girl was his best market, is confident of reaching his goal of 100 Waves by Sept. 1st, but meantime reports are coming in that his cohorts back in Cleveland are starching a sailors cap—just in case—.

WAACS GET LET UP IN AGE LIMIT

NEW FIGURES QUALIFY THOUSANDS IN GREATER CLEVELAND.

The Waac has officially been changed to the Wac. 20-year-olds and women from 45 to 50, ineligible for the Waac, can now apply for enlistment in the Wac. The women in this age group who have already made application can now make plans to take the examination to qualify them for enlistment.

The mental alertness test is given each Tuesday at 7:00 p. m. and each Saturday at 2:00 p. m., in room 107, Federal building. Those who have taken this test and have been waiting for authorization to take the physical examination may now report.

Applicants are directed to write to the Wac Recruiting office, room 107, Federal building, Cleveland, or telephone MAin 4140, Extension 153, or MAin 8995 for further details.

WE MADE A MISTAKE

Mayor J. B. Derr informs The Advertiser that he was misquoted in last week's issue in regard to his statement on the sidewalk improvement. Referring to the mayor's statement which was: "Public opinion or not, the work will be completed as planned." Mr. Derr denied making the statement and wishes a correction. We regret very much that we misunderstood the Mayor during the interview and we are glad to make the correction. — E.

NEWS FROM OUR BOYS IN SERVICE

TOUGH LUCK

Pvt. Willard Ross, jr. is a patient at the station hospital, Harding Field, La. where he submitted to an operation on his left knee. Willie injured his knee while in training at Camp Hood, Texas, during an Obstacle Course, and it has greatly bothered him.

Young Ross recently made an outstanding record in an aptitude test and was chosen to take a special course at a university for training.

He will be confined to the hospital for sometime and anyone wishing to write can reach him by the following address:

Pvt. Willard Ross, jr. 35867227 Station Hospital, Ward 2 Harding Field, La.

Capt. (Doc) C. O. Butler is being transferred on the 28th of the month from Camp Butler, N. C. to Washington, D. C. He will probably be stationed in the Capital City for two months, and is hoping it will be a little cooler than in North Carolina, which he claims is hotter than the "hinges of Hades." His new address after the 28th is listed in the address column.

Joe Moore from Dalhart, Texas, is greeting his old friends this week. Joe has lost something like 50 pounds since his induction into the army — looks fine and says he feels like there are no ladies—join the service for that streamlined figure.

Ray Ford, Harvey Robinson and William D. Day are the trio from Camp Davis, N. C. Forty boys were granted furloughs from the same camp at the same time and they found the transportation home one of their major problems. All the boys are visiting their parents and enjoying old friends while here.

Pfc Billy E. Snyder, brother of Mrs. James Rhine, has completed his course in Radio Operator and Mechanic, and is stationed at the permanent base, Avon Park Bombing Range, Avon Park, Fla. He graduated from the U. S. Army Air Force Technical School at Chicago, Ill., on July 10, 1943. He ranked fifth in a class of 200, graduating at that time.

His new address is: Pfc. Billy E. Snyder, A S N 35540693 317th Airdrome Sqdn, Avon Park Bombing Range, Avon Park, Florida.

A V-Mail letter from Mac Trau ger states he is among the many from this vicinity to be in Sicily. He finds it a vast improvement over North Africa, cleaner cities and cleaner natives. Fresh fruits and vegetables are also more easily obtained. He reports seeing almond groves.

Roger Miller surprised his mother, Mrs. Fred Schneider, by coming home unexpectedly Friday after a trip with the Merchant Marines across the Atlantic. Then Roger was surprised to receive a phone call that evening to return to New York immediately, that his ship would sail. Roger left Saturday morning only to be surprised again when he reached his destination that orders had again been changed and his boat had sailed before his arrival. His new orders permitted him to return to Plymouth and he is now enjoying a "surprise" vacation.

Pvt. Richard Fackler returned Tuesday to Gulfport Field, Miss., after a 10-day furlough (or was it a little longer, Dick? He spent the time with his parents, while in Plymouth.

The Old And The New Of The Corsair Line

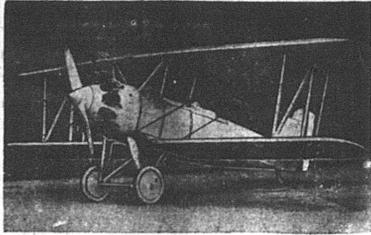

THE Navy's newest and fastest fighter, the Chance Vought Corsair (above) is winning fame in the Southwest Pacific against the Japs as the United States takes the offensive.

This is the latest Corsair in a line which started with the O2U-1 (right) built for the U. S. Navy in 1927.

Powered with one of the earliest Pratt & Whitney Aircraft engines—a Wasp of 425 hp—the O2U-1 set four world records, three for speed and one for altitude, for class C-2 seaplanes.

The latest Corsair, designated the F4U-1, also has a Pratt & Whitney engine—a 2,000 h.p. Double Wasp.

Government Checks Must Not Be Mutilated Before Cashing, Them

The influx of workers receiving government checks into this community brings a request from the district Federal Reserve Bank that more care should be given these checks before they are presented for cashing. These checks printed in card form are processed by mechanical equipment after they have been returned to their issuing agent and this operation is seriously delayed if the checks have been moistened, folded, twisted, rolled, bent, stapled, pinned, spindled or handled in such manner that the edges become frayed torn or uneven. The Cleveland branch reported that over 4,000 checks mutilated in one or more ways described above were presented for payment on Monday of this week alone.

It is pointed out that such carelessness not only involves expensive individual handling but constitutes a mutilation of property of the U. S. government.

SHELLS WILL BE RELEASED FOR HUNTERS

Ohio's million hunters are pleased over the report that federal authorities will permit the release of 100,000,000 shotgun shells for the coming hunting season.

The matter of ammunition had become a matter of concern to many who not only enjoy hunting but have an idea that they may supplement a rationed table this fall and winter with game. And coupled with this comes the report that Ohio's game crop is plentiful—sufficient to meet the army of hunters who will take to the fields on “off days” when they are not engaged at their wartime tasks.

Licenses dealers say that they expect the release of shells will make a big difference in the number of licenses sold.

The 1942 hunting licenses expire Aug. 31 and the new licenses have been placed in the hands of all dealers and are now available.

OPEN SEASON ON OHIO DEER

Ohio will have an open season on deer, beginning December 6 and continuing through December 16, was tentatively decided by the Ohio Conservation and Natural Resources Commission at its August meeting, held Friday, following recommendations made by its deer study committee, which has had the matter under consideration for many months.

The Commission decided to permit the shooting of deer in Scioto, Adams and Pike counties in Conservation District No. 7, and in all of the counties in District No. 3, which includes Ashland, Columbiana, Cuyahoga, Geauga, Lake, Mahoning, Portage, Stark, Summit and Trumbull counties. It is the plan to permit the shooting of bucks only in the three southern counties and both bucks and does in the northern district.

Cow Completes An Outstanding Record

istered Guernsey cow, Raemelon Sunny Netta, owned by Roger A. Black, Mansfield, O. recently completed an outstanding Admistered Registered record of 13249.8 pounds of milk and 666.4 pounds of butter fat.

This is Netta's fifth official record. Her total production for the five tested lactations is 59549.5 pounds of milk and 2877.9 pounds of butter fat.

Netta is a daughter of the famous Guernsey sire, Sunnyvale Sun, that has fifty-seven sons and daughters in the Performance Register of The American Guernsey Cattle Club.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

By LYTLE HULL Growing Fearful of Our Shadows

Life at home these days is made up of five principal functions: working, eating(?), sleeping, signing government papers of various kinds, and wondering if we filled them out correctly and how many years we have to spend in jail if we made a mistake.

In the good old days we didn't have many such documents to sign and usually when we did receive a questionnaire or a statement of some kind to fill out, there was no dire warning contained therein.

The citizens realize that many of these documents are necessary in times like the present, and they don't kick about them—much. But Americans don't like being threatened. They don't consider it necessary in the first place, and it really minds them of Germany in the old days. It creates a creepy feeling every time one reads this threatening warning—whether he be a decent citizen or a crook. He feels it is unnecessary, unpleasant, un-American, intensely irritating and too superfluous to have any effect other than to create an uneasy feeling which is foreign to the American way of thought.
