

HALF OF QUOTA IS REACHED IN BOND DRIVE

ONE MORE WEEK TO GO IN LOCAL DRIVE; SALES CONTINUE TO BE GOOD.

With only seven more days to go, Plymouth will have to buy $72,000 worth of bonds if the goal of $150,000 is to be reached by Oct. 1, deadline of the Third War Loan drive. So far the village has been well in the race in the purchase of bonds. The first two weeks saw much activity, but the last lap home will be hard to win unless unforeseen optimism creeps out into the front line to urge the purchase of bonds on the home stretch.

Newspapers, radio, mail messages and every conceivable plan of selling bonds have been used throughout the United States since the opening day of the bond drive, which started Sept. 4. So far, the nation's stock is still the best buy for investors and speculators, and it is very evident that the national goal of $15 billion dollars will be topped by the close of the sale, which is Oct. 1. J. E. Nimmons, assistant chairman of the bond campaign committee, states that a fine response has been made by individuals, and that the committees who have solicited the village, have been well received. He estimated that at least $100,000 worth of bonds will have been sold by the close of the campaign closes. At the close of business Tuesday, Plymouth had subscribed $78,000 in bonds.

An individual sale of $50,000 in bonds to the Fate-Root-Heath Co. has aided the town considerably in getting to the top of its goal. The purchase of these bonds by the company is in line with the government issue of bonds without taxes. The present issues which are being offered in this drive, are designed for corporations and individuals. A special issue, the sale of which will last for three days only, will be offered to the banks of the country at a later date.

The American public will be seeing more of "gruesome" side of the war in the near future. It is reported that OWI will begin the release of more photographs showing American casualties and some of the "gruesome" side of the war in the near future. This move is designed to have some effect on the "arm chair complacency" of the war, and will no doubt spur the sale of bonds.

If you missed your solicitor—and you wish to buy a bond, see Mr. Nimmons at the Bank, Mr. James Root at the Fate-Root-Heath Co., or stop at The Advertiser office. Information will be gladly given on the type of bond you wish to buy, and remember this—BACK THE ATTACK—BUY BONDS!

Truck Driver Dies

Paul Dykes, 32, of Warsaw, Ind., died in the Willard Municipal hospital Sunday from burns sustained when the truck he was driving struck a tree near Attica, pinning him in the wreckage as a gasoline tank burst into flames. Gilbert Broadback, 23, of Akron a relief driver, was thrown from the cab of the truck and was burned as he retreated. Dykes, Ralph W. Chilcote, Attica town marshal, said Dykes fell asleep while driving. The body was returned to Warsaw for services and burial.

COUNCIL TAKES UP TIME CHANGE

RESOLUTION CALLING FOR A CHANGE IN TIME GETS ONE READING, THEN TABLED.

At its mid-monthly meeting on Tuesday night, Mayor J. B. Derr introduced an ordinance calling for a change in time, which would set Plymouth's clock back one hour. However, after some discussion, it was agreed to give the ordinance one reading and then table the measure for a short time in which it is hoped to get the reaction of the residents of Plymouth in regard to the newly proposed change.

If enacted, the time change will set the clocks back one hour on October 4th.

Councilmen Lash and Kinsell expressed their views, stating it would mean quite a help to the school children and parents in the routine of performing their work while school is in session. It was felt by the mayor and council, as a whole, that if the people of Plymouth wanted to get the time back an hour, they would have an opportunity to make it known. So, if you wish to see the change go through, drop the Mayor a post card or call him on the phone, or you might try writing your councilman instead of your Congressman—at least you'll only cost a penny, for local letters only cost a cent or call him on the phone, or you might try writing your councilman instead of your Congressman—

Shiloh, Shelby, Norwalk, Mansfield and many other communities are setting the clock back an hour, and it's up to you as an individual, if you want Plymouth to follow suit.

A study of the 1944 budget was made, a report of street work and other matters were given attention at the meeting.

It was voted to increase the salary of special policemen as follows: For the first hour, $1.00, and for each hour afterwards, the rate of pay is 60c per hour. During the summer months, there are three extra policemen on duty, but during the winter season this number will be cut to two. An average of four hours per man for two nights a week is the time necessary for the extra help.

NO HUNTING—NO SHELLS, PLENTY OF SURRELRS

With many local farmers pointing "No Hunting" signs, and WPB holding all the shot gun shells—sportsmen this season are in a dismal mood as hunting season opens today!

In order to relieve the downcast feeling of the nirod who has a gun but no shells to shoot—Stacy C. Brown of the Brown & Sons Hardware store has received the novel idea of trimming a play window in an attractive manner and in keeping with the situation.

Brown, who is very slow in his speech, but quick on ideas, dug up one of "archery." He went to work placing a couple of bulls eyes in a pleasing spot, and then he surrounded them with a fine selection of bows, arrows, and the other trinkets that go with archery. It's attracting the attention of many passersby, and especially those fellows who used to go hunting.

CONTRACT LET FOR ROUTE 61

IMPROVEMENT AT INTERSECTION BY PARSEL AIR DEPOT CALLED.

The awarding of the contract for the improvement of Route 61 south of Plymouth to J. C. O'Connor and Sons, Inc., of Fort Wayne, Ind., who have been also one of the major companies working on the Parsel Airfield Supply Depot has been announced.

The contract calls for a new intersection at the southeast corner of the Parsel depot where the township road crosses route 61 with improvement of the blacktop 300 feet, both north and south from that intersection, and tapering to 2 feet at the outer extremes both north and south. These lanes, added to the side of the main blacktop state highway, will be of concrete and will permit vehicles to make turns more easily into the township road leading along the west end of the depot.

In addition the contract calls for a 24-foot concrete pavement to extend west from the same intersection a distance of 1750 feet to one of the entrances into the depot.

Work will start in about 15 or 20 days and is to be completed on December 31. The estimated cost was $29,100. The contract was let for $28,832.

September 30th Is Deadline For New Driver's License

Motorists must have their new drivers' licenses no later than Sept. 30, if they are going to continue to operate their automobiles.

Old drivers' licenses expire on that date and new licenses must be in possession by October 1, for that is the deadline. Although licenses have been on sale for over two weeks, a great number in this district have failed to procure their new licenses and have only a few days left in which to obtain an automobile license.

It is urged that motorists take advantage of the time between now and September 30, to get their licenses, on sale by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ervin at the Hatch & West store and Miss May Fleming at the Advertiser office.

NO FISH STORY! HERE'S PROOF!

Cpl. Paul Johnston, stationed at Ft. Columbia, Wash., must have enjoyed a little fishing on the side, for he caught a 20 pound salmon and sent it home to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnston southwest of Plymouth. The fish arrived Monday and the family is now enjoying steaks with out points.

Also Paul writes that he had the pleasure of meeting the movie star Jane Withers and her mother when they visited the camp at Ft. Columbia, Paul, having a movie camera, took Jane's picture and then Mrs. Withers' took a picture of Jane and Paul.

SALVAGE DRIVE BEGINS HERE

LOCAL SCOUTS TO GATHER ALL SALVAGE DURING THE MONTH OF OCTOBER.

Don Einsel, Jr., local salvage chairman, announced today that an intensive house-to-house campaign to collect vital fats, tin cans, paper and scrap metal for the nation's war effort will be conducted during the period of Sept. 30 to Oct. 28.

This drive, also conducted simultaneously in other cities and towns, was prompted by the Ohio State Council of Defense in a far reaching effort to boost the total amount of salvage collected each month.

The aim of this new salvage campaign is 100 per cent cooperation on the part of every family. At the end of the drive, scheduled to last for the period of four weeks, families in homes that have participated one hundred per cent will be awarded salvage emblems.

Arrangements have been made with the local Boy Scout Troop to collect the salvage. Pickups are to be made each Thursday.

Inasmuch as some Scouts have to work on Thursday, it may be necessary for him to collect Wednesday, and for you to give this boy permission to place the salvage on your front yard for a day or two on Thursday, if you are unable to do so.

It is hoped that full cooperation of the public can be secured in this matter. The first collection will begin on Thursday, Sept. 30. Let's all get behind the wheel and make Plymouth a 100 per cent Salvage Village—a distinction we could be justly proud of.

WEEDS WILL GROW

Only 75 per cent of the weed mowing will be done in Plymouth, Blossingrove, Cass, Jackson & Worthington townships because of the labor shortage. Unable to get workers, contractors would only take partial contracts.

EUGENE PHILLIPS IS MISSING IN ACTION

WAR DEPARTMENT NOTIFIES RELATIVES THAT YOUNG PILOT HAS BEEN MISSING SINCE AUGUST 25.

In a brief telegram, dated September 18, the War Department has notified the family of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. J. Phillips, that their second son, Eugene F. Phillips, 22, is missing in action. The text of the message follows: "I regret to inform you that the Commanding General, North African area, reports your son, Second Lieutenant Eugene F. Phillips, missing in action since 25th of August. If further details of other information of his status are received, you will be promptly notified."

Eugene, graduated with high honors at New Haven schools in the class of 1940. Interested in aviation from the very start, he devoted all of his time and efforts in this one phase of activity. He won a scholarship which gave him training at Harrington's Airport, Mansfield, while waiting to be inducted into service, and he successfully passed his tests as a CPT in Cleveland.

After graduating, young Phillips was employed in the tool room of the Fate-Root-Heath Co. He remained at work in this plant from March 3, 1941 until January 21, 1942.

In January, 1941, he enlisted in the service, and waited until his training in aeronautics was completed before being inducted.

Eugene was first sent to Santa Ana, Calif., for a training period, then down to King City, Calif., for a short time. He was later transferred to Chico, Calif., and it was here that he took up the major portion of his work. After completing his course at Chico, he was sent to Luke Field, Calif., where he was graduated as a pilot and received his coveted Wings.

He graduated from Luke Field on Oct. 30, 1942. After his graduation he was sent to Luke Field, California for almost four months, but on February 21, 1943, he was sent overseas to North Africa.

From the time he entered the service until the time he went overseas, Eugene never made a visit back home. As Mrs. Phillips explained it, "every time we would get a letter from Gene saying that he was coming home, or expected to come home, something would always happen. That is one of the regrettable things about the news—we never saw him in uniform. Naturally, we were disappointed, but we could not come home when we expected him — so I guess we'll go on living in hope that some day he will make it home."

After Eugene was notified of his participation in the North African campaigns, including Tunis and Bizerte. The last letter Lieut. Phillips wrote to his mother, dated August 20, just a few days prior to the time he was reported missing, he indicated that he had seen plenty of action. He was working for a promotion, and stated that he had been in 43 different battles and 82 sorties. The letter was written from North Africa, but it is believed that he saw service in the capture of Sicily and the invasion of Italy.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. J. Phillips, Eugene has four brothers, Jim, who is in the service and stationed at Ft. Meade in Maryland; Tom, who is working on the farm; and Clyde and Henry, who are attending school at New Haven. A sister, Irene, is attending Notre Dame in Toledo.

Eugene Phillips was well-known in the community, and many friends in this vicinity, and along with the family, it is the sincere hope of everyone that he will gain his freedom at an early date. No further details have been received, and yet, it is realized by the family that young Phillips saw continuous and severe action in the North African campaigns, as well as the more recent engagements.

IMPROVING

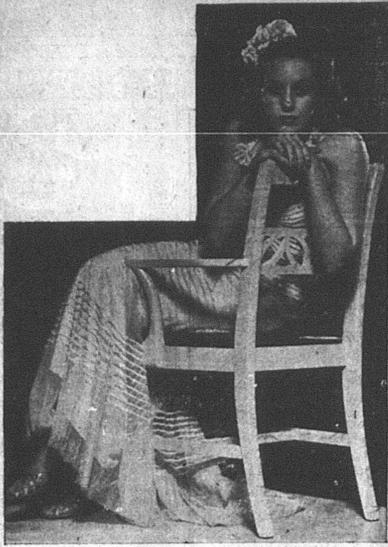

Mrs. Sam Stine of Plymouth street, who has been quite ill, is much better and able to be up and about her work.

Norwalk Child Care Center Receives Aid

To mark the opening of the Child Care Center in Norwalk last month by the Huron county unit of the American Women's Voluntary Services, the Medical and Surgical Relief committee donated to the center a case of baby cereals, valued at $14.60, Mrs. Huttleston Rogers, chairman of the committee announced from committee headquarters in New York City.

"The committee is happy to contribute to a project that will care for the children of working mothers and volunteer workers" declared Mrs. Rogers. For it is centers like this one that not only help further our war effort, but insure a healthy future for our country.

Supplying foods and vitamins is supplementary to the main work of the medical and surgical relief committee, Mrs. Rogers explained. The committee, a philanthropic agency conducted by a nation-wide group of physicians, is organized to donate sorely-needed medical and surgical supplies to the maritime, military and civilian forces of America and her allies. The committee, Mrs. Rogers reported, is now concentrating on providing Coast Guard patrol boats and rescue ships, navy sub-chasers, destroyer-escorts, mine sweepers and other small doctorless craft with portable emergency medical kits.

Specially designed by committee doctors for sub-sinking and patrolling vessels, each kit is equipped with drugs, bandages and instruments to give immediate treatment of casualties until the ship reaches a base hospital.

Other nursery groups of the A. W. V. S. have received vitamins and foods from the committee, including those in Wilkinsburg, Pa., Galveston, Texas, Sandover, New Mexico—in addition to hundreds of other local welfare groups here and abroad.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Your tires are in good shape, Judge...ought to last you at least another 5,000 miles."
 "I've been very careful of them, Jim, since I learned how much the government needs rubber. Only drive when I have to...keep her under 35 an hour and have the tires switched around every 1,000 miles."
 "Me, too, Judge. Pretty tough spot we were put in gettin' our supply of rubber cut off when we needed it most. But, we'll be gettin' plenty of synthetic rubber real soon, Say, is it true, Judge, that the beverage distilling industry has a part in producing it?"

 "Yes, a very important part, Jim. That industry's facilities for producing grain alcohol make it possible to include 200,000 tons of rubber from grain in the government's 870,000-ton synthetic rubber program. Pretty important contribution to our war effort, isn't it, Jim?"
 "It certainly is, Judge. Wonder how many people really realize it?"

Taking each letter of the word, a special musical number was presented corresponding to that letter. In addition a song fest was held. This was accomplished by circulating numbers in the crowd from one to four of various groups. Each one present was then invited to find the other three members of this particular group and later asked to present a song. Those who never sang before, found themselves on the program and thoroughly enjoying that it was the best acquainted feature he had seen in his various inspection tours. Mrs. Webber is the grange lecturer.

LETTERS FROM OUR BOYS IN THE SERVICE

Sept. 6
Dear Tommy & Friends at home: Well Tommy, I got the first paper from home last night, June 10 issue, that's a couple of months ago. I was very much pleased to even get that. I suppose they will come through better now as most of my mail is finally reaching me. You asked all of us boys to write in but I haven't very much to say only "hello" and that I am still on top in the South Pacific some place.

We can't say very much about it over here; if you ask me I think it's pretty hot weather for being winter time, of course you know the seasons are the opposite from ours. When I was in Australia I just about froze up for three days.

I am a truck driver over here and I rather like it for the time being, most of the fellows here are swell fellows to work with.

Well the time sure seems to have gone by pretty fast for me since, I was back on the square last May, and I sure enjoyed my stay there very much. I was just lucky I got there then, because two days after I was back in Salt Lake City, Old Uncle Sam had another place for me to go. I was glad that my stay in that camp was very short because it was all drill, calisthenics and that sort of stuff, but the chow was swell back there. The chow is about as good as could be expected I think. This lally beef is rather tough to chew.

When I was in California I was very much surprised to run into someone I know there but coincidents do happen.

One morning I ran into Chester Garrett in this chow line, he didn't recognize me at first. We were in the same camp for about three days after that about a block apart. I guess he was on his way over here someplace too.

I think that Plymouth has boys just about every place in the world and can be pretty proud of the fact. I was what they call a U.S.O. soldier for about seven months and now I have a job to do which I hope is my share in winning this great war. We all have our places, I am just thanking my lucky stars I am not in the infantry, as this suits me better.

The time seems to slip by pretty fast for me, I can't hardly realize its September already. Well I must close for this time and go to chow, hoping this finds every body back there OK.

Your friend,
Roger Ross

GARDENS jars

Although no canning census has been taken, the record sale of glass jars during the past three months gives us a little doubt. But there were more quarts of home-canned vegetables in America's closets today than at any time in the history of our country.

Some women have become canning fiends. Starting in timidly by putting up a few jars of beans, their first success inspired them to go in for canning in a big way. As their horde of beautiful glass-encased vegetables grew, their desire for more became insatiable. I know of one woman who has put up over 300 jars of vegetables and that probably isn't close to a record.

Canning has reached the stage where a woman in a small town feels like a conversational outcast if she can't boast her experiences with pressure cookers, her theories on preserving vitamins, her difficulties over limited sterilizing and the yield of her Victory garden. As a subject of conversation for this fall, let us even talk about bringing up babies has taken second place to discussion of proper and improper methods making vegetables last through the winter.

The Victory gardens of 1943 are not being stored away in jars—and they probably constitute a big enough supply to keep millions of the winter need met throughout the winter no matter how scarce canned goods may become on the grocers' shelves.

SAVING money

From the bookkeeping standpoint, these home-grown, home-canned vegetables constitute a real dollars and cents economy. The average Victory garden, even if it wasn't too successful, undoubtedly more than paid for the investment in seeds, sprays, fertilizers and jars for preserving.

If the backaches from cultivating and the heartaches over crop failures were included in cost the profit might be questionable, but most victory gardeners are willing to charge up those items on their profit and loss statements to experience or to exercise.

In one town, where Victory gardens were operated on a town-wide basis as a co-operative proposition, it is estimated that the average family got $10 worth of vegetables for each dollar it invested in a garden. Since the average investment was around $15, it would mean that the co-operative families got about $150 worth of produce at current retail prices.

The war gardeners were probably operated more efficiently in this town than in many places, but even a garden which was not properly weeded or cultivated or sprayed undoubtedly yielded enough beans or tomatoes to more than pay for the small investment. Tomatoes and beans have a habit of coming through no matter how adverse conditions are so that even the laziest gardeners, who planted their seeds and then let the weeds, bugs and vegetables fight for survival, were more than repaid for their efforts.

POINTS 1979

More important to many families than the amount of money they will save as the result of canning is the saving of ration points.

With many canned items having a very high point value, even a few jars of summer vegetables constitute a real point economy. One woman who canned 128 quarts of common vegetables and fruits estimates that she has saved 1979 points.

Her shelves she has 10 quarts of peaches, 25 quarts of beans, 20 quarts of beets, 18 quarts of carrots, 40 quarts of tomatoes and 15 quarts of squash. Under the new point system, peaches are worth 27 points per can, beans 10 points, beets 4 points, carrots 4 points, tomatoes 21 points and squash 21 points. With a total saving of almost 2,000 points, the chief worry is what on earth she is going to do with all the coupons which will be leftover in her ration books this winter.

I don't know how many tons of vegetables the government figures would be grown in Victory gardens, but all indications are that the average backyard garden has yielded a lot more than was ever expected. The supply of home-canned goods is so great that farmers would probably be worried about selling their produce if it weren't for the great amount of food our government is sending out of the country. After the war the backyard garden can offer real competition to farmers except for the fact that when vegetables are plentiful and cheap it will take a little urging to persuade most of us amateur gardeners to stop digging.

NEW DRIVER'S LAW IN EFFECT

Ohio's driver responsibility law, drastically amended by the last legislature and designed to remove financially irresponsible drivers from the streets and highways, became effective Monday, Sept. 20.

There are three important provisions in the law which affect all of the state's more than 2,000,000 motor vehicle owners, operators and chauffeurs.

These provisions are: (1) Loss of drivers' license for FIVE years if a judgment is returned against an individual involved in a motor vehicle accident or collision and the individual is unable to satisfy that judgment. (2) Loss of drivers' license for THREE years where the operator of a motor vehicle is convicted of manslaughter, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of narcotics or intoxicating liquor, failure to stop after an accident, and commission of a felony in which a motor vehicle is used. (3) Imprisonment for not less than two days or more than six months and in addition imposition of a fine of $500, if a driver continues to operate a motor vehicle on the streets and highways after his or her license, certificate or permit has been revoked.

Under the amended law the Ohio registrar of motor vehicles is compelled to revoke driving privileges as the law stipulates, unless the driver can show that he or she is financially responsible and able within 30 days to satisfy a judgment returned in a court of record.

Drivers whose licenses are to be lifted have to be adequately notified by the registrar at the person's last known address. Under provisions of the amended act it is the opinion of traffic safety engineers that the streets and highways will be made additionally safe for both motorists, property owners and pedestrians.

On completion of 25 flights over Axis-held territory, Capt. He received the Order of the Purple Heart last January after being wounded when he participated in a daylight bombing raid over Germany. A month later he was awarded an air medal and the oak leaf cluster for "exceptional achievement in aerial combat". Two months ago, he was cited for meritorious achievement in aerial combat, and was awarded a second oak leaf cluster.

Bader was advanced from first lieutenant to the rank of captain on June 8.
