News of Our Service Men

We Made It!

15TH AAF IN ITALY — Prepared to land his Lancaster Bomber without engines, 1st Lt. Floyd McQuown, 27, of 19 Maple St., Plymouth, Ohio, found there that he was landing with a flat tire.

His plane received about 24 flak hits while on bombing run over Vincenza airfield in northern Italy a few days ago. The engineer gunner reported that the hydraulic lines leading to his brakes had been hit.

When the planes got over the home field they collided with Lt. Herman H. Taylor, 24, of 491, Alexander St., Memphis, Tenn., had the top turret gunner and the waist gunner strap their parachutes to their guns in readiness to open them in case extra braking pressure was needed.

"But," said Lt. McQuown, "when our wheels touched the runway we found that only one of the two lines leading to our brakes had been hit, so the brakes held well enough that we didn't have to use the chutes."

"However, we almost tipped over because of our tire was flat, having been hit with flak." Lt. McQuown has eight combat missions with the 15th AAF group commanded by Col. Thomas W. Steed of Ft. Worth, Tenn.

In Hawaii
S 1-c Dan Kirkpatrick has arrived in Pearl Harbor to meet his ship, a transport. He hopes to meet his classmate, Albert Marvin, Jr., before being shipped out.

Karl Schlotterer, Momm C, has returned to the States where he will attend an advanced Diesel School. He has been in the Mediterranean, Scotland, and Ireland, and has participated in four major battles. He met his brother, George in Africa last year and more recently in Italy. George, who is in the army, has been wounded three times, but has always been able to rejoin his company. He is a brother of Mrs. Leland Briggs of New Haven.

Receives Wings
Charles P. Piller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Piller of Willard, spent a few days home with his parents after being graduated as an aerial gunner and receiving his wings at Hollings, Texas Army Air Field. He is going to Alton, Ill., for further training.

Piller, 18, was graduated last Spring from Willard high school and entered military service soon afterward. He is a brother of Mrs. Woodrow Utis of Trux street.

Goes To California
Richard Myers, USN, left on Thursday for Shoemaker, Calif. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Myers, and has been stationed at Grossie Isle.

In Germany
Pfc. Willard C. Ross, Jr., is now with the First Army in Germany, according to word received this week by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ross of West Broad-

To Late!
Reading in the Advertiser that Wilbert (Pete) Ruckman was located in Seattle, Wash., Thomas Ruckman of Squamish, Wash., extended him an invitation for Thanksgiving dinner.

Writing to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ruckman, Pete was delighted with the invitation but alas and alack, when the invitation caught up with him, it was too late to accept. The best part, however, is the hospitality of local people in remembering "their own," for Mr. Ruckman is formerly from this community and is a nephew of Mrs. Floyd An- derson.

SPECIAL NOTICE!
Through the lack of help and an increased demand for printing we are forced to ask all news items be sent in to us by Tuesday night. We can not guarantee publication of items received on Wednesday. It will be appreciated if you will communicate.

Listed Missing
Mrs. Luce Williamson has received word that her nephew, Roland T. Burns, U. S. Navy submarine service, is listed missing in action in the battle of Leyte. Roland visited the Williamson home on several occasions during his training at Great Lakes and Dearborn, Mich., in 1941.

Hopes To Be Home Soon
Sgt. Robert, who has been overseas since Oct. 7, 1943, writes home in a recent letter to his mother, Mrs. Carl Mitchell of Bellevue, Ohio: "That if things keep going as well as they are now, I have high hopes of seeing all of the home folks in the Spring."

Warren has received two writings in the past month which have been very encouraging. He has served overseas as he has been located in England, Ireland, Scotland and France.

He was in Ayr, Scotland, near Glasgow, for six months, which he claims was the most beautiful country of them all. After leaving Glasgow he was sent to Manchester, England, from the South west Pacific.

He says the biggest worry is not being able to converse with the natives in French. Cigarettes are also a problem and are almost impossible to secure.

Sgt. Burkett, before entering the army, was employed in the N. K. P. office at Plum Brook. He is attached to a Service Squadron of the Army Air Force, and has handled so many plane parts in recent months that he feels he'll be able to put his own plane together after he gets home.

His APO No. is 744, and states that for six weeks he did not receive any mail when he was in England, and when he got moved to France there was a whole stack of awaiting him, including some packages.

Sgt. Burkett says the weather is getting cold and that he expects to travel over some of the same ground his Dad did in 1918. Warren is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Burkett of Trux street.

Commissioned Flight Officer
Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cramen and grandson, Lanny Goodyng, spent several days last week on a trip to Blythe, Ark., where on Dec. 2 their son, Dayton Cramer, was a member of a large graduating class of the Air Transport Command. This class was composed of eighty-three former instructors of Air Cadets, who had transferred to this other fine branch of the Army Air Forces, and consisted of men who had several thousand hours of flying.

Sgt. Cramen has chosen a flight officer in the ATC and has chosen one of twenty highest efficient men to be sent to Dallas, Texas, for some specialized training.

Cramen, 18, was graduated last Spring from Willard high school and entered military service soon afterward. He is a brother of Mrs. Leland Briggs of New Haven.

Military Discharge

After being in the service of Uncle Sam the past 12 months, Sgt. George H. Wattie returned Saturday to Plymouth with a medical discharge. He received his initial training at Camp McClellan, Ala., but the past year has been in California. His future plans are indefinite.

Change of Address
Isiah R. Predier, S 1-c,
N A T T C,
Gainesville, Ga.

Word From Tom Moore
Two letters were received the first of the week from Tom Moore—the first in some time. His whereabouts are, of course, unknown, but the first letter was possibly from Pearl Harbor, and the second written while at sea. He is ok, but very busy.

Returns To Base
Francis Gowtizko returned Monday to San Diego, Calif., after a 21-day leave visiting his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. Gowtizko.

Home From Pacific
Plymouth welcomed home two veterans of the South-West Pacific over the week end. Sgt. Lawrence (Pete) Cornell was one of the contingent of 251 veterans of the 37th division who returned to the states and arrived in Plymouth on Thursday. Pete, "brown as a beet" from the weather, a little chilly but is rapidly recovering his stay and hopes to remain until after Christmas before being re-assigned. He was one of the first boys to leave Plymouth for service and has seen active service in many of the islands in the Pacific.

Returning Saturday evening was Cpl. Richard Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Moore. Richard has been with the First Marines and is happy to be home after almost three years in the service. At one time he was only 90 miles from his brother Joe and expected to arrange a meeting, but was unable at the time to go along and has never had the privilege of meeting up with his brother. He will stay until the 28th, when he goes to Florida for re-assignment.

To Visit Here

Lt. Keith Van Vliet, GM 3/c, arrived here from San Francisco, Cal., he informed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Coyote VanVliet of Willard. He expects to spend a furlough here after several months at sea in the South Pacific. He is a grandson of Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Kastig of Portner st.

In The States

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Kendig of Shiloh have received word that their son, Leo Kendig, has arrived in California from the South west Pacific.

Visiting Here

Robert A. McKown, S 1-c, arrived Wednesday morning for a 3-day visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McKown of the New Haven road. Robert is a member of this year's graduating class and has been assigned to an LSM out of New York.

Receives Citation

S-Sgt. John McKown of the 15th AAC, Italy, has just received the Presidential Citation. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McKown of the New Haven road have received the merest detail but John is a tall gunner on a Liberator B-24 and has been flying the score 24-22.

In the third and fourth quarters Monroeville continued to drop the ball through the hoop, and although Plymouth tried vainly to check them there was little doubt as to the outcome. The final score was 46-22.

In the Reserve game Plymouth finally overcame their stage fright in the second half, but it was too late as Monroeville had run up a safe lead in the first half.

The final score 26-21 in favor of the visitors.

This was the first game for some of the Reserves as several of them are freshmen, so with a little more experience they should win many games.

BAZAAR, BAKE SALE TO BE SATURDAY

Dolls and children's toys are on the "hard to find" list this year, but there will be plenty of stuffed animals, including cats, dogs, lambs and elephants, as well as dolls, at the annual bazaar Saturday of the WSCS of the Methodist church.

Originally announced to be held in the Hatch & West room on the north side of the Public Square, a change was necessary and it will now be held at Cashman's Shoe Store.

Sgt. Myers with 22 years of service, has done a lot of shooting and in 1930 was on an Ohio National Guard team which shot in the world's famous matches at Camp Perry, in which he came in third—not the kitchen variety—and thereby broke all previous records.

Sgt. Myers with 22 years of service, has done a lot of shooting and in 1930 was on an Ohio National Guard team which shot in the world's famous matches at Camp Perry, in which he came in third—not the kitchen variety—and thereby broke all previous records.

Sgt. Myers, 22, is the best gunner in the Ordnance Observer, official newspaper of the Army Service at Flora; Miss. Pic. Bureau, Flora. Sgt. Myers is a boy scout in a court-of-honor.

Sgt. Myers zeroed-in his pistol and laid it on the butt; but when he turned back, some one had "swapped" with him—it wasn't his gun, and it was time to fire.

He got off his first record shot for a 4-disappointing (to him) but it gave him correction enough. However, had it been his own piece the first one would probably have hit the bull.

Sgt. Myers, whose home town is Plymouth, Ohio, came to MOP from Randolph Field, where he was a small arms instructor. He's cut down both barrels and stocks of 22 rifles; Diantha has hit a foot-square target at 50-ft. though Mary Louise "just shoots"—but Mrs. Myers "can't shoot a kick" as the Sgt. phrases it. At the age of one, Diantha had her first lesson, on a range, in trigger-squeezing.

In addition to various musical numbers, there will be a short playlet, "The Black Vase," given by some of the members of the fifth and sixth grades. The Girl's Glee club will make their first public appearance of the year, choral readings, folk dances and instrumental selections by the rhythm band will be included in the program.

REMOVED TO HOSPITAL
George Bettac was removed Monday afternoon from his home on Trux street to the Shelby Memorial hospital in the R. E. McQuate ambulance.

Through spark-plug to a team of winners the Sgt. sometimes says he feels old—in his outfit now there's a Sgt. Richard E. Lemon. Sgt. Lemon shot on the same rifle team at Camp Perry with Sgt. Lemon's father.

Monroeville 5 Downs Locals

LOCAL BASKETBALL TEAM IS DEFEATED BY STRONG MONROEVILLE TEAM.

Height, coupled with experience and a strong defense by the Huron county championships, Monroeville basketball team proved too much for the local lads to cope with last Friday night.

Plymouth played very hard and fast throughout the entire game. Their passing was excellent, but the Pilgrims were out of the picture in terms of their height and especially so in retrieving rebounds off the backboard and on jump ball set ups.

The local varsity started out like they were really going to town when Miller broke the ice by putting a long shot through the hoop. Plymouth continued to stay on even terms with their opponents throughout the first quarter. In the second quarter Monroeville really began to take advantage of their height, getting several easy baskets follow up halfshots while the local lads were trying desperately, but failing to catch them. Thus the first half ended with Plymouth on the short end of the score, 24-12.

In the third and fourth quarters Monroeville continued to drop the ball through the hoop, and although Plymouth tried vainly to check them there was little doubt as to the outcome. The final score was 46-22.

In the Reserve game Plymouth finally overcame their stage fright in the second half, but it was too late as Monroeville had run up a safe lead in the first half.

Around the Square

(By Phineas Whittleseed)

MRS. O. M. LAMOREAUX, clerk

at Shut's Grocery, has been dealing with "ceiling prices" so long that even on her day off she believes in "ceilings." Thursday night she was at the home of Mrs. Johnson on Mills avenue. Grandma Johnson gave a scream, Mrs. Lamoreaux said—well, never mind, but the plasterer put a nice patch on the ceiling this week.

MILO STOBER of Shelby Rural, is getting along very nicely after losing several fingers of his left hand recently in a corn binder. Mr. Stober suffered quite a bit, but his hand is coming along in fine shape, we're glad to report.

THAT DIZZY DUDE OF A DAN

CUPID just won't wait for anything. He gave Earl Sheely a shot of love last week, and Earl just laid down his tools and got married. It wouldn't have been so bad, but the fact that a group of women were planning on using the Hatch & West building where Sheely's workroom is located to change their location for the bake sale and bazaar. It will be held at Cashman's shoe store, but at any rate, congratulations, Earl!

Leaving Plymouth last Thursday, Messrs. Willard Wirth, Henry Fackler and Neal Slessman went over to Meadville, Pa., for a deer hunt. The weather was against them every hour, and the trio did not even get a single track. A snow held in the deer, and the men, of course, were disappointed. Better luck next time, fellers!

IF EVERYONE IS AS SHORT

as red points as they are, we'll be glad to go to Delphi Friday night for a chicken supper. In fact, it looks as though I am going to be forced to eat chicken until the latter part of December.

THE WEATHER

November, 1944, was a little above the average in temperature and slightly below in precipitation. It was the typical gloomy November, with 18 cloudy days, 7 partly cloudy and only 5 clear days.

TEMPERATURE — The highest for the month was 74 degrees on the 1st; the lowest 20 degrees on the 6th and 30th. The average was 42.2 or 2 degrees above normal.

PRECIPITATION — The total for the month was 2.31 inches or 0.27 inch below normal. Greatest was 0.74 inch on the 15th. An unusual feature was a thunderstorm and light hail during the night of the 15th. The total snowfall for the month was three-tenths of an inch on the 30th.

With the good progress during the month, though more rain or a good snow covering are badly needed.

According to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, this year's corn crop in Ohio was about 17 per cent below the yield of last year, the yield of soybeans was about 22 per cent lower, and that of potatoes nearly 25 per cent lower. These low yields are attributed mainly to prolonged dry weather in June and July, and again after August. On the other hand, this year was better than last year for wheat, oats and apples—J.A.R.

REMOVED HOME

Mrs. Ezra Shepherd and infant son were released Friday morning from the Shelby hospital and removed home in the R. E. McQuate ambulance to their home on the Bert Hunter farm, west of town.

Burr Knous attended the National Farm Managers convention held Monday and Tuesday in Chippewa.

ALVIN GARRETT WRITES FROM SOUTHWEST PACIFIC

Here's an interesting letter written by Alvin Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Garrett, of Shiloh:

Oct. 22, 1944

Dear Mom and Dad:

Well, here I am just back from rest leave, which I spent in Mackay, Australia. Boy, what a swad of mail and word there has accumulated! I think I am going to have a hard time getting used to this jungle again, after a taste of living like a human being again. Our leave was spent in a private home. A man named Hall had part of this home made into three apartments of three rooms each. Kitchen, living room and bedroom. Ice box in each kitchen, running water and everything nice. There were enough fellows from our Company off, to fill up the three apartments. The man runs a small cleaning business also seems to be a swell shot in the town of Mackay's sporting activities. He promotes wrestling and boxing matches. They had a big time boxing match while we were there. Mr. Hall saw that we boys had good ringside seats and we sure had a swell time. Gosh, Mom, you would hardly believe me I guess if I told you how much he made that night on that fight, but it was something like $10,000. So he sure is right in the chipset! Oh, yes, the Hall family had their own apartment in the same house where we were and their little two year old girl would come over every morning with her car in her arms and wake us up.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall invited all of us in for a home cooked meal one evening and that sure was a treat to us.

I have sent some gifts from Mackay for all of you, so you can be looking for them. I also sent Neal a kangaroo hide cigarette case. This sure was a fast ten days but I enjoyed it.

October 29, 1944

Mackay is a town about the size of Wallace. It's all sugar cane country around here and we were taken through one of the mills one day. It sure is some process and gosh the machinery it takes. We discovered that most of the machinery was made in Hamilton, Ohio. They put out 13 tons of sugar every 24 hours. That's surely making sugar. It's certainly interesting.

Say, Mom, some of those gifts sent were made by an Australian soldier. He lost a leg in New Guinea, and of course is home now. It's hand made wool work and hope you like them.

Well, the big move has started over here as you probably know. This old war over here has gone a long way with hardly anything to do with it. Now the men who are coming are coming maybe we will get some place. The heat is getting terrific over here. You see summer's just starting in New Guinea and is really hot. Just imagine after a couple of day's rain, the sun comes out suddenly, and it's up to 110 to 120 degrees. Boy, it's getting hot. That's what it's like every day right now. Rain's almost every night, the islands.

We had some snap shots taken while on leave. Will mail them soon. Keep them for my collection. I gained 12 pounds and I sure feel fine now. We had a real time, but of course, nothing could beat a furlough home. Here is hoping the next one will be home.

November 5th

Thanks for all the clippings. I get lots of laughs out of some of them. Oh yes, Mom, I received my first Christmas package yesterday. Our last three meals sure are something to write home about.

Can't tell you how we came to get all this stuff, but here's a list: Supper last night, fresh ground beef, corn on cob, fresh; fresh string beans, fresh tomatoes and head lettuce, and fresh sweet onions. Well, after eating cannot sleep for a few hours. Don't know how good this fresh stuff tasted. The best part of it, our Mess Sergeant fried hamburgers for as long as us chow hounds could eat.

For breakfast we started out with ice cold tomato juice, then FRESH eggs, fresh country sausage, good coffee — all we wanted. At noon dinner we had fresh roast beef, string beans, lettuce, tomatoes, onions, sweet potatoes, corn on cob, all fresh; some real Hellen cut up out of a bottle, not canned; dessert, salad of fresh apples, oranges, and raisins. We have enough of this stuff left for several days yet, then I suppose its back to the old G. I. rations.

This sounds good on paper but of course those fresh vegetables were something extra, but we sure enjoyed it while it lasted. Guess this is all for now, don't worry and take care of yourselves. Love, Alvin.

in close contact with Franklin D.'s "economic royalists" — with those who contribute campaign funds to both parties so as to be sure to be safe when the election is over.

Now in the storm clouds are gathering. There was an explosion in the Interstate Commerce Commission when it developed that some members of the Federal Communications Commission used their high offices to force a radio station owner to sell his property to a New Dealer for $400,000. The station went into executive session. It was stated that the names of big shots were involved.

Just why the names of the big shots, who indulge in corruption, should be concealed is not clear. I have always maintained that we should open the blinds and let in the white light of publicity — that there should be no executive sessions. What Congress knows the people, their masters, have a right to know. The way to stop corruption is by exposing the corruptionist to the pitiless white light of publicity.

The Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation today unanimously reported my bill, H. R. 4795, to the House for passage. This bill would give the light to the Bureau of Irrigation and Reclamation to go ahead with the Missouri River Basin development in accordance with Senate Document 191 and as reconciled by Senate Document 247. This bill when passed consummated the effort of all to bring about the development of the Missouri River Basin. It is the work of many people for many years.

Big Corn Yield Wins

produced more than their share of the nation's record crop of 3,258,378,000 bushels of corn in the food front battle. The champ's yield is several times that of the estimated average yield for the United States of 3271 bushels.

The county winner's corn was grown from Hybrid No. 404A and his yield came from the best 1/4 acre tract of corn on his farm. Details of his cultivation and the winner is being presented with an appropriate plaque by the DeKalb Agricultural Association.

Other big yields recorded were made by Edward Tennis, Greenfield, Rt. 2, 99.57; Chas. Biglin, Shelby, 96.41; V. A. Gates and A. E. Kleinmuntz, Mansfield, 88.80; Steven Gwirtz, Shelby, Rt. 1, 87.41.

CHAPTER VIII

Barroned from the Navy's "T" program because he had lost two years of college math, Lester Cadeil Marson is in the Coast Guard but is turned down because a "facial squint." The doctor refused even to examine him. Consequently, an old friend of the family, Mr. Carpenter, got a job as a waiter for Lester at a restaurant. Mr. Carpenter's waiters were a bunch of waddlers, but Lester learned they still insist on two years of service. So he signed up, joining the V-3 Naval Aviation and is sent to Anacostia Naval Base. After making a flat top, he is sent to a three-day course and visits his folks in Chicago. The furlough ended, he leaves for Corpus Christi.

The others from Anacostia had arrived before me. All were impressed by the station's vastness, its organization and smartness. Geography had taken its toll on Tim Carpenter who had continually gazed at the Gulf and muttered rapturously, "I am in the Horse Latitudes!"

The Navy functioned, to do it credit, just as it did in the Tepete zone. We were assembled, given orders, told us the first week was another stretch of indoctrination. For cadre indoctrination is a recruit's first period in which he submits himself for learning. This had inculcative powers, and by graduation we had all attained the rank of the old-timers before whom the world stretches like an old sock.

The primary object of indoctrination was to make us enter into the jangled lagoon of the public-address system which controlled the entire day.

"This is it again!" cried Red Rum in the terror of ignorance.

We watched a group of whom this hysterical pealing hell special meaning to them, their bellies bulging and move cryptically to a scheduled activity.

"It's like 'Finnegans Wake,'" I said in admiration.

Finally, the riddle solved itself in symphonic form. It all originated in the battalion office. At six o'clock in the morning, the door opened the movement with a strong presentation of the ever-endearing reveille. This gave way to the bugle, "Attention," followed by the breakfast the low man of a strict in thing was eerily reproduced as the wood-wind took up the theme and announced "sick call." For the next twelve hours the misery of "bells, bells, bells" told of ground school, athletics, drill, study period, and sundry musters, a routine va-jeta. And then came a solid hour spent in a robust bassoon with a charming aria entitled, "Will Cadet Marson call Amber 320 and ask for Miss Rose?"

The third movement was tinged by experimentalism. The psychiatrist on the base had succeeded with the theory that most improvements get along. He had arranged to have every evening mes! formation concluded with some celebrated selections. Mariano Marson, director of the modern ballad, softened the discuss of fighting men and determined instead on John Philip Sousa. Here, I thought the composition called miserably after the first time, in time to remind a volunteer warrior of his trade. Any practicing socialist who bellows a gauntastic juice is bound to come in with a vengeance by the demagogic strains of The Black Horse Troop March should have his license suspended.

At ten-fifteen the operetta began, the last note of the tape. Whatever its shortcomings might have been, the entire program was free from the cancer of advertising. In my opinion, it came up with the dreadful possibility of younger generations marching off to squadrons through the courtesy of Princess Pot Bath Salts. That must never happen here. . . .

Admittedly, a pilot must be in the best physical condition. The same life period that induced this state of being was a model of Spartan severity. Most of the program was drawn from the days of the war, the days of the day, when everything stopped for muscles was plumply anticipated like a plague year.

Charged with the task of shepherding young men was a commissioning officer who was a commissioning officer of large and lovely proportions, which he marvelously maintained without doing the exercises. What he did was to yell at us, after most frequently in the larynx, and our Lungs, by long and faithfully services, and literally bleed his lungs out. His name was John grade Lieutenant, and a blueprint for the strong, silent type, strolled among the tollers waiting to see that we did our duty. He gave an average of once every three days. When the company was reduced by exertion to gasps and groans, he would say, "There's very real contribution by snarling:

"Pip down over there."

After the hell of callisthenics we were run over into a commando course, designed by some twisted mind to produce in a short time, in a small space, on a large number of people, a sense of the horrors on roller skates. First there was a short address by Apollo.

"You holdie it."

"The beauty of this thing is it's practical," he beamed. "No empty theory. Frinstance, let's take you there as an example." He motioned me out of ranks.

"Let's suppose your plane has crashed," he said, "fancifully."

"You're twenty miles from camp and a hundred Japs are racin' up the beach. You've got to change planes, make a break for the jungle in the direction of your lines. Git goin' he ordered."

"Ain't up only twenty miles away," I breathed.

The course curved and doubled back so no matter how fast I ran, I would be forced to walk across the different legs. When I got to the first obstacle he was there with instructions.

"First you come upon a log four feet wide. You holdie it."

"You never go around it?" I asked.

"You holdie it," he said.

I heldied and went on.

"Now you stumble on a huge piece of pipe."

"How did you get here?" I asked under my breath, experiencing some difficulty in breathing.

"Missionaries, I guess. You crawled tro it," he said.

"I crawled, I crawled around it?"

"You crawl too it."

I crawled and raced ahead.

"Here you discover a +---+How stream eighteen feet wide. You leap across it."

"You never wade?" I heaved, trying to catch a second wind.

"You always live?"

"Early in the mornin' again. I stumbled blindly ahead until a cargo net stretching eighty feet in the air made progress overhand impractical."

"Mango trees," said the travel guide solemnly. "You climb up hand over hand. Wild country, isn't it?"

"What did we come this way for?" I complained brokenly. "Route 42 is clear all the way."

"The Japs are gainin' all the time."

"How about you?" I asked—as if I cared.

"Don't worry about me. I'll make it all right."

I knew he would.

I swayed weakly in the hemp. My legs shook and I fell the last twenty feet.

"Down at the bend there is a barricade. You gotta hurry. The enemy is right behind," he revealed.

"They're burnin' everything. This is Marson. I'm Marson," I whispered inaudibly, unable to speak.

"Everything is all right now," sang an angel voice. "They are yours. This is Camp."

"Good," I croaked. "Tell the beggard there's a stranger at the door suffering from shock and exposure."

"You squirm under."

"There is no friend like an old friend."

"Now you finish by running two hundred yards to the Officer of the Day's shack and announcing your self."

"The hell I do!" I panted, cut-ragged and fatigued. "I might send him a singing telegram, or send up smoke signals, but I could not move another inch."

I looked the wretched square in my watery eyes, made a final desperate effort, and tottered drunkenly to the finish line.

With the mission had on the tempestuous course of events is difficult to assess, but at any rate, my conscience is clear.

The next stage of training was called basic, and organized by those who handled it as a finishing process.

Ensign Roger Miller United In Marriage To Miss Anna Mae Steele

Standing before the altar of the First Presbyterian Church Sunday afternoon, Miss Anna Mae Steele became the bride of Ensign Roger Alan Miller, in the presence of immediate relatives and a few close friends. The rays of a late afternoon sun streaming through the colored windows, blended perfectly with the mellow light of the candleabra casting a pretty glow over the ferns, palms and the white pompons which formed the setting for the young couple to light their vows.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Howard Bethel, pastor. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a winter white two-piece suit, trimmed with black silk braid. Her hat also was of white wool, while her accessories were black and she wore a corsage of white gardenias. Her sister, Miss Margaret Steele, was bride's maid and was dressed in a yellow jersey suit with black accessories and her corsage was of yellow roses. Staff Sergeant Elden Graffmiller, home on furlough from overseas duty, and a classmate of the groom, served as best man.

Miss Steele appeared at her daughter's wedding in a wine-colored crepe ensemble and wore a shoulder corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Schneider, mother of the groom, chose an aqua dress, black accessories and her flowers were red roses.

Ed. Traeger,

Mrs. Anna Steele of Shelby, grandmother of the bride and Mrs. W. C. Miller of Willard, grandmother of the groom, were also in attendance and wore a corsage of mums with their outfits.

Nuptial music preceding the ceremony was played at the organ by Miss Maryalice Weller, and the piano by Miss Joy Bethel and included I Love You Truly, Always, Because, and Mendelsohn's Wedding March.

Following the service guests were invited to the basement of the church where an informal reception in honor of the newlyweds was held. The church was held.

The bridal party was seated at one long table tastefully decorated with red, white and blue candies, and gold and white mums, while the centerpiece was a beautiful tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and uniformed groom, the newlyweds cutting the cake. Other guests were seated at a V-shaped table.

Following the refreshments the bridal couple were presented with a number of lovely gifts and a invitation extended the guests to meet them at their newly furnished home on West High street.

The invitation was accepted, but upon arrival they were greeted by the bride's mother and the young couple had made a successful "get-away" for a short wedding trip.

The new Mr. Miller is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Steele of Shelby Route 1, a graduate of Plymouth high school, class of 1943. For the past year she has been employed at the Parsel Air Supply Depot.

Ensign Roger Miller is the son of Mrs. Fred Schneider of Plymouth and Harvey Miller of Charleston, S. C. He graduated from the local high school in 1941 and immediately enlisted in the Merchant Marine, serving as a cook for three years. The past week he graduated from the U. S. Maritime Service School in New London, Conn., and received the rating of Ensign. He will report to a base in California later in the month.

Relatives from a distance attending the nuptials were Miss Elettha Steele, Columbus; Mrs. Nan Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hale and children, Mrs. Ed Traeger of Shelby; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carr and daughter of Willard, Miss Mabel Miller, Elyria; Miss Phyllis Miller of Bowling Green, Ohio, and local relatives and friends.

Need Male Workers

One of the unique features of the 831st AAF Specialized Depot, Shelby, is the fact that it is almost completely manned by civilian employees who are performing the vital task of providing our airmen with needed supplies.

With a garrison force movements of our troops overseas came an increased demand for supplies. Getting these supplies out on time has created an increased demand for both full and part time workers.

The need for male workers is urgent. Full information regarding these positions can be obtained by contacting your nearest U. S. Employment service office or local post office.
